The revenues for the present fiscal year, exclusive of transfer funds and including the balance in the treasury Sept. 30, 1908, will aggregate $4,637,152. Appropriations heretofore made for this year and liable to be disbursed aggregate $4,189,121, leaving an available balance for specific purposes of $448,031. From this balance, however, must be deducted the probable expense of the present session of the General Assembly, $120,000, leaving a net balance from the regular revenues of $328,031 available for specific purposes for the present fiscal year.

The 3 per cent sinking fund levy made last year will create a revenue during the present fiscal year, coming into the treasury in June, of $260,000. If this fund be transferred to the general fund the net balance available for specific purposes for the present fiscal year will be $588,031.

Estimated Revenues.

The revenues, based upon present levies and existing valuations, for the fiscal year 1910, exclusive of transfer funds, are conservatively estimated at $3,927,888. The regular expenditures for 1910 are estimated at $2,991,326, leaving a balance for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, 1910, available for specific purposes of $936,562. The 3 cent sinking fund levy 502. The 3 per cent sinking fund levy made last year, coming into the treasury in December, 1909, and during the fiscal year 1910, will produce $240,000. If this fund be transferred to the general fund the aggregate sum available for specific purposes for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, 1910, is conservatively estimated at $1,176,562. The revenues for the fiscal year 1911, exclusive of transfer funds based on present levies and valuations, are estimated at $3,927,888. The regular expenses for the fiscal year 1911 are estimated at $2,991,326, leaving a balance available for specific purposes for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, 1911, of $936,562.

Available Funds.

If the sinking fund revenue for the present calendar year is not transferred to the general fund, the funds available for specific purposes between now and Sept. 30, 1911, will aggregate $2,201,155, and will measure the limit of specific appropriations unless the revenues for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, 1912, are anticipated and impaired.

On the 31st day of October, 1904, the close of the fiscal year last preceding the present administration, the treasury balance was $60,601.93, but to obtain this balance advance payments from county treasurers had been called and received, and the revenues for 1905 anticipated in the sum of $154,740. But for these advance payments there would have been no treasury balance, but a deficit of $94,138.07. Sept. 30, 1908, after four years of extensive construction of public buildings aggregating $3,362,566.90, this deficit was recouped and an actual balance of $493,117 accumulated without calling a single advance payment from any county treasurer or anticipating the revenues of this year a single dollar, and without increasing the total tax levy on account thereof the fraction of a mill.

To do this, however, the 3 cent sinking fund levy was transferred to the general fund for the years 1905, 1906 and 1907. This was done without impairing our ability to meet the foreign bonded indebtedness of the State within six months after the privilege to pay accrues, and four years and a half before the debt matures.

Under the two preceding administrations a remarkable record was made in the payment of the public debt. Under the first $2,216,000, under the second $3,008,000, an aggregate during the two administrations of $5,224,000.

During the present administration $407,000 has been paid on the principal of the State debt and the last dollar of the debt now payable canceled. This leaves a total foreign bonded indebtedness of only $800,000, none of which will be payable until January, 1910, and none of which will be due until 1913.

Private Bank Legislation.

A step in the direction of State supervision and inspection of private banks was taken by the Sixty-fourth General Assembly. The law as then enacted was crude and ineffective. It was valuable only as a beginning.

But the legislation had during the session of the Sixty-fifth General Assembly was of more value. The result of its operation has been to lessen somewhat the number of private banks in the State and to increase the number of State banks. The number of private banks in the State Sept. 30, 1907, was 213; on Sept. 30, 1908, 188, a decrease of 25. The number of State banks in the State Sept. 30, 1907, was 235; the number Sept. 30, 1908, 256, an increase of 21.

During the fiscal year 1908 there was no State bank failure within the State. During the same time there were seven private bank failures. One of these failed before the operation of the private banking act providing for examinations became effective. The other six were closed by the order of the Auditor of State shortly after the private banking act went into effect, upon examination made under its provisions, showing the banks to be insolvent.

Depository Law.

The act of the late General Assembly providing depositories for public funds has now been in operation one year. In that time it has vindicated in the most remarkable manner the claims made for it by its friends at the time of its enactment.

The interest collected on the general State funds for the calendar year 1908 aggregated $27,201.61; on account of the educational institutional funds, $4,312.86; total, $31,514.47.

During the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, 1908, it cost $12,176.29 to administer the treasury department and $18,002.98 to administer the executive office, a total for the two offices of $30,179.27.

It will be seen that the interest accruing to the State exceeds the cost of administering both the treasury and executive offices by $1,335.20. The result of the law's operations in the several counties of the State is little less satisfactory than in the State.

State Institutions.

The State institutions, taken as a whole, have been most efficiently administered. They have been kept out of politics absolutely. Character, ability and fitness alone have determined every appointment made either by the executive, by the several boards, or by the several superintendents. In the four years no recommendation has gone from the executive to the members of any board or to the superintendent of any institution for the appointment of any person. The executive has selected the boards and has charged them with the responsibility of selecting the superintendents and of supervising their respective institutions, and the superintendents have been left free to select their own subordinates.

The act of the late General Assembly relative to the government and administration of the penal, correctional and benevolent institutions of the State and providing for bi-partisan boards of trustees has confirmed and established their non-partisan administration. The present system I believe to be the best found in any of the many States which I have visited and whose institutions I have inspected. It ought not to be departed from.

Maintenance of State Institutions.

The funds appropriated for the maintenance of the Boys' School, the Girls' School and the Women's Prison have been greatly inadequate for each of the last two fiscal years. For the year ending Sept. 30, 1907, I was compelled to pay out of the Governor's emergency contingent fund for the maintenance of the Boys' School $2,256.21, for the maintenance of the Girls' School $3,388.87, and for the maintenance of the Women's Prison $6,226.55, an aggregate expenditure out of this fund for maintenance of these three institutions of $11,871.63.

For the year ending Sept. 30, 1907, I was compelled to pay out of this fund on account of maintenance of the Boys' School $2,743.73, for the Girls' School $8,044.95 and for the Women's Prison $3,539.22, an expenditure from this fund for the maintenance of these three institutions aggregating $15,227.90. In addition to this appropriations were made at the special session of the General Assembly in September on account of the maintenance of these same institutions, as follows: Boys' School, $7,000; Girls' School, $8,000, and Women's Prison, $1,000, an aggregate of $16,000.

The deficit in the maintenance fund of the Girls' School for the last fiscal year was, therefore, $16,044.95; in the maintenance fund of the Boys' School $9,743.73 and in the maintenance fund of the Women's Prison $4,539.22, an aggregate deficit in the maintenance fund of the three institutions of $31,227.90.

It is the imperative duty of the State to provide a sufficient maintenance fund for these institutions. Appropriations made therefor should not be so deficipt in amount as to compel the Governor to invade the emergency contingent fund for the purpose of their maintenance. The Governor's emergency contingent fund should be kept intact to meet such emergencies as may be occasioned to the buildings and equipment of the State institutions by fire or other accident, and for other emergency demands that may be made thereon.

State Educational Institutions.

Long before any of us became in any degree responsible for policies of State, the people of Indiana, through their chosen representatives, entered upon the policy of higher education for her young men and women, through the establishment of the State Normal School, Purdue University and the State University. We have now reached a point in the development of all three of these institutions where we must decide either to abandon them or to give them such support in equipment and maintenance as will maintain their dignity and efficiency. The first alternative is not to be thought of. In 1888 Indiana University had an enrollment of 275, now 2,051. Ten years ago Purdue University had an enrollment of 702, now 1,805. Then she granted 158 degrees, last year 328.

More Support Necessary.

This increased enrollment makes absolutely necessary increased room and equipment and increased maintenance. By devotion to right ideals, by sacrifices innumerable and by long and invaluable service they have earned the right to such support and maintenance as will preserve their prestige and insure their further efficiency. The equipment and buildings at the State University are greatly insufficient, and those at Purdue University are pitifully so. Provision for building and equipment for the engineering department at the latter institution is absolutely essential. But greater, if possible, than the lack of buildings and equipment, is the lack of funds to meet their current necessities. Indiana is far behind surrounding States in the per capita expenditure made for such institutions.

Southeastern Hospital for Insane.

The needs of each of the hospitals for the insane are clearly and ably set forth in the several reports made by the trustees of the respective hospitals to the Governor and to the legislative institutional committee, copies of all of which will be referred to you for your examination and consideration. While all of the demands made can not be met, many of the most essential and urgent ones can and ought to be provided for. The crowded condition of the Central hospital for the insane, and the fact that there are more than 1,100 insane persons in the State now without hospital care, in county jails and poorhouses, or dependent upon the ineffective care of friends, makes the completion of the new Southeastern hospital for the insane at the earliest possible moment an absolute and imperative necessity.

School for the Deaf.

Under the preceding administration the School for the Deaf, lands and buildings, was sold with a view of relocating the same. During the present administration a new site was purchased, consisting of 76.93 acres, advantageously situated in Forty-second street, at a cost to the State of $30,772, and of a present value of $70,980.

The Sixty-fourth General Assembly appropriated $315,000 for the purpose of constructing the new institution, one-third of which came from the sale of the old site. This appropriation was wholly inadequate. To build the institution as planned will require $409,370.50 additional appropriation. It is of the highest importance that the new institution be made habitable before the beginning of the school year, next September. This can not be done with less than $170,000, which should be made immediately available.

New Penal Institution.

I submit for your consideration the propriety of an act authorizing the purchase of a site for the location of an additional penal institution, and the appointment of a commission to purchase the same, and make a report to the next General Assembly of plans for the construction thereof and the probable cost of the same. In ten years the number of prisoners in the State prison has increased from 782 to 1,192, an increase of 410, or 52.42 per cent. The number of prisoners in the State reformatory has increased in ten years from 941 to 1,250, an increase of 309, or 33 1-3 per cent. The combined population of the two institutions has increased in ten years from 1,723 to 2,442, an increase of 719, or 41.72 per cent. At this rate of increase both the prison and the reformatory will be, within ten years, utterly inadequate to care for the boys and men committed to them.

Suspended Sentence Law.

By an act of the Sixty-fifth General Assembly circuit and criminal courts were clothed with discretion to suspend sentence in certain criminal cases of first offense. This has been done in the last two years in many instances. The operation of the law in its present form is not satisfactory. Sentence is suspended. The offender is permitted to go. He does not report to either the superintendent of the reformatory or the warden of the prison. Neither of these officers is advised of the action of the court. The defendant is left without supervision. The court loses knowledge of him. He violates his parole, but remains unapprehended. The purpose of the law is an excellent one, but it should be so amended as to require the clerk of every circuit or criminal court within five days after the suspension of sentence in any case, to advise the superintendent of the reformatory or the warden of the prison, as the age of the defendant shall indicate, of the fact of conviction, the name of the defendant and the terms of the parole, so that the reformatory or prison authorities may have some opportunity of visitation and supervision. This will make the law effective and will save many first offenders from subsequent terms in prison cells.

Inheritance Tax Law.

I commend to your consideration the enactment of a law which shall provide for the taxation of the devolution or succession of property by devise or inheritance.

Registration Law.

An unusual influx of persons of foreign birth during the last five years has raised the question in the minds of thoughtful men of the propriety of extending the time of their residence within the State before they shall be entitled to exercise the privilege of electors. I am doubtful as to the legality of any such legislation.

Primary Election Law.

For four years I have watched with increasing interest the operation of primary election laws in the different States enacting them, and have become impressed with their practicability and their benefit. Such laws take the power of nomination of candidates for public office out of the hands of the few and put it into the hands of the many, where it belongs. I recommend the enactment of a law that will provide for party nominations of all candidates for office, State, county, municipal and township, at primary elections and at public expense.

Uniform System of Accounting.

A uniform system of accounting in all public offices, State and county, will add greatly to the efficiency of the administration of fiscal affairs, and should be provided for by you before you adjourn.

Public Utilites Law.

I do not urge the enactment of a public utilities law, but if such a law is enacted it should be done by amending the present railroad commission law, extending the jurisdiction of the present commission to include public utilities, its authority in that behalf being carefully defined, and the machinery for its execution supplied.

Executive Mansion.

The State of Indiana has reached a position in population, in wealth and in greatness to justify an executive mansion. It would add to the dignity of the executive office and immeasurably to the comfort of the executive and his family and to the social enjoyment and privileges of the people.

Cause of Crime and Dependency.

The enormous cost of the army of the criminal, defective and dependent members of society is neither appreciated nor understood by those who do not give the subject special study and investigation.

In a recently published article, notable for care of preparation, accuracy of statement and the wide investigation it discloses, Dr. Henry Smith Williams sums up the conclusion as follows:

"Considering the United States as a whole, it is variously estimated that from 25 to 50 per cent of all the insane patients admitted to the asylums year by year owe their misfortune directly or indirectly to the abuse of alcohol. The statistics of other countries are closely similar.

"Alcohol must be held responsible for about four-fifths of the anti-social penalties that make necessary the huge paraphernalia of police systems, criminal courts, jails, prisons and reformatories that constitute so serious a blot upon present-day civilization.

"Were it not for the influence of alcohol the vast army of delinquents who prey upon society directly when at large and indirectly through cost of sustenance when confined in correctional institutions, might be living useful, productive lives as normal members of a normal society."

It was a sense of responsibility to the generations yet to be, more than all else, that impelled me to seek the enactment of a law putting into the hands of the people of the respective counties of Indiana the power to inhibit the traffic in intoxicating liquors. This law was enacted but a few months since. It has been in effect less than sixty days. Three counties have already availed themselves of the power it conferred upon their people, and by majorities decisive and overwhelming have banished the traffic from their confines. Elections have been ordered in quite one-fourth of the counties of the State. An enfranchised people at last have found opportunity to speak effectively upon this question and it will be well for you to stop and think, long and seriously, before you disenfranchise them and turn loose again this hateful traffic among them. All experience admonishes of the danger that attends the disenfranchisement of a free people. Neither the individual nor the party who does it may expect continued power at their hands.

I am aware that there are some who have already celebrated this law's repeal, but I beg to remind all those who contemplate its repeal that it is the livest wire in the political machinery of this commonwealth, and is charged with enough electricity to electrocute the party that repeals it.

Conclusion.

I close this message—probably my last official utterance—with malice toward no man. There are no foes that I desire to punish. I go out of office with an intensified love of the commonwealth and of its people. I have sought to serve them in all things unselfishly and courageously. Their welfare has been my chief concern. The recommendations I have made from time to time to successive General Assemblies, I have believed to be in their interests. The battles I have waged, I have fought for them. I have made war on men only when they were inseparably involved with public questions. The mistakes I have made, and there may be many, I have made with sincere purpose and in the white heat of zeal for what I conceived to be the interests of the people.

THE BEE'S STING.

An Ugly Weapon Something Like a Three Bladed Sword.

The bee's sting is made up of three separate lances, each with a barbed edge and each capable of being thrust forward independently of the others.

The central and broader lance has a hollow face, furnished at each side with a rail or beading, which runs its whole length. On the back of each of the other two lances there is a longitudinal groove, and into these grooves fit the raised beadings of the central lancet.

Thus the sting is like a sword with three blades—united, but sliding upon one another—the barbed points of which continue to advance alternately into the wound, going ever deeper and deeper of their own malice aforethought after the initial thrust is made. It is a device of war compared to which the explosive bullet is but a clumsy brutality. Yet this is not all.

To make its death-dealing powers doubly sure this thorough-minded amazon must fill the haft of her triple blade with a subtle poison and so contrive its sliding mechanism that the same impulse which drives the points successively forward drenches the whole weapon with a fatal juice.—From "The Lore of the Honey Bee," by Tickner Edwardes.

The Difference.

My neighbor eateth lobster,
He eateth rarebit, too;
He loveth brie and edam
And hideth them from view.
My neighbor wakes at midnight
And shrieks with sudden pain;
Quick comes the costly medic
And treats him for ptomaine.

I eat my humble dinner,
My chop and beans and pie;
Perhaps with indigestion
I suffer by and by.
The good old family doctor
My case in hand doth take;
And, as he spreads a plaster,
He calls it stomach ache.

—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Knocking It.

"Come for a spin," he said, "in my new two-horse-power buggy."

She regarded the fragile contrivance critically.

"Thanks," she said, "but I haven't got on my walking skirt, you know."

Old Story.

"Wigglesworth has gone broke, has he? I thought he succeeded in raising something on those valuable building lots his father left him."

"He did. He raised a crop of wild oats on them."

Accounted For.

Sunday School Teacher — Now, Johnny, what was the miracle of the loaves and fishes?

Johnny—The fish became as big as the men who caught them said they were.—New York Sun.

Perfectly Ridiculous.

Madge—Dolly is a whirl of surprises.

Marjorie—I should say so. Why, she's actually going to marry the young man she was engaged to last summer.

Finesse.

She—You make love like an amateur.

He—That's where the art comes in.—Life.

WORK OF CONGRESS

The Senate passed a bill providing conditions under which the thirteenth census will be taken. The House bill which was under consideration was amended to allow printing and binding of census reports to be done by private contract instead of in the government printing office, if found desirable by the director of the census. An amendment placing the appointment of 3,500 census office clerks under the Civil Service Commission was defeated. Senator Culberson's resolution instructing the Committee on the Judiciary to report whether the President had authority to permit the absorption of the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company by the United States Steel Corporation was adopted. The House by a vote of 212 to 35 rebuked the President by tabling so much of his message as reflected on members of Congress in connection with his recommendations regarding the secret service detectives, and also declaring to be the sense of the House that they shall decline to consider any communications from any source which is not in its own judgment respectful. The report of the special committee appointed to deal with the language in the President's annual message and in his special message of Monday was submitted, and it was used as the basis for some earnest and vigorous speeches.

-:—:-

The Senate was not in session Saturday. The strenuous work of Friday strained the House of Representatives, and in consequence after being in session less than an hour the body adjourned. However, 500 pension bills were passed, as was also a resolution for a rigid inquiry into the whole question of the investigation of frauds against the government. The sum of $5,000 was appropriated for the inquiry, which is to be made by a committee of five members to be named by the Speaker.

-:—:-

A session of the House was held Sunday, devoted to memorial exercises for the late Senator Proctor of Vermont.

-:—:-

Senator Tillman was the central figure in the Senate Monday, occupying almost an hour with his carefully prepared speech in reply to the President's charges concerning his action in attempting to acquire by purchase some timber lands of Oregon originally held as a railroad grant, while advocating litigation by the Department of Justice to compel their sale. The Senate passed a bill appropriating $90,000 for the purchase of the Sequoia grove of big trees in California. A recommendation by the Committee on Finance and the Committee on the Judiciary favoring an increase of the salary of the President to $100,000 and those of the Vice President and Speaker of the House of Representatives was referred to the Committee on Appropriations. After a stormy discussion the resolution authorizing the granting of permits to the Committee on Inaugural Ceremonies and the use of the pension office building for the inaugural ball was compelled to go over for two weeks before final action. As it stands the section relating to the pension building was stricken out and a further amendment was made, refusing permission to extend overhead wires into the structure. It was manifest from the outset that a majority of those present was opposed to the pension office proposition. Various other measures were considered and passed, all relating exclusively to the District of Columbia. Speaker Cannon announced the committee of five which will conduct the investigation into the secret service, provided for by the resolutions of Saturday.

-:—:-

A spirited speech by Senator Foraker of Ohio on the use of private detectives in the Brownsville affair was the feature of interest in the Senate Tuesday. Mr. Foraker laid aside his manuscript several times during his address to interject remarks that were pointedly aimed at the President. Mr. Lodge endeavored to have a day fixed for voting on his bill for the re-enlistment of the discharged soldiers of the Twenty-fifth Regiment, but Mr. Warren, chairman of the committee on military affairs, insisted upon postponing such agreement until a future day. Working with only a small quota of members, the House of Representatives devoted its entire time to consideration of the District of Columbia appropriation bill. Mr. Mann (Ill.) furnished a little diversion by defending the House rules, and this led him into several sharp brushes with Mr. Gardner (Mass.), one of the so-called insurgents.

An Orange Cucumber Next.

Howard S. Hill, a cucumber grower of Gardner, Mass., finding an orange tree in blossom in his cucumber hothouse several weeks ago, transferred the pollen from the orange blossoms to those of the cucumber. As the cucumber grew, it remained round like an orange, but with the skin of a cucumber. When ripe it assumed a bright orange color, while the taste of the blend is said to be very pleasing. He is now experimenting with the seeds from the best specimens and thinks the new variety will become popular.

Habitual Constipation

May be permanently overcome by proper personal efforts with the assistance of the one truly beneficial laxative remedy, Syrup of Figs & Elixir of Senna, which enables one to form regular habits daily so that assistance to nature may be gradually dispensed with when no longer needed, as the best of remedies when required are to assist nature, and not to supplant the natural functions, which must depend ultimately upon proper nourishment, proper efforts, and right living generally.

To get its beneficial effects, always buy the genuine,

MANUFACTURED BY THE
CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.
SOLD BY ALL LEADING DRUGGISTS
ONE SIZE ONLY—REGULAR PRICE 50¢ PER BOTTLE

Out of Order.

Champ Clark loves to tell of how in the heat of a debate Congressman Johnson of Indiana called an Illinois representative a jackass. The expression was unparliamentary, and in retraction Johnson said:

"While I withdraw the unfortunate word, Mr. Speaker, I must insist that the gentleman from Illinois is out of order."

"How am I out of order?" yelled the man from Illinois.

"Probably a veterinary surgeon could tell you," answered Johnson, and that was parliamentary enough to stay on the record.—Success Magazine.

COULD NOT SHAKE IT OFF.

Kidney Trouble Contracted by Thousands in the Civil War.

James W. Clay, 666 W. Fayette St., Baltimore, Md., says: "I was troubled with kidney complaint from the time of the Civil war. There was constant pain in the back and head and the kidney secretions were painful and showed a sediment. The first remedy to help me was Doan's Kidney Pills. Three boxes made a complete cure and during five years past I have had no return of the trouble."

Sold by all dealers. 50c a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

A scientific contemporary of across the sea tells us that at present it is estimated there are in the world's oceans 7,000,000 cubic miles of salt, and the most astonishing thing about it is that if all the salt could be taken out in a moment, the level of the ocean would not drop one single inch.

STATE OF OHIO, CITY OF TOLEDO, } ss
LUCAS COUNTY.

Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure. FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.

(SEAL) A. W. GLEASON, NOTARY PUBLIC.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by all Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Didn't Care Who Knew It.

Fluffy Young Thing—I'd like to prepay the express on this package.

Express Company's Agent—What's the value?

Fluffy Young Thing—Nothing, sir. It's a bundle of letters. I'm sending them back to him.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS

PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refunded. 50c.

Foiled.

"Ah!" said Bragley, with a view to making Miss Wise jealous, "I was alone last evening with some one I admire very much."

"Ah!" echoed the bright girl. "Alone, were you?"—Philadelphia Press.

Do Your Clothes Look Yellow?

If so, use Red Cross Ball Blue. It will make them white as snow. Large 2oz. package, 5 cents.

A Look Ahead.

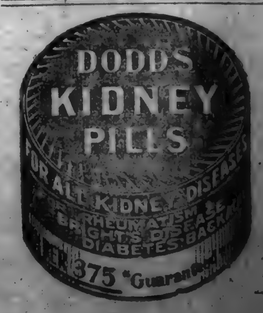
In due process of time the battleship had reached the utmost limit of its development.

Likewise the manufacturers of deadly explosives had perfected machines capable of blowing a whole fleet out of water at any imaginable distance.

In great haste the powers summoned a conference.

"What's the use of carrying this thing any farther?" they said. "War has become so appalling and expensive that we can't afford to indulge in it any more."

Seeing that the jig was up they reluctantly inaugurated the era of universal peace.—Chicago Tribune.



JANUARY

0468

L 903

CATARRH IN HEAD.

Pe-ru-na--Pe-ru-na

MR. WM. A. PRESSER.

MR. WILLIAM A. PRESSER, 1722 Third Ave., Moline, Ill., writes:

"I have been suffering from catarrh in the head for the past two months and tried innumerable so-called remedies without avail. No one knows how I have suffered, not only from the disease itself, but from mortification when in company of friends or strangers.

"I have used two bottles of your medicine for a short time only, and it effected a complete medical cure, and what is better yet, the disease has not returned.

"I can most emphatically recommend Peruna to all sufferers from this disease."

Read This Experience.

Mr. A. Thompson, Box 65, R. R. 1, Martel, Ohio, writes: "When I began your treatment my eyes were inflamed, nose was stopped up half of the time, and was sore and scabby. I could not rest at night on account of continual hawking and spitting.

"I had tried several remedies and was about to give up, but thought I would try Peruna.

"After I had taken about one-third of a bottle I noticed a difference. I am now completely cured, after suffering with catarrh for eighteen years.

"I think if those who are afflicted with catarrh would try Peruna they would never regret it."

Peruna is manufactured by the Peruna Drug Mfg. Co., Columbus, Ohio.

Ask your Druggist for a Free Peruna Almanac for 1909.

A 25c. Bottle of

Kemp's Balsam

Contains

40 DOSES,

And each dose is more effective than four times the same quantity of any other cough remedy, however well advertised and however strongly recommended that remedy may be

Remember always that Kemp's Balsam is the Best Cough Cure.

It has saved thousands from consumption.

It has saved thousands of lives.

At all druggists', 25c., 50c. and $1.

Don't accept anything else.

Paxtine

TOILET ANTISEPTIC

Keeps the breath, teeth, mouth and body antiseptically clean and free from unhealthy germ-life and disagreeable odors, which water, soap and tooth preparations alone cannot do. A germicidal, disinfecting and deodorizing toilet requisite of exceptional excellence and economy. Invaluable for inflamed eyes, throat and nasal and uterine catarrh. At drug and toilet stores, 50 cents, or by mail postpaid.

Large Trial Sample

WITH "HEALTH AND BEAUTY" BOOK SENT FREE

THE PAXTON TOILET CO., Boston, Mass.

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, TORPID LIVER. They regulate the Bowels. Purely Vegetable.

SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Genuine Must Bear Fac-Simile Signature

Brent Good

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.

Salts and Castor Oil

—bad stuff—never cure, only makes bowels move because it irritates and sweats them, like poking finger in your eye. The best Bowel Medicine is Cascarets. Every Salts and Castor Oil user should get a box of CASCARETS and try them just once. You'll see.

Cascarets—10c box—week's treatment. All druggists. Biggest seller in the world—million boxes a month.

If afflicted with Sore Eyes, use THOMPSON'S EYE WATER

REVIEW OF INDIANA

Mrs. Lon Low was seriously injured at her home in Greenfield, by a kick in the face from the family cow.

Seth Schmucker, an Amish pioneer, is dead near Nappanee, leaving a wife and fourteen children. There are fifty-six grandchildren.

Judge Chapin, aged 77 years, of Ft. Wayne, who was struck by a street car, died of his injuries. He once held the office of Superior judge.

Navy Recruiting Officer Kleinhaus, who has charge of the Government recruiting station at Evansville, says that more applicants for enlistment in Southern Indiana are refused because of flat feet than anything else. "We have refused many men because their feet were as flat as pancakes," said Kleinhaus. The poor selection of shoes is one reason, this causing the instep arch to break down.

Postcard showers are a popular way of celebrating birthdays in Columbus. When a man or woman is going to have a birthday the news of the forthcoming anniversary is noised about and friends and relatives are urged to sent postcards of congratulations and best wishes on that occasion. U. M. Steenbarger celebrated his fifty-ninth birthday recently and during the day he received 156 postal cards of congratulatory messages from his friends.

Horace M. Kean, grand master of the Odd Fellows of this State, was informed recently that Capt. W. E. Gentry, a Cataub Indian, adopted by a special act of the Creek council as a Creek Indian, and a captain in the Confederate army, had died at Council Hill, Okla. He gave his entire allotment of 160 acres to the Odd Fellows. An Odd Fellows' Orphans' Home is to be founded on the land. Capt. Gentry was 76 years old, and a thirty-second degree Mason.

Miss Ava Mahoney, who has the distinction of being the only woman sheriff ever serving in the State of Indiana, has gone to Houston, Texas, to spend the winter. A year ago her father, George A. Mahoney, then sheriff of Huntington County, was so afflicted he found it necessary to spend the winter in the South. He was gone several months, during which time Miss Mahoney filled his place. Mr. Mahoney, now out of the office, and his entire family will go to Texas for the winter.

Clyde McClure, clairvoyant, in two weeks, it is charged, gathered $1,000 from dupes in Terre Haute, and the police are unable to locate him. He told his clients, it is alleged, that to be relieved of physical ailments or to be happy in love they must put money, on which he would cast a spell, in a sealed package and wear it next the heart. One woman, it is charged, found brown paper instead of four $50 bills she gave him to put in hers. A man named Parsons says he is out $190, given to McClure for a half interest in the business.

Wilbur Crooke, express messenger on the "Little Monon" railroad, between Bloomington and Bedford, had an experience not soon to be forgotten. A hive of bees was among the express matter and by some means the coverng became loosened and dropped off. Crooke threw the door open and daylight being seen by the insects, they sought freedom by pouring out as fast as they could. The car was alive with them, but they soon escaped without settling. Crooke thanks his stars that the bees preferred the light to him and that he was enabled to get out of the way of the insects.

David D. Dykeman, one of Logansport's wealthiest and oldest residents, lay in bed helpless recently while flames raged in the attic of his brick residence. Attendants and members of the family feared to move him, because of the intense cold outside, and carefully guarded, he was left in his room, while firemen chopped holes through the roof to get at the flames. Crossed electric wires in the attic caused the fire and it was first discovered by Miss Mildred Dykeman, adopted daughter, who was lying down in her room. The smell of smoke attracted her attention and, going into the hall, she found the house filled with the odor of burning wood.

While returning home from church in a road wagon, John Wayman, his wife and eight children met with an accident. Wayman is a farmer and lives near Southern, Brown County. The spring seat on which he and his wife were sitting, fell. The incident caused the children to laugh and clap their hands. This frightened the horses, and they ran away. The occupants began to jump one at a time and were scattered along the road, all receiving slight injuries. In getting the family back together Mr. Wayman overlooked one member of the family. Not until his attention was called to the fact by one of his boys did he know he was going away and leaving Homer, 10 years old, who was waiting by the roadside almost a half mile back with a sprained ankle.

John T. Rice, a farmer, aged 75, of Hancock, Ky., and Mrs. Elizabeth Richardson, aged 70, of Evansville, were married recently. They met several days ago. Both said they were lonely in the world.

Fred Horton, an aged farmer, whose home is near Albion, Ill., lies in an Evansville hospital with a broken neck. He was thrown out of a wagon near Albion several days ago, when his neck was broken. Physicians say he has a fair chance of recovery.

The Thornton Home at Newburg for aged Presbyterian ministers and their wives was dedicated recently, the principal address being delivered by Judge J. E. Williamson, of Evansville. The home was endowed by the late Mrs. Emily Thornton, a wealthy woman of Petersburg.

The damage suit of Millie A. Evans, of Jasper, vs. Martin J. Scheurich and the United States Fidelity and Guaranty Company has been compromised. Mrs. Evans was frightened and made ill by her husband coming home drunk and bloody from head to foot from injuries he received in a saloon fight.

The eighth typhoid fever fatality occurred at the Indiana Reformatory last week, when James Scherit, 22 years old, died of the disease. He was sent from Decatur County October, 1906, to serve two to fourteen years. He had been sick since November 28. There are now no bad cases reported and no new ones.

Thomas Dowling, a farmer near Morocco, has a small colony of bees, occupying a quarter of an acre of land. This year he sold honey to the amount of $364.24, and has 150 pounds left. His total expenses in connection with the bees for the season was $24.80, leaving him a profit of $339.44 on the year's crop of honey.

Telegraphic dispatches from Victoria, B. C., announce that Leigh Hunt, the New York millionaire, whose boyhood home was in Whitley County, is financing a new company with a capital stock of $10,000,000 to take over 27,000 acres of coal lands on Graham Island of the Queen Charlotte group, off the coast of British Columbia.

Ed Maier, the merchant at Chrisney, whose store was dynamited last week, has sold out and will move to Evansville. A little more than a year ago his store was burned. He took the lead in the anti-saloon fights and received several threatening notices before his property was destroyed. Chrisney has been for several years suffering from a fierce feud between the "wets" and "drys."

The killing of stray dogs on the street in Alexandria because of the mad dog scare which followed the death of 12-year-old Helene Ward, was begun by the police and a half dozen dogs have been killed. The majority of dog owners heeded the proclamation of Mayor Edward and either muzzled their dogs or kept them confined. So far no additional cases of rabies have developed.

Perry Windell, living near Corydon, missed a pig each night until nearly all of a large litter was gone. Investigation proved that the mother of pups in the neighborhood had been feeding her young on fresh meat, having a nice pig every morning for breakfast. Mr. Windell has made application to the township trustee to reimburse him for his loss. The trustee has passed the death sentence on the dog.

C. E. Miller, a Peru veterinarian, has gone to Ann Arbor, Mich., to consult a specialist. Dr. Miller fears that he may suffer hydrophobia as a result of his treating a cow strangely afflicted a few weeks ago. The cow was bitten by a mad dog and had to be killed. The dog also attacked two of Voge Wilson's children, who are now under the care of a specialist at Ann Arbor. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson have also become alarmed because they drank milk from the cow.

A letter received at the Richmond postoffice a few days ago bore the postoffice address, "Seeder Rabbits." There was no other guide to the place of destination meant by the sender. The mailing clerk who attempted to "route" the missive cast it aside, but after several attaches of the office had viewed the curiosity and scratched their heads, it was decided that the writer evidently intended that the letter should go to Cedar Rapids, Ia., and in his inability to spell correctly had brought the phonetic system into play. There was no State indicated, but, according to the postoffice directory Iowa has the only "Seeder Rabbits."

The Cox family, of Central Indiana, claims the world's longevity record. There are three sisters and a brother who are centenarians, and their combined ages total 430 years. They are: Mrs. Eliza Wilson, Ford, Kan., 116; Mrs. Nancy Ridenhour, Brownsburg, Ind., aged 106; Mrs. Anna Bolton, Alexandria, Ind., aged 104; James Cox, Quincy, Ill., aged 104. Mrs. Bolton and Mrs. Cox are twins, and lay claim to the record as the oldest twins in America. Mrs. Ridenhour has just celebrated her birthday. She is an invalid, but her sisters and brother are not only able to look after themselves, but insist strenuously on doing so. This is true of Mrs. Wilson. Two years ago Mrs. Bolton, then 102, paid Mrs. Wilson a visit. While there Mrs. Bolton became ill, and for several nights her sister, 114 years old, attended her in a manner that a professional nurse might have envied.

Messrs. Everly & Wallace, of Plymouth, have received the contract from the United States Government for constructing the new postoffice building at Niles, Mich. Their bid was $40,000.

John Jones, 10 years old, of Mitchell, died in terrible agony of lockjaw resulting form his toe being cut off by a train. He was with a crowd of boys near the track when, it is said, they told him if he did not get on the train then passing they would throw at him.

TOLD TO USE CUTICURA

After Specialist Failed to Cure Her Intense Itching Eczema — Had Been Tortured and Disfigured but Soon Cured of Dreadful Humor.

"I contracted eczema and suffered intensely for about ten months. At times I thought I would scratch myself to pieces. My face and arms were covered with large red patches, so that I was ashamed to go out. I was advised to go to a doctor who was a specialist in skin diseases, but I received very little relief. I tried every known remedy, with the same results. I thought I would never get better until a friend of mine told me to try the Cuticura Remedies. So I tried them, and after four or five applications of Cuticura Ointment I was relieved of my unbearable itching. I used two sets of the Cuticura Remedies, and I am completely cured. Miss Barbara Kral, Highlandtown, Md., Jan. 9, 1908."

Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props. of Cuticura Remedies, Boston.

Exclusive to the Last.

An instance of exclusiveness maintained under difficulties is reported from the ladies' cabin of an Atlantic liner. All were sick except one lady and a cat, which wandered uneasily about. The lady ventured to stroke the cat, remarking, "Poor pussy." The cat was inclined to respond and elevated its tail in token of good will, when from a neighboring berth came in choking tones the words, "Excuse me, that is a private cat!"—Argonaut.

The Best Laxative—Garfield Tea Composed of Herbs, it exerts a beneficial effect upon the entire system, regulating liver, kidneys, stomach and bowels.

Love's Test.

The young husband's face was aflame with a deathless devotion.

"Pulsatilla," he exclaimed, clasping her to his heart, "I'll wear it, no matter what the boys at the office say! And I'll smoke 'em if they kill me!"—Chicago Tribune.

Only One "BROMO QUININE" That is LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE. Look for the signature of E. W. GROVE. Used the World over to Cure a Cold in One Day. 25c.

Strange as It May Seem.

"Senator," asked his constituent, "how does it happen that you have never been mixed up in any of these squabbles or scandals?"

"O, that's because I'm a good mixer," said Senator Lotsmun.

Clear, white clothes are a sign that the housekeeper uses Red Cross Ball Blue. Large 2oz. package, 5 cents.

A Captain of Industry.

"What do you mean by a captain of industry?" asked the Man from Mars. "Has it something to do with the military?"

"No," replied the editor. "A captain of industry has nothing to do with the military except indirectly; that is, except as he finds the military useful in assimilating new markets and old products—such as embalmed beef and the like. No, a captain of industry is a man whom we select to run our industries."

"Indeed!" returned the Man from Mars. "That must be quite an honorable position. Does he pay you anything for such a high privilege?"

The editor had difficulty in keeping back a smile. "Hardly," he replied. "On the contrary, we pay him well; or rather he charges us well, for the honor thus forced upon him."

"You say you pay him?"

"Well, of course we do not pay him in the form of wages. We pay him in the form of profits."

"That is a new system to me," said the Man from Mars, interestedly. "How does it work?"

"Oh, it works all right," said the editor, "so long as the captain of industry can find markets to dispose of his surplus product, for you know all his profit comes from the sale of the surplus over and above what he pays to labor. Of course when markets fail he shuts up his plant."

"What happens then?" pursued the Man from Mars.

"I would rather not talk about it," replied the editor. "It might sound too pessimistic."—Success Magazine.

HER MOTHER-IN-LAW

Proved a Wise, Good Friend.

A young woman out in Iowa found a wise, good friend in her mother-in-law, jokes notwithstanding. She writes:

"It is two years since we began using Postum in our house. I was greatly troubled with my stomach, complexion was blotchy and yellow. After meals I often suffered sharp pains and would have to lie down. My mother often told me it was the coffee I drank at meals. But when I'd quit coffee I'd have a severe headache.

"While visiting my mother-in-law I remarked that she always made such good coffee, and asked her to tell me how. She laughed and told me it was easy to make good 'coffee' when you use Postum.

"I began to use Postum as soon as I got home, and now we have the same good 'coffee' (Postum) every day, and I have no more trouble. Indigestion is a thing of the past, and my complexion has cleared up beautifully.

"My grandmother suffered a great deal with her stomach. Her doctor told her to leave off coffee. She then took tea, but that was just as bad.

"She finally was induced to try Postum, which she has used for over a year. She traveled during the winter over the greater part of Iowa, visiting, something she had not been able to do for years. She says she owes her present good health to Postum."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

WESTERN CANADA'S 1908 CROP

Will Give to the Farmers of West a Splendid Return.

The following interesting bit of information appeared in a Montreal paper:

"Last December, in reviewing the year 1907, we had to record a wheat harvest considerably smaller in volume than in the previous year. Against ninety millions in 1906 the wheat crop of the West in 1907 only totalled some seventy-one million bushels and much of this of inferior quality. But the price averaged high and the total result to the farmers was not unprofitable. This year we have to record by far the largest wheat crop in the country's history. Estimates vary as to the exact figure, but it is certainly not less than one hundred million bushels and in all probability it reaches one hundred and ten million bushels. The quality, moreover, is good, and the price obtained very high, so that in all respects the Western harvest of 1908 has been a memorable one. The result upon the commerce and finance of the country is already apparent. The railways are again reporting increases in traffic, the general trade of the community has become active after twelve months' quiet, and the banks are loosening their purse-strings to meet the demand for money. The prospects for 1909 are excellent. The credit of the country never stood as high. The immigrants of 1907 and 1908 have now been absorbed into the industrial and agricultural community and wise regulations are in force to prevent too great an influx next year. Large tracts of new country will be opened up by the Grand Trunk Pacific both in East and West. If the seasons are favorable the Western wheat crop should reach one hundred and twenty million bushels. The prospects for next year seem very fair." An interesting letter is received from Cardston, Alberta (Western Canada), written to an agent of the Canadian Government, any of whom will be pleased to advise correspondents of the low rates that may be allowed intending settlers.

Cardston, December 21st, 1908.

Dear Sir—Now that my threshing is done and the question, "What will the harvest be?" has become a certainty, I wish to report to you the results thereof, believing it will be of interest to you. You know I am only a novice in the agricultural line, and do not wish you to think I am bonsting because of my success, for some of my neighbors have done much better than I have, and I expect to do much better next year myself. My winter wheat went fifty-three bushels per acre—and graded No. 1. My spring wheat went forty-eight and three-fourths bushels per acre and graded No. 1. My oats went ninety-seven bushels per acre and are fine as any oats I ever saw. My stock is all nice and fat, and are out in the field picking their own three square meals a day. The weather is nice and warm, no snow—and very little frost. This in short is an ideal country for farmers and stockmen. The stock requires no shelter or winter feeding, and cattle fatten on this grass and make the finest kind of beef, better than corn fed cattle in Illinois. Southwestern Alberta will soon be known as the farmers' paradise; and I am only sorry I did not come here five years ago. Should a famine ever strike North America I will be among the last to starve—and you can count on that. I thank you for the personal assistance you rendered me while coming in here, and I assure you I shall not soon forget your kind offices.

(Signed.) O. D. WEEKS.

Erosion Spreads Rapidly.

The rapid water-erosion of parts of Cape Colony is attributed chiefly to burning of vegetation and the starting of paths by cattle and wagons. Once started, erosion is very rapid, and the Ongers or Brak river, which did not exist 60 years ago, now averages 300 feet in width and 15 feet in depth.

Here is Relief for Women.

If you have pains in the back, Urinary, Bladder or Kidney trouble, and want a certain, pleasant herb cure for woman's ills, try Mother Gray's Australian-Leaf. It is a safe and never-failing regulator. At Druggists or by mail 50 cts. Sample package FREE. Address, The Mother Gray Co., LeRoy, N. Y.

Perhaps.

"I hear there is to be a new design for the 1 cent piece. What's the reason for that?"

"Well, the 1 cent piece is the most artistic coin we have. Too many people use them in preference to the larger coins. The purpose, I believe, in substituting an uglier design for the one now in circulation is to popularize the nickel."

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children teething; softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25 cents a bottle.

MORE PINKHAM CURES

Added to the Long List due to This Famous Remedy.

Camden, N.J.—"It is with pleasure that I add my testimonial to your already long list—hoping that it may induce others to avail themselves of this valuable medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I suffered from terrible headaches, pain in my back and right side, was tired and nervous, and so weak I could hardly stand. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored me to health and made me feel like a new person, and it shall always have my praise."—Mrs. W. P. VALENTINE, 902 Lincoln Avenue, Camden, N. J.

Gardiner, Me.—"I was a great sufferer from a female disease. The doctor said I would have to go to the hospital for an operation, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound completely cured me in three months."—MRS. S. A. WILLIAMS, R. F. D. No. 14, Box 39, Gardiner Me.

Because your case is a difficult one, doctors having done you no good, do not continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It surely has cured many cases of female ills, such as inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, indigestion, dizziness, and nervous prostration. It costs but a trifle to try it, and the result is worth millions to many suffering women.

FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

45 to 50 Bushels of Wheat per Acre

have been grown on Farm Lands in

WESTERN CANADA

Much less would be satisfactory.

The general average is above 20 bushels

"All are loud in their praises of the great crops and that wonderful country."—Extract from correspondence National Editorial Association of August, 1908.

It is now possible to secure a Homestead of 160 acres free and another 160 acres at $3.00 per acre.

Hundreds have paid the cost of their farms (if purchased) and then had a balance of from $10.00 to $12.00 per acre from one crop.

Wheat, Barley, Oats, Flax—all do well. Mixed Farming is a great success and Dairying is highly profitable.

Excellent Climate, splendid Schools and Churches. Railways bring most every district within easy reach of market.

Railway and Land Companies have lands for sale at low prices and on easy terms.

"Last Best West" Pamphlets and maps sent free. For these and information as to how to secure lowest Railway Rates apply to W. D. Scott, Superintendent of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or W. H. Rogers, 3d Floor Traction Terminal Building, Indianapolis, Ind., and H. M. Williams, Room 20, Law Building, Toledo, Ohio, Authorized Government Agents.

Please say where you saw this advertisement.

Get your Letter Paper and Envelopes printed at this office. We can give you the

EAGLE LINEN PAPER and ENVELOPES

It is fine and will suit you. Try it.

SEED BARLEY 60 cts. a bu.

Per Salzer's catalog page 129.

Largest growers of seed barley, oats, wheat, spelts, corn, potatoes, grasses, clovers and farm seeds in the world. Big catalog free; or, send 10c in stamps and receive samples of barley yielding 173 bu. per acre. Billion Dollar Grass, Oats, Spelts, etc., etc., easily worth $10.00 to get a start with. Or, send 14c and we add a sample farm seed novelty never seen by you before.

SALZER SEED CO., Box CN La Crosse, Wis.

SMOKE A Pickwick 10¢ CIGAR AND BE HAPPY

F. W. N. U. No. 4—1909

When writing to Advertisers please say you saw the Adv. in this paper.

COLT DISTEMPER

Can be handled very easily. The sick are cured, and all others in same stable, no matter how exposed, kept from having the disease, by using SPOHN'S LIQUID DISTEMPER CURE. Give on the tongue, or in feed. Acts on the blood and expels germs of all forms of distemper. Best remedy ever known for mares in foal. One bottle guaranteed to cure one case. 50c and $1 a bottle; $5 and $10 dozen of druggists and harness dealers, or sent express paid by manufacturers. Cut shows how to position throat. Our free booklet gives everything. Local agents wanted. Largest selling horse remedy in existence—twelve years.

SPOHN MEDICAL CO., Chemists and Bacteriologists, Goshen, Ind., U. S. A.

PISO'S

BAD COLDS

are the forerunners of dangerous diseases of the throat and lungs. If you have a cough, you can stop it with Piso's Cure. If you suffer from hoarseness, sore throat, bronchitis or pains in the lungs, Piso's Cure will soon restore the irritated throat and lungs to normal, healthy condition. An ideal remedy for children. Free from opiates and dangerous ingredients. For half a century the sovereign remedy in thousands of homes. Even chronic forms of lung disease

RESPOND TO PISO'S CURE

CURE

25 CTS.

JANUARY

0469

L 903

Seeds

During the past few years we have been making a speciality of

Garden and Field Seeds

and the demand has been so great that it was necessary for us to re-order several times. If you have something special in this line that you want we will get it for you. All orders should be placed with us by February 1st. so they can be sent with our regular shipment, thus saving you extra charges. We will be able to supply your wants in good shape. Everyone knows that the seeds we sell are right and that's the kind the people want. Spring is not many months off and you ought to be prepared.

DON'T DELAY

HARRY MILLIMAN
DRUGGIST

WABASH

Wabash Time Table.

Trains leave the St. Joe Station as follows:

GOING WEST.
No. 11, Ft. Wayne Acc & Mail 11:34a. m
No. 3, Western Express 7:58 p m

GOING EAST.
No. 2, Eastern Express 6:34a. m
No16, Toledo Acc & Mail 4:59 p. m.

Contract for Acetylene.

The trustees of the M. P. church met last Monday, made their decision on what kind of a lighting plant would be installed in the church when completed. Upon discussing the matter they decided that Acetylene would meet the requirements and besides would be more in favor with the congregation. A contract was made with H. W. Krabill for one of his latest improved plants to be installed in the church by Feb. 2, and in good running order. The house will be lighted with twenty-four lights and the plant to cost over $200 when completed. The work on the church is being completed as rapidly as possible and it is being planned for the dedication to take place on Sunday, February 7. Other announcements will be made.

Now is Your Chance

Representative McKennan sends us word that he is now ready to do any legislation that might be desired by our people both democrats and republicans or any others. Just make your appearance and he will see what he can do for you, the time is past for the people to help him and he wants to do them a good turn.

A Remarkable Record.

J. H. Carnes passed through our little city, Thursday, on his way to Butler, with five DeLaval Cream Separators. During the past two years he has sold one hundred and fifty machines. This is a remarkable record and the machines are giving remarkable satisfaction.

J D Fetters

TRUSTEE
of Concord Township.

OFFICE DAY:
THURSDAY OF EACH WEEK
at his farm residence One mile
EAST OF CONCORD.

There are at present 100,000 deeds on record in the Recorder's office.

Try Segar for your harness work. At St. Joe.

Mrs. Ed Bishop and son of Auburn, visited in the home of M. T. Bishop, Tuesday.

Miss Ethel Berry returned Tuesday from a few days visit with friends in Auburn.

The Woodman band of Auburn assisted by the Wilcox Orchestra, will give a drama at Widney's Opera House, Saturday evening, Jan. 30. Watch for further announcement.

Notice to Hunters.

Stephen Brown
John Mason
C. A. Rhoads
John Doll
Nick Goldsmith
Moody Brothers
Adam Shilling

2—1—'09

Clever With Her Mouth.

To write and even to sew by means of the lips and tongue alone would seem a sheer impossibility, and yet Dr. Rubinstein of Wertheim-on-Main, a medical expert of reputation in Germany, according to the London Globe, vouches for having himself seen an authentic instance. The case was that of a young girl, paralyzed in all her limbs from the age of seven to fourteen, when she died. This afflicted little creature, by a triumph of will and patience than which, in its own way, few finer achievements have been recorded, trained lips and tongue to do the work of the hand, and to do it well, for she could not only sew, but could do it with neatness and speed, even arranging pieces of light stuff in their places by the same means. In three weeks she embroidered designs in silk on a piece of canvas some yards long.

Criers at the Paris Halles.

The position of crier at the Paris halles, or central markets, is one which, in view of recent revelations in a case before the law courts, ought not to be despised. The men who cry Gatinais fowls for sale earn £20 a month. Those who sell Brittany fowls get £18 a month, and those who dispose of ducks only receive £10 per month. Rabbits bring the crier only a pittance, for £6 a month is all he gets. Not everybody can be a crier, for unless you have sound vocal chords and a passable voice you will not be engaged. It also requires a man with a strong constitution, for the crier is at work from 6 o'clock in the morning till 8 o'clock in the evening, and on an average he should sell 2,000 fowls per hour.—London Globe.

DENTIST.
C. R. PRICE.
ST. JOE, IND.
Office in Case building.
Bell Phone No. 44.

PHOTOGRAPHS.

We make them
AT THE
Tustison Studio.

Fine Portraits on Postals - - $1.00 per doz.

Call and get prices on
FAMILY GROUPES.

CORRESPONDENCE

ITEMS FROM DIFFERENT LOCALITIES WRITTEN FOR THE NEWS

NEWVILLE

Harry Stamets is improving slowly.

Today occurs the lawsuit of Magginis and Beree.

Mrs. Maria Countryman went to Hicksville, Monday.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Chub Richmond, Monday, a girl.

Quarterly meeting was held at the U. B. church, Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Frank Snelbacher is visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. Orlan Hatch.

$5.60 was taken in at the dinner given by the Ladies Aid in the church basement.

Teachers Institute was held at the school house Saturday, all the teachers were present.

Retoricals were given at school Friday and a fine program was enjoyed by a number of visitors.

Mr. Oberlin and family went to Butler Monday and Mrs. Pearl Huntington accompanied them home.

Mrs. Inez Chapman leaves for Ann Arbor Wednesday, where she is taking her son Harold for an examination.

Mrs. Ida Traxler entertained to dinner Monday, Mrs. H. B Akens, Mrs. Frank Akens, Mrs. Blair and children, Mrs. Chapman and son and Miss Myrtle Cotrill.

Notice to Poultry Raisers.

All persons raising poultry are notified to keep such at home, if not, they will be looked after by law.

J. M. Dermott and Son.

FAIRVIEW

Samuel Fellers, wife and little son visited with Frank Mays' Sunday.

Mr. George Foster of New York State visited at Mrs. Thomas Krise's a week ago today.

Wm. Johnston is very sick with pneumonia, but is some better at this writing.

Argyl and Harold Houser are missing school on account of sickness.

Milton Krise has bought the livery barn at St. Joe and is preparing to move.

Surely genius is burning properly, with Chastide Johnston, for he's turning out music by the wholesale.

Edward Shrader is hauling wood to the school house this week.

Newton Wyatt and son Dan are cutting wood for William Renninger.

Charles Krise was in Auburn Saturday night.

Clark and Tracy Bassett, little son and daughter of Edward Bassett are sick.

Hollis Dilley and Orphia Dragoo are working for Milt Krises'.

Nearly all the scholars and also the teacher of Hay's school are sick with a bad cold.

Norman Rolland, wife and children visited with his parents north-west of Garrett, Sunday.

Local News Items.

Dr. Miles Anti-Pain Pills—Not only stop the pain, but do it quickly.

Nineteen bibles were present at the Christian Sunday School Sunday.

C. L. Hamilton sold his black span of mules last week. They were shipped to Detroit Michigan.

Notice is hereby given that the Church of Christ will elect trustees, Thursday evening Feb. 11, 1909.

Please call and settle accounts by note or cash by January 10, 1909.
Dr. H. W. Bowman.

The city superintendent of Wabash schools has made a ruling that children who were too young to enter school in September, but who have since attained their sixth birthday, may enter at the beginning of the spring term. This ruling will effect about one hundred children.

President Helps Orphans.

Hundreds of orphans have been helped by the President of The Industrial and Orphan's Home at Macon, Ga. who writes: "We have used Electric Bitters in this institution for nine years. It has proved a most excellent medicine for Stomach, Liver and Kidney troubles. We regard it as one of the best family medicines on earth." It invigorates the vital organs, purifies the blood, aids digestion, creates appetite. To strengthen and build up thin, pale, weak children or run down people it has no equal. Best for female complaints. Only 50c at.... H. Milliman's.

SPENCERVILLE
R. F. D. No. 1.

Vol Hay moved from near Waterloo last Wednesday to the George Mason farm South of the Horn's school house.

Greely Wearly and wife, Milo Beard and R. S. Deitrick took dinner with Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Horn last Wednesday.

Mr. B. W. Dwyer and family spent Sunday with Geo. Horn and family.

Grover McNabb of Hursh, expects to go to Ft. Wayne to work on the street car line soon.

Zona Horn came from Ft. Wayne, Saturday, to spend Sunday with her parents, returning Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Horn and daughter Venus, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Horn.

Myrtle Platter of Concord, came last Monday, to stay with Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Horn.

Mr. E. H. Horn received a fine program of the Farmers Institute to be held in Allen Co., Springfield township at Harlan, Feb. 1st. and 2nd.

Mr. Sofara Snyder and Mrs. Jane Reichelderfer were united in marriage last Wednesday in Ft. Wayne at the County Clerk's office. Rev. Mohler, Lutheran pastor at Harlan, performed the ceremony.

SHILLING'S CORNERS.

Esther Doll is some better at this writing.

Mr. Milton Chaney of Sedan is calling on friends in this neighborhood.

Little Edna Jackson is having quite a time with the whooping cough.

Chas. Henderson and wife went to Hicksville on business last Friday.

Cecil Shilling had the misfortune to cut his limb below the knee.

Mr. Frank Howey of Iowa and Mrs. L. R. Wasson called on Lew Howey last Thursday.

Mrs. John Timmerman went home one day last week to visit her mother.

Mrs. Alice Henderson is having a time with tonsilitis.

Jack Moody still remains about the same, we hope he will recover.

Wall Wasson, wife and children took dinner with his father Sunday, it being his sixty-first birthday.

Uncle Wm. Henderson is very poorly and seems to get no better, we are sorry for him for he has always been a good kind neighbor.

WABASH CORNERS.

Miss Laura Coburn of Coburntown, was the guest of May Daily, Wednesday night.

Orange Herrick and family were the guests of Nels Thomas and wife of St. Joe, Wednesday.

Will Lucas and wife and Sam Nelson spent Thursday evening, with Sherman Wolff and wife.

Mrs. Emanuel Ulm spent Friday night in Auburn, the guest of her brother, Charley Gill and family.

Sherman Rickett and wife, Orange Herrick and wife and Rodgie Tryon ate dinner Sunday with Sherman Wolffs'.

Frank Pervines and sister Pearl, were Sunday guests of Nick Goldsmiths', west of Spencerville.

A very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Wm. Pervines, Friday evening, the eighth grade of the Spencerville High School were there also their teacher, Wall Fisher and family, and Mrs. Mattie Hart and daughter Bessie.

Roy White and family called on Wm. Johnson, Sunday afternoon, who is sick with pneumonia.

Our harness shop has opened and is doing business, too.

Geo. Bleeks and wife drove over to Hicksville, Monday, to see their aunt, Mrs. Moody, who is in poor health.

Geo. Milliman
Subscription Agent.

When you want to send for papers and magazines I can save you money. Call at my shop or phone me for prices.

St. Joe, Ind.

I Have Added

to my stock of Hardware a small stock of Furniture. Iron Beds, Husk and Cotton Felt Mattresses, Bed springs, Chairs Tables, Etc.

HARDWARE

My stock of Hardware is complete. I have the largest assortment of Reeds Flintstone ware ever seen in

ST. JOE

Look at the label, if it is Reeds Flintstone ware, it is warranted. Everybody is learning the quality of Keen Kutter tools. Pocket Knives, Razors, Chisels, Hatchets, Hammers Cross cut and Hand Saws, all kept in stock.

Goods are right, Prices are right.

D. J. Baker.

A Partner Dance

A partner dance will be given in Widney's Opera House, Friday evening, January 29. Good order will be had and we invite the ladies to come.

Clinton Wearley.

County Assessors.

The county assessors who met in annual meeting at Indianapolis this week made a total of the amount of omitted and sequestered taxables placed upon the tax duplicate during the last year in the seventy-nine counties represented at the meeting. The surprising sum of $24,242,810 is reported by these tax-dodger hunters. It is estimated that $26,000,000 were uncovered by these county officials all over the state. Upon this enormous sum of taxables the sum of $550,141 in taxes was placed in the county treasuries. The total cost of the seventy-nine assessors, present at the meeting, was about $80,000, including deputies and other additional expenses.

The figures were compiled by the county assessors as a protective measure. There had been considerable feeling, the assessors understood, that their offices should be abolished by law. Believing that the feeling if it existed, arose from ignorance of the natural work accomplished by themselves as officials, a concerted movement was started at the annual meeting of the Association of County Assessors in December, looking to publicity for the work of the offices in all the counties.

All business now handled by the assessors would be placed in the hands of the boards of review of the various counties in the state, should one bill to be presented become a law. Under the provision of the bill the county treasurer would be made president of the board of review. It would be the duty of the county recorder to look up all mortgages in this office and report to the board of review by June 1. It would be the county clerk's duty to report all judgments in his office, so the board of review could make lists for taxation.—Dispatch.

St. Joe Markets.

The following prices are being paid for produce and grains this week on date of paper. All prices subject to change without notice.

Wheat	$1 02
Oats	48
corn	80
Barley	60
Butter	22
Eggs	28
Turkeys	15
chickens	09
Ducks	08
Geese	07

False Report.

Notwithstanding the report that Craig Sheffer has sold out, he is still doing business at the old stand. Bring him your work.

COBURN'S CORNERS

Mr. Buzzard called on Fanny Milliman again Sunday.

Grover Ward of Blakesley visited over Sunday with Ila Beaber.

The Aid Society meet today with Mrs. Roscoe Conine. You'r invited.

Charlie Tustisons', Earl Tustison and wife visited Tuesday at the home of Ale Simanton.

Millard Dermott and wife. Olen Dermott, wife and babies spent Sunday with Mrs. Alton.

Mrs. Delphia Provines returned to her home at Peoria, Oklahoma, last Monday, after several weeks visit here.

The teachers meeting will be held next Saturday evening. They will still continue on this evening instead of Monday until further notice.

Rose Abel and wife of Jackson township attended the hunting social at the church Friday night. Over $6 was cleared by the Aid.

Special Notice.

If you are in debt to me call and settle by cash or bankable note not later than January 30th.

HARRY MILLIMAN.

The Auburn Courier now comes to its subscribers as a semi-weekly. Thus giving its subscribers the news while it is fresh.

The last report concerning the Post contest gives Merritt Millman in the lead, which closes January 30. He is second in the contest which closes February 27. In June it will be decided who will be the National Champion and he now is listed as fourth. The prize is to be $500 for champion.

For that Dandruff

There is one thing that will cure it—Ayer's Hair Vigor. It is a regular scalp-medicine. It quickly destroys the germs which cause this disease. The unhealthy scalp becomes healthy. The dandruff disappears, had to disappear. A healthy scalp means a great deal to you—healthy hair, no dandruff, no pimples, no eruptions.

The best kind of a testimonial—"Sold for over sixty years."

Made by J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass. Also manufacturers of Ayer's SARSAPARILLA. PILLS. CHERRY PECTORAL.

JANUARY

0470

L 903

ST. JOE NEWS.

VOL. XXIII ST. JOE, DEKALB COUNTY, IDIANA. THURSDAY, JANUARY 28 1909. NO. 4

VISIT THE NEW HOSPITAL FOR SICK CLOTHES

These Trousers Have Been Doctored

—AT THE—

"New Hospital for Sick Clothes," and can't be ripped. Pressing and cleaning.

Prices Reasonable. Satisfaction Guar.

PRESSING-CLEANING

PRESSING-CLEANING

Foraker Ferrell.

VISIT THE NEW HOSPITAL FOR SICK CLOTHES

Local Briefs

The Krise sale, February 4.

Try Segar for your harness work. At St. Joe.

Wm. Hart of Auburn was in town a couple of days last week on business.

Martin Engle and wife spent Friday at the home of Mrs. Nancy Widney.

Arthur Furnish and family and B. A. Rhoades and wife were St. Joe visitors, Thursday.

Notice is hereby given that the Church of Christ will elect trustees, Thursday evening Feb. 11, 1909.

Mrs Marie Bachtel of Waterloo visited with her parents, Roseberry Wiers and wife, Thursday and Friday of last week.

Frank Dolph and wife returned to their home at South Bend, Friday, after a months' visit with Frank Hart and family.

Rev. J. C. McCain was called to Colfax, Ind., last week, to perform a marriage ceremony. He also spent a day at Indianapolis.

Byron Widney and wife and Mrs. Frank Sechler were guests of Spencerville relatives a couple of days the latter part of last week.

Monday, February 1st., is the day set for holding the Farmers meeting, in Widney's opera house. This meeting is for the farmers especially and it is desired that a good attendance be given the speaker. An admission of 5 cents will be charged to defray some necessary expenses. The ladies are also requested to come.

Start 1909

Aright

By placing a nice Life Insurance policy on your life —wife, son, daughter or friend. —in the—

Mutual Life

J. C. HULL

AGENT

Call on or Phone No. 46-2.

Meet me at the Hick'ry Farm, Saturday evening, Jan. 30th.

Wm. Bleeks and family are the guests of relatives at Hicksville, this week.

Twenty bibles were present last Sunday at the Christian Sunday School.

Lost:-Between residence on Widney Avenue and The News office, six napkins. Finder please return same to News office.

Attend the play, Hick'ry Farm Widney's Opera House, Saturday evening. Admission 10 and 20 cts.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvie Reasoner, Mrs. Harry Kees, Mr. Florence Buchanan and J. C. Hull were at Ft. Wayne Thursday. Cleve Washler returned in the evening after a few days visit at that place.

Reports are that Wm. Allen the Spencerville barber, is again confined to his bed. He was able to be up and he was given something to eat that did not agree with him thus giving him a back set that will probably last for some time.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad will sell very low homeseekers excursion tickets Febuary 2 and 16 to points in northwest, west and southwest. Consult nearest agent for details.

The W. C. T. U. will meet with the president, Mrs. Buchanan, Friday afternoon, Jan. 29. Two features of the program will be the reading of the state president's address by Mrs. Curie and a paper by Mrs. Jennie Sechler. Come and enjoy the afternoon.

Wm. Curie, Assistant Sergant at Arms of legislature, was at home Saturday. He states that business will commence proper this week, when the committees commence making their reports. In one day there were seventeen bills introduced regarding line fences, and as yet not one bill regarding the dog tax has been introduced. We venture that not one out of ten of these bills will be passed.

A very pleasant affair occured at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Hamilton on last Thursday evening, when forty-five of their friends and neighbors gathered in to spend the evening before their departure to their new home in Butler. Many friends were present from St. Joe. Light refreshments were served, consisting of pop corn, apples and peanuts. Although regrets were many in parting with those we love to mingle with. We are sorry to lose them as neighbors in our community.

One who was there.

Seeds

During the past few years we have been making a speciality of

Garden & Field Seeds

and the demand has been so great that it was necessary for us to re-order several times. If you have something special in this line that you want we will get it for you. All orders should be placed with us by February 1st. so they can be sent with our regular shipment, thus saving you extra charges. We will be able to supply your wants in good shape. Everyone knows that the seeds we sell are right and that's the kind the people want. Spring is not many months off and you ought to be prepared.

DON'T DELAY

HARRY MILLIMAN

DRUGGIST

A. A. Rowland was a St. Joe visitor Tuesday afternoon.

Foraker Ferrell was at Hicksville Thursday and Friday.

If you want to laugh, come to the theatre, Saturday evening, Jan. 30. Admission 10 and 20 cts.

We are pleased to note the success of J. H. Carnes, in selling DeLaval cream separators. During his canvas the past week he disposed of five No. 12 separators. He says they are the coming machine and a farmer who purchases one wishes that he had bought one long before.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Woodcox returned Sunday from Huntington where they attended the poultry show. They report the sale of two fine cockerels while there. They were the guests of the latter's brother Frank Philley during their stay.

C. C. Woodcox sent a bunch of his famous Buff Leghorns to the Wabash Valley Poultry and Pet Stock Show held at Huntington. Last week the awards for this class of birds according to the Evening Herald published at that place were as follows:—Single Comb Buff Leghorns; Cock—First, Clarence C. Woodcox. Cockerel—third, Clarence Woodcox. Hen—First and second, Clarence Woodcox. Pullet—First and second, Clarence Woodcox.

Public Sale

The undersigned will sell at Public Sale at his residence at Spencerville, Indiana, on Saturday, January 30 at 2 o'clock p. m. the following:—3 beds, bedding, cooking and heating stoves, chairs, sofa, table, 2 stands, 2 clocks, carpets, dishes, bookcase, cupboard, sink, 8 bushels of potatoes, and many other articles. Terms made known on date of sale.

C. E. Smith.

County Line News.

W. T. Wyatt and wife spent Friday with M. Simanton and wife.

Henry Rakestraw has been hauling corn to St. Joe, the past week.

Dr. Miles Anti-Pain Pills—Not only stop the pain, but do it quickly.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. McNutt are visiting in LaGrange County, this week.

Protracted meetings began at Rehobeth, Thursday evening of last week.

H. A. Porter and wife spent Tuesday evening with W. T. Wyatt and family.

Solomon Goldsmith was severly injured last week by falling from a load of hay.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Warner spent Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. Abe Thorne.

Joe Stuckey and wife and Frank Stuckey and wife spent Sunday with C. Stuckey and family.

Is Wyatt and wife returned from Washington, last week. It seems that they have decided to remain in Indiana.

M. Simanton and wife and Mike Hensinger and wife spent Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. Andy Myers of Cedarville.

The Farmer's Short Course held at Purdue University, LaFayette, Ind., Jan. 11 to 16, was one of the best that has been held there. The work had many new and interesting features and has large prospects of growing rapidly. About 1100 people registered and a large number stayed for all the work given. The State Corn Show drew a large crowd for Monday as the enteries closed at 6 p. m. Monday. The Boy's club arrived on Monday and Monday night. There were 29 boys and girls in all there. Allen and DeKalb counties were not there with a boy and girl club, and why?

The work was carried on under the regular schedule and was a rush as usual from Monday to Saturday. Mrs. Wyatt and son George, and the writer arrived at LaFayette on January 5th. We were employed with a number of others in the work for the Short Course, and the two weeks passed off very rapidly. Some 80 lectures were given during the week, and several laboratory exercises and class demonstration exercises were given. The dedication of the new Experiment Station occured Thursday evening, Jan. 14. The address was given by W. T. Jordan, director of the New York Experiment Station.

The evening sessions were all excellent and the weeks work closes leaving all well satisfied and willing to say the work was well worth the time spent in attending the school. Movements are all ready on foot for the advancement and betterment of the work for the coming year.

Sunday School Report.

Below is the report of the various Sunday Schools of the town and community for last Sunday. We desire that the secretaries may hand us this bit of information on Monday of each week, or phone to No. 10 and report.

	Attendance	Collection
Christian	76	$1.46
Lutheran	72	$2.09
M. P.	52	$1.16
Coburntown	87	$2.44
Spen. Luth.	68	$1.54
Spen M. E.	54	$1.64
Concord	62	97

Any other school desiring to be represented in this list may do so by just simply telling us.

L L C

The "Poe Centenial" was celebrated by the Ladies' Literary Club at the home of Mrs. Delora Curie, Wednesday evening, Jan. 20th., at which time the following program was carried out. Biography of Poe, Mrs. Ella Patterson; "The Raven", his masterpiece, Mrs. Emma Baker; "The Ragged Mountain", Mrs. Jennie Sechler; X-ing a Paragrab", Mrs. Curie; "Annabel Lee" Mrs. Addie Filley. Clippings from several newspapers read by different members of the Club, pictured the life of Edgar Allen Poe as one upon which were many shadows and stains. That his genius so fine but emphasizes the tragedy of his career, and out of the depths of his own disordered, anarchic life, arose those shadows of misery and hopeless, portentous gloom that seem to brood over so many of his pages, whether poetry or prose. The responses to roll call were quotations from Poe. After business the president declared the club adjourned for one week. "Let Poe's genius be recognized, but let it be recognized as a genius, hindered, crippled, darkened by the evil of his life. Let him have full credit for the peculiar and individual quality of his intellectual product, but let him also bear full responsibility for his no less peculiar and individual vices".

Spencerville R F D No 2

Mr. Nelson Lake who has been quite sick the past week is much better at this writing.

Melvin Howey, wife and baby spent Sunday with the formers parents Mr. and Mrs. George Howey.

Mr. and Mrs. N. Lake entertained to Sunday dinner the following: Dr. J. H. Lake, wife and baby, from St. Joe, Laten Lake from Butler, Wm. Lake and family, John Benninghoff and wife and Flora Wrenn.

A merry bunch gathered at the home of D. M. Kelley last Monday evening and all enjoyed the time spent together the evening being spent mostly in music. Those present were: Wm. Lake and family, John Benninghoff and family, Harvey Kimes and daughter Pluma and Minnie Thompson, Clint Wearley and family and the Messrs Harry Hursh, Edd Hull, Harvey Beam, Edd Cupp, Melvin Miller, John Dove and Ray Zimmerman. Oysters were served. After which all departed feeling as though each one had thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

WABASH CORNERS.

Harry Maurer is on the sick list.

Sam and Mae Daily had the chicken-pox last week.

Elis Gill, Ida Woodcox and son Homer of St. Joe, called on the correspondent Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. James Draggoo and daughter and Mrs. D. D. Burley and granddaughter Merl Wilson, spent Thursday in St. Joe, the guests of Earn Johnson and wife.

Geo. Milliman

Subscription Agent.

When you want to send for papers and magazines I can save you money. Call at my shop or phone me for prices.

St. Joe, Ind.

Crescent Concert Co.

AT

Widney's Opera House

Friday Evening February 12 at 8:15

The members of this company are Misses Hadsell, McCormick and Blackburn. They have been secured by the school. Everybody come and hear something good.

ADMISSION 15c.

Dennis Burley was a Sunday guest of Tom White.

Miss Hazel Perry spent Sunday at Orange Herricks'.

Will Lucas and wife spent Wednesday afternoon in Spencerville.

Mrs. Louisa Burley spent Sunday with her daughter Mrs. Wilson and family.

Mrs. Deem Hull called on Mrs. George Johnson, at Concord, Wednesday afternoon.

Master Joseph Koch of St. Joe spent Tuesday of last week with Orange Herrick and family.

John Ulm, wife and son Fred of Coburntown spent Sunday with Emanuel Ulm and wife.

Sherman Wolff and wife, Marie and Goldie Hull and Ralph Lake were Sunday guests at Gene Whites'.

Winfield Pervines and Clyde Harrod were visitors of Spencerville high school on Monday afternoon of last week.

Ralph Darling and Clyde Harrod of Perrysville, Ohio and Frank Ulm of St. Joe were the guests of Wm. Pervines and family last Thursday, and at J. D. Smiths' on Friday.

For Sale.

One pair of Black Tailed Japanese Bantams, cheap, also 100 dry Oak fence posts.

M. T. Bishop.

SCIO ITEMS

Wayne and Scott Hurst are having a tussle with the mumps.

Herbert Sherer called on Ethel Leighty, Saturday night.

Neff Culler and family ate Sunday dinner with Ivan Farners'.

Miss Olive Hanley is employed in the Hope hospital at Ft. Wayne.

Boyde Rhodes and family are visiting the formers parents near Mooresville.

Mr. and Mrs. Laney Gee visited last Thursday, with Charles Thayer and family.

Mrs. Warren Smith will make her future home with her daughter, Mrs. Wm. Countryman.

Most everyone around Scio was interested in the Beery and Magginis lawsuit, last week.

Mrs. Inez Chapman has taken her son Harold, to Ann Arbor, Mich., for examination and treatment.

Bert Stackhouse is getting along nicely after his operation at Chicago, and will probably be home soon.

The coasting and skating is at an end for a few more days, and one thinks of spring when they hear the buzzing of the honey bee.

They say the Kain boys and Stanley Davis captured sixteen rabbits with a ferret one day last week, it is sport for the boys but not for the rabbits.

FAIRVIEW

Wm. Johnston is greatly improved at this writing.

Quarterly meeting will be held at this place, next Sunday.

WABASH

Wabash Time Table.

Trains leave the St. Joe Station as follows:

GOING WEST.

No. 11, Ft. Wayne Acc & Mail 11:34a m
No. 3, Western Express 7:58 p m

GOING EAST.

No. 2, Eastern Express 6:34a m
No16, Toledo Acc & Mail 4:50 p. m.

Mr. and Mrs. Rheuben Koch drove to Churubusco, Tuesday.

Laukey Morr had a horse die with spasmodic colic, last week.

Wm. Hudson of Garrett, visited at Norman Rollands', last week

Mrs. Wm. Blair has been sick the past week, but is somewhat better at this writing.

John Brown, wife and sons, Frank and Harold, visited with Linnes Morrs', Sunday.

Mrs. Peter Coyle and daughter Ommie, called on Mrs. Wm. Krise and daughter Cora, Sunday.

Five of the Houser children are sick with the whooping cough. Three of them are very bad with it.

Nervous or Sick Headache will yield quickly to the influence of Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. 25 doses 25 cents.

The people of the Fairview church met Wednesday, and put in some new hitching racks and cleaned the church.

Frank May will move on Charles Krise's place in a short time and Will Keeler will occupy May's place, while J. W. Sherer will move on his own farm.

False Report.

Notwithstanding the report that Craig Sheffer has sold out, he is still doing business at the old stand. Bring him your work.

For Lung Troubles

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral certainly cures coughs, colds, bronchitis, consumption. And it certainly strengthens weak throats and weak lungs. There can be no mistake about this. You know it is true. And your own doctor will say so.

The best kind of a testimonial—"Sold for over sixty years."

Made by J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass. Also manufacturers of Ayer's SARSAPARILLA. PILLS. HAIR VIGOR.

We have no secrets! We publish the formulas of all our medicines.

Keep the bowels regular with Ayer's Pills and thus hasten recovery.

PONY PRIZE NO. 30.

Wanted 100 Customers

I will have 400 copies for this week. Buy all you can and help me win. This is the last week of the race. They will be here Thursday morning.

Merritt Milliman.

JANUARY

L 903

0471

The St. Joe News

ST. JOE, INDIANA.

FRED B. LEIGHTY, - - Publisher.

1909 JANUARY 1909

Su	Mo	Tu	We	Th	Fr	Sa
●	●	●	●	●	1	2
3	4	5	6	7	8	9
10	11	12	13	14	15	16
17	18	19	20	21	22	23
24	25	26	27	28	29	30
31	●	●	●	●	●	●

F. M. 6th. L. Q. 14th. N. M. 21st. F. Q. 28th.

PAST AND PRESENT

AS IT COMES TO US FROM ALL CORNERS OF THE EARTH.

Telegraphic Information Gathered by the Few for the Enlightenment of the Many.

Powder Mill is Blown Up.

Four men were killed and ten others injured, one fatally, when several tons of dynamite in one of the buildings of the Forcite Powder Works, at Lake Hopatong, N. J., blew up. The detonation of the huge mass of explosive shook the country for miles around and blew the building containing it to atoms. Of the fourteen men working in it not one escaped death or injury. The explosion occurred in a one-story frame building where sticks of dynamite were stored. It is presumed that one of the sticks of dynamite piled in the structure was jarred from its resting place and exploded, detonating the whole mass. The Forcite Powder Works belonged to the DuPont Powder Company.

Rockefeller Gives Another Million.

John D. Rockefeller has given another $1,000,000 to the University of Chicago. In a telegram to the Board of Trustees, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., announced that his father had placed securities on behalf of the university which will yield an annual income of $40,000. On this basis, the securities are reckoned as being worth $1,000,000. The endowment fund of the university is now $15,000,000 from all sources. Mr. Rockefeller's total contributions to the university aggregate $24,800,000.

Toledo Has Damaging Blaze.

Toledo, Ohio, was visited by its most serious fire in many years. Flames starting in the basement of the Brown, Eager & Hull Book Company store gutted the large four-story building occupied by that firm and forty-five minutes later communicated to the building at Adams and Summit streets occupied by the Hudson Dry Goods Company, which was also destroyed. It is estimated the loss will amount to $250,000.

Girl With Pitchfork Injures Tramp.

Miss Hazel Phillips, 15 years old, while alone in the haymow at her home north of Warsaw, Ind., was attacked by a tramp who threatened to kill her. The girl grabbed a pitchfork to defend herself and when the tramp started toward her she ran the fork through his hand. He jumped from the mow, ran across a field and escaped. The other members of the Phillips family are in bed sick.

Jesuit College Destroyed by Fire.

The famous Spring Hill College, one of the oldest Jesuit colleges in the Southern States, and which was well known in the United States and Europe, was destroyed by fire. There was no loss of life. The college, standing on a high plateau about seven miles from Mobile, Ala., could not be reached by the city firemen in time to master the flames.

A Woman Dr. Jekyl and Mr. Hyde.

Mrs. Otto W. Lauburg, who has been respected as a wife and mother, told a coroner's jury in St. Louis, Mo., how in the role of Adele St. Clair, which she assumed in the other side of her dual existence, she shot and killed Edward Gerber in a rooming house over a Market street saloon.

Dead After Fasting Forty-Nine Days.

After a fast of forty-nine days William Duncan aged 36 years, died at the home of his parents near Somerville, Ind. Duncan had been an epileptic. Although perfectly rational almost at all times he would periodically have sleeping spells during which time life could scarcely be distinguished.

Prisoners Break Jail.

Four prisoners escaped from the jail at Weston, W. Va., two from the jail at Moundsville, W. Va., and two from the jail at Charleston. The Weston prisoners beat the warden's wife and she is in a serious condition.

Seven Foreigners Burned to Death.

Seven foreigners, stupefied from the liquor served at a wedding celebration, were burned to death in a fire which destroyed three double houses at Goodtown, near Johnstown, Pa.

Lowell Will Succeed Eliot.

The Board of Overseers of Harvard College has confirmed the nomination of Prof. Abbott Lawrence Lowell as president of Harvard University, to succeed Charles W. Eliot.

Fire in Buffalo.

The five-story brick building at 17 Main street, Buffalo, N. Y., occupied by D. Mahoney & Sons, of the Commercial Oil Company, were destroyed by fire. Loss $200,000.

MANY DIE IN LAKE HORROR OFF CHICAGO

Seventy Workmen Caught in Blazing Prison on the Temporary Water Crib Structure.

LEAP FROM FLAMES TO WATER.

Hundreds of Persons, Powerless to Give Relief, Witness Struggles of Laborers from Shore.

Many workmen were believed to have lost their lives and more than a score were injured Wednesday morning in a fire which destroyed the intermediate crib in Lake Michigan, a mile and a half off 71st street, Chicago, used by George W. Jackson, the contractor, in the construction of a new water tunnel. Estimates of the fatalities ranged from twenty to thirty-six. Seventy men, who lived at the crib and worked in shifts, were on the structure when the fire broke out. Many of these were burned to death before they could reach the doors. Others, their clothes aflame, leaped into the icy water regardless of the results. A number, unable to swim, sank beneath the surface. Others swam to cakes of ice to support themselves until the arrival of relief.

Starts from Powder Explosion.

The fire originated in the powder magazine on the first landing. Many of the employes were asleep in bunks, and others were just going to work, when a sheet of flame shot through the building. The alarm spread rapidly. Chicagoans who heard of the impending disaster were appalled when they learned that over seventy workmen at the crib were completely isolated from the shore. Smoke could be faintly seen puffing up 8,000 feet away, where a light mist lay over the water. Occasionally a tongue of red flame flared up. An alarm was sent at once to South Chicago, where the fire tug Conway was stationed.

The crowds on the shore watching the distant blaze with its plume of black smoke, the squad of men on the adjoining crib and those working from the fire tug Conway, which had been hurrid through the ice floes from its station in South Chicago to the scene of the conflagration, were greatly alarmed when it was learned that three tons of dynamite were stored in the substructure of the burning crib. The flames spread rapidly, and it was but a few moments when the crib was a mass of flames. Hundreds of persons gathered on the shore to watch the fire, but were powerless to render aid. Ambulances were on hand, but the imprisoned men could not be reached.

PEOPLE NAME SENATOR.

Oregon's Republican Legislature Elects Democrat as Instructed.

Governor George E. Chamberlain, a Democrat, was elected Tuesday by a Republican Legislature as United States Senator from Oregon, thus solving the problem of choosing Senators by popular vote without infringing on the Constitution of the United States.

Popular will triumphed, backed by a strong people's lobby determined to see that the members of the Legislature carried out the instructions given at the polls. A suggestion of extreme measures for any violating pledges helped keep all in line. It was also declared that the "recall" would be used on offending lawmakers.

With the Republicans in a majority, many party leaders hoped to secure one of their political faith chosen as successor to Senator Charles W. Fulton, despite the voters' instructions, and a campaign with this object in view had been carried on, but without result.

Tuesday's ballot was by the houses seperately, and the result was ratified by a vote in joint session Wednesday. In the House Chamberlain was given 34 votes and in the Senate 19, a total of 53, or seven more than was necessary to bring about the election.

Under the Oregon direct primary law political parties nominate a candidate as the choice of the party for United States Senator. For nominee of the Republicans in the last election Senator Fulton was defeated by Henry M. Cake. The Democrats had only one aspirant, Governor Chamberlain. Prior to the June election Cake and Chamberlain campaigned for the popular vote, Chamberlain, Democrat, defeating Cake, Republican, although Oregon is Republican by an overwhelming majority.

KING MANUEL FEARS DEATH.

Portuguese Ruler, Incurably Ill, Is in Danger of Assassination

Young King Manuel is believed to be incurably ill and in the event of his death there will be no one to succeed to the throne of Portugal. His condition is aggravated by fear of assassination. The king has no brothers or sisters, and if he should die before he is married there would be no heir direct. His uncle, the Duke of Oporto, is heir-apparent, but he has declared that nothing could induce him to assume the crown. Under these conditions the death of Manuel would jeopardize the monarchy. It would give the pretenders to the throne an opening and encourage the republicans. In all probability it would result in revolution. That the boy king is seriously affected with lung trouble is unquestioned.

THEY'RE HAVING A PERFECTLY CORKING TIME.

—Chicago Examiner.

DEATH TAKES RUSSIAN ADMIRAL

Rojestvensky Succumbs to Heart Trouble in St. Petersburg.

The death is announced of Vice Admiral Rojestvensky, who was in command of the Russian fleet in May, 1905, when it was practically annihilated by the Japanese in the battle of the Sea of Japan. The death of Admiral Rojestvensky, which occurred in St. Petersburg Thursday, was due to neuralgia of the heart.

Sinovi Petrovitch Rojestvensky was about 60 years old and for years bore the reputation of being the most cool-headed and scientific officer in the Russian navy. He distinguished himself in the Russo-Turkish war of 1877 and was promoted to commander in 1885. In 1902 he was made vice admiral and was in far eastern waters at the time of the Chino-Japanese war.

VICE ADMIRAL ROJESTVENSKY.

In the summer of 1904 he started with the second Russian Atlantic squadron from the Baltic for Vladivostok. On the way some British fishing boats were fired on and strained relations with that country resulted. Arriving in the far east Admiral Rojestvensky was joined by other Russian vessels and then had fifty-six ships under his command. May 27-28, 1905, occurred the battle of the Sea of Japan, in which the Russian fleet was practically annihilated and its commander taken prisoner.

A naval court of inquiry sitting in St. Petersburg in 1906, indicted Admiral Rojestvensky for surrendering to the Japanese, but he was acquitted on the plea that at the time the surrender was made he was unconscious from injuries received in the fight.

Fifteen Years in Prison.

J. B. F. Rinehart, former cashier and president of the Farmers' and Drovers' National Bank at Waynesburg, Pa., which failed two years ago for $2,000,000, was found guilty of wrecking the bank. He was immediately sentenced by United States Judge James S. Young to serve fifteen years in the penitentiary.

Conductor Robbed and Slain.

William A. Anderson, a conductor on the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad branch line from Catlettsburg to Pikeville, Ky., was robbed and murdered. After Anderson was dead the murderers carried his body out on to a high trestle and bound it to the rails, where it was struck by a freight train shortly afterward and badly mangled.

ROBBER KILLS ONE; SHOOTS TWO

Man Is Then Fatally Wounded in Battle wih Omaha Police.

Patrolman L. A. Smith is dead, Detective W. G. Deveresse is probably fatally injured, Albert Clarke is fatally hurt and Betsy Smith is dangerously shot as the result of an attempt by Clarke to hold up Anna Wilson's place on Ninth street, in Omaha, at an early hour Thursday. Clarke entered the Wilson place and at the point of a revolver commanded the inmates to hold up their hands. At the same moment he snatched a diamond necklace from the neck of the Wilson woman and escaped to the street. Betsy Smith followed him and Clarke fired a shot into her shoulder, inflicting a dangerous wound. Her screams brought Patrolman Smith to the scene and Clarke at once began shooting at him, firing two bullets into his body. Smith raised himself to a sitting posture and fired twice at the robber, one bullet taking effect in the leg, but he escaped to Douglass street bridge across the Missouri river. The shooting, which occurred two blocks from the police station, brought a squad of officers and the patrol to the scene. Smith was dead when they arrived. All the available officers started out to search for the robber and an hour later he was found on the bridge by Detectives Deveresse and Heitfeldt. As soon as the officers came up to the robber, he began firing, one bullet hitting Deveresse in the stomach. Heitfeldt shot the robber twice in the stomach.

WINS $1,200 FOR BLACK LIST.

Telegraph Operator Awarded Damages Against Western Union.

The Western Union Telegraph Company must pay $1,200 damages for the alleged blacklisting of James W. O'Brien, a telegraph operator, formerly employed by the United Press, according to a verdict rendered by a jury in Judge Wilson R. Gay's court in Seattle. O'Brien had been an operator for twenty-four years on various newspaper associations. During the telegraph strike of 1906 O'Brien became chairman of the press committee and gave out information concerning the manner in which the Western Union handled messages at that time. On Dec. 20, 1907, O'Brien was discharged by the United Press from the Puget Sound American at Bellingham, Wash., it was claimed, on demand of the Western Union.

ODDS & ENDS OF SPORT

The American Association baseball season will open about the middle of April.

In a furious fight at New Orleans Abe Attell knocked out Bill Mackey of Cleveland in the eighth round.

The Wanderers of Montreal won the first game with the Edmonton team in the challenge series for the Stanley hockey club, 7 to 3.

Stanley and Menominee, Wis., will be added to the Chippewa Valley Baseball League next season, forming an eight-club league, with every town a good one.

At Emeryville track Robert Harrington, a 52-pound boy, rode a great race on Ems, a 30 to 1 shot, and won it. The entire audience rose to its feet and gave the boy a wonderful cheer.

Booger Red, the big chestnut colt from the Brannon string, proved himself better than the rest of the field in the five furlong race at Oakland, some of his opponents exceeding his own age of 3 years.

BIG HAT STRIKE IS ON.

25,000 Workers Quit When Manufacturers Abandon Union Label.

Twenty-five thousand persons went out on strike Friday and seventy-five hat factories in New England and the North Atlantic States have been tied up as a result of a decision of the Associated Hat Manufacturers to discontinue the use of the union label. Samuel Mundheim, president of the association, said that the order followed the refusal of union employes of the Guyer Hat Company in Philadelphia to keep a working agreement. Under this agreement, he said, the men were to continue work until a settlement of pending questions was reached, but the men quit work in that factory three weeks ago and have since refused to return.

Martin Lawlor, secretary of the United Hatters of North America, said: "The cause of the trouble was the refusal of the Guyer company to live up to their contract with us, not any refusal of ours to live up to our contract with them. The statement that the men in the Philadelphia factory 'quit work' is misleading."

The chief factories affected are in New York, Brooklyn, Philadelphia, Newark and Orange, N. J., and in Danbury, South Norwalk and New Milford, Conn.

KILLED IN BIG COLLISION.

Passenger Train in Colorado Crashes Into Double Head Freight.

Twenty-one persons were killed and thirty injured, many of them seriously, in a head-on collision between west bound passenger train No. 5 and an east bound freight train on the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad, between Dotsero and Spruce Creek, twenty-two miles from Glenwood Springs, Colo. While nothing official has been given out as to the cause of the wreck, it is said to have been due to a misunderstanding of orders on the part of Engineer Gustaf Olson of the passenger train. Olson, however, claims he understood his instructions perfectly, but that he misread his watch, thus encroaching on the time of the freight train, which was being drawn by two engines, the first of which was in charge of his brother, Sig Olson. The two trains met on a steep grade.

"SOO" LINE IN CHICAGO.

Negotiations for the Purchase of Wisconsin Central Completed.

The Canadian Soo Line has finally secured its long-coveted entrance into Chicago. Official announcement was made Friday that negotiations for the purchase of the Wisconsin Central by the Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie Railway Company, commonly called the Soo Line, were practically completed. The Soo Line is owned by the Canadian Pacific, which is a government road with Sir Thomas Shaughnessy as its president. The change of ownership of the Wisconsin Central, the purchase being upon the basis of a guarantee of 4 per cent upon the $12,500,000 of preferred stock, means that Chicago is to have another through road to the Pacific coast. It is not unlikely that the consolidated system will run through passenger trains between Chicago and Winnipeg and Chicago and Vancouver, if not between Chicago and Duluth.

WORK OF CONGRESS

The amendment to the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill increasing the salary of the President to $100,000, of the Vice President and Speaker of the House to $20,000, with $5,000 additional allowance for carriages and coachmen for the Vice President and Speaker, and increases for the judiciary aggregating $328,500, precipitated a lively discussion in the Senate Friday. Senator Borah of Idaho made a point of order against these increases on the ground that they involve general legislation. Without concluding the debate, further consideration of the amendments was postponed. Private bills had their inning in the House of Representatives, almost the whole session being given up to their consideration. Many were passed. Under a resolution offered by Mr. Gaines of Tennessee the judiciary committee was directed to report within ten days upon the question of the right of George L. Lilley, Governor of Connecticut, to retain his seat as a member of the House. The subject occasioned a good deal of debate, which at times waxed warm.

-:—:-

The entire session of the Senate Saturday was devoted to a memorial service for the late Senator William Pinkney Whyte of Maryland. After the adoption of suitable resolutions of respect the Senate adjourned. An elaborate analysis of the Sherman anti-trust law by Mr. Jenkins of Wisconsin was the feature of the House session.

-:—:-

By a vote of 37 to 27 the Senate Monday fixed the salary of the Speaker of the House of Representatives at $15,000 instead of $12,000, as at present, and instead of $20,000, as proposed by the Committee on Appropriations. Senator Rayner endeavered to have the Senate adopt a resolution caling on the Attorney General for information as to whether the President had ordered a suit brought against the New York World and the Indianapolis News because of an alleged libel, and under what statute this action had been taken. Mr. Rayner declared that there was no statute authorizing such legal procedure and that the attempt to sue the newspapers in the name of the United States, if entered upon, was an attempt to apply the sedition laws long since repealed. Under objection further consideration was postponed. A sensational and bitter attack on President Roosevelt was made in the House by Mr. Willett of New York. His remarks were delivered under the license of general debate on the pension appropriation bill. The President was characterized by Mr. Wilett as a "gargoyle, tyrant, pygmy descendant of Dutch tradespeople, hay tedder, fountain of billingsgate, a jocularity, imitation of a king and bogus hero." On a motion by Mr. Candler of Mississippi that the New Yorker be allowed to proceed "in order" the House voted him off the floor, 78 to 126. Mr. Willett declared the action "put an end to free speech."

-:—:-

The salary of the President of the United States was Tuesday fixed at $100,000 per annum, so far as the Senate could fix it, and salaries of the Vice President and the Speaker of the House of Representatives at $15,000 each. The salary of the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court was increased from $13,000 to $15,000, and those of associate justices from $12,500 to $14,500. These changes were made as amendments to the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill and after an extended debate. Amendments allowing $5,000 each to the Vice President and the Speaker of the House for horses and carriages were stricken from the bill. Senator Rayner's resolution calling on the Attorney General for information concerning the suit he purposes bringing against certain newspapers on the charge of libel in connection with the purchase of the Panama Canal property was referred to the Committee on the Judiciary after a strong fight to have it adopted without such reference. Various pension bills were passed. After disposing of the speech of Representative Willett attacking the President by referring it to a special committee, the House passed the pensions and urgent deficiency bills, and when adjournment was taken the naval appropriations bill was under consideration. The pensions bill abolishes all but one of the eighteen pension agencies throughout the country and carries a total appropriation of $160,869,000. A plan to pay pensioners quarterly was defeated. The urgent deficiency bill carries appropriations amounting to $1,026,402. A message from the President recommending an appropriation of $20,000 for a commission to investigate conditions in the Republic of Liberia, Africa, was read.

SHORT NEWS NOTES.

The James Ballantine Company's plumbing factory at Winnipeg, Canada, was damaged to the extent of $75,000 by fire.

Half the business portion of the town of Kensington, Kan., was destroyed by a fire that started in the Palace Hotel. The loss is $50,000.

J. Harry McMillan, a millionaire miner, was arrested at Tonopah, Nev., on complaint of Jim May of Reno, who charges McMillan got $8,000 from him on worthless checks.

JANUARY

0472

L 903

Aunt Diana

The Sunshine of the Family

CHAPTER XXII.—(Continued.)

"Oh, there is the river!" exclaimed Allison, in a tone of ecstasy. "Look, Roger; you can just catch a gleam through the trees—oh, the dear place! How I do love it!" her voice rising into a perfect crescendo, of which the top note was complete satisfaction.

"It is just a year since you have seen it," observed Greville. "Miss Allison, what made you steal a march on me in that fashion? I was quite hurt that you never gave me a hint of your intention of going home."

He spoke in a low tone that Roger could not hear.

The quick, sensitive color rushed into Alison's face; there was such implied reproach in Greville's voice. Had he really been hurt?

"Oh, you must not feel like that about it," she returned, with a sweet, candid look. "We had talked of the possibility, Aunt Diana and I, but nothing had been settled. I had put it out of my mind. I was so naughty, I could not bear the idea of going home and doing my duty. I should never have gone at all if Aunt Diana had not helped me."

"You did not think how I should feel when I came back and found you gone," retorted Greville, in a boyish, injured voice, that reached Roger and made him smile, only Alison grew a little grave.

"I left a message with your grandfather," she said, quietly. "What could I do? Aunt Diana said it was my duty to go, and that it was no good putting one's hand to the plow and looking backward. What is the use of loitering over a difficult task when it has to be done?"

"That is true, but——"

"Please don't talk of last summer," she interrupted him; "it makes me sad only to think about it." And he could see there were tears in her eyes as she spoke. "I made myself so miserable over it; I could not bear leaving Aunt Diana, and I missed every one so."

"Miss Alison, please do not look sad over it," said Greville, earnestly. "What a clumsy fellow I am! I have silenced the nestful of twittering young larks"—referring to Roger's speech. "Come, I know you will forgive me, and look chirpy again, when I tell you I have passed muster and come off with flying colors."

"Oh, I am so glad!" exclaimed Alison, her smiles returning again. "Then you must have worked hard. How pleased Mr. Moore must be!"

"To hear grandfather talk," returned Greville, calmly, "you would think I was the Admiral Crichton, at least. The dear old man makes no end of fuss, bless him! I tell him it is all your doing; you gave me such a terrible lecture that Wednesday."

"Oh, no," replied Alison, blushing; "it was your own good sense."

"I shall go in for 'Greats' next year, so I shall have to grind pretty hard. I am to have a coach down here this summer, Cheyne, of Balliol, is at The Crays with his people, and he is a rare fellow for that. I have to work all my mornings," he continued, rather dolorously, "but I shall have my afternoons and evenings free. Miss Alison, you are not listening to me."

"Oh, yes I am!" she cried, joyously, "but I can not bear any more just now, though I am very glad to hear it all. Roger, do look! There is Moss-side—you know you have forgotten it—and there is Aunt Di in the porch."

"Allie, you have eyes like a hawk. I see nothing but greenery and sunshine."

Nevertheless, Roger did perceive, a moment afterward, a tall figure in myrtle-green standing under a trellis of roses.

Miss Carrington had evidently heard the wheels of the dog cart, and had come out to look. When they stopped she had the little gate open and was helping Alison to alight.

"How are you, my dear child?" she said, as Alison put her arms around her; "actually not tired, Allie! And you, Roger? Welcome to Moss-side, my boy!"

"Aren't you going to welcome me, too, Miss Carrington?" asked Greville, half jokingly, but he looked a little wistfully at the group.

"No, not to-night," she returned, decidedly. "I must have my belongings to myself for this one evening; you may come in to breakfast, if you like."

And, knowing of old that Miss Carrington's decisions allowed of no appeal, Greville lifted his hat and wished them good evening, and turned his mare's head in the direction of the Fernleigh stables, not without a backward glance at the slim, dark-eyed girl looking affectionately in Miss Carrington's face.

"Now, Allie, go to your old room and get rid of the dust, while I show Roger upstairs," observed Aunt Diana, in a brisk voice. "You will find me in the studio when you are ready."

CHAPTER XXIII.

Her old room! Alison gave a happy little sigh as she trod on the threshold. What a green little bower it looked, and, oh, the roses!—roses in the quaint old china bowls that Aunt Diana so much affected; roses in the slender Venetian glasses on the mantelpiece and toilet table; roses clambering into the window and pressing their pink faces against the swinging lattice; and on the window sill, dropped by some thoughtful hand, a glorious Gloire de Dijon, with a background of maidenhair fern, such as Alison loved to wear in her white gown. She stood for a moment looking out thoughtfully. The long shady lawns of Moss-side and Fernleigh lay beneath her, and through the fresh foliage of the willows and acacias was the silvery gleam of the lovely river. Something in the Sabbathlike stillness, in the beauty of the scene, in the peaceful satisfaction of her heart, moved Alison to kneel down among the roses, and breathe a brief thanksgiving for the duties she had been strengthened to perform, for the fatherly goodness that brought her back to the home of her adoption, and for the human love that was but a dim reflection of the Divine.

She did not hurry to go down, though her luggage had not yet arrived, and there was no possibility of changing her traveling dress. But when she had brushed her brown hair, and put on her breast knot of roses, she looked trim as ever, and her bright, smiling face, as she opened the studio door, brought the name "Sunny" to Miss Carrington's mind, for she looked as all young faces should look—the very essence of a sunbeam.

"Oh, Aunt Di, the dear, lovely room! And, oh, that is the new picture," springing to the easel to gaze delightedly on golden cornfields, with scarlet poppies struggling among the wheat, like gaudy promises never to ripen into fruit, and under the hedge a little brown baby sleeping, with its dimpled hand full of weeds, and a sheep dog watching its slumbers.

"Do you like the picture, Allie? It is sold already. Lady Franklin fell in love with it, but I want it to hang in next year's Academy. The baby is painted from life; the original belongs to Barby, an old servant."

"Aunt Di, it is perfectly beautiful! Roger, come here and tell me if you do not think so."

"Nonsense, Allie; Roger is far too hungry for art criticism at present. Come away, you foolish child, and let me give you something more satisfying than painted canvas. The chickens came from Barby's farm, with the strawberries and this jug of delicious cream."

Alison looked round rather bewildered, for none of these tempting viands were in sight; but Miss Carrington, who knew her love for meals al fresco, had had the supper table laid in the wide veranda, and not only chickens and strawberries, but other delicacies were provided for the hungry travelers.

"This is better than your tea table under the limes at home, Allie," exclaimed Roger, as he carved for the ladies. "No wonder she was spoiled, Aunt Diana, and did not take kindly to the sooty ivy and the music of the crane."

"Roger, I shall impose a forfeit if either you or Allie mention the mill," observed Miss Carrington, as she handed him a cup of coffee enriched with Barby's yellow cream. "I want you two young things to forget everything but how you are to amuse yourselves. Allie, shall we have our breakfast here, as we did last year, while the blackbirds and thrushes take theirs? Roger looks as if he wanted to live in the open air. Do you know you have got thin, dear boy?"

"Never mind that, Aunt Diana; there is no fear of rusting, that is one blessing—work never hurt man or woman yet."

"No," she said, thoughtfully, "but 'moderation in all things' was an apostle's maxim; but you are right in principle, Roger. Now for the home news. What is really your father's condition? Letters are so unsatisfactory, and they never say half enough."

"Dr. Greenwood is delighted with the progress he has made, Aunt Diana; he gets across the room quite nicely on crutches, though he is not to do more at present. Of course, the long confinement has made him look pale and delicate, but his spirits are first rate. Dr. Greenwood told me the other day that in another year or so he might hope to be as well as ever. He says he is an excellent patient."

"And how does the book go on?"

"Very well, I believe; he manages to write without difficulty with the help of a sloping board."

"That was Roger's clever contrivance," interrupted Alison.

"Aunt Diana does not want to know that; you have broken the thread of my discourse. Father does seem happier lying there with all his books round him than he did at the mill."

"And a very good idea, too," observed Miss Carrington, looking at her nephew with decided approbation. "How does Murdock fulfill his duties?"

"Admirably; he is a very steady fellow."

"Then Allie's plan will answer," she returned in her practical way. "There is no reason, Roger, why you should not carry on the business, and leave your father free for his literary pursuits. He was never fitted for a business man; he is too dreamy and unpractical. Believe me, he will be far happier and less irritable if circumstances allow him to follow his own particular bent."

"I am quite sure of it, Aunt Diana," returned Roger, quietly; "and now I have worked alone all these months, I feel more competent to carry on the business single handed. It has been a hard pull—Fergusson had done so much mischief, but things are righting themselves now, and with Murdock's help we shall get on capitally."

"That is well," replied Miss Carrington, heartily, "and now, how does Missie go on?"

This time Alison answered.

"Her arm is quite right, but she still looks rather thin and delicate. Mrs. Hardwick—Mrs. Forbes, I mean—wants to take her to Torquay, in October, for two months; she says she will be such a nice companion for Anna. Papa insists that she is to go."

"And how does my little friend Anna get on with her stepfather?"

"He is very kind to her, Aunt Di. Roger is rather pleased with him on the whole."

"Dr. Forbes is one of those men whose bark is worse than their bite," observed Roger; "he rather prides himself on being a bear, but I think Miss Anna has proved there is a soft spot in his heart."

"I am glad to hear this. Then the poor little girl is happy on the whole?"

"I don't think Anna is to be pitied, Aunt Di," returned Alison, in rather a peculiar tone; "she looks extremely happy." And something in Alison's manner made Miss Carrington change the subject; it certainly did not appear to interest Roger, for he seemed absorbed in his strawberries all at once, and his criticism on Dr. Forbes was given in rather a constrained voice.

"Miss Leigh tells me that Missie is wonderfully improved since her illness," observed Aunt Diana, after a pause, which no one seemed anxious to break.

"Indeed she is," returned Alison, with quick enthusiasm. "I have never seen any one so changed; she is so much quieter in dress and manners, and so much more tolerant of Rudel. Poppie likes to be with her now, and Miss Leigh can not say enough in her praise. It is easy to see how she tries to break herself of her faults, and it is so much harder for her than for us, as she has not naturally a good temper."

"Neither had I, Allie. Many a girl has a sore fight to go through life as well as Missie; it is so easy to contract bad habits, and so difficult to subdue them. I believe nothing but grace can enable one to overcome a really bad temper."

And so saying, Miss Carrington rose from the table, and proposed that Roger should go down to the river while she and Alison disposed of the unpacking.

CHAPTER XXIV.

There was a merry breakfast on the veranda next morning, and Alison, in her white dress, with some dewy roses as a breast knot, looked the picture of happiness as she poured out the coffee.

Directly it was over, Greville took her and Roger to see his grandfather.

Mr. Moore was eagerly expecting them; even before Alison's foot had passed over the threshold his sightless eyes were turned to the window, and his "Welcome, Sunny," reached her ears.

In another moment Alison was occupying her old footstool at his feet, and his fine wrinkled hand, a little more trembling than of old, was placed on her hair, with a half audible blessing.

"Dear Mr. Moore, I am so glad to see you again——"

"Have you missed us, little one? Not half as much as we have missed Sunny." And as she pressed her lips to his hand in mute contradiction of this, he said, half sadly: "Child, I never thought to have heard your sweet voice again, but the good God would have it otherwise. Before the message reached me it was recalled; the gates were almost closed in my face."

"Thank God for that," she whispered; "but they never told me that you were ill until you were well again."

"Ah, Miss Carrington is a wise woman; she thinks it wrong to burden young spirits with sorrows that do not belong to them. My boy there nearly broke his heart about the old man; can you believe it, Sunny?"

"You are like his own father," she returned, softly. "He is outside on the veranda with Roger. Are you well enough to speak to Roger?"

"Ay, ready and willing; he has grown a fine lad, I hear." And as Alison beckoned to them the two young men came in through the window, and Roger sat down by the old man's side.

(To be continued.)

A LESSON IN LOYALTY.

This Girl Stood Up for Her Friends Like a Boy.

"Clare is as good as a boy; just as good as a boy!" said Rita, thoughtfully.

"Yes, dear?" Mrs. Denny's tone suggested a question. Her daughter was speaking about a cousin who had come to live with the family, and evidently designed to compliment her; but the mother was not sure that she perceived the bearing of the odd expression.

"Yes," Rita added, emphatically, "she believes in standing by other girls, as boys stand by each other.

"I can remember a time," Rita went on, "when, if one of us girls did something silly, the rest would talk and talk and talk! It wasn't only manners and actions that we criticised. If colors didn't match, or if any article of dress was conspicuous, that was reason enough to pull a girl to pieces. We didn't do it because we wanted to be unkind. It was a kind of habit, you know, and we never realized the meanness of it.

"But Clare told us!" Rita laughed as she recalled the incident. "It was the very first time she had met a number of us together. Belle Ward wasn't there. So one made fun of her new hat, and another had a joke about her awkward gait, and a third told how she and her sister wrangled—and all of a sudden Clare spoke up.

"'Isn't this Miss Ward a schoolmate and friend of yours?' she asked.

"'Oh, yes,' somebody said. 'Belle's one of our crowd.'

"'Then,' said Clare, in that cool, quiet way of hers, 'if she's good enough for all of you to associate with, I should think that some of you might find something pleasant to say about her.'

"She didn't stop at that. She wasn't a bit preachy, but she suggested that our practice of talking about each other in a belittling way was one that hurt ourselves as well as the persons we talked about. We were giving ourselves lessons in insincerity and uncharitableness, she said. People who overheard us would think less of girls and women because of what we said. We might naturally turn into gossips and scolds when we got older.

"It seemed very shocking, but we had sense enough to see that there was truth in it; and we owned up, and asked Clare to help us keep watch of ourselves. She does. She'd stop us in a minute if she heard us begin to talk slightingly about another girl. And more than that, she sticks up for girls who don't have many pleasant things said about them, and makes us do it, too."

"'She openeth her mouth with wisdom, and in her tongue is the law of kindness,'" Mrs. Denny quoted, softly. "That," she added, "is a part of an ancient description of the ideal woman."—Youth's Companion.

Jealous of Jack.

Dick—Did you enjoy yourself down at the masque ball last night?

Edna—Indeed, I did. And coming home through the chilly night Jack Frost kissed my cheeks.

Dick—Lucky Jack! The next time I am going disguised as Jack Frost myself.

Consoling Thought.

"I'm glad my children are all boys," said the mother of seven young hopefuls.

"Because why?" queried the privileged friend.

"Because none of them is doomed to grow up and marry a man like their dad," she answered, with a sigh.

REVIEW OF INDIANA

Pure food inspectors are prosecuting dairymen at Goshen for selling impure milk.

There are a number of cases of mumps at the old town of Middlebury, one mile from Clay City.

Dr. A. H. Shaffer, long a practicing physician at Huntington, was 80 years of age recently, and celebrated his birthday anniversary by making a six-mile professional drive into the country.

E. M. Shell, a Fort Wayne fruit commission man, is under arrest, charged with inviting the shipment of fruits and vegetables to him on consignmens and not paying for them. The charge was filed by E. R. Burr, postoffice inspector, who made the arrest.

While hunting rabbits west of Huntington, William Pleanitz, of Huntington, was shot in the face and neck by his companion, Herman Scheerer. His injuries are painful, but not fatal. The mishap was due to the accidental discharge of one of the barrels of Scheerer's shotgun.

For the first time since he engaged in the circus business in 1881, B. E. Wallace contemplates starting the season away from Peru, the show's home. Mr. Wallace now has propositions to open in Chicago, Indianapolis and St. Louis next spring, but he is not decided as to just what he will do.

A verdict of $2,500 was awarded Mrs. Mary A. Reilly, wife of Patrick Reilly, former mayor of Hammond, in her suit for damages against the Nickel Plate railway. Mrs. Reilly sued for $25,000 for injuries she alleged she received at the station in Hammond by stepping into a depression of the ground.

Mrs. William S. Slivers was surprised to find, on answering the doorbell at her home in Marion a baby, cheaply dressed, left inside the hall door. No clew has been found to solve the identity of the person leaving the waif. Mrs. Slivers will keep the baby until she can hear from her husband, who is in Oklahoma City, it being her desire to adopt it.

Because the Rev. A. M. Hackleman, pastor of the First Baptist church of Montpelier, recently refused to sign a remonstrance whose purpose was to drive a saloon out of business in Montpelier, the Muncie Lodge of Eagles is ready to give $50 to the building fund of the Montpelier church. The matter has not been closed up yet, but the offer to the Montpelier church will be made if it will be accepted. The order wishes to recognize the "board-mindedness" of the minister, members say.

George A. Ratts has filed his final report as administrator of the estate of his father, William G. Ratts, who died a year or two ago at his home in New Washington. A balance of over $1,000 is divided among the three children, the others being Mrs. Effie Stoner and Miss Ollie E. Ratts. When a settlement of the estate was begun a stool was produced which proved to be a hiding place for about $300 in gold coin, with a paper on top stating it belonged to William Ratts. Only the unmarried daughter knew of the hiding place and in a second stool was found another considerable sum in gold. A paper there stated it belonged to the daughter who lived at home. The estate was settled amicably.

J. M. Waterbury failed to break his record as an endurance piano player at Brazil. His record is twenty-seven and one-half hours, and he was to receive nothing unless he played continuously with both hands for twenty-six hours. After playing twenty-five hours and fifty-four minutes he succumbed and fell almost lifeless across the keys of the instrument. For several hours he had been talking incoherently, and every muscle of his body twitched like a man suffering from an epileptic fit. He was almost carried from the Arc Theatre, and was several hours in recovering his mental faculties. The tips of his fingers were black and blue, while the muscles of his hands and arms were swollen to almost double their natural size.

One of the big delivery horses of the Adams Express Company in Columbus has grown so vicious that it has been shipped to Chicago. The horse frequently stood in front of the express office, in Washington street, where it "nipped" at pedestrians on the sidewalk. A few weeks ago George Schooler, a mail carrier, was passing, when the horse reached for him, grabbed him by the shoulder and pulled him from his bicycle. The teeth of the horse inflicted a wound in his right shoulder that caused him to be off duty for three weeks. The horse was then muzzled, and this seemed to increase its anger. Last week, Fred McCaslin, who drove the horse, was standing near the wagon, when the animal struck him with its muzzle and broke three ribs. He tried to work again in a few days, and tore the ribs loose. Then the horse was coaxed into a car and shipped away.

L. H. Henry, a Warsaw man whose lower lip was eaten away by cancer, will shortly submit to an operation in a Fort Wayne hospital in which an effort will be made to replace the lip by the grafting process.

Actors playing vaudeville in Logansport are frequently induced to give a vaudeville program at Longcliffe asylum, and Dr. Huffman, the assistant superintendent, says that the effects of the entertainment is highly beneficial to the patients.

George Bucknell was possibly fatally injured at Goshen when he was dragged a mile by a runaway team. Bucknell clung to the lines to save the life of a child on the wagon.

J. F. Hopkins, a representative of the Cudahy Packing Company, was in Evansville recently and announced that he was looking for a site for the company and that a large branch house will be built and stock yards opened. He has options on several sites.

When Harley B. Shank, a Goshen lumberman, returned home a few days ago from business he found his 8-weeks-old baby lying in a cradle and his wife gone, a note explaining that she had decided to abandon him and the child. Mrs. Shank has been located with relatives.

Game Warden Rigney, of Goshen, brought a man from that place to Elkhart, and had him arraigned as John Doe on the charge of killing a deer in Elkhart county on Nov. 30. The accused was fined $50 and costs, $30 of which was promptly paid. The identity of the man was kept secret.

Mrs. Raleigh Koons, wife of a Fort Wayne shipping clerk, died at a hospital in that city after having jumped from her room on the second floor some time during the night. The woman had been attending the revival services at the West Wayne Street M. E. church, and, her husband says, had become insane on religion.

The chimney at the home of Daniel Chupp, northeast of Morocco, became clogged with soot, and in order to clean it out Mr. Chupp placed about half a pound of gunpowder, tightly wrapped in a cloth, in the lower part of the chimney, and set fire to it. The explosion blew the chimney down and burned Mr. Chupp's eyes so seriously that the sight may be permanently affected.

South Fork, a small stream flowing a mile east of Oakland City, and emptying into the Patoka river, and which has been the fishing place of Oakland City for generations, has been ruined as a fishing resort. Great volumes of salt water flows from around the casing in each oil well drilled in the vicinity and all this water flows to South Fork. The fish have died or have left the stream.

Rice Thompson, an octogenarian, of Goshen, who committed suicide by inhaling illuminating gas in a boarding house, left a will disposing of his $6,500 estate. He makes bequests to his former housekeeper, the stenographer for the lawyer who drew the document, the children of the landlady in whose house he committed suicide, and gives the bulk of the money to the youthful son of the lawyer who drew his will. Thompson's relatives will contest the will.

Miss Effie DuVall, daughter of John A. DuVall, of Lebanon, was severely burned about the head, face and hands as the result of a peculiar accident. She was sitting near a stove at home, when, in some manner, the sidecombs in her hair caught fire and in an instant her head was enveloped in flames. Her hair was practically burned from her head, and one ear and the side of her face were severely burned. She protected her face as much as possible with her hands, with the result that her hands were badly burned.

Grant County is rich in women who "do things." She has women who write, paint, sing, engage in commercial life, preach, edit papers and do almost everything else and are successful at it, too, but Gas City has added a new one to her list in the person of Mrs. N. G. Fort, who for some time has been conducting her husband's barber shop in Third street. Business was not so good as it had been at one time and Mr. Ford got work and went to Chicago. During his absence Mrs. Ford took charge of the shop and the customers say she can cut hair, shave and massage as well as her husband.

A big jack rabbit which lives on the farm of Edward Lowe, north of Logansport, defies men, guns and dogs, and seemingly bears a charmed life. Seven men, each armed, and a half dozen dogs tried to kill the rabbit last week, but it escaped the bullets, outran the dogs and the next day was back in its old quarters. Lowe for a month previously had almost daily been trying to kill the big jack, but without success. "I believe the darned thing is human," exclaimed Lowe when in Logansport this week. "The critter kind of teases a feller; sort of sits off with a 'hit-me-if-you-can' expression on its face, and when it runs it actually looks back over its shoulder and laughs." Lowe bought a supply of ammunition, and he invited a number of Logansport hunters to go out to his farm and try their luck at running down the rabbit. He has planned a systematic hunt for it, and if enough hunters arrive the field is to be encircled and all will then close in. Lowe hopes by this method to get the rabbit.

A babe recently born to Mr. and Mrs. Moses Sweesey, west of Wabash, is minus arms and one foot is missing, the leg on that side extending only to the knee. The babe is said to be healthy and will probably live.

Fire at Anderson caused losses estimated at $30,000 in Smith & Adams' clothing store, C. H. Husband's shoe store, William Bros.' shoe store and the Clark photograph studio. Insurance will cover not more than 50 per cent. of the loss.

COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL

CHICAGO.

Heavy financial operations incident to the January settlements and the annual elections made busy times at the banks. A lower commercial mortality again appears and credit conditions gather strength, although liquidation is not yet at an end. Severe weather interrupted outdoor construction and crop marketings, but stimulated the demand for winter apparel, food supplies and fuel. The leading industries progress steadily, as expected, new demands for raw materials and finished products yet showing conservatism, but the prospects generally brighten with the restoration of confidence. Distribution of commodities shows a gratifying recovery, absorption being much strengthened by improved purchasing power. Most markets are conspicuously clear of burdensome stocks, and in some lines the carry-over from last year is remarkably small. Clearance sales in the leading retail branches are well advanced, low temperatures helping much in the reduction of seasonable goods. Failures reported in the Chicago district number 23, against 21 last week, 47 in 1908 and 22 in 1907. Those with liabilities of more than $5,000 number 10, against 5 last week, 19 in 1908 and 6 in 1907.—Dun's Review of Trade.

NEW YORK.

Trade during the first half of January shows expected progress. New undertakings are encouraged by the more settled policy regarding large financial and industrial affairs and ample funds are available. Leading industries gradually increase the working forces and output, and while in most lines both continue below normal, the gains established in the declining months of last year are fully maintained.

Disappointment is manifest in the iron and steel markets, demand lacking snap and requirements coming out in a hesitating way. Better buying was expected, owing to cheap money and the fact that the entire country is practically bare of finished goods. Little inquiry is received from the railroads. Some weakness is noted in pig iron. Good inquiries are received from pipe mills, and one large block is under negotiation. Business in rails continues quiet. Wire products show the nearest approach to normal activity.—Dun's Weekly Review.

THE MARKETS

Chicago—Cattle, common to prime, $4.00 to $7.30; hogs, prime heavy, $4.50 to $6.35; sheep, fair to choice, $3.00 to $5.75; wheat, No. 2, $1.04 to $1.05; corn, No. 2, 58c to 59c; oats, standard, 48c to 49c; rye, No. 2, 75c to 76c; hay, timothy, $8.00 to $13.50; prairie, $8.00 to $11.50; butter, choice creamery, 29c to 32c; eggs, fresh, 29c to 32c; potatoes, per bushel, 65c to 78c.

Indianapolis—Cattle, shipping, $3.00 to $7.00; hogs, good to choice heavy, $3.50 to $5.60; sheep, good to choice, $2.50 to $4.00; wheat, No. 2, $1.03 to $1.04; corn, No. 2 white, 59c to 60c; oats, No. 2 white, 49c to 51c.

St. Louis—Cattle, $4.50 to $7.80; hogs, $4.00 to $6.42; sheep, $3.00 to $5.25; wheat, No. 2, $1.10 to $1.13; corn, No. 2, 57c to 59c; oats, No. 2, 49c to 50c; rye, No. 2, 77c to 78c.

Cincinnati—Cattle, $4.00 to $6.25; hogs, $4.00 to $6.30; sheep, $3.00 to $4.50; wheat, No. 2, $1.03 to $1.05; corn, No. 3 yellow, 61c to 62c; oats, No. 3 white, 51c to 53c; rye, No. 2, 76c to 77c.

Milwaukee—Wheat, No. 2 northern, $1.05 to $1.08; corn, No. 3, 59c to 61c; oats, standard, 51c to 52c; rye, No. 1, 74c to 76c; barley, No. 1, 65c to 66c; pork, mess, $15.20.

Buffalo—Cattle, choice shipping steers, $4.00 to $6.75; hogs, fair to choice, $4.00 to $6.40; sheep, common to good mixed, $4.00 to $4.75; lambs, fair to choice, $5.00 to $7.85.

New York—Cattle, $4.00 to $5.90; hogs, $3.50 to $6.25; sheep, $3.00 to $4.75; wheat, No. 2 red, $1.05 to $1.06; corn, No. 2, 66c to 67c; oats, natural white, 56c to 57c; butter, creamery, 29c to 33c; eggs, western, 27c to 33c.

Toledo—Wheat, No. 2 mixed, $1.05 to $1.07; corn, No. 2 mixed, 60c to 61c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 50c to 52c; rye, No. 2, 77c to 78c; clover seed, $5.62.

TRADE AND INDUSTRY.

The estate left by Claus Spreckels, the sugar magnate, who died recently, is valued at $30,000,000.

A movement has been launched at Cleveland for an amalgamation of all labor unions on the great lakes.

The estate of the late William B. Leeds, of tin plate fame, has been appraised at $14,854,201, against which there is a debt of $5,201,260.

A movement to incorporate what will be known as the Employers' Association of Minnesota was started at the annual meeting of the Minnesota State Association of Builders' exchanges held in St. Paul.

Iowa received first in the awards on State exhibits at the National Horticultural Association. Second place was given to Idaho, third to Washington, fourth to Utah, and fifth to Maryland. Awards on county displays were as follows: Canyon county, Idaho, first; Chelan county, Washington, second; Iowa county, Iowa, third; Polk county, Iowa, fourth.

JANUARY

0473

L 903

The St. Joe News.

One Year . . $1.00
Six Month . . 50c
Three Months . . 25c

FRED B LEIGHTY
PUBLISHER.

Entered at the Post Office in St. Joe as second-class mail matter.

Editorially.

One round of pleasure—An engagement ring.

People who live in glass house should never lower the curtains.

At 50 most men's heads are devoid, not only of laurel wreath, but hair, as well.

"Fine feathers on a hat sometimes make a bird cold in the bush," says a Denver writer. What part of a bird is the bush.

The young man who can play a crackerjack game of billiards usually is not good for much else.

If a lot of fellows who are singing to other people about being happy and wreathing the face with smiles, would practice what they preach, there would be a great slump in dyspepsia tablets.

The recently elected Governor of Indiana has declined to occupy a mansion worth a hundred and fifty thousand dollars which the legislature of his State wishes to build for him. He announces that a house costing fifteen or twenty thousand dollars is good enough for him. In truth, a house can be built for fifteen thousand dollars containing all the conveniences and comforts of a house costing fifty thousand dollars and any sums in excess of fifteen thousand dollars must be expended for space and decoration and not for comfort.

The Senate has passed a bill increasing the President's salary to a hundred thousand dollars a year and if the House agrees to the action taken by the Senate, the President-elect will have a salary twice as large as that of any of his presidential predecessors. In one way, at least, the President is twice as large, or nearly so, as any of his predecessors. The salary of a hundred thousand dollars a year for the President of a country like the United States in wealth and influence, is not extravagant. Rulers of many small countries in Europe and South America receive much more. The Senate bill increasing the President's salary also made allowance for an increase of the salary of the vice-president and the speaker of the House of Representatives from $1,000 each to $15,000 dollars each. The salary of the Supreme Court Justice was increased from $13,000 to $15,000 and of the associate justices from $12,500 to $14,500.

Easy Confinement

If you have cause to fear the pains of childbirth, remember that they are due to weakness, or disease, of the womanly organs, and that healthy women do not suffer, like weak ones.

The specific, medicinal, vegetable ingredients, of which that famous, female medicine and womanly tonic

WINE OF CARDUI

WOMAN'S RELIEF

is composed, will build up the womanly organs to a healthy state and thus prevent needless suffering.

"Before my confinement," writes Mrs. Rose Schubarth, of Monument, Colo., "I had such bearing-down pains I didn't know what to do. Cardui quickly relieved me. Some months later I had a fine 12-lb. baby, was sick only thirty minutes, and did not even have a doctor."

At All Druggists

WRITE FOR FREE ADVICE, stating age and describing symptoms, to Ladies Advisory Dept., The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn. E 35

From all reports the President-elect appears to be making himself solid with the solid south. He is dancing measures with the most beautiful women, eating Gargantuan feasts with the men, receiving delegations and lavishing the "big smile" where erst while the "big stick" flourished. Although the new president announces himself a party man, he declares that he has no intention of making the presidential mansion the headquarters of an autocratic boss. He gave proof of this when some ill-guided friends sought to make him the leader of a partisan propaganda to break up the solid south. He evidently knows a better way, which is to become the chief magistrate of the whole nation.

It is the opinion of lawyers and public men that the most sweeping and epoch-making decision of the highest tribunal in the land is the decision of the United States Supreme Court in the case of the Waters-Pierce Oil Company of Texas. This company lost on every point on which it appealed from the decisions of the Texas Courts. The State Court fined the company $1,623,900.00 for protracted violation of the Texas anti-trust law. The decision of the Supreme Court vindicates the right and power of the State Legislature to shape the laws as they may see fit in order to relieve the people of the exactions of illegal combinations. The Supreme Court held, in its decisions, that "Under the police powers of the State the law could not be limited in its choice of methods for dealing with the evils of monopolies, unless it imposed fines that were so grossly excessive as to constitute a clear violation of the provision of the Constitution forbidding the taking of property without due process of law." It is supposed that this language of the Supreme Court in its decision, which was written by Justice Day, had reference, in mentioning the provision of the Constitution forbidding the taking of property without due process of law, to the recent decision of Judge Landis fining the Standard Oil Co., twenty-nine millions of dollors. The significance of the decision of the Supreme Court, however, lies in its emphatic recognition of the power of the State to protect its citizens against acts that have a tendency to promote monopolies and strangle competition.

Brave Fire Laddies

often receive severe burns, putting out fires, then use Bucklen's Arnica Salve and forget them. It soon drives out pain. For Burns, Scalds, Wounds, Cuts and Bruises its earth's greatest healer. Quickly cures Skin Eruptions, Old Sores, Boils, Ulcers, Felons; best Pile cure made. Relief is instant. 25c at....H. Milliman's.

How Fast We Travel.

Mile record on land:- Electric locomotive, 27 seconds, 1903; automobile, 28⅘ seconds, 1906; steam locomotive, 32 seconds, 1893; motor-paced cycle, 1 minute 6 1-5 seconds, 1904; bicycle, unpaced, 1 minute 46 2-5 seconds, 1904; running horse, 1 minute 35⅘ seconds, 1890; pacing horse, 1 minute 55 seconds, 1900; trotting horse, 1 minute 58⅘ seconds, 1905; man skating, 2 minutes 36 seconds, 1896; man running, 4 minutes 12⅘ seconds, 1887; man walking, 6 minutes 23 seconds, 1890.—Metropolitan Magazine.

Don't Get A Divorce.

A western judge granted a divorce on account of ill-temper and bad breath. Dr. King's New Life Pills would have prevented it. They cure Constipation, causing bad breath and Liver Trouble the ill-temper, dispel colds, banish headaches, conquer chills, 25c at..... H. Milliman's.

Local Items.

Geo. Milliman tinsels cards to order. Fine line on now.

Mr. B. Hartzell of Republic, Ohio, spent part of last week with J. L. Rhodenbaugh and family.

At present over 300 bills have been introduced to the legislature. It looks as though their grist will be a large one to grind.

Horse-shoeing and all kinds of work in this line done at Craig Sheffer's Shop.

Last Friday, Congress took upon themselves the right to make Lincolns birthday a special legal holiday and will be celebrated February 12. Also a survey and plans were made from Washington to Gettysburg to be known as "The Lincoln Way" as a memorial to Abraham Lincoln.

We are in receipt of Volume 1, No. 7, of "The Cyclone" published by Blair Fricke, at Woodburn, Ind. The paper was started December 18 and is making a good appearance for a young chap. The people appreciate it by the looks of its advertising columns and they should continue to do so, as nothing is as nice as a home paper. Success brother.

Hints for the Farmer

A Few Pointed Paragraphs of Interest to Farmers Who Raise Stock.

Few farmers realize what it costs to be rough with cows.

Too much cream for the calf is about as bad as too much money for the boy.

When sheep begin to look ragged and lose wool in spots, better look out for some skin disease.

If a ewe dies her fleece will pay her funeral expenses; if she lives, her spring wool and fall lambs pay double revenue.

A careful milker, quiet in his ways about the stable, is worth many dollars more in a single season than one who is brutal.

From eighty to ninety per cent of milk is water. So when you do anything that induces the cow to drink less freely it knocks off the profits.

Do not feed corn to the breeding ewes; it is too heating. Give two-thirds oats, one-third wheat bran, with a little oil-meal mixed in. The grain should be selected with care.

As soon as the calf is old enough to drink skimmed-milk make some porridge of flour and oat-meal with the hulls sifted out; or else rub oats in the hand and sift them. Cook thoroughly and pour in cold milk till it is just right.

Mange is a distressing affection that should never be permitted to retain a place on any farm, as it is easily cured. Rub on oil of tar one ounce, and while oil two ounces, or one-half pound each of tar and sulphur, and one pound each of soap and alchol. In all cases boil all blankets, and treat with a strong solution of caustic potash all woodwork, harness, brushes, combs and whatever is possibly infested with the germs of mange.

Blanching Vegetables.

Almost all vegetables are better for being blanched, especially brussels sprouts, cabbage, turnips and cauliflower. The moment they are done pour off the boiling water, cover them with very cold water and let them remain in it for a moment or two. Then pour off the water, cover them with a cream sauce and reheat them. Sometimes, if the vegetable is of a particularly rank flavor, it will be better for several successive blanchings in fresh water.

Carbolic Salve.

Cut a pound of mutton suet into fine shreds and put it in a stone or earthen jar. Place the jar in a pan of boiling hot water on the range, stirring frequently until there is enough of the mutton tallow to fill a half pint cup. Turn this tallow into a bowl, and as it begins to thicken beat into it a teaspoonful of carbolic acid. This is an excellent remedy for chapped hands, and it is also good to rub on the feet when they are tired.

Local News Items.

Frank Buckman and wife are visiting relatives here.

We call your attention to our new line of calendars for 1910, consisting of wall peckets, imported and domestic.

Clyde Harrod and Ralph Darling of Perrysville, Ohio, were the guests of Mrs. Hannah Ulm and family a few days.

In looking over our exchanges we find that St. Joe is paying two cents more for wheat and two cents more for butter than other places. We guarantee that our markets are as good as you find anywhere.

Merritt Hull and lady friend, Miss Rose Gibson of Ft. Wayne, were Sunday guests of the formers parents.

M. E. Olds and wife of Bluffton, were the guests of relatives here a couple of days the first of the week.

Mrs. Dr. Moore and children of Albion, visited several days the past week at the home of Joseph Koch and other relatives.

Hick'ry Farm presented by the Hoosier Dramatic Co., at Widney's Opera House, Saturday evening, Jan. 30. Admission 10 and 20 cents.

Listen! "The man who subscribes for a newspaper and reads it, is better qualified for citizenship than the fellow who borrows his neighbor's and steals the news it contains."

A bill is to be introduced into the general assembly creating a new county in Indiana to be composed of the township Baugo, Cleveland, Concord and Osceola, in what is now Elkhart county. It is also proposed to call the new county Lincoln county and make Elkhart the county seat, with a circuit court. It is also proposed to have the new county break away from the 54th judicial circuit and compose a new judical circuit to be known as the 40th. Those who favor the bill say 50 of 92 counties of Indiana have less than 23,000 population, while 42 have an excess of 23,000 population. The population of "Lincoln county" would be 23,000.

FREE SAMPLE OFFER----15 Days Only

Beautiful Bright Sparkling Famous

$5 BARNATTO DIAMOND RING

Ladies' or Gentlemen's.

Approximates genuine in brilliancy—detection baffles experts—fills every requirement of the most exacting—pleases the most fastidious—at only one-thirtieth the cost of the real diamond.

As a means of introducing this marvelous and wonderful, scintillating gem, securing as many new friends as quickly as possible, we are making a special inducement for the new year.

We want you to wear this beautiful Ring, this masterpiece of man's handicraft, this simulation that sparkles with all the beauty, and flashes with all the fire of

A Genuine Diamond of the first water. We want you to show it to your friends and take orders for us, as it sells itself—sells at sight—and makes for you, absolutely without effort on your part.

100 per cent PROFIT 100 per cent

We want good, honest representatives everywhere, in every locality, city or country, in fact, in every country throughout the world, both men and women, young or old, who will not sell or pawn the Barnatto Simulation Diamonds under the pretense that they are Genuine Gems, as such action with simulation diamonds sometimes leads to trouble or embarassment, as shown by the following article from The Chicago Examiner, Nov. 15, 1908:

The King of Diamonds Has License Taken Away. Alleged Bogus Gem Man Rails at Newspapers.

BURLINGTON, IA., Nov. 14—For sometime past newspapers in Iowa cities have been reporting the operations of a man whom they called "The King of Diamonds." It appears that there was nothing criminal in his operations, which consisted in selling "phoney" diamonds, but his methods of procedure were not exactly according to the rules. He usually drops into a jobbing house and tells of meeting such and such a representative of the house on the road and selling him a diamond, to be delivered at the store. He explains that the diamond is only an imitation, and offers to sell anybody else around the place the same thing. Thus he works up an interest and usually succeeds in selling some of his glassware. Mr. Jack of Diamonds dropped into City Auditor Norton's office one morning and secured a license to sell his wares. He had only been out a short time, however, until Chief of Police Hilts learned of him. Calling in the peddler, he relieved him of his license and gave him back the money he had paid for it. As the man had committed no crime he was released. He was bitter against the newspapers for injuring his business.

If you want to wear a simulation diamond, to the ordinary observer almost like unto a gem of the purest ray serene, a fitting substitute for the genuine; or if you want to make money, don't wait—ACT TODAY, as this advertisement may not appear, nor this unusual and extraordinary opportunity occur, again. Fill out the coupon below and send at once—first come, first served,

THE BARNATTO DIAMOND CO.,
GIRARD BUILDING, CHICAGO. Write here name of paper.

Sirs:—Send free, sample offer, ring, earrings, stud or scarf (stick) pin, catalogue,

NAME .....R. F. D. R. No.....
.....STREET, P. O. BOX.....
TOWN OR CITY.....STATE.....

Sleep

Sleep is nature's rebuilding period, when the energy used by the brain, muscles and organs is renewed. If you lose sleep, your system is robbed of the strength sleep should give. Continued loss of sleep multiplies this loss until you become a physical wreck. Dr. Miles' Nervine quiets the irritated nerves and brings refreshing, invigorating sleep. Nervine contains no opiates, and therefor leaves no bad after-effects.

"For over two years I suffered untold agonies; my friends thought I was going crazy. I could not sleep nor rest at all. I tried different doctors, but failed to find relief. My head would ache all the time; I was like one drunk; could not concentrate my mind, and was so restless and worried that sleep was out of the question. After taking one bottle of Dr. Miles' Nervine I felt wonderfully changed. I am now on my third bottle and am gaining all the time. I can lie down and sleep like a child, and am able to do my work."—MRS. MAY SCOTT, English, Ind.

Your druggist sells Dr. Miles' Nervine, and we authorize him to return price of first bottle (only) if it fails to benefit you.

Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind

J. H. Lake M. D.

has permanently located in the O. H. Widney property on 4th street, opposite opera house and invites you to call on him.

Calls answered day or night.

BELL PHONE NO. 22.

St. Joe. Indiana.

PATENTS

PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo. for search and free report. Free advice, how & obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc. IN ALL COUNTRIES. Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent. Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively. Write or come to us at 625 Ninth Street, opp. United States Patent Office, WASHINGTON, D. C.

CASNOW &

A Sack of the Best.

That's what you get when you purchase a sack of OUR DAILY BREAD flour. It is the flour that has gained an established reputation Why? because it makes good bread This is all that is necessary to make it a good friend of the housewife Try a sack the next time you bake, or get your entire grist ground at St Joe by the Keesler Milling Co.

START THE NEW YEAR RIGHT BY USING Our Daily Bread Flour. It's good. It's pure.

314 West Second St. AUBURN, IND

We make a specialty of funeral work and handle a full line of designs. Fine assortment of in and out of door bulbs.

C. M. TenEyck & Son,
Proprietors.
HOME and BELL TELEPHONES.

I Have Added

to my stock of Hardware a small stock of Furniture. Iron Beds, Husk and Cotton Felt Mattresses, Bed springs, Chairs Tables, Etc.

HARDWARE

My stock of Hardware is complete. I have the largest assortment of Reeds Flintstone ware ever seen in

ST. JOE

Look at the label, it it is Reeds Flintstone ware, it is warranted. Everybody is learning the quality of Keen Kutter tools. Pocket Knives, Razors, Chisels, Hatchets, Hammers Cross cut and Hand Saws, all kept in stock.

Goods are right, Prices are right.

D. J. Baker.

There are more McCall Patterns sold in the United States than of any other make of patterns. This is on account of their style, accuracy and simplicity.

McCall's Magazine (The Queen of Fashion) has more subscribers than any other Ladies' Magazine. One year's subscription (12 numbers) costs 50 cents. Latest number, 5 cents. Every subscriber gets a McCall Pattern Free. Subscribe today.

Lady Agents Wanted. Handsome premiums or liberal cash commission. Pattern Catalogue (of 800 designs) and Premium Catalogue (showing 400 premiums) sent free. Address THE McCALL CO., New York.

WHEN DEATH COMES

Friends and loved ones desire that the last services be conducted in the best way possible. The embalming and funeral need careful attention. Elza Kinsey, a licensed embalmer, takes charge of all funerals. Satisfaction guaranteed. Calls answered day or night

H. V. Kinsey & Son,

Phone No. Office 37-2. Residence 37-

JANUARY

0474

L 903

SPENCERVILLE NEWS.

A Department of the ST. JOE NEWS for the Spencerville People.

Undertaking and Embalming.

Two Funeral Cars. One in White and the other in Black. We also furnish one elegant cab for Pall Bearers or friends. Prices reasonable

Beams & Baker.

The Simplest, Strongest and Most Convincing of

Cream Separator Arguments

We cannot believe that there is a sensible man living who would put his own money into the purchase of any other than a DeLAVAL cream separator, for his own use, if he would but first avail of the opportunity open to everyone to see and try an improved DeLAVAL machine before buying any other.

It is hardly possible to say any more than this. It is hardly possible to put simple truth in plainer words. It would hardly seem possible to say it more convincingly.

The trial of a DeLAVAL machine is free to every responsible man thinking of buying a cream separator. We are agents in this locality for that purpose.

Carnes & Co.

Selling Agents.

Spencerville, - - - - - Indiana.

Local Briefs

Little Leven Rhoads has been sick with lung fever.

Nick Goldsmith, Clyde Rentenwal and Jack Moody expect to build houses in the spring.

Nick Goldsmith is expected to remodel the Shutt property soon.

Mrs. Minnie Hollopeter and Mrs. Hollabaugh were at Ft. Wayne, Saturday.

What influence booze will have on people was shown here last week, to the disgrace of our little city.

Mrs. Jessie Thompson of Buck Creek, Ind., visited with Clyde Rectenwal and wife a few days last week, on her way to Maumee.

The quarterly meeting held at the M. E. church, last Saturday and Sunday, was the best held in two years. There were four conversions on Sunday.

Harvey Beam was the guest of his sister Mrs. Effie Squires of Ft. Wayne. He states that her two daughters have been sick with typhoid fever since Thanksgiving.

Miss Minerva Kessler, who has been in Tennessee and Ohio for the past year, has returned to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Kessler, on account of ill health.

S. S. 'Kimes

—M. D.—

Having located in the Markle building, is now ready to answer all calls, day or night. He invites you to call at the office and is ready to extend you every courtesy in keeping with the profession.

Phone No. 10.

Spencerville, Ind.

Our Total Resources

on January 2 1909 were

$83,062.93

Our total resources one year ago or on January 2 1908 were

$60,238.98

A gain in one year of

$22,823.95

The above figures speak for themselves. There's a reason for our steady growth. Come and investigate and you will grow with us. We pay 4% interest on Time Deposits.

Grabill State Bank,

Grabill Indiana.

J A G Meeting

The young ladies club met at the home of L. W. Steward last week to remind Miss Arminta that another year had passed and that another birthday had arrived for her. Each one brought her sewing along so all were busily engaged. During the evening Mrs. Steward surprised the girls by telling them to prepare themselves to the dining seat themselves at the table, select an apple from the dish and proceed to find the number of seeds it contained. The one finding the largest number of seeds received a small jar of apple-butter and the one with the smallest number was made to rejoice over a small sack of dried apples. Ethel Metcalf and Ethel Baker were the lucky ones. A light luncheon was then served consisting of apple fritters and maple syrup, baked apples with whipped cream, nuts, sweet cider and coffee. The latter part of the evening was spent in music. After presenting Arminta with several nice presents and wishing her many happy returns of the day they departed to meet in one week with Ethel Baker.

Important Transactions

Several changes have been made during the past week in the way of business rooms. Beams & Co., purchased the two buildings of Frank Barney and will move their furniture stock into the hardware store. Jack Beams has purchased the Kressley property on corner of S. H. Maurer and will as soon as the weather permits commence the construction of a cement block house 30x70 feet with a cement basement, store room and the K. of P's. are figuring on placing the third story on for a hall. This is a change that we are anxious to see come about and hope that the work will be commenced as soon as possible.

A Horrible Hold-up

"About ten years ago my brother was "held up" in his work, health and happiness by what was believed to be hopeless Consumption," writes W. R. Lipscomb, of Washington, N C. "He took all kinds of remedies and treatment from several doctors, but found no help till he used Dr. King's New Discovery and was wholly cured by six bottles. He is a well man today." It's quick to relieve and the surest cure for weak or sore lungs, Hemorrhages, Coughs and Colds, Bronchitis, LaGrippe, Asthma and all Bronchial affections. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by Harry Milliman.

Our light is the Bystrom

Don't forget to stop at Milliman's barber shop and house to see the gasoline lights. We have the appliances that make light—the most brilliant light at a minimum of expense.

With our tube system the tank can be set out of the building and the gasoline fed to the generator by means of hollow wire thus avoiding any trouble.

MILLIMAN & SHUFF,

AGENTS.

St. Joe, Indiana.

Bystrom Gas Lamp Company.

We carry the Bystrom Mantles and Glassware.

What' the Matter with the Ice man

The business men were making preparations to put up ice, but their failure to remove the snow from the river during the cold weather of last week, and the unfavorable condition of the weather during our last rains has made their intentions impossible. Their hopes lie in old "Faithful February."

Buys the Lumber Yard.

L. W. Steward has purchased the stock of lumber which A. F. Heyman owned, last week, and will take possession of same by February 1st. In order that he might give the lumber yard proper attention he has hired a head sawyer for his mill and he expects to oversee the business himself. It is not known what Mr Heyman will do as yet.

Have You Tried

Bowman's K-N-O-X-A

Cold Tablets

NO CURE · NO PAY

News Items

Peter Kensinger is visiting relatives at Ft. Wayne.

Joel Betz will commence remodeling his two houses soon.

Frank Beams' children are having the whooping cough.

John Beams and son Robert, were at Ft. Wayne, Saturday.

Merritt Webb is hauling logs in the place of Forest Kensinger.

Miss McGillray was the guest of Mrs. Kate Rummel, Sunday.

Mrs. Fredricks is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. George Kimes.

I am now ready to receive all work in the way of harness repairing or building. D. Segar, St. Joe.

Prayer meeting was started at the M. E. church last night, and will continue until Sunday night when a series of meetings will begin. All are invited to attend these meetings.

R. U. Bowser was at Toledo a couple of days this week, in interest of the Mellink's safes. He is selling a good many of them and he desires to see how they are constructed thus making him more able to explain the construction to customers.

Ed Smith sold his property, last week, to Joel Betz, consideration $625. Possession will be given by February 1st. Mr. Smith will have a sale of household goods next Saturday, and in a week or so he will go to South Houston, Texas, where he will work at the carpenter trade.

The Ladies Guild meet at the church this afternoon to elect officers for the coming year. They have been very successful in the past year and sincerely thank all who have so kindly assisted them. They received during the year $125.40. Paid out for church improvements and other expenses $69 29. Balance in treasury $56.11. They will not conduct their usual sale of baked goods next Saturday. If it is thought best to continue these sales, due notice will be given.

60 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS DESIGNS COPYRIGHTS &C.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. HANDBOOK on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge in the Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York

Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

Bargains for Everybody.

A Liberal Discount on All Seasonable Goods.

Shoes that were $1 to $4 .....now 25 to $3.50
Hats and caps at astonishing prices....25 to $2.50
Ladies knit shawls at cost price.....
Outing, Flannel and Flannelette, elegant designs at from.....5 to 8c

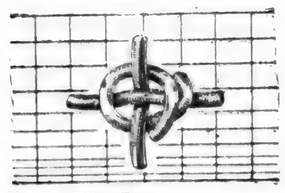
Beams & Co.

Fancy dishes at a great reduction in price
Don't forget this means a great saving for you

Sale Lasts until Saturday, February 13, 09

Don't forget the 2½ % discount on cash register tickets. All accounts must be settled not later than the thirteenth of February.

Illinois for Corn, But Spencerville for Fencing



The Michigan Wire Fence.
The Fence of Today.
The Landmark of the Future.

This fence is warranted to be made of a good quality of carbonized steel wire, having a tensile strength nearly double that of common annealed steel or soft wire. All of this fencing warranted to be made up of full gauge wire as represented in catalogue all line and stay wires the same size. Stays twelve inches apart. All styles and hefts of fence in stock at our place. Call and see the fence before you buy. Prices lower than the lowest on this quality of fencing.

BOWSER & GLOYD,

Implement Dealers

P. S:—We have sold over 4,000 rods to our customers during January.

Notice to Poultry Raisers.

All persons raising poultry are notified to keep such at home, if not, they will be looked after by law.

J. M. Dermott and Son.

Clarence Kelly is working for Francis Borden.

C. A. Rhoades and wife of the County Line are spending a week with Auburn and Garrett relatives.

A good laugh in store for you January 30th., if you come to Hick'ry Farm at Widney's opera house, St. Joe. Admission 10 and 20 cents.

Cold Weather has no Terror

in a home heated with a Peninsular or Jewel Base burner, they emit a strong, even heat; take the cold air from the floor and warm it, with heat that generally escapes with other makes of stoves through the chimney flue. They are handsome in design, easy to operate and best and most satisfactory base burners on the market, and at prices that defy competition.

Our line of Steel Ranges will always be found complete and during the months of December and January, we are going to give to each and every customer who purchases a steel range worth of any tin ware, granite ware or nickle plated ware you may select at our store without one cent additional cost on stove.

$5.00

Remember that every stove we sell is fully guaranteed by the factory and you know just what you are doing. Don't forget we have a full line of seasonable Hardware at the lowest market prices. Call and see us if you buy or not. If in need of a furnace let us figure with you.

JACK BEAMS

HARDWARE

Spencerville, Indiana.

JANUARY

0475

L 903

THE POPULAR PULPIT

MYSTERY IN RELIGION.

By Henry F. Cope.

"How unsearchable are his judgments and his ways past finding out."—Romans, x., 33.

Men have often asked if religion is of so great importance to us why is there no clear, inescapable, and unmistakable revelation of its truth? Why uncertainty as to its precise meanings and teaching if our lives are to be led by its light? And why is man, hungry for the knowledge of the infinite, left in doubt as to the facts of the higher life?

Men have ever been seekers after God. We are told that there is nowhere a people without some form of religious faith, some feeling after the dim unknown. Yet there remains ever and in all the sense of a search unsatisfied. We find ultimate facts in other departments of knowledge, but a baffling uncertainty confronts us here.

There always have been cravings for concrete answers to our spiritual questionings. It does not satisfy one who seeks to know to be told there are things he cannot know, that in these he simply must exercise faith. We reason about all other things, and as soon as you say to any one that religion lies beyond the realm of the rational you place it at once in the realm of the unreal and the unrealizable.

Totem and idol are but primitive attempts to satisfy this passion for reality in the spiritual life. Israel of old demanded objects, definite and visible, for worship, because it is so difficult to keep alive the fires of devotion to an idea or to a spirit who cannot be seen. A good many people to-day in all the churches content themselves with the manifestations and representations of religion in the building or its adorning.

It is easy for almost any impostor in religion to find a large following if only he will pretend to meet this need; the more extravagant his claims to divinity the more ready are many to believe, for such a one becomes to them religion made visible, the spiritual in terms within their understanding.

The records of all religions that have deeply impressed humanity are filled with this same longing for certainty, definiteness, and finality in spiritual things. The heart searchings of one generation are satisfied, but new problems arise; more light breaks forth, but only to show doubt and darkness just beyond.

Yet whenever you find one with whom all doubts are settled, one to whom religion and spiritual life are all as clear and demonstrable as an example in mathematics, you find one in whom the light and life has died down, one without aspiration, with whom religion is as a cut and dried specimen rather than a source of life and an impetus to struggle.

The uncertainty and incompleteness of religion proves its vitality and suggests its sublimity. The ages have looked into this mystery and the light has grown from more to more, but with all our seeking and with all our knowledge there still remain the great mysteries, the depths that none has sounded.

Only a shallow view of this life that is religious can ever find present satisfaction. The mind that can be contented with catalogues of definitions, mere strings of words, will find systems of theology that seem to answer every question, provided the system maker arranges the questions. But if religion is this inner life seeking to find itself, then there will remain always peaks beyond our vision.

The idea of the infinite father of spirits swings away from the old picture of a colossal being seated in the clouds and hides itself in mystery in the measure that men think into this problem of the divine. Yet this does not leave us without touch or sight of that life, for evidences of love as high and divinely mysterious are constantly within our comprehension.

To the extent that religion means to you more than rites, more than theology, there will remain difficulties, mysteries, for religion will be the attempt of your life to relate itself to higher living, to adjust itself to all other lives, and to enter into the new and higher stages of being of which to-day's struggles are the promise. To that which is evolving there is always mystery in evolution.

FORGET THE PAST.

By Rev. A. W. Snyder.

This one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus.—Philippians 3:13-14.

The past is. It cannot be brought back, cannot be undone. It may be a matter of great regret, and, alas, of great sorrow as well, and yet the past is and always will be. You may call for it, but it will not come back to you.

It is gone—gone forever. Let us see that it is so, and act accordingly. For the many mistakes of the past we must have sincere regret, and for our sins, sorrow, but if they have caused "a repentance not to be repented of" they have been mercifully forgiven us of God for Jesus Christ's sake. As for the past, then, let us say of it, with St. Paul, "forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ."

Our help is in Him. Therefore let us look to Him, and be of a good courage, believing He can and will deliver us "from the bonds of those sins which by our frailty we have committed."

He wants to help us, and is even now helping us. A real desire to follow Him will keep us from deadly sin. He came to save us from our sins, to take them away and free us from them. A true Christian purpose should keep us from serious sins, and by God's grace it will. Let it then comfort us to know that God is for us, not against us; that the infinite love, the infinite knowledge and the infinite power of God are forever working for our good. Always, day and night, night and day, every moment of every hour, every hour of every day. As it is written, "He giveth His beloved in sleep," that is even whilst they sleep. If, then, we are workers together with Him, all will be well with us.

We should therefore fearlessly face the future, knowing that God can turn even the follies and the failure of the past into a certain sort of good to us. In His wisdom He can overrule even our errors, and in His mercy He is not extreme to mark what is amiss. But let us be glad that He makes our waywardness wearisome. To know our weakness is a lesson well worth learning, even though at the cost of many a humbling experience, and, perhaps, of much sorrow. So we see that even through our waywardness and willfulness God is seeking us and bringing us back to Him. And so, dark as sometimes the day has been, let us go bravely on in our appointed way, knowing we are on our way home and that "at evening time it shall be light."

As a saint said: "Sometimes our path in life may seem like a lane full of weary windings, where the steep banks shut out the light and air and all we can do is to trudge steadily on through the thick mire, but if we look high up in front of us we shall see, as Israel saw, the faint blue hills of the Land of Promise rising up against the sky. The path will come out at length in full vew of the Celestial City, and at last we shall be at home."

A CHRISTIAN.

By Rev. George W. Brown.

Text.—"Then Agrippa said unto Paul, Almost thou persuadest me to be a Christian."—Acts xxvi., 8.

A Christian is a Man with a Life. A life which accords with his creed and experience. Our religion must be lived. And the one truth you live is worth more than the twenty truths you merely profess to believe.

Religion having its throne in the heart sways its scepter over the entire man. It reaches out to his hand and masters it, brings it into subjection so it toils for God and man. It dominates the intellect so that the very chambers of the imagination are pure, and the man's soul is a shrine. It lays its controlling hand on the tongue and holds it to the musical speech of love. If the creed is the root, the experience is the flower and the life is the fruit of religion. That we have the bloom and fragrance of an experience is not enough; we must bear fruit unto holiness that the end may be everlasting life.

Men will look at Christians and judge of the gospel by our representations of it in our lives. It is a close text, but a fair one. We ought to live up to it. The world has a right to expect—yes, demand this. The gospel supplies the power to enable us to do it, and all who are in the church fold, but do not live the lives of Christians, should repent of their evil ways or run from the church like lepers.

The time was when the question which led the Christian world was "What do you think?" That day is past. There came a time when the emphatic question was, "How do you feel?" but the emphasis has now gone farther. The test question of the hour is, "How do you act?" Right action is the crystalized result of intense thinking and intense feeling. My brethren, let us honestly believe the truth, fully experience its power to save the soul; and then so live that without a label on our foreheads, the world shall recognize us as Christians.

SERMONETTES.

High living often brings the life to a low level.

The man who acts little makes a big mistake.

It isn't easy to get along on a short allowance.

A man learns to live when he begins to live and learn.

A spoonful of success is better than a gallon of failure.

The best way to reinforce your troubles is to use them as a refuge from others' cares.

DON'TS FOR CHURCHMEN.

Don't forget that obstacles are opportunities.

Don't sneer at men lest you fail to see God.

Don't be afraid to die if you would be truly immortal.

Don't give mere gold only if you would expect your gift to count.

Don't sit still if you would have your worship made perfect.

Don't forget that saints who are sore always find sympathy in sin.

Don't expect to have a new earth until you give the world full possession of some old ideals.

Smiles of the Day

Still Bleeding.

"I had supposed until yesterday, doctor, that the days of he bleeding of patients were past."

"And so they are. But what changed your mind?"

"The bill you sent me."—Harper's Weekly.

The New Play.

He—Darling, all is over between us.

She—Oh, George, this is so Abrupsi.—Punch.

A Great Idea.

"I think long walks would do me good."

"All right. I'll take you out in my automobile a few times!"

A Good Idea.

Carrye—When he broke the engagement did he ask you to return the ring?

Grace—No.

Carrye—Then I'd send it back to him. Under those circumstances it can't be genuine.

Gave Him a Grilling.

The meek little man was showing his friend around his new residence.

"And what room is that?" queried the friend as they came to another door.

"The grillroom," sighed the meek man.

"Did I understand you to say grillroom?"

"You did. That is where my wife takes me when she wants to give me a curtain lecture on smoking too many cigars and remaining out after 10 p. m."

Narrow Escape.

Kind Lady—Remember, my poor man, that fortune never chases any one.

Sandy Pikes—Dunno about that, mum. I had $5,000 to chase me one time.

Kind Lady—You really mean it?

Sandy Pikes—Yes, mum, it was in the shape of an imported bulldog and I just made de fence by two feet.

With the Minstrels.

"Yeas," said Mr. Bones, as he twisted his mustache, "my sistah Lucy am a great belle. Last night she had two beaus callin' on her at once. One was named Mistah Little and one was named Mistah Long. Sistah just sat deh singin' de whole ebenin'."

"Sat deh singin' de whole ebenin,' Mistah Bones?" broke in Tambo. "What was de song de young lady was singin'?"

"Why, 'Lub Me Little, Lub Me Long.'"

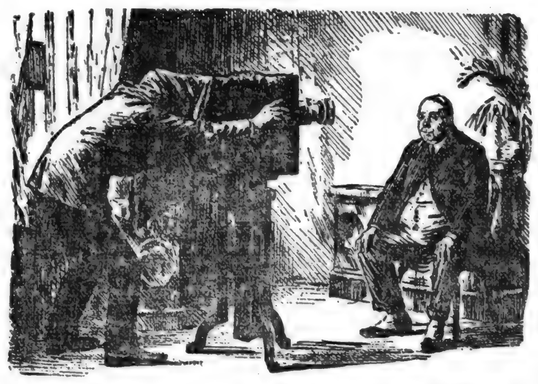
Explained.

Church—They usually pass around the contribution plate in our church before the sermon.

Gotham—Why is that, do you suppose?

"Because so many men wake up cross."—Yonkers Statesman.

NOT NATURAL.



Sitter—Well! Have I at last got the pleasant expression you desire?

Operator—Yes, sir. Now keep quite still, sir.

Sitter—Hurry up, then. It hurts my face.—Punch.

Who Will Answer?

"Now, children," said the history teacher in her most impressive manner, "I wish you to remember that the time to ask questions in my class is whenever anything is said which you wish explained. Do not wait until the time comes for recitation and then complain that you 'did not hear' or 'did not understand' when I talked."

"Yes'm," chorused the scholars cheerfully. "Very well," said the teacher, "we will begin to-day with James I., who came after Elizabeth." The new scholar raised his hand. "What is it?" asked the teacher, graciously. "What made him come after her?" asked the new scholar eagerly.—The Standard.

A Strenuous Introduction.

"Why, Willie, what has happened?"

"Aw, nuffin! I've only been gettin' acquainted wif the new boy that moved in our block."

Breaking the Ice.

Eva—Harry proposed while skating. He knelt on the ice ten minutes and then I accepted him suddenly.

Edna—Because he told you his heart was melting?

Eva—No, because the ice was melting.

Dream That Didn't Come True.

Sapleigh—Do you know, Miss Ethel, I dreamt last night that you and I were married.

Miss Ethel—Oh, did you? How perfectly sweet! Now, tell me, who was my husband?—Boston Transcript.

Happy.

"That young couple seem to be enjoying themselves immensely. Are they married?"

"Yes, but not to each other."—Fliegende Blaetter.

As Represented.

Political Boss—You told me before election your name would be all over town. Now your name is mud.

Candidate (happy, though defeated)—Well, ain't mud all over town?

Reversed.

Old Uncle George Washington had been patiently building a scaffold around a tall chimney. Suddenly the light boards collapsed and came down on Uncle George like an avalanche.

"Ah," said the owner of the chimney as he came out to discover the cause of the noise, "I see you are on the job, Uncle George?" Uncle George rubbed the dust out of his eyes and slowly emerged from the wreck.

"No, sah," he responded, "instead oh being on de job et luks like de job am on me."

Not Growing.

Mrs. Oak Parke (reading)—It states here that Nero had 200 cooks.

Mr. Oak Parke—Well, don't worry, Lucy, we'll never catch up with his record. We've only caught one so far and couldn't keep her.

The New Congressman.

"When you get to Washington, son, don't you be afraid to work for the public service."

"No, dad. It's the secret service I'm afraid of."—Cleevland Plain Dealer.

Her Nature.

Miss Katherine—She carries her head too high.

Miss Kidder—Well, she can't help being tall.

Very High.

She—Do you think the food in this restaurant is healthful?

He (absently)—Yes; but the prices are sickening.

Proper Maxim.

"Yes, I'm going on the stage. I hope to play Juliet.

"Well, think twice before you act once!"

What Did He Mean?

New Medical Student—Professor, where did you get all those skeletons?"

Professor—Sah! We raised them.

Pop's View.

Jimmie—Say, paw, what is executive ability?

Paw—Getting somebody to do the work while you do the boosing.

The Tactful Husband.

"How did you cure your wife of chattering so much?"

"I told her that when her lips were closed they formed a perfect Cupid's bow."—Cleveland Leader.

Might Have Missed the Last.

"I suppose you have read Shakespeare's works?" said the young man from the East.

"Yes, all of them," replied Miss Fitz of St. Louis; "that is, unless he has written something within the past year."—Chicago News.

MEN OF THE HOUR

"I think she's the meanest thing!" said the woman in green broadcloth. 'I don't like her a bit."

"I thought Mrs. Trenchot was rather pleasant," said the hostess. "Of course, you know her better than I do, though."

"She puts on such superior airs," complained the caller in green. "I hate people who think they are so superior."

"Perhaps you imagine that," suggested the hostess, tolerantly.

"No, I don't. I just know she thinks so. I don't know why she should, though. She plays a wretched game at bridge. My husband says she didn't seem to him to have common intelligence. He was her partner last Thursday at Wolton's and he says 'never again' for him. Her paper on Lowell at the club—you were there, weren't you? No? Well, it was awful. I could have done better myself, and I don't pretend to know anything about literature. I suppose I read about as much as most people, and all that sort of thing, don't you know, but what I mean is that I don't make any pretensions. Have you seen that new hat she's wearing? You ought to. It's an expensive hat, but the worst-looking thing you ever did see. The most hideous shades of purple, and with the complexion she has—well, you can imagine!"

"She's very quiet, isn't she? Rather reserved, I think."

"Yes, and I hate that sort of woman," said the caller in the green broadcloth. "She sits and lets you do all the talking and looks at you as if she was just taking it all in and—you heard about Mrs. Brandon and her husband, didn't you?"

"I don't remember to have heard anything particular about them lately," answered the hostess.

"There!" said the woman in green. "She said she supposed everybody knew that. I knew perfectly well they were trying to keep it hidden. Mrs. Brandon's uncle is in an insane asylum, and either his mother or her mother committed suicide and Mr. and Mrs. Brandon are second cousins. I'll tell you how I came to know that. I met some people over on the South Side about two weeks ago. Hirney, their name is. It was at Bertha Westerley's I met them. Well, we were talking about different people and I happened to mention the Brandons and it seemed she knew them well. I don't mean personally, but a cousin of hers lived in the same town with them; with the Brandons, you understand—and they were quite intimate. This Mrs. Hirney says her cousin was always talking of the Brandons. Isn't it funny how you run across people who know people you know?

"Well, the very next day I had to pay some calls, and it happened that Mrs. Trenchot was the first, and I knew how thick she and her husband were with the Brandons, so I naturally thought she would be interested. So I asked her if she had heard, just as I asked you. What do you think she said?"

"I can't imagine," said the hostess.

"She said, 'I haven't heard anything discreditable about them, if that's what you mean.' Now, don't you think that was rather insulting? I didn't think about it until after I had left the house and she may not have meant it to be. Anyway, I went on and told her, and she listened, as I said, in that superior sort of way, without saying a word. She just let me go on and tell the whole thing from beginning to end. Then she said, 'Yes?' as if she expected me to go on. You know. And I had told her all the circumstances. A good deal more than I have told you.

"'That's all I know about it,' I said. 'I thought you might like to know.'

"'Why, everybody knows that,' she said in that superior way. 'Or, if they don't it isn't because there's any secret about it. I thought you were going to tell me something exciting.'

"Wouldn't that make you crazy?"

"It was pretty mean," admitted the hostess. "Still I knew that myself."—Chicago Daily News.

Climatic Changes.

There is plenty of evidence of the very best sort which goes to prove that not only Europe and North America, but the lands situated within the arctic circle, must have enjoyed a tropical climate. The numerous fossil remains found in those regions are those of plants and animals which, according to the present state of our knowledge, must have lived under conditions now found only in the equatorial belt. Nothing is clearer than the fact that the polar cold is steadily gaining on the temperate and tropical zones and that eventually the land will be all ice fields.

Forces a Discharge.

"The Japanese servant has many curious traits," said the man who keeps one, "besides his constant habit of eating raw fish, but he is inordinately polite, as a rule. For instance, he never will give you notice that he wishes to leave you. Instead his work will grow steadily worse and worse till you can't stand it any longer, and so you fire him. It's always done purposely to avoid the necessity of telling you outright that he is tired of you and wants to quit."

Signs.

"Do you believe in signs?"

"Well, I must confess that when I see a man wearing one proclaiming that he is deaf and dumb I get a little shaky."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna acts gently yet promptly on the bowels; cleanses the system effectually; assists one in overcoming habitual constipation permanently.

To get its beneficial effects, always buy the genuine.

MANUFACTURED BY THE CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.

SOLD BY LEADING DRUGGISTS 50¢ A BOTTLE

French Oyster Gatherers.

The work of oyster collecting and culture is most unsuitable for women, but in France, owing to its tedious nature, it does not appeal to men. Often from an early hour in the morning till late in the evening the women are standing up to the knees in water, with a strong sun beating down on them. The result is that never a year passes without some of them going mad and having to be hurried away to the asylum. The work is well paid, as, indeed, it ought to be, while in the case of the few who own beds the profits are large, and small fortunes are quickly amassed.

OFTEN THE CASE.

Women Struggle Hopelessly Along, Suffering Backache, Dizzy Spells, Languor, Etc.

Women have so much to go through in life that it's a pity there is so much suffering from backache and other common curable kidney ills. If you suffer so, profit by this woman's example: Mrs. Martin Douglass, 52 Cedar St., Kingston, N. Y., says: "I had a lame, aching back, dizzy spells, headaches, and a feeling of languor. Part of the time I could not attend to my work and irregularity of the kidney secretions was annoying. Doan's Kidney Pills brought me prompt relief."

Sold by all dealers. 50c a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Hope Defered.

When first I sought the writers' ranks
My verse was taken in with thanks.
'Tis years since that initial splash—
They've never sent the promised cash.
To wait and get no pay, I find,
Is worse than having things declined.
—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Strong drug cathartics simply aggravate the condition—the true remedy for constipation and liver trouble is found in Garfield Tea, the mild Herb laxative.

Her Objection.

"I wish my dentist wasn't so realistic," said Mrs. Jenner Lee Ondego. "He calls his dental parlor his drawing room."

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS

PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refunded. 50c.

The following sign is displayed by a firm of cycle and motor manufacturers at Hornsey, England: "To aeronauts: Drop here for petrol."

All Up-to-Date Housekeepers

Use Red Cross Ball Blue. It makes the clothes clean and sweet as when new. All Grocers.

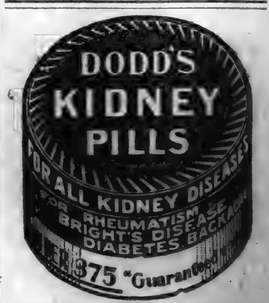
The Higher the Better.

Mrs. Jean Cueon, the superb racing automobilist of New York, said the other day of a cheap car:

"It may be all right, but—you know how we all feel about cheapness, eh! My doctor recently told me how he once sought out a dealer and said:

"'I want to buy a good pair of carriage horses—a good pair, you know—price not stiff.'

"'Well, of course, sir,' said the dealer, 'to find horses—nothing easier. The woods is full of horses. But as far as price goes—well, you can have 'em at all prices, sir, just like doctors.'"



Let us do your Printing using

Eagle Linen

for your office stationery. You can get the paper and envelopes to match.

It is the real thing. Take no other.

JANUARY

U476
L 903

WANTS HER LETTER PUBLISHED

For Benefit of Women who Suffer from Female Ills

Minneapolis, Minn.—"I was a great sufferer from female troubles which caused a weakness and broken down condition of the system. I read so much of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for other suffering women I felt sure it would help me, and I must say it did help me wonderfully. My pains all left me, I grew stronger, and within three months I was a perfectly well woman.

"I want this letter made public to show the benefit women may derive from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. JOHN G. MOLDAN, 2115 Second St., North, Minneapolis, Minn.

Thousands of unsolicited and genuine testimonials like the above prove the efficiency of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made exclusively from roots and herbs.

Women who suffer from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of these facts or doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

If you want special advice write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. She will treat your letter as strictly confidential. For 20 years she has been helping sick women in this way, free of charge. Don't hesitate—write at once.

Bad Breath.

A well-known physician, who undoubtedly knows, declares that bad breath has broken off more matches than bad temper.

There are ardent lovers who must sometimes wish their sweethearts presented sweeter mouths to be kissed.

Good teeth cannot prevent bad breath when the stomach is disordered.

The best cure for bad breath is a cleansing out of the body by use of

Lane's Family Medicine

(called also Lane's Tea)

the tonic laxative.

This is a herb medicine, sold in 25c. and 50c. packages by druggists. It saves doctor bills.

It cures headache, backache, indigestion, constipation and skin diseases. 25c. at druggists.

WESTERN CANADA THE PENNANT WINNER

160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

"The Last Best West."

The Government of Canada now gives to every Actual Settler 160 acres of wheat-growing land free and an additional 160 acres at $3.00 an acre.

The 300,000 contented American Settlers making their homes in Western Canada is the best evidence of the superiority of that country. They are becoming rich, growing from 25 to 50 bushels wheat to the acre; 60 to 110 bushels oats and 45 to 60 bushels barley, besides having splendid herds of cattle raised on the prairie grass. Dairying is an important industry.

The crop of 1908 still keeps Western Canada in the world will soon look to it as its food-producer.

"The thing which most impressed us was the magnitude of the country that is available for agricultural purposes."—National Editorial Correspondence, 1908.

Low Railway Rates, good schools and churches, markets convenient, Prices the Highest, climate perfect.

Lands are for sale by Railway and Land Companies. Descriptive pamphlets and maps sent free. For Railway Rates and other information apply to W. D. Scott, Superintendent of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or W. H. Rogers, M Floor Traction-Terminal Building, Indianapolis, Ind., and H. M. Williams, Room 20, Law Building, Toledo, Ohio, Authorized Government Agents.

Please say where you saw this advertisement.

GOOD SEEDS

BEST IN THE WORLD

PRICES BELOW ALL OTHERS

I give a lot of new sorts for trial with every order I fill. A Grand Big Catalog illustrated with over 700 engravings of vegetables and flowers. Send yours and your neighbors' addresses. FREE

R. H. SHUMWAY, Rockford, Ill.

HOMES IN FLORIDA.

Four-room house, 4 acres land, good for poultry, fruits, and berries; $300. 8-room house, barn, 14 acres land, bearing pears, peaches, oranges, figs, pecans, grapes, berries; $1,200. 10-room house, 200 acres land, 10 acres young fruits, running water; fine for stock; $3,000. All near L. & N. Depot. Pure soft water. Seat of health. Northern Settlement. West Florida Fruit Farm, Cottagehill, Fla.

TUBERCULOSIS CONQUERED. You can be cured. Nature's Creation is curing hundreds. Why not you? Write for testimonials and pamphlet; E. D. Morgan, 1st. Nat'l Bank Bldg., Columbus, O.

BUY A FARM of 160 acres near good college where your children may acquire first-class education living at home. F. M. Swift, Olivet, Mich.

PISO'S CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CURE

SKIN ERUPTION CURED.

Was So Sore, Irritating and Painful that Little Sufferer Could Not Sleep—Scratched Constantly—Cuticura's Efficacy Proven.

"When about two and a half years old my daughter broke out on her hips and the upper parts of her legs with a very irritating and painful eruption. It began in October; the first I noticed was a little red surface and a constant desire on her part to scratch her limbs. She could not sleep and the eruptions got sore, and yellow water came out of them. I had two doctors treat her, but she grew worse under their treatment. Then I bought the Cuticura Remedies and only used them two weeks when she was entirely well. This was in February. She has never had another rough place on her skin, and she is now fourteen years old. Mrs. R. R. Whitaker, Winchester, Tenn., Sept. 22, 1908."

Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props. of Cuticura Remedies, Boston.

THEY KNEW HOW TO WORK,

But Don't Need to Work So Hard Now in Western Canada.

The experience of the Blaser brothers in Western Canada is similar to that reported to every agent of the Canadian Government, whose advertisement appears elsewhere.

Wheatwyn, Sask., Nov. 6, 1908.

To the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, Manitoba:

Dear Sir—I, in company with my brother and other relations, arrived in this country in the spring of 1893. At the time we got off the train at Wolseley, Sask., we had only a few dollars, not enough to start farming on our own account, so we were compelled to work out for a considerable time in order to make sufficient money to enable us to establish ourselves. When we thought we had money enough to start with, I and my brother took up one quarter-section (160 acres) land each in the Loon Creek district. In 1900 we moved on our homesteads with one team of horses and one walking plow. While I was engaged with the work in the field, my brother built a shack and barn of logs, which we had hauled during the time we were not able to work in the field. We were certainly working very hard, but I am glad to say that we made our fortune in this country. To-day we do not need to work so hard as we used to do, as we have three hired men steady, for whom we pay $30.00 to $40.00 a month, besides board and lodging during the summer time. I am also glad to tell you that to-day we are owners of a section and three-quarters of the best land, with first-class buildings thereon, besides having all the necessary machinery. We always do our own threshing, for we have a 22-horse-power threshing outfit.

Our success in farming in this country also enabled us to get rid of a number of horses of less value, and instead we bought ten pure-bred mares, representing a value in the neighborhood of $5,000.

Regarding raising grain, which is the main factor in our district, I am proud to say that we have always had good success. We have raised wheat as high as thirty-five bushels to the acre; and this year, although we suffered from lack of sufficient rain, our wheat went twenty-seven bushels to the acre, and we had 900 acres in crop. We have broken this year about 100 acres new land, and by next year we will have about 1,110 acres in crop. For one carload of wheat which we have shipped a few weeks ago we got a price of 97 cents per bushel, and it was graded as No. 2 Northern, although we have a quantity of wheat which will surely go as No. 1 Northern. During the six years we have been farming for ourselves, we have never had one frost around here, so that we always had a good crop.

I, for myself, feel compelled to say that our Great West is the land where a person who is willing to work and turn his hands to anything can make a fortune, and a comfortable living. Our country is a thoroughly free country, and we have a good Government; and, as long as we have good crops and a good Government, we are satisfied, and I think that is all we want.

Yours very truly,

LORENS BLASER.

P. O. Wheatwyn, Sask.

LOW HOMESEEKERS' RATES VIA NICKEL PLATE ROAD

To points in the West, Northwest, Southwest and Southeast, Feb. 2 and 16. Ask Agent or write F. P. Parnin, T. P. A., Ft. Wayne, Ind. (1)

"Wanted," read the advertisement, "a young woman for starching and hanging up. Apply at laundry."

Red, Weak, Worry, Watery Eyes

Relieved by Murine Eye Remedy. Compounded by Experienced Physicians. Conforms to Pure Food and Drug Laws. Murine Doesn't Smart; Soothes Eye Pain. Try Murine in Your Eyes. Ask Your Druggist.

In a six weeks' run at Drury Lane Theater 250,153 men, women and children saw the pantomime, "Sinbad the Sailor."

Only One "BROMO QUININE"

That is LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE. Look for the signature of E. W. GROVE. Used the World over to Cure a Cold in One Day. 25c.

The microbe population of a 12-ounce piece of cheese has been estimated at 5,000,000,000.

Red Cross Ball Blue

Should be in every home. Ask your grocer for it. Large 2oz. package, 5 cents

At Rheims, France, portable bathtubs filled with hot water, are delivered to order.

The Latest Fad.

Anna D. Adams Theatrical Beauty Pussie. 10,000 prizes to those who solve it. Amuses young and old. Send 25c to-day. Room 212, 39 State street, Chicago.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children teething; softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25 cents a bottle.

INDIANA LAWMAKERS.

Three-Mile Road Law Danger.

One of the laws which will be attacked in the Legislature is the three-mile road law. Legislators in both the Senate and the House have their axes out ready to chop the law full of holes. There will be many bills to repeal or alter the statute. It is declared that it is the most burdensome law on the Indiana statute books. There are more friends of the law in the Senate than in the House; this condition being probably due to the fact that there are in the House more farmers, men directly affected by the road law, than there are in the Senate. The law as it stands provides that on the presentation of a petition for a gravel road not more than three miles in length in any one township to the commissioners of any county in the State, which is signed by fifty taxpayers, the road shall be ordered built by the commissioners. The entire expense of the road is borne by the taxpayers of the entire township in which the road is constructed, although many of these taxpayers assessed never use the highway. Enemies of the law, in many instances, say that should the number of required signers to any road petition be increased to 100 much of the objection to the present law would be removed. Enemies of the law also say that it is not right that the taxpayers of one section of the township should pay for the construction of a road in another section when they get no advantage from it.

Mileage for Senators.

Senator Clamor Pelzer of Boonville has farther to come to attend the sessions of the Legislature than any other member of the upper house, according to the report of the mileage committee. He is allowed $40.80 for the round trip, a distance of 408 miles. The Senators from Marion County, Clark, Farrell and Harlan, are allowed no mileage by the State, they all being residents of Indianapolis. Senator H. L. Hanna of Plainfield resides the shortest distance out of Indianapolis, he being allowed thirty miles for the round trip. The Senators and their mileage allowances follow: Beal, $14.60; Benz, $35; Bingham, $32; Bland, $18.20; Bowser, $37.60; Brady, $18.60; Clark, none; Cox, none; Crumpacker, $31.20; Fleming, $27.20; Forknor, $8.80; Gonnerman, $40.40; Grube, $24; Halleck, $22.20; G. E. Hanna, $10; H. L. Hanna, $3; Harlan, none; Hawkins, $16.60; Higgins, $17.40; Kane, $4.80; Kimmel, $35.90; Kirkman, $14; Kistler, $15; Kling, $15; Lambert, $11.40; Durre, $36.40; Farrell, none; Long, $9; McCallum, $12.40; McCarty, $10.20; McCullough, $7.20; McDowell, $24; Mattingly, $22.40; Moore, $11.80; Orndorff, $27; Parks, $21.60; Patterson, $24; Pearson, $16.20; Pelzer, $40.80; Powers, $37.20; Proctor, $31; Ranke, $27.20; Royse, $14.60; Shafer, $13; Springer, $9.60; Stotsenburg, $23; Strange, $14; Tilden, $8; Wood, $12.80; Yarling, $6.

To Change City Classification.

Senator Stotsenburg has introduced two measures. One related to the classification of cities. It takes South Bend and Terre Haute out of the third class and puts them in the second class, leaving New Albany, Muncie and Anderson in the third class. No other change in the classification of cities is made, and there is no change in the law in so far as it affects cities of the first and second classes. In cities of the third and fourth classes, the bill abolishes the office of city controller, city judge and Board of Public Works. It contains a provision, however, that any city of the third and fourth classes desiring such offices and departments can have the same by so providing by ordinance of the Common Council. The other was a street improvement bill. It provides that in cities of the third and fourth classes whenever a street is ordered improved 25 per cent of the property owners shall have the right to have the question of the necessity for the improvement determined by the Circuit Court of the county.

Important New Bills Started.

Introduction of new bills, and plenty of them at that, was the chief business in the Senate Tuesday. The session was called at 10 o'clock and adjourned at 11 o'clock. Thirty-three new bills were introduced, besides two resolutions. Lieutenant-Governor Hall was in the chair and was assisted by former Lieutenant-Governor Miller and Senator Wood, president pro tem., in getting the routine business of the Senate straightened out. New bills presented included about everything from a measure for the protection of skunks and fur-bearing animals to a bill providing for the guaranty of bank deposits. Two measures were introduced providing for uniform accounts in county and township offices, and for the inspection of such offices, one by Bland and the other by Kling.

Representative McGinnis' Bills.

Representative McGinnis, of Morgan County, has two bills, besides his purification of streams bill, that he will endeavor to have made into laws. One will change the fish law so as to permit seining, and on this there will probably be some contest. The other is to regulate tenement houses to make their sanitary conditions better. It is understood that the latter bill would affect the herding of Hunyaks in Indianapolis.

Plenty of Exercise Necessary.

Plenty of regular exercise must be taken in order to keep the body in a healthy condition. Any excessive or unusual exertion, however, is sure to cause stiffness and soreness of the muscles and joints.

To counteract this effect there is nothing better than Sloan's Liniment. Lay it on lightly where the muscles have been strained; it requires no rubbing for it penetrates right to the bone, relieves any congestion and inflammation and makes the muscles elastic and pliant.

Sloan's Liniment is a great boon to athletes, for it not only relieves pain and stiffness, but it is an excellent remedy for sprains, cuts, bruises and cramps.

Mr. J. F. Brice of Tuscumbia, Ala., writes:—"I am an engineer on the Southern Road from Chattanooga to Memphis, Tenn. The continued elevation of my arm upon the throttle gives it a sore feeling when on a long journey, and there is nothing that will take the soreness out like Sloan's Liniment and I keep a bottle in my grip always."

Merely an Accident

Hearing a noise in his henhouse at 3 a. m., Mr. Kajones hastily dressed himself and went out to investigate.

He found a visitor there.

"What are you doing here?" he demanded.

"Wakin' de chickens, to give 'em breakfus'," answered an apologetic voice. "I allus do it 'bout dis time, suh. But, golly, I done made a mistake an' got in somebody else's henhouse!"

Then the owner of the voice made a hasty exit through the hole in the roof, and all was still.—Chicago Tribune.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury, as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten-fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

Sold by Druggists. Price, 75c. per bottle. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Two of a Kind.

Little Johnnie, who is considered the image of his father, was one day in his mother's way, when she told him: "You are always in the way."

He replied: "I am just like papa."—Delineator.

When You Put on Heavy Stockings do your shoes pinch, and your feet swell and perspire? Sprinkle Allen's Foot-Ease into your shoes, and get instant relief. Best thing to use when wearing rubbers. Try it for Dancing Parties and Breaking in New Shoes. Sold Everywhere, 25c. Sample FREE. Address, Allen S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y. Accept no substitute.

Vanity of Convicts.

"The vainest lot of men I ever did know are behind these walls," remarked a convict in the penitentiary. "For fastidious dressing and cleanliness I have never seen anything like it. Those who have been accustomed to sleeking up on the outside grow much worse in here, and those who never even combed their hair on the outside have it as cleanly parted as they can. I know of a hundred instances where convicts have risked being paddled or having time taken away just for the sake of shaving. They get hold of a razor or improvise one and keep it in their cells. They all have mirrors in their cells along with the calendars.

"I know of one instance of a trusted prisoner who begged for weeks to be allowed to wear a hat instead of the prison cap because he thought he did not look well in it. Whenever they get an opportunity they press their trousers. They save collars for Sundays and appear very clean and neat and nice in chapel. I guess it is all because they have time to think about themselves more than ever. If a man has nothing but himself to think about he takes more pride in himself. Or maybe they want something with which to pass away the time in their cells."—Columbus Dispatch.

As His Father Put It.

"Yes," said the old peer, "my son is willing to stand for Parliament."

"Unfortunately," he added, after a slight pause, "Parliament does not reciprocate."

JOY WORK

And the Other Kind.

Did you ever stand on a prominent corner at an early morning hour and watch the throngs of people on their way to work? Noting the number who were forcing themselves along because it meant their daily bread, and the others cheerfully and eagerly pursuing their way because of love of their work.

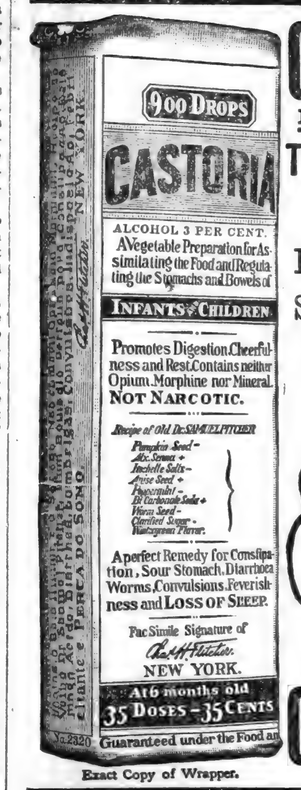
It is a fact that one's food has much to do with it. As an example:

If an engine has poor oil, or a boiler is fired with poor coal, a bad result is certain, isn't it?

Treating your stomach right is the keystone that sustains the arch of health's temple and you will find "Grape-Nuts" as a daily food is the most nourishing and beneficial you can use.

We have thousands of testimonials, real genuine little heart throbs, from people who simply tried Grape-Nuts out of curiosity—as a last resort—with the result that prompted the testimonial.

If you have never tried Grape-Nuts it's worth while to give it a fair, impartial trial. Remember there are millions eating Grape-Nuts every day—they know, and we know if you will use Grape-Nuts every morning your work is more likely to be joy-work, because you can keep well, and with the brain well nourished work is a joy. Read the "Road to Wellville" in every package—"There's a Reason."



Exact Copy of Wrapper.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over Thirty Years

CASTORIA

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

SALZER'S OATS

GERMANY, a country smaller than Texas, grows more oats than nearly the whole of Europe put together. Why? She has no better soil than any body else, but she sows only pedigree, big yielding varieties.

EMPEROR WILLIAM OATS.

Some years ago when in Germany, we picked up this remarkable oat in a rich side valley of the Rhine. Thousands of American farmers tried it last year and are loud and earnest in its praise. Trial package 10c.

REJUVENATED WHITE BONANZA OATS.

Salzer's White Bonanza Oats, 21 years ago, took the world's prize of $500.00 in gold for the heaviest yielding oat variety. (Our catalog tells the interesting story.) We have rejuvenated this oat and offer it again as something quite above the ordinary.

HEADQUARTERS FOR AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE SEED

such as Minnesota No. 4 and No. 36 Oats, Wisconsin Swedish Oats, Oderbrucker (Wis. No. 65), Minnesota No. 6 and No. 105 Barley, Minnesota No. 25 and North Dakota No. 154 Flax, Corn, Wheat, etc., etc.

We have by all odds the largest SEED POTATO trade in the world; one of our cellars alone holds 60,000 bushels!

BIG SEED, PLANT AND TOOL BOOK FREE.

We publish the most original seed catalog in America. It bristles with seed thoughts. Or, if you remit 10c in postage we will send you a remarkable lot of farm seed samples, including Billion Dollar Grass, the 12 ton Hay Wonder, Spelts, the 80 bu. cereal and hay prodigy, Silver King Barley, yielding 173 bu. per acre, together with clover, timothy, grasses, etc., etc., worth $10.00 of any man's money to get a start therewith.

Or remit 14c and we will add a package of a New Farm Seed Novelty never before seen by you.

JOHN A. SALZER SEED CO.

Box C. N. LA CROSSE, WIS.

For PINK EYE DISTEMPER, CATARRHAL FEVER, AND ALL NOSE AND THROAT DISEASES

Cures the sick and acts as a preventive for others. Liquid given on the tongue. Safe for brood mares and all others. Best kidney remedy. 50 cents a bottle, $5.00 the dozen. $1.00 and $10.00 the dozen. Sold by all druggists and turf goods houses, or sent, express paid, by the manufacturers.

SPOHN MEDICAL COMPANY, Chemists, Goshen, Ind.

Art Criticisms.

"I don't like marble statues," said the fluffy young thing. "They always look as if they had a cataract or something of that kind the matter with their eyes."

Every Woman Will Be Interested.

There has recently been discovered an aromatic, pleasant herb cure for woman's ills, called Mother Gray's AUSTRALIAN-LEAF. It is the only certain regulator. Cures female weaknesses and Backache, Kidney, Bladder and Urinary troubles. At all Druggists or by mail 50 cts. Sample FREE. Address, The Mother Gray Co., LeRoy, N. Y.

The Second Empire.

Walking about the streets, riding on buses, junketing up and down the river in steamboats, I was profoundly struck by the unrest among the people, their intense hatred of emperor and empress. One day I caught a glimpse of Rochefort, carried aloft on the shoulders of a mob of students thronging the Boulevard Saint Michel. I never saw a man looking so helplessly frightened as did the founder of the Lanterne, then in its prime. Whether he feared the police or a fall I do not know, but this terror was abject.

In the summer time the emperor paid a visit to Beauvais. On the chance of getting material for an article acceptable in London I journeyed thither with North Post, who went down as representative of the Morning Star. The prince imperial accompanied the emperor, who drove through living lanes of people stretching from the roadway to the open windows of the topmost chamber. They came to see, but they would not remain to cheer. The occasion was the presentation of prizes gained at the local Lycee. The head prize was never delivered, the winner, a lad of 14, declining to accept it from the hand of the hated emperor.—H. W. Lucy in Cornhill Magazine.

800 acres improved farm, 410 acres apple orchard, 140 acres catalpas; prices right. E. P. Riggle, Owner, Eureka, Kas.

When writing to Advertisers please say you saw the Adv. in this paper.

Paxtine

TOILET ANTISEPTIC

Keeps the breath, teeth, mouth and body antiseptically clean and free from unhealthy germ-life and disagreeable odors, which water, soap and tooth preparations alone cannot do. A germicidal, disinfecting and deodorizing toilet requisite of exceptional excellence and economy. Invaluable for inflamed eyes, throat and nasal and uterine catarrh. At drug and toilet stores, 50 cents, or by mail postpaid.

Large Trial Sample

WITH "HEALTH AND BEAUTY" BOOK SENT FREE

THE PAXTON TOILET CO., Boston, Mass.

WHAT'S Your Health Worth?

You start sickness by mistreating nature and it generally shows first in the bowels and liver. A 10c box (week's treatment) of CASCARETS will help nature help you. They will do more—using them regularly as you need them—than any medicine on Earth. Get a box today; take a CASCARET tonight. Better in the morning. It's the result that makes millions take them.

CASCARETS 10c a box for a week's treatment, all druggists. Biggest seller in the world. Million boxes a month.

ONION SEED 60 cts. a lb.

Per Salzer's catalog page 109.

Largest growers of onion and vegetable seeds in the world. Big catalog free; or, send 10c in stamps and receive catalog and 1000 kernels each of onions, carrots, celery, radishes, 1500 each lettuce, rutabaga, turnips, 700 parsley, 700 tomatoes, 200 melons, 1200 charming flower seeds, in all 10,000 kernels, easily worth $1.00 of any man's money. Or, send 20c and we will add one pkg. of Earliest Peep O'Day Sweet Corn.

SALZER SEED CO., Box CN La Crosse, Wis.

JANUARY

0477

L 903

Clean Sweep Sale

Buy $3.50 worth

in our Wool Dress Goods Department and we will give YOU Absolutely

FREE

3 1-2 YDS.

Fine White Waistings.

CLEAN SWEEP SALE

Clean Sweep Sale

A Purchase of

$ 2.00

from our UNDERWEAR DEPARTMENT will entitle YOU to

2 pair of Hose

FREE.

With a Purchase of $20.00

or more from our Carpet Department you will get

Free A

Large 36x72

Smyrnia Rug

A

$5.00

purchase or more from our Lace Curtain department entitles you to a

1-2 Dozen LinenNapkins

FREE

Buy

5 Pounds

of

Superior Coffee

and receive

FREE

A Nice China Fruit or Salad Dish

Now, right at this time you need winter goods of all kind, with two months of cold weather before you-what better opportunity to save money could you wish for than this Great Bargain Giving Event, our Clean Sweep Sale. Every day a Clean Sweep Bargain day, every item a Clean Sweep Bargain. In this sale we propose that each and every customer shall share in our Profit Sharing plan. No sale too small to receive the benefit, none so large but what it will receive its share.

Opening Day

Thurs. Jan. 28

Be sure to be here on the opening day and you'll come every day and your friends and neighbors will all want to come, you'll be pleased with your bargains and will want to buy all you can.

10 to 33 1/3 per cent Saved on every thing you buy and every day of the sale.

Come every day--Come often.

Closing Day

Saturday, Feb 13

Clean Sweep Prices on DRESSGOODS
Clean Sweep Prices on CLOAKS and SKIRTS
Clean Sweep Prices on Silks
Clean Sweep Prices on Rugs and Carpets clean Sweep Prices on curtains clean Sweep prices on Outings

Clean Sweep Prices on SHOES clean Sweep prices on clothing clean Sweep Prices on Fancy Goods
" sweep Prices on Blankets
" sweep prices on Wash Goods
" sweep prices on Groceries

A Pair of Rubbers Free.

with a $2.50 purchase of Ladies, Misses or Childrens Shoes or a $3.50 Purchase of Gentlemen or Boys Shoes

Purchase a

50c dress Shirt

and receive one of our best Linen Collars free or a $1.00 Dress Shirt and 2 of our best Collars free

With the Purchase of a

Soft or Stiff

HAT

You will be given free one of our Latest Style Neckties

ORDER YOUR NEW SPRING, INTERNATIONAL TAILOR MADE SUIT, AND RECEIVE ABSOLUTELY FREE AN EXTRA PAIR OF TROUSERS

Clean Sweep Sale

The best wrapper material on the market, as much as you want.

Admiral Percales

Sold regularly at 12½ cents, in pretty red, blue, and black designs fast colors, 36 in. wide

9c YARD

THE BIG FOUR

ST. JOE, INDIANA.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT

When the aggregate of your purchase is $5.00 at one time except on the items already enumerated you will be given free your selection of 50c worth of Merchandise, smaller amounts accordingly.

Saturday Jan. 30

WE will Sell YOU GRANULATED SUGAR AT

5 cents per pound

We believe that sugars are now the Lowest that they will be this season and you'll save money by buying

NOW.

JANUARY

0478

L 903

Supplement to the

St. Joe News

St. Joe, Ind. Thursday, January 28, 1909 Fred B. Leighty, Pub.

SPENCERVILLE
R. F. D. No. 1.

Will Boger of Chapin, Mich., is visiting relatives in this vicinity.

Joe Boger and little daughter Gaylen, were at Hicksville, Saturday.

Mrs. Daniel Metcalf went to Milwaukee, Wis, last week, to visit her son.

Geo. Horn, wife and little son Walter, spent Sunday with Joe Boger and family.

The Misses Myrtle Platter and Mary Horn ate dinner with Venus Horn, Sunday.

Mrs. Henry Walter and aunt, Mrs. Gift, spent one day last week, visiting Mrs. D. K. Horn.

Henry Grill and wife went to Garrett, Saturday, to visit with relatives over Sunday returning Monday.

Mr. Myers, who bought the John Vangile farm, have moved and are now domiciled in their new home.

Mr. Dix and daughter Ella, attended quarterly meeting at the M. E. church at Spencerville, Sunday afternoon.

Harry Grill gave a moving picture show, last Wednesday evening, at the school house. Quite a large crowd was in attendance.

Calvin Jones of Wisconsin, who is staying with his brother Luther, in Spencerville, has been visiting D. K. Horn and family for a few days.

Geo. Henderson, mail carrier of route No. 1 from Spencerville, has been sick with tonsulitis. Raymond Rhoades has been carrying the mail.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E Horn, who were recently married at Brighton, Ind., are now at home at 588 Jackson St., Milwaukee, Wis. Mr. Horn is an electrician.

There was quite a little excitement caused in the Horn school house, last week, by one of Mr. Knisely's girls taking sick with a sore throat, while at school and having to return home. It was feared that she was taking scarlet fever but it proved to be tonsolitis.

The Misses Violet and Clara Hay spent Sunday afternoon at John McNabbs' on their return home they were accompanied by the Misses Myrtle Platter, Mary Horn, Venus Horn and Gladys Treece to spend the evening. Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Horn and Mr. Treece, wife and children spent the evening also with Mr. Hays'.

Adam Metzger, who rented his farm here and moved to Utom, Ill., to go in business there, surprised his old neighbors, Saturday, by his return to look after the interests of his farm. He reports a good business in Illinois, he has handled 135,000 bushels of grain of different kinds. He moved back to Illinois a little over a year ago. He reports his family all well and happy. Mr. Metzger has gained in avoirdopis weight about twenty pounds. His daughter, Miss Stella, was married the 17th of December, to Mr. McClinic.

There was quite an accident happened Sunday evening near Boger's Corner. Jesse Boger, wife and little son had walked over to Mr. Dixe', Mrs Boger's father, and being very muddy in the evening, her sister started in the buggy to take her home. It being very muddy and hard pulling the horse fell down and got on its back. Dick White living near came to their aid and called another neighbor, Lawrence Bathurst, who is a bachelor and lived near. Mr. Bathurst in trying to help the struggling horse was struck on the limb just above the ankle bone breaking it off. Dr. Swift of Harlan, was called and set the broken limb It will make it very hard for Mr. Bathurst as he is about sixty years of age and was living alone. The horse was not hurt and the occupants of the buggy escaped without injury.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills relieve pain.

Mrs. Ellen Boger Emrich, wife of Wm. Emrich of Huntertown, was born in Pegue County, Ohio, Sept. 3, 1840 and departed this life Jan. 22, 1909, aged 68 yrs. 3 mo 19 days. On Feb 1, 1872 she was united in marriage to Wm. Emrich, she being his second wife. She was reared to womanhood in the northern part of Springfield township, Allen county. She was the mother of three children, Amanda, Henry and Frank of Huntertown. The step children were John of Huntertown, Lizzie Wearley of Spencerville, Martin of Ft. Wayne, Chas. of Newark, Ohio, and Sarah Parker of Huntertown. There are three grandchildren and one great grandchild She had been afflicted for a year with Brights Disease. She was buried on Sunday, (Jan. 24th) near Huntertown. Services were conducted by Rev S. E. Slater of Auburn, and Henry Beams of Spencerville, funeral director.

President Helps Orphans.

Hundreds of orphans have been helped by the President of The Industrial and Orphan's Home at Macon, Ga. who writes: "We have used Electric Bitters in this Institution for nine years. It has proved a most excellent medicine for Stomach, Liver and Kidney troubles. We regard it as one of the best family medicines on earth." It invigorates the vital organs, purifies the blood, aids digestion creates appetite. To strengthen and build up thin, pale, weak children or run down people it has no equal. Best for female complaints. Only 50c at.... H Milliman's.

PHOTOGRAPHS.

We make them

AT THE

Tustison Studio.

Fine Portraits on Postals -- $1.00 per doz

Call and get prices on

FAMILY GROUPES.

Our Saturday Special

WE WILL GIVE PRICES THAT WILL OPEN YOUR EYES

Saturday Jan. 30.

In the Following Lines

Ladies Warm Lined Shoes

Men and Boys Caps, Men and Boys Sweater Coats, Felt Boots and all Duck, Corduroy and Mackinaw Coats.

It will pay you to look these articles over. Saturday at 3:30 P. M.

we will give away the barrel of flour as advertised.

Yours for Business.

SOL BARNEY.

SHILLING'S CORNERS.

Jack Moody is about the same at this writing.

Mrs. Farver of Auburn is visiting with her sister, Mrs. Carrie Moore.

John Timmerman and family spent Sunday with Wayne Scott and wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Rickhart of Harlan spent Friday at the home of Ben Wasson.

L. R. Wasson, wife and granddaughter went to Ft. Wayne to spend a couple days with Gerry Wasson and wife.

An oyster supper was held at the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Shilling. A large crowd was present and all report a good time.

Culture Club

The Culture Club met with Mrs. Elizabeth Leighty Wednesday evening. Mrs. Buchanan read a very interesting paper on "The Art of Entertaining." Discussion was lead by Mrs. B. S. Sheffer. Mrs. H. W. Bowman gave a pleasing talk on "My Trip to Texas." The spelling school was conducted by Mrs. Abner Copp. The prize being won by Mrs. H. W. Krabill, consolation prize, Flossie Copp. The quotations were miscellaneous. Sixteen members responded to roll call After adjournment the hostess treated to fudge.

St. Joe Markets.

The following prices are being paid for produce and grains this week on date of paper. All prices subject to change without notice.

Wheat	$1 03
Oats	48
corn	80
Barley	60
Butter	20
Eggs	26
Turkeys	15
chickens	09
Ducks	08
Geese	07

J D Fetters

TRUSTEE

of Concord Township.

OFFICE DAY:

THURSDAY OF EACH WEEK

at his farm residence One mile

EAST OF CONCORD.

Makes A Change.

This week the Seehler restaurant was sold to Morris Curie. On Tuesday evening the invoice was made and on Wednesday morning, Mr. Curie commenced as the new proprietor. John's health is poor and he has decided that some out-of-door work would be better for him. He is not able to say what he will do.

Notice To Settle.

Notice is hereby given that I have authorized J. W. Sherer to settle all my book accounts and notes, to receive moneys and receipt for same.

Sol Barney.

Recipe For Rheumatism.

Grate two good sized onions and add to these a teacupful of flowers of sulphur. Mix them well together. Put this in a cloth and bind upon the feet if the pains are in the legs. Bind on the palms of the hands if it is in the upper part of the body. If the pains are not cured try this the second or third night. Sleep with the poultice on.

DENTIST.

C. R. PRICE,

ST. JOE, IND.

Office in Case building.

Bell Phone No. 44.

JANUARY

0479

L 903

The St. Joe News

SUPPLEMENT

Thursday, January 21, 1909

GREATER DEMANDS

To Be Made of County Superintendents if Proposed Bill Becomes a Law.

Monday Representative Pierson of Marion county, introduced a bill which is intended to place county superintendents on salary entirely. It also names certain qualifications for county superintendents. It provides that no person shall be eligible to or shall hold the office of county superintendent unless he holds a thirty-six months' state license, a sixty months' license, a thirty-six months' county license, a county exemption license, a life or a professional license to teach in the common schools of the state, or shall be a graduate of a normal school, college or university maintaining a four years' course.

The bill provides also that the salary of the county superintendent be in proportion to the school enumeration of the county, the salaries to become effective in June, 1911. It provides that in counties where there are 3,000 children of school age the salary shall be $1,400 per annum; where the enumeration ranges from 3,000 to 7,500, the salary shall be $1,700; where it ranges from 7,500 to 12,500 the salary shall be $1,800 per annum, and where the enumeration is more than 12,500, the salary shall be $2,250 per annum. The bill provides further that the county superintendent shall be empowered to appoint such assistants as he needs.

One feature especially worthy of commendation in that regulating the qualifications. There is needed legislation along this line. The standard must be raised to keep pace with the requirements imposed upon the teaching fraternity. As it is now greater demands are made of the teacher than of the county superintendents and yet the latter is allowed to grade the teachers' papers. This itself is contrary to the regular order of things. A section boss on the railroad is expected, yea, he must know more than his gang of men to hold his job. So it is with any avocation one might call up. The "boss" must be able to deliver the goods to a greater degree than his "help."

If this is true in other lines, why not in the educational field? It must be. The demands only recently have been made more rigid upon the teachers, it is not only time that greater things are demanded of county superindents but the demands are tardy, they should have been made even before those of the teachers. But leaving this to the legislators.

If the standard of excellence is raised it is only just that more pay should be given them. That is the natural sequence. As it is the office is not a fat one, the expenses of the superintendents in covering their counties in discharging their regular duties or in answering special calls, are too great to leave a big profit, yet they can eke a very comfortable existence, but if greater demands are made of them more pay must follow in the wake.

GETS $150 DAMAGES

Miss Pearl Ashelman Recovers for Injuries Received in Fort Wayne.

In the superior court at Fort Wayne Saturday an agreement was reached between Miss Pearl Ashelman of Auburn, and the Fort Wayne & Wabash Valley Traction company whereby Miss Ashelman recovered $150 damages for injuries received on November 18, last year in Fort Wayne.

Our readers will recall that in company with F. B. Bradley of that city, she went to Decatur to attend the wedding anniversary of one of Mr. B's relatives and returning in the evening both she and her escort were struck by a street car at the corner of Calhoun and Jefferson streets and she was badly injured and shocked, Mr. Bradley escaping with a cut on the face and the scare.

Miss Ashelman being a minor her father, Chris Ashelman, began suit against the traction company for $500 damages but a compromise was reached and judgment for $150 was given her.

Lamentation.

Indiana has a democratic governor, a democratic lieutenant governor and a democratic speaker of the house. A democrat has been elected to congress from this district and a democrat will be elected next week to represent the state in the United States Senate. But of all these prizes, the popular favorite, John W. Kern, draws not one. He has been twice his party's candidate for governor, once for vice president and now for senator, and without offense on his part he has lost every time. Misfortune seems to have marked him for its own and his tough luck is deeply taken to heart by a multitude of friends in this city, this state and all over the union. A more lovable man, or kinder neighbor, or better citizen, or more loyal friend does not live. It is too bad; but apparently there is no help for it; and it will be exactly like John Kern to brace up and go about his business as if nothing had happened. We can not join in the explanation that jealousy of Indianapolis combined to beat him. Such feeling exists, but it would probably be impossible to find any member of the legislature whose vote was prompted by that motive.—Indianapolis Star

A Technical Question Raised Affectnig Mutual Insurance Companies.

G. W. Gloyd of Kimmel, who had about 500 bushels of wheat in the Kimmel mill when it burned last fall later called on the Farmers' Mutual company to pay the loss, his grain having been insured in that company. After investigating the matter the board turned it down for the reason, as they allege, the policy does not cover grain stored in a public depository. Mr. Gloyd, however, insists on getting his money, and has brought suit and late Friday papers were served on T. L. Imes, of Orange township, president of the company, notifying him to appear next week. The suit will be interesting, as the points involved affect many policy holders.—Kendallville Sun.

Want to Put on City Airs

There has been some talk in Corunna about installing an electric light plant, to light up the streets, stores, and houses. There is nothing nicer to have than electric lights but will it pay? It is the experience of all small towns that electric lights are too expensive. The burden on a town like Corunna would be heavy. It would cost for street lighting more than the people would stand. Plants owned by small towns do not pay and when a town is tied up with a ten years franchise granted to private parties it means something. If the people [of Corunna will bide their time until an electric line runs through their town they will be able to much better terms for lights than they can possibly do at this time.—Dawn.

TRUSTEE'S REPORT

As Made to the Advisory Board by the Trustee of Concord Township for the Year 1908.

TOWNSHIP FUND.

Receipts.

Jan 7	Amt on hand at date of last report	$1148.98
Jun 18	Amt rec'd from county treasurer	894.26
Dec 22	Amt rec'd from county treasurer	804.69
	Amt rec'd from other sources, interest	66.78
	Total receipts	2914.73
	Total expenditures	1546.80
	Balance	767.92

Expenditures.

Jan 10	J Beams, P M, postage stamps	$ 1.00
	15 Raymond Rhodes, express charg's	.50
Feb 3	The D H Gobel Printing Co, 4 check books	3.15
	7 B Wilson Smith, cash book Advisory blanks	12.50
Mar 2	J E Buchanan, pub annual report	13.05
	6 F B Leighty, " "	13.05
	6 J R Shilling, Rickett's ditch	45.00
	21 W I Wilson, ditching	11.00
	27 John Knight "	1.25
Apr 4	H D Poper, part salary supervisor	20.00
	9 Geo W Kimes, tile	2.20
May 4	Israel Horn, part salary supervisor	10.00
	26 The D H Gobel Printing Co, supplies and transfer blanks	2.52
Jun 8	F B Leighty, pub legal notice	3.00
	20 Smith & Co, tile	91.25
	22 Israel Horn, part supervisor salary	20.00
July 3	The D H Gobel Printing Co, blanks	1.40
	6 J J Eakright, ditch transcripts	11.80
	13 J A Provines, part trustee salary	150.00
	14 G L Emelburn, Kline ditch	20.75
	14 Frank E Johnson, Frank E Johnson ditch	24.40
	15 James Provines, Letitia J Shearer ditch	88.94
	18 C B Leighty, laying tile	18.20
	28 S D Kiger & Co, supervisor supplies	6.50
	28 The D H Gobel Printing Co, official blanks	8.10
	30 J J Eakright, ditch transcripts	4.80
Aug 4	Jack Beams, postage stamps	1.00
	24 C B Leigaty, ditching	10.00
	25 Tustison & Leighty, pub est tax levy	2.00
	25 R M Johnson, ditching	6.07
	25 Wilson Koch, ditching	3.00
	29 W I Wilson, ditching	11.75
Sep 4	C B Leighty, ditching	8.00
	5 Courier Co, pub est tax levy	2.00
	5 Frank Shook, road duplicate	9.00
	5 J K Buchanan, pub est tax levy	2.00
	9 C B Leighty, ditching	17.00
	26 Wilson Koch, ditching	4.95
	26 Israel Horn, part supervisor salary	20.00
Oct 3	Arthur Wilmot, part supervisor sal	25.00
	12 W D Johnson, ditching	15.00
	16 W H Brown, ditching	5.00
	19 H D Poper, part supervisor salary	20.00
	19 C B Leigaty, ditching	7.00
	19 W I Wilson, ditching	29.00
Nov 6	D W Baker, ditching	1.50
	18 Jack Beams, postage stamps	1.00
	16 C A Jenkins, H D Poper et al, Clerk of Circuit Court, judgment and costs	224.58
Dec 1	H D Poper, salary supervisor	20.00
	1 Arthur Wilmot, supervisor salary	20.00
	8 E Case, D L Carpenter ditch	36.80
	4 Israel Horn, supervisor salary	20.00
	5 The D H Gobel Printing Co, official blanks	2.35
	7 J E Buchanan, pub notice to loan funds	3.80
	7 Courier Co. pub notice to loan funds	3.80
	26 F B Leighty, legal notice	3.60
	26 E & H Beams, telephone	12.00
	26 Frank Sechler, sal advisory board	3.00
	26 F E Rhoads, same	3.00
	26 Jno D Fetters, same	3.00
	27 Peter Coyle, ditching	7.00
	29 Geo W Wade, tile	1.00
	29 J E & J H Ross, attorneys fees	10.00
	31 J A Provines, services trustee	250.00

TUITION FUND.

Receipts.

Jan 7	Amt on hand at date of last report	$3370.35
	26 Amt rec'd from county treasurer	807.14
Jun 18	Amt rec'd " "	1622.95
Jul 29	Amt rec'd " "	619.02
	Amt rec'd from county treasurer	1125.94
Dec 22	Amt rec'd from all other sources	55.13
	Total receipts	6190.61
	Total expenditures	4052.84
	Balance	2137.77

Expenditures

Jan 24	J H Reinoehl, teaching Dist No 10	30.00
	24 Harriet Baxter, same	40.00
	24 W W Fischer, same	30 00
	24 Austus Keating, teach'g high schl	30.00
	25 Geo Beams, teaching Dist No 7	30.00
Feb 1	Geo E Wilson, " " 8	30.00
	5 C O Krise " " 4	30.00
	5 Lloyd Goldsmith " " 5	30.00
	5 O K Shull " " 9	30.00
	21 Austus Keating, teach'g high schl	30.00
	21 W W Fischer, teaching Dist No 10	30.00
	21 J H Reinoehl, " " 10	30.00
	21 Harriet Baxter, " " 10	40.00
Mar 14	Geo Beams, teaching Dist No 7	30.00
	21 Austus Keating, teaching high schl	30.00
	21 W W Fischer, teaching Dist No 10	30.00
	21 J H Reinoehl, " " 10	30.00
	21 Harriet Baxter, " " 10	40.00
	30 Lloyd Goldsmith, " " 5	10.00
Apr 3	Harries Baxter, " " 10	38.26
	3 J H Reinoehl, " " 10	40.86
	3 Lloyd Goldsmith " " 5	108.50
	4 W W Fischer, " " 10	40.94
	6 O K Shull, " " 3	149.96
	6 Geo E Wilson, " " 8	140.00
	16 C O Krise, " " 4	151.00
	30 Geo Beams " " 7	94.08
May 2	Austus Keating, teach'g high sch'l	198.00
Oct 10	Austus Keating, same	80.00
	10 O K Shull, teaching Dist No 2	68.40
	10 Lloyd Goldsmith, " " 4	56.00
	10 Robert Ulm, " " 7	57.40
	10 Geo Beams, " " 8	66.80
	10 W W Fischer, " " 10	66.80
	10 J H Reinoehl " " 10	66.00
	10 Floy Weitz " " 10	66 66
	10 Zona Horn " " 5	50 00
	20 W W Fischer, " " 10	80.00
Nov 23	Zona Horn " " 5	57.60
	14 Austus Keating, teach'g high sch'l	100.00
	14 O K Shull, teaching Dist No 2	65.80
	14 Lloyd Goldsmith, " " 4	70 25
	14 Robert Ulm " " 7	71.75
	14 Geo Beams, " " 8	66.85
	14 W W Fischer, " " 10	66.00
	14 J H Reinoehl " " 10	66.86
	14 Floy Weits " " 10	66.85
	16 Geo E Wilson, " " 8	14.46
Dec 18	Austus Keating, teach'g high sch'l	76.00
	18 O K Shull, teaching Dist No 2	64.79
	18 Lloyd Goldsmith, " " 4	56.15
	18 Robert Ulm, " " 7	57.40
	18 Geo Beams, " " 8	64.7
	18 W M Fischer, " " 10	64.00
	18 J M Reinoehl, " " 10	65.45
	18 Floy Weitz, " " 10	66.17
	18 Geo. E. Wilson " " 5	54.72
	24 Austus Keating teach'ng high sch'l	36.00
	24 W W Fisher, teaching Dist No 10	30.40
	24 J H Reinoehl " " 10	31.15
	24 Floy Weitz, " " 10	30.77
	24 Geo Beams, " " 8	30.69
	25 Lloyd Goldsmith, " " 4	20.05
	26 Robert Ulm, " " 7	24.46
	29 O K Shull, " " 2	30.69
	31 Geo E Wilson " " 5	26.20

SPECIAL SCHOOL FUND.

Receipts.

Jan 7	Amt on hand at date of last report	$1328.10
Jun18	Amt rec'd from county treasurer	1094.61
Dec 22	Amt rec'd " "	843.51
	Amt rec'd from all other sources	.50
	Total receipts	3266.72
	Total expenditures	1508.77
	Balance	1757.95

Expenditures.

Jan 18	Ollie Carper, wood Dist 4 and 5	63.00
	24 Charles Friece, janitor Dist 10	30.00
	24 Fred Hart, hauling school hack	41.58
	29 Wm M Malone, 30 cds wood Dist 2	40.00
	30 Thurman Shull, cleaning house sup	6.10
Feb 21	Charles Friece, janitor Dist 10	30.00
	21 Fred Hart, hauling school hack	39.60
	26 Geo E Wilson, lock Dist 8	.65
Mar 3	Beams & Co, commission on books	.30
	5 Wm M Malone, wood Dist 2	10.00
	21 Fred Hart, hauling school hack	41.58
	23 W W Fischer, holding examinat'n	2.00
Apr 3	Fred Hart, hauling school hack	19.80
	3 Harriet Baxter, institute	14.91
	3 Lloyd Goldsmith, institute, janitor	23.03
	4 W W Fischer, institute	16.08
	6 Charles Friece, janitor Dist 10	30.00
	6 O K Shull, institute and janitor	33.24
	6 O K Shull, latch. cup, chalk	.40
	6 Geo E Wilson, institute, janitor	22 90
	16 C O Krise, same	20.40
	20 Geo Beams, same	22.98
	28 Jack Beams, postage stamps	1.00
May 3	Austus Keating, institute	24.00
	7 J H Reinoehl, same	16.68
	11 L W Steward, 36745 lbs coal	117.36
	11 Frank Kinsey, repair'g spout'g No 2	3.25
	27 Ort Wearley, janitor work Dist 10	2.75
Jun 18	Geo W Wade, wood Dist 8	35.00
	17 C E Smith, slate and repairs Dist 10	2.50
	18 Hazel Wyatt, cleaning house Dist 2	4.00
	18 F R Bowman, erasers, chalk, sup	6.75
	23 W G Brick, wall paper	43.94
	26 S D Kiger Co, floor oil, registers etc	20.10
	26 Raymond Rhodes, freight on school seats	3.39
Aug 1	G A Kinsey, hanging paper	34.60
	4 Frank Scanlin, school seats	66.36
	13 William Allen, work on school hse	30.00
	14 Jeremiah Markel, same	2.25
	14 Martin H. Keesler, haul'g schl seats	1.00
	25 C G Rectenwald, freight	1.25
Sep 1	Edward Spitler, painting house No 10	10.00
	2 H C Heffelfinger, work on S H No 8	4.12
	4 Mary Gibson, cleaning S H No 7	2.50
	8 F R Bowman, alabastine, paint	44.75
	8 Henry Milliman, steps to S H No 2	30.00
	10 Chas Friece, cleaning house and yard No 10	24.87
	11 M A Butler, cement walk No 10	30.00
	11 C E Smith, repairs to outhouses No 10 and 8	3.00
	12 S M Silberg, painting No 10	10.00
	14 C F Turner, window shades	19.00
	14 The D H Gobel Printing Co, liquid slating and brush	3.54
	14 Frank Scanlin, school seats	30.00
	15 C E Smith, work on seats No 5	1.00
	25 L W Steward, coal Dist 10	19 98
	28 Martin H Keesler, hauling seats	1.00
Oct 9	Geo W Wade, hauling school hack	44.80
	10 Charles Friece, janitor Dist 10	30.00
	16 Decatur Furnace Co, fire brick and clay	8.95
	16 S D Kiger & Co, dictionary	4.95
	24 Adam Shilling, cleaning house, repairs No 5	6.50
	24 Henry Milliman, repairing outhouse No 8	2.50
	24 J E Bassett, cleaning house, supplies No 4	6.50
	26 C G Rectenwald, freight	.54
	30 Raymond Rhodes, freight, cartage	1.12
Nov 2	M A Butler, repairs to furnace	2.00
	9 Geo W Wade, haul'g school hack	44.80
	11 Frank Scanlin, school seats	17.21
	12 Eva Shull, clean'g house, supplies No 6	6.97
	12 Zona Horn, institute work	5.76
	16 J F Baltz, wheel repairs sch'l hack	6.00
	17 John Benninghoff, wood Dist 7	30.00
Dec 2	J S Shull, repairs S H No 6	2.00
	5 The D H Gobel Printing Co, Home and School Visitor	11.07
	9 J F Baltz, axels school wagon	10.05
	9 D C Butler, plastering Dist 10	1.50
	9 Beams & Co, commission on books	1.27
	19 Geo Chapman, work S H No 10	1.00
	19 Sol Barney, tile and broom	1.95
	19 Patterson & Tustison, broom, towel'g	.96
	21 Harry Milliman, crayons	.80
	22 F A Northurp, cleaning yard, repairs No 7	3.85
	23 D J Baker, glass, lock, sup No 5	3.30
	23 Beams & Co, school supplies	3.30
	23 J Beams, school supplies	7.43
	23 R E Davis, repairing well No 10	1.00
	24 Geo W Wade, haul'g school hack	39.98
	25 Charles Friece, janitor work, shov'l	51.50
	25 Lloyd Goldsmith, song books	.55
	28 F B Bowman, erasers and chalk	5.70

ROAD FUND.

Receipts.

Jan 1	Amt on hand at date of last report	$ 436.09
Jun18	Amt rec'd from county treasurer	880.87
Dec22	Amt rec'd " "	47.08
	Total receipts	747.25
	Total expenditures	488.86
	Balance	258.39

Expenditures.

Apr 4	H D Poper, work on bridge	4.60
	7 Delbert Dreggoo, same	1.80
	13 J L Shearer, timber	5.00
	14 B W Johnson, work on bridge	1.80
	29 Geo Johnson, same	3.00
	29 C R Johnson, same	1.80
Jun 18	Edward Hull, same	3.00
Jul 29	F D Lake, holding scraper	2.25
Aug 4	Marvin Poper, road receipts	2.01
Sept 8	Frank Draggoo, same	13.44
Oct 13	Frank L Milliman, work on Saylor bridge	1.50
	13 W D Johnson, same	1.50
Nov 6	Marvin Poper, work on grade	21.00
	6 H A Kees, same	15.00
	6 Jasper Snyder, dirt to fill grade	18.00
	6 C R Johnson, work on grade	21.00
	6 D W Baker, same	15.00
	6 Frout Melton, same	4.50
	6 Geo Bassett, same	10.50
	14 W F Melton, same	7.50
	14 Geo Bassett, same	7.50
	14 Harry Kees, team work on grade	15.00
	14 J F Malone, work on grade	6.75
	14 Jos A Hull, team work on grade	18.00
	14 Marvin Poper, same	10.50
	14 John Gillingham, work on grade	4.50
	14 H D Poper, sup work on grade	10.00
Dec 4	Nicholas Funk, work on grade	4.50
	4 S P Hadsell, team work on grade	12.00
	4 E W Beeber, work on grade	6.00
	4 Ora Wilmot, same	6.00
	4 Arthur Wilmot, sup work on grade	8.00
	4 Edward Pflammer, team work on grade	12.00
	4 John E Ulm, same	12.00
	4 Percy Walker, same	12.00
	10 Winfield Pervines, shoveling gravel	20.00
	10 Frank Pervines, same	16.25
	10 G D Pervines, hauling gravel	47.50
	11 Eli Fales, same	40.00
	22 H H Slaybaugh, road receipts	12.36

ADDITIONAL ROAD FUND.

Receipts.

Jan 7	Amt on hand at date of last report	$ 626.67
Jun 18	Amt rec'd from county treasurer	968.28
Dec 22	Amt rec'd " "	11.91
	Total receipts	1606.86
	Total expenditures	1242.95
	Balance	363.91

Expenditures.

Jan 7	H H Meek, repairs to scraper	1.75
	8 Louisa Wyatt, gravel	11.10
	17 W L Hollabaugh, same	2.50
	20 Luther Jones, same	3.90
Jun 2	Smith & Co, tile	86.10
	8 H H Meek, scraper tongue	2.25
	9 L B Wasson, hauling gravel	20.00
	20 Smith & Co, tile	11.06
July 1	A F Heyman, cement	18.25
	3 S D Kiger & Co, steel sewers	54.20
	4 Frank Stevens, work on bridge	2.50
	9 L W Steward, bridge plank	3.82
	28 W P Coburn, same	6.38
Sep 26	L W Steward, same	3.55
	26 M A Butler, labor on bridge	4.00
	28 Martin H Keesler, hauling gravel and water	12.50
		7.50
Oct 2	C E Smith, labor on bridge	5.00
	3 Roy Zimmerman, same	5.00
	3 E M Chapman, same	10.00
	7 H A Kees, gravel	55.00
	7 Corma Kelley, labor on bridge	4 00
	7 Roy Zimmerman, same	5.00
	7 C E Smith, same	6.00
	7 R S Deitrick, haul'g gravel for br'ge	15.00
	12 Roy Zimmerman, labor on bridge	7.00
	13 H A Kees, gravel	109.90
	12 C E Smith, labor on bridge	4.45
	12 E M Chapman, same	20.00
	12 Verna Kelley, same	4.75
	12 Clarence Davis, haul'g gravel for bridge	15.00
	15 A F Heyman, cement	88.50
	15 W S Tyndall, gravel	15.00
	17 D M Kelley, hauling gravel for bridge	19.00
	19 Frank Scholes, temporary bridges	10.00
	24 W D Johnson, labor on bridge	1.50
	24 W F Melton, same	1.50
	24 W H Baltz, gravel	35.40
	27 L W Steward, bridge plank	22 72
Nov 6	D W Baker, labor on bridge	12.75
	6 Wm Keeler, hauling gravel for bridge	4.50
	6 Frote Melton, labor on bridge	3.00
	6 H D Poper, supt work on grade	18.00
	7 T H Elson, labor on bridge	6.75
	10 W I Wilson, same	4 50
	16 J F Baltz, blacksmithing	4.25
	18 C R Johnson, labor on bridge	5.85
Dec 1	W S Tyndall, gravel	39.10
	3 W S Maxwell, same	56.80
	9 J F Baltz, repairs to scraper	.75
	10 Benj Wasson, putting in culvert	6.00
	11 Luther Jones, gravel	89.10
	11 John Y Davis, tile and ditching	6.85
	11 Alexander Culbertson, gravel	15.75
	11 John L Mason, same	12.30
	12 W H Baltz, same	34.50
	12 W S Tyndall, same	15.00
	15 Wm Curie, plow points, axle grease bolts	3.25
	15 Sol Barney, tile	67.42
	15 H A Kees, gravel	116.80
	16 Fred Thomas, blacksmithing	.40
	17 L W Stewart, plank	7.62
	17 Wm Rhodes, hauling gravel	1.50
	19 Nelson Tustison, same	7.05
	21 Dennis Poorman, repairing scraper	.75
	21 Louisa Wyatt, gravel	3.50
	21 Henry Fales, tile	5.40
	23 D J Baker, pick and spikes	2.07
	25 W L Hollabaugh, gravel	29.10
	23 J Beams, spikes, axle grease	6.46

DOG FUND.

Receipts.

Jan 1	Amt on hand at date of last report	$ 105.16
May 16	Amt rec'd from D W Baker	168.00
	19 Amt rec'd delinquent dog tax	4.00
Dec 20	Amt rec'd " "	21.00
	20 Amt rec'd " "	2.00
	Total receipts	300.16
	Total expenditures	87.35
	Balance	212.81

Expenditures.

Jan 28	Henry Jenkins, sheep killed	28.00
Feb 14	Marcus Abel, dog order No 1	.85
May 16	Frank Sechler, sheep killed	34.00
Nov 9	Samuel Armstrong, sheep killed	35.00

POOR FUND

Jan 7	Amt on hand at date of last report	$438.86
	Total receipts	436.36
	Total expenditures	161.15
	Balance	277.61

Expenditures.

Jun 18	H H Slaybaugh, reimburse poor accounts	101.90
Dec 28	H H Slaybaugh, same	59.16

I. A. Provines, Trustee.

0480

L 903

FEBRUARY

FEBRUARY

U481

L 903

ST. JOE NEWS.

VOL. XXIII ST. JOE, DEKALB COUNTY, INDIANA, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 4 1909. NO. 5

Seeds

During the past few years we have been making a speciality of

Garden & Field Seeds

and the demand has been so great that it was necessary for us to re-order several times. If you have something special in this line that you want we will get it for you. All orders should be placed with us by February 1st. so they can be sent with our regular shipment, thus saving you extra charges. We will be able to supply your wants in good shape. Everyone knows that the seeds we sell are right and that's the kind the people want. Spring is not many months off and you ought to be prepared.

DON'T DELAY

HARRY MILLIMAN
DRUGGIST

Local Briefs

Foraker Ferrell was at Auburn, this week.

J. L. Rhodenbaugh's were guests of friends at Leo, Tuesday.

Onions by the bushel, peck or pound at Kagey's.

Twenty-one bibles were present at the Christian Sunday School Sunday.

W. C. Patterson and wife visited Rev. and Mrs. Shrock in Ft Wayne Sunday.

Frank Leighty was the guest of relatives on the County Line a few days last week.

Miss Ethel Miller, of north of Hicksville, was the guest of Marshall Andress and family a few days.

A very successful meeting is in progress at the Concord Church, under the direction of Rev. McCain the pastor. Two conversions to date. Great power is manifested in the day meetings. The meetings will continue day and night during the present week.

J D Fetters

TRUSTEE
of Concord Township.

OFFICE DAY:
THURSDAY OF EACH WEEK
at his farm residence One mile
EAST OF CONCORD.

Opera House Rink at St. Joe, Saturday night.

Sylvia and Grace Ginther are guests of relatives here, this week.

Albert Ginther of Wayne, visited his parents a few days this week.

The Mesdames J. C. Hull, Delora Curie and Blanche Leighty were at Ft. Wayne, Tuesday.

Mrs. Jessie Benjamin visited relatives a few days in the vicinity of Coburntown last week.

I am now ready to receive all work in the way of harness repairing or building. D. Segar, St. Joe.

Mrs. James White and Mrs. Vina Quance were called to the bedside of their father, who is very low at his home in Auburn.

The life of Lord Shaftesbury, the great Philanthropist was studied by the L. L. C. at the home of Mrs. C. R. Price, Wednesday evening Jan., 27.

The show billed for St. Joe, last Saturday evening failed to materialize. It was on account of the bad roads and they were unable to get here on the train. No furthur date has been set.

Last week, Jacob White and daughter Vinnie, of Beulah, Michigan, came in upon their relatives as a surprise last Wednesday noon. They expect to visit with friends here for a couple of weeks. Mr. White is a reader of The News and he came in and advanced his subscription. He believes in being ahead and not in arrears for his paper and he can enjoy it better, however he can't do without it.

J C C Grecian Hip Corset
The Very Latest Model for the New Small Hip Fashion

It achieves the slender, sylph outline with much greater naturalness and grace than usual. And the perfect comfort it gives to the wearer is reflected in the charming, easeful appearance and good carriage it encourages. Excellence of outline distinguishes it.

$1.00 Each

Like all the J. C. C. Corsets, of which we have the season's full line, the best value at its price.

The Big Four Store.

Sol Barney Sells Store

Last week a deal was made which was a surprise to the community, between Sol Barney, Clyde Hart and John Sechler, by which the latter two gentlemen became the owner of the Barney dry goods store. For years Mr. Barney has been one of our leading business men, but owing to his advanced age he has concluded to step out of that part of this world and take a rest. His life as a business man has been a success, his treatment to customers has been of the best kind and while he is ready to step down and out we can but say, we are sorry to see him do it. The young men who are about to take his place are both well known to every person in the community and are both honest and upright men. There is a chance for the new firm to branch out, and they inform us that a great change will be made, what this will be we are unable to say. Both men are ambitious and will work to the interest of the company and we see no reason why success will not be their reward. They expect to have the aid of some experienced men to assist them and this way they will soon get on to the business. In the spring they expect to start a wagon on the road and will also make a change in the stock. We again wish them all the success possible.

Culture Club

Mrs. Fred B. Leighty very pleasantly entertained the Culture Club at her home on Widney Ave., Wednesday night. The program was opened with a piano solo by the hostess. A Parliamentary Law drill was then very skillfully conducted by Miss Edna Provines, which showed she had given Roberts rules careful study and was thoroughly competent for the duty assigned her. Each member assisted in this drill by responding to questions which had been handed to them in due time for study and the answers were given to their credit. Mrs. O. H. Widney then gave a humorous reading from Burns. This was fine, as Mrs. Widney being of Scotch decent was able to read it to perfection. Next was the rendition of a vocal solo by Miss Ruth DeLong, entitled "Sometime Somewhere", which was very fine. After business eighteen members responded to roll call with quotations from Burns, the greatest of Scotch poets. After adjournment the hostess treated to chocolate Bon Bons, and also favored the ladies with two piano solos.

Re-opening Exercises

Arrangements are being perfected for the reopening of the St. Joe M. P. church, February 7. The extensive repairs are about completed and the church presents a very attractive appearance. Rev. J. O. Ledbetter, a leading minister of the Indiana Conference will be present and preach both morning and evening. A good musical program is being prepared for both the morning and evening service. The public is cordially invited to attend each of these services.

J. C. McCain,
Pastor of Church.

Mr. Cassius Nigh

a piano tuner of Findlay, Ohio, is stopping at Mrs. Filley's boarding house. If you need his service, please call up either the boarding house or THE NEWS office and leave your orders. He has done work here before. All work guaranteed. Mr. Cassius Nigh.

Take Their Vows.

At the home of the brides parents, Saturday evening, occured the marriage of Miss Deama Ridgway and Mr. Grover Curie. Although it was a surprise to the people it had been expected for some time. The two young people are well and favorably known to every citizen and receive the best wishes of all. Mr. Curie will work at Kagey's restaurant, and they expect to live with the brides parents until spring, when they will go to themselves. No one was present at the ceremony but the brides parents and Elder J. H. Brown, who officiated. The News extends congratulations.

Sunday School Report.

Below is the report of the various Sunday Schools of the town and community for last Sunday. We desire that the secretaries may hand us this bit of information on Monday of each week, or phone to No. 10 and report.

	Attendance	Collection
Christian	80	$1.69
Lutheran	64	$2 01
M. P.	38	99
Coburntown	87	$2.44
Spen. Luth.	69	$1.83
Spen M. E.	30	95
Concord	62	97

Any other school desiring to be represented in this list may do so by just simply telling us.

Found His Mate

Simon Topper, whose wife was killed about a month ago by a B. & O. train at St. Joe, has chosen a companion to solace him and relieve his loneliness. He has secured a license to wed Mrs. Nancy Buzzard, of Wilmington township. Both the parties told the clerk they had been married twice before, in each case one mating having been cancelled by divorce and the other by death. They were united in the holy bonds of matrimony by Rev. A.J. Collins of St. Joe, at the home of the bride in Butler.

FAIRVIEW

Lankey Morrs' spent Sunday evening with Ed Shraders'.

Rheuben Koch and wife spent Sunday evening at Housers'.

Mr. Love, a young man who worked for Frank Siebert some time ago, has returned to Mr. Siebert from New York.

On account of the bad weather the business meeting which was to have been held at this place last Saturday was postponed until one week from next Saturday, February 13.

Guy Hays' will move this week if the weather permits. Mr. Callendar will farm his own place.

Wm. Wyatt purchased a horse at the Draggoo sale last week.

Ray Antwerp of Butler, is helping his father-in-law, Newton Wyatt to cut wood on Renningers'.

Revolts at Cold Steel.

"Your only hope," said three doctors to Mrs. M. E. Fisher, Detroit, Mich. suffering from severe rectal trouble, "lies in an operation," then I used Dr. King's New Life Pills," she writes, "till wholly cured." They prevent Appendicitis, cure Constipation, Headache. 25c. at H. Milliman's.

Recipe For Rheumatism.

Grate two good sized onions and add to these a teacupful of flowers of sulphur. Mix them well together. Put this in a cloth and bind upon the feet if the pains are in the legs. Bind on the palms of the hands if it is in the upper part of the body. If the pains are not cured try this the second or third night. Sleep with the poultice on.

G M. Barney was at Hicksville, Tuesday.

Re-opening exercises at the M. P. church Sunday morning, also preaching in the evening.

I advise all my piano students to hear Miss Blackburn with the Cresent Concert Co.

CHASTINE JOHNSTON.

A Socil will be held at the home of Mrs. H. V. Kinsey by Mrs. Buchanan's class, next Saturday evening, Feb., 6, from 5 to 7. Mite 10 cents. All are cordially invited.

Geo. Milliman

Subscription Agent.

When you want to send for papers and magazines I can save you money. Call at my shop or phone me for prices.

St. Joe, Ind.

Crescent Concert Co.

AT

Widney's Opera House

Friday Evening February 12 at 8:15

The members of this company are Misses Hadsell, McCormick and Blackburn. They have been secured by the school. Everybody come and hear something good.

ADMISSION 15c

Start 1909 Aright

By placing a nice Life Insurance policy on your life —wife, son, daughter or friend. —in the—

Mutual Life

J. C. HULL
AGENT
Call on or Phone No. 46-2.

Spencerville R F D No 2

Sarah Kyle spent Monday with Clint Wearley and family.

Earl Stiman of near Auburn, spent Monday with his mother.

Laura Coburn spent Wednesday night with Zenith Wearley.

Greely Wearley made a business trip to Ft. Wayne, last Tuesday.

You will get relief from Pain when Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills are taken.

Mrs. Henry Markle of Spencerville, spent Tuesday with Alice Zimmerman.

Evangeline, Dorothy and Lewis Fisher spent Sunday with Will Tyndalls'.

Ort Wearley spent from Friday evening till Sunday morning in Fort Wayne.

Mrs. Lizzie Shull and daughter Nellie, spent Tuesday of last week, with John Benninghoffs'.

A. F. Heyman and wife of Spencerville, spent Sunday with the latters parents, John Benninghoffs'.

The Misses Minnie Thompson and Pluma Kimes called on John Benninghoffs', one night last week.

Frank Howey, who has been visiting his parents, Geo. Howey and family, returned to his home at Guthrie, Iowa.

COBURN'S CORNERS

Born to Rev. and Mrs. Brown on February 2, a baby girl.

The Aid society will meet with Mrs. Cad Shull next Saturday.

Seventeen bibles were present at the Corners Sunday School, Sunday.

Mrs. Mariah Shull came last Friday to visit relatives and friends in this community.

Mr. James Hadsell of Ft. Wayne, visited relatives in this community and at Hicksville, last week.

Mrs. Sadie Coburn entertained to dinner Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Northrup and Mr. and Mrs. David Andress.

Mrs. Pluma Hamilton entertained to dinner last Thursday the Mesdames Ross Abel, Melvin Howey, Clyde Hart, Fred Hart and Minta Northrup.

WABASH CORNERS

Roy White and family spent Sunday at Sherman Wolff's.

Mart White of Orland, Ind., spent Saturday with his sister, Mrs. Wolf and husband.

Try Segar for your harness work. At St. Joe.

Will Lucas and wife spent Tuesday evening of last week with Emanuel Ulm and wife.

Blanch Wineland of St. Joe, was the guest of Mrs. George Pervines Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. D. D. Hurley and little granddaughter, spent Thursday with Mrs. Miranda Maurer.

Dr. Miles Anti-Pain Pills—Not only stop the pain, but do it quickly.

A large crowd from this way attended the Frank Draggoo sale at Concord, Thursday.

Walter Wilson was the lucky one to receive the barrel of flour given away at Barney's store Saturday.

Roy Maurer is working for Mr. Wiers at the tower during his absence.

The Misses Neva and Vera Andress and Stanley Monroe of St. Joe, Fay Miller of Spencerville, and Clyde Harrod of Perrysville, Ohio, were Sunday afternoon guests at Wm. Pervines'.

Mrs. Anna Rickett spent part of last week at Waterloo, the guest of her sister, Mrs. Ida Fisk and family.

Orange and Mell Herrick, received a fine Scotch Collie dog, Monday, sent to them by Mr. Hendry, of Reading Michigan.

Emanuel Ulm sold one of his horses Thursday.

False Report.

Notwithstanding the report that Craig Sheffer has sold out, he is still doing business at the old stand. Bring him your work.

Why Refer to Doctors

Because we make medicines for them. We tell them all about Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and they prescribe it for coughs, colds, bronchitis, consumption. They trust it. Then you can afford to trust it. Ask your own doctor.

The best kind of a testimonial—"Sold for over sixty years."

Made by J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.
Also manufacturers of SARSAPARILLA.
PILLS.
HAIR VIGOR.

Ayer's

We have no secrets! We publish the formulas of all our medicines.

Ayer's Pills greatly aid the Cherry Pectoral in breaking up a cold.

PONY PRIZE NO. 31

No word has been received regard prize No. 30.

Just four weeks more on contest No. 31 Can you stay by me? I am second in the 15th class and would like to make first. Closes February 27 Prize same as in No 30 Do what you can for me!

Merritt Milliman.

FEBRUARY

0482

L 903

The St. Joe News

ST. JOE, INDIANA.

FRED B. LEIGHTY, - - Publisher.

1909 FEBRUARY 1909

Su	Mo	Tu	We	Th	Fr	Sa
●	1	2	3	4	5	6
7	8	9	10	11	12	13
14	15	16	17	18	19	20
21	22	23	24	25	26	27
28	●	●	●	●	●	●

F. M. 5th. L. Q. 13th. N. M. 20th F. Q. 26th.

FEATURES OF INTEREST

ABOUT THAT WHICH HAS BEEN AND IS TO BE.

All Sides and Conditions of Things are Shown. Nothing Overlooked to make it Complete.

Four Perish in Burning Hotel.

Four men were burned or suffocated to death and another fatally burned at Fort Worth, Texas, in a fire which gutted the Southern Hotel, on Jones street, opposite the Santa Fe passenger station. An explosion of a gasoline stove caused the fire, which also heavily damaged six other buildings in the same block. All were frame structures and the fire spread rapidly. Several women employed by the hotel suffered slight burns. After the explosion only a few minutes elapsed until the hotel was wrapped in flames. Efforts to awaken the sleeping men failed. The police fired their revolvers as a last resort and it is believed this awakened them, but too late to save their lives.

Pennsylvania Train Wrecked.

Train No. 44, the Pittsburg Special from St. Louis on the Pan Handle division of the Pennsylvania railroad, was wrecked between Conesville and Trinway, Pa., 133 miles west of Pittsburg. Eleven passengers and Benjamin McKeen, general manager of the Vandalia lines, were injured. The train was east-bound when the two rear cars, the Burnley, from Louisville to Pittsburg, and special car No. 9258, Mr. McKeen's private car, left the track and turned over on their sides. It is presumed the wreck was caused by a broken rail.

Alligator Steak Dinner for Taft.

Determined that Louisiana, anent the Georgia 'possum dinner, shall not be behind in furnishing unique and typical viands for the delectation of President-elect Taft, Secretary Trevevant, of the Progressive Union, which organization is taking a prominent part in arranging for the entertainment of Mr. Taft on his visit to New Orleans, has advanced a plan to give the distinguished visitor an alligator steak dinner.

Gives $250,000 for Charity.

Mrs. Samuel Mather, sister of Mrs. John Hay, who died a few days ago in Cleveland, Ohio, left an estate valued at $2,000,000. Of this $250,000 is set aside for benevolent purposes. Among these bequests are $18,500 for Western Reserve College, $41,000 for the College of Women, $6,000 a year to Lakeside Hospital, $100,000 for foreign missions. The remainder is distributed among smaller institutions.

Four Children Die in Burning Home.

Four children were cremated and their parents seriously injured in a fire which destroyed the home of A. M. Kendall, Bryson Hill, Dunbar, Pa. The parents made repeated efforts to reach the room occupied by their children, but were finally compelled to jump from a second story window to save themselves. It is believed the fire started from a gas stove.

August Belmont on Surgeon's Table.

August Belmont, the banker, underwent an operation for appendicitis in the Memorial Hospital, in New York City. The operation was regarded as successful, and the condition of Mr. Belmont thereafter was satisfactory to his physicians. No doubt is entertained of his recovery.

Fatal Wreck on Union Pacific.

The Union Pacific passenger train No. 5, known as the Oregon Express, west-bound, struck a broken rail near Dana, 150 miles west of Cheyenne, Wyo., and was wrecked. Five coaches are in the ditch. Miss Emma Clingenhull, of Danbury, In., was killed and nine were injured.

Noted French Actor Dies.

A dispatch from Paris, France, says: Benoit-Constant Coquelin, the great French actor, whose culminating triumph has been awaited in Edmond Rostand's "The Chanticleer," which is now being rehearsed, died at Pont-aur-Dames, Siene-et-Marne.

Wrecked by Gas Explosion.

An explosion of natural gas wrecked the plant of the Tuna Valley Pressed Brick Company and seriously injured R. C. Gordon and Phillip Derry, employed in the engine room. The plant is located at Lewis Run, Pa., and the damage is heavy.

Ohio Centenarian Dead.

John Patterson, the oldest man in Logan County, Ohio, is dead. He was 104 years old and until Christmas time he shaved himself and smoked his pipe every day.

Three Fatally Burned.

Four children were burned, three of them fatally, when one of them ignited three kegs of powder at Stoughton, Pa. All of the children, who were foreigners, were terribly mutilated.

CRIPPLED LINER SINKS INTO ATLANTIC OCEAN

Crew Leaves Republic at Last Minute and Finds Safety on Revenue Cutter.

SIX ARE KILLED IN COLLISION.

Passengers of Both Vessels on Baltic Taken Into New York Harbor Through Fog.

Six lives were lost and two persons were injured when the Florida of the Lloyds-Italiano Line cut her way through the sides of the Republic, the White Star Mediterranean liner, in the fog-bound waters of the Atlantic off Nantucket early Saturday morning. Despite valiant efforts on the part of half a dozen other vessels to save her, the Republic sank at half past 8 o'clock Sunday night off No Man's Land, near Martha's Vineyard, while the Gresham, a revenue cutter, and the Seneca, a derelict destroyer, were towing her to New York and the Furnessia of the Anchor Line was steering her aft.

The Republic is sunk in 150 feet of water off No Man's Land, and is gone forever. Efforts to raise her from this depth would be useless. Captain Sealby and his crew, who had returned to their ship when she was taken in tow, remained aboard until the last moment, when they were carried off in small boats and transferred to the Gresham.

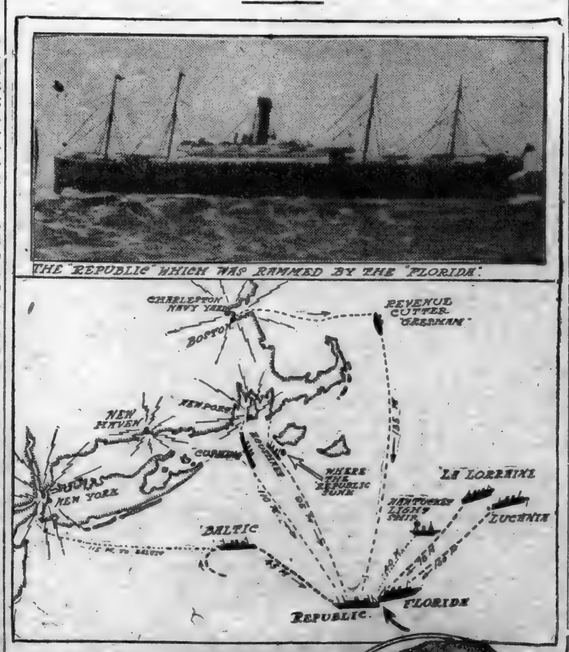
Meantime the Baltic, carrying the passengers of both the Republic and the Florida, numbering more than 1,000, was making all speed to the port of New York. Two of those killed were passengers on the Republic, as were the two injured. The other victims were seamen.

Seven hundred persons, in round numbers, were transferred from the Republic to the Florida, and then 1,650 from the last named vessel to the Baltic. That this transfer of nearly 2,500 persons was effected without the loss of a single life is considered a marvelous performance, though the fortunate occurrence of a placid sea and mild, almost springlike weather was an important factor in this work.

Throughout all of Sunday the only information which reached New York or elsewhere of the situation on the fog-bound waters off Nantucket came fitfully in the detached and sometimes conflicting wireless dispatches, but without these nothing might have been known for days. Thousands of homes would have been plunged into grief and anxiety but for the reassuring news that the accident was not so grave as had been feared, and that the loss of life was small.

"WHAT'S THE USE?"

BIG OCEAN LINER, REPUBLIC, DIAGRAM SHOWING WHERE IT SANK, AND THE CAPTAIN.



Map showing the position of the Republic when it was rammed, the location of the ships summoned to its assistance by wireless telegraphy and the land stations that also got the messages for assistance.

CAPTAIN SEALBY OF THE "REPUBLIC"

NEW CLEW TO STRANGLER.

Beautiful Girl Found Dead in Third Mystery in Dayton, Ohio.

Dayton, Ohio, has another Dora Gilman mystery, so similar, in fact, to the Gilman case that the police believe if they find the criminal they will have the perpetrator for both crimes. The victim, Mary Vorschner, a 15-year-old girl of beauty, was found in a field strangled to death. Two men have been arrested. The most important clew is prints in mud showing the murderer wore corduroy trousers. Dora Gilman was killed in the same way Nov. 20, 1906, and Anna Markowitz on Aug. 5, 1907. Although a negro is serving a life sentence for the Markowitz crime, many now believe that all three murders were committed by the same person.

INDIANA COUNTIES GO "DRY."

Four Practically Swept by Militant Anti-Liquor Forces.

Complete returns from four Indiana counties holding local option elections Tuesday show that four have been added to three that entered the dry column some three weeks ago. In every county the victory was more decisive than the advocates of option had expected and rout of the liquor forces comes with crushing force because overwhelming results were not anticipated. In Decatur County the majority is close to 1,500, with only 1 per cent wet; in Putnam, 1,784, with only two precincts out of thirty four wet; in Tipton, 1,527, with all twenty-four precincts dry, and in Hamilton the majority will reach 2,000, with possibly only one or two precincts wet. Elections in all the counties were quiet and orderly. The anti-saloon elements were busy all day. Women in cities and towns took leading parts in getting voters to the polls. In some cities church bells were rung at regular intervals. In others, teachers marched at the heads of their classes to the polls, wearing badges. In country districts and in cities and towns schools were given a holiday and the children went out with the teachers electioneering.

DUAL TRAGEDY IN OHIO.

Man Sends Note to Girl, Then Kills Wife and Himself.

"When my son returns home he will find his mother and myself dead. Be kind to him." This was the note 19-year-old Earl Hilborn delivered to his sweetheart, Helen Williams, when he came for his Sunday evening call. It was given to him before he left his own house by his father, R. L. Hilborn, a well-to-do farmer, living near Willoughby, Ohio. The envelope bore this direction: "This must not be opened until my son leaves you tonight." In obedience to this Miss Williams did not read the contents of the note until she had closed the door behind her sweetheart. Then she ran after him and they drove to the Hilborn home. They arrived there about midnight and found Mrs. Hilborn dead in the kitchen with a bullet through her head. The husband's body was discovered in the barn, where he had blown out his own brains with the same revolver after killing her. Hilborn received a letter Saturday informing him of the loss of Canadian real estate in which he is said to have put all of his money.

KANSAS TO DOUBLE WHEAT CROP

Agricultural College Experiments Promise Wonderful Results.

Prof. H. F. Roberts of the Kansas Agricultural College has been experimenting in the breeding of wheat since 1900. His experiments have now reached the stage that a warning has gone out to farmers to increase the size of their granaries. The result of Prof. Roberts' researches is the probable propagation of a wheat that will increase the average yield from fourteen to twenty-eight bushels an acre. The wheat crop of Kansas for the last five years has averaged approximately 80,000,000 bushels. Roberts gathered 616 varieties from every known country. Through the process of elimination there now remain thirty-nine varieties. "By next fall," declared the professor, "I will have secured the ideal wheat. Then watch Kansas. Her wheat yield will be doubled, and the farmers of the State will have their annual incomes increased to the extent of nearly fifty million dollars."

EXPLOSION KILLS MINE OFFICER

Superintendent Loses Life and Ten Men Are Caught in Wreck.

While Superintendent J. G. Logan and a party of miners were investigating conditions, which had been unsatisfactory, in the coal mine of the Merchants' Coal Company at Boswell, near Pittsburg, a gas explosion occurred which has already cost the life of one man and may result in the death of ten more. Because of the anticipated trouble the night shift was not permitted to enter the mine, and thus the lives of many men were spared. When the explosion occurred the mine caved in and the passageway was completely blocked, with ten men back of the obstruction. The superintendent was carried out seriously injured and died soon after being taken from the mine.

Pirates Kill Fishermen.

The insular government is considering the advisability of calling on the navy department to assist in ridding the southern coasts of the Philippine Islands of the bands of Moro pirates that now infest them. The latest depredation of these pirates was the killing of seven natives in an attack on the Panang pearl fishing fleet.

For Two Opera Seasons.

Oscar Hammerstein announced at New York that, beginning next August, he would give a three months' preliminary season of grand opera at low prices, thus extending the opera from five months to eight. He will make the performances especially attractive to schools and colleges. Some will be in English.

Carload of Babies Given Away.

A carload of seventy-five babies was distributed in New Orleans the other day. The precious freight came from the New York foundling and orphan asylum. Scores of foster-parents were waiting at the station to claim the little ones, for whom they had previously applied.

GUARD AGAINST WASTE.

President in Special Message Tells Congress of Nation's Peril.

President Roosevelt in a special message to Congress urged upon the nation the necessity for conserving its resources, and told of the duty of the citizens of to-day to the generations to come. The message transmitted to Congress the report of the National Conservation Commission showing the peril confronting the country if the present waste is permitted to continue.

"We should do all in our power to develop and protect individual liberty, individual initiative, but subject always to the need of preserving and promoting the general good," said the President. "When necessary, the private right must yield, under due process of law and with proper compensation, to the welfare of the commonwealth. The man who serves the community greatly should be greatly rewarded by the community; as there is great inequality of service, so there must be great inequality of reward."

In the message the President reviewed practically all the accomplishments of his administration and asked for the development of the inland waterways and for the preservation of the forests and minerals, besides making a plea for the "square deal."

Some of the striking points made in the message as showing the reckless waste of the natural resources of the nation were as follows:

Mineral production of United States, 1907, value $2,000,000,000; waste more than $300,000,000.

Available Coal Supply—1,400,000,000,000 tons; threatened with exhaustion by middle of next century.

High Grade Iron Ore—3,840,000,000 tons; threatened with exhaustion by middle of next century.

Petroleum Supply—20,000,000,000 barrels; wastage enormous; supply not expected to last beyond middle of present century.

Natural Gas Daily Waste—More than 1,000,000,000 cubic feet; enough to supply every city of more than 100,000 population.

Fire Losses per Year—$450,000,000; four-fifths preventable.

Forest Burned Yearly—50,000,000 acres.

Of 70,000,000,000 cubic feet of water annually flowing into the sea less than one per cent is restrained and used for municipal and community supply.

Annual Mortality from Tuberculosis—150,000.

Estimated Economic Gain Annually from Mitigation of Preventable Diseases—1,500,000,000.

The Comic Side of The News

Where rolls the Oregon land deal?

"Impulsive insanity" is a new kind of brainstorm.

The Tennessee Night Riders are beginning to see daylight.

If the "foot-and-mouth" disease should ever strike Washington——

Things are still a little bit shaky in the neighborhood of Messina.

The Senate seems to have blackballed New Mexico and Arizona again.

Somehow, hanging doesn't seem to be quite enough for a Night Rider.

The Britishers must have arrested Carrie Nation just to make her feel at home.

Japan might get some satisfaction by declaring war against the California Legislature.

President Castro considers it much more pleasant to be hung in effigy than in real life.

COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL

CHICAGO.

Sustained gains in payments through the banks and a low commercial mortality add further testimony to improved conditions. Despite the unfavorable weather, trade activity reflects healthy progress, leading distributive branches showing a seasonable volume and forwarding of general merchandise increasing in response to numerous requests for prompt deliveries. Farm products show heavier marketings, together with larger outgo of breadstuffs. A shortage of hogs received adversely affects the live stock aggregate, and prices of the principal cereals and provisions average higher, those of hog product recording sharp advances. Factory outputs contribute more tonnage for transportation and movements of raw materials run closer to normal. Earnings of the Chicago steam roads steadily recover and to some extent exceed those at this time last year.

Failures reported in the Chicago district number 23, against 33 last week, 39 in 1908 and 24 in 1907. Those with liabilities of more than $5,000 number 7, against 10 last week, 16 in 1908 and 8 in 1907.—Dun's Weekly Review of Trade.

NEW YORK.

Trade is expanding slowly but steadily, wholesale and jobbing lines noting some good orders for immediate delivery and rather more confidence in placing orders for spring. Conservatism is, however, noted in many sections, and some markets report a feeling of disappointment at the rate of progress making.

In the leading industries the tendency is still toward gradual resumption, but in few cases is the output up to a good normal.

Uncertainty as to tariff changes is still widely mentioned as a bar to fullest activities, this being notable especially in iron and steel, where present demand is below expectations, and in some lines of textiles. Reports from the railways are of an increased merchandise traffic Northwest and Southwest, but this is to a certain extent offset by restricted movement of grain to market.

Business failures in the United States for the week ending with Jan. 21 were 307, against 319 last week, 408 in the like week of 1908, 252 in 1907, 276 in 1906 and 228 in 1905.

Canadian business failures for the same period numbered forty, as against thirty-six last week and fifty-one in this week last year.—Bradstreet's.

THE MARKETS

Chicago—Cattle, common to prime, $4.00 to $7.00; hogs, prime heavy, $4.50 to $6.45; sheep, fair to choice, $3.00 to $5.50; wheat, No. 2, $1.06 to $1.08; corn, No. 2, 58c to 59c; oats, standard, 49c to 50c; rye, No. 2, 75c to 77c; hay, timothy, $8.00 to $12.50; prairie, $8.00 to $11.50; butter, choice creamery, 27c to 30c; eggs, fresh, 27c to 30c; potatoes, per bushel, 65c to 78c.

Indianapolis—Cattle, shipping, $3.00 to $7.00; hogs, good to choice heavy, $3.50 to $5.60; sheep, good to choice, $2.50 to $4.00; wheat, No. 2, $1.03 to $1.04; corn, No. 2 white, 59c to 60c; oats, No. 2 white, 49c to 51c.

St. Louis—Cattle, $4.50 to $7.40; hogs, $4.00 to $6.05; sheep, $3.00 to $5.25; wheat, No. 2, $1.10 to $1.13; corn, No. 2, 59c to 60c; oats, No. 2, 50c to 52c; rye, No. 2, 77c to 78c.

Cincinnati—Cattle, $4.00 to $6.25; $5.00; wheat, No. 2, $1.11 to $1.12; corn, hogs, $4.00 to $6.45; sheep, $3.00 to No. 2 mixed, 61c to 62c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 51c to 53c; rye, No. 2, 80c to 81c.

Detroit—Cattle, $4.00 to $5.25; hogs, $4.00 to $6.45; sheep, $2.50 to $4.00; wheat, No. 2, $1.07 to $1.08; corn, No. 3 yellow, 61c to 62c; oats, No. 3 white, 51c to 53c; rye, No. 2, 76c to 78c.

Milwaukee—Wheat, No. 2 northern, $1.07 to $1.10; corn, No. 3, 61c to 62c; oats, standard, 51c to 52c; rye, No. 1, 75c to 77c; barley, No. 1, 64c to 65c; pork, mess, $15.50.

Buffalo—Cattle, choice shipping steers, $4.00 to $6.70; hogs, fair to choice, $4.00 to $6.60; sheep, common to good mixed, $4.00 to $4.75; lambs, fair to choice, $5.00 to $7.40.

New York—Cattle, $4.00 to $5.90; hogs, $3.50 to $6.05; sheep, $3.00 to $5.00; wheat, No. 2 red, $1.07 to $1.09; corn, No. 2, 66c to 67c; oats, natural white, 55c to 57c; butter, creamery, 29c to 33c; eggs, western, 25c to 29c.

Toledo—Wheat, No. 2, mixed, $1.06 to $1.08; corn, No. 2 mixed, 60c to 62c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 50c to 52c; rye, No. 2, 77c to 78c; clover seed, $5.52.

TRADE AND INDUSTRY.

Soap men from twenty-four different points in the Middle West met at Burlington, Iowa, and entered a protest against increase in freight rates.

During the last year L. A. Sweet of Martin county, Minnesota, produced and sold $2,000 worth of produce from his forty-acre farm, the greater portion coming from his cows.

The independent glass manufacturers have decided to stand pat on the wage scale made with their employes last September and to make no concessions. This means that 12,000 men on strike will remain out of work until they come to the terms of the employers. There are about 7,500 skilled workers who made the demand for an increase said to average from 25 to 40 per cent.

U483
L 903

FEBRUARY

A Race for a Wife

BY

HAWLEY SMART

A RACE FOR A WIFE is the story of a charming young girl, who, to please her father and save him from persecution and ruin, consents to marry a man she does not love. Her true lover discovers a document which places his rival at a decided disadvantage, and there is a real "race for a wife," in which fidelity and genuine affection win the prize.

This serial is unique in all of its features of plot and action, with the incidents entertaining to the last degree. The interest is maintained to the very last chapter and the story will charm all lovers of good fiction.

CHAPTER I.

Xminster is all alive, simmering, bubbling over with excitement; the magnates are adjusting ribbons, fitting wreaths, scenting pocket handkerchiefs, stretching gloves, tying white neck cloths, and otherwise preparing for the momentous evening. The inferior clay of Xminster hover about the gateway of The George hotel, in all that exhilaration of spirits that gratuitous sightseeing is wont to produce among the multitude. It is but a momentary glimpse of some hundred or so of ladies and gentlemen in evening attire that is destined to be the reward of their patience; but then, you see, Xminster is a town in which the stream of life runs so sluggishly. Circuses, conjurers, lecturers, monologue entertainers, etc., are rather shy of Xminster; the little town is so thoroughly habituated to retiring to rest at an early hour, that even the visits of some of these talented and adventurous beings have failed to tempt the inhabitants to forego their beds or to expend their silver.

But the dullest village in England recognizes some occasions in the year on which dreary mirth takes the place of melancholy stagnation. They were two; the fair and the dispensary ball. It is the latter carnival which is at present causing the pulse of Xminster to beat with feverish rapidity, and the population are already waiting to display their critical acumen on the belles of town and country.

The dear old country fiddles are playing their somewhat superannuated dance music with all the wonted animation and disregard of the niceties of tune which is so much the characteristic of provincial bands. There is no lack of pretty girls, tastefully dressed, in valse and quadrille, in the queer old room with its still queerer attempts at decoration in those gaudy festoons of artificial flowers. But a stately young lady, dressed in white, with green-and-gold trimmings, seems to bear away the palm. More than one murmured tribute to her beauty escapes the lips of the lookers-on as she whirls by.

"Who is she? She moves like a queen amongst the rest, and they are good-looking girls, too, some of them." And the speaker, a rather coarse-looking dark man, a little the wrong side of thirty, turned for information to the knot of men he was lounging with at the door.

"Haven't you ever seen her before, Pearman? No, I suppose you hardly could have done. She goes out but little—that's Maude Denison."

"What!—daughter of old Denison of Glinn?"

"Just so—former owner of all those fat acres which have since fallen into your respected progenitor's possession;" and a slight inflection of voice just italicised the epithet; for Gus Brisden was of a good old county family, and had little reverence for the Pearmans of Mannersley.

Yes, very handsome was Maude Denison. She was a beauty of the regal order, and her stately carriage alone would have sufficed to make men ask, "Who is she?" even without the rich brown tresses, proud grey eyes, and regular features.

"I must know her!" said Pearman. "Can you introduce me, Brisden?"

"No; I barely know her myself," replied Gus.

"I must go and find somebody who can," and Pearman hurried away.

Apparently he was successful, for, shortly afterwards he led out Miss Denison for a quadrille, during which Mr. Pearman did his uttermost to make himself agreeable. He was a very earthy piece of clay, but he had enjoyed the advantage of a good education, and was by no means deficient in ability. He had achieved a certain amount of tact while undergoing the friction of such society as he had encountered, and proved himself an apt pupil in worldly knowledge. This stood him in good stead just now. When he led Maude Denison back to her chaperone she certainly thought he was by no means the least agreeable partner she had had that evening. She had but just resumed her seat when a tall, fair man was by her side. His brow was slightly knit, and his eyes sparkled angrily as he exclaimed, "My dear Maude, how could you dance with that man?"

"Which, Grenville?" inquired Miss Denison, smiling. "I have danced with a good many to-night, including your sweet self, cousin mine."

"Don't be absurd, Maude; you know very well whom I mean—that dark man—your last partner."

"And wherefore should I not dance with him?" inquired Miss Denison.

"For a hundred reasons. His name alone should have sufficed to prevent it."

"Dear me," laughed the young lady, merrily. "You have piqued my woman's curiosity. Do tell me who this monster of iniquity is, for, truth to say, I did not catch his name when he was introduced to me."

"You didn't know who he was? thought not. That's young Pearman—the unmitigated cad."

"So that was Mr. Pearman, was it?" remarked Maude, musingly. "Well, Grenville, I don't think I should have danced with him had I known who he was; but, you see, I didn't, and I cannot see that it is of much consequence now. One is not obliged to recognize the partner of a quadrille again unless one likes, you know; and though I'll plead guilty to finding him amusing, I don't think I wish to prosecute the acquaintance. But don't you think it is getting time to leave? Mrs. Learmont, you are as good as gold," said Maude, turning to her chaperone, "waiting in this resigned manner for me. However, I am quite at your disposal now."

"Pray don't think of me; I want you to thoroughly enjoy your ball, and I am quite willing to look on at your valsing for another hour. I have lots of people to come and talk to me, you know."

"Yes!" laughed Maude; "I am quite aware that you have lots of old friends, only too glad to have the chance of a quiet chat with you, and know also that you would sit here and pinch yourself to keep awake sooner than debar your goddaughter of five minutes' gratification; but I also have a conscience. Go and see about the carriage, Grenville."

It is very curious to watch what trifling affairs influence the tenor of our lives. Maude Denison has deemed it of little consequence that she has danced a quadrille with Samuel Pearman; and yet that dance is fated to draw many a tear from the proud grey eyes. Grenville Rose, ere thirty minutes are over, will be tortured in a way which he is powerless to resist.

The sire of the dark-featured young man who had expressed such admiration for Maude Denison had begun life as a solicitor's clerk, from which in due course of time he blossomed forth into an attorney, and sat himself down in the little town of Bury St. Edmunds, with a view to the persecution of mankind or the redressing of his fellow men's grievances, as circumstances and the presentation of six and eightpence might direct. Bury St. Edmunds lies no great distance from the famous Heath of Newmarket. In default of other business, Mr. Pearman took to attending the race meetings thereat; gradually he became acquainted with many of those multifarious hangers-on that exist so mystically by racing. He had naturally an acute understanding; and he now got many a hint as to where to lay out a little money profitably. The traffickers in horseflesh and followers of the turf have their subjects of litigation as well as those who pursue other avocations. Who was so handy to employ as Pearman? and, by degrees, he began to make a name as a solicitor in horse cases at the racing metropolis and became rich.

In due course Harold Denison, Maude's father, had passed through his hands. Denison had started in life with a fine property; but burning the candle, not only at both ends, but a little in the middle besides, he had soon done away with that. Pearman was everything he should be on the occasion; but when his client emerged from his sea of troubles, two-thirds of the Glinn estate were in the hands of the solicitor. Still, everyone said Denison's had been a very bad break-up; that the property had been sold at a fair valuation; and that, but for Pearman, Harold Denison would not have been able to keep Glinn and such acres as were still left to him. By this time Pearman was an owner of race horses, and kept a stud of his own. He had married a lady in some way connected with usury, and, having altogether acquired a considerable fortune, made the first mistake in his career, and set up for a country gentleman.

He built a big house on the estate so recently lopped off the Glinn property; he built large stables. He named his house Mannersley, after the manor it stood upon. He established a crest and coat-of-arms; he had his cards engraced, "Mr. and Mrs. Pearman, Mannersley;" he sat himself down to wait—but nobody called.

Money will do and does do a good deal, but here and there blood respects its rights. The county were not going to welcome what they designated as "a money-grabbing attorney who was fattening on the necessities of Harold Denison of Glinn." The Master of the Hounds, it was true, called upon him; but even Pearman could regard that in no other light but that of a business transaction. He asked and obtained leave to draw the covers, gave the solicitor a capital luncheon on his return visit, but had steadily refused all invitations to dinner.

In due course of time Mrs. Pearman died. She left but one son, who at the period of her death was an undergraduate at Cambridge, but who, now many years older, is the gentleman who danced that quadrille with handsome Maude Denison.

Young Pearman has succeeded far better than his progenitor in making his way in the county. Still, although he had insinuated himself to a certain extent into society, there were many of the county families who utterly ignored the solicitor's son. The men of the family might know him in the hunting field; the younger sons might even go so far as to drop in at Mannersley for lunch, when the hounds or aught else took them that way. But the women tabooed him—they would none of him; and bitterly did Sam Pearman feel that haughty ostracism. All men have their ambitions; Pearman had his father's intensified, to be acknowledged as within the pale of "the upper ten." He quite understood that the recognition of the race course and hunting field was far from constituting such.

CHAPTER II.

Harold Denison was an embittered, disappointed man—far too clever not to see how he had thrown the game of life away by the turf follies and extravagances of his early days; far too proud to take a reduced status in the county in which he had been at one time a leading magnate; far too selfish to sacrifice an iota of that pride to enhance the pleasure of either his wife or his daughter. He had married, early in life, a lady of good family in his own county. It had been better for Harold Denison had she been constituted of sterner stuff. She never crossed her husband in word or deed.

Maude was the only child, and this perhaps still more fostered the intense selfishness of Mr. Denison's disposition. A girl was, of course, sure to marry. He had none of his stock to come after him; and though he little relished the idea of the Denisons of Glinn being blotted out of the county Red-book, he could not be expected to feel much interest for a boyish nephew he had barely seen. On one point only did poor Mrs. Denison ever venture to contradict her lord's wishes: that was about Maude. The girl was all in all to her mother. Maude's woman's wit had early made her understand that her father dealt but hard justice in that quarter; and she was ever ready to flash forth as her mother's champion. Otherwise she loved her father very dearly, and was quite imbued with the family doctrine of self-sacrifice where he should be concerned.

By the light of a candle, in the solitude of his chamber, Grenville Rose was tasting all the sweets of dressing to catch an early train on a dark February morning. He had been brought up a great deal with his cousin Maude. They had romped together as children, and been fast cousinly friends since they had grown bigger. No lovemaking had ever taken place between the pair, yet Grenville was conscious of being very fond of that grey-eyed damsel.

Grenville enters the old dining room, to gulp his scalding coffee, and recognise the utter futility of attempting to eat at abnormal hours. He is suffering altogether from considerable mental depression—predominant idea, perhaps, "What a farce all county balls are!" Suddenly the door opens, and Maude Denison glides into the room.

"Good morning, Grenville. Isn't this good of me to make such a struggle, and rush down to give you your coffee? Ah, I see you've got it. Never mind, you must take the will for the deed. At all events, I'm in time to say good by."

His face lit up as he shook hands with her. "Very kind indeed, Maude, to come down and give me a last glimpse of you—so tired, too, as you must be after your triumphs of last night."

"Triumphs! What do you mean?" replied Miss Denison, in sweet humility, though a coquettish smile and flash of the deep grey eyes showed that she was perfectly conscious of her ball-room success.

"Oh, the hypocrisy of women!" laughed her cousin. "As if you did not know perfectly well that all the men were raving with admiration, and that the ladies could find no words to express their opinion of you! As if you could not imagine that you were pronounced handsome, lovely, graceful—stigmatized as over dressed, under dressed, and awkward! While your admirers on one side of the room vowed so light a foot never glided across the boards at Xminster, your detractors on the other, were speculating as to how much of your hair and complexion were really your birthright. As if you did not know you were the belle of the ball, and enjoyed all the rights and privileges of the distinction."

"Ah, well!" she rejoined, with a saucy smile; "I am not going to be a humbug to you, Grenville. I know some people thought I looked nice, and I know others disliked me for doing so. Let me pour you out some more coffee."

(To be continued.)

Unwarned.

On entering the stable suddenly the head of the house found the hostler and his own young son deeply engaged with the broken tail of a kite.

"How is it, Williams," he began, severely, "that I never find you at work when I come out here?"

"I know," volunteered his son; "it's on account of those rubber heels you're wearing now."—Youth's Companion.

In the Early Flats.

They were examining the abodes of the cliff dwellers.

"Each of these caves has the same inscription," remarked a student. "What do you make of it, professor?"

"I judge," said the professor, "that it must be the lease."—Washington Herald.

What She Escaped.

Said He—There goes young Sapleigh. He took his fiancee out rowing last summer, rocked the boat and the poor girl was drowned.

Said She—Lucky girl!

Said He—Why do you say that?

Said She—Why, she might have lived and married the idiot.

Not Grumbling.

"Don't you find it pretty expensive to keep up that big touring car?"

"Yes, I do. But I'm not grumbling. You see, Martha agreed to give up playing bridge at the Fleecem's if I'd buy the car. Oh, I'm saving money, all right."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Of all the gold in the possession of man 70 per cent is in the shape of coin.

REVIEW OF INDIANA

Oliver S. Greenwood, an extra policeman at Goshen, has been appointed a guard at the Michigan City prison.

Paul Austgen, 28 years old, while walking on the Pennsylvania railroad at Hartsdale, was struck and killed by a fast train.

By the death of their maternal grandmother in Chicago, Misses Lois and Celina Carlisle, of Bedford, have fallen heirs to $10,000.

Clifford Fullhart and "Clete" Kern, both 22 years old, were hunting six miles east of Muncie, when a rabbit jumped up in front of them. Kern shot at the rabbit, but most of the charge accidentally struck Fullhart, whose nose and part of the face were torn away. Physicians say he may recover.

A jury at Spencer has awarded to the plaintiff damages of one cent in the suit of Alverson against Surber for slander. The jury deliberated more than thirty hours. A peculiar coincidence is the fact that Mr. Alverson was a juror in the only other case in the county in which a similar decision was given, the slander suit of Witham against Hyden which was tried more than twenty years ago.

One divorce was granted in Wayne County last year for every four marriage licenses issued, according to the report which County Clerk Penny sent to the State Statistician. There were sixty divorces and 242 marriages. Had not Judge Fox put in effect iron-clad rules regarding divorce cases the ratio of separations to marriages would have been greater. More than a dozen applicants were refused divorces by Judge Fox.

Augerville is the name of a new town in Gibson County. It is a rural settlement situated on the sand road between Owensville and Princeton. Augerville has ninety-three inhabitants and all the married men of the place own their own homes. The slogan in Augerville is, "Come to Augerville. You won't bore us and we won't bore you." The principal industry of the town is the production of watermelons and cantaloups.

J. F. Seeming, north of Hopkins Park, since the beginning of cold weather has been annoyed by crows, the birds appearing daily in his feed lots in great numbers. Several days ago, seeing a flock of crows approaching, Mr. Seeming picked up an old musket and fired, killing eleven birds and winging five others. He says the atmosphere rained feathers and bits of crow flesh for two minutes. Seeming was knocked flat on his back and his shoulder was injured.

The case of a boy 12 years old making a living for his mother and two sisters on wages of only 45 cents a week stirred the Board of Children's Guardians of Bartholomew County to take the troubles of the family of William McMillan before Judge Hacker, and the three children in the family have been temporarily placed in the Columbus Orphans' Home as a result. The complaint filed in the case alleged that the husband and father had deserted his family some time ago, and his present whereabouts is not known.

Alexander Abbott, a farmer, of Dalton Township, Wayne County, is in a serious condition as a result of injuries received by the bursting of a grindstone. The massive wheel was being operated by a gasoline engine and Abbott was engaged in dressing farm tools when the wheel flew into fragments. His jaw bone was broken in two places and so terrific was the blow that the jaw was literally pushed backward and upward into his head. One arm was broken and there was a score of wounds on body and head. He will recover.

A fight off the river front in White river between an eel and a perch, was witnessed by a large number of people of Hazleton. To the onlookers it seemed that the fish was doing a crazy stunt, as the eel kept his length entirely under water. Patrick Phillips, a mill employe, got a boat and went out to the scene of commotion. He picked up the fish and was surprised to find an eel five feet long hanging to the head of the fish. The peculiar mouth of the eel had a leechlike hold on the fish. The eel held on to its captive and Phillips held on to both. The perch weighed twenty-five pounds.

Because wolves had been killing their sheep and robbing their chicken coops, Brown County farmers organized a hunting party a few days ago. Several dogs were put in a thick woods and the hunters separated into two divisions. All except one of the dogs soon came back to one of the parties and refused to go into the woods again. When the party went farther into the woods it found the missing dog torn to pieces. One party was coming toward the other and suddenly four wolves appeared. Many shots were fired without result. The wolves escaped, and another party will be organized in a few days.

The sale of Red Cross Christmas stamps in New Albany, which was in charge of the Coterie Club, amounted to $9,412, and the net proceeds have been forwarded to the headquarters of the society at Indianapolis.

While coasting on a steep hillside near Mays, two boys, Clyde Owen and Ralph Kirkham, were both seriously hurt by striking a log at the foot of the hill. Besides other severe injuries young Owen suffered a fractured limb.

James McCarty, living two miles west of Cutler, killed a large gray eagle that measured seven feet six inches from tip to tip of its wings. McCarty killed the bird with a shotgun.

A Bedford woman recently rode 125 miles for twenty-four cents. She bought a ticket to Springfield and paid the regular fare. The wreck of a coal train caused the passenger to detour making a ride of eight hours.

Burton Kile, of Hopkins, in two nights' hunting caught six raccoons, ten skunks and five minks. The skins sold for $28.40. The dogs used by Mr. Kile, three in number, are black and tan fox hounds and cost him $50 each.

Burglars entered the Pennsylvania passenger station at Shelbyville, pried open the ticket case, and took fifty-nine tickets to different points. The money drawer was broken open, but nothing was found there. Entrance was obtained by raising an unlatched window.

Mayor W. L. Brown, of Mitchell, has tendered his resignation, to take effect on February 1. He was Mitchell's first mayor and has held the office about eighteen months. Clyde A. Burton, the present city clerk, will succeed him. Mr. Burton will be one of the youngest mayors in the State.

A pack of homeless dogs burrowed beneath the wire fence in the deer inclosure in McCulloch Park, Muncie, and made a combined attack on a young doe, which they killed before the park guardian, attracted by the yelps of the pack, could reach the scene. The other members of the herd were saved by the prompt arrival of the man.

Adam Zimmer, 72 years old, of Lawrenceburg, asks the Circuit Court to grant him a divorce from Catharine Lutz Zimmer, 66 years old. In his petition, he charges his wife with cruel and inhuman treatment and failure to perform her household duties. They were married May 4, 1907. They decided to separate on the day of their first marriage anniversary.

Deward Spencer, 15 years old, and Blanche Bubeck, aged 14, of Elkhart, disappeared recently and it is believed they eloped, though at first, the parents of the girl, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Bubeck, feared foul play as they recently received alleged "black hand" letters. It is thought now the letters were from the girl's companion at her suggestion to prepare the parents for her disappearance.

Death and the stork paid a visit on the same day to the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Smith, of West Lafayette. Before daybreak, their daughter Eva, aged 10 years, died at the Home Hospital of typhoid fever. The mother remained with the child until she died and then accompanied the body home. Funeral arrangements were made and in the evening Mrs. Smith gave birth to a daughter. The new-born baby is bright and vigorous and the mother is doing well.

A remarkable gift of prophecy seems to have been possessed by a Shelby County boy who died on December 27. This lad was Everett Griffey, the 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Griffey, east of Shelbyville. Frequently, since the child was 6 years old, he had told his parents and other relatives that he would live to be 10 years old, but that he would never reach his eleventh birthday. At the time of his death he was 10 years, 7 months and 26 days old.

Claud McClure, the clairvoyant, who swindled Terre Haute victims out of several thousand dollars, has been caught at Bridgeport, Conn. He caused his victims to bring to him money, which he was supposed to place in a packet over which he performed incantations, and the victim wore the packet near to the heart. When McClure had gone the victims found he had switched packets on them. One woman admits $300 and others similar amounts, but many victims known to have lost large amounts will not tell their stories.

"Black Frank," a powerful black horse that is driven to a city patrol wagon and that is quartered at No. 1 fire station in Muncie, has the rudiments of a primary education. He distinguishes between several numbers by pawing a certain number of times in reply to questions; knows and tells his own age by the same method and does many other things of the kind. His keeper was puzzled for a long time to understand how the animal managed to escape from his big box stall at the fire station. One day he saw "Frank" reach his head outside the bar and raise up an outside latch that fastened him in. With the bar released he then walked about the barn at his pleasure. Now it is necessary to protect the latch with a screen to prevent his escape. In addition to performing acts of extraordinary intelligence, "Black Frank" does most of the common tricks performed by trick horses.

Experts who examined the Wabash river country through Huntington County, say that there are more sycamore trees along that stream than in the vicinity of any river in the country.

Unmuzzled dogs in Bedford are being killed. This order was given the police following the report sent by the State Board of Health, which found that a dog killed there a few days ago was suffering from rabies. It had bitten about thirty dogs.

INDIANA LAWMAKERS.

Three-Mile Road Law Row.

Senator Abraham Halleck of Rensselaer believes he has a bill which will settle the whole dispute in the Legislature in regard to the three-mile road law. He has discussed his proposed amendment with some of the members of both houses, and they seem to be favorably impressed with it. The three-mile road law which is to be the basis for one of the most spirited fights of the session, provides that when fifty freeholders sign a petition for a road three miles or less in length the county commissioners shall order the road built, the expense to be assessed against the entire township. The law was enacted in 1907 for the purpose of promoting highway improvement. In some places though it has caused dissatisfaction. Road building has been carried on to excess, it is said, and taxpayers of townships who have not been directly benefited by the road building have objected to paying the expense. Senator Halleck's measure will provide for remonstrance against the building of short roads under the three-mile law. It will provide that when fifty freeholders petition for a road under the three-mile law, fifty other freeholders or more may present a remonstrance to the county commissioners. In this event the question of the building of the road shall be submitted to an election, in which all of the freeholders of the township would have a right to vote, with the provision, however, that if the remonstrators lose in the election they shall pay the costs. Senator Halleck believes this plan would serve as a satisfactory check on excessive road building under the present law.

Rule of the Farmer.

Thomas B. Barkley, chief doorkeeper of the House, hunted up a quiet corner, got out a pencil and a legislative directory, figured a while and then issued the following statement: "The State of Indiana is to be congratulated on the character of its Legislature this year. This is so because of the splendid manner in which the agricultural interests are represented. Indiana, you know is, after all, an agricultural State. There have been times when this fact was lost sight of, but it won't be this year. In the House there are twenty-three farmers and in the Senate five. Most of these, too, are real farmers, not gentlemen farmers. They are men who appreciate the needs of the country and are dead in earnest about wishing to fill the needs. Looking over the list members you cannot help being impressed with the fact that the farmers are not only numerous, but important. Some of the best committees have farmers for chairmen. The Agricultural Committee itself is one of the best I have ever known. Look at those names—Clore, Conbran, Hill, Maish, Madigan, Rodibaugh, Cowing, Meek and Maddox." Barkley is a farmer himself in warmer weather.

$150,000 for Governor's House.

In accord with the recommendations of Governor Hanly in his message to the Legislature, Senator Cox introduced a bill which would appropriate $150,000 to provide a Governor's house. The commission to provide such residence shall consist of the Secretary of State, State Treasurer, State Auditor and two private citizens appointed by them, the citizens to be residents of Indianapolis and well versed in the values of real estate in Indianapolis. The commission shall have power to buy for the State a Governor's house and shall be authorized to build additions thereto and make changes therein and to furnish the residence. In addition to this the appropriation shall be used for the maintenance of the residence until the adjournment of the General Assembly of 1911. The members of the commission shall serve without compensation, but they are empowered to employ architects and other agents as they shall deem necessary. The two citizens shall be appointed as members of the commission within ninety days after the act goes into effect.

Grube Inheritance Tax.

According to the provisions of the inheritance tax bill presented by Senator Grube of Plymouth distant relatives will have to pay a higher tax on bequests than those nearer the one making the bequest. "There is no reason why a distant relative should not have to pay more taxes," Senator Grube said, "because they oftentimes care little for persons making such bequest." The bill exempts from taxation all bequests to charitable, educational, religious or benevolent institutions and also all bequests of less than $10,000 to widows and all bequests of less than $2,000 to children and husbands.

Signed by the Governor.

House Bill No. 1, appropriating $115,000 to defray the expenses of the General Assembly, has become a law by the signature of Governor Marshall, the first act of the executive in transforming legislative enactments into laws. The bill was passed by both the Senate and the House under suspension of rules and hastened to the Governor in order to make the fund available.

FEBRUARY

0484

L 903

The St. Joe News.

One Year - - $1.00
Six Month - - 50c
Three Months - - 25c

FRED B LEIGHTY
PUBLISHER.

Entered at the Post Office in St. Joe as second-class mail matter.

Editorially.

Should actresses marry, asks a Paris paper. Well they might ask Lillian Russell or Nat Goodwin.

Suburbanites and other amatuer farmers and gardeners must not be beguiled by this January sunshine. The time for planting flowers and cabbages is not yet.

There is a traitress to her sex who is publishing how a woman's age may be told by her wrinkles, but it appears to us that we have read somewhere a recipe for obliterating wrinkles.

There is no reason why this great country with its great resources should fear war with Japan. Nevertheless war would not be feared by even the most timid were it not for our advanced outposts in the Pacific.

It is all very well for the Ruskins and Tolstois to decry modern improvements and to insist that science has added nothing to human happiness and civilization. Those men are great but very queer. Wireless telegraphy has just received a remarkable justification, but what good would those urgency messages have done flashing through the foggy air if it had not been for the compass on the ships and the the steam that turned the screws. All these are scientific improvements.

The President-elect is off for Panama accompanied by seven eminent engineers. They will be furnished every facility by the engineers on the spot familiar with the work. The head of the government for the next four years is not unfamiliar with the canal conditions, but fortified as he will be by this last up-to-date inspection the country will have the best assurance possible that the work will be under the guidance of a safe and instructed intelligence.

The papers are already full of slush about the wireless operator on the Republic and if there were judgment in hysterical acclaim he would be awarded a bushel of medals. It appears that he did his duty like scores of others on the ship; he flashed the wireless signals that had so much to do with the saving the lives of others, but especially of his own. In "The Tempest" the Duke reminded a common sailor of the importance of saving his distinguished and titled life. "Remember who you have on board". The sailor replied, "there is none on board that I think of more than myself".

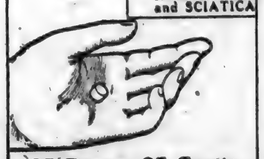
Headache

NEURALGIA
BACKACHE

Take ONE of the Little Tablets and the Pain is Gone

"I have used Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills for years and find that they are the one thing that will certainly give a sufferer the desired relief."
Mrs. J. P. Brissell, Tonopah, Nev.

AND THE PAINS OF RHEUMATISM and SCIATICA



25 Doses 25 Cents

Your Druggist sells Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills and he is authorized to return the price of the first package (only) if it fails to benefit you.

The experts are much troubled to determine whether or not benzoate of soda used a food preservative is poisonous. We shall not attempt to settle the dispute but take pleasure in informing our readers that all of them who eat canned foods are partaking of benzoate of soda, copperas sulphur and a number of other things that are not mentioned in the bill of fare.

The country editor, who serves his community from week to week with all his might and with all unselfishness, is generally looked on as deserving of consideration. It is not often that he asks for anything. He will whoop things up with enthusiasm for his town and county. He will work night and day without personal reward for the things that his people demand so long as those things are warranted, proper, and in line of progress. But seldom does he raise his voice to suggest legislation or enactment for his own benefit. The lawmakers have in hand at this session a bill which would tend to equalize and distribute legal advertising to the frequent advantage of the rural publisher. The proposed legislation has first in mind the betterment of publication itself. It is the primal purpose to give legal notices the best possible circulation in the neighborhood which is most concerned in the subject matter of the notice. In order to place the publication of notices nearest to the place where litigation originated, or nearest the location of property or persons involved, the bill would require publication to be made in the newspaper nearest the spot. If land is involved, the bill would print the notice in the paper published nearest the land. If a person is to be notified the bill would put the notice in the paper printed nearest the last known dwelling place of the man sought. If a road is to be built, or a bridge, or a street, the bill would put the notice required in the paper which had its place of publication nearest the site of street, road, bridge or other public work advertised. In the matter of township business the country editor would be advantaged frequently. Publication of notices having to do with persons and public works in his township, would go to his paper. If the township has no paper, the bill would send the notice to the nearest paper in the nearest township.

Soldier Balks Death Plot.

It seemed to J. A. Stone, a civil war veteran, of Kemp, Tex., that a plot existed between a desperate lung trouble and the grave to cause his death. "I contracted a stubborn cold," he writes, "that developed a cough that stuck to me, in spite of all remedies, for years. My weight ran down to 180 pounds. Then I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery, which restored my health completely. I now weigh 178 pounds." For severe Colds, obstinate Coughs, Hemorrhages, Asthma, and to prevent Pneumonia it's unrivaled. 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by H. Milliman.

Corn Show.

Since farmers are becoming educated to the value of improved corn cultivation more effort in being made to produce a higher quality with the assistance of state and national governments. While Northern Indiana and Southern Michigan are recognized as two of the greatest corn producing sections in the country it is only recently that farmers' institutes have taken up a vigorous campaign in the direction of getting farmers to give more care to the cultivation of this wealth producing crop.

Last year, to stimulate interest in better corn production. The South Bend Times offered prizes for the best exhibit of corn, headed with a Studebaker farm wagon. The success has prompted a second effort and the competition is thrown open to the corn growers of Northern Indiana and Southern Michigan. There is no entrance fee required, but to make the competition as fair as possible it is desired that entries be made this spring in order that a proper classification can be arranged.

Present plans are to offer three first prizes. The Studebaker company has already offered another farm wagon for the best exhibit of yellow corn (ten) ears, other valuable prizes will be offered for the best ten ears of mixed variety, and if sufficient entries can be secured another class will be made for the white variety.

The exhibition will be held in the new Studebaker repository building, and may continue several days, in which event it is possible a dairy and domestic science competition for ladies, with valuable prize offerings, will be held in connection.

Any information desired can be secured by writing The Times, South Bend, Ind.

Mrs. Pinkerton, of Hicksville, visited her son Arthur and family at this place Tuesday and Wednesday of last week.

Hints for the Farmer

A Few Pointed Paragraphs of Interest to Farmers Who Raise Stock.

Be sure that there are no loy places, as one slip or strain may cause the loss of both mare and colt.

A close, poorly ventilated stable may be very cold. It takes plenty of pure air to keep cattle warm.

The growing colt, especially the roadsters, should have a lot of exercise They should under no circumstances be kept in the stables.

When horses object to the currycomb it is a pretty sure sign that sometime they have been hurt by a careless or cruel caretaker. All animals, even the wildest, are readily won by kindness, and have no fear of man so long as their confidence in him is not betrayed.

Keep them in a thrifty, growing condition.

Be sure that the breeding sows are not getting too fat or too thin.

Keep charcoal, salt and sulphur in a clean box in every feeding pen.

Do the pigs squeal because they are hungry or cold? Find out; there is no profit in either condition.

Let the sows help themselves to these correctives, and they will do it every time they require them.

One of the surest signs of improved agriculture is a dry, clean hog pen. The up-to-date farmer has discovered that a pig wallows in mire only when he cannot help himself.

Sows may be kept from eating their pigs by giving them a great variety of food for two months or more before the pigs come along. It should include some animal food and plenty of salt.

Be sure that the pigs are not lousy. Kerosene oil rubbed on a hog's back is good for lice. But look out and not have it too strong, and do not rub too hard, or you may make a blister.

Don't be in a hurry to dispose of the old sow. If she is a good one to raise pigs, she will be profitable to keep until she is seven or eight years old.

The Secret of Long Life.

A French scientist has discovered one secret of long life. His method deals with the blood. But long ago millions of Americans have proved Electric Bitters prolongs life and makes it worth living. It purifies, enriches and vitalizes the blood, rebuilds wasted nerve cells, imparts life and tone to the entire system. Its a godsend to weak, sick and debilitated people. "Kidney trouble had blighted my life for months," writes W. M. Sherman, of Cushing, Me., "but Electric Bitters cured me entirely." Only 50c. at H Milliman's.

Local Items.

Geo. Milliman tinsels cards to order. Fine line on now.

Miss Deama Ridgway spent several days last week, with relatives at Auburn Junction.

Horse-shoeing and all kinds of work in this line done at Craig Sheffer's Shop.

Ora Bleeks and family of Defiance, Ohio, were the guests of the formers parents over Sunday.

Notice is hereby given that the Church of Christ will elect trustees, Thursday evening Feb. 11, 1909.

The W. H. and F. M. society of the Lutheran church will meet with Mrs. M. T. Bishop Saturday afternoon, February 6. Subject of lesson "The Social Evils of Islam." Come and join the study with us.

314 West Second St. AUBURN, IND

We make a specialty of funeral work and handle a full line of designs. Fine assortment of in and out of door bulbs.

C. M. TenEyck & Son,
Proprietors.
HOME and BELL TELEPHONES.

I Have Added

to my stock of Hardware a small stock of Furniture. Iron Beds, Husk and Cotton Felt Mattresses, Bed springs, Chairs Tables, Etc.

HARDWARE

My stock of Hardware is complete. I have the largest assortment of Reeds Flintstone ware ever seen in

ST. JOE

Look at the label, it it is Reeds Flintstone ware, it is warranted. Everybody is learning the quality of Keen Kutter tools. Pocket Knives, Razors, Chisels, Hatchets, Hammers Cross cut and Hand Saws, all kept in stock.

Goods are right, Prices are right.

D. J. Baker.

PHOTOGRAPHS.

We make them

AT THE

Tustison Studio.

Fine Portraits on Postals - - $1.00 per doz.

Call and get prices on
FAMILY GROUPES.

FREE SAMPLE OFFER----15 Days Only

Beautiful Bright Sparkling Famous
$5 BARNATTO DIAMOND RING
Ladies' or Gentlemen's.

Approximates genuine in brilliancy—detection baffles experts—fills every requirement of the most exacting—pleases the most fastidious—at only one-thirtieth the cost of the real diamond.

As a means of introducing this marvelous and wonderful, scintillating gem, securing as many new friends as quickly as possible, we are making a special inducement for the new year.

We want you to wear this beautiful Ring, this masterpiece of man's handicraft, this simulation that sparkles with all the beauty, and flashes with all the fire of

A Genuine Diamond of the first water. We want you to show it to your friends and take orders for us, as it sells itself—sells at sight—and makes for you, absolutely without effort on your part.

100 per cent PROFIT 100 per cent

We want good, honest representatives everywhere, in every locality, city or country, in fact, in every country throughout the world, both men and women, young or old, who will not sell or pawn the Barnatto Simulation Diamonds under the pretense that they are Genuine Gems, as such action with simulation diamonds sometimes leads to trouble or embarassment, as shown by the following article from The Chicago Examiner, Nov. 15, 1908:

The King of Diamonds Has License Taken Away.
Alleged Bogus Gem Man Rails at Newspapers.

BURLINGTON, IA., Nov. 14—For sometime past newspapers in Iowa cities have been reporting the operations of a man whom they called "The King of Diamonds." It appears that there was nothing criminal in his operations, which consisted in selling "phoney" diamonds, but his methods of procedure were not exactly according to the rules. He usually drops into a jobbing house and tells of meeting such and such a representative of the house on the road and selling him a diamond, to be delivered at the store. He explains that the diamond is only an imitation, and offers to sell anybody else around the place the same thing. Thus he works up an interest and usually succeeds in selling some of his glassware. Mr. Jack of Diamonds dropped into City Auditor Norton's office one morning and secured a license to sell his wares. He had only been out a short time, however, until Chief of Police Hiltz learned of him. Calling in the peddler, he relieved him of his license and gave him back the money he had paid for it. As the man had committed no crime he was released. He was bitter against the newspapers for injuring his business.

If you want to wear a simulation diamond, to the ordinary observer almost like unto a gem of the purest ray serene, a fitting substitute for the genuine; or if you want to make money, don't wait—ACT TODAY, as this advertisement may not appear, nor this unusual and extraordinary opportunity occur, again. Fill out the coupon below and send at once—first come, first served.

THE BARNATTO DIAMOND CO.,
GIRARD BUILDING, CHICAGO. Write here name of paper.

Sirs:—Send free, sample offer, ring, earrings, stud or scarf (stick) pin, catalogue,

NAME ..... R. F. D. R. No. ...
..... STREET, P. O. BOX .....
TOWN OR CITY ..... STATE .....

Pressing Down Pains

are a sign of serious female complaint, that should have immediate attention.

If you begin in time, you can generally treat yourself at home, without the need of consulting a physician, by the regular use of Cardui, the well-known remedy for women's ills.

Composed of purely vegetable and perfectly harmless medicinal ingredients, being, besides, a gentle, non-intoxicating, strengthening tonic,

WINE OF CARDUI

WOMAN'S RELIEF

relieves all female complaints. "My wife," writes John A. Rodgers, of Hampden Sidney, Va., "was nothing but a walking skeleton, from female trouble. She suffered agonies with bearing-down pains, backache and headache. Doctors failed to relieve her, so she took Cardui, and is now entirely cured."

At All Druggists

WRITE FOR FREE ADVICE, stating age and describing symptoms, to Ladies Advisory Dept., The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn. E 36

J. H. Lake M. D.

has permanently located in the O. H. Widney property on 4th street, opposite opera house and invites you to call on him.

Calls answered day or night.

BELL PHONE NO. 82.

St. Joe, - Indiana.

PATENTS

PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo, for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc., IN ALL COUNTRIES. Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent. Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively. Write or come to us at 625 Ninth Street, opp. United States Patent Office. WASHINGTON, D. C.

CA·SNOW & Co.

Making Errors.

A Massachusetts business firm prints this paragraph at the top of its letter heads: "Errors—we make them; so does every one. We will cheerfully correct them if you will write to us. Try to write good naturedly if you can, but write to us anyway. Do not complain to some one else first or let the matter pass. We want the first opportunity to make right any injustice that we may do." The little sermon deserves a wide audience. Few people have not had occasion at some time in their lives to regret the sending of a harsh or hasty note of complaint. It may be necessary to assert one's rights in subsequent letters, but there is no better rule of correspondence than to make the first one good natured.—Youth's Companion.

A Cure For Scald Head.

I have heard my grandmother say she had cured many a scald head by taking pure pine tar and enough lard to make an ointment when melted together so the tar won't stick, then keep the head as clean as possible and oil with the ointment. She said she had seen it cure heads when the matter had eaten seams in the neck.—Detroit Free Press.

Rossini's Criticism.

Very cruel, says an author, was Rossini's silent criticism of a score sent to him by a young musician. Rossini was fond of macaroni. The musician, knowing this, sent him along with his score a packet of macaroni of unusual excellence. In a humble little note he asked the composer to point out the merits of his work if he found any there. Rossini's reply ran like this: "Thanks for your score and the macaroni. The latter was excellent."

PATENTS

and TRADE-MARKS promptly obtained in all countries, or no fee. We obtain PATENTS THAT PAY, advertise them thoroughly, at our expense, and help you to success.

Send model, photo or sketch for FREE report on patentability. 30 years' practice. HIGH-EST REFERENCES. For free Guide Book on Profitable Patents write to

503-505 Seventh Street, WASHINGTON, D. C.

D·SWIFT & Co.

WHEN DEATH COMES

Friends and loved ones desire that the last services be conducted in the best way possible. The embalming and funeral need careful attention. Miss Kinsey, a licensed embalmer, takes charge of all funerals. Satisfaction guaranteed. Calls answered day or night

H. V. Kinsey & Son,

Phone No. Office 37-2. Residence 37-

FEBRUARY

0485

L 903

SPENCERVILLE NEWS.

A Department of the ST. JOE NEWS for the Spencerville People.

Undertaking and Embalming.

Two Funeral Cars. One in White and the other in Black. We also furnish one elegant cab for Pall Bearers or friends. Prices reasonable

Beams & Baker.

The Simplest, Strongest and Most Convincing of

Cream Separator Arguments

We cannot believe that there is a sensible man living who would put his own money into the purchase of any other than a DeLAVAL cream separator, for his own use, if he would but first avail of the opportunity open to everyone to see and try an improved DeLAVAL machine before buying any other.

It is hardly possible to say any more than this. It is hardly possible to put simple truth in plainer words. It would hardly seem possible to say it more convincingly.

The trial of a DeLAVAL machine is free to every responsible man thinking of buying a cream separator. We are agents in this locality for that purpose.

Carnes & Co.

Selling Agents.

Spencerville, - - - - - Indiana.

Local Briefs

Little Vaugn Allen is sick with lung pneumonia.

Flossie Wilson and baby are now with her parents, she will remain with them for sometime.

S. S. Kimes

—M. D.—

Having located in the Markle building, is now ready to answer all calls, day or night. He invites you to call at the office and is ready to extend you every courtesy in keeping with the profession.

Phone No. 10,

Spencerville, Ind.

W. W. Fisher and wife were at Ft. Wayne, Saturday.

Mrs. Samuel Steward has been seriously ill the past week.

Maude Kline spent Sunday with her father, Addison Kline at this place.

Chas. Gibbons, who has been living near Auburn, moves on the Keesler farm in Jackson township.

Mrs. Lillie Strong was the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Steward, last week from Wednesday until Saturday.

A crowd of young people from the Lutheran Sunday School spent Tuesday evening with Opal Miller on the County Line.

The Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary society of the Lutheran church met at the home of Mrs. Henry Beams Wednesday afternoon.

Revival meetings are in progress at the M. E. church. Rev. Sweeney extends an invitation to everybody to attend the meetings. They will no doubt continue for two or three weeks.

The men will be busy putting up ice, this week.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills relieve Headaches, Neuralgia and all Pain.

Rev. Barten of Ridgville, was the guest of D. D. Metcalf and family last week.

Bert Fisher was unable to attend to his work, last week, on account of rheumatism.

J. H. Carnes is at Butler selling the DeLaval Cream separators. He is having fine success.

The girl's club met twice last week. They will meet on Saturday afternoon with Miss Ethel Metcalf.

The lecture Tuesday evening given by C. C. Cissel at the M. E. church, was largely attended and was well appreciated.

Mrs. Mariah Oberholtzer and Mrs. John Hobaugh were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ves Zimmerman, Friday.

It is thought that Addison Kline will put up a new cement building on the lot he now occupies. The truth of this assertion cannot be guaranteed.

Clyde Rectenwal purchased a lot of Jack Beams, last week. He expects to build a house. They will occupy the Hollabaugh property until his house is completed.

I have only 4 more half acre lots left to sell, if you expect to build, now is your chance. Best location in town. Prices right. Located on Main St. in Spencerville. J. Beams.

Bowser and Gloyd will erect a fine large building in the spring. They have not as yet located a suitable site to build on as the vacant lots now in sight are too small for the buildings needed in such business. This firm has a bunch of hustlers in it and they expect to handle any and everything in the farming mechanical line of goods.

The prospects for a bank in Spencerville is showing up quite favorable. J. A. Provines is willing to erect a new cement building beside the drug store if the capital can be raised for such a business in goes the bank. This proposition is one that is of importance to every citizen and why should it not be met with a co-operative spirit from all the people.

Henry Beams purchased a fine black team at Ft. Wayne, last week. They match right up and makes a good appearance.

At the regular meeting of the K. of P's., Monday evening, it was decided that the new hall proposition would be accepted and as soon as possible the work will be commenced.

The Ladies Guild elected officers last week at their meeting: Treasurer, Mrs. Provines; President, Ethel Baker; Vice Pres., Princess Rectenwal; Secretary, Audry Wade; Treasurer of membership fund, Mrs. S. Markle; Chorister, Jennie Steward.

Just twenty-one years ago today L. W. Steward became owner of the old saw mill at this place. And on Monday of this week he became the proprietor of the lumber yards also. He expects to keep a full line of hard and soft wood lumber, and all kinds of building material.

Our town will take a big boom considering its size. In the spring three business houses will be put up besides several dwelling houses, which will add to the appearance of our town. It has been some time since any improvements have been made and it seems rather mean that the quietude of our village will be disturbed by the sound of the carpenters hammer.

Messrs. G. N. Shutt, H. G. Hursh, F. L. Beams, Raymond Rhoades and Lee Hollopeter will take the examination at Auburn on next Saturday for rural carriers on Spencerville, Routes No. 2 and 3. The object of the examination is to obtain elligible men to fill vacancies in case a new route should be established or a carrier should resign.

Try

Bowman's

K-N-O-X-A

Cold Tablets.

No Cure No Pay.

Gus Hefner Buys Room.

Gust Hefner of Butler, has purchased the Maurer building known as the Red Front. The building is now occupied by Bowser and Gloyd, dealers in agriculture implements, vehicles, etc. They have the building rented until September 1 and will give possession at that time. It is reported that he will put in a restaurant, pool and billiard room. But the latter does not meet with the approval of our people.

County Option Bill Has Friends Here.

The County Local Option Law has many friends in our village and township. The movement which the liquor traffic has made to repeal the law and the rapidly growing popularity of the law as shown in its past election has caused the subject of county option to become a lively topic. Taking into consideration what this degrading traffic has done and is doing to disqualify man for public and domestic duties and its tendancies to multiply crimes, thiefts, crowded court rooms, empty pocketbooks and fatherless homes. It is no wonder that the American people are giving this illegal business no quarter or sympathy. The question, "Will it die"? has been answered sometime ago, so there remains only one question not answered "How soon"?

Blanket Sale.

He is Interested

He wants a good Horse Blankets, and he will ask for a famous 5A, because he well knows that the 5A Blankets lead all others in strength and long wear.

We Sell Them

We want to clean out our stock of Sadlery goods and will give you a chance to buy and buy right. All Blankets

Whips

Fur Robes

Storm Fronts

1-4 off

Sale Lasts This Week Only

Well Lined Fur Robes Go at $6.50

Come In Before They Are All Gone

BOWSER & GLOYD

Our Total Resources

on January 2 1909 were

$83,062.93

Our total resources one year ago or on January 2 1908 were

$60,238.98

A gain in one year of

$22,823.95

The above figures speak for themselves. There's a reason for our steady growth. Come and investigate and you will grow with us. We pay 4% interest on Time Deposits.

Grabill State Bank,

Grabill Indiana.

There are more McCall Patterns sold in the United States than of any other make of pattern. This is on account of their style, accuracy and simplicity.

McCall's Magazine (The Queen of Fashion) has more subscribers than any other Ladies' Magazine. One year's subscription (12 numbers) costs 50 cents. Latest number, 5 cents. Every subscriber gets a McCall Pattern Free. Subscribe today.

Lady Agents Wanted. Handsome premiums and liberal cash commission. Pattern Catalogue (16 pages) and Premium Catalogue (showing 400 premiums) sent free. Address THE McCALL CO., New York.

We are Giving

you an opportunity to purchase good dependable winter goods at our store at very low prices. Bargains everywhere. Come in and see what we have.

Beams & Co.

Fancy dishes at a great reduction in price

Don't forget this means a great saving for you

Sale Lasts until

Saturday, February 13, 09

Don't gorget the 2½ % discount on cash register tickets. All accounts must be settled not later than the thirteenth of February.

The Wonder of the World.

The Greatest Invention that was Ever made by Mankind that would Benefit the Public in General at a very SMALL COST.

THE KING BALL BEARING SEPARATOR

a Perfect Machine that will Seperate Butter from Sweet Milk or Cream.

Guaranteed by the company to separate better butter from sweet milk or cream than any churn will make from sour cream. Ball bearings throughout noiseless and faultless, and easy to operate. The only perfect aerator and butter separator in the world. Quickest and easiest butter maker on earth. An entirely new and scientific principle in butter making, granulated butter, perfect grain, casein all removed, keeping quality retained. Makes granulated butter from milk or cream, sweet or sour. Less than THREE MINUTES time required to complete the operation.

These machines are now on exhibition and for sale at

Bowser & Gloyd's Implement Store,

SPENCERVILLE, INDIANA.

As Mr. Bowser has secured the agency for these machines in this part of the state, and has his other business to attend to he will not make a canvas on these machines at present as the company is thousands of orders behind. The machines cannot be got very rapidly. These machines can be bought here at our store at almost the actual cost of manufacturing them for about ninety days in order to introduce them in this part of the state of Indiana. These machines are made in three sizes No. 1—2—3 or 3—5—8 gallon sizes. Ball Bearing, all castings are malleable iron instead of cast. These machines can be bought at the low price of $6, $8 and $10 while they are being introduced.

Notice to Poultry Raisers.

All persons raising poultry are notified to keep such at home, if not, they will be looked after by law.

J. M. Dermott and Son.

Among the other transactions which has been made during the past few days, we learn that John Benninghoff has purchased the Baltzer Koontz property and will erect a feed store soon. Who will be next.

Granite Sale.

Commencing Friday, Feb. 5th., and continuing one week only. We are going to offer our big line of Granite Ware at half price.

10c. values at	5c.
20c. values at	10c.
30c. values at	15c.
40c. values at	20c.
50c. values at	25c.
60c. values at	30c.
70c. values at	35c.

Also we will offer during the above sale anything in our dish wear at 20 per cent discount. Do not fail to get some of this wear as you will not be able again to get it at prices offered.

JACK BEAMS

HARDWARE

Spencerville, Indiana.

FEBRUARY

0486

L 903

THE POPULAR PULPIT

FINEST SIGHT ON EARTH.

By Rev. Charles F. Aked.

And Benaiah, the son of Jehoida, the son of a valiant man of Kabzeel, who had done mighty deeds * * * went down and slew a lion in the midst of a pit in time of snow.—II. Samuel 23:20.

He was a valiant man, and the son of a valiant man and the grandson of a man who had done mighty deeds. The valiant man loves such a fight. This is the attraction of the most violent forms of athletics. It is the element of conflict which constitutes so much of the attractiveness of mountaineering. I never saw a mountain in my life which I did not want to scale, and I understand perfectly how it was that after some laments on the limited opportunities for climbing in England, a sporting paper announced that there were three or four places in the lake country where a man could comfortably break his neck. I was not in the least surprised to be told that the hotels in those places made a fortune within the next twelve months.

It is the finest sight on earth—the very finest sight on earth—a good fight. Only, mind you, it must be a good fight! Fight the fight of faith; there is nothing like it. They wrong man greatly who say that he is to be seduced by ease. Difficulty, abnegation, martyrdom, death, are the allurements that act on the heart of man. Some of us find the very first conflict of all hard enough—the fight with self. There is a passion which grips you, my brother, with what seems a grip stronger than death and hell, the pride of life, the desire of the eyes, the craving of the flesh—you know its intensity. But I bid you fight! You are a valiant man and the son of a valiant man and you are too good a man to go down to destruction before a giant vice. There is that in you which is worth too much to man and God for failure now. I believe in you and good men will believe in you and God believes in you; you shall slay your lion, too!

New York is not an easy place for a man who has lions to kill. Its temptations are many. Its cosmopolitanism creates a certain atmosphere—an atmosphere always nonreligious, often positively irreligious. It loves pleasure only too well. And countless hosts within this city are drunk with a hideous lust for gold. We are set here in this city for a purpose. We have to witness the power of the spirit of God over human hearts, over evil passions, over sinister temptations, over the inducements and seductions of material things, over all the facts and forces of sin. We have to keep a clear light shining in any dark place; we have to keep the flag of righteousness and purity flying here; we have to maintain the vision of the ideal before us. It may be an awkward place and a bad day for the idealist, for the visionary, for the puritan. But the place of valor is the place where you live and work. "Now" is the accepted time, the heroic time, the chivalric time; and I will trust you to slay a lion in a pit on a snowy day.

"Arrest your knaves and dastards" goes forth the old command. And to the question "How?" our modern prophet has his answer ready:

"Make yourself an honest man; then there will be one rascal less in the world."

ON MAKING OUR OWN CLIMATE.

By Henry F. Cope.

"Light is sown for the righteous and gladness for the upright in heart."—Psalm xcvii., 11.

We talk about the "sunny south" and "sunny Spain;" are not all lands sunny? Does not the Eskimo have his sunshine and enjoy it? Do not the shores of Newfoundland have their clear days? Are there not sunny lives in the north and shadowy ones in the south? The truth is we are seeking for joys in circumstances that are found only in character.

We talk of happy and favored lots; are not all lots happy and all lives rich in favors? Those burdened ones, those who wage steadily the bitter fight with poverty, do they not talk of happy hours and have moments when the cup of joy is brimming full? No life, at all normal or natural, is so constituted or circumstanced that happiness is impossible to it.

Are there then no differences? Are all men equally happy and blest? The differences are not where we are accustomed to look for them. This man is favored, not because he has a larger house than is yours, but because he opens his heart to happiness. This man is happy with the tiny but because he finds his joy not in things but in high thoughts.

The heart makes its own climate. The sun shines everywhere; some natures hide from it and some find its fleeting gleams on cloudy days rich with promise and refreshing. You can wake up gloomy and carry a November's fog through a June day, if you will; or you may will genial warmth and cheer into January's dreary hours.

We all know people who seem to be always cheerful, who fairly warm up our dull lives with the glow of their own. They have found the heart's clime where the days are always bright. They are making a climate of their own. And the secret of their cheer is that they seek out the hidden source of joy and strength.

The outer life depends on this inner living. The surface of a life only reveals its sources. The deeper you strike in your hold on the great things of living the higher you may grow. Joy and strength are the fruitage borne where the life's roots go deep into great passions, and ideals.

Do we not often think of these cheery lives as possessed of some peculiar superficial geniality, as if they had somehow managed to avoid the seriousness of life, to ignore the import of its cares and fears? We speak of them perhaps as light hearted. But the truth may be the opposite of this; their lives are calm and cheerful because they strike deep, they go below the surface to secret sources.

The riches of life depend on its resources. What you have for public living depends on what you lay up for yourself in private. The atmosphere and climate of your personality is determined, not by the latitude of your residence but by your habits in seeking out strength and cheer, in reaching out after high and noble thoughts.

No matter how busy the life may be there are hours when one is, as it were, turned in upon himself. To what do we look then, upon what do we dwell? Where do we spend such spirit vacations? The climate of every hour is here given us; all the way will be light if here we ask the light; no sunny skies can chase away our gloom if here we seek the darkness.

This is the value of reading the Bible, it brings you into the presence and atmosphere of great personalities, their thinking leads you to visions of the light that lies unchanging beyond our clouds and our alternating day and night. The value is the same as in all communion with great souls; new and high perennial springs of life are discovered.

In every direction great lives are open to us. In every age and in all lands there have been those who found the essential verities that remain unchanged through all our seasons and vicissitudes. Their way to light and truth is open to us; the way is barred only to the selfish and the insincere.

Truly this is a simply message, that the heart makes its own climate; but what a difference it would make if we would but cherish in our hearts all the light and truth and cheer we may, if we would share this inner summer tide, if we would gain the unchanging sunshine even through our uniting experiences.

SERMONETTES.

Faith makes a fold; bigotry a fence

The double minded are but half-witted.

Peace is the power gained through pain.

No pleasure comes from playing with life.

No good is any good unless it is soon outgrown.

You can usually tell a man's size by what he sees.

The surest, safest way of being damned is to do nothing.

Your imaginary wrongs cannot cover your real wrongdoing.

An ideal too heavy becomes a drag instead of an inspiration.

The man who does not have an uphill fight is going down hill.

The man who lies down on you never has any standing at all.

Living men cannot long be satisfied with dead men's prayers.

Being good is not much good unless your goodness makes good.

The trouble with many uplifters is that they are only onlookers.

Nothing will help you into heaven like helping others out of their hells.

Faith is something a good deal brighter and mightier than fear of the future.

The pessimist usually thinks he is a literary character because he weeps ink.

There are many things we cannot afford to get for less than their full price.

There never can be sufficient public virtues in a life to balance private vices.

You do not secure a clean bill for yourself by indicting the rest of humanity.

The worst failures are those successes that have come at the cost of the soul.

It's no use talking about having faith in God unless you keep faith with men.

DON'TS FOR CHURCHMEN.

Don't forget that rusting is not resting.

Don't expect to pick up sand by licking the dust.

Don't practice selfishness if you would be serene.

Don't shrink from work if you would cure worry.

If you would not fear for yourself do not hesitate to cheer others.

Don't practice self-satisfaction if you would avoid the saddest morality.

Don't try to cure a donkey by degree by calling him a "doctor."

Don't forget that deeds of golden hearts are better than dreams of golden harps.

Don't make the mistake of trying to do the most work by making the most noise.

Aunt Diana

The Sunshine of the Family

CHAPTER XXIV.—(Continued.)

It was pleasant to Alison to see her brother's quiet, respectful manners, so full of reverence for that wise and dignified old age, and the evident gratification with which Mr. Moore listened to him. She might almost have believed herself forgotten, but that every now and then the thin hand passed lightly over her hair with a caressing touch which told how he loved to feel Sunny near him again. Greville kept a little aloof from them, but not a movement escaped his notice. Once Alison glanced in his direction and met a grave, touched look in his eyes, as though something moved him.

Miss Carrington presently came in to see after her charge, for such she evidently considered the old man, and dispersed the little group. Mr. Moore must have his noonday rest, and then he would be well enough to play to them in the evening, but he had talked to them sufficiently for the present.

The rest of the morning was spent in tennis, and in the afternoon Miss Carrington joined them, and Greville and Roger rowed them to the Long Island, that Alison might revisit her old haunts, and the evening was spent at Fernleigh.

This was Greville's only idle morning; for the future he adhered steadily to his determination to work until luncheon, and as Alison resumed her old habits of painting under Aunt Diana's supervision, or playing to Mr. Moore or reading to him, Roger found himself left to his own devices.

He took Miss Carrington's advice and lived in the open air, either lying on the lawn with a book or paddling himself lazily in a canoe, till his face was brown and ruddy with health, and he grew as light hearted as a boy.

In the afternoons and evenings the three young people were always together. Tennis and boating or drives in Greville's dog cart filled up the afternoon. When Mr. Moore was pretty well the evenings were always spent in his room; sometimes he played on his violin while Alison accompanied him, or one of the young men read aloud while the ladies worked.

The old man always retired early, and then sometimes Greville would tempt them to a moonlight row or stroll, or if Miss Carrington refused this for herself and Alison, Roger and he would pace the garden in animated conversation.

The young men had become great friends. Greville, who was a few months older than Roger, always acted as though he were younger. Roger was full of quaint drollery, and loved fun in his own way, but Greville's spirits were liable to carry him laway; he had plenty of character, but Roger's grave solidity and greater thoughtfulness were uncommon at his age; nevertheless Greville's gayety and natural exuberance covered a depth of feeling that would have astonished people. "A man is a man for a' that," he would have said if any one had accused him of too much love of play; that he played well in his youth was no argument against his working well by and by. "Young growing things must stretch themselves," Miss Carrington used to say in loving extenuation of her favorite.

When a good woman thinks well of a man there can not be much amiss with him. Miss Carrington always said Greville was a fine creature, and she had tolerably shrewd judgment of her own.

Aunt Diana had resolved that Roger and Alison should have as much play as possible, so she not only revived her Wednesdays, but she gave a boating party and a large picnic. Roger was a great favorite with the ladies, old and young, though he could not compare in good looks with Greville, but his honest face and courteous manners—the manners bred of a perfectly kind heart—won golden opinions, but Miss Carrington, who had reasons of her own for watching him, could not fail to notice that though he was pleasant to all the young ladies, he did not single out one as an object for any special attention, while on the contrary, Greville was always beside Alison.

She drew her own conclusions, but made no remark. She always said: "It was like brushing the golden dust off a butterfly's wing to speak of such things to young people before their time." But her heart was very full sometimes when she looked at Alison. "I will not speak to her; when the time comes, she will seek me of her own accord," she thought; "there are some things I can not teach her, that every woman must learn for herself."

That time came sooner than she expected.

One evening she was sitting alone in the studio, writing a letter to her brother-in-law, when she caught a glimpse of Alison's white gown flashing between the shrubs, and in another moment the girl came swiftly through the conservatory, and stood beside her.

"Aunt Di, I want to speak to you."

"One moment, Allie; I have just finished my letter to your father. Have you any message for him?"

"Yes—no—oh! I can not think of one just now," she said, in such a trembling voice that Miss Carrington looked up quickly, and what she saw in Alison's face made her drop her pen.

"Come and sit here, darling, and tell me all about it," and as Alison hid her burning face, drawing down Aunt Diana's hands, as though they would shield her effectually, she continued, tenderly, "Don't be shy over it, Allie. Of course I know what it is; Greville has been speaking to you?"

"Yes, Aunt Di."

"Well, I will scold him presently for not speaking to me first." But there was no anger in Aunt Diana's eyes. "I dare say his grandfather encouraged him; he is so set upon this. Well, Allie, and what did our boy say to you?"

"Oh, Aunt Di, don't ask me," returned Alison, desperately, "he thinks too highly of me. I am not as good as that; I don't deserve it all."

"We must allow for a little exaggeration under the circumstances,' returned Miss Carrington, smiling, and managing to free her hands, and so get a glimpse of the hidden happy face.

"But, Aunt Di," almost whispering, "are we not too young? Greville will have to be at Oxford another year, and —and——"

"Too young to marry just yet, Allie, but I think, under Greville's peculiar circumstances—his grandfather's great age and precarious health, and his loneliness, having no parents or brothers and sisters belonging to him—that an engagement might be allowed. It will make him happier, and give him heart for his work. In general, Allie, I do not approve of long engagements for young people, they are so unsettling; but you know Greville's circumstances as well as I do. He is his grandfather's heir; in two years he might well marry."

"Then you approve?" raising her eyes at last to her aunt's face.

"Don't you know Greville is my own boy? He is even dearer to me than you; you must not be sorry to hear that. One day I will tell a sad little story about myself, how a girl's self-will and temper lost her the noblest lover a woman could have."

"I guess who it was; I always knew," murmured Alison.

"Greville is dear to me for his father's sake," returned Miss Carrington, almost solemnly. "No more of this just now, Allie. If you love me, dear child, you little know how happy it makes me to know my two darlings are to be united."

"Really and truly happy, Aunt Di?"

"Yes, surely, dearest; and this has been the wish of Mr. Moore's heart. Ah, here comes Greville; he looks almost as shy over it as you do, Allie."

But, shy or not, there was no mistaking the expression of proud happiness on the young man's face. A look passed between him and Miss Carrington, and then she held out her hand.

"Well, Greville, have you come to be scolded?" she asked, playfully.

"Yes, but you would not have the heart to do it," was his reply. "Cara," with a pause on the old name, "how could I help it?" And his glance was sufficiently eloquent.

"Well, Greville. I think you are worthy even of her." And now something like the glimmer of unshed tears softened the keen gray eyes. "God bless you, my boy! you have fulfilled the great wish of my heart."

There was a little more talk after this, and then Greville said, "Alison, I think we ought to go to my grandfather; this will make his very happy." And then Alison obediently rose.

There was a touching scene with the old man. "When the messenger comes, my boy will not be left desolate, he will have Sunny to comfort him," he said. And again his hands were placed on her bright hair to invoke a blessing.

Roger's turn came next. He had been out all day on a fishing excursion, and on his return Greville had waylaid him, and told him the news. Alison, who was sitting at her window, trying to compose her fluttered spirits, saw them coming up the garden walk together, and a few minutes afterward there was a hasty step at her door, and Roger burst into her room.

She knew how glad he was by the way he took her in his arms and kissed her, even before he had uttered a word.

But it came at last.

"Allie, I never was so pleased in my life. Of course I knew it was coming. He is a fine fellow; you are giving me just the sort of brother I wanted, and I am greatly obliged to you."

"He told you then?" a little bashfully.

"Yes, he had been waiting ever so long by the river bank. It is my belief that, like King Midas, he had been whispering his secret to the rushes. I wish you could have heard what he said about you. He has thoroughly convinced me that he fully appreciates you."

"I am so glad you will be friends," returned Alison, simply, quite ignoring the latter part of Roger's speech; in her modest opinion of herself, she never ceased wondering at Greville's lover-like speeches; it was dear and kind of him to say such things, she thought, but she did not deserve them.

She said as much to him one day, when their engagement was but a week old, but he turned decidedly willful.

"I shall think of you just as I like," he said, quietly, "and I know I shall never alter my opinions. I don't care what your faults are; you are perfect in my eyes, just because you are Alison." And after this she gave up the point.

But on the evening before she left Moss-side she and Aunt Diana had one of their long talks. Greville had just left them, grumbling, in spite of an invitation to breakfast the next morning, and though he knew that he was expected at The Holms in six weeks' time, to make acquaintance with Alison's home, and to introduce himself to Mr. Merle. But Miss Carrington paid no attention to his boyish discontent; this hour belonged to her, she said, in a decided manner; Greville might talk to Roger, but she wanted Allie to herself.

So while the two young men paced up and down by the river, Alison and Miss Carrington sat in the dim studio, looking out into the moonlight. There was so much that they had to say to each other on this last night.

"You do not think me too hard-hearted to insist on a two years' engagement, Allie?" Miss Carrington said presently. "Mr. Moore has begged me over and over again to reconsider my decision, but, indeed, I think Greville is too young for such a responsibility. In two years he will be five-and-twenty."

"I would not have it otherwise, Aunt Di," returned Alison, quietly. "In two years' time, papa will be well and strong—at least, Dr. Greenwood tells us so—and Missie will be older; I can be spared then, and can leave home far more happily."

"Is Greville content with this?"

"I have talked to him, and made him see that we are both right. Of course we shall both feel the separation a little hard, but now I have promised to spend at least two months next summer at Moss-side, and he is to pay flying visits to The Holms, I think we ought to be content, and then there are the letters—letters are such a pleasure."

"And in two years Alison Merle is to be Alison Moore."

"I hope so, Aunt Di."

"Darling! that day will be a happy one for me. I love you both so much, and then I shall have you near me. Think of Fernleigh being your home."

"A beautiful home," she returned.

"Roger will miss you the most, dear."

"I hope not by that time, Aunt Di. Perhaps I ought not to speak of it; he has never given me the right to do so, but I think—I hope—Anna—may be able to comfort him for my absence."

"What makes you think so, dear?" she asked, very quietly; and yet the same thought had occurred to her.

"It is Roger's manner; it has changed so much of late. Once he used to be as friendly with Anna, but now he never mentions her name if he can help it, but when any one talks of her I can see the way he listens, and the look that comes into his eyes; he is always so pleased when I tell him she is coming to The Holms, and he is so nice with her, speaking so gently to her, and anticipating all her wishes; you could not doubt what it meant if you saw them together. And she is just as sweet to him as one could wish—very shy, but so simple and childlike."

"She is a dear little thing, and I dare say she has improved."

"Yes, indeed, even Missie owns she is almost pretty sometimes; not that that matters, when she always looks so sweet and good. Oh, Aunt Di, I have grown to love her so."

"Roger is a wise man," observed Miss Carrington, thoughtfully; "if he chooses Anna for his wife he will find her certainly 'above rubies.' There is the law of kindness in her lips; I never knew any one so perfectly gentle."

"Missie is actually growing fond of her; they will be nice companions for each other when I leave home. Oh, Aunt Di, how beautifully everything has turned out. Papa is better, and Missie is growing more amiable every day; Rudel is not so rough, and Poppie is the dearest little soul, and Miss Leigh is so much more cheerful."

"Heaven has accepted our sacrifice, Allie," returned Aunt Diana, solemnly; "a blessing has come down on your efforts in a way we never expected."

"'Give and it shall be given to you again,' is the law of love."

"Darling, I never loved you so much as when I sent you from me to do your duty."

(The End.)

A POT OF PAINT.

The Master of the House Gets the Decorating Fever.

"Tip the cat out of that rocker and make yourself comfortable," said Mrs. Weeden, hospitably. "You look kind of used up. Spring cleaning?"

Mrs. Lipscombe leaned far back and settled the dispossessed cat in her lap.

"So the family say," she assented, "though I think myself it's nothing in the world but Joe's latest performance. Joe generally gets the painting fever when we women get the scrubbing fever; but seems as if this season he took it extra hard. He bought a pot of paint Saturday, and started in. First he did the window-boxes and the india-rubber tree tub; that was all right. Then he did the clothes poles. I wasn't particularly grateful when they weren't half-dry for Monday wash; still, they're an improvement. Then he did the two garden seats, and got so interested he forgot, and sat down on the one he'd just done while he finished up the other. Well, those trousers were pretty far gone, and I never did like a check, anyway. If he'd stopped there—but he didn't. There was some paint left, and he was bound to use it up.

"The girls planned long ago to have a party and some music as soon as the cleaning was done, and the parlor spandy clean and fresh. 'Twas set for to-night; and this noon Linda went in to fix up. Well, she gave a kind of wild screech, followed by sounds like whooping-cough, and Bessy and I came flying to see what was wrong. Bessy gave one look, and off she went whooping and gurgling and giggling worse than Linda; and the pair of them kept me so busy scolding and coaxing and slapping backs and ordering. 'Now, girls, stop!' that I didn't really take in what it was all about till just as they were beginning to quiet down. Then my eyes lit on the mantelpiece again, and, if you'll believe it, off I went, worse than either of them!

"You know those two plaster busts on the two sides of the mantel-shelf—Mozart and Beethoven, three-quarter life-size? Well, Joseph had painted those. There they perched confronting us—off again, all three of us together, gurgling and whooping and choking and weeping like idiots—Mozart smiling jauntily and Beethoven scowling like a thunder-cloud, and both of them bright green!

"Emily! No!" burst out Mrs. Weeden.

"Louisa! Yes!" rejoined Mrs. Lipscombe. "He means to bronze them later; but when he bronzed a Milton once, the white kept showing through in thin places, so he thought this time he'd put a dark coat under. Green is all right, he says, because bronze is always streaky with green when it's real, so if green should show through the bronzing it would only be more natural. But they've got to dry before they can be bronzed; and meanwhile they can't be touched or lifted; and the party's to-night! Well, as Linda says, our decorations are unique, and the only thing to do is to take it as a joke. But I was pretty tired this morning, and I suppose I really did laugh myself into hysterics. It sounds silly, but if you'd come suddenly on two pea-green immortals——"

"I never had hysterics in my life," announced Mrs. Weeden, firmly, "and I'm going to walk back with you when you go and take a peek myself."—Youth's Companion.

Modern Heroism.

The Victim—Help Help! I'm drowning!

Would-Be Hero—Courage, my brave man! Just wait until I get a rope, a measuring rod, a Carnegie application blank, two witnesses and a notary public.—Bohemian Magazine.

PE-RU-NA TONIC FOR COUGHS, COLDS, CATARRH.

JOSEPH HALL CHASE.

Peruna Drug Co., Columbus, Ohio.

Gentlemen: I have used Peruna and find that it cannot be equaled as a tonic, as well as a cure for coughs, colds and catarrh.

You are authorized to use my photo with testimonial in any publication.

Joseph H. Chase,
804 Tenth St., Washington, D. C.

Cold and La Grippe.

Mr. C. Happy, Hardin, Ray Co., Mo., writes: "I can safely recommend Peruna as a remedy that will cure all catarrhal troubles.

"It was of great benefit to me, as it cured me of catarrh of the throat, and I took a very bad cold and had la grippe last February. It settled in my throat and lungs. I took three bottles of Peruna and it cured me.

"I highly recommend it to all who are sick, and I am glad to add my endorsement to that of others."

Pe-ru-na for Colds.

Mr. L. Clifford Figg, Jr., 2929 East Marshall St., Richmond, Va., writes that when he gets a cold he takes Peruna, and it soon drives it out of his system. For several years he was not entirely well, but Peruna completely cured him.

People who object to liquid medicines can now secure Peruna tablets.

For a free illustrated booklet entitled "The Truth About Peruna," address The Peruna Co., Columbus, Ohio. Mailed postpaid.

A Safe and Sure Cough Cure.

Kemp's Balsam

Does not contain Opium, Morphine, or any other narcotic or habit-forming drug.

Nothing of a poisonous or harmful character enters into its composition.

This clean and pure cough cure cures coughs that cannot be cured by any other medicine.

It has saved thousands from consumption.

It has saved thousands of lives.

A 25c. bottle contains 40 doses.

At all druggists', 25c., 50c. and $1.

Don't accept anything else.

Billion $ Grass

The greatest grass of the century.

Same grows everywhere and yields from 12 to 15 tons of hay, and lots of pasture besides per acre.

Clovers

Largest growers of Clovers, Alfalfa, Timothy & Grass Seed in America.

Salzer's Catalog

It's the most original seed book published, and is gladly mailed to intending purchasers free; or send 10c and get lots of rare farm seeds, including Billion $ Grass, worth a little farm to get a start with.

John A. Salzer Seed Co. LACROSSE, WISCONSIN

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, TORPID LIVER. They regulate the Bowels. Purely Vegetable.

SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Genuine Must Bear Fac-Simile Signature

Brent Good

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.

Murder!

One gets it by highway men—Tens of thousands by Bad Bowels—No difference. Constipation and dead liver make the whole system sick—Everybody knows it—CASCARETS regulate—cure Bowel and Liver troubles by simply doing nature's work until you get well—Millions use CASCARETS, Life Saver!

CASCARETS 10c a box for a week's treatment, all druggists. Biggest seller in the world. Million boxes a month.

FOR SALE—Michigan Farms; All sizes, Southern and Central Michigan. Write for list and terms. Elon Murray & Co., Charlotte, Mich.

If afflicted with Sore Eyes, use THOMPSON'S EYE WATER

FEBRUARY

0487

L 903

All Who Would Enjoy

good health, with its blessings, must understand, quite clearly, that it involves the question of right living with all the term implies. With proper knowledge of what is best, each hour of recreation, of enjoyment, of contemplation and of effort may be made to contribute to living aright. Then the use of medicines may be dispensed with to advantage, but under ordinary conditions in many instances a simple, wholesome remedy may be invaluable if taken at the proper time and the California Fig Syrup Co. holds that it is alike important to present the subject truthfully and to supply the one perfect laxative to those desiring it.

Consequently, the Company's Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna gives general satisfaction. To get its beneficial effects buy the genuine, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and for sale by all leading druggists.

WESTERN CANADA

160 ACRES FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

More Big Crops In 1908

Another 60,000 Settlers from the United States

NEW DISTRICTS OPENED FOR SETTLEMENT

320 Acres of Land to EACH SETTLER—160 Free Homestead and 160 at $3.00 Per Acre.

"A vast, rich country and a contented, prosperous people." Extract from correspondence of a National Editor, whose visit to Western Canada in August, 1908, was an inspiration.

Many have paid the entire cost of their farms and had a balance of from $10.00 to $25.00 per acre as a result of one crop.

Spring Wheat, Winter Wheat, Oats, Barley, Flax and Peas are the principal crops, while the wild grasses bring to perfection the best Cattle that have ever been sold on the Chicago market.

Splendid Climate, Schools and Churches in all localities, railways touch most of the settled districts, and prices for produce are always good. Lands, may also be purchased from Railway and Land Companies. For pamphlets, maps and information regarding low railroad rates apply to W. D. Scott, Superintendent of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or W. H. Rogers, 3d Floor Traction-Terminal Building, Indianapolis, Ind., and H. M. Williams, Room 30, Law Building, Toledo, Ohio, Authorized Government Agents.

Please say where you saw this advertisement.

W. L. DOUGLAS $3.00 SHOES $3.50

The Reason I Make and Sell More Men's $3.00 & $3.50 Shoes Than Any Other Manufacturer is because I give the wearer the benefit of the most complete organization of trained experts and skilled shoemakers in the country.

The selection of the leathers for each part of the shoe, and every detail of the making in every department, is looked after by the best shoemakers in the shoe industry.

If I could show you how carefully W. L. Douglas shoes are made, you would then understand why they hold their shape, fit better, and wear longer than any other make.

My Method of Tanning the Soles makes them More Flexible and Longer Wearing than any others.

Shoes for Every Member of the Family, Men, Boys, Women, Misses and Children.

For sale by shoe dealers everywhere.

CAUTION! Name and price stamped on bottom. None genuine without W. L. Douglas

Fast Color Eyelets Used Exclusively. Catalog mailed free.

W. L. DOUGLAS, 167 Spark St., Brockton, Mass.

Paxtine

TOILET ANTISEPTIC

Keeps the breath, teeth, mouth and body antiseptically clean and free from unhealthy germ-life and disagreeable odors, which water, soap and tooth preparations alone cannot do. A germicidal, disinfecting and deodorizing toilet requisite of exceptional excellence and economy. Invaluable for inflamed eyes, throat and nasal and uterine catarrh. At drug and toilet stores, 50 cents, or by mail postpaid.

Large Trial Sample

WITH "HEALTH AND BEAUTY" BOOK SENT FREE

THE PAXTON TOILET CO., Boston, Mass.

Get your Letter Paper and Envelopes printed at this office. We can give you the

EAGLE LINEN PAPER and ENVELOPES

It is fine and will suit you. Try it.

PISO'S CURE

Beware of the Cough that hangs on persistently, breaking your night's rest and exhausting you with the violence of the paroxysms. A few doses of Piso's Cure will relieve wonderfully any cough, no matter how far advanced or serious. It soothes and heals the irritated surfaces, clears the clogged air passages and the cough disappears.

At all druggists 25 cts.

ITCHED TWELVE YEARS.

Eczema Made Hands and Feet Swell, Peel and Get Raw—Arms Affected, Too—Gave Up All Hope of Cure—Quickly Cured by Cuticura.

"I suffered from eczema on my hands, arms and feet for about twelve years, my hands and feet would swell, sweat and itch, then would become callous and get very dry, then peel off and get raw. I tried most every kind of salve and ointment without success. I tried several doctors, but at last gave up thinking there was a cure for eczema. A friend of mine insisted on my trying the Cuticura Remedies, but I did not give them a trial until I got so bad that I had to do something. I secured a set and by the time they were used I could see a vast improvement and my hands and feet were healed up in no time. I have had no trouble since. Charles T. Bauer, R. F. D., 65, Volant, Pa., March 11, 1908."

Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props. of Cuticura Remedies, Boston.

Parliamentary.

There is a certain member of the House of Commons, a reserved, diffident person, who had been making a rather lukewarm suit to the young woman of his choice.

This had gone on a long time, during which the member had frequently taken the lady to attend the house, with the rules whereof she became somewhat acquainted.

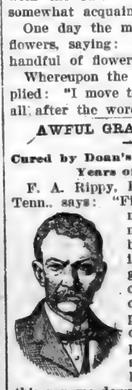
One day the member brought some flowers, saying: "May I offer you a handful of flowers?"

Whereupon the desperate lady replied: "I move to amend by omitting all after the word 'hand.'"—Answers.

AWFUL GRAVEL ATTACKS

Cured by Doan's Kidney Pills After Years of Suffering.

F. A. Rippy, Depot Ave., Gallatin, Tenn., says: "Fifteen years ago kidney disease attacked me. The pain in my back was so agonizing I finally had to give up work. Then came terrible attacks of gravel with acute pain and passages of blood. In all I passed 25 stones, some as large as a bean. Nine years of this ran me down to a state of continual weakness, and I thought I never would be better until I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. The improvement was rapid, and since using four boxes I am cured and have never had any return of the trouble."



Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

BRASS HORNS.

The Way the Thin, Seamless Tubes Are Bent Without Injury.

Saxhorns, so called after a famous Belgian family named Sax, who invented and introduced these instruments about the middle of the last century, are the mainstay of all modern brass bands. They are manufactured in many different sizes, from high soprano to the huge contrabass or bombardon, and the most important of the lot is the euphonium, which supplanted the now obsolete "serpents" and ophicleides. The tallest saxhorn ever made stands eight feet high and contains more than forty feet of tubing.

The advantage of seamless or "solid drawn" tubes for such instruments as trombones and horns is considerable, since, no matter how good the joint may be, sooner or later the action of the breath will wear away the solder.

To bend these thin brass tubes without splitting or denting the metal was at one time very difficult, but, thanks to a most ingenious artifice, the operation is now both safe and simple. The tube is first washed out with a chemical substance, such as is used by plumbers to prevent solder from adhering where it is not wanted, and it is then completely filled with molten lead poured in from a ladle. Thus supported from within, the brass is easily and safely bent to the required shape, the lead being afterward removed by heat.—Pearson's.

DIDN'T KNOW

Coffee Was the Cause.

Many daily habits, particularly of eating and drinking, are formed by following our elders.

In this way ill health is often fastened upon children. A Ga. lady says:

"I had been allowed to drink coffee ever since I can remember, but even as a child I had a weak stomach, which frequently refused to retain food.

"The taste of coffee was in my mouth all the time and was, as I found out later, the cause of the stomach rebelling against food.

"I now see that it was only from following the example of my elders that I formed and continued the miserable habit of drinking coffee. My digestion remained poor, nerves unstrung, frequent headache, and yet I did not suspect the true cause.

"Another trouble was a bad, muddy complexion, for which I spent time and money for creams, massaging, etc., without any results.

"After I was married I was asked to try Postum, and would you believe it, I, an old coffee toper, took to Postum from the very first? We made it right—according to directions on the package, and it had a most delicate flavor, and I at once quit coffee, with the happiest results.

"I now have a perfectly clear, smooth skin, fine digestion and haven't had a headache in over two years."

"There's a Reason."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true and full of human interest.

WORK OF CONGRESS

On Friday in the Senate Feb. 12 next was declared to be a special legal holiday and a survey and plans for a highway from Washington to Gettysburg, to be known as the "Lincoln way," as a memorial to Abraham Lincoln, was provided for by a joint resolution passed by the Senate, after an extended debate. The resolution did not commit Congress to the construction of the highway when surveyed. Final action was also taken on the legislative, executive and judicial bill, the Senate refusing by a vote of 41 to 27 to fix at $75,000 the salary of the President, previously increased by an amendment to $100,000. Exactly as reported by committee the naval program for the fiscal year 1909 was adopted by the House and the naval appropriation bill was passed. The opponents of the navy increase feature of the bill found themselves in a hopeless minority. The only vital alteration made in the measure was the striking out of the provision restoring marines to naval vessels. The aggregate amount appropriated by the bill is $135,000,000.

-:—:-

The Senate was not in session Saturday. A large number of pension bills were passed and by the decisive vote of 42 to 103 the House refused to increase the pension of Julia B. Coghlan, widow of the late Rear Admiral Coghlan, U. S. N., from $50 a month, as recommended by the Committee on Pensions, to $100, as proposed in an amendment offered by Representative Olcott of New York. Consideration of a bill to prohibit the importation of opium except for medical purposes was prevented by Mr. Payne of New York on the ground that such action would reduce the national revenue $1,000,000 a month and would not lessen the use of the drug. At 2 o'clock the House adjourned until Sunday when memorial services were held for the late Representative Dunwell of New York.

-:—:-

The postal savings bank and the omnibus claims bill were before the Senate Monday for discussion and amendment, but no substantial progress was made on either measure. An amendment was made to the postal bill limiting to $500 the amount of the deposits of any one person and fixing the rate of interest to be paid at 2 per cent, with the understanding that the amendment would be subject to further change by the Senate. The urgent deficiency bill was passed. Legislation affecting the District of Columbia was considered by the House. An interesting feature of the day was a tribute paid by Mr. Boutell of Illinois to the heroism of John R. Binns, the wireless operator aboard the steamship Republic recently in collision with the Florida.

-:—:-

A speech by Senator Davis of Arkansas, favoring legislation to prevent dealings by exchanges in "futures" in products of the soil, and a maiden speech by Senator Cummins of Iowa against the passage of the postal savings bank bill as reported to the Senate by the Committee on Post Offices and Post Roads were the features in the Senate Tuesday. Mr. Cummins spoke in favor of the deposit of postal savings in State and Territorial banks. The Senate voted to purchase an oil portrait of the late Senator Allison of Iowa. A sensational and bitter attack on William Nelson Cromwell and President Obaldia of Panama and others by Mr. Rainey of Illinois was made in the House of Representatives. The post office appropriation bill was under consideration, but Mr. Rainey spoke under license of general debate, and he was unsparing in his charges of corruption and fraud against the persons named. At the conclusion of his speech, which consumed over an hour and a half, Messrs. Stevens of Minnesota and Kustermann of Wisconsin expressed their disapproval of his remarks and entered a defense of the accused. During the morning hour the House passed a joint resolution making Feb. 12, 1909, which marks the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln, a general holiday. When the House adjourned the post office bill was still pending.

SHORT NEWS NOTES.

An explosion of fire damp in the Auka coal mine at Veszprim, Hungary, resulted in the death of fifty-six men. Of 240 men entombed 184 were taken out alive.

Mexico is to be invited to take part in the conservation conference at Washington Feb. 18. Canada has accepted an invitation to co-operate with the United States.

Fire destroyed the buildings occupied by the Hudson Dry Goods Company, the Brown, Eager & Hill Book Company, the Scotch Woollen Mills Company, Knapp's jewelry store and Fleischmann's cafe in Toledo, Ohio.

John M. Cushing, a "'49er," died in San Francisco. He was born in Salem, Mass., in 1825.

Frank M. Howe, who designed the electricity building at the Columbian exposition, died in Kansas City, Mo., aged 59.

Witnesses summoned from Chicago will testify in New York at the hearing of the government's suit against the alleged powder trust.

Reports that George B. Cortelyou, Secretary of the Treasury, is to become president of the Consolidated Gas Company of New York are denied in the eastern metropolis.

EXTRAORDINARY INCREASE IN LAND VALUES.

Southern Alberta Is a Mighty Good Country.

No stronger or better evidence can be given of the merits of a country than that which comes from the testimony of the settler who has determination to succeed. This is why we reproduce the following letter, which speaks for itself. These people were induced to go to Western Canada through the solicitation of a Canadian Government agent, who secured for them low railway rates.

Carmangay, Alta., Canada, Dec. 15, '08.

Mr. C. J. Broughton, Canadian Government Agency, 135 Adams street, Chicago:

We had audacity enough to tackle the proposition of buying four sections of land in Southern Alberta, thirty miles east of Clairsholm, and heading up on the Little Bow, and our two boys each got a homestead adjoining. We fenced three sections and the two homesteads and built a house, barn, corrals and granary and have since enlarged some of these buildings. We have broken 200 acres of land, which has been sowed to oats and wheat. During the severe winter of two years ago the winter wheat killed out somewhat and our crop yielded only ten bushels to the acre, but the spring wheat went 24 bushels to the acre. In this country we must be prepared for storms and cold, at times, 20 to 30 below zero, yet on the whole the winters are mild; and while there are exceptional crops, it is fair to say that the average farmer can depend on having a yield in average years of from 20 to 25 bushels to the acre for spring wheat; and winter wheat in our immediate neighborhood yields from 25 to 30 bushels to the acre on the average.

We have now quite a bunch of horses, over 50 in all, about 350 sheep, after having sold 140 for mutton this fall. We have 20 head of pure bred registered Shropshire, which are worth $20 each. The average price received for mutton sheep was $5.00 and a little over. Pork brings 5 and 6 cents a pound. We have about 30 head of cattle on our ranch now, and last winter they picked their entire living from our pasture, running to the straw stacks for shelter at night.

The increase of land value has been extraordinary. Our land four years ago cost us a little less than $6.00 an acre. We have sold one section for $15.00, but we would not sell any more for less than $25.00 per acre, as we expect the railroad within four miles of our ranch within the next 18 months. Southern Alberta of Western Canada is a mighty good country for any man or woman who loves outdoor life and who wants to get good returns for their labor and investment.

We have been pleased with our treatment from the Canadian government and can heartily commend Southern Alberta as a splendid country in which to locate.

Yours very truly,
(Signed)
JAMES S. AINSLIE & SONS.

The Peruna Almanac.

The druggists have already been supplied with the Peruna almanac for 1909. In addition to the regular astronomical matter usually furnished in almanacs, the articles on astrology are very attractive to most people. The mental characteristics of each sign are given with faithful accuracy. A list of lucky and unlucky days will be furnished to those who have our almanacs, free of charge. Address The Peruna Co., Columbus, O.

What Was Handed to Him.

Raynor—What have you done with all your Christmas presents?

Shyne—Made a large cold bowl of lemonade.

How's This?

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions, and financially able to carry out any obligations made by his firm.

WALDING, KINNAN & MARVIN, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Testimonials sent free. Price, 75c. per bottle. Sold by all Druggists.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

A Golfer's Tools.

One of the most striking features of modern golf is the variety of clubs used to persuade the ball into the hole. As a matter of curiosity I kept count of the different putters used by my partners and opponents in the course of a fortnight's play. The total number of species observed is over twenty.—London Post.

Red, Weak, Weary, Watery Eyes Relieved by Murine Eye Remedy. Compounded by Experienced Physicians. Murine Doesn't Smart; Soothes Eye Pain. Write Murine Eye Remedy Co., Chicago, for illustrated Eye Book Free.

Advice.

"Officer," said the stranger, stepping up to him, "how would you go from here to Spotcash & Co.'s store?"

"Well, sor," answered the policeman on the crossing, looking at the crowds on the sidewalks and scratching his jaw reflectively, "I think I'd offer up a silent prayer an' take th' middle of th' sthreet. Next block, sor."

Yellow Clothes Are Unsightly.

Keep them white with Red Cross Ball Blue. All grocers sell large 2oz. package, 5 cents.

In the last five years, in New York City, 593,714 tenants have gone into new flat houses.

Only One "BROMO QUININE"

That is LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE. Look for the signature of E. W. GROVE. Used the World over to Cure a Cold in One Day. 25c.

Ask Her This Question

"Do you know of any woman who ever received any benefit from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?"

If any woman who is suffering with any ailment peculiar to her sex will ask her neighbors this question, she will be surprised at the result. There is hardly a community in this country where women cannot be found who have been restored to health by this famous old remedy, made exclusively from a simple formula of roots and herbs.

During the past 30 years we have published thousands of letters from these grateful women who have been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and never in all that time have we published a testimonial without the writer's special permission. Never have we knowingly published a testimonial that was not truthful and genuine. Here is one just received a few days ago. If anyone doubts that this is a true and honest statement of a woman's experience with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound write and ask her.

Houston, Texas.—"When I first began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was a total wreck. I had been sick for three years with female troubles, chronic dyspepsia, and a liver trouble. I had tried several doctor's medicines, but nothing did me any good.

"For three years I lived on medicines and thought I would never get well, when I read an advertisment of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and was advised to try it.

"My husband got me one bottle of the Compound, and it did me so much good I continued its use. I am now a well woman and enjoy the best of health.

"I advise all women suffering from such troubles to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. They won't regret it, for it will surely cure you."—Mrs. Bessie L. Hicks, 819 Cleveland St., Houston.

Any woman who is sick and suffering is foolish surely not to give such a medicine as this a trial. Why should it not do her as much good as it did Mrs. Hicks.

For PINK EYE DISTEMPER, CATARRHAL FEVER, AND ALL NOSE AND THROAT DISEASES

SPOHN'S LIQUID DISTEMPER CURE

Cures the sick and acts as a preventive for others. Liquid given on the tongue. Safe for brood mares and all others. Best kidney remedy. 50 cents a bottle, $5.00 the dozen. $1.00 and $10.00 the dozen. Sold by all druggists and turf goods houses, or sent, express paid, by the manufacturers.

SPOHN MEDICAL COMPANY, Chemists, Goshen, Ind.

Cervantes' Tribute to Sleep.

Now, blessings light on him that first invented this same sleep! It covers a man all over, thoughts and all, like a cloak; it is meat for the hungry, drink for the thirsty, heat for the cold and cold for the hot. It is the current coin that purchases all the pleasures of the world, cheap, and the balance that sets the king and the shepherd, the fool and the wise man, even—Cervantes.

Do not neglect constipation, for this condition poisons the blood and leads to chronic ill health. Garfield Tea, the mild herb laxative, corrects constipation, keeps the blood pure, and the health good.

Succinct.

"Hello, Swingle! What under the sun have you been doing to your nose?"

"I called a bigger man a liar the other day. Looks as if we were going to have a snowstorm, doesn't it?"—Chicago Tribune.

Here is Relief for Women.

If you have pains in the back, Urinary, Bladder or Kidney trouble, and want a certain, pleasant herb cure for woman's ills, try Mother Gray's Australian-Leaf. It is a safe and never-failing regulator. At Druggists or by mail 50 cts. Sample package FREE. Address, The Mother Gray Co., LeRoy, N. Y.

A Speedy Messenger.

Two recruits stationed at a fort overlooking the sea were examining one of the fort guns. One suggested that they should let it off, adding that nobody would be any the wiser. They loaded the gun, and one of them said he would hold a bucket over the muzzle to drown the sound so that it would not be heard. The gun was fired, and the shell and bucket, with the soldier clinging to it, went flying gaily out to sea. An officer immediately rushed up to the remaining soldier to inquire the cause of the commotion.

"Where is Murphy?" he yelled.

"Gone for a bucket of water, sir," coolly remarked the soldier.

"And how long will he be?" roared the officer.

"Well," said the soldier, "if he comes back as quick as he went, he's due any minute."

The Latest Fad.

Anna D. Adams Theatrical Beauty Puzzle. 10,000 prizes to those who solve it. Amuses young and old. Send 25c to-day. Room 212, 39 State street, Chicago.

He Knew.

Teacher—Tommy, who was Cleopatra?

Tommy Tucker—Cleopatra was the colored woman who used to do our washin', ma'am. Her other name was Jackson.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children teething; softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25 cents a bottle.

B. W. Leader, R. A., considers that to an artist clouds are the most difficult of all studies.

The searchlight of the British Dreadnought has a new feature in that it projects beams at the same time in opposite directions to facilitate signaling.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS

PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refunded. 50c.

The golden crested wren is the smallest of British birds. It is three and a half inches long and seventy-two of them weigh one pound.

If you use ball blue, get Red Cross Ball Blue, the best ball blue. Large 2oz. package, 5 cents.

As Revised.

Tarpeia, covetous of the gold bracelets worn by the Sabine soldiers, had told them she would open the gates of the citadel to them if they would give her what they wore upon their left arms.

"Sure!" joyously answered the soldiers. "All rights reserved!"

It was not until they had rewarded her treachery by overwhelming her with their shields, which they also wore upon their left arms, that she tumbled.—Chicago Tribune.

Those who have wintered in Alaska say that it is not the cold, but the mosquito, that is the hardest thing to endure in the North.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

FOR ALL KIDNEY DISEASES

FOR RHEUMATISM BRIGHT'S DISEASE BACKACHE DIABETES

75 "Guaranteed"

SEED OATS 60 cts. a bu.

Per Salzer's catalog page 120.

Largest growers of seed oats, wheat, barley, spelts, corn, potatoes, grasses and clovers and farm seeds in the world. Big catalog free; or, send 10c in stamps and receive sample of Billion Dollar Grass, yielding 10 tons of hay per acre, oats, spelts, barley, etc., easily worth $10.00 of any man's money to get a start with, and catalog free. Or, send 14c and we add a sample farm seed novelty never seen before by you. SALZER SEED CO., Box 0 La Crosse, Wis.

When writing to Advertisers please say you saw the Adv. in this paper.

PUTNAM FADELESS DYES

Color more goods brighter and faster colors than any other dye. One 10c package colors all fibers. They dye in cold water better than any other dye. You can dye any garment without ripping apart. Write for free booklet—How to Dye, Bleach and Mix Colors. MONROE DRUG CO., Quincy, Illinois.

FEBRUARY

L 903

0488

Sol Barney Has Sold Out

and has contracted to reduce the the stock to a certain amount and in order to do it we are going to make prices that are right for cash, until we invoice on March first, in the following lines. - No accounts opened.

All Men's Heavy Pants, Shirts, Sweater Coats, Hats and Caps, All Artics and Felt Boots, Gloves and Mittens, Duck, Corduroy and Mackinaw Coats. Entire stock of Underwear and Blankets at Bargains

This is no fake sale but a genuine bonified sale where you are given real bargains for your money. Oth-bargains not herein mentioned.

All Ladies Facinators, Gloves, Mittens, Night Gowns go at a Great Saving. All Dishes Marked in Plain Figures go at 1-4 off. SATURDAY FEBRUARY 13 we will give away one barrel flour.

Tickets are Given with Every 25 cent cash Purchase. Ask for Them.

Our light is the Bystrom

I am exclusive agent for Dekalb and Allen County. We have them for the country home and business rooms. You can teli them any where by the soft white light they give.

GEORGE MILLIMAN.
AGENT.

SPENCERVILLE
R. F. D. No. 1.

Mr. B. W. Dwyer bought a horse of Grover Boger, last week.

James Oberholtzer has been suffering with rheumatism for sometime. Dr. Shook of Spencerville, is giving him treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Krumbigel of near Cedarville, visited in the home of John Bair and family a couple of days, last week. Mrs. Krumbigel is a sister of Mrs. John Bair.

Geo. Horn and family, John Mason and wife and Arlie Dwyer spent Sunday evening with E. H. Horn and wife. The evening was spent in singing by the young people with Miss Myrtle Platter at the organ.

Mrs. Eck Vanzile and son Clifford, went to Woodburn, Sunday, to stay with her daughter, Mrs. William Schlatter, a week. A little daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Schlatter, last Saturday night. Grandpa and Grandma Vanzile are to be congratulated as this is their only grandchild.

Mary Horn visited Myrtle Platter, last Thursday evening.

Mr. Brososky of near Boger's Corners has sold his farm and will move to Ft. Wayne in the near future.

Jacob Grill and family spent Sunday evening with Clem Treece and family.

Vol Hay and family spent Sunday evening with F. A. Horn and family.

One of Henry Walter's little sons has been quite sick, but is able to be out again.

The Misses Myrtle Platter, Mary Horn, Venus Horn and Jennings Horn spent Sunday afternoon with the formers relatives, Mr. and Mrs. John Mason.

Last Thursday's Journal Gazette stated that Geo. Oberholtzer, landlord of the Hendry hotel at Angola, was critically ill with an acute attack of appendicitis.

NEWVILLE

Little Garcile Miller froze her hands on her way to school, Monday morning.

$6.55 was cleared at the dinner last Thursday, served by the ladies in the church basement.

The Crescent Concert Co., will give an entertainment at the Christian church, Wednesday evening, Feb. 10. Everybody come and hear something good.

Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Announcement.

Low Fares To Washington, D. C., account Presidential Inauguration Ceremonies, Feb. 28 to March 3rd.

Low Rates to Pittsburgh Pa., account Ninth Annual Bowling Tournament. Feb. 28th., March 8th. and 15th.

Homeseekers' Excursion Fare to points in the west, northwest and southwest, Feb. 16th.

Consult nearest B. & O. agent for particulars.

Granite Ware SALE.

You are invited to call and see the most complete line of Granite Ware at lowest prices ever shown in St. Joe.

Every Day Roaster

This is Made of the Guaranteed Oyrx Enamel
Size 6x12

ONLY 49C WORTH 75C

Don't forget when in St. Joe to call and see the greatest bargains in Granite Ware.

H. V. Kinsey & Son.

CURIE'S RESTAURANT.

We desire at this time to inform the public that we are ready to supply all wants in our line. We ask that you continue patronizing our store and we will make it as pleasant as we can for you.

CANDY, CIGARS, SAND-WICHES, SOFT DRINK, TOBACCO, ETC.

We aim to keep our stock fresh, and when in need of any of our goods come in.

Curie's up-to-date restaurant.

Bruce Blair has been quite sick for the last few days.

Jessie Headley is working in St. Joe at the home of S. D. Gee.

A girl was born Jan. 29 in the home of Clarence Wyatt, formerly of this place but now living near the state line.

The funeral of Hiram Mason was held at the U. B. church, Sunday afternoon. Aged 89 years, 1 month, 11 days.

Grace Magginnis and Carl Shull went to Auburn, Friday evening, so they could attend the examination on Saturday.

LEO ITEMS

The M. E. revival efforts have been discontinued, resulting in a number of converts and accessions to the church.

The Rev. A. D. Buck, of Noblesville, Ind., began a revival meeting at St. John's Reformed church last Saturday evening.

Mr. Frank Muller of this place, has purchased machinery to place in his mill here, which he expects to use for the purpose of grinding buckwheat.

Nervous or Sick Headache will yield quickly to the influence of Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. 25 doses 25 cents.

Mr. Elmer Hollopeter, who has been a patient at the Lutheran hospital for about six weeks, was brought home last week and stood the trip fairly well.

The old grist mill at Hurshtown, another landmark, about one and a half miles north of this place, was bought and is being torn down by a Mr. Walter. The mill was formerly owned and operated by the late County Commissioner Moudy for a number of years.

SHILLING'S CORNERS.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills relieve pain.

The sick folks seem some better at this writing.

Mrs. Lovina Shilling entertained company one day last week.

Little Audry and Bertha Wasson have been very sick the past week, but Bertha is now better.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Bone and Mrs. L. R. Wasson spent Sunday at Lew Howeys'.

Mrs. Della Brown called on Mary Wasson Monday.

Master Charles Timmerman is on the sick list.

Mrs. Slough called on Anna Wasson one day last week.

We will have to look out for six more weeks of cold weather, for no doubt Mr. Ground Hog saw his shadow.

WABASH

Wabash Time Table.

Trains leave the St Joe Station as follows:

GOING WEST.
No. 11, Ft. Wayne Acc & Mail 11:34a. m
No. 3, Western Express 7:58 p. m

GOING EAST.
No. 2, Eastern Express 6:34a. m
No. 18, Toledo Acc & Mail 4:59 p. m.

SCIO ITEMS

Cigars and Candy at Curie's.

Henry Fales is not very much improved at this writing.

Chas. Thayer purchased a fine Jersey cow of Saxe Hadsell recently.

Willie Taylor of Kendallville, Ind., is staying at Ivan Farners', this winter.

E. F. Huron's family are having a tussle with the mumps for the past few days.

Miss Velma Gee of Kendallville, has been visiting her cousin, Mattie Gee, the past few days.

A large number of people from this vicinity attended Coral Hamilton's sale, last Thursday.

Miss Grace Kain visited her parents over Saturday and Sunday, returning to Angola, Monday.

Tom Dewitt of Butler, and A. J. Countryman of this place, made a business trip to Woodburn, Thursday.

Jacob Baker visited his brother Alva Baker, and his son Meade, at Wabash, Ind., several days the past week.

Hiram Mason, formerly of this place, died last Friday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Chas. Christofel. Mr. Mason's last illness was of short duration.

Washington Once Gave Up.

to three doctors; was kept in bed for five weeks. Blood poison from a spider's bite caused large, deep sores to cover his leg. The doctors failed, then "Bucklen's Arnica Salve completely cured me," writes John Washington, of Bosqueville, Tex. For eczema, boils, burns and piles its supreme. 25c. at H. Milliman's.

For Sale.

One pair of Black Tailed Japanese Bantams, cheap, also 100 dry Oak fence posts.

M. T. Bishop.

Tares.

The Sunday school teacher had recited the Parable of the Sower, and then asked:

"Now can any member of the class make up a sentence containing the word 'tares'?"

After patient effort little Albert held up his hand and said:

"They was some children what slid down the plank with splinters in it and some of them brought forth rips and some of them brought forth tares."

As a rule women are more liberal than men. The wife who has a mind of her own is continually giving her husband pieces of it.

Mr. Sherman, of Greensburg has been visiting his old friends here for a few days. He will be remembered by many people, for he was on the Christian church charge about fourteen years ago.

DENTIST.

C. R. PRICE,
ST. JOE, IND.
Office in Case building.
Bell Phone No. 44.

Local News Items.

Curie's Restaurant.

Tuesday was ground hog day, and if the rule is carried out we will have six weeks of winter weather yet.

The lecture at the opera house Monday evening given by Mr. Sherman in the interest of the Farmers Equity society, was good but the crowd was not what it ought to have been as it was not properly advertised.

Frank Bishop of Garrett was in town yesterday.

W. C. DeLong has quit work in the Kagey grocery store, he and his brother Otha have opened up a photo gallery at Butler, commencing Monday. If the boys are kept busy, Mr. DeLong's family will move to Butler. We hope that they may be pleased with their work and have lots of it to do.

Public Sale.

The undersigned will sell at Public Sale at his residence 2 miles east of St. Joe and 1 mile north and ½ mile east of Coburn's Corners Church, on

WED. FEBRUARY 10, '09

2 HEAD OF HORSES 2

A fine team of coach or general purpose horses, full brother and sister. Weight 2800 lb, one a grey gelding 6-yr. old the other a bay mare 5-yr. old.

6 HEAD OF CATTLE 6

Three Milch Cows, two coming 5-yrs. old, one a red Durham, the other a Roan of Durham Breed; one Durham and Jersey coming 4-yr. old, all giving milk and all been bred. One spotted Heifer coming 2-yr. old, bred, October 30th. Two last summer Heifer Calves.

ONE GOOD BROOD SOW

200 CHICKENS of Choice Variety

3 Bronze Turkeys 3

Farming Implements

Two wide tire Wagons, one nearly new, with double box and and spring seat, one narrow tire wagon, Kemp Manure Spreader, one Surrey, one Single Buggy, nearly new Burton Bob-sled, set of Runners for Buggy, one set Work Harness, two set Single Harness, 7 ft. Deering Binder, 6 ft. Deering Mower, 10 disc Hoosier Grain Drill, Disc Harrow, 2 Common Harrows, 3 good Breaking Plows, one 2 horse Riding Corn Plow, single Cultivators, Hand Garden Plow, Side Delivery Hay Rack, Hay Loader, Hay Rack, Stock Rack, Log Bunks and 5 good Log Chains, Dump Boards, Corn Sheller, Bi-treadle Grind Stone, Jig Saw with turning lathe attachment, Combination Anvil and Vise, one 40 allon and two 20 gallon Iron Kettles, two Safety Lifts with rope, Harpoon, Pulleys and rope, 36ft. steel Hay Track and Truck, Pitch Forks, Manure Forks, 2 Barley Forks, Potato Scoop Fork, Scoop Shovels, Common Shovels. Good Cider Vinegar, 30 bushels of potatoes, smoked Hams, Shoulders and Pickled Sidemeat, one or more 50lb cans of Lard. Several bales of Rye straw, about 18 tons of No. 1 timothy hay in mow, Oats in bin, Corn in crib.

CHOICE SEED CORN
Set of Driving Harness

Two 8x8 fourteen ft. and two 8x8 eighteen ft. Oak Sills and other rough material for building a granary, two inch oak plank of different lengths, a few pieces of 16 ft. barn siding, two dressed pine 16 in. boards 16 feet long, about 150 ft. Walnut Lumber, 2x12, 16 ft. long oak Harrow Timber, two pieces Tongue Timber, 2 pieces heavy 16 ft. Beech Timber and other Lumber.

Household Goods

One drop head Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine (good as new), three peice Bed room Suit, Bed Steads, Springs and Mattresses, Sanitary Steel Bed Lounge with mattress and couch cover, one large Dining Table, one drop Leaf Table, six cane seated oak Dining Chairs, 9 solid Seat Chairs, Upholstered Rockers, several other Rockers, oak Writing Desk, folding Book Rack, large wardrobe, Stands, Carpets and Rugs. One No. 9 Favorite Cook Stove, one Heater, set of English Ware Dishes and many other things not here mentioned.

A. D. BRUNSON, Clerk.

J. L. RHODENBAUGH, Auctioneer. Laney Gee

0489
L 903

FEBRUARY

ST. JOE NEWS.

VOL. XXIII | ST. JOE, DEKALB COUNTY, INDIANA, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 11 1909. | NO. 6

ABRAHAM LINCOLN

BORN 1809—DIED 1865

Three of the great men of history were born into the world in 1809.

One was Abraham Lincoln.

Another was Darwin.

Another was Gladstone.

Lincoln and Darwin and Gladstone lived fully the life of their time in thought and action. Each seems to have been born with vision prophetic. Lincoln and Gladstone were the apostles of emancipation from physical servitude. Darwin was the very evangel of intellectual freedom. The work and the thought of each is the expression of the Devine purpose and will live through the ages.

Words are too feeble to properly convey a correct estimate of the character of Lincoln. The name and the memory of Lincoln long ago passed from the realm of partisanship and are securely embalmed in the hearts of all the people.

News Items

Born to Robert Ulm and wife north of town, a baby girl, Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Calvin Hutton and children of Auburn, are visiting with her mother, Mrs. Rose Johnson.

Mrs. Walter Lasch and son Robert, of Chicago, were the guests of S. W. Tustison and wife a few days last week.

Mrs. Nancy Widney and Mrs. Mary Sechler spent Thursday and Friday with Mrs. Mort Foote and family near Harlan.

Mrs. John Wineland and Mrs. W. C. DeLong were visitors in Butler last Saturday, the guests of Mrs. Wes Mutsfeld.

Otto Widney and wife of Hicksville were Sunday guests here. They also came to attend the dedication exercises at the M. P. Church.

The Ladies Aid Society of the M. P. Church will meet with Mrs. McCain Saturday afternoon February 13th., at 2 o'clock. All members are requested to be present and bring something for lunch.

This is ground hog weather.

Audry Rex visited with W. C. DeLongs' last week.

Mrs. Warner is going to Ft. Wayne this week to attend the millinery opening.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Segar spent Sunday with Sam Smith and family near Spencerville.

Dr. sheffer shipped one of his fine White Wyandott Cockerals Monday to a Mr. Clay at Angola.

Rev. C. S. Johnson of Tiffany, Ohio, spent Sunday with Mr. Barney. He assisted in the services at the M. P. church Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Patterson and daughter Helen, spent Sunday with the formers sister, Mrs. John Dirk at Montpelier, Ohio.

Mrs. H. M. Widney has returned from Auburn, where she has been the past few months taking treatment. She will return and continue to take treatment until her health is restored.

Miss Mariama Lindley and Mr. E. E. Greist of Ft. Wayne, Miss Iva Lindley of Richmond, Mrs. B. F. Benninghoff, Misses Gladys Barney, Grace and Avis Sechler were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Sechler Sunday.

The county commissioners are expecting to make some very material changes in the buildings at the county farm. The old infirmary building will be disposed of in part by selling and part by tearing down. One small portion will be moved across the street onto the site of the new infirmary to be used as a wash room. The barn will be moved, raised and a wall put under it. A few other changes will also be made. The new building is now being occupied.

Mark Twain is said to be responsible for the following: "I am a friend of temperance and want it to succeed but I don't think prohibition is practical. The Germans prevent it. Look at them. They have just invited a method of making brandy out of sawdust. Now what chance will prohibition have when a man can take a rip saw and go and get drunk on a fence rail? What is the good of prohibition if a man is able to make brandy out of a shingle from his roof, or if he can get delirium tremens by drinking the edges off of the kitchen chair?"

Rink tonight.

Cigars and Candy at Curle's.

H. M. Widney was at Ft. Wayne on business Monday.

Horse-shoeing and all kinds of work in this line done at Craig Sheffer's Shop.

Truant officer VanFleet was in town Monday looking after the attendance of our school.

Crescent Concert Company tomorrow night. Come. Widney's Opera House.

Miss Fay Miller, of north of Hicksville, returned home Monday, after a couple of weeks visit in the home of Marshall Andress.

Winfield Berry of Seymour, Ind., purchased the O. E. Calendar farm west of town last Friday. Mr. Berry will move this week.

The W. H. and F. Missionary Society will serve warm supper in the basement of the Lutheran Church Saturday evening, Feb., 13th., from 5 to 7. Mite 10 cents. Everybody Come.

Bessie Kinsey and Gladys Dirrum have been quarentined on account of having visited the Nelson home, whose children have dyptheria. While the girls may not be taken down with it, it was thought best to keep them out of school thus avoiding its spread.

Hear the Crescent Company at Opera House tomorrow night.

H. M. Widney has rented his farm to John Keesler and he will take possession as soon as possible. Mr. Keesler is a good man for this place being a man that is full of work and what he does is done right. Joe Warner has been connected with the Fruit Farm for seven years and he left yesterday to make his home with Rolland Bearss south of town.

Rink Notice.

On account of Opera House being used Saturday night the Rink will be open Thursday night, Feb. 11—09 instead of Saturday night.

Given A Reception

A reception was tendered Laney Gee and family and W. C. DeLong and family, last Friday evening by the Rebecca and I. O. O. F. lodge. The evenings program was composed of addresses, songs and music. At the conclusion of the program luncheon was served consisting of, brick ice cream, cake and coffee. About one hundred guests were present and a good sociable time was had by all. Mr. Gee's family will take up their new home in Arkansas in a few weeks and Mr. DeLong will move his family to Butler. We are sorry to see them leave but the best of friends must part and while it is to be, may we all wish them success in their new field of labor.

Sunday School Report.

Below is the report of the various Sunday Schools of the town and community for last Sunday. We desire that the secretaries may hand us this bit of information on Monday of each week, or phone to No. 10 and report.

	Attendance	Collection
Christian	80	$1.67
Lutheran	79	$2 19
M. P.	74	$2 09
Coburntown	78	81
Spen. Luth.	88	$1.88
Spen. M. E.	62	$1.15
Concord	66	$1.25

Any other school desiring to be represented in this list may do so by just simply telling us.

Curle's Restaurant.

M. P. Church Re-opened.

Last Sunday, February 7th., 1909, was an ideal day for the re-opening of the Methodist Protestant Church, and the day brought forth all that could be hoped for. During the remodeling of the church it was necessary to hold services in the opera house and it was with a feeling of gladness that the people came to their new home on last Sunday morning. Sunday school convened at 9:00 o'clock with a good attendance and all seemed to be more interested in the lessons, as they were home again.

Church services were commenced at 10 o'clock with the regular order of exercise. The choir rendered special music. Revs. Ledbetter, Johnston, Brown and McCain were in the pulpit. Rev. Ledbetter delivering the sermon after which the pastor made the statement that $200 was needed to clear the house from any incumberances whatever. Rev. Ledbetter then took charge and with words of good cheer and encouragement proceeded to receive pledges to clear the indebtedness. At the close $184 had been raised and the Ladies Aid took upon themselves to pay the balance. The evening services were largely attended and Rev. Johnston opened the services followed by Rev. Ledbetter.

NOTES.

A new steel ceiling was put in and is a beautiful design. Mr. George Kinsey painted the ceiling and it presents a fine appearance.

The walls were papered with a cream and brown paper with gold moulding separating the two which runs around the entire room. Abner Copp did the carpenter work. New carpet was secured, new choir chairs and the entire woodwork receiving a coat of varnish.

The entire work has been in charge of the trustees.

H. W. Krabill installed a fine acetylene lighting plant consisting of 24 lights which are the most beautiful we have had the privilege of seeing. The plant is a modern up-to-date plant and has been installed in good shape.

Culture Club

The Culture Club held its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Alva Perry, Wednesday evening. Miss Hazel Perry opened the program with a piano solo, Mrs. Elizabeth Leighty then gave a reading entitled "Is woman to advance in beauty," portraying the woman of the past, present, and a hundred years hence, showing the advance in woman's intellect, and how much more shrewd they are than man. Mrs. C. F. Kagey and Miss Eva Ridgway, committee on entertainment, by the assistance of the members carried out the following program. Piano solo "Apple Blossoms," Miss Flossie Copp; recital, "Kate Shelly" Mrs. W. C. DeLong; reading, Mrs. Dr. Sheffer "Henrys task"; reading, Miss Edna Provines "Elder Brown's big hit." The committee then conducted a gum contest. Each one was given a stick of gum to chew up and form some animal from it. At the end of five minutes the parlor looked like a Zoo. There were giraffes, alligators, mice, turtles, etc. The judges decided in favor of Mrs. Pluma Hamilton and Mrs. DeLong, who drew cuts for the prize, it being a booklet, "Violets", Mrs. Hamilton was the lucky one. Mrs F. Buchanan received the consolation prize, a bunch of gum. After business and adjournment, the hostess treated to oranges and candy.

Eighteen bibles were present at the Christian Sunday School Sunday.

The centennial of Lincoln's birth, the twelfth day of February, is to be appropriately celebrated throughout the United States. Few places will allow the day to pass without special programs in honor of the occasion. The real center of all the celebrations naturally will be that held on the Kentucky farm where Lincoln was born. Here President Roosevelt will lay the corner stone of the impressive memorial to be constructed to care, for all time, for the rude log cabin in which Abraham Lincoln was born, and in which he spent the first few years of his life.

FEBRUARY

0490

L 903

The St. Joe News

ST. JOE, INDIANA.

FRED B. LEIGHTY, - - Publisher.

1909 FEBRUARY 1909

Su	Mo	Tu	We	Th	Fr	Sa
●	1	2	3	4	5	6
7	8	9	10	11	12	13
14	15	16	17	18	19	20
21	22	23	24	25	26	27
28	●	●	●	●	●	●

F. M. 5th. L. Q. 13th. N. M. 20th F. Q. 26th.

FEATURES OF INTEREST

ABOUT THAT WHICH HAS BEEN AND IS TO BE.

All Sides and Conditions of Things are Shown. Nothing Overlooked to make it Complete.

Three More Dry Spots in Indiana.

By majorities ranging from 900 to more than 2,000 three counties of Indiana added their voice to the swelling chorus of disapproval of the licensed saloons which has been growing from day to day throughout the length and breadth of Indiana. The counties which so emphatically expressed their wishes against saloon license were Switzerland, with a majority of 908; Parke County, with a majority of 2,060, and Huntington County, with a majority of 1,659. Thirty-nine saloons thus were put out of business. Twelve Indiana counties have voted "dry" under the county option law, and many more have scheduled elections.

Governor Haskell Indicted.

As a result of the investigation of the grand jury of the alleged frauds in connection with the scheduling of town lots in Muskogee, Okla., seven indictments were returned. The charge against the defendants is conspiracy to defraud the Government. The names of those indicted are: Governor C. N. Haskell, F. B. Severs, A. Z. English, C. W. Turner, W. T. Hutchings, James W. Hill and Walter R. Eaton. Attorney Thomas H. Owen, of Muskogee, representing Governor Haskell, made arrangements for the Governor to enter his appearance and give bond in the sum of $5,000 for appearance for trial.

Harvester Trust Will Pay Fine.

The International Harvester Company will pay the fine of $12,600 assessed against it by the District Court of Shawnee County, Kansas, and approved by the Kansas Supreme Court for violating the Kansas anti-trust law. It was generally expected that the company would appeal the case to the United States Supreme Court, but as no such motion has been filed it is pointed out by the Attorney General that the company intends to pay. Within a few days the District Court will be asked by the Kansas Attorney General to collect the fine.

Billik Now at Joliet.

Herman Billik, after two years' imprisonment in the county jail at Chicago, in which he has five times been respited from death on the gallows, has been taken to the Joliet penitentiary to begin a term of life imprisonment for the murder of Mary Vrsal. The death sentence of Billik was commuted to life imprisonment by Governor Deneen. It was the first time in two years that Billik had been outside the jail walls. He expressed confidence before his departure that he soon would receive a complete pardon.

Historic Lincoln Coach is Burned.

The historic Lincoln coach, in which President Lincoln is said to have ridden to Washington for his inauguration, was destroyed a few days ago in a fire at Sharpsville, Pa. It was the sole passenger equipment of the little Sharpsville railroad, running between that town and Wilmington Junction. It was covered with sheet iron, put on before Lincoln made his famous ride, and was supposed to be bullet-proof.

Boy Dies of Hydrophobia.

The 7-year-old son of Clinton Mathes of Elkhart, Ind., died of hydrophobia. The same dog bit Daniel Ott's little son, January 4. Samuel Dubbs, a young farmer, was bitten last week by another dog. Neither victim has shown any symptoms of rabies yet.

Three Trainmen Killed in Wreck.

Three trainmen were killed and one fatally injured when two stock trains on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad collided head-on at Powersville, Mo. It appears one of the trains was a runaway, the crew having lost control of it.

"Lucky" Baldwin Dying in California.

E. J. ("Lucky") Baldwin, aged horseman, is reported dying of heart disease at his ranch at Santa Anita, Cal.

Forest Fires in Texas.

Forest fires are raging in southwest Texas. Heavy losses are being inflicted on the lumber companies.

Lewis is Again Head of Miners.

Thomas L. Lewis, of Bridgeport, Ohio, was re-elected president of the United Mine Workers of America by a majority of 16,269 votes over John H. Walker, of Danville, Ill. Lewis received 83,037 votes and Walker 66,768.

Cotton Gets Good Berth.

Fassett A. Cotton, of Indianapolis, Ind., has been elected president of the New State Normal School at LaCrosse, Wis.

CUBA IS FREE AGAIN; ISLAND CELEBRATES

Governor Magoon Turns Reins of Government Over to President Gomez.

ELABORATE CEREMONY HELD.

New Executive Is Leader of Liberal Party and Choice of People—His Regime to Be Progressive.

A new era of Cuban independence dawned Thursday when the affairs of the island, which have been administered by American officials for more than two years as a result of the revolution against former President Palma in 1906, were formally transferred to the newly-elected native executives. The coming of this new day of Cuban liberty was signaled by a general display of fireworks, the velvet blackness of the tropical midnight being set aflame by screeching rockets and bombs which sent down showers of golden rain and gleaming, vari-colored lights. The streets of Havana, which were brilliantly illuminated and garlanded with chains of incandescent bulbs, were thronged until an early hour in the morning and a carnival spirit everywhere prevailed.

Thousands of people gathered around the Clerks' Club throughout the night, where inaugural and farewell balls were held jointly in honor of President Gomez and Vice President Zayas and Gov. Magoon. An interesting ceremony was the decorating of the old battleship Maine with elaborate wreaths of garlands and hoisting at half-mast on the protruding military top of a new American flag. This idea originated among the crew of the new battleship Maine, which now is in the harbor, who subscribed $150 for the flowers and greens.

President Gomez was escorted from his home to the palace by detachments of troops and the rural guard. He rode in the same carriage with Gov. Magoon, who called for him with a native military guard of honor. The ceremonies of inauguration at the palace were brief. Precisely at noon President Gomez stepped out upon the balcony overlooking the Plaza de Armas and took the oath faithfully to enforce the laws of the republic and defend the constitution. The oath was administered by the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court. Afterward President Gomez made a short address.

Jose Miguel Gomez assumes power as leader of the Liberal Coalition party and as choice of the people at the elections last fall. The Cubans always held it against former President Palma that he was the choice of the American government. No such complaints can be made in the case of Gomez, for the Americans studiously avoided anything resembling advice or suggestion as to the candidates or the platform.

THIEF HIDES 19 DAYS IN TUNNEL

Trapped in Burrow Under Store, He Waits Long to Surrender.

After nineteen days' imprisonment in a cramped, underground passageway beneath a cigar store in San Francisco, which he is charged with having twice robbed, Edward P. Rand, a civil engineer who claims to be a graduate of the Kentucky State University, was arrested while endeavoring to escape from the burrow. Rand crawled into the tunnel nearly three weeks ago and before he could get out again the police discovered signs indicating that the man who had twice robbed Gunts' cigar store had made his entry through the cellar. They at once posted a watch and Rand's retreat was cut off, though his presence or the existence of the tunnel was unknown. Rand burrowed until he made his way into a saloon which adjoined the cigar store. There he obtained blankets, food, magazines and an electric light which he connected up to illuminate his underground prison. For nineteen nights the policeman on the beat sat in the dark in the cellar where Rand's hat had been found. Unable to escape by daylight because of his suspicious appearance and afraid to attempt it at night because of the presence of the officer, Rand finally crawled out of his hole and surrendered. He claims that he did not rob the safe of the cigar store as is charged, but that this was done by a companion who discovered the combination of the strong box by watching through a hole in the floor as it was opened each morning.

$600,000 BLAZE IN ST. PAUL.

Entire Downtown Section Threatened, but Snow Stops Spread.

Fire starting on the second floor of the White House Department Store, between Cedar and Minnesota streets, on Seventh street, St. Paul, at 7:20 o'clock Friday evening, for a time threatened to devastate a large part of the business district of the city. As it was a half-dozen buildings were almost destroyed with an aggregate loss of about $600,000. There was no loss of life and no serious injuries are reported. The cause of the fire is not known. Favored by a high, northwest wind, burning cinders were thrown flying over the business streets of the city, and the occupants of many buildings began to remove their property. But the rain and snow prevented the live sparks from taking effect upon other than the immediate surrounding buildings. The severest loss was sustained by the White House Department Store, $15,000; California Wine House, $125,000; Woolworth's Five and Ten Cent Store, $100,000; Fey Hotel, $75,000; McQuaid Grocery Company, $10,000, and many other smaller losses.

THE RAIL-SPLITTER.

Inspired by Abraham Lincoln's Birthday.

BLIZZARD STRIKES COUNTRY.

Large Area Is Smitten by Severe Storm—Cold and Death Attend.

The worst blizzard in many years has been raging over the richest and the most thickly populated section of the United States. Practically all that vast expanse of territory lying east of the Rocky Mountain States, and extending as far south as the mountains of Tennessee, was in the grasp of the storm king.

Rain, sleet and snow, accompanied by driving winds, marked the progress of the storm. The atmospheric disturbance, both by reason of the severity of the widespread storm and by reason of the hundreds of thousands of square miles of territory affected, was almost unprecedented. Death, hardship, suffering, and a property loss of millions upon millions of dollars followed in the wake of the great blizzard of 1909.

Rarely, if ever, in the history of the United States Weather Bureau had such a great stretch of territory been covered at once by one storm. Reports show that in every town, every hamlet, over every foot of land from the Missouri river east as far as Albany and Oswego, N. Y., as far north as Marquette, Mich., and as far south as the Appalachian Mountains in Tennessee, the blizzard spent its fury.

Scores of trains were stalled in the Western States; telegraph and telephone lines—hundreds of miles of them—were down; communication was interrupted; city and interurban electric railway lines in many cities were temporarily put out of commission; shipping was damaged; buildings were wrecked; live stock was suffering and freezing to death; humanity likewise was feeling the effects of the blizzard. Following closely on the heels of the blizzard came a cold wave.

ROOSEVELT TO REFUSE $10,000.

Declines to Accept Legacy Left by Benjamin Hadley.

President Theodore Roosevelt has refused the legacy of $10,000 to "The President of the United States" mentioned in the so-called English will of the latest date alleged to have been executed by Benjamin Hadley, an East Somerville, Boston, recluse, who died Dec. 16, 1907, at the age of 90 years, leaving an estate of half a million. In a letter to Warner, Warner & Stackpole, Boston attorneys for the administrator of the document, President Roosevelt declares that under no consideration will he accept a legacy or present from a private individual. The will case comes up in East Cambridge probate court on Feb. 15. Roger S. Warner will appear for the English will and if he succeeds in having his document admitted for probate the $10,000 legacy will be payable to President Roosevelt whether he wants it or not.

VENEZUELA AND U. S. DISAGREE

Gomez Objects to Arbitration of Asphalt Company's Claims.

The negotiations between W. I. Buchanan, the special envoy of the United States, and the Venezuelan government looking to a settlement of the outstanding difficulties between the two countries have come to a complete deadlock on certain points, and it is believed in Caracas that the negotiations will be completely discontinued unless the United States modifies its contention that the claims of the New York and Bermudez Asphalt Company and the Orinoco Corporation be submitted to arbitration. This contention President Gomez considers unjust and out of place because Mr. Buchanan will not agree to submit to arbitration, as preliminary points, the questions of the validity of the judgments of the Venezuelan courts, the awards of the mixed commissions or the complicity of the New York and Bermudez Asphalt Company in the Matos revolution.

West Virginia May Go Dry.

Governor-elect W. E. Glasscock expressed the belief that the Legislature will submit the prohibition amendment to the people of West Virginia and also said he believed that it will be passed by the people. The effect of this will be absolute prohibition in West Virginia after July 1, 1911.

At Chicago thirty men have organized the Chicago Men's Equal Suffrage League to work for the granting of suffrage to women.

Minister Louden of the Netherlands, who was invited to a dinner at the White House the other night, was excused by the President that he might attend the dinner of the Holland Society in New York.

The cigar makers and dealers in New York have organized a league to oppose prohibition measures at Albany and at Washington. They have found from experience in Georgia and other prohibition States that the number of employes in the tobacco business is reduced more than 50 per cent.

The Minnesota Sheriffs' Association meeting in St. Paul voted solidly in favor of putting all sheriffs on a salary basis. In regard to changing the time of election of all county officers from every two years to every four years, there was a difference of opinion and no action was taken as to recommending any legislation. The matter was left with the executive committee for action.

President Roosevelt and his cabinet, the Governor of Ohio, the Governors of all Southern States, Gov.-elect Joseph M. Brown of Georgia, Senators Bacon and Clay, the entire Georgia congressional delegation, and prominent Southerners were invited to attend the dinner given by the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce at which President-elect Taft was the guest of honor and chief speaker.

Former Minister to Spain Hannis B. Taylor of Alabama, in an article for the North American Review, asks if the South is going to continue its attitude of isolation and its antagonism to industrial and commercial development. He wants to know if the South is going to go on being the pocket borough of one political party when her industries have become diversified and when the negro question has been practically settled. Editor Watterson of the Courier-Journal says that Taylor is a dreamer.

Gov. Patterson of Tennessee vetoed the State-wide prohibition bill which had passed both branches of the Legislature. His principal reason was that experience had taught "that no arbitrary prohibition law was ever obeyed, and that its enactment makes no settlement of the question, but rather leaves it like a burr on the body politic to irritate and inflame." He objected also because it would destroy property and reduce the revenue of the State. In the name of temperance he refused to assent to an "intemperate measure," and in the name of morality he would not sanction "a law that would foster hypocrisy and invite evasion and deceit in the people." Afterward the bill was passed over Patterson's veto, in the Senate 20 to 13 and in the House 61 to 36, the vote in each case being followed by a wildly enthusiastic demonstration. Just before the veto message was received the Senate passed a bill to prohibit the manufacture of liquors in the State after Jan. 1, 1910.

That President Roosevelt had interposed his name and influence to check the progress of anti-Japanese bills in the California Legislature became known when his message to Gov. Gillett appeared. He asked the Governor to take steps to have said legislation held up until he could be heard from, saying that a letter had been forwarded expressing his wishes. The Governor replied that the bills had been held up, and that copies of the same had been mailed to the President. One of the measures would prevent the the ownership of property for more than seven years by aliens. Another expressly names the Japanese in the law segregating Mongolian children in public schools. Still another would prevent an alien from becoming a director in a corporation. In his letter to Gillett the President says that these measures are most unfortunate, as the Japanese government has acted in good faith on the arrangement as to immigration concluded two years ago.

POLITICS RULES IN NOTED MURDER TRIAL

Tennessee in Bitter Fight Over Slaying of Senator Edward W. Carmack.

BRINGS STATE PROHIBITION.

Factions Line Up on Guilt of the Accused Men, and Battle Will Be to the Finish.

"Our State is passing through the shadows. Her people are divided. We have fallen into the habit of distrust, suspicion and accusation." These words, uttered feelingly by Governor M. R. Patterson of Tennessee in his second inaugural address, had reference to the trial of Colonel Duncan M. Cooper, Robin Cooper and John Sharp, former sheriff, who are charged with the murder of Edward W. Carmack, who represented his State six years in the United States Senate. The sentiment echoed back from every part of the State, and more than ever it focussed the mind and the thought of Tennessee on the stirring drama that has been going on at Nashville. The trial is more than a battle for the forfeit or saving of life. In the background is a great political play, wherein the characters clash and tense feelings are at odds. What the end may be nobody knows, but into the words of Governor Patterson here quoted are read not only a statement of fact, but a prophecy—each watcher of the play his own prophet.

By common consent it is agreed that State-wide prohibition would not have been brought about at this time if Carmack, its most conspicuous champion, had not fallen victim to the bullets of a man who had opposed him and his cause. It was the slaying of Carmack that brought this unexpected climax to the bitterest fight the State had ever known. On Jan. 12 the Senate passed by 20 to 13 a bill prohibiting the sale of liquor within four miles of any schoolhouse in the State. The next day the House indorsed the same bill, 62 to 26. Governor Patterson vetoed the bill and, with more positiveness than before, each house voted to place it on the statute books where it stands today, effective July 1 next. Governor Patterson gave as his reason for blue-penciling the measure that it was hostile to the doctrine of self-government, that it set aside the recorded will of the people, that it would destroy property, impair State revenues, increase the burdens of taxation and undermine the public morals by making the people evasive, deceitful and hypocritical. Answering this attitude, the Legislature promptly put a clincher on the cause of prohibition by passing a bill forbidding the manufacture of intoxicants in the State after the 1st of next January.

The State Anti-Saloon League held its convention almost within stone's throw of the court house. Speakers there laid stress on the "martyrdom of Senator Carmack." Attorney General Jefferson McCarn, representing the State, has indicated he does not wish and will not have on the jury, if he can avoid it, any man addicted to the use of intoxicants unduly.

While a large number of talesmen have been examined and excused as ineligible, much of the time has been consumed in passing upon the character of prospective jurors, especially as relates to their habits of drinking or abstinence. It will be the endeavor of the defense, it is predicted, to show that the shooting of Carmack was done in self-defense.

TUMBLE WEEDS STOP TRAINS.

Blown Before Gale, They Also Pile Up Around Houses in Kansas.

In the recent blizzard the greatest damage was done in Kansas by the Russian thistle, more commonly known as the tumble weed. The weeds, which are about the size of a half bushel measure and almost round, blew over the prairie by the millions. In some cases they even stalled trains by piling in the cuts. Near Oberlin a touring car belonging to the Miller real estate firm of Elden caught fire while trying to force its way through the Russian thistles and was completely destroyed, the occupants narrowly escaping being burned to death. Russian thistles by the millions were hurled before the winds and orchards were packed full, yards and fences were hidden, alleys and sidewalks blocked, and in instances the weeds were piled so high about houses that only by using a pitchfork can the occupants clear a way through them.

SAILS IN NEW PANAMA CANAL.

Steamer Newport Uses Entrance to Great Channel for First Time.

The Pacific mail steamer Newport used Tuesday for the first time the new Pacific entrance to the Panama canal, which has been dredged to a depth of thirty-five feet. Only a few persons witnessed the departure of the boat, which left the dock and steamed to the right of Naos island, plowing through the water of the new canal. As the Naos breakwater is not completed, the Newport had to contend with a strong current, but she kept a straight course, and, gayly decorated with bunting, sped down the narrow way, which in years to come is destined to become such a great highway of commerce. President-elect Taft was not present when the Newport started on the trip and there was no ceremony of any kind.

WORK OF CONGRESS

The omnibus bill was before the Senate during almost all of the session Thursday. Various amendments were offered and acted upon. Almost the entire session of the House of Representatives was taken up with a discussion of the conference report on the bill providing for the taking of the next census.

-:—:-

The omnibus claims bill, carrying an appropriation of $3,000,000, which has been favorably acted upon by the House, was passed by the Senate Friday, with an amendment repealing the law allowing the references of Southern war claims to the Court of Claims by the Senate or House. A substitute for all pending measures relating to the re-enlistment of the soldiers of the Twenty-fifth Regiment who were discharged without honor following the Brownsville (Tex.) "shooting up" was introduced by Senator Aldrich and accepted by Senator Foraker and other Republican Senators who had proposed legislation for the same purpose. It provides for a court of inquiry to pass upon the qualifications of the discharged men for re-enlistment. Vigorous denials both by C. P. Taft and William Nelson Cromwell of the charges made in the recent speech of Mr. Rainey of Illinois on Panama canal affairs were read in the House. The army appropriation bill again was laid before the House, but was not considered, the time being taken up in general debate.

-:—:-

The Senate was not in session Saturday. By voting an appropriation of $500,000 the House made liberal provision for further experiments by the army with balloons and airships for use in warfare. At 4:40 p. m. the House adjourned until Sunday, when it met in special session to hear eulogies on the life and character of Representative Powers of Maine.

-:—:-

Seventy-five bills on the calendar of the Senate were passed Monday. The consideration of these measures, most of which were of local character, consumed nearly the entire session. Senator Foraker attempted to get consideration for the Aldrich substitute bill providing for a court of inquiry to pass upon the qualifications of the discharged negro soldiers of the Twenty-fifth Regiment, charged with having shot up Brownsville Aug. 13-14, 1906, but postponed making a motion for that purpose in order that Senator McLaurin of Mississippi might speak on the Brownsville affair Tuesday. The Senate passed without amendment a House bill declaring Feb. 12, the centenary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln, to be a legal holiday. Unless the Senate comes to their rescue the West Point cadets will not be able to attend the inauguration on the 4th of March at the expense of the government. The cadets have been one of the big attractions of the inaugural ceremonies for many years. By a point of order an item providing funds for the trip was stricken from the military appropriation bill. Under suspension of the rules the House passed the Payne bill prohibiting the importation of opium, but refused to pass the Senate bill to pension Federal judges. The Bennet bill for the exportation of aliens convicted of a felony was also denied passage.

-:—:-

An agreement was reached in the Senate Tuesday to vote on Feb. 23 on the Aldrich substitute bill for the appointment of a court of inquiry to determine the qualifications for re-enlistment of the discharged soldiers of the Twenty-fifth Infantry, as the result of the Brownsville incident. The Senate passed a House bill to prevent the importation of opium into the United States except for medicinal purposes. The House locked horns with the Senate on the question of automobiles for the White House, and refused to accept an amendment to the urgent deficiency bill striking out the appropriation of $12,000 for that purpose. The bill was sent to conference, after a humorous debate in which several members took occasion to refer to the bodily proportions of the President-elect. The hopes of the army for sufficient money to continue its experiments in aeronautics were blasted when the House reconsidered its action of the previous week and by a vote of almost 2 to 1 withdrew the increase of $500,000 then made. After undergoing this and other amendments the army appropriation bill was passed, and consideration of the agricultural bill immediately begun. Under license of debate on the later measure, Mr. Ansberry of Ohio spoke in advocacy of a ship canal from Chicago to Toledo. The agricultural bill was pending when the House adjourned.

ALL ABOUND THE GLOBE.

Heavy losses of sheep in the Red desert country of Wyoming are probable because of severe cold.

Several prominent New York women were swindled out of $10,000 by a mysterious "woman from Paris," who sold them "rare old lace." The woman disappeared.

Levi P. Morton has made an offer to give to the State of West Virginia his summer resort property at Red Sulphur Springs, W. Va., valued at $150,000, for a sanitarium for consumptives.

FEBRUARY

0491

L 903

Race for a Wife

—BY—

HAWLEY SMART

CHAPTER II.—(Continued.)

"Thanks; but you have not told me yet whether you enjoyed your ball."

"Yes, that I did; I got lots of dancing, and I do like that, you know. But how about yourself, Gren? I don't think you quite did your duty."

"Pretty fairly, I fancy. We can't be expected to consummate the amount of pirouetting that your sex delight in. I danced a good deal, and it was real pleasure to me to see the little sensation you made. I like to see my pretty cousin appreciated as she should be, and taking her legitimate position in the county."

"And what's that, pray?"

"Why, as the belle of all Hampshire, of course. I wish, though, you hadn't danced with that fellow Pearman last night. I've a sort of presentiment ill will come of it."

"You stupid Grenville; what can come of it? I am not likely to see him again for months—perhaps never. At the worst, recognition of his existence on meeting is all that quadrille entails."

"Well, I suppose you are right, Maude; but it is time I was off. Good-by." And Grenville's pulse tingled a little, as his lips touched the fair cheek so quietly yielded to him. "Kind regards to my uncle and aunt; and drop me a line now and then."

"Don't be afraid of that," laughed Miss Denison; "don't I always write to you when I want anything?—and am I not always wanting something? I think the past might testify in my favor. Good-by; don't be long before you come and see us again."

Grenville Rose pondered moodily over his visit, as he drove to the station. He had not quite mastered the fact that he was in love with his cousin, but he had arrived at some close apprehensions on the subject. He felt that he would have been a good deal better satisfied had his parting salute been much less easily accorded.

Maude, fresh as a rose, after a turn round the garden, comes in just in time to greet her mother on her return to the dining room. Petting her mother is one of the chief pleasures of Maude Denison's life. On this occasion she conducts her into the easychair next the fire, makes the tea, and then, drawing a stool near, seats herself at Mrs. Denison's feet, and with girlish delight recounts all her successes of the previous night; to which the fond mother listens with quiet happiness, as her hand plays with her daughter's silken tresses. That nobody could eclipse, that nobody could ever be worthy of mating with her peerless Maude, was a thing that Mrs. Denison would have deemed absurd to argue.

"And, mother, dear," said the girl, at last, "Grenville said, before he went away this morning, I was quite the belle of the ball. What do you think of your daughter now? Won't that satisfy papa, although he did grumble so about the expense of the dress?"

"Yes, love. He will be quite contented when he hears how thoroughly you enjoyed yourself. I am only so sorry that I was not strong enough to have been present myself at my darling's success."

Harold Denison entered the room in his usual listless fashion. He kissed his daughter carelessly, asked if she had enjoyed her ball, scarce listened to her affirmation, and then plunged at once into the letters and papers that lay piled alongside his plate. He was a tall, slight, handsome man, with a keen, cold eye and rather undecided mouth, verging on fifty years of age. The slightly grizzled eyebrows knit as he skimmed his correspondence. Duns, lawyers' letters anent mortgages and sundry other liabilities, formed the staple of the daily missives that constituted the accompaniment to his breakfast. Can it be wondered that the man's temper was soured?—that the whilom gay frolic squire of Glinn had become a cold, caustic and selfish man of the world?

"Things seem to be getting worse and worse, Eleanor," he observed, throwing down an epistle on the best superfine blue post, and sipping his tea moodily. "The old cry from Reynolds and Gibson—that that interest on the mortgage will be due next month, and begging prompt settlement this time, as the fellow is getting rather uneasy about the stability of the security, on account of the delay of last half-year. It will be hard to scrape the money together. Sheep, too, are down to nothing almost—so Thompson tells me—or else I have a hundred to sell that I looked to to help me through with this."

Mrs. Denison sighed. She had gone through a good many such breakfasts in her time, and felt as helpless as ever in suggesting expedients for the occasion.

"It's very unfortunate," she said at length. "Mr. Pearman is not pressing, at all events, I hope."

"No; he has the grace to remember that two-thirds of the property have already fallen into his hands. He is always tolerably lenient about his money. The fellow knows, moreover, that his is the first mortgage on the estate; and, I daresay, at times looks forward to being the eventual owner of Glinn. Shouldn't wonder if he was, too, some of these days," muttered Denison bitterly. "I used to grieve once, Nell, that we hadn't a son; I begin to think now it was all for the best. I should feel it more if I had to think that my boy would never be master here. Yet that is pretty well how the case would stand if we had one."

"Providence knows what is best for us, Harold," returned his wife, softly; "it was a sore source of trouble to us once; but, as you say, it spares us some bitter thoughts now."

She associated herself with him in his career of extravagance as if she had been equally to blame, though, as far as her gentle nature dared, she had entered more than one meek remonstrance at his reckless career. But Mrs. Denison was not the woman to throw her husband's faults continually in his teeth. It was all done now, past recall; still, as far as it lay within her power, the wife was willing to bear her share of the burden Harold Denison's folly had entailed on his family.

"And pray, Maude, did Mr. Pearman honor Xminster with his presence last night?" inquired her father, sarcastically.

"Young Mr. Pearman was there, but not the old man. He seemed to know a good many people there. Mr. Brisden—"

"Yes, it's the old story. The old county families are swept away by these spinners, brewers, solicitors, and such like. Another hundred years, and there won't be one of the old names left in the neighborhood."

Breakfast is over. Maude flits away to her own little sanctum, with its piano, books, and budding camellias; Mrs. Denison goes off for a conference with the old housekeeper; while the squire betakes himself to his study, to struggle with figures and hold gloomy converse with Thompson, his farm bailiff. The mother and daughter do not feel much mental perturbation about the difficulties that threaten them. For the last five years have they not heard Mr. Denison discourse in the same melancholy strain? Constant jeremiads lose their effect; they thought little of the growling of the storm. But Harold Denison, as he sat puzzling his head in his room over that complication of figures, knew that things had pretty well reached their climax, and that it would be hard to predicate even how many months he should still remain Denison of Glinn.

CHAPTER III.

In the very modern but extremely comfortable dining room of Mannersley, the Pearmans, father and son, are sitting. The old man has turned seventy, and can hardly be said to look as if his money-grubbing career had agreed with him. He is shrunk and worn, with a stoop in his shoulders. Altogether, he wears the aspect of a man whose constitution is beginning to break up. Wealth is not amassed without much wear and tear of mind and constitution, and your great turf speculators seldom attain a patriarchal age. He draws his chair closer to the blazing grate.

"I think I've got a bit of a cold, Sam," he remarked. "Better me than Coriander, though, isn't it?"

"Well, father, I am sorry for you; but I don't suppose it will be much harm in your case."

"How did he go this morning?"

"Well, I wasn't there; but Stephen tells me he did a good steady gallop. If he keeps right, he'll about win the 'Two Thousand.'"

"Yes," chuckled the old man. "I've been racing now getting on fifty years, and I don't think I ever saw my way into a much better thing than this looks like. We've got on, too, at a very pretty price, take it all around. It will be a hottish Monday for some of them."

"I hope so; but there's one or two things I want to talk to you about. There's young Sheffington; he's a crack-brained young fool, and I've got him down in my book to the tune of a loser of twelve hundred if Coriander wins. Now, you have done business with him—is he good for that amount?"

"Yes, Sam—yes. We'll get that from him in time; but I doubt there'll be a bit of waiting for it. Don't take long odds from him again. What else?"

"Well, Flashington stands to lose a thousand to us. He doesn't bear the character of a very good pay."

"He's the biggest thief in England; but he'll pay me, though he don't everybody."

"And why you, in particular?" inquired his son.

"Because he made a mistake about his name in early life, Sam; and he is quite aware that I know it, and could rake up evidence enough against him, if he irritated me, to make things, to say the least of it, very unpleasant, as far as he is concerned."

"Good! Then, with a little pressure, that'll be good money, if it's won, eh?"

"Just so," nodded the fathe.

"Now, we'll come to something else. Just listen to this. I've pretty well come to the conclusion that I had better get married."

"I don't see any reason you should not; on the contrary, I should like to see it. Not going to make a fool of yourself, I suppose?"—and the old man looked keenly at his son.

"Tell you more about it when it comes off; but certainly not, I think, in the design. We've made a good bit of money between us. I'm not going to say it isn't most of it yours; still, since I have been having a share in the concern, I've put some together myself. Now, what I want in marriage is connection, more than money."

"Yes—yes, I think you are right; but there will be difficulties—difficulties, I fear."

"Of course there will, to a certain extent; there always is about getting anything worth having in this world; but money is a key to most things nowadays. Tottering coronets must be propped by wealthy alliances. The parson or doctor marries the rich tallow chandler's widow. Marriage is a social contract in these times. A hundred thousand pounds from Manchester stands out for strawberry leaves in the coronet, while a fifth of the money from Birmingham is quite content to put up with an Honorable. Well, to return to what I was saying, you agree with me that I must look out more for connection than money, don't you?"

"Yes, I think that's best; but it would do no harm if you could see your way into a trifle of property besides."

"Exactly. I was at the Xminster ball last night, and the prettiest girl in the room was the daughter of old Denison of Glinn. I got introduced to her; danced with her, and did quite as well as anyone could expect to do in a first dance—just made her acquaintance, in fact. Now that's the lady I've marked down as my intended."

"Yes," said the old man musingly, "that might do if we could bring it about; but he's a proud man, the father—very."

"We'll come to that presently. Just listen while I reckon up all the advantages. First of all, I have taken a fancy to the girl. She's a real beauty, every inch of her. In the next place, she's an only child. Consequently, it's only fair to suppose that Glinn and what's left with it will eventually fall to her. We have got most of the old property now; and that would insure the whole thing being in our hands at last."

"Yours, Sam, yours. It is not likely I'd last to see it. Harold Denison is full twenty years younger than I am, and his wife is younger again; they'll see me out, boy."

"Well, father, it's no use denying it may be so. Still, in days to come, I should be Pearman of Glinn; and with a wife of their own class, it would be hard if I didn't take my place in the county."

"Yes, you should manage it, though I have failed; but you've had advantages I hadn't, Sam. You've a pull, you see, in education; I hadn't much. The art of making money I taught myself, and it didn't leave time for learning a deal of anything else. You start with a tidy lot made; and I think I have shown you enough to insure your not making ducks and drakes of it."

"No, I don't think I shall hurt. I can take care of myself pretty well at most games on the board. I never dabble in anything I don't understand. Don't you make yourself uneasy about me, governor. Now, Denison is a poor man, is he not?"

"Yes; he has well on to three thousand a year nominal rental left still; but there's more than one mortgage on the property, let alone other charges."

"Haven't you some money on the property yourself?"

"Ten thousand, Sam, and I'm first mortgagee; but I know there's a second mortgage of the same amount, and there may be more for all I know."

"Well, these, you see, are all points in my favor. We could make this first mortgage quite easy for him, at all events."

"It's a deal of money—ten thousand pounds; but of course it would be different if the whole property looked like coming to you at last."

"Well, then, we must take that second mortgage also into our own hands, and let it stand at very easy interest. It will be only virtually allowing Denison so much a year during his lifetime, and in the long run will fall principally upon me."

"Yes; but I don't follow the meaning of all this, Sam."

"That's just what I am about to explain to you. My chances of meeting Miss Denison are so extremely few, that it is quite impossible I can arrive at asking for her hand in that way. My only chance is your proposing it to her father, and asking him to accord me permission to try if I can win his daughter's hand. Mind, that is the way you must put it; but don't forget that you will have to bring your pecuniary hold over him into play also—only, do it gently."

"You may trust me; I have pulled the strings in so many ways in my time, that I've learnt to be pretty cute about doing it with a delicate touch. I'll help you all I can when I've made my mind quite up about it."

(To be continued.)

No Nature Fake.

"You certainly run up against funny things in the country," said the young man who had just returned from down State, where his uncle has a large farm. "On the way up to my uncle's house I had to pass the stock yards, where he kept a lot of pigs. As I passed those hundreds of pigs seemed to be having a regular stampede or panic of some kind—they were rushing madly about, apparently looking for something. I watched them for quite a while, but could see nothing but a small woodpecker sitting on the fence. When I got to the house I asked Uncle Jim what on earth was the matter with his hogs, they seemed so excited.

"'That so? Well, it was this way—there was a spell back some weeks when I had a bad cold, lost my voice, and couldn't call those critters to their feed, so I got the idea of bringin' them to the troughs by tappin' my stick on the wooden fence, and ever since them pesky woodpeckers came round the hogs just go crazy, thinkin' I'm callin' them to give them somethin' to eat.'"—Chicago Inter Ocean.

How to Grow Peanuts.

Peanuts only thrive in a warm climate. The plant requires a limey, sandy loam, and yields from two bushels of pods planted an acre to as much as 40 or 50 bushels of pods and two tons of straw. The seed is planted about one inch deep in rows from 28 to 36 inches apart, and from 12 to 16 inches in the row.

Flattery.

Wedderly—My dear, you have improved wonderfully in your music since we were married.

Mrs. Wedderly—Why, John, how can you say that when I no longer play or sing?

Wedderly—That's where the improvement comes in.

Bombarded.

"Ah, my man," said the good old parson, "you should always be 'looking up.'"

"Not me, parson," responded the farmer with much emphasis. "Not with all these here chaps in airships and balloons throwing over sand and cigar stubs."

Plausible.

"The trouble with this tooth," said the dentist, probing it with a long slender instrument, "is that the nerve is dying."

"It seems to me, doctor," groaned the victim, "you ought to treat the dying with a little more respect."

REVIEW OF INDIANA

G. W. Weifel, aged 80 years, a retired business man of Richmond, was probably fatally burned. He was dressing before a grate, when his clothing caught fire.

A new secret society has been organized in Kankakee, to be known as the "Belligerent and Objective Order of Mules." The organization has only one object in view, that of "kicking" and no member can be a "Mule" in good standing until he has demonstrated his ability to "kick" and "kick" hard when he is being imposed upon, or thinks he is.

While services were in progress at the Chestnut Street Presbyterian church in Evansville a little dog wandered up the aisle, and running to the pulpit, put its paws upon the altar and looked up into the face of the pastor, Rev. Hamilton Hymes, as if in prayer. The services were stopped until one of the elders tenderly carried the dog to the door and ejected it.

Philemon Harry Clugston, aged 44 years, late law partner of Governor Thomas R. Marshall, died last week at Scottsdale, Ariz., where he went three weeks ago to take treatment for tuberculosis. He was a thirty-second degree Mason and was Illustrious Principal Conductor of the work in the Grand Council Royal and Select Masters of Indiana. The remains were brought to Columbia City.

Edward Speers, whose home is in Connersville, has the honor of being the best gunshot in the world. Mr. Speers is a member of the regular army, and belongs to the coast artillery, stationed at Boston Harbor. He recently won his record in a contest with the expert shots of the army. He used a ten-inch gun. Mr. Speers, who is off on a furlough, is spending some of his time with his uncle, John Speers, of Milton.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Christy, of Columbus, started to take a stroll in the country recently. Each went in a different direction, then both returned eager and excited. The husband said he had seen a real live blacksnake, but it got away. That was nothing, his wife declared. She had seen a blacksnake and killed it and the proof of her work was to be seen before them. Snakes at large this time of the year is a rare occurrence in that locality.

Offering no better excuse than it was done "just for fun," Oro Davis, Karl and Frank Kitgour and Lloyd Wade were held to the Juvenile Court for having fastened a large iron bolt to the tracks of the C., C. & L., south of Richmond. The obstruction was discovered in time to prevent wrecking the south-bound passenger train, and the boys were placed under arrest, with the exception of Wade, a negro, who escaped and said he was going to Little Rock, Ark.

Mrs. Sarah Vail, 103 years old, is dead at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Sarah Raney, near Moorefield. She was born in a log cabin in Jefferson County in 1806 and spent all her life in that county until she came to the home of her daughter about six years ago. She has a son 70 years old living in Greensburg. During the last few years of her life she had been almost helpless, owing to paralysis. Here eyesight has always been good and her memory was remarkable.

The swarming of a hive of bees and the finding of a snake are peculiar happenings for the month of January that have occurred at Oakland City. A hive of bees belonging to Monroe Sullivan left their hive and settled in a cornfield near. Bees rarely swarm before April. While John McNew was plowing for corn in the lowlands near Snakey Point, north of Oakland City, he discovered a snake about three feet in length. The reptile was as lively as if it was springtime.

For several nights past a ghostly light has made its appearance in the tower of the M. E. church at Rugby, ten miles northeast of Columbus. It appears precisely at midnight, and three young men of the place who avowed that they were unafraid of spooks watched at the church, and when the light appeared they boldly ascended to the tower only to be met by a ghostly form draped in white, before which they fled in terror, nor could they be induced to return to their investigation.

The Rev. Charles H. DeVoe, pastor of the First Christian church, of Peru, has been one of the foremost workers for civic righteousness in that city since his coming, some years ago. He is a man who says what he thinks and frequently hits hard. At a meeting of women at the Methodist church he said, among other things: "What is this world coming to when women will put their children in the hands of a nurse to be half taken care of while they go out automobiling with a flossy dog, with its hair washed and combed, and that actually receives more care than the children?" There were 400 women at the meeting.

Forrest Wilson, 15 years old, while hunting near Portland, slipped from a log and fell. His gun was discharged and the shot almost tore off an arm. Amputation at the shoulder was necessary.

Mrs. Mary Trojanoski, of Hammond, celebrated her hundredth birthday last week. The excitement was too much for her and she died after a day's illness. She was hale and hearty and called on her friends up to the time of her birthday.

Ora Mitchell, of Winamac, while attempting to give a horse a quantity of gunpowder for medical purposes, was seriously hurt by the explosion of the powder, caused by a spark from his pipe. His arm was badly torn and his face was filled with powder by the force of the explosion.

An old hen owned by J. W. Mattingly, of Bedford, attracted the attention of her owner by her peculiar actions. He caught her to investigate her troubles and found a hard lump at the base of the neck. With his knife he cut into the fowl's craw and found a lump of coal almost an inch square. The chicken soon recovered from the surgical operation.

An interurban car, going at the rate of twenty miles an hour, crashed into a fire wagon, answering an alarm at Gary. Oscar Olson and William Frazer, two of the firemen, were seriously injured. Four other firemen on the wagon escaped injury. The wagon and horses were dragged fifty feet by the car. The wagon was demolished but the horses escaped.

Edward Klaser, aged 15, and married two years ago to Louise McCormick, a girl in knee dresses, has been granted a divorce in the Circuit Court at Evansville. He stated he was under the hypnotic influence of the girl at the time of the marriage and that he did not know what he was doing. He is the father of a 1-year-old child, and the custody of the little one was given the mother.

David McGuire, of Muncie, whose wife alleged that he was the "meanest man in the United States," because he sold the family Bible in order to obtain money with which to buy whiskey, and robbed the children's penny banks for the same purpose, was sentenced to Michigan City prison for a period of one to ten years for larceny. He stole a small amount of bond wire from a traction company and was sentenced for this, but had it not been for his reputation for "meanness" he might have been allowed to get away with a lighter penalty.

Maurice Donnegan, 69 years old, a retired cooper, died from injuries received at his home in Aurora a few days ago. Dreaming that burglars were in his house he arose and started in pursit, and fell from a rear window in the second story of his home to the ground nearly twenty feet below. He was awakened by the fall and returned to his bed, apparently uninjured. When his family wished to call a physician he said it was unnecessary. He was taken suddenly ill and died within a few hours from internal injuries caused by the fall.

Because he had heard that it is bad luck if a black cat crosses in front of one, Carl Rankin, 17 years old, of Logansport, hurled a rock at a cat of dark hue, which was about to cross his path. The cat dodged the stone and continued across, and the next moment Rankin knew that the old saying was true, for he received a sledge-hammer blow on the side of the jaw which felled him to the sidewalk. Clarence Lawton, a Pan Handle fireman, who was walking along the street in company with his fiancee, Miss May Closson, was Rankin's nemesis. He is a great cat fancier, and his ire was raised when he saw the youth hurl the stone att he cat, and on the impulse of the moment he knocked down the superstitious Rankin.

A disease of a peculiar nature has been playing havoc with a number of horses belonging to William J. Smith, near Fowler, seven having died from the disease within the last few days. Dr. Baker, a veterinarian, who attended the horses, has held post-mortem examinations on a number of them and found that the muscles of the esophagus had been paralyzed, and that the stomach and intestines were comparatively empty. The horses had been fed on millet hay and ensilage. The latter, when put in the silo, was very green and contained many weeds, which is thought to have formed a poison that caused the paralytic condition. Practically every animal was worth $200 or more, and the loss has already reached more than $1,500, with two more horses still sick.

Hundreds of Columbus people who have been getting free mineral water from what is locally known as "the stink well" for the last eighteen years are now wondering what they are going to do because the artesian well is reported to be going dry. The well is in North Jackson street and has been running constantly for about eighteen years. The water is mild and full of medical qualities and, as the owner has never charged a cent for it, the fluid has been taken away in buckets and barrels. People would make pilgrimages to the well nights and mornings and many have formed the habit of drinking this water the same as they drink tea or coffee. For the last few days the flow from the well has been dwindling until now the water barely flows over the top of the standpipe.

S. E. Briggs, of Columbia City, is working on an automatic device to deliver mail on rural routes. The carrier travels on an overhead wire at a high rate of speed, and discharges mail pouches at desired intervals.

A mysterious fire destroyed a farmhouse six miles east of Frankfort. Al Weaver, a rich farmer, living alone, was found burned to death in the ruins of the house. The coroner is investigating. Robbery, murder and incendiarism are suspected.

COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL

CHICAGO.

While the average volume of payments through the banks this week has fallen slightly, that for the month makes a gratifying exhibit. Credits have acquired strength and the record of trading defaults has made a closer return to the normal.

Commercial developments reflect well-sustained progress, encouragement being imparted by the improved tone in money and wider tendency toward new enterprises. Construction shows an unusual aggregate of planned work involving heavy outlays; railroads make the necessary financing for extensions and equipment, and the outlook steadily grows better for the manufacturing interests.

Some readjustment of prices for finished steel is a preliminary to commitments for large tonnage, and there is further ease in some minor metals, but lumber, leather, hides and wool values remain steady.

Wholesale merchandising in staple lines scores a gratifying advance, some departments surpassing the best previous totals, with dry goods lines reporting new records.

Weather conditions favored an enlarged consumption of the necessaries and an adequate reduction of stocks at retail. The buying power generally indicates a sustained recovery, and there is gradual reinforcement from the increasing employment at factories and in building trades.

Early spring is likely to see widespreading activity in iron and woodworking. Current buying of supplies for conversion testify to expanding outputs of finished products, while freight traffic is augmented by forwardings of heavy materials and grain.

Failures reported in the Chicago district number 35, against 23 last week, 37 in 1908 and 26 in 1907. Those with liabilities over $5,000 number 7, against 7 last week, 10 in 1908 and 13 in 1907. —Dun's Review of Trade.

NEW YORK.

Trade is rather quieter this week, exceptions being a few points in the West, Southwest and Pacific Northwest, where more is reported doing by wholesalers and jobbers. At most markets new demand is still conservative, an indisposition prevailing to buy heavily pending the settlement of tariff, crop or other uncertainties, and the tendency is, as throughout most of last year, to buy in small lots for quick shipment.

Lines showing especially quiet conditions just at present are iron and steel, in which demand is disappointing, despite reports of cuts in finished lines calculated to enlarge business.

Fertilizers, implements and seeds are as active as heretofore. Lumber awaits the open season for building, but it is noted that demand is better in the Pacific Northwest, where output is increasing. Coal is not as active as earlier looked for.

Business failures in the United States for the week ending Jan. 28 were 311, against 307 last week, 359 in the like week of 1908, 211 in 1907, 228 in 1906 and 239 in 1905. Canadian failures for the same period number forty-two, compared with forty last week and forty-four in this week last year.—Bradstreet's.

THE MARKETS

Chicago—Cattle, common to prime, $4.00 to $7.25; hogs, prime heavy, $4.50 to $6.90; sheep, fair to choice, $3.00 to $5.60; wheat, No. 2, $1.05 to $1.07; yellow, 61c to 63c; oats, No. 3, white, 49c to 50c; rye, No. 2, 75c to 76c; hay, timothy, $8.00 to $12.50; prairie, $8.00 to $11.50; butter, choice creamery, 25c to 28c; eggs, fresh, 30c to 38c; potatoes, per bushel, 65c to 70c.

Indianapolis—Cattle, shipping, $3.00 to $7.00; hogs, good to choice heavy, $3.50 to $5.60; sheep, good to choice, $2.50 to $4.00; wheat, No. 2, $1.03 to $1.04; corn, No. 2 white, 59c to 60c; oats, No. 2 white, 49c to 51c.

St. Louis—Cattle, $4.50 to $7.65; hogs, $4.00 to $6.50; sheep, $3.00 to $5.25; wheat, No. 2, $1.10 to $1.14; corn, No. 2, 60c to 61c; oats, No. 2, 50c to 52c; rye, No. 2, 76c to 77c.

Cincinnati—Cattle, $4.00 to $6.25; hogs, $4.00 to $6.60; sheep, $3.00 to $5.00; wheat, No. 2, $1.11 to $1.13; corn, No. 2 mixed, 61c to 62c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 51c to 53c; rye, No. 2, 79c to 80c.

Detroit—Cattle, $4.00 to $5.25; hogs, $4.00 to $6.45; sheep, $2.50 to $4.00; wheat, No. 2, $1.07 to $1.08; corn, No. 3 yellow, 61c to 62c; oats, No. 3 white, 51c to 53c; rye, No. 2, 76c to 78c.

Milwaukee—Wheat, No. 2 northern, $1.07 to $1.10; corn, No. 3, 61c to 62c; oats, standard, 51c to 52c; rye, No. 1, 75c to 76c; barley, No. 1, 64c to 65c; pork, mess, $15.50.

Buffalo—Cattle, choice shipping steers, $4.00 to $6.70; hogs, fair to choice, $4.00 to $6.65; sheep, common to good mixed, $4.00 to $4.75; lambs, fair to choice, $5.00 to $7.50.

New York—Cattle, $4.00 to $5.90; hogs, $3.50 to $6.70; sheep, $3.00 to $4.50; wheat, No. 2 red, $1.07 to $1.08; corn, No. 2, 66c to 67c; oats, natural white, 55c to 57c; butter, creamery, 25c to 28c; eggs, western, 35c to 39c.

Toledo—Wheat, No. 2, mixed, $1.06 to $1.08; corn, No. 2 mixed, 60c to 62c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 50c to 52c; rye, No. 2, 77c to 78c; clover seed, $5.55.

FEBRUARY

0492

L 903

The St. Joe News.

One Year - - $1.00
Six Month - - 50c
Three Months - - 25c

FRED B LEIGHTY
PUBLISHER.

Entered at the Post Office in St. Joe as second-class mail matter.

Editorially.

Cupid is the greatest lemon peddler going.

The premiums on dishonesty are money and sorrow.

How would you like to be the wireless telegraph operator?

The greatest fairy tales of the times are those told by married men.

Mr. John Burroughs says he thinks few millionaires are happy. Well, are the other fellows?

The man who listens to what the other fellow has to say may get a new view point.

You always can trust the man who never did anything, to tell you how to pull off something big.

There is now a probability that we will change our White House rough rider for a rough dancer.

Don't hear any talk in Congress about March 4th., being too early for inauguration day this year, do you?

Timely topic—See if the moths are in your summer overcoat by this time. Oh, that's all right; keep the change.

"Mr. Bryan may go to the Senate; Mr. Roosevelt may go, also," says the Pittsburg Post. And then there may be some fun.

Archeologists have discovered that the Hittites were a world-power 8,000 years ago. The Hittites must have used the big stick.

Mine—Something that people invest in for the benefit of the instigators. The money is not in the mine; it is in the sucker.

"Women will rule the world 13 years from now," says a college professor. That fellow is at least 12 years behind the times.

The fact that Eve had to make her own clothes and do her own work would bar her from society, anyhow, even if she were living to-day.

If the North Pole doesn't want to be discovered, it had better dive under the berg, for an Eskimo, with a scientific education, is going after it. For the first time the North Pole is up against somebody an its own class.

Nervous Collapse

"I have traveled for thirty years continually. I lost a great deal of sleep, which together with constant worry left me in such a nervous state that finally, after having two collapses of nervous prostration, I was obliged to give up traveling altogether. I doctored continually but with no relief. Dr. Miles' Nervine came to my rescue—I cannot describe the suffering which this Nervine saved me. Whenever I am particularly nervous a few doses relieve me." A. G. C. LIBBY, Wells, Me.

There are many nervous wrecks. There is nervous prostration of the stomach, of the bowels, and other organs. The brain, the kidneys, the liver, the nerve centers are all exhausted. There is but one thing to do—build up the nervous system by the use of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. Its strengthening influence upon the nervous system restores normal action to the organs, and when they all work in harmony, health is assured. Get a bottle from your druggist. Take it all according to directions, and if it does not benefit he will return your money.

The more they roast Roosevelt the thicker grows the fog.

The imprints of honesty and right living is almost always to be read in a man's face. Occasionally, of course, a tydographical error is made, but not often.

"Sympathy," says an exchange, "is the gulf stream of life." Yes, and the darned stream is so full of poodle dogs that a married man can't dive in to save his life.

The fact that the Pullman Company's surplus is in the neighborhood of $30,000,000 looks suspiciously like the porters were being required to "turn in the tips."

Soldier Balks Death Plot.

It seemed to J. A. Stone, a civil war veteran, of Kemp, Tex., that a plot existed between a desperate lung trouble and the grave to cause his death. "I contracted a stubborn cold," he writes, "that developed a cough that stuck to me, in spite of all remedies, for years. My weight run down to 130 pounds. Then I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery, which restored my health completely. I now weigh 178 pounds." For severe Colds, obstinate Coughs, Hemorrhages, Asthma, and to prevent Pneumonia it's unrivaled. 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by H. Milliman.

Mrs. Wm. Hart of Auburn visited with relatives and friends at this place a part of last week.

The Poultry YARD.

A Few Pointed Paragraphs of Interest to Farmers Who Raise Poultry.

Anybody can keep hens, but not anybody can have hens keep him.

Throw the house wide open for an hour or so on pleasant days, and give a thorough airing.

Sounds good to hear the merry cackle of the hens, and how glad we are to see the egg crop increasing.

Nervous or Sick Headache will yield quickly to the influence of Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. 25 doses 25 cents.

It will be many weeks before the hen with the frozen comb will do anything toward filling the egg basket.

Too much pure air in the quarters is almost impossible. Give plenty of ventilations, avoiding direct drafts.

Mix a tablespoonful of charcoal with a quart of mash, every other day during this month. It will have a wonderful tonic effect.

A cold, uncomfortable hen will not lay. The expert poultryman knows that, and accordingly he feeds well and makes his fowls work.

Green stuff is a scarce article these days. Steamed clover and leaves are a good substitute. The clover contains lime and other elements that increase egg production.

Do not allow the fowls outdoors unless the runs are clear of snow. Poultry that are compelled to eat snow to quench their thirst are apt to suffer from bowel disorder.

February is the beginning of the duck-laying season, but not before the latter end of the month. Young ducklings, well reared, are laying now, but there is not much profit in their eggs, as they are not suitable for hatching.

Heat is needed in the poultry house only when the ventilation is so bad that the air would be moist without the heat to compel the air to absorb it. But it is more reasonable properly to ventilate the poultry house and keep it dry in that way.

If there is any bad weather coming to us, it generally makes its appearance during February. The wise poultryman is the one who has already prepared for that emergency, and his hens are not only comfortable, but are laying eggs in large quantities.

The best way to warm poultry is by giving them something to do. So keep plenty of litter on the floor and scatter grain in it. Make it a rule to leave the laying hens to themselves during the fore part of the day. That is their busy time, and they do not like to be disturbed then.

In charging an incubator with eggs they should all be of uniform size and color. The brown shells are thicker than the white shells, and therefore demand different treatment. Moisture or ventilation sufficient for the one class would not do for the other. This is the cause of many failures.

Hen mites can be killed in winter as well as in summer. If the hens can be removed to other quarters, the smoking process will destroy the mites but it must be kept up for several days in succession. Put cobs, chips, etc., with a little sulphur, into a large kettle and set it on stones in the center of the pen. Keep it supplied, and keep watch over it.

Wheat and Checkerboard

There has been a problem going the rounds like this: "If one grain of wheat is placed on the first spot of a checkerboard, two on the second, four on the third, etc., until the entire 64 are covered, how much wheat will it require?" Most people think they could easily carry the grain in a sack or two, but it is not so. G. K. Russel, of Zone, gives the following result and he is nearly right: 18,446,744,063,709,551,615 grains. George has also figured out just how much that amounts to by converting it into bushels, car loads and then train loads. He gives the following: 17,620,163,266, 159 bushels allowing 17,440 grains to the pound. Now, if you allow 500 bushels to the car load it would require 35,240,336,232 cars. If the cars are 40 feet long there would be 132 cars in a mile and the train that would be required to haul this wheat would be 266,972,246 miles long and the train would reach 11,124 times around the earth. You can readily see that no checkerboard could hold that wheat but as simple as the question may seem, the figures are beyond the comprehension of the human mind. Try the thing on your calculating machine and see how near Mr. Russel is right.—Fayette Review.

The Secret of Long Life.

A French scientist has discovered one secret of long life. His method deals with the blood. But long ago millions of Americans have proved Electric Bitters prolongs life and makes it worth living. It purifies, enriches and vitalizes the blood, rebuilds wasted nerve cells, imparts life and tone to the entire system. Its a godsend to weak, sick and debilitated people. "Kidney trouble had blighted my life for months," writes W. M. Sherman, of Cushing, Me., "but Electric Bitters cured me entirely." Only 50c. at H. Milliman's.

JULIA MARLOWE.

MUCH interest is taken in Miss Julia Marlowe's work this season in the interpretation of the role of Katharine in "The Taming of the Shrew." The actress herself is far from a vixenish woman, and just because the part is so difficult for a person of her natural sweetness and winsomeness to take she enters into its portrayal with the more enthusiasm.

Miss Marlowe has succeeded very well in keeping a youthful appearance, partly because of her devotion to diversions out of doors. She has a home in the Catskills where ordinarily she spends much of the time between theatrical seasons, and on the tennis court or the golf links, walking or automobiling, she recruits her energies for the stress and strain of her winter's work before the footlights. Although publicity is an essential to her professional success, Miss Marlowe does not like it when off the stage. She once attended a performance in a New York theater where, despite her request for a seat far back among the orchestra chairs, the management assigned her to a box. At the conclusion of the second act an usher handed her a note which read:

My Dear Miss Marlowe—Will you please sit a little farther forward in the box, as I am anxious to get a good look at you? I have seen you many times on the stage, but never before as yourself. Your admirer.

The writer was a woman and presumably of the genus matinee girl.

DeKalb Mutual

The annual meeting of the Farmer's Mutual Insurance Company was held in Auburn last Saturday. The report of the Secretary shows that the membership has increased to 3,490 and the total amount of insurance in force is $4,909,300. During the past year the company had fifty-three losses, twenty-five by lightning and twenty-eight by fire, with a total loss of $8,141.79 which was paid by an assessment of 16 cents on each $100. The largest business of the company is in Fairfield and the lowest is in Stafford. The newly elected officers are, Albert Thrush of Butler township, president; Wm. Norris of Richmond township, vice president; Phillip Carper of Jackson township, secretary; John Hebel of Auburn, treasurer; Charles Bangs of Richland township, actuary. Directors elected were: James Provines of Jackson township, Henry St. Clair of Auburn and John H. Urey of Richland.

Public Sale

The undersigned will sell at public sale at residence 2 miles south of Hall's Corners on the Ft. Wayne and Hicksville road and 3½ miles east of Maysville on the George Zimmerman farm, on Thursday, February 18th., at 10 o'clock a. m. the following: 1 Norman mare coming 5-yr. old, weight about 1350 lb., 1 bay mare coming 8 yr. old weight about 1150 lb., 1 bay coach colt coming 2-yr. old, 1 colt coming 1-yr. old, 9 head of shoats weighing about 60 lb. each. All thorough bred Durock and will make good brooders, also one Durock brood sow will farrow last of March. Farm wagon, box, hay rack tight bottom, new pair of bob sleds, single top buggy, set of all brass heavy team harness, set single harness, sleigh, spring and spike tooth harrow, buggy pole, two single shovel plows. Terms made known on day of sale.

Geo. Zimmerman & Son.

J. L. Rhodenbaugh, Auctioneer.
A. D. Brunson, Clerk.

J. H. Lake M. D.

has permanently located in the O. H. Widney property on 4th street, opposite opera house and invites you to call on him.

Calls answered day or night.

BELL PHONE NO. 83.

St. Joe, - Indiana.

Local News Items.

Curie's up-to-date restaurant.

Dr. Miles Anti-Pain Pills—Not only stop the pain, but do it quickly.

Andrew Sponhour, wife and daughter, Emmit Armstrong and wife, and Mrs. Charles Bishop and two children visited with Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Hoffman last week.

314 West Second St. AUBURN, IND

We make a specialty of funeral work and handle a full line of designs. Fine assortment of in and out of door bulbs.

C. M. TenEyck & Son,
Proprietors.
HOME and BELL TELEPHONES.

I Have Added

to my stock of Hardware a small stock of Furniture. Iron Beds, Husk and Cotton Felt Mattresses, Bed springs, Chairs Tables, Etc.

HARDWARE

My stock of Hardware is complete. I have the largest assortment of Reeds Flintstone ware ever seen in

ST. JOE

Look at the label, it it is Reeds Flintstone ware, it is warranted. Everybody is learning the quality of Keen Kutter tools. Pocket Knives, Razors, Chisels, Hatchets, Hammers Cross cut and Hand Saws, all kept in stock.

Goods are right, Prices are right.

D. J. Baker.

FREE SAMPLE OFFER----15 Days Only

Beautiful Bright Sparkling Famous

$5 BARNATTO DIAMOND RING

Ladies' or Gentlemen's.

Approximates genuine in brilliancy—detection baffles experts—fills every requirement of the most exacting—pleases the most fastidious—at only one-thirtieth the cost of the real diamond.

As a means of introducing this marvelous and wonderful, scintillating gem, securing as many new friends as quickly as possible, we are making a special inducement for the new year.

We want you to wear this beautiful Ring, this masterpiece of man's handicraft, this simulation that sparkles with all the beauty, and flashes with all the fire of

A Genuine Diamond of the first water. We want you to show it to your friends and take orders for us, as it sells itself—sells at sight—and makes for you, absolutely without effort on your part.

100 per cent PROFIT 100 per cent

We want good, honest representatives everywhere, in every locality, city or country, in fact, in every country throughout the world, both men and women, young or old, who will not sell or pawn the Barnatto Simulation Diamonds under the pretense that they are Genuine Gems, as such action with simulation diamonds sometimes leads to trouble or embarrassment, as shown by the following article from The Chicago Examiner, Nov. 15, 1908:

The King of Diamonds Has License Taken Away. Alleged Bogus Gem Man Rails at Newspapers.

BURLINGTON, IA., Nov. 14—For sometime past newspapers in Iowa cities have been reporting the operations of a man whom they called "The King of Diamonds." It appears that there was nothing criminal in his operations, which consisted in selling "phoney" diamonds, but his methods of prosecdure were not exactly according to the rules. He usually drops into a jobbing house and tells of meeting such and such a representative of the house on the road and selling him a diamond, to be delivered at the store. He explains that the diamond is only an imitation, and offers to sell anybody else around the place the same thing. Thus he works up an interest and usually succeeds in selling some of his glassware. Mr. Jack of Diamonds dropped into City Auditor Norton's office one morning and secured a license to sell his wares. He had only been out a short time, however, until Chief of Police Hiltz learned of him. Calling in the peddler, he relieved him of his license and gave him back the money he had paid for it. As the man had committed no crime he was released. He was bitter against the newspapers for injuring his business.

If you want to wear a simulation diamond, to the ordinary observer almost like unto a gem of the purest ray serene, a fitting substitute for the genuine; or if you want to make money, don't wait—ACT TODAY, as this advertisement may not appear, nor this unusual and extraordinary opportunity occur, again. Fill out the coupon below and send at once—first come, first served.

THE BARNATTO DIAMOND CO.,
GIRARD BUILDING, CHICAGO. Write here name of paper.

Sirs:—Send free, sample offer, ring, carrings, stud or scarf (stick) pin, catalogue,

NAME ..... R. F. D. R. No.....
..... STREET, P. O. BOX.....
TOWN OR CITY..... STATE.....

Headache Every Month

You may think, because you have long had it, that you must have a headache every month, being a woman.

But if you think so, you are wrong, since a headache is a sign of disease of your womanly organs, that thousands of other women have been able to relieve or cure, by the use of that wonderful, woman's medicine,

WINE OF CARDUI

WOMAN'S RELIEF

"I recommend Cardui to all sick women," writes Mrs. A. C. Beaver of Unicoi, Tenn. "I suffered with headache, bearing-down pains, feet swelled, pains in shoulders and many others. At last I took Cardui, have gained 20 pounds and have found it the best medicine I ever used for female troubles."

At All Druggists

WRITE FOR FREE ADVICE, stating age and describing symptoms, to Ladies Advisory Dept., The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn. E 87

PATENTS

PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo. for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc. IN ALL COUNTRIES. Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent.

Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively. Write or come to us at 622 Ninth Street, opp. United States Patent Office, WASHINGTON, D. C.

CA·SNOW & Co.

PHOTOGRAPHS.

We make them

AT THE

Tustison Studio.

Fine Portraits on Postals - - $1.00 per doz.

Call and get prices on

FAMILY GROUPES.

WHEN DEATH COMES

Friends and loved ones desire that the last services be conducted in the best way possible. The embalming and funeral need careful attention. Elza Kinsey, a licensed embalmer, takes charge of all funerals. Satisfaction guaranteed. Calls answered day or night

H. V. Kinsey & Son,

Phone No. Office 37-2. Residance 37-

FEBRUARY

0493

L 903

SPENCERVILLE NEWS.

A Department of the ST. JOE NEWS for the Spencerville People.

Undertaking and Embalming.

Two Funeral Cars. One in White and the other in Black. We also furnish one elegant cab for Pall Bearers or friends. Prices reasonable

Beams & Baker.

LOCAL NEWS

LOCAL HISTORY MADE DURING THE PAST WEEK, IN BRIEF PARAGRAPHS

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills relieve pain.

Miss Pluma Kimes was the guest of Clara Keesler Sunday.

The protracted meetings will continue at the M. E. church during this week.

Wm. Allen is about town again after a several weeks illness. It looks good to see him about.

Mr. E. H. Sowash of Middleton, Indiana, was the guest of friends and relatives here Tuesday.

A. F. Heyman will move to Ft. Wayne in a short time where he expects to go into business with his brother.

I have only 4 more half acre lots left to sell, if you expect to build, now is your chance. Best location in town. Prices right. Located on Main St. in Spencerville. J. Beams.

Our light is the Bystrom

I am exclusive agent for Dekalb and Allen County. We have them for the country home and business rooms. You can teli them any where by the soft white light they give.

GEORGE MILLIMAN.
AGENT.

Mrs. Sweeney is on the sick list.

For headache Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills

Wm. Henderson and wife of Auburn were the guests of relatives here a couple of days last week.

The Guild society will meet on Thursday of next week, being postponed at their last meeting.

Grandpa Fales is very low with La-Grippe. It is very severe with old people and especially one of the age of Mr. Fales.

Will Sommers and wife returned from Akron, Ohio, Monday where they have been visiting for several weeks.

Mr. George Gelhausen of Garrett, visited his grandmother Mrs. Mariah Oberholtzer, and F. E. Bowman and wife Sunday.

Miss Philley will give the second number of our lecture course to-night. She has been here before and will no doubt draw a good crowd.

The missionary meeting met last week, with Mrs. Henry Beams. A very interesting meeting was held. After adjournment luncheon was served.

Geo. Kimes and wife were called to the home of John Moody, Saturday evening, on account of the serious illness of their little baby. The little one is not out of danger.

Grace Fales with a friend is conducting a very successful dresamaking establishment in Auburn. There is an authentic report that she has been adopted by her uncle George Wilson, of Hicksville.

Mr. Speerey of Ft. Wayne, was in town last week, and purchased a car load of handle timber of L. W. Steward and made a contract for more. As soon as Mr. Steward gets his lumber yard shaped up he will commence business right.

Sunday School attendance record has been very much decreased of late. This should not be so, rather every Sunday School member should work hard to keep up interest. The young people are practicing for Sunday School singing and we hope to prove that we are independent enough to come, other than because we think we came because pastor won't be calling next day to ask why we were not present.

Our Total Resources

on January 2 1909 were

$83,062.93

Our total resources one year ago or on January 2 1908 were

$60,238.98

A gain in one year of

$22,823.95

The above figures speak for themselves. There's a reason for our steady growth. Come and investigate and you will grow with us. We pay 4% interest on Time Deposits.

Grabill State Bank,

Grabill Indiana

Interesting Debate

The high school debating society had the following for their subject on last Friday afternoon: Resolve that Woman Sufferage should not be allowed. The fair sex naturally took the negative, while the boys the opposite side the affirmative. Events ranging from those of the Garden of Eden to the present were discussed which made an interesting and heated debate. The judges decided in favor of the negative. After which many comments were made by visitors at the request of Mr. Keiting.

J A G Club

The girls club met with Ethel Metcalf, Saturday afternoon. Eight were present and a good time was had. This was the literary day, the program being in honor of Chas. Dickens. The after part of the meeting was spent in sewing and music, after which they were treated to fruit salad, cake and tea. Each one present was given a souvenir painting made by Miss Metcalf in honor of the meeting. Mr. Metcalf also treated to salted peanuts, chocolates and bananas upon his arrival from Auburn.

Rink Notice

On account of Opera House being used Saturday night the Rink will be open Thursday night, Feb. 11—09 instead of Saturday night.

Rather Quiet

The bank question has quieted down considerable but we are told that a few of our citizens are quite in favor of the project. Time will tell what the outcome will be but perhaps the capital is what will bother.

Frank Beams is on the sick list.

Mrs. Bert Davis has been sick for the past week.

Mrs. D. D. Metcalf and daughter-in-law are expected home this week, from Milwaukee, where they have been visiting relatives.

J D Fetters

TRUSTEE

of Concord Township.

OFFICE DAY:
THURSDAY OF EACH WEEK
at his farm residence One mile
EAST OF CONCORD.

Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Announcement.

LOW FARES TO WASHINGTON, D. C., account Presidential Inauguration Ceremonies Feb. 28 to March 3rd.

LOW RATES TO PITTSBURGH PA., account Ninth Annual Bowling Tournament. Feb. 28th., March 8th. and 15th.

HOMESEEKERS' EXCURSION FARE to points in the west, northwest and southwest, Feb. 16th.

Consult nearest B. & O. agent for particulars.

PATENTS

and TRADE-MARKS promptly obtained in all countries, or no fee. We obtain PATENTS THAT PAY, advertise them thoroughly, at our expense, and help you to success. Send model, photo or sketch for FREE report on patentability. 20 years' practice. SURPASSING REFERENCES. For free Guide Book on Profitable Patents write to

503-505 Seventh Street, WASHINGTON, D. C.

D. SWIFT & CO.

WABASH CORNERS.

Beatrie Wilson has the chickenpox.

Orange Herrick spent Saturday in Butler.

Mrs. Henry Jenkins is numbered with the sick.

Hazel and Alma Nelson are seriously sick with diptheria.

Harry Smith is working at the tower in Sam Nelsons' place.

Mrs. Mollie White spent Thursday with Mrs. Wm. Johnson of Fairview.

Emanuel Ulms purchased a horse of Ed Bills, north of St. Joe, last Thursday.

A large number from this place, attended the Milt Krise sale, Thursday.

C. A. Rhoads and wife of the County Line, spent Thursday at Dennis Buffleys'.

Sam and Bessie Daily and Blanche Ervin spent Sunday at Lew Howeys', near the Carper school house.

Mrs. Roy White and the correspondent spent Tuesday of last week, in St. Joe, the guests of Ella Gill and daughter.

Deem Hull and daughters, Gene White, wife and children, and Mrs. D. D. Burley and grandaughter, Merl Wilson, spent Sunday with Sherman Wolff and wife.

Mrs. Theodore Kline, Mrs. Millie Wilson and three children, Emma Tustison, Mrs. Flora Simanton and little grandson, spent Wednesday with D. D. Burley and wife.

People Say

Give me a box of your Cold Tablets

25c

NO CURE - NO PAY

—AT—

BOWMAN'S

Spencerville R F D No 2

Oscar Spitler is on the sick list.

Miss Fern Wearley is spending the week at Woodburn.

Harvie Kimes made a business trip to Ossian, last Thursday.

John House of Spencerville, was the guest of Roy Zimmerman, Sunday.

Mrs. Phillip Miller and daughter Iva, made a business trip to Fort Wayne, Saturday.

John Benninghoff, wife and son Golden, spent Sunday afternoon with W. O. Lake and wife.

Mrs. Alice Zimmerman and daughter Bina, spent Sunday with Mrs. Milo Walker of Coburntown.

Rev. Lewis Davis and son Olen of Huntington, came Friday to visit over Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Davis.

Mr. and Mrs. Moses Oberholtzer and family of near Harlan, spent Saturday with Mrs. Oberholtzer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Spitler.

Mrs. Wm. Rhoades was the guest of Mrs. George Howey, Sunday afternoon.

Misses Edna Wilson and Gertrude Shutt of Spencerville, spent Sunday with the latters parents, G. M. Shutt and family.

Eva Miller was the guest of Irene Kinsey of near Hall's Corners, Sunday.

S. S. 'Kimes

—M. D.—

Having located in the Markle building, is now ready to answer all calls, day or night. He invites you to call at the office and is ready to extend you every courtesy in keeping with the profession.

Phone No. 10.

Spencerville, Ind.

There are more McCall Patterns sold in the United States than of any other make of patterns. This is on account of their style, accuracy and simplicity.

McCall's Magazine (The Queen of Fashion) has more subscribers than any other Ladies' Magazine. Our new subscription (in numbers) costs 50 cents. Latest number, 5 cents. Every subscriber gets a McCall Pattern Free. Subscribe today.

Lady Agents Wanted. Handsome premiums in liberal cash commissions. Pattern Catalogue (of 800 designs) and Premium Catalogue (showing 400 premiums) sent free. Address THE McCALL CO., New York you an opportunity to purchase good dependable winter goods at our store at very low prices. Bargains everywhere. Come in and see what we have.

We are Giving

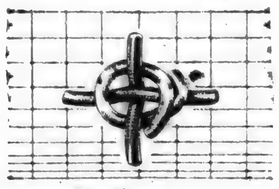
Beams & Co.

Fancy dishes at a great reduction in price
Don't forget this means a great saving for you

Sale Lasts until
Saturday, February 13, 09

Don't gorget the 2½ % discount on cash register tickets. All accounts must be settled not later than the thirteenth of February.

Illinois for Corn, But Spencerville for Fencing



The Michigan Wire Fence.
The Fence of Today.
The Landmark of the Future.

This fence is warranted to be made of a good quality of carbonized steel wire, having a tensile strength nearly double that of common annealed steel or soft wire. All of this fencing warranted to be made up of full gauge wire as represented in catalogue all line and stay wires the same size. Stays twelve inches apart. All styles and hefts of fence in stock at our place. Call and see the fence before you buy. Prices lower than the lowest on this quality of fencing.

BOWSER & GLOYD,
Implement Dealers

P. S:—We have sold over 4,000 rods to our customers during January.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills relieve Headaches, Neuralgia and all Pain.

Mr. John Benninghoff has purchased the Chas. Rhoads lot on Mill street and as soon as Mr. Rhoads moves the house off, Mr. Benninghoff will erect a residence. Chas. will fix up his place north of town and make that his home.

You will get relief from Pain when Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills are taken.

Bowser & Gloyd purchased the Henry Beams lot on Main street and half interest in the furniture building and expect to move into same as soon as a shed can be built for the shelter of their machinery. This summer an office building will be built.

Granite Sale.

Commencing Friday, Feb. 5th., and continuing one week only. We are going to offer our big line of Granite Ware at half price.

10c. values at	5c.
20c. values at	10c.
30c. values at	15c.
40c. values at	20c.
50c. values at	25c.
60c. values at	30c.
70c. values at	35c.

Also we will offer during the above sale anything in our dish wear at 20 per cent discount. Do not fail to get some of this wear as you will not be able again to get it at prices offered.

JACK BEAMS
HARDWARE
Spencerville, Indiana.

FEBRUARY

U494
L 903

To Enjoy

the full confidence of the Well-Informed of the World and the Commendation of the most eminent physicians it was essential that the component parts of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna should be known to and approved by them; therefore, the California Fig Syrup Co. publishes a full statement with every package. The perfect purity and uniformity of product, which they demand in a laxative remedy of an ethical character, are assured by the Company's original method of manufacture known to the Company only.

The figs of California are used in the production of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna to promote the pleasant taste, but the medicinal principles are obtained from plants known to act most beneficially.

To get its beneficial effects always buy the genuine—manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and for sale by all leading druggists.

Her Mamma.

In the Bohemian set of Chicago two of the popular members are a well-known writer and his wife, who has also written several books. They have a daughter about 4 years old. Recently the little girl was visiting at the home of a friend and her small playmate asked her, "Can your mamma sew?"

The daughter of the literary pair evidently was a bit chagrined. She could not remember that she ever had seen her mamma sew. She is a truthful child and would not claim any advantage she was not sure of, yet she felt mamma's honor was at stake.

"I don't know if mamma can sew," she replied, dubiously, "but she can smoke a cigarette."

ONE KIDNEY GONE.

But Cured After Doctors Said There Was No Hope.

Sylvanus O. Verrill, Milford, Me., says: "Five years ago a bad injury paralyzed me and affected my kidneys. My back hurt me terribly, and the urine was badly disordered. Doctors said my right kidney was practically dead. They said I could never walk again.

I read of Doan's Kidney Pills and began using them. One box made me stronger and freer from pain. I kept on using them, and in three months was able to get out on crutches, and the kidneys were acting better. I improved rapidly, discarded the crutches and to the wonder of my friends was soon completely cured."

Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Fruitage.

Nan—Where did Kit ever find him and why did she marry him? What a withered, insignificant little specimen he is!

Fan—That may be, but she picked him from a magnificent family tree.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

A Louisiana woman supports herself by raising mint, and a Jersey City woman makes a living by painting signs.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS

PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refunded. 50c.

A professor in Copenhagen University is said to chloroform plants. After several days they bud in great profusion.

Good Housekeepers Use the Best.

That's why they use Red Cross Ball Blue. At leading grocers. 5 cents.

Mark Twain's Invitation.

The story is told of Mark Twain that when he married in Elmira, in 1870, his father-in-law made him a present of a fine, well-furnished home in Buffalo. The present came as a superb surprise. Mark Twain knew nothing of it till, amid a party of relatives and friends, he was shown over the luxurious place. Then, when they told him it was his, tears filled his eyes. But he was still the humorist and turning to his father-in-law he said, though in a voice that trembled a little: "Mr. Langdon, whenever you're in Buffalo, if it's as much as twice a year, you are to come right up here and take tea. You can stay all night too, if you want to and it shan't cost you a cent."

BASHFUL MAN'S VALENTINE.

The dearest girl in all the town!
"My Valentine," I name her;
For, though she's never really given
In words the right to claim her,
The glances Dolly bends on me,
Her smiles could not be sweeter—
I sometimes fancy, though, I see
The same bestowed on Peter.

For many a day I've longed to say:
"I love you, Dolly, dearest;"
But never can I speak the words
That to my heart are nearest;
For such a bashful man am I,
That when, by chance together,
I always stammer, blush and sigh
And talk about—the weather!

'Tis strange that making love should be
So dread an undertaking,
That just the very thought of it
Should set my knees a-shaking;
And when I try my very best
To turn a sentence neatly,
The few ideas with which I'm blest
Should fly away completely!

I sit beside her in the choir,
We share one book together,
And after service I slip in
Some trite remarks on weather
While walking with her to the door—
But waiting there to meet her
Is sure to be that tiresome bore,
That same persistent Peter!

But yesterday, in gentlest way,
She smiled at me demurely,
I clasped her little hand in mine—
She knew I loved her—surely.
In desperate haste I racked my brain
Some happy phrase to borrow,
Then fondly said: "We shall have rain,
I fear, before to-morrow."

This day of all the year I hoped
The fates might be propitious
And help my tongue to frame my thoughts
In language more judicious;
Or if my words, despite my care,
Should touch upon the weather,
They might suggest that we could share
Life's storm and shine together.

The sweetest girl in all the town!
An hour ago I met her—
She looked a vision of delight—
Ah! how can I forget her?
Enraptured, at her side I walked,
And really, for a wonder,
Of wind and storm I never talked,
Nor mentioned rain and thunder.

My bashfulness forsook me quite—
The hour for which I'd waited
Had come at last, and ardent words
Would soon my case have stated;
But when I urged my eager plea
And tenderly would greet her,
She said: "I've just agreed to be A valentine to Peter."

—Ellen Manly, in Sunday Magazine.

Mary Ellen's Slate Valentine

The last winds of February were howling around the little brick school house and the pupils in the back seats shivered with cold.

Mary Ellen sat in the second row because she was only seven years old, and the direct rays from the glowing stove made her cheeks burn. This gave an excuse for turning her face aside, and then she could exchange smiles with her dearly loved friend Arabella, who sat at the next desk on her right. Loveliness always possessed great charm for little Mary Ellen, and by turning to the left she could feast her eyes in looking at Rufus Baily, a new boy. He was ten years old and sat in the third row. He had tow-colored hair and a big nose, but Mary Ellen made herself believe that she was deeply in love with him. A new slate was her most cherished possession, and on it she printed the name of Rufus over and over again. Three days before the day of good St. Valentine poetry came all unexpected to little Mary Ellen.

'I think Of thee dear Rufus,
When the storm Goes round my bed;
I lie there In wonder
And think Perhaps he's dead."

She printed them upon her slate, and then came a yearning for fame. She could hardly wait for recess time, that she might proudly display the lines to her little chum.

Arabella's wonder and admiration were as incense in the nostrils of the child poet, but she was somewhat disturbed when Arabella asked:

"Do you really lie awake nights? And what makes you think Rufus may be dead?"

Not being able to explain it, Mary Ellen compromised by putting her slate on the woodpile and saying:

"Come, let's go and play, quick before the bell rings."

All too soon that summons came, and they lingered till the last minute, and then, quite forgetful of the slate in the woodshed, they ran in just as the boys came trooping out for their turn at recreation.

Soon a great shouting, with jeering calls at "dear Rufus," were heard outside, and Mary Ellen turned pale at the recollection of her beloved slate. As soon as the boys were called in she begged permission to go out. A giggle ran around the school room when she returned with the slate clasped in her arms.

An angry gleam shot from the pale gray eyes of Rufus, who was destined for many a day to hear the lines repeated with all manner of variations.

A GIGGLE RAN ROUND THE SCHOOL.

Mary Ellen, however, experienced a thrill of tremulous joy in thinking that Rufus must now be aware of her tender regard. It was a blissful thought!

On opening her desk one morning she found a strip of paper tightly rolled. When she had smoothed it out, her astonished eyes read these heartless words:

"You are the biggest old boby ever went to school. You think I like you, but I don't."

Laughed at His Own Stories.

The world has read "Lincoln stories" and enjoyed them. The testimony of all who heard Lincoln tell his stories is that they sounded even better than they read. Lincoln, those who knew him well say, smiled and chuckled and laughed outright as he proceeded with his narrative. Sometimes he stopped and laughed aloud before he reached his climax. He gave localities and persons to his stories. He lived over the incidents he described if they were personal reminiscences. He was not the professional entertainer. He enjoyed the story as much as the listener. He told the story to illustrate rather than for the mere sport of telling.

"Lincoln was a great joker and was always telling funny stories, making them apply to something that was said or done in his presence," is the way Lyman Lacey, Sr., of Havana (Ill.) puts it. Mr. Lacey began to practice law in Havana in 1857 and met Lincoln at court in the litigation of that period.

"Lincoln was always being 'reminded of something,' as he would say, that had been said or done by some one. And he would name the person. Even when he lived in Menard County, as it is known now, he had his own peculiar way of telling his stories. When he came to the point where the merriment should come in Lincoln would laugh very heartily and then finish the story. The auditors would then laugh. By this habit he informed them where the laugh came in, if there was any doubt about it. Every one liked 'Old Abe,' as they called him."

When worthy men fall out, only one of them may be faulty at first; but if strife continue long, commonly both become guilty.—Fuller.

LINCOLN AND HIS LOVE OF CHILDREN

LINCOLN AND HIS SON "TAD."

WHILE Lincoln was still living in New Salem, Ill., he was a frequent visitor at the house of a certain "Jack" Armstrong, who lived four miles out in the country. Mrs. Armstrong, writes F. L. Waldo in the Philadelphia Ledger, has told how kind he was to children of the family. "Abe would come out to our house, drink milk, eat mush, cornbread and butter, bring the children candy and rock the cradle while I got him something to eat. He would tell stories and joke with the girls and boys at parties. He would nurse babies—do anything to accommodate anybody."

After Lincoln had children of his own he would go out into the woods and fields with them on Sundays. He was an ideal playmate and companion. He would patiently answer their innumerable questions about everything in sight, explaining with unwearying good nature from his own limited knowledge of natural phenomena what everything meant, what this and that was for. If he thought, however, that "Bob" or "Tad" deserved rebuke he was prompt and firm in his reproof.

In the closing days of the war as the Union troops homeward-bound were marching by the White House, "Old Glory" was unfurled to the breeze from a balcony by the President himself. But the irrepressible Tad—the Archie Roosevelt of the Executive Mansion—had somehow, somewhere found a Confederate flag and promptly displayed it at the same time that his father waved in air the star-spangled banner. Mr. Lincoln could not help laughing, and the crowd, following his example, laughed and cheered vociferously.

Lincoln's affectionate tenderness toward other people's children paralleled his loving kindness toward his own. One little girl who went hand-in-hand with her father to the White House to see the President had been told he was very ugly. Lincoln took the child upon his knee and beamed upon her, as he asked affectionately after her doll's health, and told her a funny story. Presently she turned to her father in a transport of delight, and exclaimed: "Why, papa, he isn't ugly at all; he's just beautiful!" On the occasion of his visit to the National cemetery at Gettysburg to deliver his great address, a little girl was lifted to the open window of his car to give him a bunch of roses. Overwhelmed at finding herself face to face with Mr. Lincoln, the child could only lisp the words, "Floweth for the President." He stooped and kissed her wee, fair face and delighted her by saying—even if she did not wholly understand his words: "You are a sweet little rosebud yourself. I hope your life will open into perpetual beauty and goodness."

One day Mr. Lincoln noticed among the throng of office seekers and visitors in the anteroom a little boy of frail and sickly appearance. Encouraged by the President's kindness, the lad told him falteringly that he had been a drummer boy for two years, and then his colonel in a fit of passion dismissed him. Most of the time since he had spent in the hospital. His father and mother were not living and he had no family to whom he might appeal. Lincoln's eyes filled with tears and he gave prompt orders that the proper authorities were "to care for this poor boy."

The few still living who knew Lincoln in the Springfield days remember the sight of a man, inordinately tall, with an old gray shawl in a loose roll like a boa round his neck and a little boy trotting along beside him on the way to market. One long, prehensile bony hand held the plump fist of Lincoln's first-born and the other clutched the handle of a great market basket. The man in his mind would be miles away from the childish prattle of the boy beside him, deeply meditating some problem of state, some crux of politics, though the walk would often be interrupted with a "Howd'y!" of recognition to a friend, and the invariable story to be told, dispersing the characteristic melancholy of Lincoln's features. The picture appeals to the imagination. Wordsworth said of Milton that his soul "the humblest burdens on herself did lay;" and whether the burden was a market basket or a nation's manifest destiny, the man Lincoln was ready to carry it.

SOMETHING FOR EVERYBODY

There is a weekly average of 450 deaths in New York City among children under 5 years old.

The United States consumes more than half of the world's production of sugar. This means 6,000,000,000 pounds a year.

The greatest monolith of modern times is the Alexander column in Admiralty Square, St. Petersburg. It is eighty feet in height and weighs 400 tons.

Great Britain would like to rid itself of rats. Recently a deputation from the Incorporated Society for the Destruction of Vermin, headed by Sir James Crichton Browne and the Duke of Bedford, waited upon Lord Carrington at the offices of the British Board of Agriculture and urged him to appoint a commission to inquire into the destruction of crops by rats.

Mr. Knox will be our fourth monosyllabic Secretary of State since 1897. He succeeds Root, who succeeded Hay, who succeeded Day. The earlier monosyllabic Secretaries of State were Smith, Clay, Case, Black, Fish and Blaine. Only one Secretary of State—Frelinghuysen—had a four-syllable name. There are seven three-syllable names in the list and twenty-one two-syllable names.

The record compiled by the Journal of Commerce shows that in the year now closed there were issued by various corporations of new bonds, notes and stocks, to the nominal value of 1,$1,419,00,000; this is an increase, compared with 1907, of nearly $26,000,000. New securities authorized, though only partially distributed, amounted to $2,189,000,000, or eighty-seven and one-fifth millions more than in the previous year.

When the German Emperor was the guest of the Archduke Franz Ferdinand at Eckarstan for deer shooting he spoke every day to his entourage at Berlin over a special telephone line. This wire, forty miles long, was specially laid at great expense to suit the Kaiser's convenience for a few days and because the ordinary wires did not carry the voice clearly enough. To prevent the Kaiser's telephone talk being overheard all other lines were disconnected before his majesty began to speak.

Chief among the natural riches of Asia Minor are the vast forests which cover the interior mountain ranges of the country. In the Vilayet of Smyrna for example, there are 1,600,000 acres of valuable woodland, which comprise nearly one-eighth of the entire vilayet or province. The kinds of timber consist chiefly in larch, oak, boxwood, pine, cypress and cedar. In the vilayet of Adana there are 1,200,000 acres of forest and there is considerable timber, tar and resin explored from the port of Mersina every year.

Miss Ella G. Wilcox has been elected to the School Board of Malden, Mass. This is looked upon as a great triumph by the women of Malden, as both political parties refused to nominate her and she was forced to run independently. In Everett Miss Belle D. Curtis was elected to the same office without opposition. In Somerville the regular Republican candidate defeated Mrs. Mary B. Brewer on the Citizens' ticket, while in Haverhill Miss Anne Wheeler was elected by a handsome majority over her male competitors.

Mrs. Jennie L. Doane of Brockton, Mass., has been appointed to administer the $500,000 estate of the late R. N. Packard and also is to have complete control of his large shoe factory. Mr. Packard died suddenly without making a will. His heirs were a brother and two sisters, none of whom knew anything about his business. Mrs. Doane had been in the employ of Mr. Packard for a number of years and he had often spoken of her ability to his relatives, declaring that she had more brains than any two men of his acquaintance. For that reason his heirs asked to have her appointed and put in full charge of his business.

The mineral wealth of Asia Minor is proverbial. In the Vilayet of Smyrna there are about sixty mines being worked under firemans and seventy-five under licenses. On the shores of the Black sea the coal fields of Heraclea form an actual source of vast potential wealth to the Turkish Empire. The beds extend long the shores of the Black sea for nearly forty miles and run inland, coming to an apex at Angora, a distance of nearly 200 miles. The coal, though lying in very thick seams, contains too many impurities for it to compete with English coal except after being hand picked and screened.

An Austrian inventor appears to have solved the problem of the regulation of clocks by wireless telegraphy, which has heretofore been rendered difficult because of the various disturbing influences in the atmosphere. The central clock of this inventor sends a signal only once every sixty seconds and the clocks to be controlled are provided with apparatus which will receive the Hertzian waves for that second only, while for the remaining fifty-nine they are unaffected by any Hertzian waves. In case of a disturbance during the one second when they are in circuit with the receiver, the disturbing wave may set the clock incorrectly, and for the next minute it will be a fraction of a second fast or slow. However, this inaccuracy will be corrected by the master-clock a minute later, when it is again placed in circuit with the receiving apparatus.

SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Louisville, Ky.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has certainly done me a world of good and I cannot praise it enough. I suffered from irregularities, dizziness, nervousness, and a severe female trouble. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored me to perfect health and kept me from the operating table. I will never be without this medicine in the house."—Mrs. SAM'L LEE, 3528 Fourth St., Louisville, Ky.

Another Operation Avoided.

Adrian, Ga.—"I suffered untold misery from female troubles, and my doctor said an operation was my only chance, and I dreaded it almost as much as death. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound completely cured me without an operation."—LENA V. HENRY, R. F. D. 3.

Thirty years of unparalleled success confirms the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to cure female diseases. The great volume of unsolicited testimony constantly pouring in proves conclusively that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a remarkable remedy for those distressing feminine ills from which so many women suffer.

Headache

Can be cured only by a remedy that will remove the cause.

The oftener you stop it with headache powders or pills the quicker it will return.

Generally, headache comes from a disturbed stomach or irregular bowels, and almost invariably

Lane's Family Medicine

(called also Lane's Tea)

a tonic laxative, will cure headache in short order by regulating the bowels and reinvigorating the stomach.

It is a great natural herb blood medicine and the favorite laxative of old and young.

At druggists', 25c. and 50c.

Let us do your Printing using

Eagle Linen

for your office stationery. You can get the paper and envelopes to match.

It is the real thing. Take no other.

No Matter

what Liver or Bowel medicine you are using, stop it now. Get a 10c box—week's treatment—of CASCARETS today from your druggist and learn how easily, naturally and delightfully your liver can be made to work, and your bowels move every day. There's new life in every box. CASCARETS are nature's helper. You will see the difference! 883

CASCARETS 10c a box for a week's treatment, all druggists. Biggest seller in the world. Million boxes a month.

GOOD SEEDS

BEST IN THE WORLD

PRICES BELOW ALL OTHERS

I give a lot of new sorts for trial with every order I fill. A Grand Big Catalog illustrated with over 700 engravings of vegetables and flowers. Send yours and your neighbors' addresses. FREE

R. H. SHUMWAY, Rockford, Ill.

MOTHER'S SALVE

AGENTS WANTED

For 40 years Mother's Salve has cured Catarrh, Croup, Colds, Cuts, Sores, Piles, etc. Sells on sight at 25c. Send $1.00 to-day for 12 full size jars and DOUBLE your money, besides choice of 307 valuable premiums FREE. If not ready to order now write for new big catalog. Mother's Remedies Co., 1118-33th St., Chicago are promptly relieved by a single dose of Piso's Cure. The regular use of this famous remedy will relieve the worst form of coughs, colds, hoarseness, bronchitis, asthma and diseases of the throat and lungs. Absolutely free from harmful drugs and opiates. For half a century the household remedy in millions of homes.

PISO'S CURE

Coughing Spells

At all druggists', 25 cts.

25 cts. 25 cts.

FEBRUARY

COLDS

CURED IN ONE DAY

Munyon's Cold Remedy Relieves the head, throat and lungs almost immediately. Checks Fevers, stops Discharges of the nose, takes away all aches and pains caused by colds. It cures Grip and obstinate Coughs and prevents Pneumonia. Price 25c.

Have you stiff or swollen joints, no matter how chronic? Ask your druggist for Munyon's Rheumatism Remedy and see how quickly you will be cured.

If you have any kidney or bladder trouble get Munyon's Kidney Remedy.

Munyon's Vitalizer makes weak men strong and restores lost powers.

JUST DOUBLE

160 ACRES FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

320 ACRES Instead of 160 ACRES

As further inducement to settlement of the Wheat Raising lands of Western Canada, the Canadian Government has increased the area that may be taken by a homesteader to 320 acres—160 free and 160 to be purchased at $3.00 per acre.

These lands are in the grain-raising area, where mixed farming is also carried on with unqualified success.

A railway will shortly be built to Hudson Bay, bringing the world's markets a thousand miles nearer these wheat fields, where schools and churches are convenient, climate excellent, railways close to all settlements and local markets good.

"It would take time to assimilate the revelations that a visit to the great empire lying to the North of us unfolded at every turn."—Correspondence of a National Editor, who visited Western Canada in August, 1908.

Lands may also be purchased from Railway and Land Companies at LOW PRICES AND ON EASY TERMS. For pamphlets, maps and information as to low Railway Rates apply to W. D. Scott, Superintendent of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or W. H. Rogers, 3d Floor Traction Terminal Building, Indianapolis, Ind., and H. M. Williams, Room 20, Law Building, Toledo, Ohio, Authorized Government Agents.

Please say where you saw this advertisement.

Paxtine

TOILET ANTISEPTIC

Keeps the breath, teeth, mouth and body antiseptically clean and free from unhealthy germ-life and disagreeable odors, which water, soap and tooth preparations alone cannot do. A germicidal, disinfecting and deodorizing toilet requisite of exceptional excellence and economy. Invaluable for inflamed eyes, throat and nasal and uterine catarrh. At drug and toilet stores, 50 cents, or by mail postpaid.

Large Trial Sample

WITH "HEALTH AND BEAUTY" BOOK SENT FREE

THE PAXTON TOILET CO., Boston, Mass.

FOR SALE—Mi'k'gan Farms: All sizes, Southern and Central Michigan. Write for list and terms. Eldo Murray & Co., Charlotte, Mich.

SOW SENSATION—RUST-RESISTING OATS 100 bus. per acre; sample, price and Corn Book FREE. CRILL SEED CO., Elk Point, S. Dak

FASHION HINTS

An apron front is the distinctive feature of this dressy gown.

The waist is combined with fancy net. Small satin buttons and loops are used effectively on the skirt.

Might Help Some.

The blacksmith had just inherited a fortune.

"Still," he said, "I'm not going to fold my hands and do nothing. What do you suggest?"

"Take your hands to a good manicure, for the first thing," advised his lawyer.—Chicago Tribune.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

CHILD HAD SIXTY BOILS

And Suffered Annually with a Red Scald-Like Humor on Her Head—Troubles Cured by Cuticura.

"When my little Vivian was about six months old her head broke out in boils. She had about sixty in all and I used Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment which cured her entirely. Some time later a humor broke out behind her ears and spread up on to her head until it was nearly half covered. The humor looked like a scald, very red with a sticky, clear fluid coming from it. This occurred every spring. I always used Cuticura Soap and Ointment which never failed to heal it up. The last time it broke out it became so bad that I was discouraged. But I continued the use of Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Resolvent until she was well and has never been troubled in the last two years. Mrs. M. A. Schwerin, 674 Spring Wells Ave., Detroit, Mich., Feb. 24, 1908."

Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props. of Cuticura Remedies, Boston.

EVERYTHING WAS FAVORABLE.

Sorry He Didn't Move to Western Canada Sooner.

Mr. Austin was a man who had never had any previous experience in farming, but Western Canada had allurements, and he profited. He got a low rate certificate from a Canadian Government agent, and then moved. What he says is interesting.

Runfurly, Alberta, May 10, 1908.

J. N. Griere, Esq., Spokane, Wash.:

Dear Sir—After a dozen or more years of unsuccessful effort in the mercantile business in western Washington, in August, 1903, decided to come to Alberta with a gentleman who was shipping two cars of live stock to Edmonton. I assisted this man with the stock over 100 miles out in the Birch Lake country, east of Edmonton. Indeed, how surprised, how favorably everything compared with my dream of what I wanted to see in a new country.

Had never had any experience in farming, but I was immediately converted into a farmer. And from that moment I have prospered. Selecting a homestead near Birch Lake, I returned for wife and three small children and freighted out from Edmonton. In March, following year, we shoveled a spot clear of snow and pitched our tent and commenced operations. At that time we had no neighbors. Four years have passed. The locality is well settled; two miles from railway station, with churches and schools, telephone and good road accommodations.

We are enjoying the privileges granted to any rural district in Washington. The Birch Lake country is no exception. This great transformation is rapidly going on in every district in western Canada.

I estimate that every quarter section in every direction is capable of producing a comfortable living for a family of ten forever. After paying for two horses and a cow had just $10 to go on. Did my first ploughing in my life; was very awkward in my work, but nature was glad I came and abundantly paid me for my efforts. Our cattle have increased to about fifty head, which was very profitable on account of the abundance of forage. To farm was compelled to buy about $400 worth of farm machinery on time, and the payments fell due last fall, and you may wonder how I expected to pay for them when we had such a bad year. 'Twas a little bad for western Canada or for a Missourian. But is not 35 or 40 bushels oats a pretty good yield per acre in many States? Then the price of grain went out of sight, so when I had sold my crop I found I was able to make my payments nicely; besides, we had lots of feed. No one has any business raising cattle without growing grain, or vice versa. As to the winters, did not feed my cattle, excepting the calves, a fork of hay until in March. Have found the winters much more pleasant than we did in western Washington. This is strange and hard to explain, but 'tis true nevertheless; at 40 degrees below zero we have more comfort than you would at 20 degrees above, so still and dry, wth bright, sunny days. My wife says that the only regret she has is that we did not come here ten years ago, as we would now certainly have been in a position to retire from hard work. Most women soon become satisfied as neighbors begin to come round them. Have 98 acres in crop this year, besides 2 acres potatoes, which have always brought me a fair price. We find a ready market for everything we produce. To the poor man—here is a chance to establish yourself. To the rich man—here is a chance to buy land for $10 to $15 per acre which will produce more crops than a half dozen acres of your $50 to $75 per acre land. And if not very much mistaken, this year will prove an eye opener to those who are a little skeptical. The trouble with me is that I have so much to say so favorable to Alberta 'tis hard to be brief. Respectfully, (Signed) P. S. AUSTIN.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children teething; softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25 cents a bottle.

Very Low Colonist Rates Via Nickel Plate Road

To points in the West, Northwest and Mexico, March 1 to April 30. Full information of Agent, or write F. P. Parnin, T. P. A., Fort Wayne, Ind. (2)

The municipality of Copenhagen has opened war on rats, and will pay 1½ cents for every tail. The breeding of rats for their tails is a criminal offense.

Try Murine Eye Remedy

For Red, Weak, Weary, Watery Eyes. Compounded by Experienced Physicians. Conforms to the Pure Food and Drugs Law. Murine Doesn't Smart. Soothes Eye Pain. Try Murine for Your Eyes, You Will Like It.

INDIANA LAWMAKERS.

Limit on Tax Lien.

A limit on the lien of all taxes on real estate to ten years is provided in a bill by Senator Kistler. The bill provides that the lien for all taxes for State, county, township and other purposes and for taxes for city, town and municipal purposes, shall attach on all real estate on the first day of March annually; and such lien on real estate for all taxes due from the owner thereof which have heretofore been placed on the tax duplicate or which have heretofore accrued, or which shall accrue or attach on or before the first day of March, 1900, with the interest and penalties in each case, shall continue ten years from and after the first Monday in May, 1910, and no longer. According to the provisions of the bill the lien on real estate for all such taxes as shall attach or accrue or become due from the owner thereof from and after the first day of March, 1909, with the interest and penalties in each case, shall continue ten years from and after the first Monday in May in each year in which taxes become due. In case of suit the limitation can be extended.

To Amend Criminal Code.

Two bills fathered by the Indianapolis police department were submitted to the Senate by Senator Clark. They amend the criminal code and act concerning public offenses. One bill provides for the return of criminals to counties in which crime is committed, upon the order of the court. The bill further provides that the court shall also name an agent to return the said criminal, whose expenses shall be paid by the county on filing receipts and making affidavit as to the correctness of the same. The second bill provides that the expenses of witnesses in criminal cases brought from other States be paid by the county in which the criminal trial is held. No provision of this character is made under the present statute. The bill provides that witnesses be allowed 5 cents a mile to and from their homes, and shall receive $1.50 a day for services rendered to the State.

Gary Superior Court Bill.

When Senator Bowser's bill to create a Supreme Court at Gary was called up for passage in the Senate, Bowser made a speech. He told about the greatness of Gary and said: "Gary is in a class by itself." "When Judge Gary started the construction of the great steel plant at Gary he asked whether arrangements were being made to accommodate a population of 100,000," he said. "He told the people they would have that population inside of three years. Gary is wonderful. In 1907 the assessed valuation of property in Lake County was $37,000,000. A year ago it was $42,000,000. This year it must be $50,000,000. In four years it will be $100,000,000. So rapid has been the growth of Gary that a court has become a necessity, and I ask for the passage of this bill." Senator Proctor, of Elkhart, favored the passage of the bill, and made a speech giving his reasons for it. The bill passed, 40 to 7.

Will Kill Garnishee Bill.

Representatives of the Retail Merchants' Association and of union labor appeared before Senate judiciary committee the other afternoon to fight for and against the garnishee bill under consideration. Labor won its fight, as it was decided to recommend that the proposed measure be indefinitely postponed. A. B. Slaymaker, of Anderson, represented the merchants and Fred L. Feick, chairman of the legislative board of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen; Edgar A. Perkins, president of the Indiana Federation of Labor, and Clarence Gaumer, secretary of the Indiana Federation of Labor, were present to oppose the bill. Perkins and Gaumer did not speak, however. The bill provided that 10 per cent of any workingman's wages could be garnisheed for the payment of debt, there being no exemption.

Four Road Bills Killed.

Four bills were reported for indefinite postponement by the committee on roads, including the Smith and the McGinnis bills to repeal the three mile road law, Wells' bill to provide that farmers shall work out road tax in front of their own property and Banta's bill to authorize County Commissioners to build roads after viewing without calling election. A minority report on the Wells bill was signed by Pierson, Brolley, Hostetter, Rentschler and Foor. Meek's bill to require trustees to put in culverts on roads where necessary was reported for passage, with an amendment to require interurban railways to do the same.

Divided Report on Merchants' Bill.

The Senate committee on county and township business was unable to agree to consider what is known as the merchants' bill, providing for uniform accounts in county and township offices and for a system of State inspection. Senators Benz and Ranks were opposed to the bill and decided to make a minority report to that effect, while the majority of the committee decided to report in favor of the bill.

The Weather House.

A very ingenious contrivance for foretelling the weather is the old fashioned "weather house," largely made in Switzerland. It is arranged in such a way that two figures act in response to the twisting of a piece of catgut. The material, supported by a wire, controls the movements of a little platform, on either end of which is placed a model. Excessive moisture in the air causes the catgut to twist and turn the platform round, so that the man emerges from one of the doors in the front of the house. Reverse conditions of the atmosphere bring about the contraction of the catgut, and the platform swings back, thus bringing the figure of the woman into prominence at her particular door. The making of a weather house is quite an easy matter.

In Battersea, London, graves can now be purchased of the Borough Council on the installment plan.

Every Woman Will Be Interested.

There has recently been discovered an aromatic, pleasant herb cure for woman's ills, called Mother Gray's AUSTRALIAN-LEAF. It is the only certain regulator. Cures female weaknesses and Backache, Kidney, Bladder and Urinary troubles. At all Druggists or by mail 50 cts. Sample FREE. Address, The Mother Gray Co., LeRoy, N. Y.

Effect on the Rising Generation.

Distracted Mother (opening the door of the playroom)—What are you boys making all this terrible racket about?

Her Youngest—We're playin' Congress, maw. We've just had a message from the pres'dunt!—Chicago Tribune.

The Herb laxative, Garfield Tea, aids Nature in maintaining the general well-being of the body, it corrects constipation, purifies the blood, brings health.

One of the Signs.

"Col. Gunnsome is getting to be a pretty big man in politics, isn't he?"

"Yes; whenever he calls on the President he has to be careful to explain to the reporters that his visit has no political significance."

Only One "BROMO QUININE"

That is LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE. Look for the signature of E. W. GROVE. Used the World over to Cure a Cold in One Day. 25c.

O, Come, Now!

Rivers—When it comes to marrying sporting men that blonde Miss Granstan takes the palm.

Brooks—Takes the palm? I should say. Her latest husband is a baseball fan.

Don't Spoil Your Clothes.

Use Red Cross Ball Blue and keep them white as snow. All grocers, 5 cents a package.

INTEREST IN THE CLASSICS.

A Reason for the Failure of Many to Appreciate Milton.

I think a great part of the trouble which the ordinary mind has in appreciating Milton (or, rather, Milton in pleasing the ordinary mind, for please remember that the popular mind is much more important than Milton) lies in the mistake of always describing him as a pure and classical writer. Really he was a highly complex and in some ways too modern writer, says a writer in the London News. The perfectly classical can be understood by anybody. No charwoman would say that the tale of Ulysses coming back in rags to the woman who had been faithful to him was not a touching tale. No dog fancier in the street would be indifferent to the death of Argus. No man in the street could ever say upon his conscience that the Venus of Milo was not a fine woman.

It is the secondary and distorted art which really and suddenly loses the sympathies of the people. The charwoman would fail seeing the peculiar pathos of Robert Elsmere, who wanted to be a curate and also an agnostic. The dog fancier would be justly indifferent to the rhetoric of the numerous modern animal lovers who could not look after a dog for a day. And the man in the street will not admit that the women of Aubrey Beardsley are fine women because they are not. The tastes of the man in the street are classical.

And if Milton were really as straightforward as Homer or the Elgin Marbles he would be in practice uproariously popular.

NO MEDICINE,

But a Change of Food Gave Relief.

Many persons are learning that drugs are not the thing to rebuild worn-out nerves, but proper food is required.

There is a certain element in the cereals, wheat, barley, etc., which is grown there by nature for food to brain and nerve tissue. This is the phosphate of potash, of which Grape-Nuts food contains a large proportion.

In making this food all the food elements in the two cereals, wheat and barley, are retained. That is why so many heretofore nervous and run-down people find in Grape-Nuts a true nerve and brain food.

"I can say that Grape-Nuts food has done much for me as a nerve renewer," writes a Wis. bride:

"A few years ago, before my marriage, I was a bookkeeper in a large firm. I became so nervous toward the end of each week that it seemed I must give up my position, which I could not afford to do.

"Mother purchased some Grape-Nuts and we found it not only delicious, but I noticed from day to day that I was improving until I finally realized I was not nervous any more.

"I have recommended it to friends as a brain and nerve food, never having found its equal. I owe much to Grape-Nuts, as it saved me from a nervous collapse, and enabled me to retain my position."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true and full of human interest.

For Sprains

Sloan's Liniment is the best remedy for sprains and bruises.

It quiets the pain at once, and can be applied to the tenderest part without hurting because it doesn't need to be rubbed—all you have to do is to lay it on lightly. It is a powerful preparation and penetrates instantly—relieves any inflammation and congestion, and reduces the swelling.

Sloan's Liniment

is an excellent antiseptic and germ killer—heals cuts, burns, wounds and contusions, and will draw the poison from sting of poisonous insects.

Price, 25c., 50c., and $1.00.

Dr. Earl S. Sloan, Boston, Mass., U.S.A.

Sloan's book on horses, cattle, sheep and poultry sent free.

Your Last Chance to Get Good Land Cheap

lies in Idaho. Good land at such prices will soon be gone forever. Fine farm tracts can be had now at low prices, on easy terms. By the time your last payment is made the land will have doubled in value, at least.

New towns—needing trades—are growing up fast in the wonderful Snake River country. Men who went there poor a few years ago are now well to do.

Own An Idaho Farm

Idaho's variety of resources is unsurpassed anywhere in the world—money is made easily and quickly in farming, in fruit, stock and dairying. Alfalfa alone is making hundreds rich.

Save money, that might otherwise be spent in tickets and hotel bills, by going direct to Idaho and buying a farm now. Write today for our free booklet.

E. L. LOMAX, G. P. A.
Union Pacific Railroad Co.
Omaha, Neb.

The Right Way

In all Cases of

DISTEMPER, PINKEYE, INFLUENZA COLDS, ETC.

Of all Horses, Brood Mares, Colts, Stallions, is to

"SPOHN THEM"

On their tongues or in the feed put Spohn's Liquid Compound. Give the remedy to all of them. It acts on the blood and glands. It routs the disease by expelling the disease germs. It wards off the trouble no matter how they are "exposed." Absolutely free from anything injurious. A child can safely take it. 50 cents and $1.00; $5.00 and $10.00 the dozen. Sold by druggists, harness dealers, or sent, express paid, by the manufacturers.

Special Agents Wanted

SPOHN MEDICAL CO.

Chemists and Bacteriologists

GOSHEN, IND., U. S. A.

Endurance.

Rankin—Do you think you could ride ninety-eight miles on horseback in seventeen hours straight?

Fyle—No, but I walked the floor nine hours straight with a squalling baby last night, and I'm willing to bet that no President of the United States can do that.—Chicago Tribune.

Throat Troubles. To allay the irritation that induces coughing, use Brown's Bronchial Troches. A simple remedy. In boxes 25 cents. Samples mailed free. John I. Brown & Son, Boston, Mass.

No Danger.

Excited Woman—Are you going to run away with me?

Reckless Driver (slightly intoxicated)—Sorry, mum; but—I can't oblige you. I'm mar-married already.—Judge.

A good honest remedy for Rheumatism, Neuralgia and Sore Throat is Hamlins Wizard Oil. Nothing will so quickly drive out all pain and inflammation.

CLOVER SEED

Absolutely Pure, No Weeds

Ex. Gov. Hoard of Wisconsin, from 30 acres sown to Salzer's 20th Century Alfalfa, harvested within 24 weeks after seeding $2500.00 worth of magnificent hay, or at the rate of over $80.00 per acre. Big seed catalog free; or, send 10c in stamps for sample of this Alfalfa, also Billion Dollar Grass, Oats, Wheat, Barley, etc., easily worth $10.00 of any man's money to get a start with. Or, send 14c and we add a sample farm seed novelty never seen before by you.

SALZER SEED CO., Box CN La Crosse, Wis.

Mother Gray, Nurse in Children's Home, New York City.

MOTHER GRAY'S SWEET POWDERS FOR CHILDREN,

A Certain Cure for Feverishness, Constipation, Headache, Stomach Troubles, Teething Disorders, and Destroy Worms. They Break up Colds in 24 hours. At all Druggists, 25 cts. Sample mailed FREE. Address A. S. OLMSTED, Le Roy, N. Y.

F. W. N. U. - - - - - No. 7—1909

When writing to Advertisers please say you saw the Adv. in this paper.

FEBRUARY

L 903

0496

Sol Barney Has Sold Out

and has contracted to reduce the stock to a certain amount and in order to do it we are going to make prices that are right for cash, until we invoice on March first, in the following lines. - No accounts opened

All Men's Heavy Pants, Shirts, Sweater Coats, Hats and Caps, All Artics and Felt Boots, Gloves and Mittens, Duck, Corduroy and Mackinaw Coats. Entire stock of Underwear and Blankets at Bargains

This is no fake sale but a genuine bonified sale where you are given real bargains for your money, Oth- bargains not herein mentioned.

All Ladies Facinators, Gloves, Mittens, Night Gowns go at a Great Saving. All Dishes Marked in Plain Figures go at 1-4 off. SATURDAY FEBRUARY 13 we will give away one barrel flour.

Tickets are Given with Every 25 cent cash Purchase. Ask for Them.

County Line News.

W. T. Wyatt and wife were Auburn visitors Monday.

Nick Goldsmith and wife spent Wednesday with Joe Goldsmith and family.

Clarence Sponhour, spent the past week with friends and relatives at, Auburn.

Jes Watson spent a few days with his mother last week. Aunt Rachel remains about the same.

R. R. Wyatt and wife attended the Farmers Institute at Huntertown last Thursday and Friday.

Mr. Clarence Sponhour and Miss Bertha Goldsmith spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Conner.

Wm. Watson attended the Farmers Institute at Huntertown Thursday, and gave a very interesting talk on the sheep question.

The corn show at Huntertown with the Farmers Institute proved very instructive and attractive. The baking contest was carried out with keen interest.

Allen County Farmers Institute will be held at Ft. Wayne Feb. 26 and 27. A corn show will be held in connection with the institute. All sessions at the court house. Prepare to attend.

The Mt. Olive Aid Society met at the home of Elec Freeman Wednesday. About thirty people enjoyed the day. The day was a success in every way. They meet next Wednesday at the home of Guss Kistler.

Harry Watson spent Sunday with James Hursh and wife.

Clarence Sponner went to Ft. Wayne on business Monday.

Mrs. Ed Rinehold is on the sick list but is improving at present.

Wm. Watson and wife spent Sunday with Jake Gruts and family.

Joel Gerig and wife visited with Joe Goldsmith and family, Sunday.

James Bishop and wife spent Sunday with George McNutt and family.

"Doc" Rakestraw spent a few days with his brother and family last week.

Pearl Barton and wife spent Sunday with Henry Rakestraw and family.

C. A. Conner, wife and children took dinner Sunday with Andrew Metcalf and family.

The Misses Opha and Olly Bishop and Ollie Means were guests of Mrs. Emma Conner Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Smanton spent Saturday and Sunday with Dan Wyatt and wife of Auburn Junction.

Chester Davis is getting along as well as could be expected, he took dinner with George McNutt and family Sunday.

The Missionary Meeting at the home of Mrs. Rilla Goldsmith last Wednesday was well attended and all enjoyed a good time.

Mrs. Lena Schrog of Holdritch, Ne., and Miss Melia Beck of Carlock, Ill., spent a few days with their cousin Joe Goldsmith and family.

Solomon Goldsmith is able to be about again. He was thrown from a load of hay by a telephone wire at Spencerville a few days ago.

C. A. Conner is constructing a new building in which he expects to install a blacksmith shop and in a short time repairs in iron work can be had while you wait. We wish Mr. Conner success in his new side line.

It is rumored and perhaps an established fact that there will be a Farmers Institute at Butler Center in the very near future. If present plans are carried out Mr. H. D. Meeds Secretary of Allen County Institutes and contributor to the Farmers Guide and Mr. Price of Lagrange Co., will be the state speaker. The date will be announced later, watch for it.

The Jar of Coughing

Hammer blows, steadily applied, break the hardest rock. Coughing, day after day, jars and tears the throat and lungs until the healthy tissues give way. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral stops the coughing, and heals the torn membranes.

The best kind of a testimonial—"Sold for over sixty years."

Made by J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass. Also manufacturers of

Ayer's SARSAPARILLA. PILLS. HAIR VIGOR.

We have no secrets! We publish the formulas of all our medicines.

Biliousness, constipation retard recovery. Cure these with Ayer's Pills.

False Report.

Notwithstanding the report that Craig Sheffer has sold out, he is still doing business at the old stand. Bring him your work.

CURIE'S RESTAURANT.

We desire at this time to inform the public that we are ready to supply all wants in our line. We ask that you continue patronizing our store and we will make it as pleasant as we can for you.

CANDY, CIGARS, SAND-WICHES, SOFT DRINK, TOBACCO, ETC.

We aim to keep our stock fresh, and when in need of any of our goods come in.

Coburn's Corners.

Rink tonight.

The Aid Society furnished dinner at the Gee sale yesterday.

Calvin Coburn and wife took dinner with Jacob Shaffer's Sunday.

Phebe Cunningham of Plainwell, Michigan, is the guest of Mrs. Alton.

At the Aid meeting last week 92 persons were present and a collection of $7.56 was taken.

John Ulm is preparing to build a new house, getting the necessary timber on the ground.

Earl Tustison and wife spent Saturday and Sunday with the latters parents at Newville.

Wm. Maxwell's spent Sunday with her parents, Daniel Oberholtzer and wife south of Spencerville. In all there were thirteen present and an elegant dinner was served.

Revolts at Cold Steel.

"Your only hope," said three doctors to Mrs. M. E. Fisher, Detroit, Mich. suffering from severe rectal trouble, "lies in an operation," then I used Dr. King's New Life Pills," she writes, "till wholly cured." They prevent Appendicitis, cure Constipation, Headache. 25c. at H. Milliman's.

SCIO ITEMS

Lon Gibson and family visited Henry Fales' Sunday.

Mrs. Krontz was on the sick list the past week.

Kenneth Countryman is breaking a nice team of colts.

Harry Bailey purchased two Jersey heifers of F. Akins.

Mr. and Mrs. George DeLong ate Sunday dinner in the Kain home.

Mrs. Anna Headley spent last Tuesday with her sister Amanda Young.

Neff Culler and wife entertained several of their friends Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Daisy DeLong of St. Joe visited last Thursday in the home of Frank Akins.

Wm. Countryman and wife and Ivan Farner and wife spent Monday evening with Charles Groves and family.

Carl Countryman, wife and daughter Lucille, spent Saturday and Sunday with the formers parents, Wm. Countryman and wife.

Mrs. Warren Smith has moved her household goods back to her home in Hicksville, she rented the house to her brother and she will occupy one room.

Mrs. A. E. Chapman will leave this place Sunday for her home in South Dakota, her son Harold is in a very critical condition, we hope to hear of his improvement soon.

Charles Thayer and Neff Culler attended the Milt Krise sale last Saturday.

I. S. Hadsell stayed over night with the Thayer family one night last week.

Frank Mettert is making his home with his sister, Mrs. Romeo Headley this winter.

Bert Stackhouse has returned from Chicago, and is getting along nicely after his operation.

Washington Once Gave Up.

to three doctors; was kept in bed for five weeks. Blood poison from a spider's bite caused large, deep sores to cover his leg. The doctors failed, then "Bucklen's Arnica Salve completely cured me," writes John Washington, of Bosqueville, Tex. For eczema, boils, burns and piles its supreme. 25c. at H. Milliman's.

SHILLING'S CORNERS.

Mrs. John Timmerman is on the sick list.

Harrison Dove went to Garrett for a few days.

Jack Moody is about the same at this writing.

Harry Wasson spent a few days in Ft. Wayne last week.

Grandpa Henderson seems a little better at this writing.

Mr. and Mrs. Keesler called on Ben Wasson's family Saturday.

Mr. Will Koch and wife called on John Timmerman's, Sunday.

Wm. Shilling has gone to Toledo with a car load of hogs and cattle.

Mr. Joe Shilling has bought a fine team of horses, they are beauties.

Mr. and Mrs. Keesler of Antwerp, are here for a few days visit with their daughter, Mrs. Lovina Shilling.

Granite Ware

SALE.

You are invited to call and see the most complete line of Granite Ware at lowest prices ever shown in St. Joe.

Every Day Roaster

This is Made of the Guaranteed Oyrx Enamel

Size 6x12

ONLY 49C WORTH 75C

Don't forget when in St. Joe to call and see the greatest bargains in Granite Ware.

H. V. Kinsey & Son.

WABASH

Wabash Time Table.

Trains leave the St Joe Station as follows:

GOING WEST.

No. 11, Ft. Wayne Acc & Mail 11:34a. m
No. 3, Western Express 7:58 p. m

GOING EAST.

No. 2, Eastern Express 6:34a. m
No14, Toledo Acc & Mail 4:50 p. m.

Spencerville R F D No 1

Frank Horn, wife and daughter, Venus, spent Sunday afternoon with D. E. Horns'.

Among those that attended the institute were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Walters and Ezra Horn.

The Misses Leona and Thressa Hay came home Saturday evening returning to Waterloo, Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Horn went to Ft Wayne, Saturday, on business and to visit relatives over Sunday.

Miss Zona Horn arrived from Fort Wayne, Sunday morning, where she had been for a few past weeks.

Grandpa E. S. Deitrick has a broad smile all over his face, for Mr. and Mrs. Goldsmith are the happy parents of a baby girl, which the stork brought Friday night.

Viola Hay, Clara Hay, Myrtle Platter and Arlie Dwyer spent Sunday evening with Miss Mary Horn and brother Jennings. The young people were entertained with music.

The Misses Rozella Pisch, Blond Wise, Alice Braton, Viola Sonchia, Ira Astry and the Messrs. Carlos Braton, Charley Braton, John Smith, Jesse Smith, Curtus Smith, Joe Pisch, and Clyde Boger called on Miss Viola Hay, Sunday afternoon.

Clem Treeces' and Frank Horns' were at Leo, to the revival services which are being held there. Venus Horn, Floyd Coburn, Laura Coburn and Treeces young folks kept house for the latters parents while they were at church. Mr. John Mason and wife were at church at Leo also.

DENTIST.

C. R. PRICE,

ST. JOE, IND.

Office in Case building.

Bell Phone No. 44.

Miss Laura Grill spent Sunday evening at McNabbs'.

Geo. Horns' were visitors of Mr. Sauls', Sunday.

Mr Eck Vanzile and family visited Vol Hays', Sunday.

Vol Hay, wife and daughter Ruth, were at Mr. Dwyers, Sunday evening.

Mr. Abe Mason visited his parents, Wm. Mason of Auburn, Sunday, remaining all night.

Married

A very pretty home wedding took place at the residence of Elder and Mrs. Fred Thomas of this place, Thursday evening, Feb 4th. When their daughter, Miss Princess was united in marriage to Mr. Homer Casebeer. Only the families of the bride and groom and a few relatives and friends were present to enjoy the happy occasion. At 8:00 o'clock Mrs. Hazel Woodring took her place at the piano and played very softly and sweetly "Prayer at Twilight" as the bridal party entered and during the prayer. The ceremony was performed by the bride's father, which was sublime and very impressive The bride was attired in a lovely white Cecilian gown, the groom in the conventional black. After an evening of social enjoyment the guests departed wishing Princess and Homer a pleasant journey through life, and showed their love and esteem for them both by leaving them some useful and beautiful presents. May their life be one of usefulness and the end the Golden Crown.

Local News Items.

Dale Walter visited his parents one day last week.

Myron Abel was in town a couple of days this week. He is staying with his brother George at Auburn.

The Rev. J. H. Hector (the "Black Knight") of York, Pa., and Prof. F. W. Lough of Indianapolis, will speak at the DeKalb County Prohibition Convention, to be held in Auburn, Feb. 13, 1909 at 10:30 a. m. and 1:30 p. m., at the Baptist church. The purpose of this county meeting will be to select delegates to a District Convention and elect county officers for two years. Prof. Lough, Prohibition State Chairman, will speak in the morning and Rev. Hector in the afternoon. Mr. Hector is a full-blooded negro, the grandson of a Zulu chief, was a soldier in the Civil War, is an ex-G. A. R. Commander, and for more than twenty years has been on the platform in behalf of the Prohibition cause. He comes highly recommended, having the endorsement of the leaders of the temperance reform not only in the United States, but Canada and England as well. The public is cordially invited to hear this remarkable man. George W. Quince, County Chairman.

Rink tonight.

Send in your news.

The primary class of the M. P. church will have a sale of baked goods Saturday afternoon, in the east window of News office. Come and get your supply early.

Mrs. F. Buchanan's Sunday School class gave a supper at the home of Mrs. H. V. Kinsey. A large crowd attended and a good supper was had, clearing over $10. The money is to be paid on pledge for church improvements.

The sale of G. M. Moore near Moores Station, to have been held Tuesday Feb., 9, was postponed until Friday Feb., 19. A list of the articles sold will be found in another column of The News.

The undersigned will sell at Public Auction at his residence, one mile northeast of Moores Station, DeKalb County, Indiana, on Friday Feb. 19th at 10:30 o'clock a. m. the following: 1 black mare 3 yrs. old, weight 1350lb., 1 bay mare 5 yrs. old, weight 1550 lbs., 1 bay mare 8 yrs. old, weight 1250 lbs., 1 bay mare 8 yrs. old, weight 1300 lbs., 1 grey mare 12 yrs. old, weight 1350 lbs. 1 colt coming 2 yrs. old, one cow with calf by side, two fresh in March, one fresh in April, 3 head of young cattle, 30 head young brood ewes, 3 brood sows: one with pigs by side, two due to farrow last March, one registered Poland China boar. Will also sell my farming tools which are in good repair some having been used but one season. A good warm lunch will be served by the Ladies Aid Society. This sale is one mile from Moores on the Vandalia. Train leaves Butler for Moores at 9:35 a. m. Train leaves Auburn Junction for Moores at 9:55 a. m. Will have sale rain or shine, good shelter. These mare are all good individuals and will be of interest to farmers desiring a good young team. Terms made known on day of sale.

G. M. MOORE.

Geo. Milliman

Feb. 15th., the Woman's Home Companion will be $1.25 instead of $1.00 other papers are going up in price. See me for clubing lists, don't take others prices for I can save you money. Laundry sent Wednesday returning Saturday. Hix Laundry

St. Joe, Ind.

The Best Corset Values That One Dollar Can Buy

The J. C. C. "College Girl" Corset, or youthful figures, has a low bust and the easeful pliant lines that give the favored athletic swing. Neat, smart, slender. All the freedom that a girdle gives, all the shapely, trim support of a stylish corset, $1.00.

The J. C. C. "Peerless" Corset, for youthful figures of fuller amplitude. Medium high bust, curved hips and straight front line. Gives exceptional wear, holds its shape perfectly and is remarkable for comfort, - - - - - - - - $1.00

The Big Four Store.

FEBRUARY

L 903

0497

Supplement to the

St. Joe News

St. Joe, Ind. Thursday, February 11, 1909 Fred B. Leighty, Pub.

The Mutual Life

Insurance Company of New York

Oldest in America — Strongest in the World

The only company which has increased its dividends scale four years in succession.
1906–1907–1908–1909

J. C. HULL

AGENT

Call on or Phone No. 46-2.

NEWVILLE

F. A. Thomas went to Hamilton, Saturday, where he preached Sunday.

George DeLong and wife took dinner with Smith Kain and family, Sunday.

The Ladies Aid Society will meet at the home of Mrs. Kate Fussleman Thursday.

Mrs. Inez Chapman and son will leave for her home in S. Dakota, Saturday. Mrs. H. B. Akins will go with her.

John Whitehurst left for Beloit, Kansas, Tuesday, to help settle the estate of his father.

Jesse Benner of Peru, was a guest in the home of Maurice Headley from Friday until Sunday.

Mrs. Daisy DeLong of St. Joe and Mrs. George Rex visited in the home of Mrs. H. B. Akins, Thursday.

Myrtle Cotrill went to Peru, Saturday evening, to visit the Chute & Butler factory and select a piano to be shipped to her home in Centralia, Washington.

Program of

High School for Friday, Feb. 12th.

Song.....School
Biography of Lincoln....Edna Walter
A Character Sketch.....Lena Coburn
Lincoln's Boyhood Days.....
.....Merritt Maxwell
Writing.....Adrian Washler
Lincoln the Immortal.....
.....Helen Patterson
The Mother of Lincoln.....
.....Ralph Sechler
Instrumental Duet ....Lois McCain
.....Hazel Perry
The Young Patriot Abraham Lincoln
.....Roy Maxwell
Lincoln's Favorite Poem.....
.....Glenn Freeburn
Pen Picture.....Paul Curie
Last Days of Lincoln's Life.....
.....Gladys Kain
Lincoln's Gettysburg Address.....
.....Herbert Sherer
The Wife of Lincoln.....
.....Franc Rhodenbaugh

GREAT CASH

Clearance Sale

On Wall Paper.

Beginning on Wednesday, Feb. 10th., and closing on Wednesday, March 3rd., for eighteen (18) sale days only, we will offer our entire stock of wall paper at prices never before known in St. Joe. What a transformation a little new paper will work! How many times you have heard this exclamation; and perhaps, have wanted to reply: "Yes, good wall paper plus good taste" works wonders. Now is the time, while we are making these special prices, to gratify your desires by beautifying your home.

Come early and secure the cream from the many good things which we are offering. No paper laid away as we need the room.

HARRY MILLIMAN

DRUGGIST

Crescent Concert Co.

AT

Widney's Opera House

Friday Evening February 12 at 8:15

The members of this company are Misses Hadsell, McCormick and Blackburn. They have been secured by the school. Everybody come and hear something good.

ADMISSION 15c

PONY PRIZE NO. 31.

30th Pony Contest to go in judges hands Feb., 13.

Just three weeks more on contest No. 31 Can you stay by me? I am second in the 15th class and would like to make first. Closes February 27 Prize same as in No 30 Do what you can for me

Merritt Milliman.

BANK STATEMENT

Report of the condition of the ST. JOE VALLEY BANK at St. Joe, in the State of Indiana, at the close of its business on February 5 1909.

RESOURCES

Loans and Discounts		$30 195 21
Overdrafts		54 81
Other Bonds and Securities		1 0 0 00
Furniture and Fixtures		600 00
Due from Banks and Trust Companies		19 230 23
Cash on Hand		3 549 81
Cash Items		958 21
Total Resources		$55 588 27

LIABILITIES

Capital Stock—paid in		$10 000 00
Surplus		1 000 00
Undivided Profits		3 9.8 83
Demand Deposits	23 461 76
Demand Cert.	17 177 08	40 629 44
Total Liabilities		$55 588 27

State of Indiana, County of DeKalb, ss:
I, W. C. Patterson, Cashier of the St. Joe Valley Bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true. W. C. PATTERSON.
Subscribed and sworn to before me, this 10th day of February 1909.
S. S. WIDNEY,
{SEAL} Notary Public.
My commission expires April 16, 1909

Earl Sherer of Ft. Wayne was a Sunday visitor at this place.

Mr. O. F. Brandighoff left last week for a trip through Oklahoma.

Led James and wife are the guests of Ira Houe and wife.

Coming!

THE HICKR'Y FARM

—AT—

Widney Opera House

Saturday eve, Feb. 13

If you enjoy seeing fun it will be your chance Come and bring your children

Popular Prices.

FEBRUARY

0498

L 903

ST. JOE NEWS.

VOL. XXIII ST. JOE, DEKALB COUNTY, IDIANA. THURSDAY, FERUARY 18 1909. NO. 7

The Dill Family Holds the Belt

The Dill family, of Kosciusko county, is one of the most remarkable families in Indiana, in that fourteen brothers and a sister all of the same parents are living and well. Nine were born later than June 14, 1845, the combined ages being 1,010 years. Originally there were eighteen children, four dying in youth. The names, residence and date of birth of the surviving children are: Henry Dill, Noblesville, 1825; John Dill, Huntington, 1837; Lucy Ann Dill, Carthage, Mo., 1829; Rebekah Dill, Iowa, 1831; Matilda Dill; Indianapolis, 1833; Lydia Dill, Colfax, Iowa, 1834; Susan Dill, Huntington, 1836; Jacob Dill, Huntington county, 1837; Solomon Dill, Kalamazoo, Mich., 1838; Rachel Dill, Cambridge City, 1840, William Dill, Cambridge City, 1841; Harriet Dill, Iowa, 1843; David Dill, Pierceton, 1847; Israel Dill, Cambridge City, 1855.—Ex. Mrs. C. R. Price of this place is a daughter of David Dill of Pierceton, mentioned here. She says that in addition to these nineteen children, two other children were taken to raise by these children loving parents.

Old Fashioned Country Party

Last Saturday evening a party of thirty young people were royally entertained by Mr. Leon Sechler at the farm home. The young people went in the old fashioned way—they walked—arriving at about 7:30. Old fashioned games were played for two hours when taffy, popcorn, fudge and peanuts were passed. More games were played until the hour of midnight approached when the guests departed. The out of town guests were:—The Misses Elizabeth and Margaret Riley and Eustasia Conners of Defiance, Misses Alida Walter and Edna Provines of Auburn, Miss Lola Nimmons of Butler, Mr. Clyde Harrod of Mansfield, Ohio, and Mr. Clifford Shafer of Butler.

Will Have Services

Rev. R. A. Harshman, of Springfield, Ohio, will preach at the Lutheran Church at St. Joe Sunday Feb., 21st. at 10 A. M. and at Spencerville Lutheran Church in the afternoon of same day at 2 P. M. Members of both congregations are urged to attend these services and a cordial invitation is extended to the general public.

The Mutual Life

Insurance Company of New York

Oldest in America — Strongest in the World

The only company which has increased its dividends scale four years in succession.
1906–1907–1908–1909

J. C. HULL
AGENT
Call on or Phone No. 46-2.

A Small Blaze

Last Wednesday evening the home of John Wineland was a place of great excitement. Mrs. Wineland was sitting near the window with her large oil lamp doing some sewing. In an instant the lamp exploded catching fire to the lace curtains and burning them up. The sewing machine and other things were damaged. The fire was extinguished by the use of a broom and in the morning the damage was estimated and a claim filed with Insurance Company.

City Dray Line Sold.

On last Friday a deal was made between John Wineland and Sylvester Widney. Whereby the latter became the owner of the dray line for St. Joe. Mr. Wineland expects to do some farming, and expects to still run the hack line, and finds it would be impossible to do the work properly. Mr. John Sechler started to work Monday for Mr. Widney, and will continue this work until he takes possession of the Barney dry goods store.

We're as Light as Day

Henry Krabill, our hustling man across the way, is selling Acetylene lights every day. Last week he placed a plant in the residence and office of Dr. Bowman and in The News office and they are daisies, too. We can fully appreciate them as we have been in the dark for so long. The plants are simple and in fact one of the best. Our plant is capable of furnishing gas for 25 lights but at present we have but 7 lights going. Come in and see them.

Sunday School Report.

Below is the report of the various Sunday Schools of the town and community for last Sunday. We desire that the secretaries may hand us this bit of information on Monday of each week, or phone to No. 10 and report.

	Attendance	Collection
Christian	64	$1.66
Lutheran	59	1 84
M. P.	34	85
Coburntown	36	59
Spec. Luth.	45	1.11
Spen · M. E.	29	85
Concord	32	80

Any other school desiring to be represented in this list may do so by just simply telling us.

Church Notice

Notice is hereby given that there will be a meeting of the Coburntown church at the church on Saturday evening, Feb. 27 at 7:30 p. m. for the purpose of electing three trustees, one for one year, one for two years and one for three years. All of the members are requested to be present.

ROY E. MAXWELL, Clerk.

Can't you see us growing?

The ladies of the Lutheran church served supper. Saturday evening, in the basement. The supper was fine and only 10 cents was charged.

Our Total Resources
on January 2 1909 were
$83,062.93
Our total resources one year ago or on January 2 1908 were $60,238.98
A gain in one year of $22,823.95
The above figures speak for themselves. There's a reason for our steady growth. Come and investigate and you will grow with us. We pay 4% interest on Time Deposits.

Grabill State Bank,
Grabill Indiana.

LOCAL NEWS

LOCAL HISTORY MADE DURING THE PAST WEEK, IN BRIEF PARAGRAPHS

Curie's Restaurant.

Kwitcherknockinboostorleave.

Little Vernon Woodcox is very sick with pneumonia.

Miss Addie Elliot of Butler, spent Sunday with friends at this place.

Miss Chloe Rhodenbaugh visited relatives at Auburn, a few days last week.

Mrs. Maude Bishop of Reading, Mich., is the guest of her parents at this place.

Several young people were entertained at the home of Merritt Sechler Friday evening.

Mrs. Harry Kees spent a few days last week, with her brother, Frank Filley and wife at Huntington.

Mrs. F. A. Patterson of Hicksville, and Miss Batha Hart of Columbia City, were the guests of relatives here, last week.

Mrs. Lucky, the District Deputy of the Pythian Sister lodge, visited the lodge at this place on Tuesday evening of last week.

Wm. Bleeks, wife and daughter Carrie, left Friday evening for Springfield, Ill., to visit relatives. They will remain three or four weeks.

The Misses Elizabeth and Margaret Riley and Eustasia Conners of Defiance, Ohio, were the guests of F. M. Monroe and family over Sunday.

The St. Joe livery is now in the hands of Milton Krise, taking possession, Monday of last week. Mr. Krise will move to town as soon as his wife is able.

Send in your news.

B. O. O. S. T. means boost.

Cigars and Candy at Curie's.

The Pythian sisters at this place, purchased a piano of I. S. Hadsell, last week.

Cadmir and John Woodcox of Garrett, visited their mother, Mrs. Emma Woodcox, last week.

Madge Hart and Alda Elson of Auburn, visited friends at this place, Friday and Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. David Andress of Coburntown, took dinner with Chas. Benjamin and wife, Friday.

Mrs. Wm. Curie left Tuesday of last week, for Indianapolis, for a few days visit with her husband, who is Sargant at Arms in legislature.

The loss sustained by Prof. W. O. Bailey of Angola, in the fire Wednesday morning has been settled for $103. The four young ladies, students of the college, who had rooms at the Bailey home, had most of their clothing destroyed by smoke and water, but were without insurance. Miss Grace Kain of this place, was one of the ladies whose clothes were destroyed.

Lutheran Basement March 12th.

State band examiner, Chas. Camp, made a thorough examination of our bank the latter part of the month and found everything to be running smoothly and books correct in every particular.

Saturday, the Primary class finished raising the $5.00 pledged for assisting in the repairs on the M. P. church. The amount has been over reached, and we as a class desire to thank all who have so kindly aided us.

On last Thursday evening Mrs. Chas. Benjamin and Mrs. F. B. Leighty entertained a number of their friends at the home of Mrs. Leighty. The evening was spent in different contests and games. Light refreshments were served.

The Prohibitions of DeKalb county held a large and enthusiastic meeting at Auburn, Saturday. A county meeting was held and Geo. Quince was elected county chairman for two years, E. M. Bishop was elected secretary and treasurer. Also a district meeting in which W. W. Wyrick was chosen for district chairman and made a ringing speech of acceptance. State chairman, F. W. Lough was present with words of encouragement and hope. Rev. Hector, the Black Knight, gave an address in the afternoon and evening.

The forty-fifth Anniversary of the organization of the Knights of Pythias in Indiana will be celebrated by Saint Joe Lodge No. 400 at Widney's Opera House Friday evening Feb., 19 at 8 o'clock. A good program has been arranged. Prof. Fairfield of Angola will be present and deliver the principal address, Rev. McCain and Rev. Brown will both take part in the program. Good music is promised and we extend a cordial invitation to the general public, whether you are a member of any order or not, come and hear these most excellent addresses.

Concert Given Big Crowd

The entertainment given on last Friday evening by the Crescent Concert Company was a success in every way a concert worthy of much praise. The members of the company were:—Nellie D. Blackburn, Pianist; Bertha Hadsell Edwards, Vocalist; Alma McCormick, Reader; and Fuchsia M. Hadsell, Violinist. The following program was carried out.

Piano Duet.....La Ballidine
Misses Hadsell and Blackburn.
Reading.....Who's Afraid
Violin..... Hearts and Flowers
Vocal.....Carmena(Waltz Song
Reading .....(a) How Merika Turned Baptist.
(b) Women's Rights
Piano.....Recollections of Home
Violin.....(a) Le Cygne
(b) Souvenir de Wieneawski
Reading.....The Debutante
Vocal .....(a) Tis All I Ask
(b) Mighty Lak A Rose
Piano.....(a) Cachoucha (Caprice)
(b) If I Were A Bird
Pantomine .....America

Each number received its applause and was highly appreciated by the music loving people of St. Joe. Each were artists in their line. Mrs. Edwards, vocalist, rendered some fine selections and is the best we have heard for some time. The entertainment was given under the auspices of the High School and over twenty-five dollars was taken in.

Former Pastor Dead

Rev. J. R. Lenhart a former pastor of the St. Joe Methodist Church, who has been ill for five years with Consumption, died at his home in Maples Ind., Friday evening, Feb. 6th., 1909. Rev. Lenhart was pastor here 1897–98, and stood very high with his church and the community. He was one of the prominent men of his Conference, was Secretary for twelve years, represented his Conference in the General Conference which met at Washington D. C. May 1904. He leaves his wife with five children to mourn his departure. The funeral was conducted at the Maples Church Monday Feb., 8 by the Rev. J. L. Barclay, president of the Indiana Conference. The burial was held at New Haven.

WABASH

Wabash Time Table.

Trains leave the St. Joe Station as follows:

GOING WEST.
No. 11. Ft. Wayne Acc & Mail 11:34a. m
No. 3, Western Express 7:58 p. m

GOING EAST.
No. 2, Eastern Express 6:34a. m
No16, Toledo Acc & Mail 4:39 p. m.

KILL THE COUGH AND CURE THE LUNGS
WITH Dr. King's New Discovery
FOR CONSUMPTION COUGHS and COLDS
Price 50c & $1.00
Free Trial.
Surest and Quickest Cure for all THROAT and LUNG TROUBLES, or MONEY BACK.

Lincoln's Day

The school fittingly remembered the birthday of the noblest of American characters, Abraham Lincoln. The house was decorated with flags and pictures. The High School had a program before recess. The Grammer room occupied the rest of the time. Each pupil cheerfully took his place. The teachers and pupils were glad to see so many visitors. It is to be hoped that people will feel free to walk into school at any time, it is a great encouragement to the school. Who can spend a half day thinking about a man like Lincoln and not be bettered by it? He teaches us all a lesson, that the poor can go from the lowest to the highest, to be truly great is to have a pure heart and a true ambition. The question is, what are you? It is true man is not devine but by honest toil and thought we may catch glimpses of the light.

Culture Club

The Culture Club observed Lincoln Centennial, at the home of Mrs. Edd Leighty Wednesday night. The rooms put on a patriotic appearance being decorated with flags and hunting. The committee on arrangements were Mrs. Fred Leighty and Miss Edna Provines, the latter also being hostess to the club. At the opening each member was presented with a printed program which was very appropriate, Lincoln's picture being on the front page, a list of the presidents on the back and the program for the evening on the inside pages. They were tied with red, white and blue ribbon. The following program was carried out:—Song, Star Spangled Banner, Club; Unveiling of Lincoln's Picture; Brief Sketch of Lincoln's Life, Mrs. Dr. Bowman; Solo and chorus, Red, White and Blue, Mrs. W. C. DeLong and Club; O, Captain! My, Captain! Mrs. H. Krabill; Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, Mrs. F. Buchanan; Quotations from Lincoln, Club; Commemoration Ode, Mrs. A. Copp; The Hard Work Plan, Mrs. Dr. Sheffer; One of the People, Mrs. Edd Leighty; Abraham Lincoln, Mrs. Etta Hull; Why Should the Spirit of Mortal be Proud, Lincoln's Favorite Poem, Mrs. O. H. Widney; America, Club. The committee then served refreshments. Eighteen members were present and two visitors. Mrs. Charles Bishop of Reading and Mrs. Dr. Lucky of Wolf Lake, Ind. Each member was then presented with an '09 Lincoln calendar. The evening was one long to be remembered, as it was profitably and pleasantly spent.

L L C

The 'Lincoln Centennial', was celebrated by the Ladies Literary Club at the home of Mrs. Belle Swineford Wednesday evening Feb., 10th. The rooms were beautifully decorated with flags in commemoration of our martyred President. The following program was carried out:—Lincoln's Boyhood Days, Mrs. Benninghoff; The Romance of Lincoln's Life, Mrs. Barney; Lincoln's Official Life; Mrs. Milliman; Lincoln's Mother, Mrs. Rhodenbaugh; Lincoln's Favorite Poem, Mrs. Swineford. All members responded to roll call with quotations from Lincoln.

Given A Reception.

The following article was taken from an Elkhart paper in which it gives an account of a reception tendered Rev. F. A. Dressel and family, who recently moved from Spencerville.

"The auditorium and gallery of the Grace Lutheran church were filled last night by the congregation and their friends, to participate in the reception given to the new pastor, Rev. F. A. Dressel and family, recently of Spencerville.

A splendid program was given promptly at 8 o'clock. Recitations, vocal selecions and music by orchestra were enjoyed by the audience, revealing the fact that the church has not a little talent among its people. Mrs. A. K. Kesler welcomed the pastor with well chosen and cordial words, and advised the co-operation of the members, in unity of thought and action for the best of work.

The orchestral music was kindly furnished by several musicians under the direction of Fred Waters of the Sidway band. Rev. Dressel gave a speech full of gratitude for his reception with dashes of wit and wisdom. He remarked the co-incidence of the date of the entertainment. "It is my birthday," said he, "and this is the biggest birthday party I have ever had." After the program the entire assemblage took refreshments in the parlors of the church. There were four large tables. At one sat the pastor and wife and son, and the officers of the church. The place cards were red and white hearts with the date, and a welcome. The napkins had red and gold heart decorations. The centerpieces were red carnations and ferns. The pillars were covered with white with hearts appliqued. Strands of hearts were suspended from the posts, and the chandeliers were trimmed with red and white. The word "Welcome" was emblazoned in huge red hearts at the south end. The orchestra gave selections during the social hour. The affair was voted an entire success.

A Surprise.

The neighbors of Archie Squires and family all turned out last Saturday night and gave them a complete surprise. The people gathered at the home of Ora Baker and went to the house in a body and Mr. Squires could hardly realize what was going on when in marched seven or eight masked persons followed by others making in all 45 present. A jolly good time was had and they were all treated to peanuts, popcorn and fudge. A graphaphone furnished music for the evening. Mr. Squires and family will move next week, on a farm near Butler. This was a gathering that will be remembered by all present.

Announcement of Services

The Methodist Protestant Church is now open and a cordial invitation is extended to the public to come and worship with us. There will be young peoples meeting at the church next Sunday evening at 6:30. Every person who will is invited to this meeting. The subject for the sermon for Sunday, evening is "The Highest Learning." Every body come.

J. C. McCain, Pastor.

GREAT CASH
Clearance Sale
On Wall Paper.

Beginning on Wednesday, Feb. 10th., and closing on Wednesday, March 3rd., for eighteen (18) sale days only, we will offer our entire stock of wall paper at prices never before known in St. Joe. What a transformation a little new paper will work! How many times you have heard this exclamation; and perhaps, have wanted to reply: "Yes, good wall paper plus good taste" works wonders. Now is the time, while we are making these special prices, to gratify your desires by beautifying your home.

Come early and secure the cream from the many good things which we are offering. No paper laid away as we need the room.

HARRY MILLIMAN
DRUGGIST

FEBRUARY

0499

L 903

The St. Joe News

ST. JOE, INDIANA.

FRED B. LEIGHTY, - - Publisher.

1909 FEBRUARY 1909

Su	Mo	Tu	We	Th	Fr	Sa
●	1	2	3	4	5	6
7	8	9	10	11	12	13
14	15	16	17	18	19	20
21	22	23	24	25	26	27
28	●	●	●	●	●	●

F. M. 5th. L. Q. 13th. N. M. 20th. F. Q. 26th.

FEATURES OF INTEREST

ABOUT THAT WHICH HAS BEEN AND IS TO BE.

All Sides and Conditions of Things are Shown. Nothing Overlooked to make it Complete.

Negro Had Close Call.

Charley Crumley, the negro arrested on suspicion of being the man who attempted to criminally assault Miss Irma Newell, was taken from the jail at Lakeland, Fla., by a mob of one thousand men. He was bound to a stake, faggots were heaped about his body and oil poured over the mass with the intention of burning him. Sheriff John Logan, his brother, Alonzo Logan, and Special Deputy McMullen induced the mob to surrender the negro, saying he could prove an alibi, and Crumley was marched back to jail. Two companies of the Second Regiment, Florida National Guard, have been ordered to Lakeland from Tampa to assist the authorities in protecting Crumley.

Big Mills Destroyed by Fire.

The J. & S. Emison Corn Mill, corn cribs and elevator, together with the company's stables, warerooms and five Baltimore & Ohio loaded freight cars, located on the river front, were completely destroyed by fire at Vincennes, Ind. The contents, including 100,000 bushels of corn and about ten carloads of finished product, were also destroyed. The loss is estimated at $100,000 and is only partly covered with insurance. The fire started in the mill proper and in ten minutes' time the plant and its auxiliary buildings, which occupy a whole city block, were in a mass of flames.

Rumor of Accident to Fleet.

According to dispatches received by a news agency in London from Gibraltar reports are current there that a collision has occurred between the Georgia and another of the United States Atlantic fleet, which sailed from that port on Saturday morning on its homeward voyage. Nothing is known officially at that place of such an occurrence and little credence is given to the report. Wireless dispatches received at Funcal, Madeira, from the Connecticut reported all well with the fleet, which was then about 600 miles from Gibraltar.

Editor Killed by Angry Husband.

Ed T. Kellum, editor of the College Corner (Ohio) News, was shot and killed on the streets of College Corner by Clyde Handley, also of that place. Handley, after firing three shots at Kellum, the first of which was fatal, ran to the home of his father, William Handley, and fired a bullet into his own temple, dying instantly. Handley is 25 years old. Handley had been separated from his wife for a short time and it is believed that he suspected Kellum of giving his wife legal advice as to divorce proceedings in court.

N. W. Gilbert Stays in the Islands.

The President has sent to the Senate the nomination of Newton W. Gilbert, of Angola, Ind., to be Secretary of Public Instruction in the Philippine Islands. Mr. Gilbert is now a member of the Philippine Commission. He went to the islands three years ago as a judge, and last August was made a member of the commission. He formerly represented the Twelfth Indiana District in Congress.

Ferry Steamer Burned.

The Norfolk & Portsmouth Traction Company's ferry steamer running between Willoughsby Spit and Old Point Comfort, Va., was burned to the water's edge at her Willougsby pier. Three of her crew were burned to death in their bunks. The pier was also destroyed. The cause of the fire is unknown.

To Feed British Army.

A Chicago firm has received a contract to supply the British army with corned beef for a period of three years. The first delivery, between 500,000 and 1,000,000 pounds, will be made next July. The meat will be packed at Chicago under the supervision of British army officers.

125 Miners in Burning Mine.

An explosion occurred in the Catherine mine at Yiovka, Russia, and it was followed quickly by fire. One hundred and twenty-five miners are imprisoned in the mine. An engineer and three workingmen who attempted to rescue the victims have been killed.

Virginia Town Has Big Fire.

The most disastrous fire in Charlottesville, Va., in twenty-four years destroyed property valued at $220,000. The blaze originated in the building of the Charlottesville Hardware Company on East Main street.

Wabash Freight House Burned.

The freight house of the Wabash railroad at Twelfth and Dearborn streets, in Chicago, Ill., was destroyed by fire at a loss estimated at $400,000.

FARM NATION'S HOPE, ASSERTS ROOSEVELT

In Special Message Sent to Congress Needs of Rural Residents Are Urged.

CO-OPERATION IS GREAT BOON.

Commission of Inquiry Reports Results of Its Recent Investigation.

The farmer's opportunity for an easier life is pointed out in the report of the country life commission, submitted to Congress by the President Tuesday.

The President points out that the commissioners have served, and will serve, without pay, but $25,000 is asked to defray expenses of gathering and compiling facts.

"If country life," said the President, in a message accompanying the report, "is to become what it should be, and what I believe it ultimately will be—one of the most dignified and desirable ways of earning a living—the farmer must take advantage not only of the agricultural knowledge which is at his disposal, but of the methods which have raised and continue to raise the standards of living and of intelligence in other callings.

Growing Crops Only Foundation.

"The commission has tried to help the farmers to see clearly their own problem and to see it as a whole; to distinguish clearly between what the government can do and what the farmers must do for themselves; and it wishes to bring not only the farmers but the nation as a whole to realize that the growing of crops, though an essential part, is only a part of country life. Crop growing is the essential foundation, but it is no less essential that the farmer shall get an adequate return for what he grows, and it is no less essential—indeed, it is literally vital—that he and his wife and his children shall lead the right kind of life.

"For this reason it is of the first importance that the United States Department of Agriculture, through which as prime agent the ideas the commission stands for must reach the people, should become without delay in fact a department of country life, fitted to deal not only with crops, but also with all the larger aspects of life in the open country.

Immediate Needs Pointed Out.

"From all that has been done and learned, three great general and immediate needs of country life stand out:

First, effective co-operation among farmers, to put them on a level with the organized interests with which they do business.

Second, a new kind of schools in the country, which shall teach the children as much outdoors as indoors and perhaps more, so that they will prepare for country life, and not, as at present, mainly for life in town.

Third, better means of communication, including good roads and a parcels post, which the country people are everywhere, and rightly, unanimous in demanding.

"To these may well be added better sanitation, for easily preventable diseases hold several million country people in the slavery of continuous ill health."

Organization to secure for the country the things that are the country's is the central theme of the commission's report.

Farmers Must Help Themselves.

"There must be a vast enlargement of voluntary organized effort among farmers themselves," say the commissioners. "It is indispensable that farmers shall work together for their common interests and for the national welfare. If they do not do this, no governmental activity, no legislation, not even better schools, will greatly avail.

"The forces and institutions that make for morality and spiritual ideals among rural people must be energized. We miss the heart of the problem if we neglect to foster personal character and neighborhood righteousness. The best way to preserve ideals for private conduct and public life is to build up the institutions of religion.

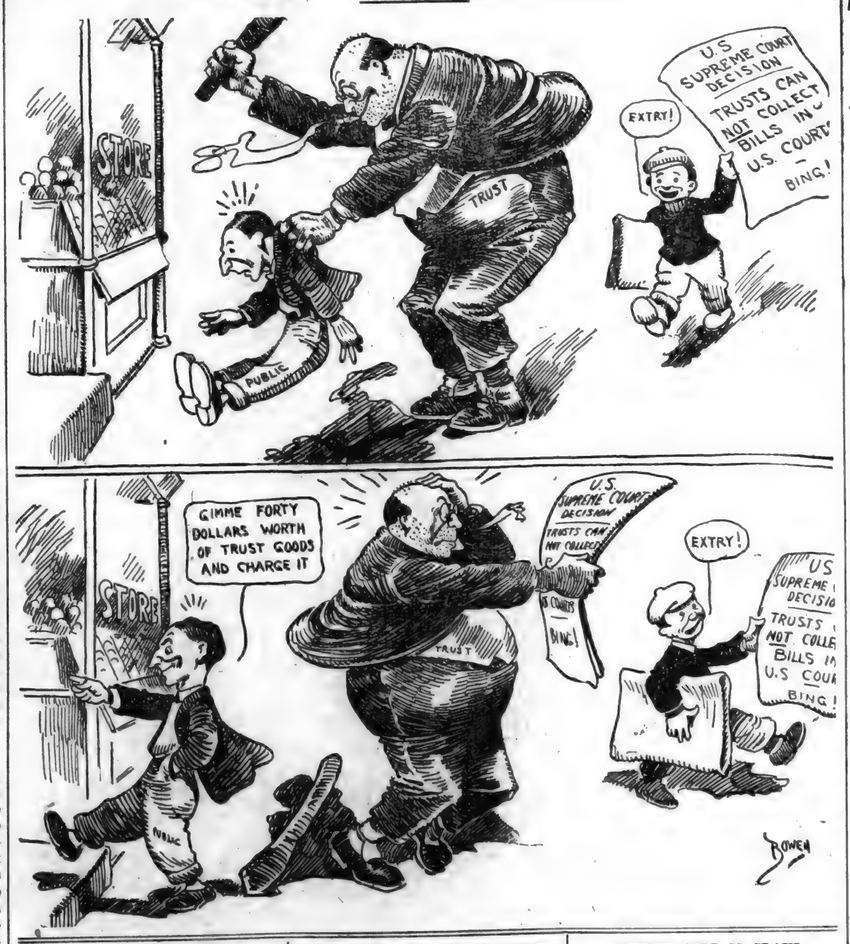
"The church has great power of leadership. The whole people should understand that it is vitally important to stand behind the rural church and to help it become a great power in developing concrete country life ideals. It is especially important that the country church recognize that it has a social responsibility to the entire community as well as a religious responsibility to its own group of people."

PRESIDENT OF MILLS IS SLAIN.

Shot in His Office by Former Secretary Who Wanted Reinstatement.

Clarence H. Jones, 59 years of age, president of the Commonwealth Feed Mills Company and a brother of Police Commissioner George P. Jones, was shot three times and killed in his office in St. Louis. Herman A. Kretschmar, 59 years of age, former secretary of the company, was arrested and admits the shooting. The killing followed a quarrel after the discharge of Kretschmar. He told the police he is a poor man, and, after losing his position, was unable to obtain employment. He had little money, he said, and brooded over his condition. He visited Jones to demand reinstatement. When this was refused he shot Jones.

AT LAST WE HAVE A CHANCE TO BEAT THE TRUSTS.



ROOSEVELT VETOES CENSUS BILL

Sends Message Urging Appointment by Competitive Examination.

The President sent a special message to the House Friday vetoing the census bill. The message said in part:

"I herewith return without approval H. R. 16,954, entitled 'An Act to Provide for the Thirteenth and Subsequent Decennial Censuses.' I do this with extreme reluctance, because I fully realize the importance of supplying the director of the census at as early date as possible with the force necessary to the carrying on of his work. But it is of high consequence to the country that the statistical work of the census shall be conducted with entire accuracy. This is as important from the standpoint of business and industry as from the scientific standpoint. It is therefore, in my judgment, essential that the result should not be open to the suspicion of bias on political and personal grounds; that it should not be open to the reasonable suspicion of being a waste of the people's money and a fraud.

"Section 7 of the act provides in effect that appointments to the census shall be under the spoils system, for this is the real meaning of the provision that they shall be subject only to non-competitive examination. The proviso is added that they shall be selected without regard to political party affiliation. But there is only one way to guarantee that they shall be selected without regard to politics and on merit, and that is by choosing them after competitive examination from the lists of eligibles provided by the Civil Service Commission."

There is unquestionably a large and influential sentiment in favor of passing the bill over the President's veto. If the veto were overridden the bill would, of course, remain as it is and appointments outside of civil service rules would stand, which would be a very grateful condition to many members of Congress, who believe in as many personal appointments as possible.

GREAT NORTHERN INCOME OFF.

Railway Shows Decrease of $336,000 for Past Six Months.

The semi-annual statement of the earnings and expenses of the Great Northern for the six months ending Dec. 31, 1908, shows a decided falling off in the income, as compared with the six months ending Dec. 31, 1907. The operating income for the last half of 1907 amounted, after deductions for expenses, to $12,858,712.34, while for the last half of 1908, the operating income was $12,492,100.27, showing a decrease of $366,612.07, or a little less than 3 per cent. The heaviest decrease was in the revenue from freight traffic, where there was a decrease from $26,441,193.87 to $23,175,892.28, or $3,265,301.59.

23 DIE IN SOUTHERN STORM.

Parts of Six States Swept by Wind, with Great Loss to Property.

At least twenty-three persons were killed and dozens injured in a storm of cyclonic proportions that swept portions of Northern Texas, Southern Oklahoma, Arkansas, Mississippi, Alabama and Louisiana Friday. Many buildings were demolished or damaged seriously and the properly loss will be enormous. Several persons are reported killed at Cullman, Ala. Other towns suffering from the storm, in addition to those where there was loss of life, include Ennis and Waxahachie, Texas; Bascoe and Monroe, La.; Muskogee, Okla., and Parrish, Ala., all reporting serious damage.

MISSING IN ORPHANAGE FIRE.

Haskell Memorial Home Consumed —Young Lad a Hero.

The Haskell Memorial Home, a three and a half story brick orphanage located on the western boundary of Battle Creek, Mich., was destroyed by fire early Friday. Three of the thirty-seven little inmates were missing when the roll was counted in a cottage on the orphanage grounds after the fire. The missing: McFerney, Lena, 14 years old; Quotent, Cecil, 13 years old; Goodenow, George, 8 years old. In the panic that followed when the children were awakened by the first alarm seven little girls jumped from a third-story window, but it is not thought that any of them were fatally hurt, though Ruth Roff, 12 years old, was seriously injured in the back. James Armstrong, 12 years old, made a hero of himself by standing on a shed under the window from which the girls had to jump, directing them how to make their fall as easy as possible and actually catching two of the smaller girls in his arms. Mrs. R. S. Owen, who, with her husband, was in charge of the institution, fought her way down the main stairway while it was a mass of flames, carrying a 6-weeks-old baby in her arms and with two small children clinging to her skirts. The fire started in the north wing, and spread rapidly through the entire structure. The properly loss will be amout $50,000.

SUICIDE CALLS WORLD DEBTOR.

Decent Grave Asked by Unidentified Man to Square Accounts.

"The world, debtor, in account with Edward Melian, creditor. To one life, ruined; to carbolic acid, 10 cents; to hell, one eternity. This account may be squared by giving me a decent grave." This is all that remains to tell of the identity of a man who died by his own hand in a lodging-house in Cleveland. The inscription, written on a torn and dirty scrap of paper, was found on a chair in the suicide's room. The man who died was not of the lodging-house type. He was fairly well dressed. His thin face was that of a man of refinement.

ODDS & ENDS OF SPORT

In a basket ball game the University of Chicago won from the Iowa University by a score of 29 to 10.

At Glasgow the Canadian curlers defeated the Glasgow province players in a twelve-rink match at Cress Myloff. The score was 219 to 152.

Mason City, Iowa, will have horse racing next season. A number of the lovers of harness horses got together and guaranteed a purse of $5,000 for races.

The Milwaukee club is negotiating with St. Paul, and it is practically settled that Jack Flynn, who played field and first base for the Brewers last year, will come to St. Paul.

Once again is George Slosson the champion 18.1 billiardist of the world. The old master defeated George Sutton 500 to 328 and for the tenth time in his life holds a world's title.

Jimmie Potts, of Minneapolis, defeated Percy Ballard, of Grand Forks, in a wrestling match at the latter place. He took the first and last falls in 23 and 12 minutes. Ballard got the second fall in 17½ minutes.

Oscar Gunderson, of Chippewa Falls, established a new American ski jumping record by making 123 feet, which is three feet better than the previous record. Gunderson also made one jump of 126 feet, but failed to stand up when he landed.

FOURTH GIRL IS SLAIN.

Finger Marks of Large Hand Show How Murders Were Committed.

For the second time within a fortnight and the fourth time in a little more than two years, the strangled body of a girl, young and attractive, was found in Dayton, Ohio, Friday, finger marks about the throat made by a gigantic hand showing the manner of her death.

For the fourth time since the series of murders began, the police are completely baffled in their efforts to apprehend the murderer, and the women of Dayton, terrified before, no longer venture out unescorted even in the daytime. At least two of the murders, all of which followed atrocious mistreatment, were committed in the broad light of day, and in spite of many arrests it is known that the slayer still walks the streets of the city. At any moment his maniacal lust for blood may come upon him again, and any of Dayton's daughters may be his next victim.

The latest victim was Lizzie Fulhart, 18 years old. Her body was dragged from a cistern in the rear of a vacant house, but marks on her throat and body showed the manner of her death. The young woman, who was very pretty, came there on Jan. 29 to look for employment, and was staying with her aunt, Mrs. Samuel Deeters. The body was found by Charles O. Weaver, a contractor. Around the head was a burlap bag, and the indications were that the girl had been lured into the unoccupied house and murdered, after being kept a prisoner no one knows how long, and that finally her body was carried to the cistern and hurled in.

TWO-CENT FARE LAW HELD UP.

South Dakota Act Waits Hearing for Temporary Injunction.

Judge John E. Carland, in the United States District Court, in Sioux Falls, S. D., granted a restraining order preventing the 2-cent passenger rate law, signed by the Governor the same day, from going into effect pending a hearing before him March 1 for a temporary injunction. The order was granted at the instance of the various railroad lines in South Dakota. The bill as finally passed by the Legislature contained an emergency clause making it effective immediately. While the railway companies were obtaining a restraining order from the federal court at Sioux Falls to stop the 2-cent rate law, the attorney general went before the State Supreme Court in Pierre and got an alternative writ of mandamus, returnable on March 3. The question now to be settled is which court shall take jurisdiction of the matter.

NEW YORK LABOR UNIONS LOSE.

Decrease of 26,123 Members in Six Months Is Reported.

During the six months of April to September in 1908 the total membership in the labor unions of the State of New York decreased from 398,582 to 372,459, a loss of 26,123 members, according to the quarterly bulletin issued by Commissioner John Williams of the State labor department. "This is the first time since 1904," says the report, "that the spring and summer period has not witnessed an increase in the total union membership and only the third time in the last twelve years. The bulk of the decline in aggregate membership occurred in four leading groups, comprising the building trades (11,060), the clothing trades (8,953), transportation (4,541) and the metal trades (4,025). Returns indicate that the percentage of idleness among organized wage workers decreased fully one-fifth during the third quarter of the year."

ANTI-JAP BILL HARMS, ROOSEVELT MAINTAINS

Tells California Speaker Pending Measure May Cause "Very Grave Mischief."

WILL TAKE IT INTO COURTS.

State Laws Violating Treaty Obligations of United States Will Not Stand Court Test.

"The policy of the administration is to combine the maximum of efficiency in achieving the real object which the people of the Pacific slope have at heart with the minimum of friction and trouble, while the misguided men who advocate such action as this against which I protest are following a policy which combines the minimum of efficiency with the maximum of insult and which, while totally failing to achieve any real result for good, yet might accomplish infinite harm."

In this language President Roosevelt, in a long telegram to Speaker P. A. Stanton of the California Assembly, set forth the government's view of the anti-Japanese legislation now before that body.

The President stated that the bill gives just and grave cause for irritation and that the government would be obliged immediately to take action in the Federal courts to test such legislation, because it is held to be clearly a violation of the treaty obligations of the United States. The telegram to Speaker Stanton was sent only after a conference with Senator Flint and Representative Kahn of California and F. K. Lane of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Message Sent to Stanton.

To Speaker Stanton the President sent the following:

"I trust there will be no misunderstanding of the federal government's attitude. We are jealously endeavoring to guard the interest of California and of the entire West in accordance with the desires of our Western people. By friendly agreement with Japan we are now carrying out a policy which, while meeting the interests and desires of the Pacific slope, is compatible, not merely with mutual self-respect but with mutual esteem and admiration between the Americans and Japanese.

"The Japanese government is loyally and in good faith doing its part to carry out the policy, precisely as the American government is doing. The policy aims at mutuality of obligation and behavior. In accordance with it, the purpose is that the Japanese shall come here exactly as Americans go to Japan, which is in effect that travelers, students, persons engaged in international business, men who sojourn for pleasure or study, and the like, shall have the freest access from one country to the other, and shall be sure of the best treatment, but that there shall be no settlement in mass by the people of either country in the other.

"During the last six months, under this policy, more Japanese have left the country than have come in, and the total number in the United States has diminished by over 2,000. These figures are absolutely accurate and cannot be impeached. In other words, if the present policy is consistently followed and works as well in the future as it is now working, all difficulties and causes of friction will disappear, while at the same time each nation will retain its self-respect and the good will of the other.

"Such a bill as this school bill accomplishes literally nothing whatever in the line of the object aimed at and gives just and grave cause for irritation; while, in addition, the United States government would be obliged immediately to take action in the federal courts to test such legislation, as we hold it to be clearly a violation of the treaty.

"On this point, I refer you to the numerous decisions of the United States Supreme Court in regard to State laws which violate treaty obligations of the United States. The legislation would accomplish nothing beneficial and would certainly cause some mischief and might cause grave mischief. In short, the policy of the administration is to combine the maximum of efficiency in achieving the real object which the people of the Pacific slope have at heart with the minimum of friction and trouble, while the misguided men who advocate such action as this against which I protest are following a policy which combines the minimum of efficiency with the maximum of insult and which, while totally failing to achieve any real result for good, yet might accomplish infinite harm.

Pledges Action by Nation.

"If in the next year or two the action of the federal government fails to achieve what it is now achieving, then, through the further action of the President and Congress, it can be made entirely efficient.

"I am sure that the sound judgment of the people of California will support you, Mr. Speaker, in your efforts. Let me repeat that at present we are actually doing the thing which the people of California wish to be done, and to upset the arrangement under which this is being done cannot do good and may do great harm.

"If, in the next year or two, the figures of immigration prove that the arrangement which has worked so successfully during the last six months is no longer working successfully, then there would be ground for grievance, and for the reversal by the national government of its present policy. But at present the policy is working well and until it works badly it would be a grave misfortune to change it, and when changed it can only be changed effectively by the national government.

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

FEBRUARY

0500

L 903

Race for a Wife

—BY—

HAWLEY SMART

CHAPTER IV.

The next day Pearman became excessively enamored of his hopeful son's project, though he did not at all disguise to himself the difficulties that stood in the way of its accomplishment. If he had not had the advantage of such an education as Sam had had, yet he had made a large fortune by trading on the weaknesses of his fellow-men. Those who achieve this, though it may be little to their credit, become more thoroughly acquainted with the springs of the human mind than all the metaphysicians and philosophers who have ever written or dreamed about it. The son might be an astute man enough at his vocation of the turf, but he was a child, compared to his father, when computing to what extent he could persuade, bind, or break men to his own will. The son thought the advantages of such an alliance must be so transparent in a worldly point of view to Harold Denison that he would be a willing coadjutor in the scheme, from the moment it was proposed to him; the father at once foresaw the old family pride that would be up in arms against him the instant he mooted the idea.

But he said to himself, "I have had much to do with Harold Denison, and should know him thoroughly. He is selfish at heart to the core. In all those troublous days of his, when I was settling his affairs, I never knew him dwell upon what the results might be to his wife and daughter. It was ever what he had to give up. He'll scout this proposal with indignation when I first mention it to him; but he'll come round to it in time. As for the girl's that's Sam's affair; but when Denison has once made up his mind to her marrying him, he's as likely a man as I know to turn on the domestic screw heavily. I've seen that oracle worked more than once, and it's generally pretty efficacious. They run away with somebody else afterwards, occasionally, but that's the fault of the husbands' not keeping them within bounds. Yes; I'll ride over and see Denison to-morrow. It won't be a very pleasant job, I doubt; but I am used to that."

The owner of Glinn felt that slight nervous perturbation that invariably attends the call of a large creditor. The noise of the carriage wheels had merely produced a feeling of languid curiosity; but the announcement that Mr. Pearman wanted to see him made the squire's pulse quicken, and it was with an anxiety he was unable to disguise that he welcomed him in his own peculiar slow tones.

"Sit down, Pearman. Take that armchair, and make yourself comfortable. I hope to heaven you haven't come to make me the reverse?"

"Not at all, Mr. Denison. My visit is not a business one, though I have something I should like just to talk to you a little about presently. Shocking weather we're having. Bad for the farmers—very, isn't it?"

"You may say that. Nothing we have to sell seems to be worth anything. All farm produce is a drug in the market. How's Coriander going on? It looks like your gathering a terrible harvest in April at Newmarket, anyhow. The horse is doing well, I suppose?"

"Yes, I believe so. You know, Mr. Denison, I'm getting too old myself to see after such things. I leave all that to Sam; but he tells me the horse will run well for the 'Guineas,' bar accidents."

"'Run well!' 'Bar accidents!' Why, 'bar accidents,' he must win," cried the ever sanguine Denison. "I never bet now, as you know; but in the old days I should have had a thousand on him."

"Ah, well," said the old lawyer, "there's where it is. You always would believe in certainties in racing. I never myself got further than believing a horse would run well."

"Yes," laughed the squire; "and in consequence you made a fortune while I lost one. I'm afraid, too, it would be the same thing all over again if I could begin once more."

Pearman shot a keen look at him from under his grizzled brows, and thought most assuredly that it would be so, and how very much it would facilitate his present design if the squire was a little involved in that way at present. He of course knew the main part of Harold Denison's entanglements, but even he, though his principal man of business, did not know how bad things really were. It would have given him more confidence to unfold the object of his embassy had he been possessed of such knowledge.

"Well, Pearman," continued the squire, "I am afraid I have no money left to put upon Coriander. These old days are gone. Yes," said Denison, bitterly; "half-pence are of more account to me now than sovereigns were then. But what is it you want to talk to me about? Nothing to my advantage, I'll be bound."

"I'm afraid not; not but that it might be. But I've never been able, Mr. Denison, to induce you to listen to anything to your own advantage."

"'Gad, sir, I can call to mind very few of your propositions that tended that way. A few hundreds to be saved here and there, at the cost of total abandonment of my social position—cases in which the saving was incommensurate with the sacrifice."

"You judge me hardly, Mr. Denison. On the occasions to which you allude, pardon me if I say that it was on overstrained delicacy on your part which prevented matters being brought to a more satisfactory conclusion. It is the way with you all," muttered the old lawyer, musingly. "You forget these scruples when they might be of use to you, and hamper us, who have to put your affairs straight, with them afterwards."

"A Denison of Glinn, sir, is not to be included in the same category as a bankrupt trader, I presume," remarked the squire, haughtily.

"No; but it would be better both for him and his creditors if it could be so. You repudiate the idea of all compromise, and say, 'In time, everybody shall be paid in full.' The result is, you never get clear, and the creditors are never satisfied."

"But they will be in time," returned Harold Denison; and the uncertain tones in which he uttered the words were a stringent commentary on his previous speech.

"It's just about that," said Pearman, "that I'm wishing to talk to you now. It's a cruel pity that a fine old property like Glinn should be broken up. A good deal of it, you see, has fallen into my hands."

"You need not remind me of that," interrupted Harold Denison; "I am quite aware of the price I am paying for the follies of my younger days."

"It is not likely I should recall such disagreeable facts to your memory, if I had not something to propose with regard to their being to a considerable extent wiped out. You will do me the justice, I think, Mr. Denison, to admit that since I have had the honor of being your pecuniary adviser, I have never held bitters to your lips, when I deemed anything more palatable would meet the exigencies of the case?"

The squire nodded assent. He certainly had a confused idea that Pearman had made a pretty good thing out of the adjustment of his affairs.

"Now," continued the attorney, "I see a way in which you may be relieved from all immediate embarrassment connected with money matters, and by which Miss Denison may be the eventual mistress of Glinn in its original integrity."

Denison started. To be released from the harassing strain that lies on him now with regard to pounds, shillings and pence—that the old property should once more cumulate in his daughter—opened a gorgeous prospect to his eyes. It was a piece of good fortune that he had never dreamed of. But he knew his man by this time well. What was the price he was to pay for this? He said nothing, but inwardly his brain was busy in vain conjecture as to what Pearman would demand as his guerdon for producing such a transformation scene. The idea of that worthy solicitor ever doing anything without an ulterior motive was one he never entertained for an instant. What would he want? What did he mean?

CHAPTER V.

A silence of some five minutes ensued between the two men; the old lawyer was anxious that the tempting bait he held out should be thoroughly gorged before he was called upon to state upon what terms all this might be brought about. His best experience of men told him that there was no such mistake in life as hurrying—an axiom most of us learn, though generally too late but to derive minor advantages therefrom.

"This sounds too good to be true, Pearman," at length remarked the squire. "If it can be done, you must have some infernal rider to the proposition, that it is hardly possible I should assent to."

"It is not likely that this can be brought about without some valuable assistance from yourself," rejoined the solicitor. "But will you bear steadfastly in your mind the great advantages that will accrue immediately to yourself, and ultimately to Miss Denison? Will you, moreover, be good enough to hear me patiently to the end?"

The squire nodded an impatient assent.

"You must, of course, be quite aware that now Miss Denison has arrived at a marriageable age, her great personal attractions have claimed the attention of a good many young men in the county."

The attorney paused, but his auditor looked grimly at the fire, and expressed his feelings by neither word nor gesture.

"Well, a young gentleman of considerable property, and still better expectations, who has had the privilege of meeting Miss Denison, is so struck with her charms and accomplishments that he has commissioned me to ask your permission to try whether he cannot succeed in inducing her to accept him as a husband. On the point of family he is quite aware that he has no pretensions to Miss Denison's hand; but as regards income, I think there would be nothing to be desired."

"Who do you mean?" broke in the squire. "Has Maude given him any encouragement, that you come with this story to me?"

"My dear sir, his acquaintance with Miss Denison is far too slight for anything of that kind ever to have been even thought of on his part. He is merely anxious to have your permission to try his luck. Without that, believe me, he would never dare to aspire to your daughter's hand."

All this show of deference induced the squire to listen to the proposition, at all events, quietly. Who on earth Pearman could have in his eye he had no idea. That he could mean his son all this time never entered Harold Denison's head. He certainly knew he had a son, but, mixing so little as he did in the county now, he had barely seen him, nor had he, but at odd times, even heard of him.

"But who is it, man? Let's know the name of this bashful suitor? It's a quality one sees little enough of in these days."

"My son, Mr. Denison, is the gentleman who solicits your permission to do his best to win your daughter."

"Your son! Why"—and here the squire stopped, perfectly thunderstruck. It was a levelling age, he knew; that the tide of democracy was at the flood, he was aware; that our cherished institutions were looked on with disdain, that there were people who saw no virtue in coronets, and thought an Established Church a worn-out institution that it would be as well to do away with, he had heard; but that the son of a confounded money-lending attorney should presume to dream of mating with a Denison of Glinn he had never contemplated. For a few minutes he was literally speechless; then all the pride of race surged up. He came of a line of whom it had been often said that their tongues were as sharp and ready as their swords.

"Excuse me," he remarked; "I was not aware that the times were so far advanced that our daughters were regarded as salable commodities out of their own class of life. I was not aware that the social gap between myself and my solicitor was so effectually bridged over. Your son, sir, will have to take his chance with the young man from the butcher's, and Mr. Muffatee, who keeps the draper's establishment in Xminster. I shall not presume to influence Miss Denison in her choice."

Old Pearman had many times in the course of his career moralised upon the weakness of losing one's temper about anything, but the squire's sneer brought the blood to his pale temples.

"You take a high hand, sir—a high hand. I asked you to listen to me patiently, and you insult me. I spoke to you humbly enough to start with; but I tell you now that wealth chooses its mate from blood in these days, and that many as well-born as Miss Denison have married not a bit better lineage than mine."

"Perhaps so. People forget themselves in all classes, and forfeit their social status; but it's getting time for money grubbers to learn one thing, and that is—that possession of all the gold in California does not constitute a gentleman, or entitle a man to claim alliance with gentle blood!"

The old solicitor's lips quivered, and his lean fingers played nervously with his watch chain, as he replied:

"I did not come here to argue our mutual social position. I came here to afford an embarrassed man, for whom I have a sincere regard, in spite of all the hard names he heaps upon me, an opportunity of freeing himself from those entanglements. I advanced a proposition which gave him a chance of in some way repairing the evil that the early follies of his youth had entailed on his child, destined to pay her full share of such indiscretions. The days of such prejudices are past, I tell you, Mr. Denison; and once more I ask you not to give me an answer now, but to reflect upon the proposal I have made to you."

"You do us too much honor, Mr. Pearman. Permit me to observe that I must decline all further consideration of the subject. I am perfectly convinced the alliance you propose with such a delicious oblivion of all status of society would be extremely unsuitable. Allow me to make Miss Denison's acknowledgments for the distinction you would have conferred upon her, and to ring for your carriage."

"Very good, sir—very good," cried the old attorney, as he rose in his wrath; "the time will come, maybe, when you'll think that old Sam Pearman would have been a good man to have had at your back. I say nothing, Mr. Denison; but you'll find that you have not made many greater mistakes in your career than this morning's work." And, muttering to himself, the irate old gentleman left the room.

"I wonder what the world is coming to!" muttered Harold Denison. "The idea of a child of mine marrying the son of a money-lending solicitor!"

Then his thoughts reverted to that ten thousand pound mortgage, and the angry words of the old man at parting, and he reflected, moodily, that there was little likelihood of much time being granted anent the payment of the interest in future; indeed, it was more than probable that Pearman, in his anger, would call in his money. All which considerations harassed Harold Denison's mind not a little, and he thought, if it had to be done again, he would reject the old lawyer's proposal with rather more courtesy.

(To be continued.)

A Valuable Clew.

A woman entered a police station in Holland and asked the officer in charge to have the canals dragged.

"My husband has been threatening for some time to drown himself," she explained, "and he's been missing now for two days."

"Anything peculiar about him by which he can be recognized?" asked the officer, preparing to fill out a description blank.

For several moments the woman seemed to be searching her memory. Suddenly her face brightened.

"Why, yes, sir. He's deaf."—Everybody's.

Diplomatic Bobby.

"Bobby," called his mother, "did you give your baby brother a slice of that raisin pie?"

"Yessum," answered Bobby, "and, mamma, after I had given it to him I noticed that he had the slice with all the seeds in it."

"You careless boy! Never the least consideration for your little brother, I suppose."

"Oh, yes, mamma, I had lots of consideration."

"You did?"

"Yes, indeed. When I saw all those seeds I was afraid they might give him appendicitis, so I ate his slice, too."

As Modified.

The usual crowd of loafers were seated around the stove in the village grocery.

"I never lied to my wife in my life——" began one of the bunch, when he was interrupted by a unanimous laugh that was loud and long.

"That I didn't get caught at it," ended the speaker, after the laugh had subsided.

Had Him Foul.

"She says you are a fool."

"All right."

"Are you not going to take her to task for making such an assertion?"

"Nope, she has evidence in her possession by which she can prove her statement."

"She has?"

"Yes, I proposed to her once."—Houston Post.

Strenuous Hint.

Husband—Let me see, how long has it been since Uncle John was here?

Wife—Oh, it must be several years. He was here the week after I got my last new bonnet.

WORK OF CONGRESS

The Senate Friday concluded consideration of the District of Columbia appropriation bill, carrying an aggregate of about eleven and a half millions of dollars. A conference report on the urgent deficiency bill was agreed to. It appropriates $12,000 for the "purchase, care and maintenance of automobiles for the President," and $150,000 to enable the Secretary of Agriculture to continue to combat the foot and mouth disease in horses and cattle. A resolution was adopted directing posts and various phases of army administration. Private claimants by the score had their innings in the House, the whole session being given over to their consideration. Mr. Mann provoked the House to laughter by questioning the value of two Kentucky thoroughbred horses, and charged that the committee had accepted the valuation of the animals as fixed by "an idiot." Mr. Hepburn of Iowa protested against reservations of objections to bills, claiming that objections should be made outright or not at all. Mr. Macon (Ark.), who was doing much of the reserving, declared that his sole object was to elicit explanations which would enable him to "object intelligently." The Speaker became involved in the controversy and was called upon to make a ruling and then Mr. Gaines (Tenn.) threw the House into an uproar by charging that the rules prohibited "a square deal" to claimants. He grew so vehement that the Speaker ordered a deputy sergeant at arms to require him to take his seat. The President's message vetoing the census bill was read just before the House adjourned, and no action was taken on it.

-:—:-

The splendid qualities of mind and character of the late Senator William B. Allison of Iowa, thirty-five years a United States Senator, and eight years a member of the House of Representatives, were the subject of many eulogies in the Senate Saturday. The delivery of the eulogies consumed the entire day. After devoting almost its entire session to the consideration of the subject the House of Representatives passed a bill making several amendments to the national bankruptcy law. Mr. Clayton (Ala.) made a desperate but unsuccessful attempt to repeal the law. The bill is designed to correct certain inequalities in the administration of the bankruptcy law, and amends the act regulating the duties and compensation of receivers in order to prevent excessive fees. It also provides that any moneyed business or commercial corporation, except a municipal railroad or banking corporation, can file a petition for bankruptcy, thereby eliminating the discrepancies which heretofore existed where some court decisions barred many corporations in one circuit which would be admitted into bankruptcy in another. It confers ancillary jurisdiction so that all the assets of the estate can be marshaled substantially in one court, thereby obviating the filing of suits in different courts where the property might happen to lie.

-:—:-

After a brief legislative session Monday the Senate closed its doors and devoted the day to a further consideration of the nomination of William D. Crum to be collector of customs for the port of Charleston, S. C. In the House of Representatives practically the entire session was given over to the consideration of bills pertaining to the District of Columbia. A message from the President was read recommending a law requiring ocean-going vessels to be equipped with wireless telegraph apparatus.

-:—:-

The Senate Tuesday became involved in a discussion of the type of canal that should be constructed at Panama. Senator Kittredge, chairman of the committee on interoceanic canals, precipitated the debate by bringing in an adverse report on the Hopkins bill authorizing the issuance of bonds to the extent of $500,000,000 for the construction of the canal. Reading a statement of expenditures up to date, he declared the completion of the lock canal would cost $400,000,000, and insisted that a great mistake had been made in not adhering to the plan for the building of a sea level waterway, which he said would be cheaper than the lock canal. Senators Foraker and Teller joined in the belief that a sea level canal should be constructed, and Mr. Kittredge said it was not too late to abandon the lock project. For nearly six hours the House discussed the bill materially changing the methods of administering the Panama canal zone and constructing the canal. Amendments almost without number were aimed at the measure, but with one or two exceptions they failed of adoption. Consideration of the bill was completed, but because of a threatened roll call by the opponents of the measure and the hour being late, Mr. Mann, having it in charge, did not ask for a vote.

NOTES OF CURRENT EVENTS.

Fire in a five-story brick building on Pearl street, New York, occupied largely by tobacco dealers, caused a loss of $100,000. The heaviest loser is the American Tobacco Sample and Supply Company.

The large glass case containing the model of the old frigate Constitution and the engrossed petition signed by more than 30,000 citizens asking the preservation of the old warship, has been removed from the Secretary of the Navy's reception room to the museum at the Washington navy yard.

INDIANA LAWMAKERS.

Bill Concerns Libraries.

All of the people of a township might, under certain conditions, use a library in a city or an incorporated town according to the provision of a bill introduced in the Senate by Senator Kistler. The bill provides that the Board of Trustees of a library in a city or incorporated town may serve notice on the township advisory board that there is a willingness to permit all of the people of the township to use the library. Then if there is a petition from fifty taxpayers of the county that the library be opened to the entire township, the advisory board shall levy a tax of from five-tenths of a mill to one mill on each dollar of taxable property, the money raised in this way to go to the library fund. It is provided also that when a showing is made that one-tenth of the taxpayers outside the city or incorporated town are users of the library, the library shall be thrown open to the entire township and the tax levied by the advisory board in the absence of a petition.

Raising Mortgage Exemption.

Senator Kling's bill to increase mortgage exemption to $1,200 elicited much discussion, and several attempts were made by Senators to recommit the bill to the author for amendments. All such motions were voted down. "If we are going to kill the bill then we had better kill it in a decent manner," said Senator Springer. When a vote on the bill was called several Democrats lined up against it, because they saw a scheme to embarrass the Democratic administration by decreasing the amount of taxes on mortgages throughout the State. The present mortgage exemption is $700. They said by increasing the exemption to $1,200 thousands of dollars in taxes would be lost. The bill passed by a vote of 26 to 20.

Bill to Protect Pluto.

The Senate Committee on Natural Resources agreed that the Pearson bill, which relates to the protection of mineral wells, should be reported for passage. This is the bill which prohibits the owner of a well of mineral water from forcing an unnatural flow of the water, so that the quality or quantity of mineral water in some other well will be affected. It was framed with a view to protecting the Pluto spring water at French' Lick. Two or three years ago a man who had control of a well near the Pluto supply forced an unnatural flow from his well in such a manner that Pluto was affected. The case got into the courts and caused a lot of trouble.

Sunday Ball Bill Passes.

The House passed the Sunday baseball bill by a vote of 51 to 41. This was a bare constitutional majority. The fight over the bill was made interesting to a great crowd of spectators by the eloquence of Talbott, of Orange County, in his attack on the measure and by Gauss' fiery defense. The debate was shut off after their speeches, but continued through the roll-call, many members explaining their votes with more or less oratorical effect. The Brolley bill permits the playing of professional baseball on Sunday afternoon on grounds not nearer than 1,000 feet to any permanent place of worship.

Governor's Message Brings Relief.

House rules were suspended the other day, when Governor Marshall sent a special message to the Legislature calling attention to the fact that the State Soldiers and Sailors' Home, at Lafayette, was in danger of losing its support from the Government in case the home did not cease accepting donations from soldiers at the home to help in its maintenance, and Representative Haggard's bill, providing that the per capita rate allowed by the State be raised from $12.50 a month to $16 was passed by a unanimous vote, 79 members being present.

Caught by Own Rules.

Republicans of the Senate were defeated by their own house rules, adopted during the early part of the present session. They were designed to block any moves made by Democrats to obtain favored legislation, but the minority rode over them rough shod in the fight for an amendment to the Mattingly bill, providing for remonstrances against three-mile gravel road petitions. The amendment to the Mattingly bill was adopted by a vote of 25 to 18, but had the vote been taken under the old rules the Democrats would have had to obtain 26 votes.

Dairy Inspection.

Among the bills introduced recently is one by Ratliff, which is designed to take the power of dairy inspection from the State and place it in the hands of county boards of health. The bill came from the dairymen of the State, who object to certain regulations prescribed by the State Board of Health, where the power now rests.

Jury Bill Approved.

At a recent meeting the Senate Committee on County and Township Business decided to report for passage the Cox bill, which relates to the drawing of grand and petit juries. The bill provides for a single jury commissioner in each county, and sets out the methods by which the drawing of juries shall be carried on. It is designed to remedy the jury evils which exist in some counties under the present law.

COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL

CHICAGO.

Sustained gains in the volume of payments through the banks and in the larger use of money indicate that further progress is made in commerce. The record of trading defaults again is satisfactory. Chicago steam roads furnish exhibits of earnings showing a closer return to former high gross, and the steady decrease in idle cars testifies to returning prosperity for the transportation interests. The planning and financing of new projects involving heavy construction are pushed toward early initiation, and the outlook is good for increasing employment of machinery and labor. Unfavorable weather has interfered with outdoor work, and retail trade fell short of a normal aggregate, but larger outputs appear in iron, steel and wood working.

Failures reported in the Chicago district number twenty-seven, against thirty-five last week, thirty-two in 1908 and twenty-five in 1907. Those with liabilities of more than $5,000 number five, against seven last week, six in 1908 and seven in 1907.—Dun's Weekly Review.

NEW YORK.

Trade is quiet as a whole, and industrial operations are still below normal in most lines. Conservatism in buying is still marked, and there is also present the feeling of disappointment hitherto noted at the failure of spring trade to open up more rapidly. Some measures of trade volume showed slight recessions in January from December, but the failure record was an encouraging one, and the improvement over the same month a year ago, when business was at a low ebb, is general and marked. Collections are little changed and classed as fair, as a whole.

The disposition in many lines is still to attribute slowness of demand in opening up to fear of tariff revisions, but there is manifest now a disposition to recognize more fully the play of natural conditions and restriction of consumptive requirements proceeding from reduced earning power of the community.

Business failures in the United States for the week ending Feb. 4 were 286, against 311 last week, 272 in the same week of 1908, 198 in 1907, 204 in 1906 and 207 in 1905. Canadian failures for the week number 37, which compares with 42 last week and 50 in this week last year.—Bradstreet's.

THE MARKETS

Chicago—Cattle, common to prime, $4.00 to $7.00; hogs, prime heavy, $4.50 to $6.55; sheep, fair to choice, $3.00 to $5.50; wheat, No. 2, $1.09 to $1.10; corn No. 2, 60c to 61c; oats, standard, 49c to 50c; rye, No. 2, 75c to 76c; hay, timothy, $8.00 to $13.00; prairie, $8.00 to $11.50; butter, choice creamery, 25c to 28c; eggs, fresh, 27c to 31c; potatoes, per bushel, 70c to 80c.

Indianapolis—Cattle, shipping, $3.00 to $7.00; hogs, good to choice heavy, $3.50 to $5.60; sheep, good to choice, $2.50 to $4.00; wheat, No. 2, $1.09 to $1.10; corn, No. 2 white, 60c to 61c; oats, No. 2 white, 49c to 51c.

St. Louis—Cattle, $4.50 to $7.10; hogs, $4.00 to $6.75; sheep, $3.00 to $5.00; wheat, No. 2, $1.16 to $1.17; corn, No. 2, 60c to 61c; oats, No. 2, 50c to 51c; rye, No. 2, 76c to 77c.

Cincinnati—Cattle, $4.00 to $6.25; hogs, $4.00 to $6.60; sheep, $3.00 to $5.25; wheat, No. 2, $1.14 to $1.15; corn, No. 2 mixed, 63c to 64c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 51c to 53c; rye, No. 2, 80c to 81c.

Detroit—Cattle, $4.00 to $5.25; hogs, $4.00 to $6.40; sheep, $2.50 to $4.50; wheat, No. 2, $1.09 to $1.11; corn, No. 3 yellow, 63c to 64c; oats, No. 3 white, 53c to 54c; rye, No. 2, 78c to 79c.

Milwaukee—Wheat, No. 2 northern, $1.06 to $1.12; corn, No. 3, 61c to 63c; oats, standard, 51c to 53c; rye, No. 1, 75c to 76c; barley, No. 1, 65c to 66c; pork, mess, $15.60.

Buffalo—Cattle, choice shipping steers, $4.00 to $6.70; hogs, fair to choice, $4.00 to $7.00; sheep, common to good mixed, $4.00 to $4.75; lambs, fair to choice, $5.00 to $7.99.

New York—Cattle, $4.00 to $5.90; hogs, $3.50 to $7.00; sheep, $3.00 to $5.00; wheat, No. 2 red, $1.10 to $1.12; corn, No. 2, 67c to 69c; oats, natural white, 55c to 57c; butter, creamery, 27c to 31c; eggs, western, 30c to 35c.

Toledo—Wheat, No. 2 mixed, $1.09 to $1.11; corn, No. 2 mixed, 61c to 63c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 50c to 52c; rye, No. 2, 77c to 79c; clover seed, $5.52.

TRADE AND INDUSTRY.

It is confidently predicted in railroad circles that the Hill roads will meet the competition of the St. Paul road by running through trains from the Pacific coast to Chicago. The Burlington tracks will be used east of St. Paul.

Second Vice President Whyte has announced that the Canadian Pacific Railway would this spring commence building what will eventually be a second transcontinental line from St. Paul to the Pacific coast.

The State charter of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad is declared to be subject to forfeiture in the annual report of Attorney General Malone to the Massachusetts Legislature, because of the action of the railroad in merging with the Consolidated Railway Company, of Connecticut, and increasing its capital stock

FEBRUARY

0501

L 903

The St. Joe News.

One Year - - $1.00
Six Month - - 50c
Three Months - - 25c

FRED B LEIGHTY
PUBLISHER.

Entered at the Post Office in St. Joe as second-class mail matter.

Editorially.

One stupid man may cast a gloom over three wise ones.

Few men who have not earned it, ever have commanded success.

A baby and dynamite are two little mites that cause a lot of excitement in any home.

He who uses a giant's strength to pull a dandelion will bump the back of his head on a brick.

Knowledge and whiskey are alike only in this: The more we take of them, the more we want.

The man who will drink bad coffee for breakfast and go down town glad is too good for this world.

The size of a man's head doesn't indicate wisdom. A pumpkin would wear a number fourteen.

The trouble with most schemes is the inability of their author to harness them to a practical whiffletree.

The head of the learned blockhead is filled with loose lumber. If he unload the lumber, he is still a fool.

The novelist tells us of the kindling eye. He says, "His eye kindled as he beheld her beauteous form," and after marriage she had to kindle the fires.

So live that when age comes upon you, you will be like the mighty oak, sound at the heart, rather than like the hollow linden, rotten at the core

The man who was born in a cellar is just as much entitled to sleep in the guest chamber as the one who was born with a silver spoon in his mouth.

The Mad Mullah is again kicking the dust in Africa. If the President should be disposed to join the British Expedition, he will probably find entertainment more to his taste even than shooting lions and hippotami.

The inauguration of a new era of the spoils system got a severe jolt when President Roosevelt vetoed the bill to provide for three thousand clerkships outside the Civil Service. The joke seems to be on Congress which expected to pluck the three thousand juicy plums for its constituencies and which now cannot muster a two thirds vote to pass it over the President's veto.

Ten Doctors Said He Would Die

"In 1903 we wrote you regarding my husband, who was suffering from heart trouble. He was superanuated by the North Georgian Conference. Ten doctors at different times said he would die. You advised Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy and Restorative Nervine; we did as advised, and improvement was apparent from the very first. He recovered and the Conference in 1904 gave him a charge. He never felt better, although he has very heavy work and does a great deal of camp meeting work. I am so glad we took your advice and gave him the medicine, and feel that I ought to let you know of the wonderful good results from its use."
MRS. T. S. EDWARDS,
Milner, Ga.

This proves what Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy will do. Get a bottle from your druggist and take it according to directions. It does not matter whether your heart is merely weak, or you have organic trouble, if it does not benefit you take the empty bottle to your druggist and get your money back.

Fame is the atom which struggles longest against the disintegration of Time.

The White House pet dog known as "Ace" was missing for a week but no one during that week was deprived of the square deal.

The conditions in Cuba would be more quiet and peaceful it is thought, if there were offices for all the brigadier generals in that island.

The things that are bad for one to eat have a mean way of tasting so much better than those the doctor says you may help yourself to liberally.

"Some men work on the square and some loaf on the corner," says J. W. Van Dorn. And again, some men loaf on the square and work up a corner on corn.

Soldier Balks Death Plot.

It seemed to J. A. Stone, a civil war veteran, of Kemp, Tex., that a plot existed between a desperate lung trouble and the grave to cause his death. "I contracted a stubborn cold," he writes, "that developed a cough that stuck to me, in spite of all remedies, for years. My weight ran down to 130 pounds. Then I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery, which restored my health completely. I now weigh 178 pounds." For severe Colds, obstinate Coughs, Hemorrhages, Asthma, and to prevent Pneumonia it's unrivaled. 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by H. Milliman.

The tidal ways of prohibition that is rolling downward seems in character to be national, international and Carrie-national.

They have recently imprisoned a man in Chicago charged with having had fifty wives. How restful prison must seem to him.

In nine cases out of ten, it isn't our work that tires us; it is our pleasure. We know when to stop our work, but few of us know when to stop our recreation.

Corkscrew factories report an abnormal demand for their goods from the dry states. This would seem to indicate that every man is learning to be his own butler.

From all reports the visit of the King and Queen of England to Berlin is more conventional and agreeable than would be an interview between the Roosevelt Big Stick and the Ananias Club.

The machine politicians and party leaders that are scrapping with Governor Hughes of New York, are unconsciously strengthening his presidential prospects for the campaign four years hence.

There is no news to the effect that the Mikado of Japan is keeping the wires hot with messages to the governors of the Japanese provinces urging them not to exclude American children from the Japanese schools.

It has been suggested that by moving the White House to the Pacific slope at Sacramento, the president would save a large amount in telegraph tolls. That might be, but it would then be perilously near the spectral Japanese gunboats.

The Secret of Long Life.

A French scientist has discovered one secret of long life. His method deals with the blood. But long ago millions of Americans have proved Electric Bitters prolongs life and makes it worth living. It purifies, enriches and vitalizes the blood, rebuilds wasted nerve cells, imparts life and tone to the entire system. Its a godsend to weak, sick and debilitated people. "Kidney trouble had blighted my life for months," writes W. M. Sherman, of Cushing, Me., "but Electric Bitters cured me entirely." Only 50c. at H. Milliman's.

Local Items.

County Treasurer Slaybaugh and County Auditor Shook conducted the delinquent tax sale of city, town and country property, for the non payment of taxes, held at the commissioners' rooms Monday. Something over 150 pieces of property were sold. The competition was lively among the bidders and the sales were considered as good. There was a large attendance.

Only one negative vote was cast in the Indiana senate against what is known as "the veto bill", which allows the sheriffs of the state in and out fees, when that bill was considered on the motion of Senator Wood. The vote was 43 to 1. The bill was passed by the last legislature, but was vetoed by Governor Hanley. It had already been passed over the veto in the house.

The bill fixes the fees for practically all of the duties performed by sheriffs in the state, but the most important of all the changes is the one wherein it gives the sheriff twenty-five cents for locking in a prisoner in the county jail and twenty-five cents for discharging each prisoner, and fixes the price at which prisoners shall be boarded while in jail at forty cents a day. The bill also fixes the pay of riding bailiffs at $2.50 a day, the number and length of their terms to be determined by the judge of the circuit court of the county.

Horse-shoeing and all kinds of work in this line done at Craig Sheffer's Shop.

Four new cases of scarlet fever have developed in Auburn in the last few days, and extra precaution is being taken to prevent the disease from spreading. There is some talk of closing the schools on account of the disease as several cases have developed in the school and it is feared the epidemic may spread with fatal results.

There is not anything in the line of merchandise handled by our local dealers that can not be bought for less money than city dealers will ask you. For illustration, one of our hardware merchants recently shipped a range to Toledo for a party who said he had gotten prices in the city before making up his mind where to buy. As a rule, the only excuse the average person has for buying out of town is greater variety, but you have to pay for that variety all right.—Ex. The same can be applied to St. Joe. Just the other day a lady purchased a piano of our local dealer and ordered it sent to her home in Washington. Last fall our druggist sold three sets of dishes to traveling men and sent them to their homes. Other lines of business have had such experiences.

Bad Backache

Such agonies as some women suffer, every month, from backache!

Is it necessary? No. It can be prevented and relieved, when caused by female trouble, by taking a medicine with specific, curative action, on the female organs and functions, which acts by relieving the congestion, stopping the pain and building the organs and functions up to a proper state of health. Try.

WINE OF CARDUI
WOMAN'S RELIEF

"I suffered for 15 years," writes Mrs. Mallada A. Akers, of Basham, Va., "with various female troubles. I had such a backache that it drove me over, so I could not stand straight. The doctors could not help me, so I took Cardui, and now I feel like a new woman."

At All Druggists

WRITE FOR FREE ADVICE, stating age and describing symptoms, to Ladies Advisory Dept., The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn. H 14

False Report.

Notwithstanding the report that Craig Sheffer has sold out, he is still doing business at the old stand. Bring him your work.

Revolts at Cold Steel.

"Your only hope," said three doctors to Mrs. M. E. Fisher, Detroit, Mich. suffering from severe rectal trouble, lies in an operation," then I used Dr. King's New Life Pills," she writes, "till wholly cured." They prevent Appendicitis, cure Constipation, Headache. 25c. at H. Milliman's.

Stones and Glass Houses.

The origin of the saying, "Those who live in glass houses should not throw stones," is as follows: At the time of the union of England and Scotland London was inundated with Scotchmen, and the London roughs used to go about at night breaking their windows. Buckingham being considered the chief instigator of the mischief, a party of Scotchmen smashed the windows of the duke's mansion, known as the Glass House. The court favorite appealed to the king, who replied, "Steenie, Steenie, those who live in glass houses should be careful how they fling stones!"—New York American.

Mathematics at Oxford.

There is an interesting story which shows the disposition of Oxford toward mathematics. A venerable don who had bought half a dozen books at 3s. 6d. each requested the bookseller to give him a piece of paper for the purpose of arriving at the amount. He then wrote down 3s. 6d. six times, one under the other, and was slowly adding them up when the shopman ventured to point out the shorter method of multiplying one 3s. 6d. by 6. "Dear me!" exclaimed the don. "Really, that is most ingenious, most ingenious."—London Globe.

Anticipating Him.

Night after night the exceedingly quiet and backward youth had called on a neighboring farmer's daughter, sitting perfectly mute beside her while she did all the entertaining. This night, however, the youth, wishing for a glass of water, suddenly surprised her by blurting out, "Say, Sal, will you"—

"Don't exert yourself, Reuben," she interrupted. "I understand. Yes. Have you brought the ring?"—Bohemian Magazine.

The Toast of an Irishman.

Michael Meyers Shoemaker wrote "Wanderings in Ireland." An old Irishman read a fragment of it that related to the reader's neighborhood. He asked the name of the author. "Mr. Shoemaker, is it?" he commented. "A nice gentleman, I'll go bail. 'Tis a fine country he chose to travel in too. May the heavens be his bed for choosing it, and may every hair in his honor's head be a mold candle to light his soul to glory!"

Logical Conclusion.

First Burglar—Hark! I hear some one talking. Second Burglar—What's he saying? First Burglar—That he never will bet on another horse as long as he lives. Second Burglar—Let's get out of this. No money here. He's lost every cent.—London Tit-Bits.

At Last.

"Ah, ha," exclaimed the great explorer joyfully, "at last I have found the missing link!"

And, crawling from under his bed, he proceeded to put the small gold affair in his clean cuff.—New York Journal.

Local Briefs

Curie's up-to-date restaurant.

Dr. Miles Anti-Pain Pills—Not only stop the pain, but do it quickly.

Lincoln's birthday was fittingly observed by our schools last Friday. Also St. Valentine's day.

The Whitley county Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance Company have policies in force aggregating $3,700,000. Mutual companies are organized in nearly every county of the state and carry about all the insurance in the country at a rate of one-half what other companies get it for. In the Mutual companies the insurance is carried at cost and as the rate is but one-half it indicates that one-half of the premium paid is profit. This was true in Indiana last year in the business done by these companies as shown by the reports to the auditor of state. Insurance rates are too high in Indiana by 25 per cent at least.

J. H. Lake M. D.

has permanently located in the O. H. Widney property on 4th street, opposite opera house and invites you to call on him.

Calls answered day or night.

BELL PHONE NO. 82.

St. Joe, - Indiana.

Many farmers of this neighborhood are getting an early start with their farm work by hauling their fertilizers and plowing their fields during this weather. The idea that farm work can not be done in the winter time is disappearing as fast as tiling appears. If indications are a guide there will be a large acreage of oats sown this spring.—Ex.

314 West Second St. AUBURN, IND

We make a specialty of funeral work and handle a full line of designs. Fine assortment of in and out of door bulbs.

C. M. TenEyck & Son,
Proprietors.
HOME and BELL TELEPHONES.

I Have Added

to my stock of Hardware a small stock of Furniture. Iron Beds, Husk and Cotton Felt Mattresses, Bed springs, Chairs Tables, Etc.

HARDWARE

My stock of Hardware is complete. I have the largest assortment of Reeds Flintstone ware ever seen in

ST. JOE

Look at the label, if it is Reeds Flintstone ware, it is warranted. Everybody is learning the quality of Keen Kutter tools. Pocket Knives, Razors, Chisels, Hatchets, Hammers Cross cut and Hand Saws, all kept in stock.

Goods are right, Prices are right.

D. J. Baker.

FREE

SAMPLE OFFER----15 Days Only
Beautiful Bright Sparkling Famous
$5 BARNATTO DIAMOND RING
Ladies' or Gentlemen's.

Approximates genuine in brilliancy—detection baffles experts—fills every requirement of the most exacting—pleases the most fastidious—at only one-thirtieth the cost of the real diamond.

As a means of introducing this marvelous and wonderful, scintillating gem, securing as many new friends as quickly as possible, we are making a special inducement for the new year.

We want you to wear this beautiful Ring, this masterpiece of man's handicraft, this simulation that sparkles with all the beauty, and flashes with all the fire of

A Genuine Diamond of the first water. We want you to show it to your friends and take orders for us, as it sells itself—sells at sight—and makes for you, absolutely without effort on your part.

100 per cent PROFIT 100 per cent

We want good, honest representatives everywhere, in every locality, city or country, in fact, in every country throughout the world, both men and women, young or old, who will not sell or pawn the Barnatto Simulation Diamonds under the pretense that they are Genuine Gems, as such action with simulation diamonds sometimes leads to trouble or embarassment, as shown by the following article from The Chicago Examiner, Nov. 15, 1903:

The King of Diamonds Has License Taken Away.
Alleged Bogus Gem Man Rails at Newspapers.

BURLINGTON, IA., Nov. 14—For sometime past newspapers in Iowa cities have been reporting the operations of a man whom they called "The King of Diamonds." It appears that there was nothing criminal in his operations, which consisted in selling "phoney" diamonds, but his methods of procedure were not exactly according to the rules. He usually drops into a jobbing house and tells of meeting such and such a representative of the house on the road and selling him a diamond, to be delivered at the store. He explains that the diamond is only an imitation, and offers to sell anybody else around the place the same thing. Thus he works up an interest and usually succeeds in selling some of his glassware. Mr. Jack of Diamonds dropped into City Auditor Morton's office one morning and secured a license to sell his wares. He had only been out a short time, however, until Chief of Police Hiltz learned of him. Calling in the peddler, he relieved him of his license and gave him back the money he had paid for it. As the man had committed no crime he was released. He was bitter against the newspapers for injuring his business.

If you want to wear a simulation diamond, to the ordinary observer almost like unto a gem of the purest ray serene, a fitting substitute for the genuine; or if you want to make money, don't wait—ACT TODAY, as this advertisement may not appear, nor this unusual and extraordinary opportunity occur, again. Fill out the coupon below and send at once—first come, first served,

THE BARNATTO DIAMOND CO.,
GIRARD BUILDING, CHICAGO. Write here name of paper.

Sirs:—Send free, sample offer, ring, earrings, stud or scarf (stick) pin, catalogue,

NAME .....R. F. D. R. No. .....
.....STREET BOX.....
TOWN OR CITY.....STATE.....

PHOTOGRAPHS.

We make them
AT THE
Tustison Studio.
Fine Portraits on Postals - - $1.00 per doz.

Call and get prices on
FAMILY GROUPES.

WHEN DEATH COMES

Friends and loved ones desire that the last services be conducted in the best way possible. The embalming and funeral need careful attention. Elza Kinsey, a licensed embalmer, takes charge of all funerals. Satisfaction guaranteed. Calls answered day or night

H. V. Kinsey & Son,

Phone No. Office 37-2. Residence 37.

FEBRUARY

0502

L 903

SPENCERVILLE NEWS.

A Department of the ST. JOE NEWS for the Spencerville People.

Undertaking and Embalming.

Two Funeral Cars. One in White and the other in Black. We also furnish one elegant cab for Pall Bearers or friends. Prices reasonable

Beams & Baker.

LOCAL NEWS

LOCAL HISTORY MADE DURING THE PAST WEEK, IN BRIEF PARAGRAPHS

Dr. Shook and W. G. Erick were at Auburn, last Thursday, on business.

Mrs. George Beams is at Hicksville, taking treatment for limb trouble of a lady doctor. She has been there for sometime.

Our light is the Bystrom

I am exclusive agent for Dekalb and Allen County. We have them for the country home and business rooms. You can tell them any where by the soft white light they give.

GEORGE MILLIMAN.
AGENT.

Mrs. George Kimes is on the sick list.

Nelson Lake of Pleasant Lake, was the guest of his mother, last week.

Mrs. Nettie Steward and son Arthur, were at Hicksville on business, last Thursday.

Clyde Rectenwal spent Saturday evening and Sunday with relatives at Maumee, Ohio.

Mrs. George Lake is ill with heart trouble, she has been bed fast for some time but is now better.

The protracted meeting at the M. E. church will continue this week yet. They are having splendid meetings.

The ice proposition is becoming more serious every day. Our business men will be handicaped if the ice man fails.

Twelve ladies were present at the home of Mrs. Porter Baker, one day last week, to a rag sewing. Twenty pounds were sewed, and an excellent dinner was served by the hostess.

The J. A. G. Club met last Saturday afternoon with the Misses Jennie and Arminta Steward. A dainty lunch was served. St. Valentine's Day was celebrated. The sandwiches being heart shaped.

On account of the favorable conditions of the weather the contractors of the Beams block building have begun work. Chas. Chapman with a force of men has removed the old building from the lot and the basement is being excavated by Bowser & Gloyd and the K. of P's., who expect to put on the third story. Merritt Butler has the contract to erect the building and will not begin until spring.

Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Announcement.

Low Fares To Washington, D. C., account Presidential Inauguration Ceremonies Feb. 28 to March 3rd.

Low Rates to Pittsburgh Pa., account Ninth Annual Bowling Tournament. Feb. 28th., March 8th. and 15th.

Very Low Colonist Fare to points in the west, northwest and southwest, Canada and Mexico March 1 to April 30.

Consult nearest B. & O. agent for particulars.

School Items

Old papers at News office.

The Teachers' Institute was held at the school house, last Saturday.

William Goings received some injuries in a chimney game, last Friday.

Unless a commissioned H. S. is established, quite a few students will finish their fourth year elsewhere.

Ort Wearley, who completed the first 3 years of his H. S. course in our schools and who will graduate in the Harlan school in the spring, took the Common School Teachers Examination at Ft. Wayne, last week.

The school of this place celebrated Lincoln's Birthday, last Friday in the High room. A short program including the reading of Lincoln's Address, after which the second year debated on the following question: Resolve, that Lincoln was the greatest American statesman. The judges decided in favor of the negative. The first year will debate next Friday, the question is not yet known.

The Mesdames Ed Beams and Chas. Henderson were at Butler, Thursday.

Mr. Glitzenlighter was called to the bedside of his uncle in Ohio, one day last week.

Esq. Allen is now able to resume work in his barber shop. Saturday being the first day.

Jake White and daughter Vinnie of Beulah, Michigan were guests of Sam Steward and wife Sunday.

Clarence Kelley went to Ft. Wayne last Wednesday to take the examination for entering the Navy. He succeeded in passing and will no doubt be leaving this community soon.

Bowser & Gloyd have built a shed on their new lot under which to put their agriculture implements.

Nervous or Sick Headache will yield quickly to the influence of Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. 25 doses 25 cents.

Edward and Henry Beams, owners of the telephone exchange, are stringing a new line of polls on the Hursh-town line. Their exchange is rapidly growing.

I have only 4 more half acre lots left to sell, if you expect to build, now is your chance. Best location in town. Prices right. Located on Main St. in Spencerville. J. Beams.

Mrs. Dot B. Lucky, D. D. G. C. of the Pythian Sisters made our lodge a visit last Wednesday and found it to be in good shape, while they are laboring under difficulties but when the new home is prepared more interest will be shown.

Miss Pliley gave the second number on the lecture course, Thursday evening, to a well filled house. Besides the season tickets which have been sold over $12 worth of single tickets were sold that night. She pleased her audience and thus far the course has been a success.

For That Cough

OF YOURS

You Should Try White Pine With Tar

—AT—

BOWMAN'S

Spencerville R F D No 2

W. W. Fisher and family spent Sunday with Mort Shutts'.

Milt Spitler spent one evening last week with Henry Dove.

The Mesdames John Koch and Perry Miller are on the sick list.

Chas. Gibbons and wife spent Sunday with Kell Hart and family.

Miss Lelah Thomas of Indianapolis, spent Tuesday at the home of Harvie Kimes, Sr.

Miss Nora Foster spent from Saturday afternoon till Monday with Perry Miller and wife.

Messrs Vernie and Corma Kelley attended a Valentine party at Hicksville, Saturday night, and report a fine time.

Ray McIntyre who has been making his home with Harvie Kimes, Sr., returned to the Home at Ft. Wayne last week.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Heyman of Spencerville, Will Tyndall and family, the Misses Fern and Zenith Wearley and Samuel Wearley, were entertained at the home of John Benninghoff's Sunday afternoon and evening.

J D Fetters

TRUSTEE

of Concord Township.

OFFICE DAY:
THURSDAY OF EACH WEEK
at his farm residence One mile
EAST OF CONCORD.

S. S. 'Kimes

—M. D.—

Having located in the Markle building, is now ready to answer all calls, day or night. He invites you to call at the office and is ready to extend you every courtesy in keeping with the profession.

Phone No. 10.
Spencerville, Ind.

There are more McCall Patterns sold in the United States than of any other make of patterns. This is on account of their style, accuracy and simplicity.

McCall's Magazine (The Queen of Fashion) has more subscribers than any other Ladies' Magazine. One year's subscription (12 numbers) costs 50 cents. Latest number, 5 cents. Every subscriber gets a McCall Pattern Free. Subscribe today.

Lady Agents Wanted. Handsome premiums, liberal cash commissions. Pattern Catalogue (showing 400 illustrations) and Premium Catalogue (showing 200 premiums) sent free. Address THE McCALL CO., New York.

W. M. ALLEN

Barber.

I wish to inform my patrons that I am now able to commence my work as barber and solicit your patronage in my line of work. We are here for your work and guarantee to do it in first class.

Notary Public

I am also in a position to do your Notary work and make a specialty of writing deeds and mortgages.

PATENTS

and TRADE-MARKS promptly obtained in all countries, or no fee. We obtain PATENTS THAT PAY, advertise them thoroughly, at our expense, and help you to success.

Send model, photo or sketch for FREE report on patentability. 39 years' practice. HIGH-EST REFERENCES. For free Guide Book on Profitable Patents Write to

503-505 Seventh Street, WASHINGTON, D. C.

D. SWIFT & CO.

We are Giving

you an opportunity to purchase good dependable winter goods at our store at very low prices. Bargains everywhere. Come in and see what we have.

Beams & Co.

Fancy dishes at a great reduction in price
Don't forget this means a great saving for you

Sale Lasts until
Monday, March 1st., 09

Don't gorget the 2½ % discount on cash register tickets. All accounts must be settled not later than the thirteenth of February.

The Wonder of the World.
The Greatest Invention that was Ever made by Mankind that would Benefit the Public in General at a very SMALL COST.

THE KING BALL BEARING SEPARATOR

a Perfect Machine that will Seperate Butter from Sweet Milk or Cream,

Guaranteed by the company to separate better butter from sweet milk or cream than any churn will make from sour cream. Ball bearings throughout noiseless and faultless, and easy to operate. The only perfect aerator and butter separator in the world. Quickest and easiest butter maker on earth. An entirely new and scientific principle in butter making, granulated butter, perfect grain, casein all removed, keeping quality retained. Makes granulated butter from milk or cream, sweet or sour. Less than THREE MINUTES time required to complete the operation.

These machines are now on exhibition and for sale at

Bowser & Gloyd's Implement Store,
SPENCERVILLE, INDIANA.

As Mr. Bowser has secured the agency for these machines in this part of the state, and has his other business to attend to he will not make a canvas on these machines at present as the company is thousands of orders behind. The machines cannot be got very rapidly. These machines can be bought here at our store at almost the actual cost of manufacturing them for about ninety days in order to introduce them in this part of the state of Indiana. These machines are made in three sizes No. 1—2—3 or 3—5—8 gallon sizes. Ball Bearing, all castings are malleable iron instead of cast. These machines can be bought at the low price of $6, $8 and $10 while they are being introduced.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills relieve Headaches, Neuralgia and all Pain.

As a rule women are more liberal than men. The wife who has a mind of her own is continually giving her husband pieces of it.

Some Banana Figures.

Of the $1,636,274 worth of bananas which came into New York city within the last year, 2, 862,000 bunches were from the British West Indies, 1,152,000 bunches from Costa Rica, 877,000 from Colombia and 355 from Cuba. They pay no duty.

A LETTER

Kind Friend and Patron:—

The mission of this letter is to announce that I have purchased the A. F. Heyman lumber yard of this place. Please accept this with my compliments and best wishes and in the hope that you will find it useful and of service to you financially as well as to myself. If I have been getting your business I thank you and trust you will keep it coming it is appreciated and I will endeavor to be deserving of it. It has always been one of my cardinal principles, that success, in business can only be obtained by giving good goods, prompt service and courteous treatment. I place myself in the position of the other fellow and try to look at matters from his point of view, therefore I give all that and devote all my efforts and energies to serve my customers so they will feel like coming again. I am in a position to furnish anything in the line of building material such as hard and soft pine, poplar, domestic timber, doors, windows, sash, glass, locks and hinges, also, all kinds of moulding used in building, shingles, roofing slate, roofing felt, and composition roofing, galvanised ridge irons and valleys, cement plasters, Royal & American wire fence, barb wire, smooth wire, wire nails of all kinds, hard and soft coal, and if I have not in stock in building material that which you want I can get it for you, and my prices will be right according to grades. Thanking you for past favors and soliciting your future patronage I remain,

Yours Truly,

L. W. Steward.

Settlement Notice.

All accounts and notes made before January 1, 1909 must be closed up at once All those not satisfactory settled before March 1, 1909 will be turned over for collection. Remember this is the last call as I will leave the same for collection without further notice.

JACK BEAMS
HARDWARE
Spencerville, Indiana.

FEBRUARY

0503

L 903

The Exceptional Equipment

of the California Fig Syrup Co. and the scientific attainments of its chemists have rendered possible the production of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, in all of its excellence, by obtaining the pure medicinal principles of plants known to act most beneficially and combining them most skillfully, in the right proportions, with its wholesome and refreshing Syrup of California Figs.

As there is only one genuine Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna and as the genuine is manufactured by an original method known to the California Fig Syrup Co. only, it is always necessary to buy the genuine to get its beneficial effects.

A knowledge of the above facts enables one to decline imitations or to return them if, upon viewing the package, the full name of the California Fig Syrup Co. is not found printed on the front thereof.

The Human Temperature.

Put to the test of the thermometer it appears that the normal temperature of the body is almost invariable, regardless of latitude or season. Putting the bulb of the thermometer under the tongue of an Eskimo at the frozen north or of a man under the blazing sun of the tropics, we find that in each case, the body being in a state of health, the temperature is about the same, the difference not amounting to a degree. We may say absolutely that the average normal temperature of a human being is about 98.5 degrees F., just as we may say that at sea level water boils at 212 degrees F.—New York American.

Only One "BROMO QUININE"

That is LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE. Look for the signature of E. W. GROVE. Used the World over to Cure a Cold in One Day. 25c.

Sure of His Ground.

The young man who had been calling so frequently on Mary at last came to see Mary's father. There was a little hesitation as the two men met. Finally, says a writer in the Philadelphia Inquirer, the suitor began:

"It is a mere formality, I know, this asking for your daughter's hand; but we thought it would be pleasing to you if it were observed."

Mary's father stiffened.

"And may I inquire," he asked, "who suggested that asking my consent to Mary's marriage was a mere formality?"

"Yes, sir," replied the young man, simply. "It was Mary's mother."

Are Your Clothes Faded?

Use Red Cross Ball Blue and make them white again. Large 2oz. package, 5 cents.

TRIALS OF RURAL TELEPHONE.

Why a Dutch Farmer Broke In on the Red-Headed Dairymaid.

A garrulous old lady might get hung on the line and keep it employed for an hour talking about the children with the measles and the chickens with the pip. During all of which time another neighbor, who desired to send in an urgent call for the doctor, must stand and wait. This caused confusion and discontent among the subscribers, because there are times when a man needs the telephone and needs it quick, says Harris Dickson in "Ringing Up Rural America" in Hampton's Broadway Mazagine. For instance, Milly Hawkins, the red-headed daughter of the dairyman, had been talking for one-half hour, when the voice of a Dutch farmer broke in:

"Hello, central, I vant ——"

"Aw, cut it out," said Milly, "I'm using this line."

"But ——" protested Hans.

"No but about it," said Milly. "I'm talking; you shut up."

"I vant to speak to ——" insisted Hans.

"No matter who you want to speak to; keep off. I want you to understand I'm a lady."

"But I vill reimburse you, madame," said Hans.

"I don't want to be reimbursed; I want to talk."

"But I must talk ——" his voice came in one long yell over the wire—"Mine house is on fire."

GOOD CHANGE.

Coffee to Postum.

The large army of persons who have found relief from many chronic ailments by changing from coffee to Postum as a daily beverage is growing each day.

It is only a simple question of trying it for oneself in order to know the joy of returning health as realized by an Ills. young lady. She writes:

"I had been a coffee drinker nearly all my life and it affected my stomach—caused insomnia and I was seldom without a headache. I had heard about Postum and how beneficial it was, so concluded to quit coffee and try it.

"I was delighted with the change. I can now sleep well and seldom ever have headache. My stomach has gotten strong and I can eat without suffering afterwards. I think my whole system greatly benefited by Postum.

"My brother also suffered from stomach trouble while he drank coffee, but now, since using Postum, he feels so much better he would not go back to coffee for anything."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true and full of human interest.

HOME OF GEORGE WASHINGTON

To many young folks, and old ones, too, the name of the great patriot is a name alone, a far-away and dim impression, just as if he had lived in the time of the Greeks and Romans, or had been an inhabitant of a country on the other side of the world, says a writer in the Chicago Daily News. If you are ever fortunate enough to go to the city that was named after Washington, and to visit Mount Vernon, the country seat where he passed the greater part of his life, you will get a lively idea of Washington as a man among men.

The beautiful house and grounds which are stored with so many relics and reminders of Washington, lie some fourteen miles southeast of the capitol. They can be reached either by a steamer which follows the windings of the Potomac river, a trip which consumes about four hours, or by a street car line, which takes the tourists to their destination in about an hour. The latter route leads through Alexandria, an ancient city of Virginia, seven miles from Washington.

It was from Alexandria that the great patriot, when following his pursuit as shipper and merchant, sent the products of his estate, which went by ships to far distant lands. In Alexandria, also, he attended church, and to this day you may see the pew where he sat.

Mount Vernon itself is one of the most delightful spots a man ever had as a home. It came to Washington by the will of his brother Lawrence, when the former was in his twenties. The house stands on an immensely high bluff, from which one may look away across the river into meadows and woods. The grounds cover a good many acres, which are kept up by careful guardians. There are winding walks, groves of trees, a large garden and greenhouse and fields of grain in cultivation. But the traveler generally looks at these things after he has got through the inspection of the house, which is crowded with Washington's own belongings. The rooms, for the most part, are furnished just as they were when the owner was alive.

On entering the house, one goes first into a banquet hall, which has on one side a richly carved marble mantelpiece, and in the center a handsome mahogany table. On the walls are cabinets full of relics—a chair cushion worked by Mrs. Washington, lace worn by her, snuff-boxes, spectacles which Washington wore, a lock of his hair and one of his wife's, and garments of fine quality and queer workmanship. All these things are so simple and familiar that they make the visitor feel the personality of Washington.

Passing on, the visitor is permitted to look into a small chamber which was Mrs. Washington's sitting-room. It has a few small chairs, simple in design, a card table which folds up and has a mirror on top of it, another ornamental mantel-piece, and other articles of furniture. Also there is a music-room containing a harpsichord, or old-fashioned piano, which was used by Nellie Custis, the niece of the Washingtons, who was adopted by them. Adjoining this room is the west parlor, the most prominent thing in which is a wonderful rug, which was presented to Washington by the king of France—Louis XVI.—who was afterwards executed by the revolutionists. The family dining-room, with Mrs. Washington's china, and the library, with the general's books, are also on the ground floor.

In the second story is a room which, more than all the others, brings to mind the feeling that the residents of that house realy lived there. This is the bedchamber where George Washington died. In it are the same bed in which he lay when he breathed his last, with a window by it which gave a view of his beloved Potomac river. One may see here the same chairs he used, and on the floor lies his old trunk, a clumsy shaped thing very little like present day trunks, and, with the initials "G. W." burnt on the top. To see it there is to feel that the owner of that house had just been on a journey and had returned home. A strange silence fills this room. Not a tourist but aproaches it almost on tip-toe, and looks in with reverence, and sometimes with tears.

Other bedrooms are in this floor, including the one where Gen. Lafayette, the French noble who joined the cause of the United States, used to sleep, and several other guest chambers. On the third floor is a wee apartment under a gable, and with scarcely anything in it but a bed and two chairs. This is where Mrs. Washington slept after her husband died. It is said she selected this chamber because its only window looks out toward the place, down under a hill, where Washington's body rested for many years. It now lies with that of his wife, in a tomb, none too imposing in size or ornamentation, in a shaded spot on the Mount Vernon grounds selected by Washington himself, and provided for in his will.

Besides what is to be seen at Mount Vernon, the city of Washington contains many relics of its namesake. Especially interesting are the articles collected in the Library of Congress. There may be seen Washington's diary, which he kept for many years a good deal more carefuly than diaries are kept nowadays. He never failed, in this record, to give the state of the weather each morning, and to describe how many fields he sowed with grain, and where he went and whom he dined with. These entries, ll the queer, but firm hand writing of long ago, give a real insight into the workings of the writer's methodical mind.

A visit to Mount Vernon means increased reverence for a great and good man, and everybody who acquires such a feeling is a better citizen himself.

HOME OF GEORGE WASHINGTON AT MT. VERNON.

Look Hard at the Upper Left-Hand Corner of the Picture.

—Chicago News.

Washington's Wasted Chance.

"George Washington was not much of a business man, I take it," remarked the captious critic as he deftly trimmed the fringe on his antiquated and well worn cuffs.

"How do you make that out?"

"Well, when he crossed the Delaware it was full of floating ice. There was ice going to waste. Yet George went on to Trenton and fought the British."

"What else should he have done?"

"Well, he might have organized an ice trust with offices in Jersey City, cornered all that ice and become the father of the octopus."

George on the Two-Cent Stamp.

Corn—George Washington never told a lie.

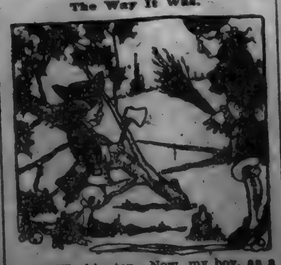
Claude—In view of the fact, it's rather tough that he has to carry some of the letters that he does.

Pride.

"Are you at the head of your class in school?"

"Not exactly," answered the sturdy youngster, "but the boy that is at the head of my class in school isn't in my class in football."—Washington Star.

The Way It Was.



Pop Washington—Now, my boy, as a punishment for cutting down the cherry tree, you may cut it up, after that I will see you at the house.

THE POPULAR PULPIT

SERVICE TO GOD.

By Rev. Ernst A. Tappert.

I beeseech you, therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable, unto God, which is your reasonable service.—Rom. 12:1.

There is much talk nowadays of reasonable service. The regular church service is often despised and sneeringly referred to as the most unreasonable by men who claim that "the great dome of nature" is a much more worthy place for the adoration of the Almighty than even the most dignified church building, and that the only reasonable service is to cut loose from all creeds, from all revelation, from everything that is supernatural and to devote all time and energy to the things that be.

Is that rational? St. Paul, preaching to the Greeks at Athens, says likewise: "God that made this world dwelleth not in temples made with hands, neither is worshiped with man's hands, as though He needed anything." But he has a different idea of what a reasonable service is; he calls it: "To present our bodies, a living sacrifice." The universal prevalence of sacrifice in ancient times shows how deeply it was rooted in humanity. Everywhere we encounter the idea that God wants a sacrifice, for sacrifice is service and service is sacrifice, and as the greatest offering appears blood and life.

Now it is certainly unreasonable to believe that God could be pleased with burnt offerings or that a bloody sacrifice of a human being was necessary to appease Him. And yet it is true God is looking for a sacrifice. Having been redeemed by Him who gave His life as a sacrifice for sinners, we should present our bodies, a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God. That is a reasonable service. What does that mean? It means that what God has given us we should give back to Him sanctified. This applies also to our body, which should be a living sacrifice.

St. Paul writes to the Corinthians: "Know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost, which is in you, which you have of God and ye are not your own. For ye are bought with a price, therefore glorify God in your body."

How often do we forget this. How carelessly do we often treat our bodies and how neglectful are we sometimes in regard even to the fundamental principles of human health! No wonder that the soul is so weak while it dwells in a body which is more like a tomb than like a living temple! A sacrifice must be without blemish, and if the presenting of our body shall be acceptable unto the Lord, it must be a living sacrifice. And it must be holy. While the heathen ideal of the Greeks was beauty, the Christian ideal is holiness. "Ye shall be holy, for I am holy!" Many strive after the heathen ideal. They care more to look good than to be good and are ever ready and ever busy to correct nature. It is astonishing what they are willing to sacrifice, to suffer in order to gain this end. How much good could be accomplished if they would employ the same energy in striving after holiness.

THE HOLY SPIRIT.

By Henry F. Cope.

"Receive ye the holy spirit."—John 10:22.

There is in nearly all of us that which frequently impels the commission of acts we know to be unworthy, that against which we sometimes war and to which we often yield, a baser self. Every life knows this inner compulsion. With some the struggle is perpetually keen and the power that drags them down seems to be disastrously potent.

In the end it makes little difference to us whether the opposing powers are embodied in some omnipotent personality, a sort of second degree deity, or whether they belong in each case to ourselves, rising within us. Faith in the devil is a test of orthodoxy comforting to souls that feel their need of a scapegoat. But the attitude of each soul in the struggle is the real test.

This sense of a terrific struggle, unending din, and wrestling back and forth sums up the religious philosophy of some; it is the only gospel they know. We are not likely to lose sight of its facts; we know its conflict too well. But we are in danger of failing to see the other side and of thinking of ourselves as left almost helpless, to wage this unequal warfare alone. We picture ourselves as lonesome as Christian in "Pilgrim's Progress."

If there is within a spirit of evil there is also a spirit of good. No heart normally is either preempted or monopolized by evil. If we would but recognize the facts there are as many impulses to the good as to the bad. If it is true that when we would do good evil is present with us, is it not also true that when we would do ill then good is present with us?

It may be convenient to lay our greed and sloth, our unkindness and cruelty, and all the evil acts of life to the credit of the devil; some folks have wonderful faith in his baseness. But to whom or what shall we credit, under such a system of imputation, the longings for goodness, the high motives, the hunger for righteousness, and the visions of high living that rise within?

Whence arise our aspirations for self-mastery? Whence the passions for purer living that have moved great souls in all ages, whence our willingness to forego pleasure, to embrace pain, to sacrifice, to toil for no reward to ourselves, only for some ideal good, some benefit to others? Is there not within the basest even some spirit of the good and the divine?

It is no use talking about having faith in God unless we have confidence in goodness in man. There are too many who believe that all goodness dwells only in some other world, far above the fogs and storms of this sin blighted sphere; some heaven there is that belongs to God, but this sad world belongs to the devil. Such a belief perpetuates the sovereignty of evil.

We do not need to harass our minds with subtleties as to the nature and origin of any holy spirit; we do need to take hold of and knit every power of our lives into unison with every power of holiness, of goodness, with every spirit and motive in others or in our own hearts that moves for things high and holy.

Without any theory as to the theology involved may we not open our lives to receive every spirit of good, every holy desire and emotion? Perhaps our greatest need is faith in the goodness in us and about us. Only believe you are capable of great and worthy things and you have more than half attained to them. According to your faith so is it to you.

Where the devil is theoretically omnipotent evil is practically dominant. Have faith in the good. Believe in your own possibilities; count with confidence on potencies for truth and the right at the call of your own will. Meet every temptation with consciousness of reserves that battle for you and for the higher, holier life.

The trend of your whole life depends on the influences to which it opens itself. Goodness and truth, love and purity, health and holiness of spirit and motive are all about us in emotions, aspirations, influences, and ideals. The world is full of the sunlight of a holy spirit if we would but turn ourselves toward its light and life giving power.

We must not encourage a blind optimism that says that all is well whether we will it so or not; we must cultivate a high faith that health of spirit and rightness of conditions are ours if we but will to have them. Life is a matter of selection. The happy, healthy, helpful life is the one that steadily selects and receives the good, that thereby rejects and overcomes the evil.

SERMONETTES.

Short prayers often last longest.

Good will on earth is God's will for man.

There are no saints without their service.

He who cheers another encourages himself.

A week-end religion is weak at both ends.

There are no single admission tickets to glory.

No man can be free who holds another in bonds.

Many have found life's crown bending over a cradle.

The dew of heaven is not in the mildew on the sermon.

The path of happiness always leads by some sad one's side.

Friends do not freeze eo a frozen heart.

Easy times often account for bad habits.

Nothing is really sacred until all things are.

Big plans do not balance small performances.

Short cuts to fortune are often bottomless cuts.

If wishes were wings good works would soon cease.

That soul is truly lost that gathers darkness of the light.

No man ever saw his Father by climbing over his brother.

Your rank amongst men depends on how you help them to rise.

The faint-hearted are those who think only of feeding themselves.

Many think they are going forward bravely because they fear to go back.

There is sorrow without selfishness, but never selfishness without sorrow.

It's a poor kind of piety that seeks all the pleasures and dodges the pains.

The significance of sins against ourselves is that they are sins against society.

It often happens that the man who talks much about going to glory has neighbors who wish he'd make a start.

DON'TS FOR CHURCHMEN.

Don't expect to save anger without love.

Don't forget that greed prevents real gain.

Don't try to heal your aches by airing them.

Don't forget that a strong breath usually comes from a weak backbone.

Don't fear the impossible if you would learn to find that which is possible.

Don't fail to make some one less sad if you want to make yourself more happy.

Don't fail to learn that this world is enriched by goodness more than by cleverness.

Don't think you are giving a man charity by giving him money when his name is at stake.

GRIP IS PREVALENT AGAIN. A prompt remedy is what every one is looking for. The efficiency of Peruna is so well known that its value as a grip remedy need not be questioned. The grip yields more quickly if taken in hand promptly. If you feel grippy get a bottle of Peruna at once. Delay is almost certain to aggravate your case.

For a free illustrated booklet entitled "The Truth About Peruna," address The Peruna Co., Columbus, Ohio. Mailed postpaid.

If You Want the BEST COUGH CURE you will ask for Kemp's Balsam and if you get it you will have a remedy for coughs that will be satisfactory in every respect. If you accept something else we do not know what you will get, but it will not be the Best Cough Cure.

At all druggists', 25c., 50c. and $1.

Don't accept anything else.

Paxtine TOILET ANTISEPTIC

—NOTHING LIKE IT FOR—

THE TEETH Paxtine excels any dentifrice in cleansing, whitening and removing tartar from the teeth, besides destroying all germs of decay and disease which ordinary tooth preparations cannot do.

THE MOUTH Paxtine used as a mouth-wash disinfects the mouth and throat, purifies the breath, and kills the germs which collect in the mouth, causing sore throat, bad teeth, bad breath, grippe, and much sickness.

THE EYES when inflamed, tired, ache and burn, may be instantly relieved and strengthened by Paxtine.

CATARRH Paxtine will destroy the germs that cause catarrh, heal the inflammation and stop the discharge. It is a sure remedy for uterine catarrh.

Paxtine is a harmless yet powerful germicide, disinfectant and deodorizer. Used in bathing it destroys odors and leaves the body antiseptically clean.

FOR SALE AT DRUG STORES, 50c. OR POSTPAID BY MAIL.

LARGE SAMPLE FREE!

THE PAXTON TOILET CO., BOSTON, MASS.

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, TORPID LIVER. They regulate the Bowels. Purely Vegetable.

SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Genuine Must Bear Fac-Simile Signature

Brent Good

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.

RATS AND MICE

EXTERMINATED BY

DANYSZ VIRUS

The wonderful, new bacteriological preparation, discovered and prepared by Jr. Jean Danysz, Director of the Laboratory of Agricultural Micro-biology at the Pasteur Institute, Paris. NOT A POISON. HARMLESS TO HUMAN BEINGS, DOMESTIC AND OTHER ANIMALS, BIRDS, etc., yet fatal to rats and mice. The vermin always go outside to die. Easily prepared and applied. HOW MUCH TO USE. Small house one tube, ordinary dwelling three tubes (if rats are numerous not less than six tubes). One or two dozen tubes for stable with hay loft and yard attached. Similar quantity on each rat infested floor of warehouse or granary for each 5,000 square feet floor space. Towns or estates, 1 to 2 dozen per acre inhabited area; 3 to 4 tubes per acre for open field. Sold in glass tubes, full direction round each tube. 1 tube 75c; 3 tubes $1.75, or $5.00 per dozen, delivered.

Independent Chemical Company

80 OLD SLIP - - - NEW YORK, N.Y.

BILLION $ GRASS

Costs 60c.—50c per acre for seed.

Most wonderful grass of the century, yielding from 5 to 10 tons of hay per acre and lots of pasture besides. It simply grows, grows, grows! Cut it today and in 4 weeks it looks for the mower again, and so on. Grows and flourishes everywhere, on every farm in America. Cheap as dirt; luxuriant as the farm lands of Egypt. Big seed catalog free or send 10c in stamps and receive sample of this wonderful grass, also of Spelts, the cereal wonder, Barley, Oats, Clovers, Grasses, etc., and oats. Or send 14c and we will add a sample long tom. farms seed novelty never seen by you before.

SALZER SEED CO., Box CN La Crosse, Wis.

What's Your Name

Send us your name and 50c in stamps and we will print 100 Calling Cards of best quality, and mail postpaid to you same day order is received. Will put on name, address and phone. Every person should have cards—these acquaintances will remember you. Order today—be sure to spell plainly. Always enclose your card when buying or selling goods by mail or at home to prevent mistakes. MARSHAL & CO., Dept. C, 90 LA SALLE STREET, CHICAGO

SOW DEFIANCE—RUST-RESISTING OATS

100 bus. per acre; sample, price and Corn Book FREE. CHILL SEED CO., Elk Point, S. Dak.

Afflicted with Sore Eyes, use THOMPSON'S EYE WATER

FEBRUARY

0504

L 903

AFTER FOUR YEARS OF MISERY

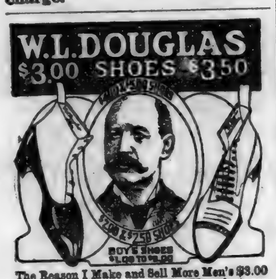
Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Baltimore, Md. — "For four years my life was a misery to me. I suffered from irregularities, terrible dragging sensations, extreme nervousness, and that all gone feeling in my stomach. I had given up hope of ever being well when I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Then I felt as though new life had been given me, and I am recommending it to all my friends."—Mrs. W. S. Ford, 1938 Lansdowne St., Baltimore, Md.

The most successful remedy in this country for the cure of all forms of female complaints is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It has stood the test of years and to-day is more widely and successfully used than any other female remedy. It has cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, and nervous prostration, after all other means had failed.

If you are suffering from any of these ailments, don't give up hope until you have given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial.

If you would like special advice write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for it. She has guided thousands to health, free of charge.



The Reason I Make and Sell More Men's $3.00 & $3.50 Shoes Than Any Other Manufacturer is because I give the wearer the benefit of the most complete organization of trained experts and skilled shoemakers in the country.

The selection of the leathers for each part of the shoe, and every detail of the making in every department, is looked after by the best shoemakers in the shoe industry.

If I could show you how carefully W. L. Douglas shoes are made, you would then understand why they hold their shape, fit better, and wear longer than any other make.

My Method of Tanning the Soles makes them More Flexible and Longer Wearing than any others.

Shoes for Every Member of the Family, Men, Boys, Women, Misses and Children.

For sale by shoe dealers everywhere.

CAUTION! None genuine without W. L. Douglas name and price stamped on bottom. Fast Color Eyelets Used Exclusively. Catalog mailed free.

W. L. DOUGLAS, 147 Spark St., Brockton, Mass.

The difference

remember this—

it may save your life. Cathartics, bird shot and cannon ball pills—tea spoon doses of cathartic medicines all depend on irritation of the bowels until they sweat enough to move. Cascarets strengthen the bowel muscles so they creep and crawl naturally. This means a cure and only through Cascarets can you get it quickly and naturally.

Cascarets—10c box—week's treatment. All druggists. Biggest seller in the world—million boxes a month. 899

IN AGONY WITH ECZEMA.

Whole Body a Mass of Raw, Bleeding, Torturing Humor—Hair All Fell Out—Hoped Death Would End Fearful Suffering—In Despair—Cured by Cuticura.

"Words cannot describe the terrible eczema I suffered with. It broke out on my head and kept spreading until it covered by whole body. I was almost a solid mass of sores from head to foot. I looked more like a piece of raw beef than a human being. The pain and agony I endured seemed more than I could bear. Blood and pus oozed from the great sore on my scalp, from under my finger nails, and nearly all over my body. My ears were so crusted and swollen I was afraid they would break off. Every hair in my head fell out. I could not sit down, for my clothes would stick to the raw and bleeding flesh, making me cry out from the pain. My family doctor did all he could, but I got worse and worse. My condition was awful. I did not think I could live, and wanted death to come and end my frightful sufferings.

"In this condition my mother-in-law begged me to try the Cuticura Remedies. I said I would, but had no hope of recovery. But oh, what blessed relief I experienced after applying Cuticura Ointment. It cooled the bleeding and itching flesh and brought me the first real sleep I had had in weeks. It was as grateful as ice to a burning tongue. I would bathe with warm water and Cuticura Soap, then apply the Ointment freely. I also took Cuticura Resolvent for the blood. In a short time the sores stopped running, the flesh began to heal, and I knew I was to get well again. Then the hair on my head began to grow, and in a short time I was completely cured. I wish I could tell everybody who has eczema to use Cuticura. Mrs. Wm. Hunt, 135 Thomas St., Newark, N. J., Sept. 28, 1908."

Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props. of Cuticura Remedies, Boston.

A Generous Gift.

Professor Munyon has just issued a most beautiful, useful and complete almanac. It contains not only all the scientific information concerning the moon's phases, in all the latitudes, but has illustrated articles on how to read character by phrenology, palmistry and birth month. It also tells all about card reading, birth stones and their meaning, and gives the interpretation of dreams. It teaches beauty culture, manicuring, gives weights and measures and antidotes for poison. In fact, it is a Magazine Almanac, that not only gives valuable information, but will afford much amusement for every member of the family, especially for parties and evening entertainments. Farmers and people in the rural districts will find this Almanac almost invaluable.

It will be sent to anyone absolutely free on application to the Munyon Remedy Company, Philadelphia, Pa.

$33.00 Personally Conducted Excursions.

Colonists' one-way tickets, Chicago to the Pacific coast, via the Chicago, Union Pacific and Northwestern Line, are on sale daily during March and April at the rate of $33.00. Correspondingly low rates from all points. Double berth in tourist sleeping car only $7.00, through without change to San Francisco, Los Angeles and Portland. No extra charge on our personally conducted tours. Write for itinerary and full particulars to S. A. Hutchison, Manager Tourist Department, 212 Clark street, Chicago, Ill.

This paper contains the advertisement of the wonderful Danysz Virus prepared by Dr. Danysz of the Pasteur Institute, Paris. This preparation is in use all over Europe in ridding dwellings and stables in cities and villages of rats and mice, and it is now being put on sale with all dealers in the United States, where its success will doubtless equal that abroad.

SALZER'S GREAT BEARDLESS BARLEY.

SILVER KING BARLEY

Wisconsin is famed as the best barley state in the Union. Certain it is that it produces the heaviest yielding barleys on earth.

OF 60 VARIETIES

tested by the Wisconsin Agricultural Station, Salzer's Silver King Barley heads the list as the biggest yielder! That's a record we are proud of! But it's what Salzer's seeds do every where.

BEARDLESS BARLEY

The barley of your dreams: no beards; easy to harvest, yielding in New Territories 121 bushels per acre.

Emperor William OAT

Our new Emperor William oat is the greatest oat of the century. Almost as great as the Emperor himself. You will want it. It's a marvel.

Big trial package, 5c

SALZER'S BILLION DOLLAR GRASS AND TEOSINTE

Billion Dollar Grass covered itself with glory in 1908. It's hay crop to the United States alone is estimated at $10,000,000.00. It will be much more for 1909. Everybody is talking about it. Every body will sow it for 1909, as it costs but 60c to 90c per acre. Is ready with its first crop within six weeks after seeding and seldom yields less than 4 to 12 tons per acre of magnificent hay. TEOSINTE, well, the catalog tells of this 100 ton green food freak.

PURE CLOVER AND TIMOTHY SEED

Salzer's 20th Century strains of clover and timothy seed stand all alone in their absolute purity. Of course they cost more than any other seedsmen, but they are free from weeds. That's worth the difference.

We have by all odds the largest Seed Potato trade in the World—one of our cellars holds 60,000 Bushels!

BIG CATALOG FREE

Or for 10c in stamps we mail free of all costs samples of Silver King Barley, yielding 173 bu. per acre; Macaroni Wheat, yielding 64 bu. per acre; Billion Dollar Grass; Spelts, the cereal and hay food prodigy, together with timothy, clover, grasses, etc., easily worth $10.00 of any man's money to get a start therewith.

And if you send 14c we add to above a package of Farm Seed Novelty never seen by you before.

JOHN A. SALZER SEED COMPANY. Box C. N. LA CROSSE, WIS.

PISO'S

CURE THE CHILDREN'S COUGH

before the constant hacking tears the delicate membrane of throat and lungs, exposing them to the ravages of deadly disease. Piso's Cure goes straight to the seat of the trouble, stops the cough, strengthens the lungs, and quickly relieves unhealthy conditions. Because of its pleasant taste and freedom from dangerous ingredients it is the ideal remedy for children. At the first symptoms of a cough or cold in the little ones you will save sorrow and suffering if you

GIVE THEM PISO'S CURE

CURE

INDIANA INCIDENTS

Record of Events of the Past Week

STOCKWELL SUFFERS FIRE LOSS

Dry Goods and Grocery Store and Drug Store Destroyed.

Stockwell suffered a severe fire loss early the other morning. The flames destroyed a large brick building, containing a dry-goods and grocery store conducted by O. P. M. Lucas, and a drug store owned by S. A. Kennedy, and damaged other stores. The loss is about $20,000, most of which is covered by insurance. The fire started from an overheated stove in Lucas' store, and was discovered by Edward Stalnaker, who was sleeping with his window open, in a building just across the street. A bucket brigade was formed, and the fire-fighting apparatus from Clarkshill was also brought to the scene. Kennedy saved only one case of jewelry, and lost all of his valuable papers, as well as his insurance policies. Lucas' stock was worth $6,000, on which he had insurance of $5,500. Kennedy's loss is also covered by insurance. The store of Edward Stalnaker was damaged, as was that of John Munk.

YOUNG ARTIST RUINS GOWNS.

Was Punished Two Years Ago for Same Offense.

Two years ago William Gadd, a young artist, was sent to the Indianapolis workhouse for throwing filth on women's dresses at theaters and on street cars, and it was estimated that several hundred gowns had been ruined. Several weeks ago the police received reports of similar damage and suspected Gadd, but could not locate him. In the meantime Gadd had changed his name to Reilly and he took a position in a wholesale house. Complaints caused detectives to search for Gadd and when they found him he was identified. Gadd shows no symptoms of insanity and the police are at a loss to understand his case. Judge Whallon assessed a fine of $500 and costs and added six months' imprisonment, the maximum punishment.

FOREMAN BURNED TO DEATH.

Another Workman Fatally Injured at Gary Steel Plant.

Stephen Reints, 42 years old, of Indiana Harbor, was burned to death, and George Bonick, also of Indiana Harbor, was fatally burned. The accident happened when the first open hearth furnace at the Indiana Steel Company mills in Gary was blown in. The men were burned by the flash of the furnace. Both were blown a distance of thirty feet. Reints's face and body were burned to a crisp and Bonick's face was badly burned. Reints was foreman of the boiler makers.

Aurora City Clerk Missing.

Frank D. Johnson, City Clerk of Aurora, and brother of Mayor Robert L. Johnson of that city, has been missing for several days. His family and friends fear that a temporary aberration of the mind has been the cause of his disappearance.

Surgeon Martyr to Theory.

Martyr to his own theory that the removal of the colon or largest intestine could be accomplished in safety, Dr. Herman G. Nierman, a wealthy surgeon, died in Fort Wayne as the result of the operation.

Children Set Fire to Home.

Little children of Mrs. Elizabeth Kirtland, Rich Valley, set fire to the residence while all the adults of the family were away from home. The house was destroyed and the whole town threatened. The children were rescued.

Richmond Marketmaster Dead.

Henry Walterman, market master of Richmond, and one of the best known men of that city, died suddenly of pneumonia. He had been ill but three days. Walterman was 50 years of age. He was prominent in Democratic politics.

Two More Indiana Counties Dry.

The "drys" carried Noble County by 764 votes, and as a result twenty saloons will be closed. Local option also won in Randolph County by a majority of 2,470, putting two saloons out of business.

Fell from a Train.

While beating his way on the Louisville and Nashville train, from Nashville to Evansville, Obey Vaughn fell from the train at Howell and was fatally injured.

Kills Self to Avoid Knife.

Mrs. Ollis Phillips committed suicide in Kokomo with carbolic acid rather than endure a surgical operation. Believing the operation meant death, she killed herself to avoid suffering.

Probably Fatally Burned.

G. W. Weifel, aged 80, was probably fatally burned in Richmond, while dressing before a grate, his clothing being ignited.

AMONG OUR NEIGHBORS.

In Indianapolis Mrs. Mary Trojanoski celebrated her one hundredth birthday. The excitement was too much for her and she died.

Mrs. Sarah Vail, 103 years old, is dead at her home in Homestead. Her eyesight had always been good and her memory was remarkable.

Fire at Crawfordsville destroyed the mill of the Montgomery Hard Wood Lumber Company. The loss is $12,000 and the insurance $5,000.

A sandhill crane was killed east of Enos, in the Beaver Lake country, which stood four feet and nine inches high and had a breadth of wing of five feet and nine inches.

Fanned by the heavy winds which prevailed, fire of unknown origin destroyed the large two-story house on the farm of Charles A. Quick at the edge of Carmel. Riley Cain and his family, the tenant, had narrow escapes.

Put in More Words.

"Now, Peters," said the teacher, "what is it makes the water of the sea so salty?"

"Salt," said Peters.

"Next!" said the teacher. "What is it makes the water of the sea so salty?"

"The salty quality of the sea water," answered "Next," "is due to the admixture of a sufficient quantity of chloride of sodium to impart to the aqueous fluid with which it commingles a saline flavor, which is readily recognized by the organs of taste!"

"Right, Next," said the teacher. "Go up one!"

BACKACHE IS KIDNEYACHE.

Usually There Are Other Symptoms to Prove It.

Pain in the back is pain in the kidneys, in most cases, and it points to the need of a special remedy to relieve and cure the congestion or inflammation of the kidneys that is interfering with their work and causing that pain that makes you say: "Oh, my back!"

David Price, Corydon, Iowa, says: "My back was so weak and lame I could hardly walk. The kidneys showed bad disorders. I ran down until almost a skeleton. I thought there was no hope for me and nothing helped me until I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. I improved rapidly and finally became so well that the trouble never returned."

Sold by all dealers, 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Somewhat Rough on Society "Man."

At dinner one evening a well-known actress was most amiable to a very young lieutenant who sat next to her. He was mightily pleased at being on such good terms with a live actress. Suddenly she said, in her artless, pretty manner: "I am taking a boy's part in a new play and I have been watching you ever since we were introduced. You don't mind, do you?"

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation

Curiosity Gratified.

Former Customer (after a long absence)—What has become of the pretty blonde that used to feed the hungry at this lunch counter?

Dark Skinned Waiter Girl—I'm her. What you goin' to order, sir?

Distemper.

In all its forms, among all ages of horses, as well as dogs, cured and all others in same stable prevented from having the disease with Spohn's Distemper Cure. Every bottle guaranteed. Over 500,000 bottles sold last year. 50 cents and $1.00 a bottle. All druggists, or send to manufacturers, Spohn Medical Co., Goshen, Ind.

Youthful Philosopher.

A five-year-old boy on hearing grace asked for the first time at breakfast gravely remarked: "I only say my prayers at night. That is the dangerous time."—Life.

Here is Relief for Women.

If you have pains in the back, Urinary, Bladder or Kidney trouble, and want a certain, pleasant herb cure for woman's ills, try Mother Gray's Australian-Leaf. It is a safe and never-failing regulator. At Druggists or by mail 50 cts. Sample package FREE. Address, The Mother Gray Co., LeRoy, N. Y.

Bloodless Revolution.

Reporter—But, Senator, in a government like ours, don't you believe in the principle of rotation in office?

Eminent Statesman—I certainly do, young man. That's why I have a revolving chair in my office.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS

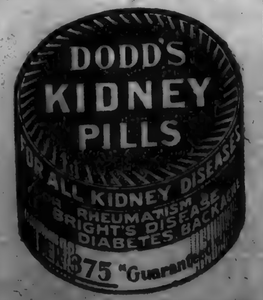
PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refunded. 50c.

Forestalled.

An old tale is related of a family named Wood, whose younger members were collectively called the "Splinters." There was a certain propriety in this nomenclature, just as there is in the suggestion made by the learned scientist in the following story in Pick-Me-Up:

"Now, what shall we name the baby?" inquired the professor's wife.

"Why, this species has been named!" answered the professor, in astonishment. "This is a primate mammal, Homo sapiens."



What Generosity Means.

"Many people get the credit of being generous who never felt a single generous impulse in their lives," says a close student of human nature.

"Their generosity, so called, has consisted simply in formal, cold, grudging almsgiving, carried out at the call of duty and unaccompanied by any spontaneous burst of feeling or sympathy.

"The highest generosity is full of strong, unhesitating self-effacement and always inspires, except in debased natures, feelings of gratitude and affection. Almsgiving is one of the least of its attributes. It more often takes the form of helpfulness, sympathy and understanding. It gives forth compassion and encouragement of a kind which is far beyond money value.

"The secret of generosity is unselfishness, and the way to acquire it is to cultivate universal love and sympathy."—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

Fact and Fiction.

Fiction is stranger than truth, in spite of the proverb. A writer in the Atchison Globe gives a striking example of the contrast between "the way it is in books" and real life. In the books this is the method used:

"Outside the wind moaned unceasingly, its voice now that of a child which sobs with itself in the night, now that of a woman who suffers her great pain alone, as women have suffered since life began, as women must suffer till life wears to its weary end. And mingled with the wailing of wind, rain fell, fell heavily, intermittently, like tears wrung from souls of strong men."

In real life we say:

"It's raining."

Brown's Bronchial Troches are of great service in curing Hoarseness, Coughs, and Sore Throat. In boxes 25 cents. Samples mailed free. John I. Brown & Son, Boston, Mass.

Keeping Ahead of Nipper.

"Yes, Nipper's a good one," said Mason, trying to speak coolly of the bull-terrier at his heel. "My wife and I are awfully fond of him, but we don't make fools of ourselves over him, as some folks do over dogs that are not a patch on Nipper."

"He looks all right," said Rand, with as much warmth as could be expected from a man whose interest is in tumblers and pointers.

"He is all right," corrected Mason, with dignity. "Why, that fellow knows everything you say to him, in German and French as well as in English. We've proved it again and again, and only last night my wife said that if we wanted to keep anything from him we'd have to learn a new language.

"I think," concluded Mason, gravely, "that we shall take up Esperanto when the evenings get longer."

Sore throat leads to Tonsilitis, Quinsy and Diphtheria. Hamlins Wizard Oil used as a gargle upon the first symptoms of a sore throat will invariably prevent all three of these dread diseases.

Must Be Hard Work.

In Russia there is a cheap reaping machine which has a reel, but no automatic rake. A man sits on the platform and rakes off the grain with a pitchfork. The name of this machine is "lobogreika," and since "lobo" means "brow." and "greika" is "a heater," the whole can be translated "brow-sweater."

If you wish beautiful, clear, white clothes, use Red Cross Ball Blue. Large 2oz. package, 5 cents

The Disturbing Telephone.

"The telephone has destroyed all the privacy of society," said the society girl. "It breaks in on everything. Nothing is sacred to it. You may be saying your prayers. The telephone. Or in the midst of your bath. The telephone. Or doing up your back hair, or, worst of all, a delightful man may be making love to you, when k-ling, k-ling, k-ling! The telephone breaks off the thread of his theme and he fails to resume it."

To restore a normal action to liver, kidneys, stomach and bowels, take Garfield Tea, the mild herb laxative.

More Humane.

"They tell me, Mr. Smithers," simpered the fluffy young thing, "that you are quite a lady killer."

"They do me an injustice, upon my word, Miss Giggley," responded the gallant old beau, laying his hand on his heart and making a profound bow; "I catch 'em alive."

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children teething; softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25 cents a bottle.

The postoffice at the naval station at Guantanamo, Cuba, has been officially named Bagley, after Ensign Bagley, who was killed in the Spanish-American war

A Domestic Eye Remedy

Compounded by Experienced Physicians. Conforms to Pure Food and Drugs Laws. Wins Friends Wherever Used. Ask Druggists for Murine Eye Remedy. Try Murine in Your Eyes. You Will Like Murine.

Mutton Birds.

During six weeks every autumn the 400 inhabitants of the Australian Furneaux islands make enough money to support themselves in idleness the rest of the year. They do this by catching the very fat young "mutton birds," which are hatched there in such numbers that the flocks when they migrate extend for miles. They furnish food and oil, which is used for lubricating purposes and also as a substitute for cod liver oil.

Very Low Colonist Rates Via Nickel Plate Road

To points in the West, Northwest and Mexico, March 1 to April 30. Full information of Agent, or write F. P. Parnin, T. P. A., Fort Wayne, Ind. (2)

COLDS

CURED IN ONE DAY

Munyon's Cold Remedy Relieves the head, throat and lungs almost immediately. Checks Fevers, stops Discharges of the nose, takes away all aches and pains caused by colds. It cures Grip and obstinate Coughs and prevents Pneumonia. Price 25c.

Have you stiff or swollen joints, no matter how chronic? Ask your druggist for Munyon's Rheumatism Remedy and see how quickly you will be cured.

If you have any kidney or bladder trouble get Munyon's Kidney Remedy.

Munyon's Vitaliker makes weak men strong and restores lost powers.

Money Made in Live Stock in Central Canada.

W. J. Henderson, visiting Seattle, writes to the Canadian Government agent at Spokane, Wash., and says:

I have neighbors living there, and raising wheat, barley and oats for the past twenty years, and are now getting from the same land 20 to 30 bushels of wheat per acre, 40 to 60 bushels of oats.

It was the first week of May when I got my tent pitched, but the farmers all around had finished putting in their crops, so I only got fifteen acres broke and seeded. They advised me, as it was late, not to put in much wheat, so I put in five acres wheat and ten acres oats, one-half acre potatoes and vegetables. All kinds of vegetables grow well up there—sweet corn, tomatoes, onions, carrots, peas, beans, cabbage. My wheat yielded about 20 bushels per acre, for which I got 76 cents, others got 80 cents; oats threshed 35 bushels per acre, for which I got 35 cents per bushel. You see I was three weeks late getting them in; still I was satisfied.

From my observation, there is more money made in stock, such as cattle, horses and sheep, as prices are high for such, and it costs nothing to raise them, as horses live the year around out on the grass. In fact, farmers turn their work horses out for the winter and they come in fresh and fat in the spring. Cattle live out seven or eight months. They mow the prairie grass and stack it for winter and give oat straw. My neighbors sold steers at $40 each, and any kind of a horse that can plow, from $150 up. I raised sixty chickens and five pigs, as pork, chickens, butter and eggs pay well and always a good market for anything a man raises, so I have every reason to be thankful, besides at the end of three years I get my patent for homestead. I heard of no homestead selling for less than $2,000, so where under the sun could an old man or young man do better?

Terminology.

Officious Salesman—Wouldn't you like to look at some of our overcoatings or suitings?

Dyspeptic Looking Customer—No, but if you will be kind enough to tell me where the drug department is I'll take a look at your pillings and porous plasterings."—Chicago Tribune.

FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

320 ACRES

of Wheat Land

in Western Canada

WILL MAKE YOU RICH

50 bushels per acre have been grown. General average greater than in any other part of the Continent. Under New Regulations it is possible to secure a Homestead of 160 acres free, and additional 160 acres at $3.00 per acre.

"The development of the country has made marvellous strides. It is a revelation, a record of conquest by settlement that is remarkable."—Extract from correspondence of a National Editor, who visited Canada in August last.

The grain crop of 1908 will net many farmers $20.00 to $25.00 per acre. Grain-raising, Mixed Farming and Dairying are the principal industries. Climate is excellent: Social Conditions the best: Railway Advantages unequalled; Schools, churches and markets close at hand.

Lands may also be purchased from Railway and Land Companies.

FOR "LAST BEST WEST" pamphlets, maps and information as to how to secure lowest Railway Rates, apply to W. D. Scott, Superintendent of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or W. H. Rogers, 3d Floor Traction-Terminal Building, Indianapolis, Ind., and H. M. Williams, Room 20, Law Building, Toledo, Ohio, Authorized Government Agents.

Please say where you saw this advertisement.

Get your Letter Paper and Envelopes printed at this office. We can give you the

EAGLE LINEN

PAPER and ENVELOPES

It is fine and will suit you. Try it.

FOR SALE—Michigan Farms; All sizes, Southern and Central Michigan. Write for list and terms. Eldo Murray & Co., Charlotte, Mich.

F. W. N. U. - - - - - - No. 8—1909

When writing to Advertisers please say you saw the Adv. in this paper.

PUTNAM FADELESS DYES

Color more goods brighter and faster colors than any other dye. One 10c package colors all fibers. They dye in cold water better than any other dye. You can dye any garment without ripping apart. Write for free booklet—How to Dye, Bleach and Mix Colors. MONROE DYE CO., QUINCY, Illinois

FEBRUARY

0505

L 903

CORRESPONDENCE

ITEMS FROM DIFFERENT LOCALITIES WRITTEN FOR THE NEWS

CONCORD

James Rickett is on the sick list.

Master Waldo Baker is sick with the mumps.

O. B. Dragoo butchered for Geo. Layman, Monday.

Tell Elson is busy getting timber ready to enlarge his barn.

Walter Wilson and family spent Sunday with Frank Bakers'.

Quite a number from here are attending church at Rehobeth.

You will get relief from Pain when Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills are taken.

It is rumored that Henry Baker is walking straight since he is Grandpa.

Vinnie White from Beulah, Mich., is visiting with Cora and Maude Baker.

Sunday School was well attended at this place, Sunday, owing to the weather.

The Misses Lorretta and Mame Funk came from Ft. Wayne, Sunday, to visit their parents.

Dell Dragoo and James Wyatt made a trip to Auburn, Saturday and brought home a new sleigh.

Mrs. Nettie Culbertson had the misfortune to fall and break her limb last Wednesday. She is getting along nicely.

W. E. Dragoo of Morristown, New Jersey, who was visiting at the home of his mother, Mrs. Dehila Dragoo, for a few days, started Monday for Wolcottville, where he expects to get a car load of horses to ship east.

SCIO ITEMS

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills relieve pain.

Mrs. H. B. Akins is visiting friends in Butler a few days.

Mrs. H. J. Young is caring for the sick at the home of E. F. Hurni.

Henry Fales purchased a fine cow of a party north of Newville Monday.

Birt Stackhouse is improving nicely and is again out among his friends.

Coasting on the frozen snow was the order of the day last Monday around our corners.

Mrs. E. F. Hurni and daughter Ruth and son Ford are now tussling with the mumps.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Grist of Hicksville visited a couple of days with Frank Akins and family.

Miss Grace Kain spent Sunday with her parents, returning to her school at Angola in the afternoon.

Dessie Hullinger has returned to her home near Butler after visiting relatives in this vicinity for several days.

Inez Chapman and Myrtle Blair visited their grandma Akins at Montpelier, Ohio, Saturday, she being in very poor health.

Mrs. A. E. Chapman will leave for her home in South Dakota this week, she will be accompanied by Miss Olive Handley of Ft. Wayne.

Anna Brown is working for Hazel Krise.

SPENCERVILLE
R. F. D. No. 1.

Mrs. John Mason was at Ft. Wayne last Friday.

Mrs. E. H Horn was sick last week with Lagrippe.

Zona Horn was at home from Ft. Wayne over Sunday.

Abe Mason attended church at Rehobeth Saturday night.

Lewis and Gladdis Treece spent Sunday at Coburntown.

Arlie Dwyer was out of school several days last week on account of sickness.

Myrtle Platter and Violet Hay attended literary at Egypt last Friday evening.

Val Hay went Thursday to the farm he left near Waterloo, to get a load of goods.

Henry Walter went to Ft. Wayne Monday of last week to look after the interest of Mr. Metzger's farm.

George Horn's little son Walter was on the sick list last week threatened with Pneumonia. Dr. Shook was called.

Mr. Pisch of near Hursh, bought a span of black Norman brood mares, registered stock, for which he paid the sum of $1,100 Mr. Pisch expects to move to Michigan in the near future.

FAIRVIEW

Esther Knight is at home again.

Lankey Morrs' were at Auburn Monday.

John Johnson is visiting Housers a few days this week.

Erma Houser is working for her uncle near Huntertown.

Mrs. Anna Houser called on Mrs. Lottie Bassett Monday.

Edna Moudy visited with her parents a few days last week.

Leatha Roland the little daughter of Norman Roland, is sick with Tonsilitis.

Tracy Bassett the little daughter of Ed Bassett, is quite bad with the whooping cough.

Hazel Krise has been very sick with typhoid pneumonia, but is some better at this writing.

Viola May returned to her home Tuesday, after a few days visit with her brother Frank and wife.

Ethel and Erma Houser were at Ft. Wayne last week, keeping house for their uncle and aunt, while they were in Buffalo, New York.

Sleighing Party.

A sled load of married people numbering about ten drove to the pleasant country home of John Simanton and wife, northeast of town, to enjoy an evening with them. Several others were present from the country. Oysters and an elegant supper was served. Mr. and Mrs. Simanton proved to be royal entertainers.

Granite Ware SALE.

You are invited to call and see the most complete line of Granite Ware at lowest prices ever shown in St. Joe.

Every Day Roaster

This is Made of the Guaranteed Oyrx Enamel

Size 6x12

ONLY 49C WORTH 75C

Don't forget when in St. Joe to call and see the greatest bargains in Granite Ware.

H. V. Kinsey & Son.

Is It Your Own Hair?

Do you pin your hat to your own hair? Can't do it? Haven't enough hair? It must be you do not know Ayer's Hair Vigor! Here's an introduction! May the acquaintance result in a heavy growth of rich, thick, glossy hair! Use this splendid hair-food, stop your falling hair, and get rid of your dandruff.

The best kind of a testimonial—"Sold for over sixty years."

Made by J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass. Also manufacturers of

Ayer's SARSAPARILLA. PILLS. CHERRY PECTORAL.

Public Sale

The undersigned will sell at Public Auction at his residence. one mile north of Grabill, on Monday, March 1, 1909, at 10:00 o'clock a. m. the following: Two match Belgium colts coming 2 and 3 years old, these horses are all good individuals and will be of interest to farmers desiring a good young team, one fresh cow with calf by her side, 12 head young brood ewes, one brood sow, will soon have pigs, eight shoats, set of double harness, top buggy, surrey good as new, road cart, pair of thills, 60 spike tooth drag, 1-horse spring tooth cultivator, double harpoon and car for track also rope and pulleys, hay knife, forks, manure hook, sheep rack, 2 log chains, 20-ft. cow chain, set of ditching tools, grind stone, post hole digger, work bench, hand cider mill, sausage grinder, few carpenter tools, cross cut saw, ladders, iron kettle, milk trought, vinegar barrels, fruit sprayer, cream separator Legonier incubator is good as new, 2 brooders, about 71 chickens, turkeys and ducks, 2 cook stoves, one Royal Oak heating stove, glass cupboard, 1 sink and wash stand, 2 bed steads, lounge, bookcase and a lot of sewed carpet rags besides numerous other articles. Lunch will be served. Terms made known on day of sale.

CHRIS KLOPFENSTEIN.

J. L. Rhodenbaugh, Auctioneer.

Washington Once Gave Up

to three doctors; was kept in bed for five weeks. Blood poison from a spider's bite caused large, deep sores to cover his leg. The doctors failed, then "Bucklen's Arnica Salve completely cured me," writes John Washington, of Bosqueville, Tex. For eczema, boils, burns and piles its supreme. 25c. at H. Milliman's.

Local News Items.

Rink Saturday night.

The St. Joe cement tile factory are putting out a large amount of tile now-a-days. Load after load is being hauled through town.

Prof. J. E. Sturgis writes the Record from Arlanger, Ky., that he is considering taking work with the Butler band for the coming summer. If he does he will endeavor to organize a juvenile band and give all the music loving boys a chance to learn music and good behavior at the same time. He expects to organize a symphony orchestra of not less than eighteen players, something Butler never dreamed of before.—Ex.

Ex-recorder John W. Henderson who recently sold his property on VanBuren street to Jacob Saltsman of Waterloo, is moving into the Gall property on Thirteenth street. Some surmised that the sale of the property meant the return of Mr. Henderson to his farm near Spencerville but he informs us that this is not true, that he has no intention at present of returning to the farm but expects to make Auburn his home. We are pleased to know this.—Dispatch.

PONY PRIZE NO. 31.

30th. Pony Contest to go in judges hands Feb., 13.

Just two weeks more, if I had 100 more people to buy the Post I could get second that would be $100 for me. Can't you get 10 cents worth of good out of two weeks Paste? Call at our shop or phone me.

Merritt Milliman.

Diptheria Cause Death

The Samuel Nelson family who lives at Wabash Crossing west of town, is bereaved. Elma their youngest daughter died Wednesday morning about 2:30 o'clock of diptheria.

In Colorado

The News is in receipt of a letter from Elgin Woodcox, who is located at Las Animas, Colorado, and he orders his paper sent to that address. He says he is feeling fine and the weather is excellent, so nice that one can work in shirt sleeves. Elgin intends staying at this place until the first of April, then he will go into Montana in the Flat Head Indian Country and expects to homestead.

News Items

Rink Saturday night.

Orson Quance will move soon on the Headley farm east of Coburntown.

James Steward has been confined to his bed for some time but is some better today.

During the last fifteen months there were 86 babies born and during this same time there were 65 persons died at Auburn.

Rolland Bearss is at St. Louis, Mich., being called to come at once as his mother is very low. He left Sunday morning. No word has been received from him.

W. C. DeLongs' moved some of their household goods to Butler, yesterday, where they expect to make their home. Mr. LeLong is in the picture business at that place.

The Meadames Retta Hathaway and Addie Patterson were at Auburn, Tuesday, attending a meeting of the County Executive committee in interest of the W. C. T. U. work.

John W. Henderson is numbered among the patients at the Hope Hospital at Ft. Wayne. We are unable to learn what the trouble is but we hope nothing serious may result.

Alva Reasoner will vacate the Baker property and move in the Samuel Widney house on the Avenue. Silas Reasoner will occupy the James Hamilton farm north-east of town. He moved to the country yesterday.

A gloom was cast over the intermediate room at school, Friday. While several of the girls were playing, Lucile Gee had the misfortune to fall and break a bone just above the ankle. She was taken home and medical aid summoned at once. She will be unable to attend school for some time. Her many school mates sympathize with her.

The "Hick'ry Farm" played by the Hoosier Dramatic Company, at Widney's Opera House under the auspices of the Modern Woodman lodge at this place on last Saturday evening, was well patronized and gave splendid satisfaction for ametuers. Should they return in the spring as it is thought, they will no doubt be greeted with a full house.

The oldest lady in Williams county, Ohio, lives at Edgerton. Mrs. Mary Burkhart is the lady who first saw day light in Germany in 1813. She makes her home with her daughter, Mrs. J. H. Miller. Wednesday she celebrated her 97th. birthday. Of her the Edgerton Earth says: "Although an invalid for many years she is happy and cheerful. She speaks her native tongue fluently, but no English. She sits in her chair day after day, waiting and praying for the final summons which she says will come as a sweet relief. She can hear the tick of the clock and reads her German literature without spectacles. She is a remarkable woman in many ways."

The following is the program of the K. of P's. 45th Anniversary to be held in Widney's Opera House, on Friday evening, Feb. 19. The meeting is open and all are expected to come.

Music, selected	F. Ferrell
Song, America	Audience
Invocation	Rev. Brown
Duet	Vera and Flossie Copp
Address of Welcome	Rev. McCain
Solo	Mrs. Maude Bisnop
Music, selected	F. Ferrell
Address	L. W. Fairfield of Angola
Duet	Mrs. F. B. Leighty and Merritt Seohler
Remarks	Rev. Brown
Duet	Vera and Flossie Copp
Benediction	John A. May

DENTIST.

O. R. PRICE.

ST. JOE, IND.

Office in Case building.

Bell Phone No. 44.

CURIE'S RESTAURANT.

We desire at this time to inform the public that we are ready to supply all wants in our line. We ask that you continue patronizing our store and we will make it as pleasant as we can for you.

CANDY, CIGARS, SANDWICHES, SOFT DRINK, TOBACCO, ETC.

We aim to keep our stock fresh, and when in need of any of our goods come in.

Our Relief Assn.

On February 1st. 1906 an association was formed here and given the name of the St. Joe Relief Association, which was to run for three years and now the time has expired, the one hundred persons are without any assistance in case of death. It will be renewed as soon as possible and if you desire to be a member call at The News office and find out about it. Everything will be made safe and in good shape. Think about it.

Coburn's Corners

W. H. Northrup was at home over Sunday.

The Ladies Aid cleared at the Gee Sale last week $21.51.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Beeber visited relatives at Garrett, Monday and Tuesday.

Little Portia Hadsell accompanied I. S. Hadsell home Saturday and remained over Sunday.

Rev. J. A. Brown preached a special sermon at the Corners last Sunday it being the seventy-second anniversary of the church.

The Misses Fushsia Hadsell, Nellie Blackburn and Alma McCormick were entertained to dinner Friday at the home of Saxe Hadsell.

SHILLING'S CORNERS.

For headache Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills

Rink Saturday night.

Little Eulaha Shilling is very sick with a cold.

The little daughter of John Moody's is improving slowly.

Jack Moody is still about the same, improvement being very slow.

Gerry Wasson and wife of Fort Wayne, spent Sunday with relatives.

Mr. Winfield Berry moved on the Calendar farm yesterday. We do not know what Mr. Calendar will do.

Last Friday Mr. Snyder had a runaway, his horses became frightened and broke the harness and buggy up badly. One horse was injured. It might have been worse.

Mrs. J. C. Hull spent Tuesday and Wednesday with relatives east of Spencerville.

Mrs. Bertha Hadsell Edwards of Toledo, Ohio, visited with her aunt Mrs. Dr. Sheffer last week while in town.

WABASH CORNERS.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills relieve pain.

Little George Wilson has the diptheria.

Theodore Kline is numbered with the sick.

Sherman Rickett spent Friday afternoon in Ft. Wayne.

Mrs. Wm. Pervines, who has been quite poorly, is gaining slowly.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Wolff were Sunday guests at Roy Whites'.

Some from this place attended the sale at Laney Gee's, at Coburntown, Wednesday.

Little Ora White was absent from school, part of last week, on account of a sore foot.

Orange Herrick and wife spent Saturday night with Abe Culbertson and wife, west of Concord.

Will Fisk and daughter Olga, of Waterloo, spent part of last week, with Sherman Rickett and family.

Little Merl Wilson returned to her home Monday, after several weeks stay with her grandparents, D. D. Burley and wife.

Mesdames Martha Scott, Francis Stafford, Mary Scott and Miss Inez Patterson were the guests of Mrs. Ida Herrick, Tuesday.

Geo. Milliman

See me for subscriptions it will pay you, will take old or new subscriptions or clubing lists, don't fail to stop at my shop. American Boy 2 yrs. for $1.50. Laundry sent on Wednesday returning Saturday. Hix Laundry

St. Joe, Ind.

A Week End Sale

Linen Towling has advanced very materially within the last few days. but we were fortunate enough to get a large supply before the advance. We are going to give our customers the benefit of our ever ready cash purchase and will offer you for Thursday, Friday and Saturday Extra Bargains in an every day Staple article. Note these extremely low prices.

5 yds. 18 in Stevens Best all Linen Towling	49c.
5 yds. 20 in Stevens Best all Linen Towling	52c.
5 yds. 22 in Stevens Best all Linen Towling	59c.

The Big Four Store.

St. Joe, Indiana.

FEBRUARY

0506

L 903

ST. JOE NEWS.

VOL. XXIII ST. JOE, DEKALB COUNTY, INDIANA, THURSDAY, FEBUARY 25 1909. NO. 8

Potluck Dinner

The aged ladies class of the Lutheran Sunday School gathered at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Leighty last Thursday for a good sociable time. Each one present brought whatever they wished for the dinner and it was an excellent layout A good attendance was given and all felt as though the day had been well spent together.

An Appeal to Reason.

The legislature at all times is trying to pass laws that will make things better and as yet it has not been the good fortune of the editors to be given any legislation that will favor them. A law should be passed whereby a paper should be protected with its subscriptions. When a man takes a paper he should be called upon to pay for what he has received. We would ask that all who are indebted to us more than one year, we would urge upon you to come and settle up. When a man earns a dollar it is no more than right that he should receive it.

Church Notice

Notice is hereby given that there will be a meeting of the Coburntown church at the church on Saturday evening, Feb. 27 at 7:30 p. m. for the purpose of electing three trustees, one for one year, one for two years and one for three years. All of the members are requested to be present.

ROY E. MAXWELL, Clerk.

Culture Club

The Culture Club met with Mrs. Belle Ridgway last Wednesday evening February 17. The lesson for the evening was Lowell's "Vision of Sir Launfal," conducted by Miss Edna Provines. The ladies were able to see the same lesson that Sir Launfal saw in his vision and thought the theme of the poem was true charity. One of the best quotations of the poem, "Not what we give, but what we share For the gift without the giver is bare, was discussed and some practical lessons learned. After the lesson a very interesting geographical contest was conducted by Mrs. Copp and Mrs. Hull, which proved not only interesting but beneficial to all. Mrs. Lora Leighty answered the most questions correctly and received a beautiful book as a prize. Eighteen members then responded to roll call with miscellaneous quotations. The club ladies regret the loss of one worthy member, Mrs. DeLong, who has moved to Butler. Club then adjourned and the hostess treated to candy.

The Mutual Life

Insurance Company of New York

Oldest in America — Strongest in the World

The only company which has increased its dividends scale four years in succession.
1906-1907-1908-1909

J. C. HULL

AGENT

Call on or Phone No. 46-2.

Jurors Selected

Early Monday morning Jury Commissioners Charles A. Jenkins and W. C. Henderson, whom Judge Brattou appointed to act for his father, J. W. Henderson, went to the clerk's office and from the jury box drew eighteen names, six for grand jurors and twelve for petit jurors for the March term of court which convenes next Monday.

The grand-jury will be called for next Monday. The petit jury for Monday, March 15, the third week of the term to hear the damage suit of Henry Sorg vs the Fort Wayne & Springfield R. R. Co.

The names drawn were:

GRAND JURY

A. L. Nichols, Troy.
M. E. Reynolds, Richland.
I. N. Cox, Smithfield.
A. J. Geisinger, Grant.
Louis Kruse, Union.
Charles P. Jenkins, Troy,

PETIT JURY.

Wesley Miller, Jackson.
Frank H. Hammac, Smithfield.
Curtis Harpster, Franklin.
William G. Lenhart, Stafford.
Martin Reinhart, Smithfield.
Joseph Hull, Concord.
Lorenzo Snider, Richland.
Samuel Bricker, Keyser.
Henry Maxwell, Wilmington.
Marion DeLong, Fairfield.
George Hallet, Grant.
Tracy Little, Keyser.

Obituary.

Elsie May, daughter of S. L. and Mary A. Kinsey was born Jan. 20, 1904 and died Feb. 18, 1909. Aged 5 years and 22 days. She leaves a father and mother and two baby sisters, Marie and Ida, to mourn her early departure. The funeral services were held at the Methodist Protestant church, Saturday at 2:30 p. m. Rev. McCain of that church preaching the sermon from Mal. 3:17.

Announcement of Service

A large congregations was present at the Methodist Protestant church, last Sunday evening. Excellent music was furnished by the choir. A good live Christian Endeavor society was organized, with eighteen active members. All persons who do not attend services elsewhere will be made welcome, next Sunday morning. Come and bring your friends. The subject will be "Regeneration". This is the vital doctrine of the scriptures. Come.

J. C. MCCAIN, Pastor.

Sunday School Report.

Below is the report of the various Sunday Schools of the town and community for last Sunday. We desire that the secretaries may hand us this bit of information on Monday of each week, or phone to No. 10 and report.

	Attendance	Collection
Christian	80	$1.64
Lutheran	59	$1.84
M. P.	48	$1.04
Coburntown	36	59
Spec. Luth.	89	$2.19
Spec. M. E.	60	$1.51
Concord	60	$1.13
Rehobeth	53	82
Newville C.	67	$1.17

Any other school desiring to be represented in this list may do so by just simply telling us.

Our Total Resources

on January 2 1909 were
$83,062.93
Our total resources one year ago or on January 2 1908 were $60,238.98
A gain in one year of $22,823.95

The above figures speak for themselves. There's a reason for our steady growth. Come and investigate and you will grow with us. We pay 4% interest on Time Deposits.

Grabill State Bank,

Grabill Indiana

LOCAL NEWS

LOCAL HISTORY MADE DURING THE PAST WEEK, IN BRIEF PARAGRAPHS

Curie's Restaurant.

Rink Saturday night.

Mrs. C. O. Benjamin was at Fort Wayne yesterday.

Chas. Bishop of Reading, Mich., was in town a couple of days last week.

Twenty-two bibles were present at the Christian Sunday School Sunday.

During January there were 4,161 births in the state, 2,181 of which were males and 1,980 females.

New spring hats just received at the Big Four Store. Greens, Olives, Tans and Black. Very swell.

Mr. S. L. Widney is the guest of his sister, Mrs. Alice Lewis, at Auburn this week. She accidently fell and broke a rib one day last week.

Charlie Widney left yesterday for Fremont, Michigan, where he expects to attend a public sale. A young blooded colt will be up for sale and Chas. has made up his mind to try and get it.

Yard Clerks Sargeant and Woodcox have received appointments as extra switchmen and began the work Tuesday morning. When not on duty in the yard they will occupy their present positions in the office.—Garrett Daily Press.

The St. Joe and St. Marys rivers centering in Fort Wayne raised the Maumee river at least six feet as the result of the rain Thursday night and Friday.—Ex. With the melting of the snow and the shower Monday night the water completely covers the low lands on the east side of town and the river will soon be over its banks.

Lutheran Basement March 12th. Country Fair

Laura Shutt of Auburn was a visitor here last week.

Mrs. Charity Beyers of Ft. Wayne, is visiting with her nephew, David Poper and family.

Oscar Treeman and wife and Henry Sechler and wife of Butler, were Thursday guests of the latters brother, Jacob Sechler and wife.

The W. C. T. U. will meet Friday afternoon at 2:00 p. m. at the home of Mrs. M. T. Bishop. The meeting will be in memory of Miss Willard.

Paper for the printer is to be made from corn stalks. This gives the farmer subscriber a mighty leverage of influence. When he gets mad at the editor nowadays he does no more than stop his own paper. In the future by stopping his corn stalks, he can stop everybody's paper.

Ralph K. Harshman of the Wittenberg Theological Seminary, Springfield, Ohio, occupied the Lutheran church pulpit here, Sunday morning. Mr. Harshman will graduate this spring and his coming here was in the nature of a trial visit. Mr. Harshman impressed his audience as being a very able young man.

A skunk came very nearly breaking up services at the church at Hudson a few nights ago when it appeared and promenaded around the building once or twice. A certain young man was accused of having some musk of skunk about his clothes but he protested against being accused and the next night Mr. Skunk appeared again and was seen by several parties. Again he left his scent on the outside of the mite box.—Ex. The mate to this one was in St. Joe a few nights ago and the counterfeit scent was left here for some time.

Onions at Kagey's.

Cigars and Candy at Curie's.

Morris Curie and John Sechler exchanged residences, Tuesday.

Glen Abel of New Haven, was the guest of relatives here, Monday.

The little daughter of Art Pinkerton and wife is on the sick list.

Miss Audrey Greenwalt was the guest of Gladys Dirrim over Sunday.

Mrs. Mary Bartlett spent the past week with relatives in and near St. Joe.

Miss Emma Batson of Cromwell, Ind., is a visitor in the Copp home this week.

Ethel Berry is now the new assistant postmistress. Commencing work Monday.

Horse-shoeing and all kinds of work in this line done at Craig Sheffer's Shop.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Malone are the parents of a baby girl, born last Thursday morning.

S. H. Maurer and Susie Sechler of Spencerville, were the guests of J. C. Hull and wife, Sunday.

W. E. Baxter and wife of Wilmington Center, were the guests of the latters mother, Mrs. Kinsey Sunday.

S. W. Tustisons' and Miss Gladys Barney were entertained to dinner Sunday at the C. A. Patterson home.

Chloe Rhodenbaugh fell last week on Monday, during the icy spell and broke her arm. The fracture is getting along nicely.

Mrs. J. E. Sturgis and children of Butler, and W. F. Rhoades and wife of Concord, were guests in the home of F. Buchanan, last Thursday.

The Pythian Sisters initiated five new members into the mysteries of their order last Tuesday evening. After the lodge was over a lunch was served.

Mrs. Ernest Johnson and daughter Thelma, of St. Joe, and Mrs. Mary Bartlett of Ft. Wayne, spent a couple of days last week, with their mother, Mrs. Delila Druggoo.

The Sherwood base ball enthusiasts have gotten their heads together and organized a club for the coming season and are preparing for something good in the way of ball? What will be done here, better be thinking about it.

Washington Once Gave Up.

to three doctors; was kept in bed for five weeks. Blood poison from a spider's bite caused large, deep sores to cover his leg. The doctors failed, then "Bucklen's Arnica Salve completely cured me," writes John Washington, of Bosqueville, Tex. For eczema, boils, burns and piles its supreme. 25c. at H. Milliman's.

FAIRVIEW

Mrs. Ida Antwerp is on the sick list.

Ora Calendar moved on his father's farm Tuesday.

Protracted meeting began at this place Monday evening.

Gaylin Hays moved last week on the Henry Seibert farm.

Vera and Leatha Coyle spent Sunday afternoon with Laura Baker.

Lankey Morris attended the funeral of Mrs. Morr's aunt, Mrs. Dan Wyatt, of Auburn Tuesday.

Mrs. James Coleman has been sick with heart and lung trouble. Lona Geisinger is working for her.

Mr. and Mrs. Rheuben Koch entertained a crowd of twenty people from St. Joe one evening last week.

Mrs. Mary Wyatt is visiting with her people in Ohio, her daughter Mrs. Ray Antwerp is keeping house for her father while she is away.

WABASH

Wabash Time Table.

Trains leave the St. Joe Station as follows:

GOING WEST.
No. 11, Ft. Wayne Acc & Mail 11:34a. m
No. 3, Western Express 7:58 p. m

GOING EAST.
No. 2, Eastern Express 6:34a. m
No. 10, Toledo Acc & Mail 4:59 p. m.

KILL THE COUGH AND CURE THE LUNGS

WITH Dr. King's New Discovery

FOR CONSUMPTION COUGHS and COLDS

Price 50c & $1.00 Free Trial.

Surest and Quickest Cure for all THROAT and LUNG TROUBLES, or MONEY BACK.

Mrs. Daniel Wyatt Dead

Mrs. Daniel Wyatt, residing near Auburn Junction, was stricken with apoplexy Saturday afternoon and died at 2:30. Her health had been impaired for some time. She was aged fifty-nine years. She leaves a husband and one son Charles Wyatt, of Auburn Junction, and one daughter Mrs. Pearl Bowlen, of Elkhart, Indiana. The funeral was held at Auburn at 10 o'clock Tuesday. For years she lived at Concord before going to Auburn Junction. Mrs. Wyatt is a cousin of Mrs. Vincent Dilley at this place.

A Second Child Dies

The Samuel Nelson family is surely having its share of trouble the Diptheria germ has the remainder of the family under its control. Mr. Nelson and wife are now having a tussel with the deadly disease and the latest reports are that they are in a bad condition. Already two of their daughters have been taken to the better world within six days.

Monday forenoon about 10 o'clock Hazel, the oldest daughter, died, leaving the parents with a small boy but as yet no signs of the disease has shown up on him having a strong constitution. The children were scholars of the M. P. Sunday school. On Sunday morning a trained nurse arrived and is caring for the sick. The township, I. O. O. F. lodge and neighbors are giving them all the assistance possible. It is indeed a sad affair and the sympathy of the entire town and community is extended to them.

Obituary

Alma Jane Nelson was born in Butler, Indiana, January 16 1899 and died of Diptheria at her home near St. Joe Indiana, February 17 1909, aged 10 years 1 month and 1 day. Alma was of a sweet and loving disposition, loved by all who knew her and will be greatly missed in her home and by her many friends. She leaves a father, mother, one sister and a brother, two grandfathers and a host of relatives and friends to mourn her loss. While her young life was marred by sickness and frequent ills we know that she has gone to that happy home where there will be no more sickness or suffering.

Alma Jane Nelson.

May the peace of Heaven rest with the sorrowing parents.

45th Anniversary

The meeting held Friday night by the Knights of Pythias Lodge No. 100 to celebrate the Forty-fifth Anniversary of the order was a success. The attendance was good for the bad evening. The meeting was presided over by H. M. Widney. The following was the program:

America.....Audience
Invocation.....Rev. Brown
Duet.....Vera and Flossie Copp
Welcome Address.....Rev. McCain
Solo.....Mrs. Maude Bishop
Cornet Duet.....F. Ferrel and Mr. Wilcox
Address.....Prof. Fairfield of Angola
Duet.....Mrs. F. B. Leighty and Merritt Sechler
Remarks.....Rev. Brown
Duet.....Flossie and Vera Copp
Benediction.....John A. May

The music was of the best and appreciated by all. It would have been hard to find any one that could not profit by the talks of the evening. The different speakers showed the great benefit of lodge work. Mr. Fairfield showed why he was a Knight. It is the lodge of the people, it does not interfere with his religion, it enables him to associate with all classes, it is a protection in time of trouble. His speech did not in the least antagonize any other lodge. Rev. Brown plainly anticipated the future. Mr. Widney expresses the sentiments and thanks of the lodge. After which the benediction was pronounced by Mr. May.

Used the Axe.

Among the bills sent to the "graveyard" by the legislature are the following:

The bill to supply free school books.

The bill to establish a one and one-half cent fare on interurban roads.

The bill providing for the election of county superintendents by popular vote.

The bill to abolish fish and game deputies.

The bill to make township trustees road superintendents.

The bill to appropriate $500,000 for the erection of a state library.

The bill to amend the anti-cigarette law so to allow the sale to adults.

The bill to repeal the present county council and advisory board law.

The bill to appropriate $500,000 for a monument to Daniel Voorhees at Terre Haute.

The bill to prohibit bootlegging.

The bill to prohibit the sale of liquor near memorial parks.

The bill to revoke saloon license for a violation of the law.

The bill of Representative Borgen, of Allen county, to license restaurants to sell liquor.

The bill to amend the blind tiger law.

The bill to prevent double-headers on railroads.

The Stork's It

The statesman does the speaking,
The editor booms the town,
The lover does the popping,
The damsel turns him down—
The poet does the dreaming,
The farmer clears the woods,
The eagle does the screaming,
But the stork delivers the goods.

GREAT CASH

Clearance Sale

On Wall Paper.

Beginning on Wednesday, Feb. 10th., and closing on Wednesday, March 3rd., for eighteen (18) sale days only, we will offer our entire stock of wall paper at prices never before known in St. Joe What a transformation a little new paper will work! How many times you have heard this exclamation; and perhaps, have wanted to reply: "Yes, good wall paper plus good taste" works wonders. Now is the time, while we are making these special prices, to gratify your desires by beautifying your home.

Come early and secure the cream from the many good things which we are offering. No paper laid away as we need the room.

HARRY MILLIMAN

DRUGGIST

FEBRUARY

0507

L 903

The St. Joe News

ST. JOE, INDIANA.

FRED B. LEIGHTY, - - Publisher.

1909 FEBRUARY 1909

Su	Mo	Tu	We	Th	Fr	Sa
•	1	2	3	4	5	6
7	8	9	10	11	12	13
14	15	16	17	18	19	20
21	22	23	24	25	26	27
28	•	•	•	•	•	•

F. M. 5th. L. Q. 13th. N. M. 20th. F. Q. 26th.

FEATURES OF INTEREST

ABOUT THAT WHICH HAS BEEN AND IS TO BE.

All Sides and Conditions of Things are Shown. Nothing Overlooked to make it Complete.

Old Indian Warrior is Dead.

Geronimo, the noted Indian chief, died at Fort Sill, Okla., where he had been confined as a prisoner of war for a number of years. He died of pneumonia after two days' illness. Geronimo will be buried in the Indian cemetery near the fort. The funeral will be conducted by Christian missionaries, the decedent having professed religion three years ago. Geronimo was the war chief of the Apaches. He was captured with his band at Skeleton Canyon, Arizona, twenty-two years ago, having surrendered to General Nelson A. Miles, who with his soldiers had pursued him for months. It is a curious coincidence that news of Geronimo's death was sent out from Lawton, which was named after the late Henry F. Lawton, the famous general, who, as a member of Miles' command, led the 3,000-mile chase that resulted in the chief's surrender. At the time of his death Geronimo was 85 years old. One daughter, Lola, who lives in Oklahoma, survives the aged warrior.

Broken Rail Causes Wreck.

Four passengers were killed and thirty-six injured when an Illinois Central train bound from St. Louis to New Orleans was wrecked on a trestle by running into a broken rail six miles east of Murphysboro, Ill. The injured included the Rev. H. M. McClellan, of Murphysboro, and sixteen members of the Perry Hastins show troupe, slightly hurt, and Miss Helen Yellow, of the show troupe, back injured seriously. None of the injured will die.

Two Ships Sunk by Collision.

An unknown sailing vessel rammed the Belgian steamer Australia during a storm February 12 near Alboran Island, in the Mediterranean, 100 miles from Gibraltar. Both vessels foundered. The total loss of life was thirty, fourteen men from the unknown vessel and sixteen from the Australia. Ten members of the crew of the Australia were taken off the steamer in small boats and were picked up by the German steamer Liberia.

Newspaper Publishers Indicted.

The Federal Grand Jury at Washington, D. C., has returned indictments against the Press Publishing Company, of New York City, and Joseph Pulitzer, Caleb M. Van Hamm and Robert H. Lyman, editors of that paper, and the owners of the Indianapolis News, Delavan Smith and Charles R. Williams, charging libel in publications in connection with the purchase of the Panama Canal.

Six Thousand Die in Quake Horror.

News has been received from Teheran, Persia, showing that the violent erathquake recorded January 23 at almost every scientific observatory in the world where seismographs are installed, had its location in the province of Luristan, western Persia. Sixty villages in the district were wholly or partially destroyed, and the resultant loss of life is placed between 5,000 and 6,000.

Couple End Lives in Taxicab.

While speeding along in a taxicab in Reading, Pa., Stella Rocktashel, 18, was shot and killed and her companion, George E. Kraut, 20, after directing the chauffeur to hurry to a hospital, turned the revolver that killed the girl upon himself and sent a bullet into his heart, dying almost instantly. Lewis Becker, the chauffeur, is unable to throw any light on the affair.

John Mitchell Hurt in Wreck.

John Mitchell, secretary of the National Civic Federation, while on the way to New York, after a short visit at his home in Spring Valley, Ill., was slightly injured in a trolley collision. Mr. Mitchell had his wounds dressed and proceeded on his journey. Several others were also slightly hurt.

Failed Concern Has $1,500,000 Debts.

Receiver T. H. Bushnell, who has charge of the affairs of Lamprecht Brothers & Co., Cleveland, Ohio, brokers, who failed a few days ago, has announced that the liabilities of the company probably would aggregate $1,500,000.

Famous Winter Resort is Burned.

The Hotel Clarendon at Sea Breeze, Fla., one of the largest resort hotels on the east coast, and ten cottages adjoining were totally destroyed by fire. Two hundred and fifteen guests were rescued without injury.

Hotel Fire at Findlay, Ohio.

The Phoenix, the leading hotel of Findlay, Ohio, burned. No lives were lost. The property loss will exceed $30,000.

300 ROASTED ALIVE IN MEXICAN THEATER

Moving Picture Film Sets Fire to Crowded Playhouse at Acapulco and Panic Ensues.

CORPSES BLOCK ALL THE EXITS.

Whole Families Blotted Out by Disaster Which Overtakes City During a Gala Performance.

Three hundred people were burned to death and many were injured in a fire which destroyed the Flores Theater in the City of Acapulco, Mexico, Sunday night. The news of the disaster reached the city of Mexico Monday afternoon, telegraphic communication with Acapulco having been destroyed owing to the fact that the telegraph office adjoining the theater was burned and all wires put out of commission.

It is known that several Americans were among the victims.

The Flores Theater was a wooden structure, and Sunday night over 1,000 people crowded into it to witness a special performance given in honor of Governor Damian Flores of the State of Guerrero, who was visiting the city at the time. One of the numbers on the program consisted of a series of moving pictures. While the operator was exhibiting these a film caught fire and a blaze was quickly communicated to some bunting which had been used for decorative purposes.

Corpses Choke Way.

In in incredibly short time the flames spread to all parts of the structure. There were but three narrow exits and the panic-stricken audience rushed to them, many persons falling, to be crushed to death, their bodies choking the way to escape for others.

The screams of those imprisoned were terrifying. Owing to the rapidity with which the fire spread and its intense heat it was impossible to attempt rescue work, and those imprisoned were literally roasted alive, as the fire burned with little smoke and few were suffocated.

The efforts of the fire department were confined to attempting to save the adjoining buildings, and the firemen succeeded so well that the property loss was small. The telegraph office, postoffice and custom house were damaged, but all of the government's records and the registered mail were saved.

Monday pitiful scenes of grief were witnessed on the streets of the city. Men, women and children were wandering from place to place, hunting for relatives and friends. Many of the dead were from the first families of the State, the affair at the theater being a social event of considerable importance and calling out the wealthiest and oldest families for miles around. In some instances whole families were wiped out of existence.

The municipal authorities have caused large trenches to be dug and into these the bodies of the dead were laid. Identification of the dead has been impossible, the bodies having been burned in most cases to a crisp.

City Important Port.

Acapulco is an important seaport on a bay of the Pacific Ocean about 200 miles southwest of the capital. It has one of the best harbors on the Pacific coast, which has made it an important commercial center, though it has few local industries, and its population is only about 8,000 or 10,000. On account of the heat and the effluvia from a large morass to the east the climate of the town is very unhealthy for Europeans, though a passage cut through the rocks to let in the sea breeze has tended to improve its salubrity.

CALIFORNIA TO COUNT JAPS.

Senate Votes Money to Ascertain Facts Regarding Immigration.

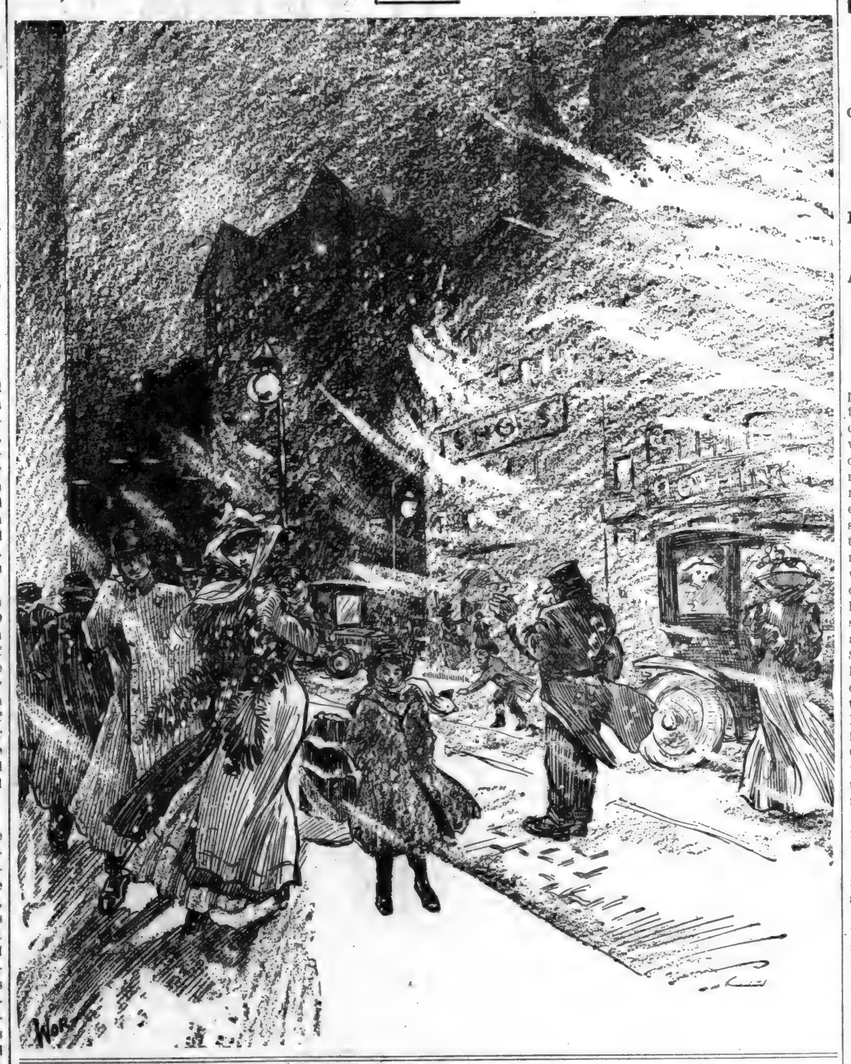
Moderation on the part of legislators and an evident disposition finally to dispose of all measures relating to Japanese and other aliens characterized a recent session of the Legislature. Adopting a suggestion by Governor Gillett, the Assembly voted to appropriate $10,000 to defray the expenses of a census which shall show the number of Japanese in California and the pursuits in which they are engaged. The statistics are to be used in consideration of future legislation, possibly involving a request by California for an Asiatic exclusion act. In the Senate a resolution by Senator Marc Anthony providing for a special election wherein the voters of California may express themselves on the subject of Asiatic immigration was defeated by a vote of 22 to 12.

WRECKS HOUSE TO SAVE TREE.

Mrs. Russell Sage Heeds Request of Women's Improvement Society.

In order to save one large shade tree Mrs. Russell Sage is sacrificing a large fine house in Sag Harbor, L. I., much to the gratification of the residents. Mrs. Sage bought the old Seaman property for $10,000 in order to build a public library upon the site in honor of her grandparents, Colonel and Mrs. John Jermain. The house was to be removed, but a few days ago it was discovered that it could not pass between the two handsome trees. The Woman's Village Improvement Society called Mrs. Sage's attention to the fact that one tree would have to be cut down if the house were moved. Her response was prompt and characteristic: "Tear down the house and move it in pieces."

STATE STREET, CHICAGO, DURING THE RECENT BLINDING WIND AND SNOW STORM.



GREAT TRIBUTE TO LINCOLN.

Nation and Its Head Join in Most Notable Demonstration.

Chicago and the nation joined Friday, the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln, in paying to the memory of the martyred President the most notable tribute ever accorded an individual in the history of the United States. The homage of centennial day was rendered by every class, both sexes, numerous creeds, all ages, by native-born Americans and by naturalized citizens of many nationalities.

Everywhere it was a tribute of the whole people. It was a democratic, all-embracing demonstration, as the sympathies of Lincoln himself were democratic, all-embracing. Lincoln as the doer of vital deeds for the nation's welfare, Lincoln as the exponent of lofty ideals for the nation's guidance, Lincoln as the prophet of the cause of humanity, Lincoln as the deliverer from bondage of a people, Lincoln as the chief individual force which maintained the Union—such were the themes to which speakers everywhere addressed themselves on the one hundredth anniversary of his birth.

In Hodgenville, Ky., where Lincoln was born, President Roosevelt voiced ringing praise to Lincoln's eminence. At Springfield, Ill., two of the leading European powers, England and France, laid the laurel before Lincoln's shrine through their ambassadors. There, too, the Democratic party, through William Jennings Bryan, joined in doing reverence to Lincoln.

In Pennsylvania Vice President Fairbanks and his successor-elect, James S. Sherman, glorified Lincoln's achievements, while in New York City, where extensive celebrations took place, Booker T. Washington spoke on behalf of the race which Lincoln freed.

Nowhere, however, was there so widespread or noteworthy a general celebration as that in Chicago. On the three sides of the city, all day long and through the evening, tens of thousands of men, women and children joined in doing their part to swell the chorus of Lincoln's praise. By song and speech, by prayer and by music did Chicago pay her reverence on centennial day. White capitalist and negro laborer, school child and Gettysburg veteran, society woman and shop girl, Jew and Gentile, Catholic and Protestant, European and Yankee, all joined in mass meeting or banquet, in church service or school exercise.

SINGING STOPS FIRE PANIC.

Lincoln Celebration at Fargo, N. D., Nearly Results in Tragedy.

With the Fargo opera house in Fargo, N. D., packed to the doors, George Radley, engineer at the theater, dashed from the stage through the audience calling for Fire Chief Sutherland. In an instant the place was filled with a mob, with every one rushing for the exits. The pianist rushed to the instrument on the stage and "America" was played. A chorus of voices on the stage took up the air and in a moment the audience joined and order was restored again. Although a few were jostled and slightly bruised, none was seriously injured.

NOTABLE TRIBUTES TO THE MEMORY OF LINCOLN.

Ambassador Bryce of England at Springfield.—"To us in England he is one of the heroes of the race whence you and we spring."

William J. Bryan at Springfield.—"The eloquence of Demosthenes and Cicero were no more necessary to their work, and Lincoln deserves to have his name written on the scroll with theirs."

Ambassador Jusserand of France at Springfield.—"That boon from above, was granted to the American people, who had a Washington when a Washington was needed and a Lincoln when Lincoln could save them."

Baron Takahira at Peoria, Ill.—"The golden rule is fully in accordance with the high ideal of Lincoln's diplomacy, which is now being so energetically expounded and executed by another great President, Theodore Roosevelt."

Senator Lodge at Boston.—"I wish to detach Lincoln from the myth that his wisdom, his purity and his greatness were as obvious and acknowledged, or ought to have been as obvious and acknowledged, in his lifetime as they are to-day."

Booker T. Washington as New York.—"Says the great book somewhere, though a man die, yet shall he live. If this is true of the ordinary man, how much more true is it of the hero of the hour and the hero of the century—Abraham Lincoln? One hundred years of the life and influence of Lincoln is the story of the struggles, the trials, ambitions and triumphs of the people of our complex American civilization."

President Roosevelt at Hodgenville, Ky.—"As the years roll by and as all of us, wherever we dwell, grow to feel an equal pride in the valor and self-devotion alike of the men who wore the blue and the men who wore the gray, so this whole nation will grow to feel a peculiar sense of pride in the man whose blood was shed for the union of his people and for the freedom of a race; the lover of his country and of all mankind; the mightiest of the mighty men who mastered the mighty days—Abraham Lincoln."

At Johannesburg, Transvaal, ten white men and 150 natives were drowned in a mine which became flooded by the bursting of a dam.

Jose de Paul, the Venezuelan ambassador, has opened negotiations with France, looking toward a settlement of the trouble between the two countries.

A landslide following a severe earth shock in the region south of Tetuan, Morocco, has wiped out several villages. It is reported that hundreds of people were killed or injured.

The Dominion and Canadian express companies have telegraphed instructions to their agents throughout Canada to restore the schedule of rates existing prior to Jan. 1, according to a ruling of the dominion railway commission. The January schedule was about 33 per cent in excess of the old schedule.

MILLIONAIRE TRAPS DYNAMITER

Defect in Infernal Machine Saves Lives of L. W. Jones and Family.

Lawrence M. Jones, a wealthy dry goods merchant of Kansas City, and his family were gathered into the library of their home Tuesday by a man with an automatic revolver and a dynamite bomb who demanded $7,000.

After clever maneuvering Mr. Jones managed to gain the man's consent to accompany him and his son to a bank for the funds. While the trio were about to enter the Jones motor car Mr. Jones threw himself upon the man from behind and seized him around the chest in such a fashion as to pinion his arms. At the same time, by a trick he learned when a boy, he kicked the man's feet from under him. Both fell and rolled down the stone steps at the edge the Jones porch.

Chester, the son, was upon the intruder before he could recover. The young man seized the man's pistol in one hand just as the trigger was pulled. The weapon failed to explode. Mrs. Jones then ran in close and seized the bag containing the bomb, which she carried to the house. An examination of it showed that the matches had ignited, but failed to explode the powder and dynamite surrounding them.

The man gave his name as C. H. Garnett, but admitted this was assumed. In his grip was ten pounds of dynamite. He had rented a house in Independence, Mo., and fitted it with chains where he intended to hold Jones a prisoner. He said he had frequently contemplated suicide because of his poverty and bad health.

PEACE WITH VENEZUELA.

Protocol Signed to Settle All Disputes with United States.

A protocol, in settlement of the matters between the United States and Venezuela, was signed Saturday. The Venezuelan cabinet the previous day approved the proposal to effect the settlements directly between the United States and Venezuela, thus removing the last obstacle to the signing of the protocol.

Three claims go to The Hague tribunal for arbitration; the fourth is settled by a small cash payment, and the fifth has been settled directly between the Venezuelan government and the claimants. The protocol is equally satisfactory to the United States and to Venezuela. It saves the dignity and honor of Venezuela, while as for the United States the troublesome claims that have led to so much negotiation are disposed of.

The New York and Bermudez Asphalt Company, through Mr. Buchanan, has reached a direct settlement with the government, by which the company obtains possession of its property in Venezuela and agrees to pay the government a minimum revenue of $30,000 a year. Furthermore, the company will pay the government a cash indemnity of $60,000 to compromise the suit brought against it on account of its alleged participation in the Matos revolution.

INAUGURAL THIS YEAR TO BE NOTABLE ONE

Great Pageant and Brilliant Ball Planned for Taft and Sherman.

FIREWORKS CHIEF FEATURE.

A Correspondent Describes Wonders in Illumination to Be Shown for the First Time.

Despite the operation of the anti-pass law and a diminution of that enthusiasm which characterized the induction into office of President Roosevelt four years ago, the inauguration of William H. Taft and James S. Sherman March 4 promises to be one of the most memorable of these quadrennial events, writes a Washington correspondent. While the great pageant on the afternoon of inauguration day will not be as strong numerically as that which passed in review before President Cleveland—which is the biggest in history—it will, in addition to being second in size, have many distinctive and unique features. There will be 8,000 men in the civic division, and at least as many in the military section of the parade. There will be regular troops and militia, cadets from West Point and Annapolis, and, perhaps most interesting of all, several regiments of Confederate veterans, attired in their war-worn suits of gray and carrying the shot-riddled flags of their various regiments.

The inaugural ball, the second big feature of the day's ceremonies, is being planned on a scale greater than heretofore, and the fireworks display it is claimed, will be the most remarkable ever witnesed in the United States. More attention has been given this year to the decorative scheme both by day and by night, and visitors who have attended previous inaugurals will witness something entirely new in this line. Careful work on the part of the various committees will provide, to all intents and purposes, against over charging, and more attention will be paid this year to the comfort of the thousands than on like occasions in the past. While the inaugural ceremonies will be marked by the greatest simplicity they will be made impressive.

The display of fireworks on the White House grounds inauguration night is a feature of popular interest. The program will embrace 1,000 rocket bombs, 500 batteries, 600 colored lights two tons of colored fire, 50 balloons 10,000 candles and 750 bombs, ranging from twelve to sixty inches. Among the novelties will be patent rocket bombs, which have all the beauties of rockets without the danger of the falling sticks, and the marvelous "sun cluster" effects, the unique fireworks invention of 1909.

One of the big things of the evening will be a wonderful pillar of light, 100 feet high, which has baffled experts in chemistry and electricity, and which will give a daylight effect to the heavens for a distance of several miles. Then there will be batteries of lightningcandles, with 5,000 flashes and wonderful crescendo repeating bombs, marvels in themselves. As the number of shells advances, so does the number of discharges. The first shell will explode but once; the twenty-first will explode twenty-one times.

One of the humorous features will be the whistling coons—some people will call them possums—and another 1909 fireworks novelty will be the "aerial device," released from an immense shell 1,500 feet in the air.

The spectacular event of the program will be a "battle in the skies"—an immense set piece. This will be the only set piece outside of the fire portraits of President Taft and Vice President Sherman. The scene shows a typical up-to-date city, with its towers and lofty buildings. An airship is seen to pass near the city, followed by small aerial craft. They turn and tack and are met by the opposing aerial fleet. A terrific encounter ensues, the ships burn and explode and crumble up. In the meantime other airships not directly engaged in the aerial battle have been dropping high explosives upon the doomed city. The towers and tall buildings tumble and burn and fall until all are utterly destroyed.

SIX LOSE LIVES IN FIRE.

Roof Falls and Five Milwaukee Firemen Meet Death.

Five firemen are dead, nine injured, two of them fatally, and one other man lost his life as a result of a fire which broke out in the warehouse of the Johns-Manville Manufacturing Company at 225 Clybourn street, Milwaukee, about noon Saturday and burned fiercely until 2 o'clock, the warehouse, together with the piano and organ plant of the Netzow Manufacturing Company, near by, being practically completely destroyed, entailing a loss of $200,000 which is covered by insurance.

The firemen were killed by the collapse of a wall of the Johns-Manville building, which smashed through the roof of the piano warehouse, on which two companies were stationed. The fire is said to have started from an explosion of oil in the basement. A panic followed among the employes, but all escaped uninjured with the exception of one man.

FEBRUARY

0508

L 903

Race for a Wife

BY

HAWLEY SMART

CHAPTER VI.

The solicitor drove away, fuming with indignation. "Pompous, poverty-stricken!" were the epithets he applied to the squire, in these first moments of his wrath. Even a usurious solicitor is possessed of pride of some kind, and though he may hold it in tolerable subjection during the early stages of his career, like other men's, it waxes fat and thrives wonderfully under the accumulation of wealth. Harold Denison had trampled it remorselessly under foot. Then the irritation subsided, and the astute old head once more began to reckon up the chances of the game. He played it all over again in his own mind. "No," he muttered; "don't think I made any mistakes! I was a fool to lose my temper, though. Hadn't I made up my mind, all along, that he'd take it pretty much in that way, to start with? When I think how many of 'em I've seen run rusty about their family names, places, and plate! It was foolish—ay, very foolish—to be annoyed at Denison's tantrums. Names?—bah!" continued the old man, contemptuously. "If it came all the way from the Conqueror, its worth on stamped paper is the only valid test."

Sam Pearman, when he heard the result of his father's mission, took rather a different view of it from his progenitor. As a younger man he lacked the patience; and then, moreover, was there not the blow to his self-esteem? Between twenty and thirty we feel that acutely; from thirty to forty, with a sort of modified soreness; at fifty the conceit has been taken out of most of us, and we are no longer astonished at finding that the world rates us a little lower than our own valuation. Electroplate may pass for gold for a short season, in these days, but society is pretty certain to detect the ring of false metal ere very long.

Samuel the junior had so far been a fortunate man in pursuit of his ambitions. Though not so successful as he could have wished, yet, to a certain extent, he had worked his way into the county society. There were many houses that he was occasionally asked to, as an odd bachelor to make up. Despite all his father had said at the time, a man with Sam Pearman's eye to the main chance could not conceive a man in Harold Denison's position rejecting a proposal so very much to his own advantage. He might recognise a certain amount of difficulty on the part of the lady, but men of his age are not wont to be diffident about their own powers of attraction on these occasions, and Sam Pearman was one of the last to entertain apprehensions on that score.

"He don't know what's good for him, and that's about the size of it!" was that gentleman's remark, as his sire retailed the account of his interview with Denison. "We shall have to exercise a little gentle pressure. I'm not going to be choked off my game, at all events at this stage of the proceedings. Invalids often require coercion to make them take the tonics necessary for their existence, and it will be for you to make Denison understand that he will cease to be Denison of Glinn, at all events, unless he is prepared to welcome me as a son-in-law."

"Leave it to me, Sam, and don't be in a hurry. I made up my mind about it the other night. I don't say all, my boy, but a good many things I have made up my mind to have come to pass in course of time. Leave me alone to work the oracle just now, and, depend upon it, I'll give you due notice when it's time for you to make a move."

The son acquiesced. If at times he thought his father was getting a little slow at turf tactics—a pursuit from which he had in great measure withdrawn—he still held a firm belief that his parent was difficult to beat in the great game of life, more especially when he held a winning card or two in his hand.

Some two or three weeks elapsed; and then, one spring morning, Harold Denison received a letter to the effect that Mr. Pearman of Mannersley felt it incumbent on himself to call in his money lent on mortgage, a more favorable opportunity for investment having offered.

That this would probably be the result of their last interview, the squire had foreseen. Yet, as days went by without any such notince, he began fondly to hope that the attorney had seen the presumption he had been guilty of, and that things would still jog quietly along in their old way. How ephemeral that way had now become, under almost any circumstances, he still kept locked within his own breast. But as he read that letter the squire knew well that the rubicon was passed, that his ships were burnt, and himself defeated. He knew, too well, that to raise that ten thousand anywhere else would result in an exposure of his affairs tantamount to ruin. He was quite aware that Pearman was equally conversant with the fact. He prepared himself for the impending crash.

But there is a certain amount of notice requisite on the calling in of a mortgage, and this gave Harold Denison time to reflect—whether for good or evil the readers of this story must determine. Had the blow fallen at once, he would have abandoned Glinn, grimly, and set up his lonely tent in some remote watering place. But the crafty solicitor had measured the strength of his prey with great accuracy. It was not without design that the notice of the foreclosure of the mortgage had been delayed. "Give it time—give it time," quoth that fisher of feeble humanity. He was right; and day after day did Harold Denison ponder over the old fisherman's terms; at first contemptuously, then moodily, until at last he began to think that it was his duty to retain Glinn at all hasards. Once arrived thus far, the speciousness of the reasoning became easy and rapid. "The lands I received from my ancestors it is my duty to transmit to my descendants." A fine country gentleman's sentiment, that would have invariably insured a round of applause at the farmer's ordinary in any market town of respectable dimensions. Now, of course, it was all plain sailing, morally. As a personal matter, the meanest lodgings at Hastings or St. Leonards would have sufficed. It were better so than to see a Denison of Glinn so vilely mated. But there were other ties to be considered. He, Harold Denison, had undoubtedly betrayed the trust of a long line of ancestors.

Then he began to think once more of his daughter. He felt compunction at the idea of yielding his handsome Maude to this low-born suitor. But then Maude had never been to him what an only child is to most fathers. He had never quite forgiven the fact of her not being a son, and she had ever been more her mother's pet than his. Again, this candidate for her hand had been brought up a gentleman, had the mark of the university stamped on his based composition, and, in short, had done much to compensate for the deficiency of birth with which he had entered the world. He had seen young Pearman upon two or three occasions only. That gentleman, though the blood of his father ran strong in his veins, had quite sufficient tact to avoid showing it. He dressed quietly, and abstained from self-assertion when mixing with the class in which he was so anxious to establish himself. He was, naturally, too careful of his money to fall into the error of most parvenues, that of ostentatious display. The little he knew of him had not jarred on Harold Denison. As to Maude, her affections must be wholly unfettered. If she could be brought to think of this man as a husband, it would really be a good thing for her in the end. And by such reasoning the squire gradually worked himself round to the conviction that it was, at all events, his duty to submit Pearman's proposal to Maude, and, further, to press it strongly on her attention.

But before Harold Denison had arrived at this conclusion, there had been much grief at Glinn. He had told his wife of the contemplated foreclosing of the mortgage, and explained to her that it meant ruin—that is, ruin inevitable, as far as their still continuing the possessors of Glinn went.

"Yes, Nellie, it's all over," said the squire; "I'm beaten at last. Dear old Glinn must go through the hands of the auctioneer, and become the property of whatever greasy trader happens to have most money at his disposal just now. It's hard lines for you to have to leave the place wherein I installed you as mistress so many years ago."

"Don't think of me," replied Mrs. Denison, tearfully. "I shall be always happy as long as I have you and Maude with me. It will be sad to leave all my old cottagers and almoners to the tender mercies of others; but oh! it will fall heaviest on you, Harold, to give up what has been the home of your people for so many generations!"

"I don't deny it. It will be a dreadful wrench to think of Glinn passing to strangers; but I suppose it must be so. The follies of our youth, Nell, smite us sharply as we grow old. We shall have to end our days in some cheap continental town."

CHAPTER VII.

Very sad was Maude when she heard the evil tidings, and that she had but a short time left to look upon the grand old chestnuts, the groves of laurel, and the soft, pleasant, turfy vistas amid which she had been born. Bitterly she thought how the loss of all the accustomed surroundings would be felt by the gentle mother she adored; and well she divined what would be her father's sensations when, having left the home of his ancestors, he should find himself exposed to the monotonous existence of some watering place or dull continental town! How he would brood over the extinction of the Denisons of Glinn none realised more fully than Maude. She knew her father thoroughly; she was a clever girl, and fully recognised his foibles and weaknesses. She comprehended the shock it would be to his family pride—what the loss of country pursuits would be to him; what it would be to find himself a mere Mr. Denison on straitened means in some quiet place where gossip was rife, and your social status was pretty nearly gauged by the bills incurred at the butcher's and the wine merchant's. And then, the girl thought, sorrowfully, how little she could do to alleviate all this. To her mother—ah! yes, she could do much to lighten her troubles, and be a comfort to her; but for her father, nothing—and the tears trickled through Maude's long lashes as she thought how little she could be to him.

Such, so far, were the results of the machinations of that experienced "fisher of men," Mr. Pearman, on the unfortunate family at Glinn.

I have told the ingenious process of reasoning by which Harold Denison had, at last, not only soothed his conscience, but arrived at the conclusion that, like the grim old Grecian, his duty required him to sacrifice his daughter. I often think that old story a grand allegory. Agamemnon sacrifices Iphigenia, even yet, pretty constantly at St. George's, Hanover Square. We substitute the ring for the knife, and the wedding breakfast for the smoking sacrifice; and we wreath ourselves with flowers and silken raiment as we offer up our maidens at the shrine of Plutus. Who shall say that, after all, that was not the meaning of the fable?

But Harold Denison was conscious of an inward feeling that the newly formed idea was an extremely awkward subject to broach either to his wife or daughter. That he had never even alluded to Pearman's proposal I need scarcely observe, and that it looked still less pleasant to touch upon now he had made up his mind to be an active supporter thereof, must be equally obvious. Still the clouds were gathering so thick over the house of Glinn that no time was to be lost; and at last the squire nerved himself to the task, and sought his wife's boudoir, having previously ascertained that his daughter was out of the house.

"I want to talk something over with you, Nellie," he observed, as he entered. "I don't think that it will be quite pleasant to hear, but, at all events, it can't distress you, as you will have the power of deciding as you like about it."

Mrs. Denison raised her face anxiously to her husband's. Decision, on any point, was painful to her, and she was too well aware, from former experience, that this was but the prelude to some scheme in which her concurrence had already been practically marked out by her lord and master. Harold Denison's consultations, at such times, generally comprised a mere synopsis of his intentions, revealing some minor unpleasantness which he looked to her to carry out. Poor Mrs. Denison might well be diffident about such confidences; as a rule, they had borne but bitter fruit.

"What should you say," continued the squire, "if I tell you that it is possible to save Glinn to us yet?"

"Oh, Harold, can it be so?" cried Mrs. Denison with clasped hands and beating heart. "No, you don't look like it; I see in your face there is more to follow. It is some bare chance, and your sanguine nature has led you astray concerning it."

"Nellie, don't be foolish. There is a way of arranging all these miserable money matters that has been submitted to me, and which, should we consent to, there is no doubt will prove perfectly satisfactory. I have turned it all well over in my mind, and though I have, as yet, come to no determination concerning it, yet I don't deem it altogether impracticable. Will you hear me patiently?"

"Yes, Harold," was the meek response.

"Well, what I want to talk to you about is this. Of course you must be aware that Maude is not only grown up and handsome, but has arrived at an age when wooers may be expected."

"What do you mean?" asked the mother, her pale face flushing, and a half-anxious, half-frightened expression visible in her blue eyes.

"We will come to that presently. You know her admirers at the Xminster ball were numerous. A man of good property in this county solicits permission to pay his addresses to Maude. He can give her a good home and everything she can want now, while at the death of his father he will be the possessor of large landed estates in the county, besides considerable sums invested elsewhere."

The poor mother's heart beat quick. To whom was she to be asked to yield her darling? Who in all the county side was worthy of her peerless Maude? She knew of none; yet she spoke not, but gazed eagerly into her husband's face, and waited with high-strung nerves till he should speak again.

"Maude can have no attachment as yet?" inquired the squire, at length.

"No, I think not. How could she, Harold? The poor child has, as yet, seen so little of the world, and Maude is not one to give her heart away lightly."

"Maidens' hearts are stolen, sometimes, a good while before they are themselves aware of it," returned Denison, sententiously. "It is essential for my project that Maude should be fancy free."

"She is," returned the mother, anxiously; "but tell me, who is this you think good enough for her? There is no one I know," she continued, sadly, "fit to claim my darling's hand."

"It's no use fencing any more," replied the squire. "Young Pearman was much struck with Maude at the Xminster ball, and solicits permission to win her, if he can."

"Pearman! What—the son of the lawyer!" cried Mrs. Denison. "You're joking, Harold, surely! You would never consent to such a match for a daughter of yours."

"Listen, Nellie," replied the squire, sadly. "Pearman has a heavy mortgage on the property; he has bought the best part of what has been sold, and Maude's marriage with his son would once more consolidate Glinn. Don't interrupt me!" he exclaimed, in answer to a despairing gesture of his wife's. "I don't say if things stood with us as they did in the old times I'd listen to such a proposal as this; but, Nellie, if Maude could make up her mind to it, Glinn would remain ours, and that would lighten the remainder of my time in this world, and yours, too, wife mine."

"Not unless Maude were happy," murmured the poor mother.

I can fancy the contempt with which a Belgravian matron might regard Mrs. Denison's last remark. A penniless girl offered wealth, country house, etc., and her mother maundering about her happiness. Oh, it is too absurd!

(To be continued.)

Not Fair.

"Look here, Abraham," said the judge, "it's been proved right here in court that instead of doing something to help support your wife and children you spend your whole time hunting 'possum!"

The old negro hung his head.

"Now, Abe, you love your wife, don't you?"

"Ah suttinly does!"

"And your children?"

"Yas, suh!"

"And you love them both better——"

"Better ev'ry day, jedge!" Abe broke in.

"——better than a thousand 'possum?"

"Look hyah, jedge," exclaimed Abe with widening eyes, "dat's takin' a coon at a pow'ful disadvantage!"—The Bohemian Magazine.

Wasn't Taking Chances.

Sam Sleek—It's dead easy to make money when you know how.

Tom Toots—Do you know how?

Sam Sleek—Sure.

Tom Toots—Why don't you make some?

Sam Sleek—I'm afraid I might get caught while trying to pass it.

A Fresh Child.

"Young man," said Mr. Bluffkins, "when I was your age I always stood at the head of my class."

"Well," answered the fearfully precocious boy, "maybe teachers were easier to fool then than they are now."—Washington Star.

WORK OF CONGRESS

The Senate was not in session Friday. The charges of corruption and fraud in connection with the Panama Canal purchase made by Representative Rainey recently were reviewed in the House, when Mr. Lovering of Massachusetts entered a sweeping defense of William Nelson Cromwell, William H. Taft, Charles P. Taft and others whom Mr. Rainey named as having been involved in the transaction. When Mr. Lovering began the Illinois member had gone to the station to take a train for Baltimore, where he was to deliver a Lincoln address, but he was hastily called back, Mr. Lovering in the meantime suspending his remarks. Mr. Rainey was obliged to leave shortly afterward to keep his engagement, but he announced that he would make full reply. The Indian appropriation bill technically was under consideration and all the speeches were made under license of general debate.

-:—:-

The Senate was not in session Saturday. The Indian appropriation bill technically was under consideration in the House, but many members availed themselves of the opportunity for general debate. Mr. Lamar (Fla.) argued for the amendment of the railroad rate law, claiming the law was insufficient to cover the cases included in its provisions; Mr. Madden (Ill.) referred to increases in freight rates since the rate law went into effect; Mr. Murphy (Wis.) delivered a eulogy of Lincoln; Mr. Washburn (Mass.) favored a modification of the Sherman anti-trust law in order that it might be less burdensome; Mr. Hayes (Cal.) attacked the rules of the House; Mr. Langley (Ky.) criticised the administration of the affairs of the Choctaw Indians; Mr. Sherman (N. Y.) explained the provisions of the Indian bill, while Mr. Foster (Vt.) pleaded for an adjustment of postal rates as affecting merchandise sent through the mails.

-:—:-

The Senate devoted most of Monday to the naval appropriation bill, and there was much discussion concerning the growth of government expenditures for military purposes. Mr. Hall declared that unless a halt is called it will be necessary for Congress to issue bonds or to increase taxation. Senators La Follette and Dixon criticised naval methods, and especially the use of public funds for construction at navy yards. Senator Hale warned the Senate that unless more rapid progress be made night sessions would soon become necessary. So far as Congress is concerned the constitutional bar to the acceptance by Senator Knox of the State portfolio in the Taft Cabinet was removed when the House of Representatives passed the bill reducing the salary of the Secretary of State. The bill at first was defeated through the failure of two-thirds of the members to vote for it, but it was brought up a second time under a special rule and passed by a majority vote. Without a dissenting voice the bill granting separate statehood to Arizona and New Mexico also was passed, as was also the bill providing for uniformity in car equipment with safety appliances.

-:—:-

The naval appropriation bill was under consideration in the Senate in committee of the whole throughout Tuesday and Tuesday night. An amendment was adopted which will have effect, if it is accepted by the House of restoring the marine corps on all battle ships and armored cruisers in accordance with the practice of the navy prior to the President's order moving them from the ships. An extended criticism was made by Senator Dixon of Montana of the method of having a large number of navy yards along the Atlantic coast. He took the ground that the work could be more economically done in a smaller number of places. After being in session for five hours the Senate took a recess until 8 p. m. At the night session the bill was further considered. An amendment was adopted directing that in the discretion of the President half of the entire naval fleet should be kept on the Pacific coast. The bill was reported to the Senate, Mr. Lodge reserving for further consideration amendments relating to the marine corps being kept on board naval vessels, and providing for a reduction to 21,000 tons in the size of each of the two battle ships authorized by the act. Being still the legislative day of Monday, the House for the most part devoted itself to the consideration of bills under suspension of the rules. A number were passed, among them being those requiring the equipment of ocean-going vessels with wireless apparatus and providing for the reorganization and enlistment of the Naval Academy Band. The Indian appropriation bill, carrying an appropriation of $11,571,000, was passed.

BRIEF NEWS ITEMS.

The corner stone of the Cathedral of St. John the Evangelist, to be built in Denver by the Episcopalians at a cost of $500,000, was laid the other day.

Caleb Z. West, former Governor of Utah, died in a hospital in Oakland, Cal., where he had been confined since Dec. 1 with appendicitis.

Fire at Galveston, Texas, originating with the explosion of a watchman's lantern, destroyed the entire wharf and wharf sheds, entailing a loss estimated at $425,000.

COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL

CHICAGO.

Commercial activity reflects steadier conditions in production and values, and the outlook affords more substantial basis for healthy expansion. Much strength is derived from the excellent statements issued by the banks on Tuesday. These indicate not only an increasing use of money in business, but show splendid recovery over the depressed state of a year ago and for the first time gross resources exceeding $900,000,000. It is clear that capital will be abundant to satisfy legitimate needs, and the cost of accommodation should be favorable to further enterprise in manufacturing. A reduced trading mortality testifies to improvement in collections.

Distributive trade shows the advance expected in the general demand for staples. Heavy buying is seen in dry goods for prompt delivery and interest increases in fall lines.

Failures reported in the Chicago district number 23, against 27 last week, 33 in 1908 and 25 in 1907. Those with liabilities of more than $5,000 number 6, against 5 last week, 16 in 1908 and 6 in 1907.—Dun's Review of Trade.

NEW YORK.

Unsettled, stormy weather has accentuated the quiet prevailing in general trade and the situation as a whole is rather irregular. The first of the spring season's buyers' excursions are, however, attracting merchants to the leading markets East and West, and while conservatism characterizes dealing, the feeling is still one of optimism as to the future.

In the industries operations as a whole are still below the normal. Best reports come from the textile trades, particularly cotton and woolen dress goods lines. Some light cottons are sold ahead to October. The metal and coal trades are conspicuous for the dullness of demand and the continuance in the former industry of output at a reduced rate.

Reports as to collections reflect the irregularities due to weather or the reduced purchasing power of the country and are still only about fair.

Business failures in the United States for the week ending with Feb. 10 were 211, against 286 last week, 326 in the like week of 1908, 204 in 1907, 208 in 1906 and 243 in 1905.—Bradstreet's.

THE MARKETS

Chicago—Cattle, common to prime, $4.00 to $7.00; hogs, prime heavy, $4.50 to $6.65; sheep, fair to choice, $3.00 to $5.35; wheat, No. 2, $1.14 to $1.16; corn No. 2, 60c to 62c; oats, standard, 51c to 53c; rye, No. 2, 75c to 76c; hay, timothy, $8.00 to $13.00; prairie, $8.00 to $11.50; butter, choice creamery, 27c to 30c; eggs, fresh, 29c to 31c; potatoes, per bushel, 80c to 93c.

Indianapolis—Cattle, shipping, $3.00 to $7.00; hogs, good to choice heavy, $3.50 to $6.90; sheep, good to choice, $2.50 to $4.00; wheat, No. 2, $1.15 to $1.16; corn, No. 2, white, 60c to 61c; oats, No. 2 white, 49c to 51c.

COLDS

CURED IN ONE DAY

Munyon's Cold Remedy Relieves the head, throat and lungs almost immediately. Checks Fevers, stops Discharges of the nose, takes away all aches and pains caused by colds. It cures Grip and obstinate Coughs and prevents Pneumonia. Price 25c.

Have you stiff or swollen joints, no matter how chronic? Ask your druggist for Munyon's Rheumatism Remedy and see how quickly you will be cured.

If you have any kidney or bladder trouble get Munyon's Kidney Remedy.

Munyon's Vitalizer makes weak men strong and restores lost powers.

Tactless.

"He's not what you call strictly handsome," said the major, beaming through his glasses on an utterly hideous baby as it lay howling in its mother's arms, "but it's the kind of face that grows on you."

"It's not the kind of face that ever grew on you," was the unexpected reply of the indignant mother; "you'd be much better looking if it had!"—Detroit News-Tribune.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by all Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Facial Concavity.

"Who is that dish-faced man?"

"He's the father of eleven children. You'd be dish-faced, too, if you had your nose to the grindstone as long as he has."

Stiff neck! Doesn't amount to much, but mighty disagreeable. You've no idea how quickly a little Hamlins Wizard Oil will lubricate the cords and make you comfortable again.

Spanish as Spoken.

Dr. A. W. Parsons, the oldest American physician, in point of practice, in the City of Mexico, tells a good story of his experience in that country. As a young man he had been knocking about Western mining camps in the days when gun plays were common.

He had just landed at one of the gulf ports of Mexico, and was eating 11 o'clock breakfast at the only hotel in town. He was seated at the table with several other Americans, all rough railroad construction men. Their knowledge of Spanish was rather limited, and their pronunciation atrocious. At the meal one of the men said to the waiter angrily:

"Dame la mantequilla" (Give me the butter). In good Castilian it would sound thus: "Da-me la man-te-keel-ya," with broad a's and long e's. Pronounced by the American it sounded, "Dam-me la man-te-kill-ye."

The young medico promptly stiffened his legs and slid under the table. His astonished table mates looked at each other and then peered beneath the board to see what ailed him.

FEBRUARY

0509

L 903

The St. Joe News.

One Year - - $1.00
Six Month - - 50c
Three Months - - 25c

FRED B LEIGHTY
PUBLISHER.

Entered at the Post Office in St. Joe as second-class mail matter.

Editorially.

Lillian Bell says women are never so bad as they are painted. But many of them are so badly painted.

These sheath skirts have at least one advantage. A woman can not spread her skirt over three seats in the street car.

Mr. Tatt arrived at New Orleans in a hurricane and reached Cincinnati in a blizzard. He is not likely to be out of the storm belt for the next four years.

A Massachusetts woman proposes a curfew law for husbands. Then a man who lingers with a sick friend after the curfew has rung won't dare to come home until daylight.

The President says, "The nation's future rests with the country." From a number of things he has been saying pretty constantly for seven years we rather thought it rested with Roosevelt.

The Tailors Association has declared that the college boy freak clothes, with fancy buttons, bias button holes, and trouser cuffs must go. If some one will abolish the freak college boy and his freak college yell we will ask for nothing more.

There is a curious bill before Congress in that it is alleged to be for the prevention of cruelty to animals. The bill has been drawn by a young candy manufacturer and is introduced by Congressman Cary of Wisconsin. The candy manufacturer was arrested by an agent of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals and fined two dollars for driving a lame horse. This fine so shocked him that according to his own statement he has taken a course in a law school, got his diploma and is now devoting his energies and his learning to the extinction of the Washington Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. He is seconded in his efforts by a few hauling contractors, all of whom have been arrested and fined for cruelty. The bill that they have before Congress proposes to abolish the Washington Humane Society and turn the overladen, overdriven and underfed horses over to the tender mercies of a horse owners' organization composed in part of the men who have been arrested and fined for cruelty. It is a case analogous to that of the fable in which the wolves, charging undue interference on the part of the shepherds, demanded that the care of sheep should be turned over to them.

Professor Wiley of food reform fame says that milk is too cheap. This seems to voice the refrain of all pure food sentiment. The manufactures are all agreed that if people don't want to be poisoned with adulterants and dirt they pay a higher price and that cleanliness and purity are seperate and taxable ingredients of all food preparations. It is not true that eight or ten cents a quart is a price so low that dairymen cannot afford to furnish pure milk for that sum but it is true that the middle men who handle milk between the farm and the consumer are requiring too large a profit on that product. The price at which milk is wholesaled from the farm is too low for the establishment and maintenance of sanitary dairy conditions but the consumer pays a price for the article that should guarantee him against the menace of impure, dirty or doctored milk. The same is true of butter and meat. The fault lies with the various food trusts that control the price of these commodities. Milk can be supplied to the cities direct from any reasonably accessible dairy farm at eight cents a quart and yeild a satisfactory profit on a modern and sanitary establishment. The public should insist on getting this staple food at that price and let the milk trust regulate its profits accordingly. To increase the the price of milk is to abstract from the health of the people and especially of the children the profits which go into the pockets of the food trusts. It is surprising and disappointing to find a man of Dr. Wiley's prominence advocating higher prices for necessary foods and becoming the voice as it were of the combinations that conspire to keep up these prices for their own profit.

Rheumatic Pains

"My mother is a great sufferer from rheumatism, and Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills is the only remedy that relieves her."

MRS. G. DAVENPORT,
Roycefield, N. J.

The pains of rheumatism are almost invariably relieved with Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. They also overcome that nervous irritation which prevents sleep because they soothe the nerves. To chronic suffers they are invaluable. When taken as directed, they relieve the distress and save the weakening influence of pain, which so frequently prostrates. Many sufferers use them whenever occasion requires with the greatest satisfaction, why not you? They do not derange the stomach nor create a habit. Why not try them? Get a package from your druggist. Take it according to directions, and if it does not benefit he will return your money.

Revolts at Cold Steel.

"Your only hope," said three doctors to Mrs. M. E. Fisher, Detroit, Mich. suffering from severe rectal trouble, "lies in an operation," then I used Dr. King's New Life Pills," she writes, "till wholly cured." They prevent Appendicitis, cure Constipation, Headache. 25c. at H. Milliman's.

Gumption on the Farm

An hour of hard work getting a stone out of the public road is well spent, even if nobody thanks you for it.

Talk over your plans with your wife as you sit around the evening fire. You will be surprised to find how sound her advice is.

Here it is February, and in almost no time the rush of spring will be on. We had better get ready for it by doing all the odd jobs we can now.

For a farm covering, good barnyard manure is much better than a mortgage; and judiciously applied the former will speedily remove the latter.

Far above the production of wheat and corn and hay and potatoes is the growth and cultivation of character; for, after all, this is the main purpose of life.

Have you done your best and been beaten? Keep a stiff upper lip. Do a little better than your best this year. You will win; only be true, fair and square.

A mule may never be known to kick and yet around his heel is no place for small children; for after the explosion regrets won't mend the pieces, nor clubs better the mule.

If you know a good thing, tell your neighbor about it. It will help him about his work, and it surely can not do you any harm. Bottled-up goodness soon turns sour and spoils.

See to it that your straw and clover stacks are not eaten from beneath, so the March winds will blow them over on the stock. I have a neighbor who lost nine sheep at one time, and two a week later, in this way.

Smokehouse at small cost: Needing a smokehouse I boarded up a corner of an out building, fitted in a door, hung it by leather hinges, and ran a pipe from an old sheet-iron stove to the smokehouse. Result: Cool smoke, little danger of setting building on fire; and a chunk of green hickory will smoke all winter.

Laws Touching The School

The bill introduced by Senator Kimmel of Lagrange county providing that the tuition fee of school children transferred from one district to another shall be fixed at the actual cost of school services to which the transfer is made, was passed. By it the maximum cost is $4 a month for high schools and $2 for the grades. It makes provision for the parents to decide what school the pupils must be transferred to instead of placing the matter in the hands of the trustee as has been the case heretofore.

Another bill introduced by Senator Kimmel and relating to tuition was passed. It provides that the funds paid for transferred pupils may be paid directly to the school concerned when before it was paid through the office of the state superintendent.

John R. Carr, superintendent of the Marion county schools, has prepared a bill that will make a chaage in the selection of school teachers and take the election of a county superintendent out of politics.

The bill provides that the trustees shall nominate the teachers, but that the nominations must be subject to the approval of the county superintendent.

Another feature seeks to increase the qualifications required for county superintendent. Under the present laws practically no qualifications are required. Before a man can become county superintendent he must have a common school license. The bill specifies that a county superintendent must have a sixty months' license to teach, which covers the common and high school branches, or a diploma from some accredited normal school or college. The applicant must be actively engaged in school work at the time he is elected by the trustees.

The bill would also establish a graded system of salaries. Superintendents are paid on the per diem basis and all county superintendents of Indiana are paid $4 50 for each day of actual service, which amounts to $9,400 a year. No allowance is made for transportation, and many superintendents often pay out half of their salary for this purpose.

The new provision would establish yearly salaries, the minimum salary being $1,400 in counties having a school enumeration of 5,000 or less, and a maximum of $2,250 in counties having a school enumeration of 16,000 or more.

The Secret of Long Life.

A French scientist has discovered one secret of long life. His method deals with the blood. But long ago millions of Americans have proved Electric Bitters prolongs life and makes it worth living. It purifies, enriches and vitalizes the blood, rebuilds wasted nerve cells, imparts life and tone to the entire system. Its a godsend to weak, sick and debilitated people. "Kidney trouble had blighted my life for months," writes W. M. Sherman, of Cushing, Me., "but Electric Bitters cured me entirely." Only 50c. at H Milliman's.

False Report.

Notwithstanding the report that Craig Sheffer has sold out, he is still doing business at the old stand. Bring him your work.

SPENCERVILLE

Continued from Spencerville page.

The following letter was written by Isaiah Smith of Richmond, Va., to his grandma, Mariah Oberholtzer at this place.

Dear Grandma:-

I will write a few lines and tell you how I am getting along in the South; we are at present having mild and sunshiney weather and I see few birds for the people shoot them in this part of the country. I am going to school now and am in the 6 B grade, and I am getting along fine in my studies and at examination my grades did not go below 90. The school house is a large fine brick building which has 6 rooms and a large assembly hall in which the whole school of 250 scholars assembles to sing, and the favorite song about here is "Dixie" and they sing it as if they were going to raise the roof, and of course I sing with them. My teachers name is Miss L. R. Garth and the principals name is Miss L. M. Evans. I will close hoping this will find you well.

School Items

The first division of the first year debated on the following question, on last Friday afternoon; Resolve, that the centrilization of school is not and never will be a success. The judges decided 2 to 1 in favor of the affirmative. The second division will debate on next Friday afternoon, the question not being chosen. These debates have so far proven to be a success.

Mr. Lester Houk loaned his sleighing outfit to Alva Place and Guy Platter, who at the noon hour invited Miss Clara Shull and Miss Ada Bair to take a delightful ride with them. They finished their ride on the north side of one of the large telephone poles. The two young ladies were doing the driving each holding a line when the horse hit the pole. John Springer, who happened to be in the way, beat it with all his might narrowly escaping being run over. The pieces were gathered up and taken to Harvey Beams repair shop.

Esq. Allen was at Auburn Friday.

Rink Saturday night. At St. Joe. Come,

Mrs. John Baltz has been very sick for the past three weeks.

You will get relief from Pain when Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills are taken.

Addison Kline has succeeded in getting a few loads of ice on a pond east of here.

The failure of the weather to produce ice has caused the business men to sweat. Strange isn't it that a person would sweat over the cold subject "ice."

I have only 4 more half acre lots left to sell, if you expect to build now is your chance. Best location in town. Prices right. Located on Main St. in Spencerville. J. BEAMS.

We expect to show you the Most Complete line of low shoes for Men, Women and Children this spring that has ever been shown in Spencerville. Erick & Co.

J. H. Lake M. D.

has permanently located in the O. H. Widney property on 4th street, opposite opera house and invites you to call on him.

Calls answered day or night.

BELL PHONE NO. 82.

St. Joe, . Indiana.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills relieve pain.

New goods arriving daily at Erick & Co's., store.

Mrs. Joe Sommers property is receiving some slight overhauling.

The K. of P's. held an extra meeting on last Friday evening besides their regular Monday night meeting. The object being to complete some important business matters.

314 West Second St. AUBURN, IND

We make a specialty of funeral work and handle a full line of designs. Fine assortment of in and out of door bulbs.

C. M. TenEyck & Son,
- Proprietors.

HOME and BELL TELEPHONES.

I Have Added

to my stock of Hardware a small stock of Furniture Iron Beds, Husk and Cotton Felt Mattresses, Bed springs, Chairs Tables, Etc.

HARDWARE

My stock of Hardware is complete. I have the largest assortment of Reeds Flintstone ware ever seen in

ST. JOE

Look at the label, if it is Reeds Flintstone ware, it is warranted. Everybody is learning the quality of Keen Kutter tools. Pocket Knives, Razors, Chisels, Hatchets, Hammers Cross cut and Hand Saws, all kept in stock.

Goods are right, Prices are right.

D. J. Baker.

Agonies Of Pain

Never give up, and think that all women, yourself included, have to suffer pain.

Thousands of women have written to tell how they have cured their womanly ills, and relieved their pains; and over a million have been benefited, in various other forms of female disease, during the past 50 years, by that popular and successful female remedy

VINE OF CARDUI

WOMAN'S RELIEF

"I believe I would now have been dead," writes Mrs. Minnie Lambe, of Lebanon Junction, Ky., "if it hadn't been for Cardui. I had suffered with bad cramping spells, pains in my back, sides and arms, and awful bearing-down pains. Now these pains have all gone, as a result of using Cardui."

At All Druggists

WRITE FOR FREE ADVICE, stating age and describing symptoms, to Ladies Advisory Dept., The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn. E 39

PHOTOGRAPHS.

We make them

AT THE

Tustison Studio.

Fine Portraits on Postals - - $1.00 per doz.

Call and get prices on FAMILY GROUPES.

WHEN DEATH COMES

Friends and loved ones desire that the last services be conducted in the best way possible. The embalming and funeral need careful attention. Elza Kinsey, a licensed embalmer, takes charge of all funerals. Satisfaction guaranteed. Calls answered day or night

H. V. Kinsey & Son,

Phone No. Office 37-2. Residence 37-

FEBRUARY

0510

L 903

SPENCERVILLE NEWS.

A Department of the ST. JOE NEWS for the Spencerville People.

Undertaking and Embalming.

Two Funeral Cars. One in White and the other in Black. We also furnish one elegant cab for Pall Bearers or friends. Prices reasonable

Beams & Baker.

Local Briefs

The Lutheran C. E. will give a social in March. Watch for announcements.

Clyde Rectenwal's moved this week into the Frank Hollabaugh property.

Mrs. Greeley Wearley was pleasantly entertained to dinner at the home of Mrs. John Beams, Thursday.

Miss Ethel Baker received injuries last week, by stepping in a well pit at the home of Clyde Rectenwal's, accidentally. She has been confined to her home for the past week.

Send in your news.

Old papers at News office.

Lloyd Wade and wife were guests of the formers parents Sunday.

Frank Wornet of Huntertown, visited Mr. and Mrs. Gloyd, last week.

Argyl Beame was the guest of friends at Harlan last Thursday.

Mrs. Allen and Fern Wearley are at Wayne, this week, attending the millinery opening.

Ford Kensinger was the guest of relatives here Saturday and Sunday. He is in the vicinity of Huntertown.

The K. of P's. celebrated their anniversary last Friday evening. Apples and cigars were passed. Daniel Bair of Findley, Ohio was present.

Mrs. Geo. Beams returned from Hicksville, last week, where she has been taking treatment for her limb, and says that she has been benefited by it.

Messrs. Corma Kelley and Melvin Miller took a sleighing party to Hicksville on last Thursday evening. On the way home and while going through the river bridge both singletrees broke. About ten were reported to be in the party.

Burney Rhoads purchased a fine 3½ horse power New Way gasoline engine of Eugene Hubbard, of Butler, last week. He is intending to fix up a machine shop and will saw wood, grind feed, cut fodder, pump water and do all kinds of work with it.

The Cresent Male Quartette is now ready to fill all engagements. The quartette is composed of: C. E. Hull, second tenor; G. E. Cupp, first tenor; H. G. Hursh, first Base, and Orsin Spitler is the basso profundo. Give them a call.

Mrs. Kell Hart entertained at a three course dinner in honor of the 17th anniversary of the Misses Lena Coburn, Maude Platter and Bessie Hart. As they were George Washington girls, the parlors were tastefully decorated with potted plants and flags. Covers were laid for eight. The table decorations were the historical cherry tree and hatchet which lent much merriment for the occasion.

Our light is the Bystrom

I am exclusive agent for Dekalb and Allen County. We have them for the country home and business rooms. You can tell them any where by the soft white light they give.

GEORGE MILLIMAN.
AGENT.

Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Announcement.

Low Fares To Washington, D. C., account Presidential Inauguration Ceremonies Feb. 28 to March 3rd.

Low Rates to Pittsburgh Pa., account Ninth Annual Bowling Tournament. Feb. 28th., March 8th. and 15th.

Very Low Colonist Fare to points in the west, northwest and southwest, Canada and Mexico March 1 to April 30.

Consult nearest B. & O. agent for particulars.

Frank Fitch of Newville was the guest of George Gloyd and family Sunday.

Wm. Moore attended the G. M. Moore sale at Mooresville last Wednesday.

Ed Cupp and Will Benninghoff are contemplating going to Kansas, near Topeka.

Clarence Gloyd spent the past week with his sister, Mrs. Ethel Badiac, of Huntertown.

George Henderson was at Ft. Wayne last Wednesday and during his absence Raymond Rhoads was carrier on the route.

The Grammer Room was entertained at the home of George Hart on last Thursday evening for study. W. W. Fisher is teacher.

Remember next Saturday is the day Erick & Co. give away $15.00. This is a good week to buy goods and get tickets.

Martin Keesler and Beams are new subscribers to The News. Who will be next to become a member of our large family of readers.

The K. of P. lodge was well represented at St. Joe last Wednesday evening. Those present were the Messrs Henry Dove, Ed and Henry Beams. W. P. Steward, W. W. Fisher, Frank Lake, Arthur Steward, Arthur Geisenlighter and Gus Cupp.

Mr. and Mrs. Jno. Benninghoff entertained a sleighing party at their home on last Thursday evening. The following were present: Mr and Mrs. Frank Rhoades, Mr. and Mrs. Greely Wearley, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lake, Mrs. Dr. Shook and Miss Inez Rhoads. All reported a good time.

W. W. Fisher was at Ft. Wayne on business, Saturday.

Addison Kline was at Ft. Wayne on business, Thursday.

Mrs. John Hobaugh has been on the sick list for sometime.

Merritt Sechler of St. Joe, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Pervines, Sunday.

Mrs. Porter Baker went to Wabash, Saturday evening, where she will visit relatives about a month.

Mrs. Dr. Shook and Miss Mary Comesky visited Mrs. Mary Moudy of Robison Chapel, Thursday.

Saturday in town is the largest day of the week. On last Saturday hitching room was not easy found.

Do not fail to have your tickets at Erick & Co's., store on next Saturday at 3 P. M. Standard time. You may be the lucky person and get $10, $3, or $2.

On account of the disagreeable weather, Stewards' saw mill has not been running for some time.

Rev. Harshman of Wittenberg College delivered a sermon to a well filled house on last Sunday at 2:30 p. m. He met with the satisfaction of the people.

The revival meetings closed on last Saturday evening at the M. E. church without any definite or successful results. The series of meetings which lasted three weeks was hindered by bad weather which probably was a reason for non-success. Rev. Sweeney, the pastor, extends thanks to all those who rendered assistance.

Minerva Keesler is on the sick list this week.

George Gelhausen of Garrett visited relatives here over Sunday.

Emma Woodcox of Garrett was the guest of Sam Stewards last week.

Mrs. Frank Klopfenstein and daughter of Leo spent Sunday at the home of Abe Furnish.

Mrs. Mariah Oberholtzer and Mrs. Samuel Steward visited relatives at St. Joe Thursday.

Mrs. D. J. Baker of St. Joe and Mrs. Chas. Bishop of Reading, Mich., were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Bowman Thursday.

John A. Provines, Jr., who has charge of a drug store at Covington, Indiana returned home for a short visit over Sunday.

The Y. P. S. C. E. topic for next Sunday evening is Home Missions "Present Day Pioneers." All are invited to be present.

The Lutheran Sunday School had choir practice at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Horn last Wednesday. Two sled loads were present and all had a good time.

Mrs. Dean Metcalf, who recently came from Milwaukee to visit with friends and relatives, is confined to the house with tonsilitis at the home of D. D. Metcalf.

Mr. Lewis Beery was at New Haven on business Saturday.

Merritt Butler has established a cement block factory in the basement of Erick & Co's, store, which is now in operation. He is making blocks for the new hardware store.

Dr. Kimes, slipped and fell during the rainy, icy weather on Thursday of last week and threw his ankle out of joint. He put the dislocated joint in place without any aid.

We are Giving

you an opportunity to purchase good dependable winter goods at our store at very low prices. Bargains everywhere. Come in and see what we have.

Beams & Co.

Fancy dishes at a great reduction in price.
Don't forget this means a great saving for you

Sale Lasts until
Monday, March 1st., 09

Don't gorget the 2½ % discount on cash register tickets. All accounts must be settled not later than the thirteenth of February.

DON'T

Neglect A Cough

It may be the cause of Pneumonia

Bowman's Cough Medicine.
Every bottle Guaranteed.
—AT—
BOWMAN'S

The Wonder of the World.
The Greatest Invention that was Ever made by Mankind that would Benefit the Public in General at a very SMALL COST.

THE KING BALL BEARING SEPARATOR

a Perfect Machine that will Seperate Butter from Sweet Milk or Cream.

Guaranteed by the company to separate better butter from sweet milk or cream than any churn will make from sour cream. Ball bearings throughout noiseless and faultless, and easy to operate. The only perfect aerator and butter separator in the world. Quickest and easiest butter maker on earth. An entirely new and scientific principle in butter making, granulated butter, perfect grain, casein all removed, keeping quality retained. Makes granulated butter from milk or cream, sweet or sour. Less than THREE MINUTES time required to complete the operation.

These machines are now on exhibition and for sale at

Bowser & Gloyd's Implement Store,
SPENCERVILLE, INDIANA.

As Mr. Bowser has secured the agency for these machines in this part of the state, and has his other business to attend to he will not make a canvas on these machines at present as the company is thousands of orders behind. The machines cannot be got very rapidly. These machines can be bought here at our store at almost the actual cost of manufacturing them for about ninety days in order to introduce them in this part of the state of Indiana. These machines are made in three sizes No. 1—2—3 or 3—5—8 gallon sizes. Ball Bearing, all castings are malleable iron instead of cast. These machines can be bought at the low price of $6, $8 and $10 while they are being introduced.

A LETTER

Kind Friend and Patron:—

The mission of this letter is to announce that I have purchased the A. F. Heyman lumber yard of this place. Please accept this with my compliments and best wishes and in the hope that you will find it useful and of service to you financially as well as to myself. If I have been getting your business I thank you and trust you will keep it coming it is appreciated and I will endeavor to be deserving of it. It has always been one of my cardinal principles, that success, in business can only be obtained by giving good goods, prompt service and courteous treatment. I place myself in the position of the other fellow and try to look at matters from his point of view, therefore I give all that and devote all my efforts and energies to serve my customers so they will feel like coming again. I am in a position to furnish anything in the line of building material such as hard and soft pine, poplar, domestic timber, doors, windows, sash, glass, locks and hinges, also, all kinds of moulding used in building, shingles, roofing slate, roofing felt, and composition roofing, galvanized ridge irons and valleys, cement plasters, Royal & American wire fence, barb wire, smooth wire, wire nails of all kinds, hard and soft coal, and if I have not in stock in building material that which you want I can get it for you, and my prices will be right according to grades. Thanking you for past favors and soliciting your future patronage I remain,

Yours Truly,
L. W. Steward.

W. M. ALLEN

Barber.

I wish to inform my patrons that I am now able to commence my work as barber and solicit your patronage in my line of work. We are here for your work and guarantee to do it in first class.

Notary Public

I am also in a position to do your Notary work and make a specialty of writing deeds and mortgages.

PATENTS

and TRADE-MARKS promptly obtained in all countries, or no fee. We obtain PATENTS THAT PAY, advertise them thoroughly, at our expense, and help you to success.

Send model, photo or sketch for FREE report on patentability. 30 years' practice. SURPASSING REFERENCES. For free Guide Books on Profitable Patents Write to

802-806 Seventh Street, WASHINGTON, D. C.

D. SWIFT & Co.

J D Fetters

TRUSTEE
of Concord Township.

OFFICE DAY:
THURSDAY OF EACH WEEK
at his farm residence One mile
EAST OF CONCORD.

S. S. Kimes

—M. D.—

Having located in the Markle building, is now ready to answer all calls, day or night. He invites you to call at the office and is ready to extend you every courtesy in keeping with the profession.

Phone No. 10,
Spencerville, Ind.

Settlement Notice.

All accounts and notes made before January 1, 1909 must be closed up at once All those not satisfactory settled before March 1, 1909 will be turned over for collection. Remember this is the last call as I will leave the same for collection without further notice.

JACK BEAMS
HARDWARE
Spencerville, Indiana.

FEBRUARY

0511

L 903

BACKACHE,

Sideache, Headache, and a Worn-out Feeling May all come from Constipation.

Lane's Family Medicine

(called also Lane's Tea)

is a herb Tonic-Laxative and will cure constipation and the ills that come from it.

It is a great blood medicine and one of the best for all stomach, kidney and bowel complaints.

All druggists, 25 and 50 cts.

Appreciative.

A Scottish parson, still on the under side of 40, was driving home from an outlying hamlet when he overtook a young woman. He recognized her as the maid of all work at a farm which he would pass, so he pulled up and offered her a lift. Mary gladly accepted his offer and then chatted pleasantly all the way to the farm gate.

"Thank you, sir," she said as she got down.

"Don't mention it, Mary. Don't mention it," he told her, politely.

"No, I won't," Mary obligingly assured him.

MUST BELIEVE IT.

Every Reader Will Concede the Truth of This Statement.

One who suffers with backache or any form of kidney trouble wants a lasting cure, not merely a temporary benefit. Profit by the example of Rev. J. M. Suffield, of 2179 S. 8th St., Lincoln, Nebr., who confirms a report of his cure after several years. "I told in a statement made for publication in 1900 how Doan's Kidney Pills had relieved me after other remedies had failed," said Rev. Suffield. "I have no hesitation in confirming that statement now. I have used Doan's Kidney Pills at various times and they have never failed me."

Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Illuminating New York.

It took 33,000,000,000 cubic feet of gas to light New York during the last twelve months to say nothing of electricity, kerosene, and candles. The gas passed through 1,086,026 meters, and the electricity through 108,239 meters. For the latter there were 84,474 consumers, and for gas 997,752 consumers. If all the gas was stored in a pipe one foot square in cross section the pipe would go 248,000 times around the world. The meters set side by side would reach from New York City to Washington.

Only One "BROMO QUININE"

That is LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE. Look for the signature of E. W. GROVE. Used the World over to Cure a Cold in One Day. 25c.

Why They Wanted George.

The young wife answered the phone.

"That's another call for George," she said to her mother. "Somebody wants him to come somewhere and play bridge. It's the third invitation he's had this evening."

"That would seem to indicate," said the mother, "that George is very popular."

The young wife sniffed.

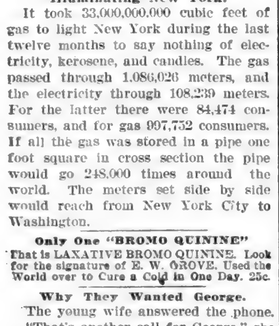
"It unquestionably indicates," she said, "that George is an easy loser."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

No harmful drugs in Garfield Tea. Nature's laxative—it is composed wholly of clean, sweet, health-giving Herbs! For constipation, liver and kidney troubles.

An Obedient Tiger.

"How entire," remarks the London Globe, "is the confidence of the native East Indian in the government may be gathered from the following anecdote, which comes from Lahore: "A tiger had escaped from the zoological gardens, and its keeper, hoping to lure it back, followed it. When all other inducements had failed, he lifted up his voice and solemnly adjured it in the name of the British government, to which it belonged, to come back to its cage. The tiger, it is needless to add, obeyed at once."

An ordinary locomotive is composed of nearly 5,500 pieces.



Smiles of The Day

Postgraduate Course.

"The proper study of mankind is man," quoted the moralizer.

"It is until he gets married," rejoined the demoralizer; "then he takes a post-graduate course on the art of supporting a wife."

About the Size of It.

"There are two sides to every story, you know," remarked the moralizer.

"Yes," rejoined the demoralizer, "unless it's a family row; then there are at least half a dozen sides to it."

Nothing Wrong with His Memory.

Wife (who is trying to remind her husband of their wedding anniversary)—Dear, do you know what to-day is?

Husband—Sure; it's Tuesday. Also it's the day I'm to fire the chauffeur, attend my bankruptcy hearing, and go to the chiropodist's. Oh, I know what day it is, all right.

Same Old Exception.

Singleton—Does your wife ever acknowledge your superiority?

Wedderly—Only when she has a lead pencil that requires sharpening.

Just So.

Fred—There goes a trim little lady!

Joe—Naturally. She's a milliner.

Natural Deduction.

Tom—Fred has become quite a cynic.

Jack—So? I wonder who the girl is.

Not on the Defensive.

"Why," asked the person of influence, "are you so anxious to go into the secret service instead of making a political career for yourself?"

"Because," answered the young man, "I am convinced that it is better to pursue some other man's past than to possess one of your own."—Washington Star.

Accounting for His.

Bill—They say the last figures obtainable show that the per capita wealth of this country is $1,310.11.

Jill—Well, somebody's got my $1,310. I've got the 11 cents.—Yonkers Statesman.

Rather Slow.

"She is receiving attentions from a young lawyer and also from a young doctor."

"Which is ahead?"

"They're both somewhat backward. The lawyer asks merely hypothecal questions and the doctor only seems to hold her hand to take her pulse."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

A Harmless Fad.

"I suppose in these ragtime days you sell very little classical music?"

"More than you would imagine," answered the music dealer. "Almost everybody buys a few pieces to place on the piano when high-brow company calls."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Lucky Youth.

Diggs—Lucky fellow, that young Green. He went West last spring, you know.

Biggs—Did he do well out there?

Diggs—I should say so. Why, he was able to get back without writing home for money.

From Bad to Worse.

Tomdix—They say old Gotrox had a lot of trouble getting that homely daughter of his off his hands.

Hojax—Yes; but his troubles are even greater now.

Tomdix—How is that?

Hojax—He has to keep that homely daughter's husband on his feet.

A True Daughter of Eve.

"I have been in every civilized country on earth," said the globe trotter, "and, would you believe it, I have met only two really intelligent women."

"Two!" echoed the beautiful widow in surprise. "Why, who was the other?"

THE EPIDEMIC.

Parson—Sorry to see you send your little boy to the Wesleyan Sunday school, Mrs. Dibbs. Since those people opened that new hall there's been a perfect epidemic of heterodoxy in the parish.

Mrs. D.—Lor', sir, I do 'ope our Willy ain't caught it, for, to be sure, 'e 'ave come out all over spots and blotches.—London Opinion.

The Cut Courteous.

Dr. Oldstyle—I went out sleighing this morning——

Miss Pert—Dear me, doctor, I thought you did that every day.—Baltimore American.

Not Flattery.

"I wonder why you love me, dear?"

"That's strange. I've asked myself the some question a thousand times."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Hard Work.

Bacon—They say coaling at sea is quite a problem.

Egbert—Well, I've found coaling quite a problem without going to sea.

The Evening Party.

Old Gentleman (who feels cold)—How shall I stir the fire without interrupting the music?

Wag—Oh, between the bars, of course.—London Telegraph.

His Reason.

Waiters—Why don't you shave off that beard?

Williams—I am afraid I might want to grow it again. That will mean going down in the Maine woods for three months, and I can't spare the time.—Yonkers Statesman.

A Sign of Improvement.

"So your daughter is improving in her piano playing?"

"Yes," answered Mr. Cumrox.

"You enjoy it?"

"No. But it doesn't make me as nervous as it used to."—Washington Star.

Proof.

Mrs. Bacon—My husband is always on the wrong side of a question.

Mrs. Egbert—How do you know?

"Because he never agrees with me!"—Yonkers Statesman.

Was Hereditary.

Dix—From whom does she get her lovely complexion?

Nix—Her father, I believe.

Dix—Is he a druggist?

A Hot One.

Mrs. Jones—Did any of the workmen escape with his life?

Jones—Well, I don' think any one escaped without his life.

Very Likely.

The Naturalist—The horse is man's best friend.

The Sport—I guess you never bet on a horse that came in last in a race.

In the Wrong Place.

"Do you administer free gas here?" asked the stranger as he entered the dental parlor.

"No, sir," answered the attendant. "You are in the wrong place. The barber shop is next door."

The Usual Way.

"I bought a perfect dream of a dress to-day."

"Isn't that lovely."

"Yes, but I'm certain that I'm not going to like it when I get it home."—Detroit Free Press.

A Question.

Tommy—Grandpa, is the world round?

Grandpa—Yes.

Tommy—Then, how can it ever come to an end?

THE POPULAR PULPIT

REWARDS.

By Henry F. Cope.

"Establish thou the work of our hands."—Ps. xc., 17.

In hours of discouragement we are likely to remember that many great ones reviewing life have expressed little but disappointment, and have declared its rewards only illusory phantoms. We are likely to agree, for the success on which we set our hearts often, when attained, turns to bitterness.

Does life hold any trustworthy promise of worthy reward? Is it worth the strife? If it be true that at the end of every stage there waits for us only an empty, mocking prize, if happiness be ever a receding rainbow, where when the motive of rewards is gone can we find that which will hold life true to things high and nerve it for the best?

May it not be that we are making a great mistake in looking for our rewards at the end of our work; in thinking of life's rewards as if they were wages? The best rewards are not in the things to be attained; they are in the attaining. Joy is not a distant mountain peak; joy is the light and warmth within the breast of every man who climbs upward.

We wear our lives away in fretful seeking after things afar, in ambitious strivings after fame, power, and wealth. So life comes to its end with the heart still hungry for the eternal bread and the waters of life. We have fought for baubles along a way where that water ever flows and that bread is to be had for the asking.

Not in our wages, not in our prizes, but in our work lie our true rewards. The greatest happiness for any true man is to have something worth while to do, some part to play in the world's business, some task that calls out the deepest in him and nerves all his powers; something high and great; here is the real joy of living and its true satisfaction, just to be working worthily.

The expenditure of energy brings its own reward in increased vigor and in disciplined powers. No matter what else he makes the worker is making himself. In the great workshops of the eternal, of which all our factories and mills are but tiny corners, no man has to wait for his wage nor can any get more or less than his due.

Only minds that drivel into twaddle tell us, when we are weary with the work of to-day: "Never mind, you'll get your reward in heaven." Eternal justice does not so defer the pay day; all worthy work here is rewarded in the joy of doing, in the glory of the work, in the great happiness of service, in sharing in the work of the most high. Heaven opens to labor now.

Of course this does not eliminate the pay envelope; but it does subordinate it, making it a means only for further living and working, and not an end. It is a sad sight, prophetic only of a disappointed life, whenever you see a man regarding his trading, his business, or his toil as something only to be endured for what he can make out of it.

This marks the difference between the artist and the artisan; the one finds his joy in his work, the other his pleasure only in his pay. You cannot hire mothers; no wage ever could be worthy; but love transforms drudgery into delight; the service and sacrifice bring their own satisfaction. Greed and low aim would spoil an angel's task; love and a sense of high service will make the lowliest lofty in spirit and reward.

Any man may take life in this way; he may take the artist's relation to the work of his hands though he be a teamster or a bookkeeper, doing the work for its own sake. Then no matter how the back may be bent the free heart cannot be bowed down; no matter what the tasks the man is not a slave driven to them, he is a man using them.

Life only becomes worth living as one has a sense of entering into the higher values of its service, a sense of doing part of the work of God and man through all eternity. We mortals are making the worlds. That spirit gives quality and permanency to any task or product. The wall you build may crumble to dust, but the honor, and truth, and idealism you put into it remain forever, and are built into that city whose maker and builder is God.

WAY OF UNGODLY DEFINED.

By Rev. Cyrus Townsend Brady.

Blessed is the man that walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly, nor standeth in the way of sinners, nor sitteth in the seat of the scornful.—Psalm 1:1.

The book of Psalms begins appropriate enough with a description of the wicked set before us by a method of exclusions. We read the first verse and are struck by its wisdom and its rhythm. But not until we investigate it a little more critically do we see its interesting force and observe at the same time the literary skill with which the conditions against which all that follows in the Psalter declaims is presented.

The man who is not blessed is depicted first of all as the ungodly man. There are many men who are or profess to be ungodly—that is, men who have left the divine out of the reckoning, who persistently deny God and shape their lives upon some ethic system, which they fail to recognize as distinctly traceable to, and in so far as it is good, derived from Christianity. Some men in this category are upright, honorable—I had almost said God-fearing—citizens. Most men who thus deny God, who put Him outside of their calculations, are not.

The next step downward is easily taken. The man who is not blessed is next described by the Psalmist as a sinner. The transmission is natural and easy. To deny God is usually to disobey His laws, and that is to commit sin.

The third characteristic of the man who is not blessed is that he is scornful. There are many sinners who are ashamed of their sin, but when a man descends to such a depth that he glories in his wickedness and becomes a mocker and blasphemer, outwardly contemptuous of religion, he has almost reached the unpardonable nadir of degeneration. The insight, therefore, of the Psalmist is seen in this descending scale of moral depravity—ungodliness, wickedness, contempt.

But that is not all that is remarkable in the verse. Quite wonderful is the skill of the writer, for he has paralleled the personal scale with one of habit. The ungodly man is one who walketh; the sinner is one who standeth; the scorner is one who sits down.

How many people when they are strong come in touch with temptation, walk by it, pass it, repass it, are fascinated by it. Presently they stand still by it, and the touch becomes longer and more continuous, until finally they take the abiding attitude and sit down with it, live with it, become a part of it. How amazing is this verse. The man who denies God walks in the way of moral failure. When his denial plunges him into sin he stands in close touch with it, and when he has stood long enough he sits down and becomes a mocker and a scorner. He adds the potent power of his tongue to the subtle influence of his life in debauching his fellow men.

May God give to each one of us the answer to the Psalmist's prayer by blessing us because we are none of these things.

SERMONETTES.

There is no loyalty without love.

A soft answer never has a sting in it.

Self-esteem does not develop self-reliance.

Courage is simply the conquest of our fears.

Professional spectators get least fun out of life.

Knowledge is power only so far as it is practiced.

Kicking ceases to help when it becomes a habit.

Love's sacrifices are life's most satisfying luxuries.

Self-depreciation soon ceases if it be not contradicted.

You can complete a good work, but you can never end it.

No man bears his burden better by adding your blame to it.

Conscience is simply our sense of moral social responsibility.

If you do not know how to let up you do not know how to live.

The far off vision comes half way to those who follow it faithfully.

New thought is like new coin, the brass seems as good as the gold.

Life is pretty sure to be tragedy to those who take it only as a play.

The greatest sins are the ones committed against the least of the children.

Many a man thinks he is a great force because he creates so much friction.

It's a poor kind of faith that never feels its need of a father until it gets dark.

The proof of an education lies in a mind so tilled that prejudices gain no root.

The man who thinks he is generous to a fault is often generous only to his own.

It takes more than "Keep off the grass" signs to mark the path of righteousness.

The greatest wonder in the character of the angels is that they endure all the saints.

All men would try to be meek if they were dead sure of the promise to the meek.

It's often our failings that hold our friends, but we do not need to multiply such anchors.

Some folks always sing, "O to be nothing" before they sing, "Here, Lord, I give myself away."

CUTICURA COMFORT

FOR LITTLE FAT FOLKS

Most grateful and comforting is a warm bath with Cuticura Soap and gentle anointings with Cuticura. This pure, sweet, economical treatment brings immediate relief and refreshing sleep to skin-tortured and disfigured little ones and rest to tired, fretted mothers. For eczemas, rashes, itchings, irritations and chafings, Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment are worth their weight in gold.

Sold throughout the world. Depots: London, 27, Charterhouse sq.; Paris, 5, Rue de la Paix; Australia, R. Towns & Co., Sydney; India, B. K. Paul, Calcutta; China, Hong Kong Drug Co.; Japan, Maruya, Ltd., Tokio; Russia, Ferrein, Moscow; So. Africa, Lennon, Ltd., Cape Town, etc.; U. S. A., Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston

FASHION HINTS

This design would be very good for one of the rough weaves of silk—something with body enough for a street suit. The yoke and sleeves may be of net or chiffon, preferably in a shade to match the silk.

The small flower-hat is to be one of the early favorites this spring.

Inside Information.

"Did you notice that handsome lady who just went out?" queried the book seller.

"Yes," replied the man in front of the counter. "What about her?"

"She has a very interesting history," said the literary salesman.

"How do you know?" asked the other.

"Because I sold it to her a few minutes before you came in," replied the other, as he indulged in an open-faced grin.

Every Woman Will Be Interested.

There has recently been discovered an aromatic, pleasant herb cure for woman's ills, called Mother Gray's AUSTRALIAN-LEAF. It is the only certain regulator. Cures female weaknesses and Backache, Kidney, Bladder and Urinary troubles. At all Druggists or by mail 50 cts. Sample FREE. Address, The Mother Gray Co., LeRoy, N. Y.

In Colombia rice is served twice a day at the tables of the rich as well as the poor.

For Irritation of the Throat, Coughs or Hoarseness, Brown's Bronchial Troches are exceedingly beneficial. In boxes 25 cents. Samples mailed free. John I. Brown & Son, Boston, Mass.

Australia exports 24,000,000 rabbit skins a year. To kill this great number costs about $325,000.

Clear, white clothes are a sign that the housekeeper uses Red Cross Ball Blue. Large 2oz. package, 5 cents.

Arabian women have their faces, hands, arms and ankles tattooed with crosses, crescents, etc.

Red, Weak, Weary, Watery Eyes

Relieved by Murine Eye Remedy. Compounded by Experienced Physicians. Conforms to Pure Food and Drug Laws. Murine Doesn't Smart: Soothes Eye Pain. Try Murine in Your Eyes. Ask Your Druggist.

The number of marriages in the German Empire in 1905 was 485,906.

FEBRUARY

0512

L 903

Facts For Sick Women

We know of no other medicine which has been so successful in relieving the suffering of women, or secured so many genuine testimonials, as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

In almost every community you will find women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Almost every woman you meet has either been benefited by it, or knows some one who has.

In the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., are files containing over one million one hundred thousand letters from women seeking health, in which many openly state over their own signatures that they have regained their health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has saved many women from surgical operations.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is made exclusively from roots and herbs, and is perfectly harmless.

The reason why it is so successful is because it contains ingredients which act directly upon the female organism, restoring it to healthy and normal activity.

Thousands of unsolicited and genuine testimonials such as the following prove the efficiency of this simple remedy.

Minneapolis, Minn.:—"I was a great sufferer from female troubles which caused a weakness and broken down condition of the system. I read so much of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for other suffering women, I felt sure it would help me, and I must say it did help me wonderfully. Within three months I was a perfectly well woman.

"I want this letter made public to show the benefits to be derived from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. John G. Moldan, 2115 Second St. North, Minneapolis, Minn.

Women who are suffering from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of these facts or doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

For DISTEMPER Pink Eye, Epizootic, Shipping Fever and Catarrhal Fever

Sure cure and positive preventive, no matter how horses at any age are infected or "exposed." Liquid, given on the tongue, acts on the Blood and Glands; expels the poisonous germs from the body. Cures Distemper in Dogs and Sheep and Cholera in Poultry. Largest selling live stock remedy. Cures La Grippe among human beings and is a fine Kidney remedy. 50c and $1 a bottle; $5 and $10 a dozen. Cut this out. Show it to your druggist, who will get it for you. Free Booklet, "Distemper, Causes and Cures." Special agents wanted.

Spohn Medical Co. "Chemists and Bacteriologists" Goshen, Ind., U. S. A.

160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

45 to 50 Bushels of Wheat per Acre

have been grown on Farm Lands in

WESTERN CANADA

Much less would be satisfactory. The general average is above 20 bushels

"All are loud in their praises of the great crops and that wonderful country."—Extract from correspondence National Editorial Association of August, 1908.

It is now possible to secure a Homestead of 160 acres free and another 160 acres at $3.00 per acre.

Hundreds have paid the cost of their farms (if purchased) and their land a balance of from $10.00 to $22.00 per acre from one crop.

Wheat, Barley, Oats, Flax—all do well. Mixed Farming is a great success and Dairying is highly profitable.

Excellent Climate, splendid Schools and Churches. Railways bring most every district within easy reach of market.

Railway and Land Companies have lands for sale at low prices and on easy terms.

"Last Best West" Pamphlets and maps sent free. For these and information as to how to secure lowest Railway Rates apply to W. D. Scott, Superintendent of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or W. H. Rogers, 3d Floor Traction Terminal Building, Indianapolis, Ind., and H. M. Williams, Room 20, Law Building, Toledo, Ohio, Authorized Government Agents.

Please say where you saw this advertisement.

A Big Garden for 16c

Everybody loves earliest vegetables and brilliant flowers. Therefore to gain you as a customer we offer:

1000	bushels	Fine Onion Seed.
2000	"	Rich Carrot Seed.
1000	"	Celery, 100 Parsley.
1000	"	Juicy Radish Seed.
1500	"	Buttery Lettuce Seed.
1500	"	Tender Turnip Seed.
1500	"	Sweet Rutabaga Seed.
100	"	Melons, 100 Tomato.
1200		Brilliant Flowering Annuals.

In all 10,000 bushels of warranted northern grown seeds, well worth $1.00 of any man's money (including Big Catalog) all post paid for but 16c in stamps. Above seeds will easily produce $50.00 worth of rich vegetables and beautiful flowers. And if you send 20c we add a package of Earliest Peep O'Day Sweet Corn.

SALZER'S SEED AND PLANT CATALOG

Most original seed book ever published. Brim full of bristling seed thoughts. Gladly mailed to all intending buyers free; write today.

John A. Salzer Seed Co.

Box C. N. La Crosse, Wis.

Men wanted immediately by large Mail Order House to distribute catalogues, $4 per day; will contract with parties furnishing satisfactory references. Address Manager, 329 Schofield Bldg., Cleveland, Ohio.

FOR SALE—Michigan Farms; All sizes; Southern and Central Michigan. Write for list and terms. Eldo Murray & Co., Charlotte, Mich.

PISO'S

CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS

Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.

CURE

Paxtine

TOILET ANTISEPTIC

Keeps the breath, teeth, mouth and body antiseptically clean and free from unhealthy germ-life and disagreeable odors, which water, soap and tooth preparations alone cannot do. A germicidal, disinfecting and deodorizing toilet requisite of exceptional excellence and economy. Invaluable for inflamed eyes, throat and nasal and uterine catarrh. At drug and toilet stores, 50 cents, or by mail postpaid.

Large Trial Sample

WITH "HEALTH AND BEAUTY" BOOK SENT FREE

THE PAXTON TOILET CO., Boston, Mass.

Let us do your Printing using

Eagle Linen

for your office stationery. You can get the paper and envelopes to match.

It is the real thing. Take no other.

Is Your Health Worth 10c?

That's what it costs to get a—week's treatment—of CASCARETS. They do more for you than any medicine on Earth. Sickness generally shows and starts first in the Bowels and Liver; CASCARETS cure these ills. It's so easy to try—why not start tonight and have help in the morning?

CASCARETS 10c a box for a week's treatment, all druggists. Biggest seller in the world. Million boxes a month.

GOOD SEEDS

BEST IN THE WORLD

PRICED BELOW ALL OTHERS

I give a lot of new sorts for trial with every order I fill. A Grand Big Catalog illustrated with over 700 engravings of vegetables and flowers. Send yours and your neighbors' addresses. FREE

R. H. SHUMWAY, Rockford, Ill.

Indiana State News

THREE GARY MEN SHOT.

One Is Dead and Another Will Die as Result of Two Fights.

Three men were shot at Gary, on a recent night. One is dead and another will die. Michael Cigaritz, a Servian boarding house boss, attempted to collect money for beer which he had sold to Daniel Voconavich and Joseph Cigaritz, his brother. Trouble ensued over the amount and Michael Cigaritz drew a revolver and shot Voconavich in the stomach. He then went for a rifle, returned and shot his brother in the groin. Cigaritz was struck over the head with a chair and received a gash in his head, but made his escape. Later when Policeman Wm. Marquardt was attempting to stop a disturbance two men threw him to the ground and struck him several times over the head. He drew his revolver and shot Charles Fisher twice. The other man escaped. Fisher died a short time afterward.

CAUSE OF SCHOOL FIRES.

Mops Saturated with Oil Suddenly Break Into Flames.

John H. Bryan, principal of the ward schools of Marion, presented at a meeting of school principals, the results of some interesting experiments he has made relative to spontaneous combustion. Twice this winter mops used in oiling the floor by the janitor in Mr. Bryan's building have been found burned to ashes, and each time the building had a close call from fire. After this experience Mr. Bryan saturated mops with oil and hung them where there was no danger of burning the building. A mop saturated with oil at 5 in the evening was found to be very warm by 7 the next morning, and, in one instance, Mr. Bryan watched a mop until it burst into flames. Mr. Bryan believes that he has probably solved the mystery of the Collingwood school fire near Cleveland, Ohio, some time ago.

ONE DAY FOR EACH PENNY.

Steals Sixty-Cent Bale of Hay—Gets Sixty-Day Sentence.

Riley Jones, of Brown Township, after a trial in the Circuit Court in Greenfield, was fined $1 and sent to jail for sixty days. He stole a bale of hay valued at 60 cents from George T. Johnson, a farmer. This punishment is a day in jail for each penny. Johns did not deny the theft, but the morning after he took it he went to the owner and offered to pay him. He is a one-armed man, with a wife and three small children.

KILLS SELF FOR SCHOOL GIRL.

Wealthy Farmer Is Refused When He Asked for Her Hand.

Elmer Goldsmith, a wealthy farmer living at St. Joseph, ended his life by taking carbolic acid. It is said that the man was desperately in love with a 17-year-old schoolgirl, and that he met her after school one day and asked her to marry him, and, upon her refusal, he went home and killed himself.

Three Brothers Are Injured.

John, Edward and George McLain, brothers, of Chesterton, and all married, were injured by falling with a scaffold in the billet mill of the Indiana steel works in Gary. John's backbone was broken and he was taken to the South Chicago hospital in a dying condition. George sustained three broken ribs, while Edward's injuries are slight.

Ablaze, Leaps Into Lake.

Reproached by his mother for drinking, Fred Roeper returned to his office on the harbor at Michigan City, and tried to build a fire in the stove with gasoline. An explosion followed and his clothes caught fire. Roeper jumped into the lake and was almost drowned. He is now under the care of physicians, with slight hopes for recovery.

Miner Killed in Fight.

At Jasper, Henry Schum is dead, Frank Drach's hand is broken and he and Frank Geghausen are under arrest. According to the story told of the trouble, Schum, who was a coal miner, came there Saturday to pay the other two men. It is said all were drunk and the trouble resulted.

Police Rescue Bridal Party.

When fifty fellow clerks in the Vandalia railroad auditor's office persisted in waiting for John E. Wilkins and bride to leave the parsonage, where they had been married in Terre Haute, police headquarters were telephoned and a squad sent to escort the couple to their new home.

Slays Wife with Knife.

In a quarrel which ended a birthday visit made by J. Oliver Bradley of Noblesville to Indianapolis, Bradley attacked his wife with a pocket knife, inflicting wounds in her neck which caused her death at the city hospital.

Woman Burned to Death.

Mrs. Mary A. Hartmann, aged 79, was burned to death in Evansville, her clothing being ignited while she was standing near a stove.

AMONG OUR NEIGHBORS.

Mrs. Ada Hastings, daughter of Henry Forbes, a well-to-do farmer, living north of Gwynneville, died as a result of taking poison with suicidal intent.

Burglars entered Grover Jones' clothing store in Shoals and took considerable clothing and shoes. They boarded a train about 1 o'clock in the morning. When they reached Washington they were captured by the police, "sweated" and finally told where they got the goods.

After deliberating eighteen hours, a Superior Court jury gave a verdict for $2,000 in favor of Mrs. Ella Boone, of Anderson, against the Wilkie Manufacturing Company. Mrs. Boone sued for $10,000 because her husband, John Boone, was killed on a line shaft in the factory about two years ago.

Always Keeps a Bottle in the House.

"About ten days before Christmas I got my hand hurt so badly that I had to stop work right in the busy time of the year," says Mr. Milton Wheeler, 2100 Morris ave., Birmingham, Ala. "At first I thought I would have to have my hand taken off, but someone told me to get a bottle of Sloan's Liniment and that would do the work. The Liniment cured my hand and I gladly recommend it to everyone."

Mr. J. E. Matthews, proprietor of St. James Hotel, Corning, Ark., says:—"My finger was greatly inflamed from a fish sting and doctors pronounced it blood poisoning. I used several applications of Sloan's Liniment and it cured me all right. I will always keep a bottle of Sloan's Liniment in my house."

Mr. J. P. Evans of Mt. Airy, Ga., says:—"After being afflicted for three years with rheumatism I used Sloan's Liniment, and was cured sound and well, and am glad to say I haven't been troubled with rheumatism since. My leg was badly swollen from my hip to my knee. One-half a bottle took the pain and swelling out."

It Sometimes Happens.

"He swore that life with her would be all sunshine."

"And shortly after they were married?"

"He gave a correct imitation of a man looking for a storm cellar."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

$33.00 Personally Conducted Excursions.

Colonists' one-way tickets, Chicago to the Pacific coast, via the Chicago, Union Pacific and Northwestern Line, are on sale daily during March and April at the rate of $33.00. Correspondingly low rates from all points. Double berth in tourist sleeping car only $7.00, through without change to San Francisco, Los Angeles and Portland. No extra charge on our personally conducted tours. Write for itinerary and full particulars to S. A. Hutchison, Manager Tourist Department, 212 Clark street, Chicago, Ill.

Information.

Tommy—Paw, when you say "it was done by Congress," is "by Congress" swearing?

Mr. Tucker—Not necessarily, my boy; but it often causes a lot of swearing.

When You Put on Heavy Stockings do your shoes pinch, and your feet swell and perspire? Sprinkle Allen's Foot-Ease into your shoes, and get instant relief. Best thing to use when wearing rubbers. Try it for Dancing Parties and Breaking in New Shoes. Sold Everywhere, 25c. Sample FREE. Address, Allen S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y. Accept no substitute.

The secret of the glow-worm and firefly is yet unsolved by science. Their light is entirely unaccompanied by heat.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS

PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refunded. 50c.

A single Swedish city, Gothenburg, exported over 16,000,000 pounds of butter last year.

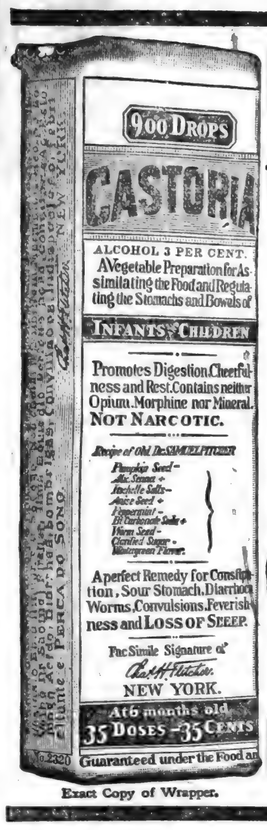
Do Your Clothes Look Yellow?

If so, use Red Cross Ball Blue. It will make them white as snow. Large 2oz. package, 5 cents.

Dr. Joseph Samde, the royal dentist to the Khedive of Egypt, studied surgery in Chicago for three years.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children teething; softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25 cents a bottle.

There is a daily average of one and one-half deaths in New York City chargeable to injuries inflicted by other persons.



Exact Copy of Wrapper.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over Thirty Years

CASTORIA

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

SALZER'S OATS

GERMANY, a country smaller than Texas, grows more oats than nearly the whole of Europe put together. Why? She has no better soil than any body else, but she sows only pedigree, big yielding varieties.

EMPEROR WILLIAM OATS.

Some years ago when in Germany, we picked up this remarkable oat in a rich side valley of the Rhine. Thousands of American farmers tried it last year and are loud and earnest in its praise. Trial package 5c.

REJUVENATED WHITE BONANZA OATS.

Salzer's White Bonanza Oats, 21 years ago, took the world's prize of $500.00 in gold for the heaviest yielding oat variety. (Our catalog tells the interesting story.) We have rejuvenated this oat and offer it again as something quite above the ordinary.

HEADQUARTERS FOR AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE SEED

such as Minnesota No. 2 and No. 23 Oats, Wisconsin Swedish Oats, Odenbrucker (Wis. No. 55), Minnesota No. 6 and No. 163 Barley, Minnesota No. 25 and North Dakota No. 135 Flax, Corn, Wheat, etc., etc.

We have by all odds the largest SEED POTATO trade in the world; one of our cellars alone holds 60,000 bushels!

BIG SEED, PLANT AND TOOL BOOK FREE.

We publish the most original seed catalog in America. It bristles with seed thoughts. Or, if you remit 10c in postage we will send you a remarkable lot of farm seed samples, including Billion Dollar Grass, the 12 ton Hay Wonder, Spelts, the 80 bu. cereal and hay prodigy, Silver King Barley, yielding 173 bu. per acre, together with clover, timothy, grasses, etc., etc., worth $10.00 of any man's money to get a start therewith.

Or remit 14c and we will add a package of a New Farm Seed Novelty never before seen by you.

JOHN A. SALZER SEED CO.

Box C. N. LA CROSSE, WIS.

GIRARD AIRSHIP BULLETIN—Send for copy. Tells the story of most fascinating enterprise ever undertaken in this age of dazzling achievements. Don't miss it. Box 3, Girard, Kans.

When writing to Advertisers please say you saw the Adv. in this paper.

THE VALUE OF PERSONAL KNOWLEDGE

Personal knowledge is the winning factor in the culminating contests of this competitive age and when of ample character it places its fortunate possessor in the front ranks of

The Well Informed of the World.

A vast fund of personal knowledge is really essential to the achievement of the highest excellence in any field of human effort.

A Knowledge of Forms, Knowledge of Functions and Knowledge of Products are all of the utmost value and in questions of life and health when a true and wholesome remedy is desired it should be remembered that Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., is an ethical product which has met with the approval of the most eminent physicians and gives universal satisfaction, because it is a remedy of Known Quality, Known Excellence and Known Component Parts and has won the valuable patronage of millions of the Well Informed of the world, who know of their own personal knowledge and from actual use that it is the first and best of family laxatives, for which no extravagant or unreasonable claims are made.

This valuable remedy has been long and favorably known under the name of—Syrup of Figs—and has attained to world-wide acceptance as the most excellent family laxative. As its pure laxative principles, obtained from Senna, are well known to physicians and the Well Informed of the world to be the best we have adopted the more elaborate name of—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—as more fully descriptive of the remedy, but doubtless it will always be called for by the shorter name of—Syrup of Figs—and to get its beneficial effects, always note, when purchasing, the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of every package, whether you call for—Syrup of Figs—or by the full name—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna.

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.

ADDRESSES SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., INCORPORATED

LOUISVILLE, KY. U. S. A. NEW YORK, N.Y.

LONDON, ENGLAND.

FEBRUARY

0513

L 903

CORRESPONDENCE

ITEMS FROM DIFFERENT LOCALITIES WRITTEN FOR THE NEWS

CONCORD

Rink Saturday night.

Old papers at News office.

Curie's up-to-date restaurant.

Dell Draggoo was at Ft. Wayne, Monday.

Winfield Berry's family arrived here Wednesday.

Harry Jones took his mother to Antwerp, Sunday.

Dan Morr and Howard Krise were at Butler on business, Thursday.

Eugene Carpers' spent Sunday with their daughter, Mrs. Merritt Baker.

Foraker Ferrell spent Saturday and Sunday with his uncle, Henry Baker.

Mrs. Mary Krise, Russel Poorman and Charles Morr are on the sick list.

James Ervin and daughters, Blanch and Ada, were at John Hulls', Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Wyatt were guests of relatives at Hicksville, Sunday.

Ray Hennegy and wife attended the funeral of their uncle at Auburn, Friday.

Merritt Baker, wife and son visited last Tuesday with their uncle, Henry Fulk.

Mr. Stooky, the sawmill man, of Hicksville was on our streets, Thursday.

Miss Bertha Reed of Auburn Junct. is spending a few days with friends here.

D. E Poorman was called to Hicksville to attend the funeral of his cousin.

Mrs. Emmet Shilling was called to Waterloo, Thursday, by the illness of her mother.

Laura Baker was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Roy Gibford near Rehobeth, last week.

Ruth Draggoo and Geraldine Rickett were guests of Mrs. Albert Shearer, Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Bert Jackson and Mrs. George Watson called on Mrs. Hattie Draggoo Wednesday afternoon.

Frank Baker, wife and two daughters were guests of Link Smiths', of Auburn Junction, Sunday.

The Misses Laura Baker, Florence and Ethel Snyder, Vera and Letha Coyle, Bertha Reed, Orpha Draggoo and Foraker Ferrell were guests Sunday afternoon of Sadie Draggoo and Walter Baker at the home of Henry Baker. The afternoon was spent with music and singing.

PATENTS

PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo. for expert search and free report. How to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc. IN ALL COUNTRIES. Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent. Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively. Write or come to us at 625 F Street, opp. United States Patent Office, WASHINGTON, D. C.

C. A. SNOW & CO.

Spencerville R F D No 2

Miss Pluma Kimes spent Sunday with Clara Keesler.

Dr. Miles Anti-Pain Pills—Not only stop the pain, but do it quickly.

Inez and Willie Rhoads took supper Sunday evening with Harvie Kimes'.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Davis spent one day last week, with Tony Snyders' at Harlan.

Zenith Wearley took supper with Miss Iva Zehner at Spencerville, Sunday evening.

Mr. Chas. Zimmerman/ from Burkank, Ohio, spent Sunday with his brother Wes and family.

Willie Stevens from the White Institution at Wabish, Ind. came last Wednesday, to make his home with Harvie Kimes Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Daub and son Clarence, and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Davis spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Waters of near Antwerp.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Davis entertained the following, last Thursday; Mrs. Miller and two daughters from Baily, Mich., and the Mesdames Waters, Frank Powell, James Powell and Lizzie Guston of Antwerp.

Soldier Balks Death Plot.

It seemed to J. A. Stone, a civil war veteran, of Kemp, Tex., that a plot existed between a desperate lung trouble and the grave to cause his death. "I contracted a stubborn cold," he writes, "that developed a cough that stuck to me, in spite of all remedies, for years. My weight ran down to 130 pounds. Then I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery, which restored my health completely. I now weigh 178 pounds." For severe Colds, obstinate Coughs, Hemorrhages, Asthma, and to prevent Pneumonia it's unrivaled. 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by H. Milliman.

Public Sale

The undersigned will sell at Public Auction at his residence, ¼ mile east and 2 mile north and ½ mile west of Grabill ½ mile south of Hursh town on Wednesday, March 17 at 10:00 o'clock the following: 1 roan mare, 10-yr. old weighing 1200 lbs., 1 gray horse, 16 yr. old weighing 1300 lbs., 1 dark bay driving horse 10 yr. old weighing 1000 lbs., 1 brood sow will farrow the middle of June, Scotch Colley dog, 35 chickens, 2 cows, one will be fresh 5th of April, coming 4 yr. old, the other will be fresh June 1st., coming 6-yr. old, set dump boards, Fish Bro. wagon good as new, complete, top buggy, breaking plow, cultivator, platform scales 600 lbs., iron kettle, doubletrees, singletrees, forks, cow chains, Keystone checkrow corn planter, some carpenter tools, set of double harness, set of single harness, tugs and hames, ly nets, hay in the mow, corn fodder in barn, good seed potatoes, 6 dining chairs, 2 rockers, heating stove, sewing machine, and other articles too numerous to mention. Lunch will be served by Chas. F. Kagey of St. Joe. Terms made known on day of sale.

HENRY SCHLATTER.

Granite Ware SALE.

You are invited to call and see the most complete line of Granite Ware at lowest prices ever shown in St. Joe.

Every Day Roaster

This is Made of the Guaranteed Oyrx Enamel

Size 6x12

ONLY 49C WORTH 75C

Don't forget when in St. Joe to call and see the greatest bargains in Granite Ware.

H. V. Kinsey & Son.

A Doctor's Medicine

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is not a simple cough syrup. It is a strong medicine, a doctor's medicine. It cures hard cases, severe and desperate cases, chronic cases of asthma, pleurisy, bronchitis, consumption. Ask your doctor about this.

"The best kind of a testimonial—" "Sold for over sixty years."

Made by J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass. Also manufacturers of

Ayer's SARSAPARILLA. PILLS. HAIR VIGOR.

We have no secrets! We publish the formulas of all our medicines.

You will hasten recovery by taking one of Ayer's Pills at bedtime.

NEWVILLE

Gene Webster is home from Montana.

Jude Bovlic is quite sick with the mumps.

Willis Magginis was home from Auburn over Sunday.

Manford Smith and wife of Hicksville were in town Sunday.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lenhart Saturday February 20, a boy.

D. J. Blair and family spent Sunday with Frank Akins and family.

There were twenty-seven bibles at the Christian Sunday School Sunday.

Mr. F. A. Thomas is moving to Hamilton, where he will preach the coming year.

George DeLong and wife took dinner with Mack Leighty and family Sunday.

Mrs. Loretta Smith who has been sick since October, is improving a very little.

Protracted meeting commenced Sunday night at the U. B. Church. Rev. Hibbs as pastor.

Mr. and Mrs. Orlie Woodring and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Tostison took dinner with Mrs. John Whitehurst Sunday.

SPENCERVILLE
R. F. D. No. 1.

Mrs. E. H. Horn is sick with dropsy.

Mr. Dwyers' were visitors of John Masons', Friday evening.

Myrtle Platter visited with her uncle, John Masons' over Sunday.

Miss Minnie Horn of Ft. Wayne, spent Sunday with relatives in this vicinity.

Ray Baker and wife of Waterloo, visited the latters parents, Vol Hay and family.

Dr. Shook has been making calls at Wm. H. Myers', several of the family are on the sick list.

Miss Zona Horn returned home from Ft. Wayne, Saturday evening. She intends to remain at home now.

Frank Horn, wife and daughter Venus, and Miss Hazel Greenwalt visited at Ezra Horns', Monday evening.

Among those that attended the meeting at Grabill, Sunday evening, were John Masons', Frank Horns', Clem Treeces' and Dix.

Local Items.

Bad roads.

F. A. Zeigler is in town.

H. M. Widney is moving to town, this week.

The high water shut the travel off yesterday on the east road, it being 3 feet deep.

Young ladies class of the M. P. Church will give a Musicale Friday evening March 19. Come.

On this page will be found two sale notices which will occur within a few days with J. L. Rhodenbaugh as the auctioneer. Nearly half of March is dated for Jim with prospects for sever more. Try him on your sale.

C. A. Franks five miles west of Hicksville and 4½ miles east of Spencerville will sell on Thursday March 4 at 10 a. m. the following: 1 gray gelding 4 years old weight 1900, 1 bay gelding 13-yrs. old weight 1300, 1 polled durham cow 5-yr. old fresh in March, 1 short horn Durham cow 6-yr. old fresh in March, 1 yearling heifer, 1 Galloway bull 6 months old, 9 shoats weighing about 50 pounds, 40 chickens, 4 good turkeys, 9 head of breeding ewes, 1 Jackson wagon good as new, single buggy, Piano mower 5 foot cut, hay rack, Harpoon hay fork with 100 foot of rope and pulleys, Oliver breaking plow No. 40s, 60 tooth steel harrow, 2-horse cultivator, 20-ft. ladder, set work harness, mud boat, 16-ft. hay ladder, good as new and other articles, 2 ton mixed hay, 6 ton timothy hay in mow.

Gents Entertain

Ladies of the L L C

Good Program

One of the most prominent social events of the season occured Wednesday evening, Feb. 17, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Sechler. When the husbands of the ladies of the L. L. C. royally entertained their wives and other invited guests. Promptly at 8 o'clock the guests arrived and were received by the host in charge. The rooms were tastefully decorated with cut flowers and festoons of hearts in the club colors. The husbands having arranged and prepared everything according to their own tastes and ideas. It is not to much to say that they proved themselves skilled amateurs and proficient adepts in culinary as well as literary work. The following program was carried out.

Welcome Address.....W. C. Patterson
Response.....Mrs. S. W. Tostlson
Music.....Miss Gladys Barney
Contest....Kitchen Pie in which Miss Avis Sechler won honors; the prize being a silver bell.
Reading Mammy's Way.....
.....Miss Helen Patterson
Contest...Study of the word dictionary Mrs. Jennie Sechler winning honors in this, which was a box of fine stationary.
Piano duett.....Misses Patterson and Barney.

The ladies were then asked to trace strings which were woven about the rooms in all directions at the end of which they would find their escort to the repast. They were then ushered upstairs where all participated in a Bal Game.

At the conclusion of which the ladies went in quest of their escorts and repaired to the rooms below, which had been transformed from a reception room into a banqueting hall, throughout the rooms tables were placed and covers laid for fourty-two guests. The tables were beautifully illuminated with candelabras; with red carnations as favors. Mr. D. J. Baker acted as toastmaster. His remarks were humorous and sparkled with wit.

The first course constisted of; Norwegian Pilchards, wafers, after which Mrs. Barney gave a toast. Subject, Roast, responded to by Mr. May. Subject, Woman. Second course; French sandwiches and chicken salad, olives, dill pickle, coffee. Toast, Eulogy on Man by Mrs. Curie; response, Woman's Sphere, C. A. Patterson. Third course; maple parfelt, marguerites, assorted cake. Toast, The Modern Sewing Circle by Prof. Ely.

Mrs. Benninghoff then gave a resume of the evening's program which will be given in a brief way as follows: We appreciate the Welcome but realize to night we are not the ruling power. The Response to the Welcome by our president warmly expresses our sentiments. The music was an inspiration; the reading a fine portrayal or a proud mother with a smart boy. Mrs. Barney was too severe. Like St. Peter at the gate it is hardly fair to go. For men to be roasted here and in the future too. We appreciate the words by Mr. May as we are not accustomed to such encomium in our compassion we attribute Adam's fall to the weakness of will power. We coincide with Mrs. Curie and emphasize her tribute to man.

No road in life is smooth,
There is many an unseen bump
O'er which you'll have to pump.

Mr. Patterson talks very discouraging to these marriageable men.

Let me give you better advice,
Choose a woman not exacting;
Who keep her self respect;
Whose tongue is not her master,
Is the woman to select.

Mr. Ely has not had much expetience with sewing circles but he must remember, while he is coining stories about us, that someone is getting a rest. Menu: All that could be desired; the little pleasantry; that civilized man can not live without cooks, shall no longer be conceded but all menus at social affairs and daily work in the kitchen, shall be turned over to our entertainers; and thus enhance the value of the utility of man. When this situation is proffered you, we beg you not to fold your tents like the Arabs and silently sneak away.

The out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jenkins, Miss Laura Shutt of Auburn; Mrs. Mary Bartlett of Ft. Wayne; and Miss Mary Stafford of Attica, Ohio.

DENTIST.

C. R. PRICE.

ST. JOE, IND.

Office in Case building.

Bell Phone No. 44.

CURIE'S RESTAURANT.

We desire at this time to inform the public that we are ready to supply all wants in our line. We ask that you continue patronizing our store and we will make it as pleasant as we can for you.

CANDY, CIGARS, SANDWICHES, SOFT DRINK, TOBACCO, ETC.

We aim to keep our stock fresh, and when in need of any of our goods come in.

WABASH CORNERS.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills relieve pain.

Orange Herrick and wife were at Auburn Thursday.

C. G. Lucas was a caller at Sherman Wolffs' Friday afternoon.

May Dailey was the guest of Bessie Hart on Tuesday night of last week.

Merl, Violet and Harold Wilson visited their grandma Burley Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Orange Herrick were Sunday guests of Nels Thomas and wife at St. Joe.

A nurse from Ft. Wayne came Sunday morning to care for the Nelson family who have diptheria.

Harry Maurer has begun teaching his school again after an absence of four weeks on account of sickness.

Mrs. Anna Rickett and daughter May were Sunday guests of George Arnold and wife of Auburn Junction.

Gene White, Ella Gill of St. Joe and Angelia Wolff spent Thursday in Auburn the guests of Dennis White and wife.

Maude Braithwaite and daughter Pearl of Ft. Wayne, spent part of last week with Mrs. Miranda Maurer and sons.

EDITORS NOTE

In last week's paper we made a mistake by saying that little George Wilson had the diptheria. It should should have been little George Nelson has the diptheria.

SCIO ITEMS

For headache Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills

Agnes Brown is working for Mrs. John Meek for a few weeks.

Charles Thayer spent a couple of days in Ft. Wayne the past week.

Mrs. Mm. Countryman had the misfortune to fall and break her arm one day last week.

Leslie Strong and Elsworth Traxler with their families visited in the home of Frank Akins Sunday.

Vera Johnson from near Hicksville is assisting Mrs. Wm. Countryman in her house work since she broke her arm.

Tom Fales, wife and baby of Elkhart are spending a few days with the formers parents, Henry Fales and wife of this place.

Neff Culler, wife and son Carson, Ivan Farner, wife and daughter Goldie, and Elmer Volkert and wife were pleasantly entertained at the home of John Kooh near Spencerville.

Mrs. Sam Culler spent Sunday with Mrs. O. Blood.

Ivan Farner and family visited a couple of days the latter part of last week among friends in Butler.

Mrs. A. E. Chapman has gone to her home in Pierre S. D. with her son Harold, he stood the trip fine from last reports, which Mrs. Chapman's friends are glad to hear.

Coburn's Corners

Ila Beeber visited at Blakesly Friday and Saturday.

David Andress has been quite sick but is better at this writing.

Floyd and Laura Coburn visited with Dr. Emanuels' at Edgerton Sunday.

Chas. Franks and family and Mrs. Hill of Paulding, Co., visited with Cad Shulls' Sunday.

Clem Treesh and family and a few of the neighbors spent Saturday evening at Wilmot Coburns'.

Nervous or Sick Headache will yield quickly to the influence of Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. 25 doses 25 cents.

A sleighing party of young people from Georgetown spent Saturday evening with Cad Shulls'.

Myra Coburn, who has been visiting in the neighborhood this winter, went to Freeport, Ill., last Friday where she expects to study to be a nurse.

WANT-ED!

50 Subscribers.

Week End Sale.

Thursday Friday Saturday

we place on sale these bargains:

5 pieces Cotton Brocades suitable for Childrens dresses worth 25 and 30 cents. Sale price 16cents.

Childrens Ribbed Fleeced hose All Sizes 11c pair or 2 for 21c.

Watch these week end bargains, there's money in it for YOU.

The Big Four Store. St. Joe, Indiana.

0514
L 903

MARCH

MARCH

0515

L 903

ST. JOE NEWS.

VOL. XXIII ST. JOE, DEKALB COUNTY, INDIANA. THURSDAY, MARCH 4 1909. NO. 9

Warner's Hats.

MARCH 12-13.

News Items

Cigars and Candy at Curie's.

Watch for those beautiful gifts at Warners.

Chas. McKosh of near Coldwater, Mich., is here visiting friends.

Blanch Wineland is working for Mrs. Martin Davis at Spencerville.

Baked goods on sale at News office, Saturday afternoon. Phone in your order.

Mrs. John Lake's brother of Chicago came a couple of weeks ago to spend the summer with them.

Opened your sugar camp yet? It's about time. Several have already opened their camps near here.

Mrs. Nannie Kosht of Auburn was the guest of her sister, Mrs. George Swineford a few days last week.

Clarence Walter of Ft. Wayne and two Bickhart boys of Harlan, were guests of B. F. Walter and family.

This week we are pleased to note the extra high price our elevator is paying for wheat, $1.17 per bushel. Now is the time to sell.

Arthur Woodcox has contracted to work for Chris Curie, this summer, commencing his work the first of March. Mr. Curie has been left without any help and consequently he must hire a hand as he is getting too old to do it himself.

The following counties in Indiana will have elections this week to decide whether liquor will be sold therein or not:
Marshall, Plymouth, March 4.
Hancock, Greenfield, March 5.
Whitley, Columbia City, March 5.
Shelby, Shelbyville, March 6.
Miami, March 16.

President Wilcox, the well known musician of Auburn, through his attorney, P. D. West, has filed suit in the circuit court for a divorce from his wife, alleging cruel and inhuman treatment. He asks for divorce and custody of their son, alleging that the wife is not a fit custodian for him. The case will be tried during the March term.

For headache Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills

J. W. Sherers' moved on their farm near Fairview this week.

Howard Berry was a guest in the Berry home the first of the week.

Twenty-nine bibles were present at the Christian Sunday School Sunday.

The high water is now going down allowing travel on the east road leading to town.

Ale Simanton and Chas. Koch are at Edgerton, this week, looking up some horses.

Monday, John Engle sold one of his work horses bringing $195. It was a fine large animal and extra fat.

The Boy's Class of the M. P. church will have a baked sale on Saturday afternoon in the east window of The News office. Get your goods early and save the worry of baking for Sunday.

Lutheran Basement March 12th. Country Fair

WANTED:—Girl to do general house work. Call at Mrs. Warners.

Mrs. C. S. Johnson and daughter Esther Belle and Mrs. Polk of Tiffin, O., visited relatives and friends here this week.

Chas Koch has sold his black team to parties at Hicksville, O., for shipping east receiving $495 for them. He will deliver them Saturday.

Laney Gee made us a farewell call Saturday and ordered his paper sent to his new home at Blytheville, Arkansas. He and his family left Sunday evening on the Wabash. We hope that when they are settled that we may receive a letter for publication.

Postmaster A. L. Kuhlman at Auburn received a telegram this week stating that Congressman Gilhams had at his disposal a cannon of the Rodman type which he would place in the Auburn court yard providing they would pay the expense of moving it here. A meeting of the Commercial club was called and then they instructed Mr. Kuhlman to wire Mr. Gilhams that they would gladly accept the gift and pay the expense of moving it here.

WATCH THIS SPACE
NEXT WEEK.

Grabill State Bank,
Grabill Indiana.

Assessors Called

Monday a vast army of men, nearly 2000 strong started out in Indiana to make the assessments upon which the tax levy for taxation is made for the next year. Those who are to do this in DeKalb county were called together Saturday to receive their supplies and get instruction as most of the men are new to the business. Every man responded to the call. The assessors in this county are as follows:

Butler township—David Heitz
Jackson—Alex Culbertson
Concord—George W. Wade
Newville—Willard Tustison
Stafford—Henry Shaffer
Wilmington—A. D. Bronson
Union—H. A. Winslow
Keyser—Darius Haag
Richland—Adam Leins
Fairfield—Albert Hovarter
Smithfield—Brown Albright
Franklin—B. F. Lowe
Troy—Arthur E Freed.
Grant—Delbert E. Newcomer.

Deputies have been appointed as follows:
Richland—F. M. Wiltrout.
Wilmington—Mr. Sawyer.
Union—Henry St. Clair.
Keyser—Frank Mountz.

Mr. Treesh gave them some wholesome advice, he said that they must be assessors not clerks, that they must know the value of the property they assess, not take the estimate of the value placed upon the property by the owner. Wherever possible they should see the article which they assess. Personal property generally will be assessed at two-thirds of its cash value, that is, if an article is worth $150, it would be assessed at $100 In general this rule is applicable but in a few articles definite values were fixed. Chickens were agreed upon an assessment of $2 per dozen for the common kind; wheat 75 cents per bushel; corn, 35 cents; rye, 40 cents; oats, 30 cents; potatoes, 35 cents; barley, 35 cents; red clover seed, $3 per bushel; other kinds $5 per bushel; hay, $4 per ton; lumber, $12 per 1000 feet; logs, $7 per 1000 feet; ordinary cows from $20 to $30 per head.

The assessors have an important duty to perform, one that requires good judgement and the exercise of everlasting vigilance. Equitable assessments are the only just ones. The aim is to have property of equal value assessed at the same value in every county and every township, that the stock of a farmer in Troy township will be assessed, if of an equal value, the same as the stock of a farmer in a township in Posey county. There is however, a manifest inequality in one thing, that of the assessment of mortgages and notes which are to be assessed at their face value. There is no valid reason why your horse or a stock of merchandise be assessed at two-thirds of the value and notes and mortgages at the full value but such is the instructions that come from the state board of tax commissioners and their decision is law unto us and our officers must follow their instruction.—Dispatch.

Notice.

On and after March 20, my accounts and notes over one year old will be placed with collector for collection. SOL BARNEY.

Boys go to the Navy.

Two more of our young men are in the employment of Uncle Sam. Floyd Coburn and Wm. Freeburn of Coburntown successfully passed the examination at Ft. Wayne and on Tuesday evening the boys went to Wayne preparatory to going to Norfolk, Va. St. Joe is surely sending her share of boys to the Navy and we hope that they may go there with the spirit of obedience in their hearts and try to get all the good their is in it.

WABASH

Wabash Time Table.

Trains leave the St. Joe Station as follows:

GOING WEST.
No. 11, Ft. Wayne Acc & Mail 11:34a. m
No. 3, Western Express . 7:58 p. m

GOING EAST.
No. 2, Eastern Express 9:34a. m
No 18, Toledo Acc & Mail 4:39 p. m.

Charles E. Emanuel Dead

On last Thursday evening the word was passed from lip to lip that Chas E. Emanuel had suddenly passed away. He had not been well for several days, but that his illness would result as it did was not even thought of. While in his office transacting some business for a gentleman of Ashley, he was seated at his desk and rising suddenly, said "I am so sick, call a doctor," sinking into unconsciousness. Medical aid was summoned and restoratives administered but in a very few minutes he was dead. He was born in Spencerville, Indiana, September 3, 1851, and spent his early childhood and manhood in the vicinity of that village. The funeral was held at the late residence on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Badger is Caught

For two whole weeks Gene White, who lives south-west of town has been on the track of a badger and on Monday morning he succeeded in catching it. At one time the animal was holed up for five days and he made his escape. Small traps were set for him and when coming out of hole the traps were sprung. Some large Otter traps were secured and the animal got his doom. The animal was caught south of the Dills bridge in a small thicket, and will weigh between 25 and 30 pounds, and is of a grayish color. Upon approaching the animal it began to show signs of scrapping. It was a curiousity to the most of the people as they are scarce in this part of the country.

Special Service.

Sunday evening service at the Methodist church will be of especial interest to the public. The subject for the sermon will be "Children". The children of Mrs. Leighty's S. S. Class will be the choir for the evening. Parents are invited to come and bring their children.

J. C. MCCAIN, Pastor.

L. L. C.

The ladies of the L. L. C. held one of the most pleasant meetings of the year with Mrs. Ella Patterson on Wednesday evening, Feb. 24. The lesson, "The Heroes of Social Reform" was in charge of Mrs. Sechler and was one of especial interest. An interesting and well prepared paper "Lucretia Mott" was read by Mrs. Swineford. All members present responded to roll call with quotations from Margeret Sangster. After adjournment the hostess served dainty refreshments.

Wood For Sale.

65 Cords of good wood. Inquire of Frank Silberg, Spencerville, Indiana.

The Poor Expenditures

Below we give the figures showing the amount of money paid by the several trustees for the aid of the poor of the different counties.

Richland	$105 00
Concord	161 15
Keyser	316 09
Smithfield	13 22
Troy	41 06
Franklin	36 76
Grant	358 09
Jackson	44 76
Union	342 70
Newville	10 00
Butler	40 75
Fairfield	91 91
Stafford (burial of soldier)	50 00
Wilmington	1033 11

Culture Club

The Culture Club met with Mrs. Harriet Johnson last Wednesday evening, Feb., 24. Mrs. Buchanan had charge of the lesson on "Home Making as a Social Art" and proved to be a very skillful leader. It was learned that home is the place where the child gets its first lessons of usefulness, truthfulness, morality, religion and their country. There are so many lessons to be learned about the homes that all profited by the discussion. The members responded to roll call with home quotations. Club then adjourned to meet in one week with Mrs. Eva Sheffer. Hostess treated to crystalized popcorn and fudge.

Continued.

In order that all our patrons may have an opportunity to secure some of the good things which we are offering in Wall Paper.

We have decded to continue our Special Sale one week longer. The last day of sale will be on March 10th.

All goods sold for cash only and must be removed immediately as we need the room.

HARRY MILLIMAN
DRUGGIST

Obituary

Hazel Nelson was born near Edgerton, Ohio, June 18 1896, and died at her home near St. Joe, Indiana, February 22 1909, of diptheria. Aged 12 years 8 months and 4 days. Her sister Alma having preceded her five days.

HAZEL NELSON.

The sorrowing parents and friends have the sympathy of the entire community, who would love to visit and console them could they. Mr. and Mrs. Nelson desire to thank their friends and neighbors for the many favors shown them.

Sunday School Report.

Below is the report of the various Sunday Schools of the town and community for last Sunday. We desire that the secretaries may hand us this bit of information on Monday of each week, or phone to No. 10 and report.

	Attendance	Collection
Christian	82	$1.74
Lutheran	75	82 51
M. P.	54	$1.16
Coburntown	80	$1.50
Spen. Luth.	76	$2.20
Spen. M. E.	34	$1.03
Concord	61	$1.09
Rehobeth	40	53

Any other school desiring to be represented in this list may do so by just simply telling us.

Local Items.

Are you coming in?

Dr. Miles Anti-Pain Pills—Not only stop the pain, but do it quickly.

Will Hamm of Garrett, was in town Monday. He came in on horse back.

The Misses Flossie Copp and Inez Patterson were at Hicksville Friday.

The W. H. and F. M. society of the Lutheran church will meet with Mrs. Wm. Leighty, Saturday afternoon, March 6. The subject of the lesson for the afternoon is "Christian work in Moslem lands". Come.

The U. S. postal guide of February contains a law regarding cards bearing tinsel, glass or any substances that will rub off. The law is as follows:—Cards bearing particles of glass, metal, mica, sand, tinsel, or other similar substances, are unmailable, except when enclosed in envelopes tightly sealed to prevent the escape of such particles, or when treated in such manner as will prevent the objectionable substances from being rubbed off or injuring persons handling the mails.

New Department

We have just added a stock of McCall Patterns and can now furnish you with any pattern you may wish. We will also take your subscription for the McCall Magazine, the best Fashion Magazine on the market price only 50c per year. Fashion sheet free for The asking.

The Big 4 Store.

Now That Spring is Here

Her Imperial Highness, Queen Fashion, has ordained that her subjects appear in the quaint picturesque costumes of long ago. The brilliant pageant of spring and summer styles displays, the classic modes of the Directoire period, and the fascinating styles of the Empire days. Gowns of such poetical beauty require hats of harmonious lines. The ponderous hats pictured in quaint old prints, the Directoire hats, flower laden, the saucy scuttle and poke bonnets from the days of Empress Josephine, these are the styles being revived. The broad-brimmed hat is a necessary accompaniment to the sweeping skirts and short waists of the now fashionable slender figure. Exaggerated features are the latest whim of fashion. Spring and summer styles might be divided into four classes—First, the wide-brimmed hats. Secondly, the turbans of enormous proportions. Thirdly, some small shapes, which must have an especially unique feature to recommend them. Very large and handsome jet turbans for early spring are one of the fashions of the hour. Flowers never were so good. The unnaturally large ones are a feature; also quantities of smaller ones are used on the immensely wide-brimmed hats.

You

have a good fire insurance policy to guard against fire loss, why wouldn't it be to your interest to guard against Tornado damage.

We sell Tornado Insurance for town or farm property.

The cost is very small.

The protection is very great

J. C. HULL
AGENT
Fire, Tornado, Life, & Accident
Call on or Phone No. 46.

MARCH

U516
L 903

The St. Joe News

ST. JOE, INDIANA.

FRED B. LEIGHTY, - - Publisher.

1909 FEBRUARY 1909

Su	Mo	Tu	We	Th	Fr	Sa
●	1	2	3	4	5	6
7	8	9	10	11	12	13
14	15	16	17	18	19	20
21	22	23	24	25	26	27
28	●	●	●	●	●	●

F. M. 5th. L. Q. 13th. N. M. 20th. F. Q. 26th.

FEATURES OF INTEREST

ABOUT THAT WHICH HAS BEEN AND IS TO BE.

All Sides and Conditions of Things are Shown. Nothing Overlooked to make it Complete.

Five More Dry Spots in Indiana.

Adams, Grant, Newton, Daviess and Howard Counties are all voted dry by big majorities. Local option has carried Howard County by 1,287 votes. Kokomo voted "wet" by 212 votes.

Grant County is "dry," probably by 2,000 majority. Marion is "dry" by about 200 votes.

None of the townships in Adams County has given a "wet" majority and the county is "dry" by 600.

Daviess County gave the "drys" a majority of 1,300.

Newton County is "dry" by about 280 majority.

Keel of Fighter Utah Laid.

The keel of the battleship Utah, a sister ship of the Florida, now being constructed at the Brooklyn navy yard, was just laid in the yard of the New York Shipbuilding Company, Camden. The new battleship is to have a displacement of 21,387 tons, and will have a speed of twenty-one knots an hour. The contract price without armor or armament is $3,946,000. Her tonnage is 1,000 tons greater than the North Dakota and Delaware, the most recent "Dreadnoughts."

Finds More Use for Hague.

So thoroughly impressed is President Roosevelt with the necessity of conservatism of natural resources of the world that he recently directed Secretary of State Bacon, at the suggestion of the North American Conservation conference, to extend a formal invitation to foreign powers to participate in an international conference to deal with this problem, to be held at The Hague next September. All of the nations represented at the peace conference will be invited to participate.

Gary Denies Wage Cut Talk.

E. H. Gary, of New York, chairman of the United States Steel Corporation, when asked for confirmation or denial of the published announcement that there would be a reduction in the wages of steel and iron workmen before May 1, said: "The statements are inaccurate. The United States Steel Corporation has never considered such a thing."

Merchant Shoots Two Robbers.

Caught in the act of robbing the Kansas Mercantile Company's downtown store, two men were shot by H. M. Craddock, the proprietor. John Sterner was captured, mortally wounded. Another man, said to have been one of Sterner's companions, was found at a hospital badly wounded.

Train Goes Over Cliff; 25 Killed.

A passenger train on the main line at Guayaqui, Ecuador, was thrown over a cliff 100 feet high at a point near Rio Bamba, and crashed to the bottom of the ravine. Twenty-five persons were killed and forty wounded. The accident was caused by a displaced rail.

Big Liner Grounds in Fog.

While trying to make her way into New York harbor through a blinding fog, the steamer Kaiser Wilhelm II, from Bremen, ran aground on the edge of Gedney channel and was stuck fast for several hours. Nearly 1,000 passengers were on board.

Sylvia Green Married.

Miss Sylvia Green, daughter of Mrs. Hetty Green, of New York, the wealthiest woman of America, was married at Morristown, N. J., to Matthew Astor Wilks. Mr. Wilks, who is about 65 years old, is a great-grandson of John Jacob Astor.

Thirty Years for a Blackmailer.

Robert B. Bludsoe, of Dallas, Texas, who last week entered the home of Lawrence M. Jones, a millionaire merchant of Kansas City, Mo., and attempted to extort $7,000 from him, has been sentenced to thirty years in the penitentiary.

Mrs. Booth Undergoes Operation.

Mrs. Maude Ballington Booth, wife of General Booth, of the Volunteers of America, underwent a surgical operation in New York City for appendicitis. According to the surgeon, the operation was entirely successful.

Seven Men Killed in Collision.

Seven men were killed or burned to death in a head-on collision between an express train and two engines on the Delaware division of the Pennsylvania railroad at Delmar, Delaware.

Big Fire in Indiana Town.

Fire at Shoals, Ind., destroyed the Plummer-Ross block and Gwyn McFarland building and damaged the Bank block and the Wallace and Boyle building. Loss, $50,000.

NATION HAILS FLEET THAT GIRDLES GLOBE

EPOCH-MAKING CRUISE ENDS

Roosevelt, as Commander in Chief of Navy, Welcomes Admiral Sperry's Squadron.

PANDEMONIUM REIGNS ON SEA.

Nearly Ten Miles of Formidable War Craft Steams Majestically Past the President's Yacht.

With pennants streaming, twenty-eight bands playing the "Star-Spangled Banner" and saluting cannon roaring a tribute to the President, the battle ship fleet of the American navy ended its world cruise at Old Point Comfort, Va., Monday. After steaming in review before the President, whose eagle-crested flag of blue was at the main of the cruiser yacht Mayflower, the sixteen white battle ships cast anchor in the fairway of Hampton Roads, from which they started fourteen months ago on their voyage of 45,000 miles.

The joy of home-coming was written upon the face of every blue jacket and officer on the vessels. The long cruise, the visits to many of the most famous ports of the world and the homage paid to the fleet by every nation have been sources of pleasure to everyone aboard, but there was no scene in all the world to compare in beauty with the familiar landmarks passed by the fleet as it steamed a triumphant, self-reliant and efficient force through the Virginia capes and entered the hospitable waters of Chesapeake Bay and Hampton Roads. The flagship Connecticut steamed at the head of the returning squadrons. In the wake of the white ships was a welcoming host in gray—four battle ships and five powerful cruisers being in this escorting column sent a thousand miles to sea to convey the first word of welcome.

President Receives Officers.

Foreign naval attaches, parties of government officials and high officers of the army and navy were aboard the fleet which steamed out to greet the incoming vessels and to see the review by the President at the tail of the horseshoe. The Mayflower came down from Washington with a distinguished party, and cast her anchors in the waters in which she took up a position at the sailing of the fleet. Immediately behind the Mayflower, carrying the President, lay a convoy of vessels, each loaded to the gunwales with humanity. Congressmen, diplomats, "navy widows" and "navy sweethearts" lined their decks. From every mathead was flung the signal "Welcome Home."

Now athwart the Mayflower a black-muzzled gun belched forth a puff of white smoke and a tremendous explosion woke the echoes along the shores of historic Hampton Roads, covered with people as far as the eye could reach. Twenty-one guns fired from both broadsides in rapid succession from the flagship Connecticut bearing on its bridge Admiral Sperry, commander of the fleet, saluted the President. Her streaming "Homeward bound" pennant and the long lines of jackies manning her yard arms and fighting tops and dressing ship along the decks were soon wreathed in smoke. From every vessel in the welcoming fleet rolled back a volume of cheers such as was never heard in Hampton Roads before. It was a burst of patriotic enthusiasm in which the human voice was matched against steel and gunpowder. Every sea captain grabbed his whistle line and tore loose at a rate that threatened to leave his vessel stranded on the shore for lack of steam to get home.

After the ceremonial greeting of the battle ships and their escort the Mayflower steamed at the end of the long column into Hampton Roads, and when the home-coming craft had anchored she took up a position in the center of the fleet. Admiral Sperry and the other flag officers, together with captains commanding were received on board, and to them President Roosevelt extended the cordial thanks which he afterward expressed anew to the officers and crews of the four divisional flag ships—the Connecticut, the Louisiana, the Georgia and the Wisconsin—which he visited late in the afternoon.

Gala Day on Historic Waters.

The boom of the sunrise gun echoing over the moat of picturesque old Fortress Monroe marked the beginning of a gala day on the waters of Hampton Roads, first made famous by the battle of the Monitor and the Merrimac. It required a vivid imagination to look back over a span of forty-odd years to picture the fury of that conflict and compare the combatants with a modern battle ship of the class of the Connecticut. In the battle ship and cruiser squadrons which filed past the Mayflower and saluted the President's flag were represented 420,490 tons of water displacement. Every battle ship in commission in the navy had a place in the long line. There were twenty of the heavily belted vessels.

WELCOME HOME.

—Chicago Examiner.

"UNITED STATES" IS LAUNCHED.

Steel Steamer for Lake Traffic Christened by Miss Blanche Boehm.

Amid the tooting of whistles and the cheers of 10,000 people the large steel steamer United States, the first steel boat built by the Manitowoc Dry Dock Company of Manitowoc, and for the Indiana Transportation Company, was launched Monday. The city was in gala attire in honor of the occasion and also on account of Washington's birthday, all business being practically suspended. Miss Blanche Boehm of St. Louis, dressed in white broadcloth with hat of white beaveh and plumes, stood at the bow, and as the boat began her journey to the water broke a bottle of champagne over her prow and christened her the United States. A happy incident here took place, when President Spiro handed Miss Boehm their engagement ring. Immediately after the launching a banquet was given at the banquet hall of the company. Charles E. Kramer of Chicago was toastmaster.

PROSECUTON FOR BOOTH & CO.

Men High Up in Fish Concern Will Be Made Defendants.

Criminal prosecution of the author or authors of the financial statement for A. Booth & Co., in Chicago, which, it is charged, "dropped" a matter of $1,300,000 of the company's debts, was promised by one of the attorneys representing the concern's creditors. Although the lawyer was unwilling to name the men against whom such prosecutions probably will be aimed, he did declare that the "men higher up" would be the ones held responsible. Attorney S. O. Levinson, who is acting for the bankers, pointed out that such prosecutions might be brought under that part of the criminal code which relates to the obtaining of money or credit by false representations. The maximum penalty under the second of these statutes is fourteen years in the penitentiary and a fine of $2,000.

MADDEN IS INDICTED.

Grand Jury Returns True Bills Against Chicago Labor Leader.

Martin B. Madden, president of the Associated Building Trades of Chicago, and M. J. Boyle, business agent of the Electrical Workers' Union, have been indicted by a Cook County grand jury. True bills containing at least two counts were returned in Judge Henry V. Freeman's court. One count is said to charge conspiracy against certain contractors. Capiases were issued for the arrest of the men indicted and bonds were fixed at $5,000. Two separate indictments were found against each of the men, one charging extorting $1,000 from H. P. Nelson of the Nelson Piano Company for the alleged calling off of a strike on the company, and the other charges extorting from Joseph Klicka $700 under similar circumstances.

WOOLLEY QUITS PROHIBITIONISTS

Leading Worker in Ranks Says Task of Party Is Accomplished.

After years of affiliation with the Prohibition party, John G. Woolley, its candidate for President in 1900, announced in Omaha he was no longer connected with the party, but would work for the cause in one of the old parties. "I believe the party has accomplished all the good it can," he said. "And from now on the most effective work can be carried on outside of its lines. It reached its purpose in bringing the liquor question to a national issue and its usefulness ended there. There is no further necessity for it being kept alive."

Johns Hopkins 33 Years Old.

Exercises in commemoration of the founding of Johns Hopkins University, which was opened thirty-three years ago, were held in McCoy Hall of that institution in Baltimore, Monday. It was announced by Dr. William H. Welch that the gift of Henry Phipps of New York to the psychiatric clinic of the Johns Hopkins hospital was considerably in excess of $1,000,000.

Decree from Mrs. Lemp.

A decree of divorce with alimony of $6,000 a year and the custody of her son was awarded Mrs. William J. Lemp, Jr., by Judge George Hitchcock in St. Louis. The decision followed a sensational trial which lasted more than a week. Judge Hitchcock stated that the sole ground for divorce recognized by him was desertion.

CRAZY INDIAN WOUNDS THREE.

Red Returning from Visit to Washington Runs Amuck.

An unidentified Wyoming Indian ran amuck in the Union station in Cincinnati and before he could be overpowered had fatally stabbed and cut Mrs. Anna Devord of Huntington, W. Va., and Max Meyers of Cincinnati and seriously wounded Joseph W. Gordon of Cambridge, Ill., in an effort to scalp them. The Indian, with three Sioux chiefs of Kansas, had alighted from a train. They were going home from a visit to Washington to see "the great father." As the passengers alighted from the train the Indian, with a warwhoop, drew a long dagger and started through the crowd, slashing right and left. Mrs. Devord was walking up the platform with a child in her arms. The Indian had buried the dagger in her back and then slashed her across the head, body and arms. The Indian next attacked Meyers and plunged the dagger into his abdomen, and as Meyers raised his arms to defend himself the Indian renewed the attack. As Meyers fell to the station platform the Indian ran towards Gordon, stabbing him. The Sioux Indians did not interfere.

PROFIT UNDER TWO-CENT FARE.

All Missouri Minor Roads and Several Trunk Lines Show Gains.

The Missouri railway commission report on the passenger traffic on the principal lines in the State, shows that all the minor lines had increased earnings from passenger traffic in 1908, as compared to 1907, when a 3-cent rate was in effect. Several of the important trunk lines show a loss, but several also show satisfactory gains. The Santa Fe had average earnings of $3,557.56 per mile on Missouri business in 1907 and $4,245.30 in 1908, a gain of $687.74 per mile. The Missouri Pacific had an average of $1,670.89 on all business in 1907 and $1,499.13 in 1908, a loss of $171.76, but it had an average of $2,673.16 on Missouri business in 1908, a gain of $1,002.27. The Missouri, Kansas and Texas and the Iron Mountain exhibit light gains while the Wabash, the Frisco and the Burlington show losses in their averages. State Railroad Commissioner John A. Knott says these statistics convince him that the railroads can operate at a profit under Missouri's 2-cent fare law.

CAT SAVES MONEY FOR OWNER.

Burglar Falls Over Tabby, Loses Money, Gets Scared and Runs.

A big black cat prevented a robbery at the Toledo, Ohio, Interurban station. Two negroes, heavily armed, entered the station, and while one held the employes at bay the other grabbed the cash register and started for the door. In the middle of the room he fell over the office cat, spilling the contents of the cash register on the floor. The negro scrambled to his feet and both escaped.

Edward Lewee, former shortstop with Buffalo and Milwaukee, will probably take the management of the Milwaukee club.

A committee of the Texas Legislature has decided to report a bill providing for a racing commission. All matters referring to racing are to be passed on by this commission.

The seventeenth annual bowling tournament of the Minnesota State Bowling Association, which will be expanded this year into the International Bowling Association, will begin in St. Paul Feb. 11. About seventy teams will enter the contests.

Dr. H. L. Williams has been tendered and accepted, a contract engaging him as coach for the University of Minnesota foot ball team for the coming year. This formality completed the action taken by the board of athletic control some months ago.

The Eel set a new record for a mile, paced on ice at Ottawa, Ont. Three seconds were clipped off the old record, as six official watches caught the time at 2:11¼. The quarter was made in :32; half in 1:05½; the three-quarters in 1:39, and the mile in 2:11⅘.

BLOODSHED AND RUIN MARK WAR ON GREEKS

Mobs in South Omaha Burn and Wreck Houses of the Foreigners.

FIGHT THE POLICE IN STREETS.

Legislators Address Meeting That Starts Riot—Two Vicious Attacks Are Made.

Three persons were shot, a score of others injured by heavy missiles, and thirty houses partly destroyed by fire and axes as the result of race riots between hundreds of men of South Omaha, Neb., and the members of the Greek colony there.

There were two mobs concerned in the affair, a second crowd renewing the attack Sunday night after the first had been dispersed by the police in the afternoon. There have been fifteen arrests made and the police are guarding the Greek settlement to prevent a third outbreak.

As a precaution the South Omaha fire and police board issued an order that all saloons in the city shall remain closed until further orders.

The attack on the Greeks followed a mass meting where violence was urged by the speakers, among whom were two members of the State Legislature and a former city attorney. The meeting was called after hundreds of men had signed a petition in which the Greeks were charged with serious crimes against girls and women.

The speakers referred to the murder of Patrolman Edward Lowery, who was shot and killed on Friday by a Greek whom he had placed under arrest. The slayer had been arrested while in the room of an American girl.

March Upon Greeks Begins.

When the meeting broke up, with the intention of meeting again at night, a crowd of more than 1,000 men started toward the quarters of the foreigners in the neighborhood of 26th and Q streets. They were determined to punish some of the leaders of the Greeks, but when two of the mob, Frank Sweeney and Joseph Gamble, both young boys, were injured in the attack on the first house by shots fired from the interior, some began to apply the torch.

Two blocks east another crowd smashed the front of a saloon and attempted to pillage the interior, when a squad of police charged the crowd and prevented the mob from securing the liquor.

A third crowd rushed to 24th and L streets and attacked a confectionery store run by Demos Bros. The big plate glass windows were quickly smashed, the doors kicked in, and the stock and show cases destroyed. Mrs. Mary Demos and her aged father were in the store and both narrowly escaped death at the hands of the mob.

The three attacks were made almost simultaneously and the destruction was complete before Chief of Police Briggs could get his scattered force together and stop the depredations. Meantime, Sheriff Brailey was notified and collected all the deputies possible and rushed them to South Omaha to aid the police. It took some time to get the force organized and during the interval Greeks were attacked on every hand.

It was thought that the officers were in control, but at 9 o'clock the mob had gathered again and it renewed its attack. The first disorder was at 30th and Q streets, where the rioters smashed in the plate glass front of a Greek grocery store.

The proprietor, Dionisios Catapodis, and his family were in the rear of the store, and as the husband came out he received a shot in the leg. A squad of officers reached the place in a few minutes and succeeded in getting the wounded man to the police station in an automobile by stealth.

At 9 o'clock the fire department was called to 28th and R streets, where a large two story double frame building was in flames. Thirty Greeks had been quartered in the place, but all are believed to have escaped. The building was entirely destroyed, however. The besieged Greeks defended themselves with firearms, with which they apparently were all equipped. They fired a fusillade out of the windows, one shot hitting Charles Estroyl in the head. It was this scrimmage which undoubtedly enraged the crowd into setting fire to the building.

A moment later the fire department was called to 32d and Q streets, where the mob had set fire to a Greek grocery and residence. The rioters beat two of the Greeks into unconsciousness and started downtown with the third, beating him as they went. The police succeeded in getting the man away and took all three of the injured men to the station.

Home of Thirty Burned.

At 11 p. m. a riot call was turned in from 26th and N streets, where the crowd had gathered. The mob quickly fled to 24th street, where they demolished a Greek candy store at 430 North 24th street.

By this time almost every building in South Omaha occupied by Greeks, and many tenanted by Roumanians, had been wrecked. Twenty or more injured Greeks were given protection at the police station.

WORK OF CONGRESS

Not during the present session of Congress has such a large amount of legislative business been done by the Senate as was accomplished Friday. The army bill, carrying appropriations amounting to $102,626,050, and the pension bill, with appropriations aggregating $160,869,000, of which $160,000,000 was for pensions and $869,000 for fees, etc., were passed. Forty-five other bills, forty of which had previously been favorably acted upon by the House, were passed. The fortifications bill was completed by the House and went over to the Senate; the sundry civil bill was reported and the postoffice appropriation bill was sent to conference. The report of the special commission on pulp and paper investigation was read; the river and harbor bill was reported, and the report of the special printing investigation committee was submitted.

-:—:-

The Indian appropriation bill occupied almost the entire time of the Senate Saturday and was passed with appropriations aggregating over $9,000,000. Of this amount about $1,500,000 was added to the bill by Senate amendment. Two more of the annual supply bills, the diplomatic and consular and the military academy measures, were passed by the House. Neither excited much debate nor was either amended in any important particular. The rivers and harbors bill also was passed under suspension of the rules, after Mr. Keifer (Ohio) had inaugurated a full-fledged filibuster against it in the expectation of securing an amendment providing for a survey of the proposed Ohio and Erie canal. The House also sent the pension appropriation bill to conference. Following a speech by Mr. Hitchcock (Neb.) advocating the imposition of an income tax, the sundry civil bill, carrying an appropriation of $137,000,000, was called up, and an agrement reached whereby two hours were to be devoted Monday to general debate. At 5:57 p. m. the House adjourned until Sunday at noon, when a special session was held for the delivery of eulogies on the late Senators Allison of Iowa and Latimer of South Carolina and Representative Wiley of Alabama. The fact that the House adjourned instead of recessed disposed of the previous Monday as the continuous legislative day.

-:—:-

For two hours and a half Monday the Senate discussed the postal savings bank proposal, but an attempt to reach an agreement as to a day for voting on the measure failed. The reading by Senator McLaurin of Washington's farewell address consumed the first hour of the session. Senator Aldrich obtained the consent of the Senate to a resolution continuing the committees of the Senate as they now exist until their successors are chosen in the next regular session. The agricultural appropriation bill was taken up. A second speech by Mr. Rainey (Ill.) reiterating his former statements concerning the Panama Canal and a bitter arraignment of Mr. Rainey by Mr. Burton (Ohio) furnished the principal incidents in the House. After the Illinois member had spoken for an hour in further denunciation of William Nelson Cromwell, Mr. Burton took the floor and vigorously defended Mr. Cromwell, C. P. Taft, President-elect Taft and others whom Mr. Rainey on a former occasion had made objects of his attack.

-:—:-

The President is authorized to appoint a court of inquiry to determine the qualifications for re-enlistment of discharged negro soldiers of the Twenty-fifth Infantry Regiment who were accused of shooting up Brownsville, Texas, on the night of Aug. 13-14, 1906. The Aldrich bill for this purpose was passed by the Senate Tuesday by a party vote of 56 to 26, except that Senator Teller voted with the Republican for the passage of the bill. The bill is a compromise measure approved by President Roosevelt, Senator Foraker and all of the Republican membersof the committee on military affairs. The Senate also passed the fortifications bill, with apropriations agregating $8,320,111, and the diplomatic and consular apropriation bill carrying $3,646,386. Appropriation bills mainly occupied the House. The sundry civil bill was considered, but progress with it was slow. The fortifications, legislative, executive and judicial, diplomatic and consular, and postoffice appropriation bills were sent to conference. Mr. Clarke, Florida, unsuccessfully attempted to secure an investigation by the committee on the judiciary into the writing of the recent letter by Secretary of State Bacon apologizing for Mr. Rainey's remarks regarding President Obaldia of Panama, Mr. Clarke's object being to ascertain if Mr. Bacon's reference to Mr. Rainey constituted an abuse of the privileges of the House.

SPARKS FROM THE WIRES.

Revised estimates of the loss caused by the fire at Princeton, N. J., place the figures between $60,000 and $70,000. Ten frame buildings were destroyed.

The Oregon Senate passed a bill providing that any candidate who signs a pledge to support certain bills shall be disqualified from holding office he seeks.

James T. Scheuer, 27 years old, of New York, plunged from the deck of the Old Dominion liner Princess Anne, en route to Norfolk, Va., and was lost. He was in ill health.

MARCH

L 903

0517

A Race for a Wife

—BY—

HAWLEY SMART

CHAPTER VII.—(Continued.)

"Look here, Nellie," said the squire, at length, "you can't imagine for one instant that I have any intention of coercing Maude on the point. Only give it a trial. Be reasonable. You say she cares for no one else at present. Let her see young Pearman, and like him, if she can. If not, there's an end of it; but if she could fancy him, it would be well for all of us. Ruin stares us in the face—this would avert it. She, poor girl, will be left but indifferently off should anything happen to me; this insures her position, and luxuries. I don't see why it shouldn't be," and Denison shot a keen glance at the pale face opposite.

"I will do what you would have me, Harold," returned his wife, quietly. "I don't think that I have ever seen Mr. Pearman, but I had formed such high hopes for Maude! I never crossed you yet; it is not likely I should begin now, when you're in such trouble. But, oh, I do wish Glinn could be saved in any other way!"

"You have been a good wife to me, Nellie dear," said the squire, as he rose, and pressed his lips to Mrs. Denison's fair cheek. "You don't see this in the right light, but you will when you think it over. Meanwhile, you will do what I want—eh?"

"I will tell Maude when you deem it necessary," returned the soft voice of his wife; "but, Harold, I can't think it right; though you know best."

"You have not thought it over as I have. Do so, and you will change your mind," said Denison, as he left his wife's boudoir.

Sadly mused the wife over her husband's communication. Quiet, undemonstrative woman as she was, yet Eleanor Denison had been brought up from her cradle a thorough believer in the dogma of caste, and even her gentle nature rebelled at the idea that a daughter of hers should wed the son of a low-born attorney. We know her passionate idolatry of Maude, surpassing even a mother's love. It is easy to picture the bitter tears she shed after that morning's interview. She was a woman naturally given to weeping.

No passionate storm of lamentation, but a gentle shower of mourning. As Harold Denison's wife she had had manifold opportunities of practicing her vocation, yet I doubt whether he ever left salter tears running down her cheeks than he did that bright spring afternoon.

CHAPTER VIII.

Seldom did eye rest on a prettier picture than was made by bonnie Maude Denison this early April morning. The close-fitting French grey merino dress, with the plain linen collar and cuffs, set off her beautifully molded figure to perfection, while the cerise neck-ribbon just relieves and gives warmth to her somewhat neutral-tinted robe. Moreover, that she had just returned from a successful raid on the conservatory, a snow-white camellia and its blood-red sister coquettishly twisted in her glossy brown hair, sufficiently attested—those crown jewels of the floral world looking more in place now than when adorning their parent stems.

"Good morning, sweet mother mine," cried Maude, as Mrs. Denison entered the breakfast room. "Only look at the plunder I've brought you! I found old Judkins' flowers unguarded this morning, and I gathered and plucked. Isn't that a bouquet, mamma, to greet you in April?"

"Yes, love—glorious. No need to tell me Judkins was away, or never would his pets have been despoiled in this wise."

"No, cross old thing! He thinks flowers were made only to look at on their stems, and not to wear or decorate rooms."

The entrance of Harold Denison here checked conversation. He nodded a careless "Good morning" to his daughter, and then plunged moodily into his correspondence. He found nothing there, apparently, to raise his spirits. At length, thrusting his letters into his pockets, he rose.

"Well," he said, "things look blacker and blacker. It's no use struggling; the sooner my scheme is tried, the better. Do what you promised yesterday. Delay is useless."

"But, Harold——" pleaded his wife, as the ever-ready tears rose to her eyes.

"Don't be foolish. It's our only chance. Understand," he said, crossing over to his wife's chair, and lowering his voice so that his daughter could not catch his words—"just put it before her in a common sense way this morning. How can you tell she will object. She can do as she likes about it. I have no wish to coerce her in any way; but, mind, tell her the whole truth. It is only fair the proposal should be laid before her. I'll come up to your room after luncheon, and you can tell me how she takes it;" and, turning on his heel, Harold Denison left the room.

"What's the matter, my mother," said Maude, as she stole to Mrs. Denison's side, and, passing her arms round her neck, laid her fair, fresh young cheek against the pale, worn, troubled face. "More of these dreadful money miseries, I suppose; but don't look so tearful over it. Papa looks so gloomy, and you so sad, it's enough to frighten poor me. Even if he has lost some more money, I suppose we shall always have enough to live upon; and if you and I, mother, can't have new dresses for verso long, that's nothing to be very sad about."

I am afraid Maude Denison is displaying an ignorance of the world, and a disregard to the vanities and gewgaws thereof, that may seem a little high-strained; but recollect that she is but eighteen, that the Xmbinster was her first ball, and that, owing to her father's pride and straitened circumstances, she has lived a very secluded life.

Few were the strangers that came within the gates of Glinn of late years. Harold Denison scorned to entertain unless he could do so with all the old lavish profusion—that prodigal hospitality of former times which had entailed such bitterness in his present daily bread. His wife, naturally an extremely sensitive woman, shrunk also from mixing in society in a much more humble and modest way than she had been wont to do. She was not of the temperament to face the half-whispered comments and upraised eyebrows of her country neighbors: "Poor thing! I hear he has run through everything; even the carriage horses have to be put down." Remarks of this kind were past her endurance, and so it was that since she left school, some two years ago, Maude had led a very secluded life.

True, many an old friend of the Denisons had offered to take care of the girl to various galeties in the county, even if they could not induce Mrs. Denison to come to their houses and chaperone her own daughter; but all such invitations had been met with a brief though courteous refusal. Poor lady, she had more than once pleaded in her darling's behalf; but, wrapped in his own selfish pride, Harold Denison said fiercely, he would be patronized by no one.

And so Maude grew up like some wild flower, though not "born to bloom and blush unseen." For are there not already two who would fain pluck the wild flower and gather it to their bosoms if they may?

Did Maude know she was handsome? Of course she did. She wanted no Xminster ball to tell her that. What girl over fifteen, in the most primitive of nations, having beauty, is unaware of it? If there are no looking glasses, are there not deep pelucid waters that will serve as such?—Nature's mirrors whereby to wreath wild flowers in the hair? Maidens of our advanced civilization may be haunted with misgivings. Given the face of an angel, can we tell how it may stand the "make-up" that fashion seems to have decreed in these days? How dark eyes and eyelashes will go with golden hair is, of course, an open question. I can fancy the nervousness of those dusky Indian belles till they have ascertained the effect of paint and pigments, and what anxious moments our remote ancestresses must have had when they first put on their woad!

Thus it came about that Maude Denison had been out but on very few occasions, and had it not been that her godmother, who having gold to bequeath, was too important a person to be trifled with, had insisted on bearing her off, she had never seen that memorable Xminster ball.

Twelve o'clock, and the sun shines brightly into Mrs. Denison's boudoir, throwing rich tints through Maude's brown tresses, and lighting up the pale face of her mother; that joyous, tearful, capricious, womanish April sun—so like a woman in its glowing strength, so like her, again, in its overclouded weakness! Poor Mrs. Denison is still pondering on how to begin the dread task her lord has set her. She knows that glozing phrase of "not wishing to coerce the girl's decision," is but the meanest mockeries; she can look back upon that airy preface of "not that I wish to sway you, my dearest Eleanor," in so many cases, and remembers too well that whatever may have been her misgivings or dislikes, the program has generally been carried out in its original integrity. She has borne these things meekly. They concerned but herself; now they threaten her daughter. Weak woman as she is, she would fain stand at bay here. Still, though intuitively knowing that it was false, there is the specious reasoning of her husband's, that the thing ought to be submitted to Maude herself. Again the tendrils of her affections are twined round dear old Glinn; she feels what a bitter wrench it would be to say farewell to the old place. Above all, there is the strong will of that selfish husband, whom she still loves so dearly, under whose thrall her life has passed.

CHAPTER IX.

What slaves these weak women are to those miserable clay idols they have set up only to fall down before and worship! Adoration is the main part of a woman's love. How they still revere these worthless images, despite the daily proof they have as to what miserable potter's ware they are composed of. But they go on, even when bruised and beaten, still firmly believing in their old romantic ideal. Oh, yes, women will shut their eyes to many things sooner than give up that dream of their girlhood. They would sooner remain blind than awake to find themselves utterly bankrupt, and their account far overdrawn at Cupid and Company's. A woman will forgive the man she loves everything except inconstancy, and only cling the closer to him through crime or trouble. But there must never have arisen a doubt in her mind that she is not still sole mistress of his heart; and with all his faults, Harold Denison had never brought the tears to his wife's eyes in this wise.

But I am wandering far away from the mistress of Glinn, still musing on her unwelcome task. Like her, I am loth to begin, though the miserable story must be told, for the furtherance of this narrative. It is stealing the bloom off the girlhood of such a maiden as Maude when you first break to her that she is put up to auction as veritably as if she stood in the Constantinople slave market. The Turk has suppressed it; but in the West the trade goes on merrily, and Lord Penzance finds it quite as much as he can do to rectify the mistakes that occur from ignoring natural feeling in the contract matrimonial.

"Maude, dear," at last observes Mrs. Denison, "whom did you like best of all your partners at the Xminster ball?"

"Like best!" and Maude's great grey eyes opened wide as she uncoiled herself from the sofa upon which she lounged, intent on the latest novel Mudie had furnished. "What makes you ask that, mother?"

"Never mind! Tell me."

"Well, I don't know; I never thought about it. Gus Brisden was nice, and Charlie Tollamache—he's a dragoon of some kind, you know—he was great fun, and valsed very well. Then there was Mr. Handley, not very young, but I got on very well with him. I think, though, I liked dancing with Gren best; he can valse—and then we had such laughing over other people; but he got sulky towards the finish, I'm sure I don't know why. I'm very fond of Gren, you know, mother, but he bullies me and can be very nasty at times, and the finish of that ball happened to be one of those times. I don't know why," continued the girl, meditatively, "unless it was my dancing with that Mr. Pearman; what could that matter to him?"

"And did you and Gren part on bad terms?"

"No; I came down and gave him his coffee before he went away, and he—kissed me—and so we parted friends."

I think, had I been Grenville Rose, I should have preferred Maude being a little more reticent about the kiss. Still, the slight hesitation in her speech, the slight flush that crossed her cheek as she alluded to it, were favorable signs to an astute observer. He had kissed her as his cousin all his life—why should the recollection make her blush and hesitate now? Young people situated in this way may like each other for years; the explosion of some esthetic force suddenly awakes love. More often than not the train is lit through the precautions taken to prevent it. The doctrine of separation is in high favor among chaperones, but they often forget that when using it with a view to a contrary result.

"But you don't say anything about Mr. Pearman, Maude; did you like him?"

"Well, he was pleasant and amusing enough. I only had one quadrille with him, you know. But Gren scolded so about my dancing with him at all; and said he wasn't 'form,' or 'bad form,' or something or other—meaning, in short, that I ought not to have stood up with him. If he wasn't fit to be danced with, mother, why did they introduce him to me?" and Maude raised her pretty eyebrows, as if she had propounded a regular poser.

"I see no reason in the world. He is not one of the old county families, but his father is very rich, and he will take his place, ere many years are over, in the county. It depends, of course, a good deal upon how he marries. Suppose he fancied you, now, Maude—we are very poor, you know—what would you say to it?"

"I!—Mother, dear, what makes you ask such a question? I'm sure I don't know. Glinn is happy home enough for me at present. But I don't think, if I did marry, I should like there to be any doubt about my husband being a gentleman; and they—that is, I mean Gren—didn't seem to think he was."

"Gren, my dear, is prejudiced. Young Mr. Pearman has had an university education, and though his father was a nobody, he mixes, I'm told, with all the best people round."

"Well, it don't much matter; I'm never likely to be called on to decide. I think I'd rather not, if it was so. But you don't mean to say, mother, you are trying to fit me with a husband out of my ball partners! Oh, you scandalous match-making mamma!"—and Maude laughed merrily.

"But suppose I was, whom would you choose?"

"Oh, dear, none of them. If it came to the worst, I should say I was engaged to Gren."

"My dear Maude!"

"No; dear Maude never had the chance yet; he never asked her, and I don't think it at all likely he ever will. But I tell you what, mother, if I really was in such a quandary, I think I should ask him. I could tell him afterwards, you know, it was only to get myself out of a scrape, and Gren's been doing that for me always——"

"Stop, Maude, and listen seriously to what I have to say to you: Mr. Pearman has asked in earnest to be allowed to pay his addresses to you. Your father recommends you to think over it quietly and soberly. Bear in mind that we are very poor, and that he will be very rich."

"Mr. Pearman wants to marry me!" and the girl's face changed into a stare of blank astonishment; "why, I never saw him but once."

"No, love; but it is true, for all that."

"Well, mother, I can hardly believe it. On my word, I'm obliged to Mr. Pearman. I presume he thinks girls, like hothouse fruit, are a mere question of what you will give for them. Best let him know, mother mine, that your daughter is neither to be wooed nor won in that fashion."

(To be continued.)

Acquired Wisdom.

The Man—I wanted to get married when I was 21, but my father said I didn't have sense enough. So I waited until I was 30.

The Maid—And you married at 30?

The Man—Oh, no; at 30 I had too much sense to want a wife.

Awkward.

Hubbie—My dear, if I can not leave the office in time for dinner tonight I will send you a note by a messenger.

Wife—You need not go to that expense, George, for I have already found the note in your coat pocket.—London Opinion.

Two Records.

"My sturdy old grandfather came over in the steerage. Forty years later he went back in the Lusitania."

"Not so much. I know of an effete duke who accomplished the same trick in four weeks."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Keeping Faith.

Boss—Mark those shirts $3 each.

Clerk—The cost price is only 94 cents.

Boss—I don't care. Don't our advertisements say that we are selling regardless of cost?—Cleveland Leader.

His Favorite.

"Are you fond of repartee, Mr. Green?" asked the hostess.

"Not any," answered the rural guest. "I prefer coffee."

Before and After.

Green—All men are equal before the law.

Brown—Yes, but after it they are not!

COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL

CHICAGO.

The volume of payments through the banks again testifies to the increasing use of money and better state of trade. Delays in transportation and lack of prompt communication were temporary drawbacks due to the stormy weather. Influences at work indicate some progress in obtaining concessions in cost of iron and steel, but no drastic changes are likely to interfere with factory production, and there is more anticipation of substantial contracts being obtained for construction and equipment. Developments remain highly encouraging in building lines, wood working and lumber, with assurances of more extended operations soon. New demands for heavy materials are foreshadowed by extensive plans for improvements and new enterprises involving large outlays and much employment of labor. A healthy sign is the wider interest in the markets for wholesale merchandise. Visiting buyers in greater numbers than heretofore are seen to be operating more confidently in selecting staples. Gratifying orders were negotiated this week in dry goods, millinery, footwear and food products.

Failures reported in the Chicago district number 25, against 23 last week, 41 in 1908 and 22 in 1907. Those with liabilities of more than $5,000 number 6, against 6 last week, 12 in 1908 and 5 in 1907.—Dun's Weekly Review of Trade.

NEW YORK.

Reports as to trade and industry are irregular, reflecting interruptions due to stormy weather, talk of pending tariff revision and price unsettlement caused by manufacturers in some leading lines offering concessions to secure business. Taken as a whole, the volume of business doing is still below expectations, while industrial output is irregular and below the normal.

Business failures for the week ending with Feb. 18 were 282, against 211 last week, 326 in the like week of 1908, 177 in 1907, 186 in 1906 and 220 in 1905.

Canadian failures for the week number 34, which compares with 29 last week and 44 in the corresponding week last year.—Bradstreet's.

THE MARKETS

Chicago—Cattle, common to prime, $4.00 to $7.00; hogs, prime heavy, $4.50 to $6.50; sheep, fair to choice, $3.00 to $5.60; wheat, No. 2, $1.16 to $1.18; corn No. 2, 63c to 64c; oats, standard, 54c to 55c; rye, No. 2, 76c to 77c; hay, timothy, $8.00 to $13.00; prairie, $8.00 to $11.50; butter, choice creamery, 25c to 28c; eggs, fresh, 25c to 27c; potatoes, per bushel, 80c to 91c.

Indianapolis—Cattle, shipping, $3.00 to $6.50; hogs, good to choice heavy, $3.50 to $6.60; sheep, good to choice, $2.50 to $4.00; wheat, No. 2, $1.17 to $1.20; corn, No. 2, white, 61c to 63c; oats, No. 2 white, 49c to 51c.

St. Louis—Cattle, $4.50 to $7.00; hogs, $4.00 to $6.45; sheep, $3.00 to $5.50; wheat, No. 2, $1.25 to $1.27; corn, No. 2, 61c to 63c; oats, No. 2, 51c to 53c; rye, No. 2, 76c to 77c.

Cincinnati—Cattle, $4.00 to $6.00; hogs, $4.00 to $6.65; sheep, $3.00 to $5.25; wheat, No. 2, $1.24 to $1.25; corn, No. 2 mixed, 65c to 66c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 53c to 54c; rye, No. 2, 80c to 81c.

Detroit—Cattle, $4.00 to $6.00; hogs, $4.00 to $6.60; sheep, $2.50 to $4.75; wheat, No. 2, $1.17 to $1.19; corn, No. 3 yellow, 66c to 67c; oats, No. 3 white, 55c to 56c; rye, No. 2, 78c to 80c.

Milwaukee—Wheat, No. 2 northern, $1.13 to $1.15; corn, No. 3, 65c to 66c; oats, standard, 53c to 55c; rye, No. 1, 77c to 78c; barley, No. 1, 65c to 67c; pork, mess, $15.60.

Buffalo—Cattle, choice shipping steers, $4.00 to $6.70; hogs, fair to choice, $4.00 to $6.80; sheep, common to good mixed, $4.00 to $4.75; lambs, fair to choice, $5.00 to $7.80.

New York—Cattle, $4.00 to $5.90; hogs, $3.50 to $6.60; sheep, $3.00 to $5.25; wheat, No. 2 red, $1.17 to $1.19; corn, No. 2, 71c to 72c; oats, natural white, 55c to 59c; butter, creamery, 27c to 31c; eggs, western, 27c to 31c.

Toledo—Wheat, No. 2 mixed, $1.18 to $1.20; corn, No. 2 mixed, 65c to 67c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 53c to 55c; rye, No. 2, 79c to 81c; clover seed, $5.35.

TRADE AND INDUSTRY.

Plans for the reorganization of the Pillsbury-Washburn Flour Mills Company, limited, have been announced by the creditors' committee.

Boston wool buyers are already in the Montana field, and it is surmised that the reason for this activity is that they are afraid of the success of the wool storage movement, and a desire to pay a cent or two more per pound at present and secure the good wools before they are stored.

The United States Steel Corporation's statement of earnings for the last quarter showed a total of $28,225,285 or a falling off of $880,000. This gives an indicated earning for the year of $91,826,520, as compared with $160,964,674 the preceding year.

A hot debate has been on before the committees on agriculture in the Minnesota Legislature as to the value of the tuberculin test for tuberculosis in cattle. Cattle owners appearing before the committee differed widely in their testimony, some holding the test good and others declaring it worthless.

INDIANA LAWMAKERS.

To Curb Highway Robbery.

Senator Clark's bill, designed to curb highway robbery, by increasing the penalty from two to fourteen years in prison to from ten to twenty years, was called up for passage. Senator Yarling moved to amend the bill so that the penalty for highway robbery would be five to fourteen years. Kistler took exceptions to this and said a man malicious enough to commit such a crime could not be reformed in a period of five years. Senator Kane also held the punishment provided in the original bill was too severe. Juries, he held, would not frequently convict, should the penalty be allowed to remain in bill. Senator Beal said prosecutors would have a hard time convicting criminals accused of highway robbery if the penalty remained too high. When a standing vote was taken on the Yarling amendment it was adopted by a vote of 22 to 10. Senator Pearson asked for the ayes and noes, and the amendment was cinched by a vote of 27 to 14. Not stumped by having his amendment, calling for life sentence for second conviction, defeated, Senator Stotsenburg moved to amend the bill so that the life sentence could be administered on third conviction, and the amendment was adopted. Thirty-seven votes were cast for the bill.

Primary Election Law.

The primary election law promised by the Democratic State platform is seen in the bill introduced by Representative Wells, of Allen County. It is the same as the Downey bill of the session of two years ago, which won some Republican support, including that of Fred I. King, the present minority floor leader. King was the author of a primary election bill himself, but supported Downey's bill when the Republicans refused to pass his bill. In many respects the bill would apply the primary election law under which Indianapolis is operating to all parts of the State. Its effect would be to require the choice at primaries of all candidates for township, city, county or State offices, and to apply the general election laws to the primary elections. The regular election boards would have charge of the primary elections. Voters would be required to announce with which party they desired to vote and would receive a ballot with that party's candidates for nomination on it. The bill seeks to legalize the party organizations, making provision for State, county, city, township and town central committees, and prescribing how they shall be organized, the method being practically the same as at present used by both parties in Indiana.

Wholesale Action on Bills.

On a motion of Senator Wood the other afternoon all Senate bills pending on second reading and all engrossed House bills pending second reading in the Senate were lumped together and sent to engrossment. There were 102 Senate bills in the bunch and sixteen engrossed House bills. Although the bills were not read, the records will show that they were. The action is another move to rush bills to a point for final action. It is declared that at least three days were saved by sending the bills to engrossment in this manner, although the action took only about fifteen minutes.

Governor's House Debate.

A difference of opinion arose as to the amount that should be paid by the State for the construction of a Governor's house, when Senator Cox's bill, allowing $60,000 for this purpose, came up for passage. Senator Kistler (Dem.) offered an amendment to the bill providing that only $20,000 should be spent by the State for this purpose. On a viva voce vote the amendment of Kistler to reduce the appropriation to $20,000 was lost. When the roll was called for passage of the bill it was defeated by a vote of 5 to 38. The five who voted for it were Brady, Cox and Wood (Reps.) and Clark and Farrell (Dems.).

Merchants' Bill Is Rescued.

The merchants' bill, giving the Governor authority to deal with a negligent prosecutor, or one who refuses to do his duty, had a narrow escape from death at the hands of its enemies in the Senate, but came out of the fray alive and well. This is the bill that provided that whenever two members of a grand jury should inform the Governor that a prosecutor was not doing his duty the Governor should make an investigation, and on finding the charge true direct the Attorney General to supersede the prosecutor in the matter in which the complaint was made.

Licensing of Plumbers.

The Senate rights and privileges committee will report favorably the Maas House bill which provides for the licensing of plumbers in cities and towns of more than 5,000 inhabitants.

Bar Bill Strikes Snag.

The Proctor-Tomlinson county option bill has a hard path in the Senate. The bill has been passed by the House. Leaders of the Republican majority in the Senate say that if the bill passes the upper house it will be so amended as to strike out the provision for ward option. With the proposed amendments the bill would probably win few of the Democratic votes which passed it through the House in its original form.

INDIANA INCIDENTS

Record of Events of the Past Week

FORGED DEED SET ASIDE.

George McCay Again Has Clear Title to His Farm.

In the Circuit Court in Noblesville a deed to eighty acres of land in Hamilton County, which was in the name of Jacob Louby, was set aside and the title to the farm cleared. It is now the property of George McCay, of Tipton. These proceedings were necessary on account of a swindle that was worked by Louby several weeks ago which resulted in George Mendenhall, a well-to-do farmer of Hamilton County, losing $2,500. The farm was owned by McCay and Louby forged a deed to the land, conveying it to himself. On the strength of this deed he succeeded in mortgaging it to Mendenhall for $2,500 and the latter did not discover that the deed was a forgery until after the money had been paid Louby and he had left the city. Mendenhall made no fight to hold the mortgage and McCay, thinking that Mendenhall had lost money in the transaction, consented to pay the costs in the case. Louby's forgery of the names of McCay and B. F. Leavell, a notary living at Tipton, is regarded by the local authorities as the smoothest transaction of the kind that ever came under their observation.

REFORMER FINED FOR ASSAULT.

Temperance Worker Shoots at Restaurant Man During Raid.

After nearly a week's trial in the Madison Circuit Court, in the case of the State against Frank Hundley, on a charge of assault and battery with intent to kill Alva Ice, the jury returned a verdict of guilty of assault and battery and assessed a fine of $500. The defendant was tried for shooting Alva Ice at Summitville during a search for liquors in the restaurant of Ice at that place. Officers were escorted to the restaurant by Hundley, and were making the search when Ice returned. Hundley being in the crowd without any authority, he was put out of the room by Ice, and during the scuffle Hundley drew a 42-caliber revolver and fired at Ice, the ball glancing him on the breast. Hundley was at the time Secretary of the Anti-Saloon League.

RESURRECTED MAN IN COURT.

Henry E. Agar, Long Believed Dead, Gives Bond in Forgery Cases.

Henry E. Agar, who was resurrected in Texas last December after an absence of two years, during which time he was supposed to be at the bottom of the Wabash River near Princeton, waived arraignment in the Circuit Court on charges of forgery, and his bond was fixed at $4,000. Fifteen indictments were returned against him in Princeton, all alleging forgery. Several of the indictments are in two counts. The total involved is $65,000, the first alleging intent to defraud various banks and the second an attempt to defraud Hugh D. McGarry of Princeton, and William M. Ford of New Harmony.

FREES WOMAN TO WED HER.

Indiana Judge Grants Divorce to One Who Will Be His Bride.

It is announced that Louis O. Rasch, who recently retired from the judgeship of the Circuit Court in Evansville, and Mrs. Jennie Mueller Magin will be married some time in March. Rasch is one of the local Republican leaders. In March, 1905, he granted a divorce to his future bride from her first husband, Attorney Fred C. Mueller. It is said that their courtship dates from that time. Judge Rasch is 42 years old and a bachelor. The divorced husband of Mrs. Mueller was formerly a member of the Indiana Legislature.

NEW SEARCH FOR MRS. GUNNESS.

Indiana Legislature to Be Asked to Authorise Reward Offer.

A bill has been introduced in the Legislature to permit county commissioners to offer rewards of $10,000 for the apprehension of murderers, with assurance of its passage. The commissioners of Laporte County then will be petitioned to appropriate $10,000 to start a new search for Mrs. Belle Gunness, whom the attorneys for Ral Lamphere, recently convicted of her murder, declare is still alive.

Former Speaker Acquitted.

Henry W. Marshall, president of the Western Construction Company of Indianapolis, and former Speaker of the Indiana House of Representatives, was acquitted by a jury in the Marion County Criminal Court of the charge of defrauding the city by excessive charges for asphalt paving repairs.

Stop Fast Train to Hunt High Hat.

A fast train was stopped the other night between Fort Branch and Owensville, because Rev. John Bradbury lost his high silk hat from a window. The train crew, after a search with lanterns, found the hat.

AMONG OUR NEIGHBORS.

The J. & S. Emison cornmill corn cribs and elevators, together with the company's stables, warerooms and five Baltimore & Ohio loaded freight cars located on the river front, burned in Vincennes. The contents include 100,000 bushels of corn.

Prosecutor Frank G. Carpenter and Dr. George E. Snearly of Rexan joined in a demand that the coroner exhume the body of Mrs. Snearly, wife of Dr. Snearly, to determine whether charges that Mrs. Snearly had been poisoned are true. The inquest has not been completed.

Mayor Lawrence Becker of Hammond was instrumental in introducing a bill in the general assembly providing for the creation of a sanitary district for the cities of Hammond, Gary, East Chicago, Indiana Harbor and Whiting. The proposed district patterns after the Chicago drainage district.

MARCH

0518

L 903

The St. Joe News.

One Year - - $1.00
Six Month - - 50c
Three Months - - 25c

FRED B LEIGHTY
PUBLISHER.

Entered at the Post Office in St. Joe as second-class mail matter.

Editorially.

There will never be peace over the Naval appropriation in Congress until each Senator has a little navy yard of his own.

The fleet lost two of its Commanders during its journey around the world. Not one died but one has been dropped for conduct unbecoming a gentleman and an officer, and another has been relieved for physical unfitness.

One hundred years from now we will not have so many Presidential heroes who were born in log cabins, and the best and self men of that time will be able to do to stir their popular enthusiasm is to point out the flat in which they first saw the light.

If Little George Washington had had a Roosevelt for a father he would have received a stiff little punishment for cutting down that cherry tree, and he would have learned that even the truth cannot save a person who violates the forest conservation regulations.

A Vassar graduate is applying for divorce because her husband has made her life for years unendurable by eating with his knife and because he makes a noise while eating soup. Here we have the answer to the vexing question. Does college fit women for matrimony?

A treaty of interest to inventors in this country was signed by the Secretary of State and the German Ambassador in Washington this week. It provides for mutual concessions in the granting of patents and eliminates the clause in the German regulations which requires the manufacture of the article upon which a patent is granted in the German kingdom within a specified time.

The Army, Navy and Pension bills are so far matured that their combined sum is easily estimated. The Navy bill as it passed the Senate amounted to nearly $137,000,000. The Army bill as reported carries for the military establishment $103,000,000 while the pension bill amounts to $160,000,000. Thus it will be seen that these three bills amounts to $400,000,000 and this enormous sum, more than enough to pay for the interoceanic canal at Panama will be expended by this Government in one short year of peace.

Nervous Prostration

"I suffered so with Nervous Prostration that I thought there was no use trying to get well. A friend recommended Dr. Miles' Nervine, and although skeptical at first, I soon found myself recovering, and am to-day well."
MRS. D. I. JONES,
5800 Broadway, Cleveland, O.

Much sickness is of nervous origin. It's the nerves that make the heart force the blood through the veins, the lungs take in oxygen, the stomach digest food, the liver secrete bile and the kidneys filter the blood. If any of these organs are weak, it is the fault of the nerves through which they get their strength. Dr. Miles' Nervine is a specific for the nerves. It soothes the irritation and assists in the generation of nerve force. Therefore you can hardly miss it if you take Dr. Miles' Nervine when sick. Get a bottle from your druggist. Take it all according to directions, and if it does not benefit he will return your money.

Why all this glorification about the return of the American fleet. It has sailed around the world and through all the seas making it is said forty-five thousand miles and returned without accident. Admiral Dewey has legraphed his congratulations to Admiral Sperry commanding the fleet telling him that his voyage is unique in the annals of navigation. But it seems to us that we have read of a voyage by Christopher Columbus four hundred years ago when there were no steam actuated propellers, no electric illumination, no searchlights and no wireless communication, no ports except the port of departure. We believe that Captain Cook and some others circumnavigated the globe with sailing vessels and having many interviews with hostile natives and even those having a taste for human flesh. These great iron clads are doubtless good ships. They are manned by good men, They have had a long cruise and a good time. They have some home, more experienced and fitter than when they started but there is no occasion for hysterical glorification.

It Saved His Leg

"All thought I'd lose my leg," writes J. A. Swenson, Watertown, Wis., "Ten years of eczema, that 15 doctors could not cure, had at last laid me up. Then Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured it sound and well." Infallible for Skin Eruptions, Eczema, Salt Rheum, Boils, Fever Sores, Burns, Scalds, Cuts and Piles. 25c at H. Milliman's.

Gumption on the Farm

Some men who love their wives seem realy afraid they will find it out.

Let us all know our own minds; everybody ought certainly to know this much.

Just one furrow plowed through a field that is soaked with water will hurry the process of drying a good many days.

About that boy of yours: Are you going to make the farm interesting to him this year by giving him a real stake in the stock and crops?

Now mind this: Make two sowings of clover seed, one now and one early in April. Use half red, other half alsike. Do not miss the alsike.

While it may not be advisable to spread manure on a side-hill when the ground is frozen, it is well enough to spread it on a plowed field that is nearly level.

Trusting to memory till night, before you set down money paid out, is dangerous. Do it right off. Carry a little book in your pocket and use it whenever there is anything to make a minute of.

This is the season of the year for farm auctions. There is always a great temptation to buy things at such places; just because of the excitement of the moment. But don't be led into getting stuff that you have no use for. It is simply a waste of money.

The first spring days make us all uneasy to get out on the land to work; but, fellow farmers, we can gain time and be sure of better crops by just sitting still until the earth gets dry enough to work. There is no surer way to spoil land than to work it when it is too wet.

When you haul off the rubbish in the spring do not dump it by the roadside. Haul it into some old mossy, brsky pasture and burn it up. Pile up the combustible material by itself. Dig a hole somewhere in the pasture and bury the old tin cans, old pails, etc., out of sight.

Before going down into a well, test the purity of the air by lowering a lighted candle or lantern. If the light burns dimly or goes out, the poisonous carbonic acid gas "damps" can be driven out by igniting a quantity of turpentine and sawdust or kerosene and rags, in a kettle, and lowering it to the surface of the water; and then, later, pour several bucketsful of water into the well from the top. Test again with the lantern, and note the improvement. We want Our Folks to be on the safe side.

Decidedly Mixed

A young lady visited a cooking school recently and her attention was divided between a dress worn by a friend and directions for making cake. So when she undertook to write the recipe for her mother, the old lady was paralyzed to read the following: "Take two pounds of flour, three rows plaiting down the front, the whites of two eggs cut bias, a pint of milk ruffled 'round the neck, half pound currants, with seven yards of bead trimming, grated lemon peel with lace fichu; stir well and add a semi-fitting paletot with visite sleeves; garnish with icing and passementerie. Bake in a moderately hot oven until the skirt is tucked from the waist down in either side, and finish with large satin rosettes."

Caught in the Act

A "Jack-the-Peeper" has been giving the residents along west Main street some trouble for several weeks. Tuesday night he was at his old tricks and was seen by a young lady. She reported the matter and soon a number of men were on the look-out. The peeper was caught and when found to be the son of a prominent family who lives in another section of town, he was given a lecture and sent home. It was evident that nothing but curiosity prompted the young man in the peeping but it is a dangerous business. —Allen County Herald. The above incident has occured at New Haven. The young fellow should have been given a lesson he would not have forgotten very soon.

False Report.

Notwithstanding the report that Craig Sheffer has sold out, he is still doing business at the old stand. Bring him your work.

Kills Would-Be Slayer.

A merciless murderer is Appendicitis with many victims. But Dr. King's New Life Pills kill it by prevention. They gently stimulate stomach, liver and bowels, preventing that clogging that invites appendicitis, curing Constipation, Billousness, Chills, Malaria, Headache and Indigestion. 25c at H. Milliman's.

Ball Lightning.

"Ball lightning," says a professor of meteorology, "is the most mysterious form of lightning. It sometimes behaves like a small animal with the most evil nature. Its shape is not always spherical, though generally so. Sometimes it is oval, sometimes it has a flame like a shell. It often looks like an orange and moves so slowly that one can follow it for several minutes.

"Once at Marseilles it entered a house like a ball of fire the size of a plate, struck the feet of a girl who was kneeling, terrified, rebounded to the ceiling, struck her feet again, then the ceiling. After bounding thus three or four times with perfect regularity it finally went through the keyhole.

"One day at Secondigny two boys, one aged twelve and the other fifteen, were playing in the street when they saw a ball like an orange rolling toward them. One touched it with his foot. It exploded, killing him instantly. His comrade was thrown down, but was not hurt."—Chicago Tribune.

The Brotherhood of Mercy.

The "Compagnia della Misericordia" (Brotherhood of Mercy) of Florence includes men of all ranks, who attend by day or night in cases of accident, to carry the wounded to the hospital, or the dead to their burial, to nurse the sick in their homes or to assist at fires, receiving no money or food in any house they visit. The great bell of the tower tolls to call the brothers on duty at the time, and even the grand duke has been seen to withdraw from table and silently respond to the summons. They repair quickly to their chapel by Santa Maria Novella, where their black glazed cotton robes are kept in locked and numbered drawers. "Black stoled, black hooded, like a dream," you may meet the procession at night, masked and of unknown identities, passing along by torchlight with a strange, wild chant, bearing the bier.

Great Things Yet to Be.

The world is only beginning. We have done nothing, said nothing, sung nothing. The history of the past is the history of one empire at a time. Now several empires must compete together—among them, that miracle of conquest and greater miracle of slow becoming, set dispersedly about the world, but linked together, grasped and held by the embracing sea, our own ocean state, "imperial Britain, mighty and aware." The world will yet know greater men than Caesar and Napoleon, deeper passion and wider humanity than Shakespeare's, a music still more elemental than Wagner's, a sadder soul than Schopenhauer's, a more triumphant intellect than Nietzsche's, beauty more enthralling than Helen's.—John Davidson in London Outlook.

NEWS ITEMS OF INTEREST.

Our railways have killed 8,558 persons within a year.

A ton of sugar beets yields 218 pounds of refined sugar.

A stalk of Indian corn uses up 21 pounds of water during its season.

Sawdust and other mill waste is now used in paper-making in Texas.

I Have AddeD

to my stock of Hardware a small stock of Furniture. Iron Beds, Husk and Cotton Felt Mattresses, Bed springs, Chairs Tables, Etc.

HARDWARE

My stock of Hardware is complete. I have the largest assortment of Reeds Flintstone ware ever seen in

ST. JOE

Look at the label, if it is Reeds Flintstone ware, it is warranted. Everybody is learning the quality of Keen Kutter tools. Pocket Knives, Razors, Chisels, Hatchets, Hammers Cross cut and Hand Saws, all kept in stock.

Goods are right, Prices are right.

D. J. Baker.

Mortgage Exemption

County Assessor John Treesh expects to carry out the spirit of the law regarding the filing of mortgage exemptions. He says:

"Mortgage exemption affidavits must be filed with the County Auditor between March 1 and May 1 of each year. A husband cannot make an affidavit for his wife, nor can she for him. Affidavits for property held by joint title must be signed by both parties. Credits cannot be given unless this provision is complied with."

The above embodies the statute and the construction placed upon it by the state board of taxation. One point that will be rigidly enforced is that of a husband making an affidavit for his wife or a wife for her husband and in case of where the property is held jointly both must sign the affidavits. This has not been abided by strictly in the past and often a wife would sign the affidavit for her husband, etc., but this year Mr. Treesh declares he will not allow it nor recognize any affidavits thus made. It will stand the people of DeKalb county in hand to make note of this in order to get the benefit of the exemption law.

Local Items.

Are you coming in?

Today President Taft will be inaugurated 27th President of the United States.

J. C. F. Abel of this place spent Saturday at New Haven the guest of his son and wife.

J. H. Lake M. D.

has permanently located, in the O. H. Widney property on 4th street, opposite opera house and invites you to call on him.

Calls answered day or night.

BELL PHONE NO. 82.

St. Joe, - Indiana.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills relieve pain.

Rolla Wiers spent a few days with his sister at Ft. Wayne last week.

The $1,000,000 mortgage of the Fort Wayne & Wabash Valley Traction company was received at Columbia City Wednesday by County Recorder Hildebrand for record. It consists of thirty-nine typewritten pages and the cost of recording will amount to $29.

I shot an arrow into the air: it fell in the distance, I knew not where, till a neighbor said that it killed his calf and I had to pay him six and a half ($6.50). I bought some poison to slay some rats, and a neighbor swore that it killed his cats, and rather than argue across the fence I paid him four dollars and fifty ($4.50) cents. One night I set sailing a toy balloon and hoped it would soar till it reached the moon. But the candle fell out on a farmer's straw, and he said I must settle or go to law. And that is the way with the random shot—it never hits in the proper spot. And the joke you spring, that you think so smart, may leave a wound in some fellow's heart.

FREE

SAMPLE OFFER----15 Days Only

Beautiful Bright Sparkling Famous

$5 BARNATTO DIAMOND RING

Ladies' or Gentlemen's.

Approximates genuine in brilliancy—detection baffles experts—fills every requirement of the most exacting—pleases the most fastidious—at only one-thirtieth the cost of the real diamond.

As a means of introducing this marvelous and wonderful, scintillating gem, securing as many new friends as quickly as possible, we are making a special inducement for the new year.

We want you to wear this beautiful Ring, this masterpiece of man's handicraft, this simulation that sparkles with all the beauty, and flashes with all the fire of

A Genuine Diamond

of the first water. We want you to show it to your friends and take orders for us, as it sells itself—sells at sight—and makes

100 per cent PROFIT 100 per cent

for you, absolutely without effort on your part.

We want good, honest representatives everywhere, in every locality, city or country, in fact, in every country throughout the world, both men and women, young or old, who will not sell or pawn the Barnatto Simulation Diamonds under the pretense that they are Genuine Gems, as such action with simulation diamonds sometimes leads to trouble or embarassment, as shown by the following article from The Chicago Examiner, Nov. 15, 1908:

The King of Diamonds Has License Taken Away. Alleged Rogue Gem Man Rails at Newspapers.

BURLINGTON, IA., Nov. 14—For sometime past newspapers in Iowa cities have been reporting the operations of a man whom they called "The King of Diamonds." It appears that there was nothing criminal in his operations, which consisted in selling "phoney" diamonds, but his methods of procedure were not exactly according to the rules. He usually drops into a jobbing house and tells of meeting such and such a representative of the house on the road and selling him a diamond, to be delivered at the store. He explains that the diamond is only an imitation, and offers to sell anybody else around the place the same thing. Thus he works up an interest and usually succeeds in selling some of his glassware. Mr. Jack of Diamonds dropped into City Auditor Norton a office one morning and secured a license to sell his wares. He had only been out a short time, however, until Chief of Police Hiltz learned of him. Calling in the peddler, he relieved him of his license and gave him back the money he had paid for it. As the man had committed no crime he was released. He was bitter against the newspapers for injuring his business.

If you want to wear a simulation diamond, to the ordinary observer almost like unto a gem of the purest ray serene, a fitting substitute for the genuine; or if you want to make money, don't wait—ACT TODAY, as this advertisement may not appear, nor this unusual and extraordinary opportunity occur, again. Fill out the coupon below and send at once—first come, first served.

THE BARNATTO DIAMOND CO.,
GIRARD BUILDING, CHICAGO. Write here name of paper.

Sirs:—Send free, sample offer, ring, earrings, stud or scarf (stick) pin, catalogue,

NAME .....R. F. D. B. No.....
.....STREET BOX.....
TOWN OR CITY.....STATE.....

For Female Ills

You should take, for female ills, a medicine which acts on the female organs and functions.

Cardui is not a man's medicine. It is for women. Its pure, healing, curative, vegetable ingredients, go direct to the womanly organs, relieve their pain and inflammation, and build up their strength.

"Tongue cannot tell," writes Miss Nola Smith, of Sweetser, Ind., "what has done for me. I am on my third bottle and am so much better. Before I began to take Cardui, I could not do a day's work. Now I can work all day. Mother took four bottles of Cardui before confinement, got along fine and has been real strong ever since."

WINE OF CARDUI

WOMAN'S RELIEF

At All Druggists

WRITE FOR FREE ADVICE, stating age and describing symptoms, to Ladies Advisory Dept., The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn. E 46

There are more McCall Patterns sold in the United States than of any other make of patterns. This is on account of their style, accuracy and simplicity.

McCall's Magazine (The Queen of Fashion) has more subscribers than any other Ladies' Magazine. One year's subscription (12 numbers) costs 50 cents. Latest number, 5 cents. Every subscriber gets a McCall Pattern Free. Subscribe today.

Lady Agents Wanted. Handsome premiums and liberal cash commission. Pattern Catalogue, of Fashions, and Premium Catalogue (showing 400 premiums) sent free. Address THE McCALL CO., New York.

HOTOGRAPHS.

We make them

AT THE

Tustison Studio.

Fine Portraits on Postals - - $1.00 per doz.

Call and get prices on
FAMILY GROUPES.

WHEN DEATH COMES

Friends and loved ones desire that the last services be conducted in the best way possible. The embalming and funeral need careful attention. Elza Kinsey, a licensed embalmer, takes charge of all funerals. Satisfaction guaranteed. Calls answered day or night

H. V. Kinsey & Son,

Phone No. Office 37-2. Residence 37-

MARCH

0519

L 903

SPENCERVILLE NEWS.

A Department of the ST. JOE NEWS for the Spencerville People.

Undertaking and Embalming.

Two Funeral Cars. One in White and the other in Black. We also furnish one elegant cab for Pall Bearers or friends. Prices reasonable

Beams & Baker.

Local Briefs

Old papers at News office.

Rink Saturday night. At St. Joe. Come,

John Timmerman's were guests of relatives at Grabill last Sunday.

John Metcalf of Garrett is visiting with Ed Beame and wife this week.

J. S. Hollabaugh and wife were guests of the latters parents, Wm. Goldsmith and family, at Hurshtown, Sunday.

A. L. Lake of Butler was at home Sunday.

Bert Davis and Dan Kelley were at Ft. Wayne Thursday.

A. F. Heyman and wife returned from Ft. Wayne Thursday.

George Henderson, wife and children were at Ft. Wayne Sunday.

Maude Kline and lady friend of Auburn, were visitors here Sunday.

Lee Hollopeter moved on the Herrick farm near Maysville, last week.

Louis Beery was at New Haven Sunday, the guest of his sister, Mrs. Repp.

Gus Hefner and wife of Butler, were Sunday guests of the latters mother, Mrs. Anna Boger.

Martin Davis was the guest of his daughter, west of Ft. Wayne, a couple of days last week.

Jennie and Arminta Steward were Sunday visitors with Newton Stewards', near the Wabash.

Mrs. Rosella Wilson of Norris Chapel, was the guest of her mother, Mrs. Lydia Jane Steward, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Beerbower, who live on the Paff farm, are the proud parents of a fine baby born last week.

Word came from Colorado that Clinton Webb and wife had been visited by the stork but we are unable to find out whether it was a boy or girl.

The Lutheran C. E. will hold their social at the home of W. W. Fisher, on Saturday evening, March 6. A good time has been arranged for you. Refreshments 10 cts.

Our light is the Bystrom

I am exclusive agent for Dekalb and Allen County. We have them for the country home and business rooms. You can tell them any where by the soft white light they give.

GEORGE MILLIMAN.
AGENT.

Spencerville R F D No 2

Mrs. Elmer Smith and son Ira, spent Monday with Mrs. Ida Kelley.

Mrs. J. Benninghoff assisted Mrs. Rhoads in her cooking, Thursday.

J. C. Ream of Akron, Ohio, is here visiting his cousin, Clint Wearley, and also other relatives.

Miss Fern Wearley spent Saturday and Sunday with her parents, and returned to Ft. Wayne, Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Benninghoff and son Golden, and Lafeo Lake of Butler, spent Sunday with Nelson Lakes'.

Send in your news.

Ethel Baker is some better this week.

The baby of Mrs. Flossie Wilson has the chicken pox.

Aaron Hart and Wm. Rhoades are new subscribers to The News.

You will get relief from Pain when Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills are taken.

Mrs. Wm. Henderson visited for the past week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Porter Baker.

Chas. Rhoades purchased a barn of J. F. Baltz and will move same on farm, north of town.

Mrs. Florence Stafford and daughter Wilda, of Goshen, are visiting with Chas. Freece and family.

Tom Farner will move on the John Benninghoff farm and Solomon Goldsmith will move into his house.

Several of our people are trying to dispose of their property. If they do, quite a bit of moving will be done.

Joel Betz will be a citizen of our town, this week.

H. G. Hursh was at Ft. Wayne and Garrett, Saturday and Sunday, visiting friends and relatives.

The Y. P. S. C. E. subject for next Sunday evening is "The Psalms and What They Teach". All invited.

Mr. Nick Goldsmith will not move into the Shutt home. It is reported that Mr. Gloyd will move into same.

Preaching services will be held at the Lutheran church a week from Sunday. Watch for other announcements.

F. L. Beams in the rural carriers examination at Auburn, received ninety-nine per cent being the highest grade of those taking the examination from this place.

Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Announcement.

LOW RATES TO PITTSBURGH PA., account Ninth Annual Bowling Tournament. March 8th. and 15th.

HOMESEEKERS' EXCURSION FARE to points in the West, Northwest and Southwest. March 16 and 1st and 3rd Tuesday in each month April to November inclusive.

VERY LOW - COLONIST FARE to points in the west, northwest and southwest, Canada and Mexico March 1 to April 30.

Consult nearest B. & O. agent for particulars.

May Sign up Contract

C. E. Hull received a contract from Harry Martin, Mgr. of the Kalamazoo Base Ball Club which is a member of the Southern Michigan League. Kalamazoo finished 2nd. in the past season. It is thought that he will sign up with the above team. While with Tetumech of same league Hull lost his only game with Kalamazoo.

Obituary

Mrs. Susan Boger of Springfield township, Allen County, died at her home near Georgetown on Tuesday of last week, after a few days illness of Pneumonia. She was born in Franklin County, Penn., in 1844 and died February 23, 1909. In 1863 she came with her parents from Pennsylvania to Seneca Co., Ohio, and in 1863 she came to Allen Co., and has resided here the balance of her life. She was the mother of seven children, two of which with their father preceeded her to the spirit world. She leaves four girls, one son, one brother and six sisters to mourn their loss. She is a sister of J. F. Baltz of this city. The funeral services were held Friday at 10 o'clock from the Springfield Center church. Beams & Baker funeral directors.

DON'T

Neglect A Cough

It may be the cause of Pneumonia

Bowman's Cough Medicine.
Every bottle Guaranteed.
—AT—
BOWMAN'S

Ray Bowman of St. Joe, took dinner with Mariah Oberholtzer, Sunday.

Mrs. L. W. Steward went to Fort Wayne, Monday.

Mrs. Samuel Steward entertained the Ladies Guild, last Thursday afternoon, and a good meeting was had. They decided to continue their sales on Saturday as before owing to the good support given them.

Our farmer friend Mr. Wm. Rhoades, who lives east of here, has installed a cement post machine which will be put to running in full blast shortly Several styles of posts will be made and he thinks the posts are a success and when it comes to the cost it is very small in proportion to other posts.

Near Death in Big Pond

It was a thrilling experience to Mrs. Ida Soper to face death. "For years a severe lung trouble gave me intense suffering," she writes, "and several times nearly caused my death. All remedies failed and doctors said I was incurable. Then Dr. King's New Discovery brought quick relief and a cure so permanent that I have not been troubled in twelve years." Mrs. Soper lives in Big Pond, Pa. It works wonders in Coughs and Colds, Sore Lungs, Hemorrhages, La-Grippe, Asthma, Croup, Whooping Cough and all Bronchial affections- 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by H. Milliman.

J D Fetters

TRUSTEE
of Concord Township.

OFFICE DAY:
THURSDAY OF EACH WEEK
at his farm residence One mile
EAST OF CONCORD.

W. M. ALLEN
Barber.

I wish to inform my patrons that I am now able to commence my work as barber and solicit your patronage in my line of work. We are here for your work and guarantee to do it in first class.

Notary Public

I am also in a position to do your Notary work and make a specialty of writing deeds and mortgages.

S. S. 'Kimes
—M. D.—

Having located in the Markle building, is now ready to answer all calls, day or night. He invites you to call at the office and is ready to extend you every courtesy in keeping with the profession.

Phone No. 10.
Spencerville, Ind.

Electric Bitters

Succeed when everything else fails. In nervous prostration and female weaknesses they are the supreme remedy, as thousands have testified.

FOR KIDNEY, LIVER AND STOMACH TROUBLE

It is the best medicine ever sold over a druggist's counter.

For Ladies.

We call your attention to our extra fine line of the famous

J. C. C. Corsets

A good line to select from and prices ranging from

50 Cents to $1.00

Beams & Co.

Spring Work

will soon be upon you and to go into your seasons work well shod will add to the pleasure of it. When in need of Heavy Work Shoes come in and let us fix you out.

Prices Right

Interurban Talk.

There is lots of interurban building talk in the air but whether it means anything substantial we do not know.

There is a new story that the Bucklen line now in operation from Angola to Lagrange will build eastward to Pioneer this summer to connect with the Toledo and Western and then build west to Elkhart or South Bend and thus form an interurban line from Toledo to Chicago and by this bold stroke to hem in both the Toledo and Chicago and the Toledo and Indiana lines. The only way to head this off is the extension of the line west from Bryan through Butler to Waterloo.

Then there comes the story of a line that is coming from Battle Creek, Mich., to Cold Water and from that place to Angola, and thence south to Waterloo. There is some litigation in the Michigan courts that is holding back the construction of this line.

The Butler people should be awake to their interests. The Battle Creek line, if built, should come from Angola, through Hamilton, Butler, St. Joe, Spencerville and on to Ft. Wayne, and the connection of the Toledo & Indiana and Toledo & Chicago lines should be encouraged.—Ex. A week ago a company began to investigate the St. Joe line and started a survey from Robison Park as far as Leo. We haven't heard anything later but let us hope for it.

Shugers Dead

The death of Cory Shugers, a prominent Auburn man, was due to an attack of apoplexy, which came upon him as he was leaving the breakfast table, last Wednesday morning.

WANT-ED!

50 Subscribers.

Pretty Rich.

A rug said to be worth more than $50,000 and said to be the finest in the world was presented to the White House as a gift to the nation and was accepted by President Roosevelt. It will be placed in the parlor of the president's home. The doner was H. H. Topakyan, a rich Armenian of New York City. The rug is six and a half feet long and four and a half feet wide and is of Imperial silk, heavily jeweled with rich pearls, turquoises, rubies and other Oriental stones.

PATENTS

PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo. for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc. IN ALL COUNTRIES. Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent. Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively. Write or come to us at 622 Ninth Street, opp. United States Patent Office, WASHINGTON, D. C.

CA·SNOW & CO.

A LETTER

Kind Friend and Patron:—

The mission of this letter is to announce that I have purchased the A. F. Heyman lumber yard of this place. Please accept this with my compliments and best wishes and in the hope that you will find it useful and of service to you financially as well as to myself. If I have been getting your business I thank you and trust you will keep it coming it is appreciated and I will endeavor to be deserving of it. It has always been one of my cardinal principles, that success, in business can only be obtained by giving good goods, prompt service and courteous treatment. I place myself in the position of the other fellow and try to look at matters from his point of view, therefore I give all that and devote all my efforts and energies to serve my customers so they will feel like coming again. I am in a position to furnish anything in the line of building material such as hard and soft pine, poplar, domestic timber, doors, windows, sash, glass, locks and hinges, also, all kinds of moulding used in building, shingles, roofing slate, roofing felt, and composition roofing, galvanized ridge irons and valleys, cement plasters, Royal & American wire fence, barb wire, smooth wire, wire nails of all kinds, hard and soft coal, and if I have not in stock in building material that which you want I can get it for you, and my prices will be right according to grades. Thanking you for past favors and soliciting your future patronage I remain,

Yours Truly,
L. W. Steward.

You should read The News every week and keep posted on the local happenings of Spencerville.

MARCH

L 903

0520

Really a Compliment.

Aaron Bancroft, the father of the historian, was a Massachusetts clergyman who revolted against the Calvinism of the day. The young minister found himself held at arm's length by the surrounding clergy. In "The Life and Letters of George Bancroft" M. A. DeW. Howe quotes the following item from the old minister's "Memoranda":

An honest but not very intelligent farmer of my parish, some ten years ago, accosted me in this manner:

"Well, Mr. Bancroft, what do you think the people of the old parish say of you now?"

I answered, "I hope something very good."

"They say, 'If we find fault with him he does not mind it at all; and if we praise him he does not mind it, but keeps steadily on his own way; we therefore have concluded that it is best to let him alone.'"

The farmer mentioned the fact as a subject of laughter, but I thought, and still think that, taking the declaration in its bearings, it was the prettiest compliment I have received through my whole life.

Salzer's Seed Produce.

We recently saw a letter from Wm. Underwood, of Patchogue, N. Y., addressed to the John A. Salzer Seed Co., Box C, La Crosse, Wis., that has this to say:

"I planted Salzer's Independence Corn. I sold 7,000 ears before the first Sweet Corn of other gardeners around Long Island was ready to eat. I sold them as high as $2.50 per 100 ears.

"I planted Salzer's Earliest Cucumber seed and first, last and all the time. I think that Salzer's Earliest are the greatest I ever saw. They are such bearers, and so fine."

Accommodating.

"Cynthia Brown has such a nice young man," confided the postmistress at Bacon Ridge. "He is much better than that other beau she used to have."

"Have you ever met him, dear?" asked old Mrs. Scribbs, who came in with a bucket of eggs.

"Er—no, but he writes all his love letters right on postal cyards, and I don't have the least bit of trouble to read every word of them."

A Cure for Colds and Grip.

There is inconvenience, suffering and danger in a cold, and the wonder is that people will take so few precautions against colds. One or two Lane's Pleasant Tablets (be sure of the name) taken when the first snuffly feeling appears, will stop the progress of a cold and save a great deal of unnecessary suffering. Druggists and dealers generally sell these tablets, price 25 cents. If you cannot get them send to Orator F. Woodward, LeRoy, N. Y. Sample free.

Sat on the Salmon.

Mr. and Mrs. Gross had a funny experience with an eight-pound salmon at Green lake recently. After being hooked the salmon jumped right into the arms of Mrs. Gross and slid through to the bottom of the boat. Mrs. Gross promptly sat on the fish and made good its capture.—Montreal Herald.

All Up-to-Date Housekeepers

Use Red Cross Ball Blue. It makes the clothes clean and sweet as when new. All Grocers.

Prince Pierre's Point.

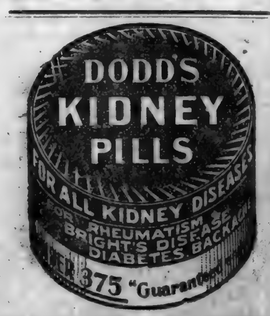
Wit illumines one of the dueling stories in Monsieur Ronzier-Dorciere's recent book, "Sur Le Pre."

Prince Pierre Bonaparte, and a French gentleman, Monsieur de la Valette, fought with pistols.

Monsieur de la Valette fired first and missed. The prince fired, hit De la Valette just above the belt, but did not wound him, owing to a five-franc piece in his waistcoat pocket, against which the bullet was flattened.

"Sir," said Prince Bonaparte to his adversary, holding out his hand, "let us make friends, and allow me to congratulate you on the foresight with which you have invested your money."

Fish live in the ocean at a depth of 18,000 feet.



RATS AND MICE
EXTERMINATED BY DANYSZ VIRUS

The wonderful, new bacteriological preparation, discovered and prepared by Dr. Jean Danysz, Director of the Laboratory of Agricultural Micro-Biology at the Pasteur Institute, Paris. NOT A POISON. HARMLESS TO HUMAN BEINGS, DOMESTIC AND OTHER ANIMALS, BIRDS, etc., yet fatal to rats and mice. The vermin always go outside to die. Easily prepared and applied. HOW MUCH TO USE. Small house one tube, ordinary dwellings three tubes (if rats are numerous not less than six to ten). One or two dozen tubes for stable with hay loft and yard adjoining. Similar quantity on each rat infested floor of warehouse or granary. For each 5,000 square feet floor space. Towns or estates 1 to 2 dozen per acre inhabited area; 5 to 6 tubes per acre in open field. Sold in glass tubes, full direction round each tube. 2 tubes 75c; 3 tubes $1.10, or $5.00 per dozen, delivered.

Independent Chemical Company
25 OLD SLIP NEW YORK, N.Y.

ONION SEED 60 cts. a lb.

Per Salzer's catalog page 220.

Largest growers of onion and vegetable seeds in the world. Big catalog free; or, send 10c in stamps and receive catalog and 1000 kernels each of onions, cabbage, celery, radishes, 1700 each lettuce, rutabaga, turnips, 700 parsley, 700 tomatoes, 200 melons, 1000 charming flower seeds, in all 10,000 kernels, easily worth $1.00 of any man's money. Or, send 20c and we will add one pkg. of Earliest Peep O'Day Sweet Corn.

SALZER SEED CO., Box CH La Crosse, Wis.

THE POPULAR PULPIT

WANTS DOOR KEPT OPEN.

By Rev. Guy Arthur Jamieson.

And the door was shut.—Matthew xxv., 10.

The foolish virgins did not expect to find the door closed upon them. It was their own foolishness that resulted in this keen disappointment and in the story of their humiliation is suggested to us as a sad truth—that we may unconsciously, unwittingly have the door to all that is best and worthiest closed on us.

I think very few people purposely refuse to seek the best things of life. But indifference and neglect may become a sin, and close the door to life's best blessings. But these same persons may close the door on Christ, but there are lines of conduct that we may follow, and we never dream that we are raising barriers between ourselves and the best. There are certain things that we may do until we will no longer respond to the best thoughts and feelings.

Darwin tells us that in early life he was fond of music; found great pleasure in reading Shakespeare. But in after years he so concentrated his mind and soul on the investigation and study of nature that he lost his taste for music, no longer cared for Shakespeare. The great poet no longer made an appeal; the faculty of music became atrophied. He had no quarrel with Shakespeare or music; they had not changed. He still knew the one to be the greatest poetical genius of the centuries; the other one of God's avenues of speaking to man some of his best emotions and aspirations, and yet there was no longer anything in the soul of Darwin that responded to their appeal. Unwittingly he had closed the door on Shakespeare and music.

It may not be a serious matter to close the door for a time on music and poetry, but there are things which we dare not shut out of our lives even for a day. Every influence that makes for development, the uplifting, the noble, the Christ-like, the ideal, we must be careful that we do not intentionally or thoughtlessly shut out. And every day as we go forth to meet life we are consciously or unconsciously opening or shutting the door to life's best things—in our thought, in our emotions, in our acts, in our friends, in our amusements, in all our habits.

We may think lightly of these things until some day when we have an important choice to make, a critical temptation to face, an undertaking to carry through, that may affect our whole destiny. And if we have not been living in the way that will enable us to make the right choice, meet the temptation or succeed in the undertaking, we, like the foolish virgins, will find the door shut.

Our whole life is concerned in every choice we make, in every temptation we master, in every undertaking we accomplish. Perhaps we never meant to shut the door on purity and power, on character and success, but somehow they have escaped into the dim distance. We never meant to grow indifferent to the appeals made upon the soul by higher things, nor to grow hard toward our fellow, nor to let life's best opportunities slip, but suddenly our eyes are open and we find that the door is shut. Like the foolish virgins, thoughtlessly we have shut the door on the Master.

A SINFUL UNSELFISHNESS.

By Henry F. Cope.

"Be strong."—Eph. vi., 10.

There is such a thing as a sinful type of unselfishness; really, it is the most refined and elusive form of self-love. In days not altogether past it made a certain caricature of religion popular with many. It held up the pious ideal of self-abnegation and cultivated the clothful pleasures of nonentity and vacuity.

Many felt that they were pious because they purchased a future heaven at the bargain price of foregoing some present grosser pleasures. Unselfishness came to mean the emptying of the life of all its powers and present values, perhaps because an empty life would more readily float to the skies.

Manhood protested against such piety and a virile selfishness asserted itself. We asked could it be that our faculties are ours only to suppress them, that all life is but the long mockery of a struggle with its own forces? So far as we could see, might not red blooded sinners be better for this world than anemic saints?

Yet to-day many good and honest people are greatly worried over their irrepressible desire to make the most of their lives. They never rejoice in life in its richness and fullness, in reaching out into further powers, without some qualms of conscience lest they are sacrificing the spiritual to the flesh and the future to the present.

Modern life has swung far away from the mystic religious ideals; it has rather become an onsurging rush for the best, richest, deepest that life seems to afford. In its search for pleasure, knowledge, and power it is but seeking to make more of the self, to make each life fuller and more complete, and to satisfy in some measure our common passion for more life.

Does this eager search for more life mean that we are becoming a grossly selfish people? Does it lay on each a compulsion to live for his own life alone? To some it seems to signify the full life for the strong at any cost to the weak; living becomes a great battle and every man's business conquest and carnage.

Is the only alternative to such a bloodthirsty philosophy the one of the life of renunciation, separation, and voluntary atrophy of all one's powers? Is there any way of satisfying the dual demands felt at least by the best natures, that the fullness of life shall be found for the self, and that somehow one may serve and help others?

If we put those two motives together do we not have the highest and richest life the world has yet conceived? The life lived out to its own fullness, yet so lived only with the motive of leading all lives out to their fullness, is saved both from the paralysis of renunciation and the grossness of greed.

We ought to be the best we know; there is a moral and spiritual obligation on every one of us to find the furthest reaches of life, to bring personality and powers to their perfection. Life is ours only to make it larger. These years are our opportunity to enrich all the years. No power, faculty, or possibility is ours for which we shall not have to render account at the great assize of the universe and by its laws of life's obligations.

Then comes the saving motive in this process of seeking the full life; it is desired not for itself but for its service. We would make the most of ourselves that we may have the more to give to the friend, the neighbor, the city, the times, our world.

In the exercise of our powers for others we secure their fullness for ourselves. No life finds its fullness until it finds the work it can do. No powers remain ours save those we apply in service. That selfishness which grasps at power only for purposes of personal profit brings upon itself the deepest loss.

The good life is the one that is great with goodness, enriched with every resource, daily growing, becoming more, enjoying more, and finding such completion in the attempt to awaken dormant lives, to lift lagging lives, and to lead its fellows into the life that is life indeed.

SERMONETTES.

No man ever was convicted by scolding.

Daily bread is not sweet without daily duty.

You cannot work for God without love for men.

There is nothing resistless in the restless life.

He only always is wise who ever is gaining wisdom.

The good we do is the best antidote to the ill we rue.

You cannot lift the world by pulling down your face.

An honest smile is worth ten million sunless sermons.

Sighing for a lost Eden will not make a new earth.

The double-faced man always is convincing—to himself.

Days are sacred in proportion as they serve high ends.

If your faith possesses your heart it will propel your feet.

Many an alliance with sin is hidden by a defiance of the devil.

The heart is dead when the smile of a child cannot stir its depths.

People with putty heads usually like to think they have brittle hearts.

The best way to worship the heavenly child is to give every child some heaven.

Whether earth shall be like heaven depends on whether heaven is in our hearts.

Some men think the only way to preserve the landmarks is to sit on the fence.

Folks who take their time from every clock are always sure the sun is off his schedule.

Many are soured on life because they have been trying to make its spice do for the bread of life.

You can teach a congregation to enjoy sermons of nothing but wind, but they will die of their education.

When a man steals the honey from sin he always tells himself that he will pay for it with the coin of repentance.

DON'TS FOR CHURCHMEN.

Don't fail to learn that singing cures more sorrow than sighing.

Don't expect to open the doors of paradise by knocking the saints.

Don't expect to become wedded to truth by eloping with a single idea.

Don't forget that character is the only absolutely indispensable capital.

Don't hesitate to fight your appetite if you would realize from your aspirations.

Don't forget that only wings of pride imagine themselves rising on the breath of applause.

Don't make the mistake of substituting the church as an institution for the church as an aspiration.

Don't fail to observe that the valleys of service everywhere outnumber the mountains of transfiguration.

Drop Too Much.

Dinks—Ballooning is getting to be more and more popular every day. They say it is an easy fad to drop in to.

Winks—Yes, and a still easier fad to drop out of.

The Public Pays the Freight.

Expressed in terms of value, the enormous drain for lumber, which uses up more than half of the entire remaining supply, merely staggers belief. But put it on your bill as sashes, doors, blinds, floors, roofs, stairway-railings, ornamental house-fittings, office and store fixtures—the thousand and one items you pay for either through your landlord or direct to your builder; then add the item for shingles and laths, which amounts in the aggregate to some thirty millions a year; is it difficult to see why, with an average increase of twenty to fifty per cent in the cost of the raw materials for these products, your rent and house-building cost more, by just so much, than they did ten, or even five years ago, exclusive of labor?—Success Magazine.

WISHED FOR DEATH.

Sufferings From Kidney Troubles Were So Acute.

Mrs. Josephine Jeffery, 24th and Washington Sts., Marion, Ind., says: "To look back upon what I have gone through, it seems a miracle that I live, and I feel that I owe it to Doan's Kidney Pills. My case developed gradually. First, backache, floating spots before my eyes, weakness and exhaustion, then a terrible steady pain over the kidneys and an extreme nervousness. Doctors finally said there was no hope for me, but I began using Doan's Kidney Pills and gradually recovered my health."

Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Real Machine Made.

Stubb—This paper complains that there are no courtships like those of the olden days. It says there are too many machine-made proposals. What are machine-made proposals?"

Penn—Proposals made in automobiles, I guess.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS

PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refunded. 50c.

Hard Bubble.

Gunner—He used to be a pessimist and say the world was a bubble. I understand he has changed his opinion.

Guyer—Yes; you see, he fell out of an airship not long ago.

Red Cross Ball Blue

Should be in every home. Ask your grocer for it. Large 2oz. package, 5 cents.

When We Are Angry.

According to Dr. Maurice de Fleury, a distinguished French scientist, every time one becomes angry one's vitality sinks. After even the most artfully suppressed signs of bad temper the vitality becomes smaller and smaller, until finally nothing is left. Anger is a certain kind of cerebral excitement, explains Dr. de Fleury. The hypersthenic subject is always on its verge, while the neurasthenic becomes infuriated only by a sudden bound of reaction excited from without. But at that moment when they are let loose the two are alike, save that the strong man is a blinder brute, while the weak man is somewhat of an actor and seems to aim at effect.

Prof. Lange, of the University of Copenhagen, holds that "all emotions are due to disorders of the circulation of the blood, and anger, in particular, to a very intense dilation of the small arteries of the brain." He describes redness and swelling of the face as a constant sign of anger, forgetting the "white rage" which is so frequent and impressive.

But he has brought into strong relief this capital fact—that anger is a state of general hyperenervation. The whole organism, the muscles and glands — for anger has its tears, sweats and foaming of the mouth—set in action by a superabundance of nervous influx, begin to work to excess, acting for the mere sake of acting, in disorder, without aim, without utility, solely to relieve evertension.

NEW IDEA

Helped Wis. Couple.

It doesn't pay to stick too closely to old notions of things. New ideas often lead to better health, success and happiness.

A Wis. couple examined an idea new to them and stepped up several rounds on the health ladder. The husband writes:

"Several years ago we suffered from coffee drinking, were sleepless, nervous, sallow, weak, and irritable. My wife and I both loved coffee and thought it was a bracer" (delusion).

"Finally, after years of suffering, we read of Postum and the harmfulness of coffee, and believing that to grow we should give some attention to new ideas, we decided to test Postum.

"When we made it right we liked it and were relieved of ills caused by coffee. Our friends noticed the change—fresher skin, sturdier nerves, better temper, etc.

"These changes were not sudden, but relief increased as we continued to drink and enjoy Postum, and we lost the desire for coffee.

"Many of our friends did not like Postum at first, because they did not make it right. But when they boiled Postum according to directions on pkg., until it was dark and rich, they liked it better than coffee and were benefited by the change." "There's a Reason."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville" in pkgs.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true and full of human interest.

THINGS YOU MAY NOT KNOW

In one year the escapement wheel of a watch makes 731,860 revolutions.

Ninety per cent of the neuralgic headaches are attributed to eye defects.

Not more than one-quarter of the sugar consumed in the United States is produced within its borders.

Every time you spend a dollar at a railroad ticket office or freight office, you pay 50 cents for employes' wages.

School children of Liege, Belgium, and on deposit in the school children's savings banks last July the sum of $71,778.

About 60 per cent of the population of Western Habana province, Cuba, for generations has been connected in one way or another with tobacco growing.

A chain of 250 stores throughout the country will soon be lighted with the new Tungsten lamps. It will take 25,000 lamps to illuminate the interiors of these places of business.

Competent engineers estimate that there is 2,000,000 horsepower which could be easily developed from waterpower in this country. This would save annually 225,000,000 tons of coal.

Mrs. J. L. Parks, of Los Angeles married at 13, has seventeen living children, nine of whom are caring for themselves out in the world and eight are now at home with her. She is now 48 and has just been "investigated" by the Children's Humane Society for speaking crossly to her brood.

Peanuts form one of the largest crops over a large part of the northern province of China, and enter rather heavily into both the china coast and foreign trade. They go chiefly to Russian ports, Siam, Japan and Great Britain. Of the peanut oil the United States buys $500,000 worth a year.

A member of the Aquarium Society of Philadelphia, an organization for the breeding of fancy fish, recently received a diploma for a particularly fine goldfish. The glistening, scaly little thing weighed less than two ounces but an offer of $100 was promptly made for it. Fish at nearly $1,000 a pound—think of it!

Many musk ox robes are in use in the province of Ontario for cold weather driving. They are rare and too costly to be common. I know of none being exported from the district to the United States. No more luxurious robe can be had than the musk ox. Its long, woolly fur, some of it measuring fourteen inches long, defies the severest cold.—Fur News.

In commenting on the briquets made in Swansea, Consul Jesse H. Johnson says: "There are mountains of coal dust in the anthracite districts of Pennsylvania, and there is no reason why these should not be utilized. Such an industry would benefit the American coal owners and the briquets would find a ready sale in the home markets and abroad, particularly to countries where favorable freights could be secured."

Rio Janeiro proposes to construct the greatest dock system in South America, if not in the whole western hemisphere. The plans call for about ten miles of docks, in addition to the two miles already provided for. The idea is that the additional docks shall consist at first of three great piers built at a distance of 1,115 feet from each other. Completed, these docks will have a frontage of 63,320 feet, or about twelve miles. The additions planned will cost about $19,000,000.

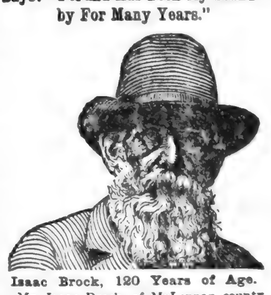
Strangers are sometimes surprised by the fear of vipers which exists in some parts of France. These little venomous snakes are dangerous both to man and beast. Recently a movement has been made to protect the vipers, on the ground that they render valuable services in destroying rodents, mollusks, and other small noxious animals, but a writer in the Journal of Practical Agriculture strenuously opposes this, declaring that the services performed by the vipers are of small worth compared with the accidents, frequently mortal, which they cause.

Most Chinese are slow about forswearing Oriental drugs and quackery. Many of them live here for years before they can be tempted to sample Occidental medicines, and some of them live and die without making the experiment. In fact, when a Chinese turns cosmopolitan taking American medicines is his final accomplishment. But when he does get the medicine habit quinine is his long suit. Whether or not it is good for what ails him, every Chinese who has learned to patronize American drug stores feeds his system with quinine pills.—New York Pharmaceutical Era.

Sixty miles of the Chicago, St. Paul and Milwaukee Railroad, from Taft, Mont., to St. Joe, Idaho, has cost $11,000,000. This was at the rate of $190,000 a mile, which was the heaviest amount ever paid by any railroad company in the world for the construction of a line of similar length. In this piece of road there are thirty-five tunnels, the longest being more than 8,000 feet through solid rock. The company expects that within five years after the completion of the road, which is now being rushed through Idaho and Washington to the Sound, the traffic will be so large it will be necessary to double track the line in order to handle the volume of business. The line will bisect the Palouse and part of the Big Bend wheat belts, which sent more than 40,000,000 bushels of grain to market in 1907.

ONE OF THE OLDEST MEN IN AMERICA.

Says: "Peruna Has Been My Stand-by For Many Years."



Isaac Brock, 120 Years of Age.

Mr. Isaac Brock, of McLennan county, Tex., is an ardent friend to Peruna and speaks of it in the following terms:

"Dr. Hartman's remedy, Peruna, I have found to be the best, if not the only reliable remedy for COUGHS, COLDS, CATARRH and diarrhea.

"Peruna has been my stand-by for many years, and I attribute my good health and my extreme age to this remedy. It exactly meets all my requirements.

"I have come to rely upon it almost entirely for the many little things for which I need medicine. I believe it to be especially valuable to old people."

Isaac Brock.

Kemp's Balsam

Will stop any cough that can be stopped by any medicine and cure coughs that cannot be cured by any other medicine.

It is always the best cough cure. You cannot afford to take chances on any other kind.

KEMP'S BALSAM cures coughs, colds, bronchitis, grip, asthma and consumption in first stages.

It does not contain alcohol, opium, morphine, or any other narcotic, poisonous or harmful drug.

Paxtine
TOILET ANTISEPTIC

Keeps the breath, teeth, mouth and body antiseptically clean and free from unhealthy germ-life and disagreeable odors, which water, soap and tooth preparations alone cannot do. A germicidal, disinfecting and deodorizing toilet requisite of exceptional excellence and economy. Invaluable for inflamed eyes, throat and nasal and uterine catarrh. At drug and toilet stores, 50 cents, or by mail postpaid.

Large Trial Sample

WITH "HEALTH AND BEAUTY" BOOK SENT FREE

THE PAXTON TOILET CO., Boston, Mass.

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, TORPID LIVER. They regulate the Bowels. Purely Vegetable.

SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Genuine Must Bear Fac-Simile Signature

Brentwood

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.

PILES PAY IF CURED

We pay postage and send FREE RED CROSS PILE and Fistula Cure.

REX CO., Dept. 55, Minneapolis, Minn.

FOR SALE—Michigan Farms: All sizes, Southern and Central Michigan. Write for list and terms. Eldo Murray & Co., Charlotte, Mich.

PISO'S

Keep It on Hand!

Coughs and colds may come any member of the family any time. Many a bad cold has been averted and much sickness and suffering has been saved by the prompt use of Piso's Cure. There is nothing like it to break up coughs and colds. There is no harmful or habit forming drug in it. Children like it. Druggists sell it. 25 cts.

25 CTS. 25 CTS.

CURES

At all druggists', 25 cts.

MARCH

9521

L 903

OWES HER LIFE TO

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Vienna, W. Va.—"I feel that I owe the last ten years of my life to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Eleven years ago I was a walking shadow. I had been under the doctor's care but got no relief. My husband persuaded me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it worked like a charm. It relieved all my pains and misery. I advise all suffering women to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—MRS. EMMA WHEATON, Vienna, W. Va.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of female diseases of any similar medicine in the country, and thousands of voluntary testimonials are on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., from women who have been cured from almost every form of female complaints, inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion and nervous prostration. Every such suffering woman owes it to herself to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial.

If you would like special advice about your case write a confidential letter to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

WESTERN CANADA THE PENNANT WINNER

160 ACRES FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

"The Last Best West."

The Government of Canada now gives to every Actual Settler 160 acres of wheat-growing land free and an additional 160 acres at $3.00 an acre.

The 300,000 contented American Settlers making their homes in Western Canada is the best evidence of the superiority of that country. They are becoming rich, growing from 25 to 50 bushels wheat to the acre; 60 to 110 bushels oats and 45 to 60 bushels barley, besides having splendid herds of cattle raised on the prairie grass. Dairying is an important industry.

The crop of 1908 still keeps Western Canada in the lead. The world will soon look to it as its food-producer.

"The thing which most impressed us was the magnitude of the country that is available for agricultural purposes."—National Editorial Correspondence, 1908.

Low Railway Rates, good schools and churches, markets convenient, Prices the Highest, climate perfect.

Lands are for sale by Railway and Land Companies. Descriptive pamphlets and maps sent free. For Railway Rates and other information apply to W. D. Scott, Superintendent of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or W. H. Rogers, 3d Floor Traction-Terminal Building, Indianapolis, Ind., and H. M. Williams, Room 2e, Law Building, Toledo, Ohio, Authorized Government Agents.

Please say where you saw this advertisement.

W. L. DOUGLAS $3.00 SHOES $3.50

The Reason I Make and Sell More Men's $3.00 & $3.50 Shoes Than Any Other Manufacturer is because I give the wearer the benefit of the most complete organization of trained experts and skilled shoemakers in the country.

The selection of the leathers for each part of the shoe, and every detail of the making in every department, is looked after by the best shoemakers in the shoe industry.

If I could show you how carefully W. L. Douglas shoes are made, you would then understand why they hold their shape, fit better, and wear longer than any other make.

My Method of Tanning the Soles makes them More Flexible and Longer Wearing than any others.

Shoes for Every Member of the Family, Men, Boys, Women, Misses and Children.

For sale by shoe dealers everywhere.

CAUTION! None genuine without W. L. Douglas name and price stamped on bottom.

Fast Color Eyelets Used Exclusively. Catalog mailed free. W. L. DOUGLAS, 147 Spark St., Brockton, Mass.

Get your Letter Paper and Envelopes printed at this office. We can give you the

EAGLE LINEN PAPER and ENVELOPES

PROOF in the Morning!

We tell you about how good you'll feel after taking a CASCARET—that millions of people—buy, use and recommend them—But that's talk—you buy a box now—take as directed to-night and get the proof in the morning—After you know CASCARETS you'll never be without them. 913

CASCARETS 10c a box for a week's treatment, all druggists. Biggest seller in the world. Million boxes a month.

GRE-SOLVENT—Instantly dissolves grease, grime, paint, etc., from hands. Benefits skin. Everyone buys. Liberal proposition to agents. Samples free. Utility Co., 636 W. 44th St., N. Y. City.

If afflicted with Sore Eyes, use THOMPSON'S EYE WATER

HAD WEEPING ECZEMA.

Face and Neck Were Raw—Terrible Itching, Inflammation and Soreness—All Treatments Failed—Cuticura a Great Success.

"Eczema began over the top of my ear. It cracked and then began to spread. I had three different doctors and tried several things, but they did me no good. At last one side of my face and my neck were raw. The water ran out of it so that I had to wear medicated cotton, and it was so inflamed and sore that I had to put a piece of cloth over my pillow to keep the water from it, and it would stain the cloth a sort of yellow. The eczema itched so that it seemed as though I could tear my face all to pieces. Then I began to use the Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and it was not more than three months before it was all healed up. Miss Ann Pearsons, Northfield, Vt., Dec. 19, 1907."

Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props. of Cuticura Remedies, Boston.

WELL PLEASED WITH WESTERN CANADA.

Good Crops, Splendid Climate and Well-Enforced Laws.

Mr. George E. Hunt is a Maidstone farmer, who writes a Canadian Government agent as follows: It was the first week in November, 1907, when we arrived here. There was very little snow or cold weather until after the holidays, then the snow and cold increased, but to no great extent. I think the coldest I heard of was 30 degrees below zero, but that degree of cold would not be felt here any more than 10 degrees below zero would be back home in Michigan, owing to the beautiful, dry atmosphere of this country. There came a good thaw every month that settled the snow, the fields soon became bare and on the 12th of April I commenced ploughing. The snow was then all gone and summer at hand. This last season was something more than an average year around here with fine crops gathered from a large acreage. In parts the crops were less than average, but generally speaking they were above it. The price of wheat was quite good. Some fine yields sold at $1.10 per bushel, while some were marketed at much less, but hardly any went below about 60 cents a bushel.

Oats started on the market at 35 cents a bushel, barley about 50 cents and flax from 90 cents to $1 a bushel.

As this was my first year in this country, it was a hard year for my horses owing to their being Eastern horses and not used to the Western climate, but they will soon get climatized.

The soil on my farm is a black loam about one foot in thickness. Below that we find about six feet of clay and below that again gravel and sand, with an abundance of excellent water. This was the condition of the ground as I found it when I dug a well. I can say that the water is as sweet and as free from alkali and impurities as I ever saw.

My opinion is that the man who comes here with a little means can do no better than invest $500 or $1,000 in cattle after locating a homestead adjoining or near some hilly part of the country where it will not be taken up as soon as there is plenty of grass and hay to be found in the hilly country and small lakes and sloughs will afford sufficient water for any amount of cattle. The bluffs with a few hay or straw sheds will make sufficient shelter for them. There is no need to worry about the market for cattle, as there is already a great call for stock of all kinds to satisfy the continued demands of the large packing house at Edmonton, established by Swift & Co.

The dairy business should by no means be forgotten. It is one of the paying enterprises of this great West. The price of butter seldom goes below 25 cents and reaches as high as 40 cents a pound. Also the new creameries that are fast being erected along the lines of railroad are calling on the farmers for their cream.

These creameries are greatly welcomed in all communities, because selling cream is better than making butter, even at an average price of 25 cents a pound. For a new country the railroad transportation facilities are good; not yet, of course, what they are in older countries, but the new lines are swiftly gaining as the country gets more settled and supplies them with produce to ship. It is hard to say too much in favor of this country. All one needs is a little money with grit and ambition. I have seen homesteads that were filed on a little over three years ago that the owners have refused $3,000 for. There is much more that can be said in favor of Western Canada, but I think my letter has been long enough.

$33.00 Personally Conducted Excursions.

Colonists' one-way tickets, Chicago to the Pacific coast, via the Chicago, Union Pacific and Northwestern Line, are on sale daily during March and April at the rate of $33.00. Correspondingly low rates from all points. Double berth in tourist sleeping car only $7.00, through without change to San Francisco, Los Angeles and Portland. No extra charge on our personally conducted tours. Write for itinerary and full particulars to S. A. Hutchison, Manager Tourist Department, 212 Clark street, Chicago, Ill.

The world's demand for rubber amounts to 125,000,000 pounds annually.

Brown's Bronchial Troches are a simple and convenient remedy for Bronchial Affections and Coughs. In boxes 25 cents. Samples mailed free. John I. Brown & Son, Boston, Mass.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children teething; softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25 cents a bottle.

STATE CAPITAL CHAT.

Indianapolis correspondence:

Senator Kistler used to be a school teacher. That is an incident in the career of the Democratic leader of the upper body that few people know about. When he took charge of the school he abolished all rules except one, "Do what is right," and told his pupils that he expected that the rule should be obeyed. One of the pupils was a youth much larger and stouter than the teacher and started in to run things—proposing to run out the new teacher as the old one had been, but Frank Kistler was not of the running kind, so he sailed into the big youth and gave him a first-class licking. After that the pupils all obeyed the rule, "Do what is right."

-:—:-

Mrs. Jethro Meek, wife of the Representative from Decatur County, is a daily visitor to the House and sits beside her husband. She has with her the infant Meek, who does not pay much attention to what is going on, but keeps good order—in fact, much better order than some of the members and all of the lobbyists. Mrs. Meek has a notebook in which she jots down all the proceedings, and when the session is ended will write them out and save them until infant Meek is old enough to know what it is all about, and then Mr. and Mrs. Meek will tell him of the session of the Indiana General Assembly he attended in 1909.

-:—:-

The legislative visitation committee recommended that there be a reduction in the salaries of a number of the employes of the State departments, particularly in the pay of stenographers employed in the high courts and State offices. Now a lobby has been formed in the State House to get in the general appropriation bill to restore the amount of the decrease suggested by the visitation committee. Some of the Senators and Representatives who were here two years ago will remember the State House lobby that got a big increase in pay and they will not forget, either, what the people said about it at the polls last November.

-:—:-

One of the men in the Senate who has taken part in the most important sessions for many years is Senator M. H. Farrell, of Marion County. Mr. Farrell was a member of the House in 1885 that passed the laws creating trust companies and surety companies, made the mechanics lien law, abolished city treasurers and city assessors in cities like Indianapolis, built the insane hospitals at Richmond, Logansport and Evansville, passed the last appropriation to pay for the State House and its furnishings, and created the law under which the Indianapolis Union station was built.

-:—:-

So ambitious have become some of the lobbyists that there is talk of providing them with desks in the Senate and House chambers and appointing a few pages and doorkeepers to wait on them. It has also been suggested that the judges of the Supreme and Appellate courts might give up their sleeping rooms in the State House so the lobbyists will not be compelled to leave the building except to eat—and what's the matter with starting a cafe for them during this session?

-:—:-

Up in Madison County a few days ago a hog crawled into a tile drain and died, and it required considerable work to get the carcass out. Later a dog crawled into another drain, but was finally rescued. Thomas B. Orr and Sam Maag, two well-known citizens of Anderson, are here, and the report prevails that they want to add a section to the law permitting the pumping of natural gas, so it will apply to pumping hogs and dogs out of the drains.

-:—:-

Senator Halleck has brought his two little sons to the Senate and they are watching proceedings with open-eyed wonder. Just wait until their father gets into one of his lively scraps with some of the other Senators and then the boys will see some real fireworks.

-:—:-

"Ten years ago to-day I introduced in the Senate the bill to pay the claim of the Vincennes University against the State," said former Senator Purcell the other day. "It has been a long, vexatious fight, but the Governor signed the bonds yesterday and the fight is at an end."

-:—:-

Representative Coahran's bill to prevent the pumping of natural gas is a good thing for the hotels. It has brought gas men from all parts of the country and they are spending plenty of money in the way of board and lodging.

-:—:-

Representative Meek, of Decatur County, is not making any speeches, but he is doing a heavy job of listening, and the lobbyist who gets him to vote contrary to the way he believes is right will have a hard job of it.

-:—:-

Fred Sims, Secretary of State, who passed through a painful operation at a local hospital, is getting better, and his physicians say he is on the road to rapid recovery.

Insulted Him.

An extremely learned young lady, while reading her book, had fallen off a sharp cliff and lay injured and helpless on the sands below. Finally, in answer to her cries, she saw the form of a fisherman advancing cautiously over the cliff, with a rope in his hand, to her rescue. She clasped her hands and exclaimed fervently:

"At last some succor has arrived!"

The fisherman turned and eyed her indignantly for a moment and then yelled down to her:

"It's a sucker I am, is it Well, you can stay just where you are!"—Judge's Library.

Read the Label.

Under the Pure Food Laws baking powder labels now show the ingredients of which the powder is made.

Those who appreciate the importance to health and good baking of using a pure cream of tartar powder will read the back of the label carefully and make sure that the ingredients mentioned include cream of tartar.

The food law does not force consumers; it merely helps them to protect themselves. All good housekeepers want cream of tartar baking powders, and will not use alum substitutes in the food, if they know it. As the ingredients are printed on the back of the label, all may know the facts.

Good baking powder is one of the most useful things in the kitchen; it is easily obtained at any store; the better it is, the more economical it is in cooking materials, and the more it conserves the health of the family.

Flattering Scales.

When Grover Cleveland's son Richard was born, his good friend, Joseph Jefferson, drove over to Gray Gables to congratulate the father.

"How many pounds does the child weigh?" asked the noted actor.

"Fifteen," was the reply.

"Nine," said the attending physician, who had just come in.

Mr. Cleveland assured the doctor that he must be mistaken. "The child weighs fifteen pounds," said he; "I weighed him myself with the scales Joe and I use when we go fishing."—Success Magazine.

How's This?

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions, and financially able to carry out any obligations made by his firm.

WALDING, KINNAN & MARVIN, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Testimonials sent free. Price, 75c. per bottle. Sold by all Druggists.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

By Being Fired.

"Ruggles, how did you catch that cold?"

"Well, I'll tell you, Ramage. I lost my job the other day. It was the first time such a thing has ever happened to me, and I got kind o' reckless, you know, and exposed myself, and—and——"

"I see. You caught it on the first bounce."

Where It Gets a Jolt.

Teacher (at night school)—Can you give me a familiar illustration of the proverb, "It is never too late to mend"?

Shaggy Haired Pupil—The only thing I can think of just now is a wornout cedar block pavement.

Teacher—Er—well, that is an exception.

Japan's public debt before the war with Russia was $290,284,000, and is now $1,077,049,000, an increase of $786,765,000.

Only One "BROMO QUININE"

That is LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE. Look for the signature of E. W. GROVE. Used the World over to Cure a Cold in One Day. 25c.

Simplified.

Slug 47—How do you spell——

Old Fashioned Proofreader—Any way you please. All rules of spelling have been abolished.

FASHION HINTS

An early model of white and violet striped linen is made on Directoire lines. It is generously trimmed with heavily embroidered linen bands.

The waist is accented by a collar of violet, with a bit of dainty hand work on it, in white.

Big Birds on Small Wings.

In the attempt to discover some universal law of bird flight, scientists have disclosed concerning a number of species a most puzzling paradox, perhaps the most mysterious of the enigmas that the subject presents. It is that in a number of birds and insects the size of the wings decreases in proportion to the increase in size of the body of the flying creature. The Australian crane, for instance, weighs over 300 times more than the sparrow, but in proportion has only one-seventh the wing area of the smaller bird.

This curious fact is equally striking if we compare birds with insects. If the gnat were increased in size until it was as large as the Australian crane and if the wings of the insect were enlarged to maintain the proportion they now bear to its body, they would be about 150 times larger than the crane's.

It requires 3.62 square feet of wing area per pound to float the bank swallow, but to sustain the tawny vulture, a monstrous bird in comparison, requires only .68 of a square foot of wing surface per pound of body. The albatross, weighing eighteen pounds, has a spread of 11 feet 6 inches, while the trumpeter swan, weighing twenty-eight pounds, has a spread of wing of only 8 feet. The stork weighs eight times more than the pigeon, but in proportion has only half as much wing surface.

Feminine Lack of Logic.

Tell a wife that men are selfish, she will readily acquiesce. But tell that same woman that by spoiling her boys—whether in the nursery or at school, or university—she is sowing the seeds of egotism, she will give an emphatic denial.

Here is Relief for Women.

If you have pains in the back, Urinary, Bladder or Kidney trouble, and want a certain, pleasant herb cure for woman's ills, try Mother Gray's Australian-Leaf. It is a safe and never-failing regulator. At Druggists or by mail 50 cts. Sample package FREE. Address, The Mother Gray Co., LeRoy, N. Y.

Improving on Nature.

"I wish my nose was of a different shape," said Mrs. Suddyn-Klymer.

"I presume you know," suggested Mrs. Upmore, "that it is quite possible nowadays to have the shape of one's nose corrected?"

"O, yes, indeed; it looks all right in my oil portraits."

Under Strong Temptation.

In the absence of the janitor the Rev. Dr. Fourthly was poking the furnace himself when with a loud crack the bottom dropped out.

"Grate snap!" he ejaculated.

Which, in the case of the good doctor, sounded appallingly like profanity.

Police!

"You hire a man to watch your premises for a dollar a night, do you?"

"Yes, and he's a pretty good dollar watch, too, if anybody should ask you."

Try the Natural laxative, Garfield Tea! It overcomes constipation and regulates liver and kidneys. Samples sent upon request. Garfield Tea Co., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Expert Judgment.

"I sometimes think," remarked the regular patron, "that the snare drummer should be the best musician in the theater orchestra."

"He usually is," said the drummer.

Red, Weak, Weary, Watery Eyes Relieved by Murine Eye Remedy. Compounded by Experienced Physicians. Murine Doesn't Smart; Soothes Eye Pain. Write Murine Eye Remedy Co., Chicago, for Illustrated Eye Book Free.

COLDS

CURED IN ONE DAY

Munyon's Cold Remedy Relieves the head, throat and lungs almost immediately. Checks Fevers, stops Discharges of the nose, takes away all aches and pains caused by colds. It cures Grip and obstinate Coughs and prevents Pneumonia. Price 25c.

Have you stiff or swollen joints, no matter how chronic? Ask your druggist for Munyon's Rheumatism Remedy and see how quickly you will be cured.

If you have any kidney or bladder trouble get Munyon's Kidney Remedy.

Munyon's Vitalizer makes weak men strong and restores lost powers.

ALFALFA

Pronounced Absolutely Pure, No Weeds.

Largest growers of Clover, Timothy and Grasses, Oats, Barley and Potatoes in America.

EX. GOV. BOARD OF WISCONSIN, from 60 acres sown to Salzer's 20th Century Alfalfa, harvested within 24 weeks after seeding $2500.00 worth of magnificent hay, or at the rate of $83.33 per acre.

Salzer's Seed Catalogue Free

It's the most original seed book published and is gladly mailed to intending purchasers free. Or remit 10c and get lots of remarkable farm seed samples, including Alfalfa, Clover, etc., or send 14c and we add a package of Farm Seed never seen by you before. C.N.

JOHN A. SALZER SEED CO., LaCrosse, Wis.

FREE!

Two Sacred Resurrection Plants

(THE ROSE OF JERICHO.)

These rare and curious plants grow and stay green by placing them in water. When taken out of water they dry and curl up and go to sleep. They will keep in this state for years. Simply place the whole plant into water; it will open up and start to grow in about twenty minutes. We will send Farm News, the biggest little paper in the world for the farm home, on trial 3 months for 6 cents. Send 4 cents to prepay postage and expense on the plants, and 6 cents for trial subscription to Farm News, only 10 cents in all. Either offer separately if desired.

FARM NEWS, 406 Washington St., Springfield, Ohio

F. W. N. U. - - - No. 10—1909

When writing to Advertisers please say you saw the Adv. in this paper.

Your Last Chance to Get Good Land Cheap

lies in Idaho. Good land at such prices will soon be gone forever. Fine farm tracts can be had now at low prices, on easy terms. By the time your last payment is made the land will have doubled in value, at least.

New towns—needing trades—are growing up fast in the wonderful Snake River country. Men who went there poor a few years ago are now well to do.

Own An Idaho Farm

Idaho's variety of resources is unsurpassed anywhere in the world—money is made easily and quickly in farming, in fruit, stock and dairying. Alfalfa alone is making hundreds rich.

Save money, that might otherwise be spent in tickets and hotel bills, by going direct to Idaho and buying a farm now. Write today for our free booklet.

E. L. LOMAX, G. P. A.
Union Pacific Railroad Co.
Omaha, Neb.

COLT DISTEMPER

Can be handled very easily. The sick are cured, and all others in same stable, no matter how exposed, kept from having the disease, by using SPOHN'S LIQUID DISTEMPER CURE. Cures of the tongue, if in time. Acts on the blood and expels germs of all forms of disease. Best remedy ever known for mares in foal. One bottle guaranteed to cure one case. 50c and $1 a bottle; $5 and $10 dozen of druggists and harness dealers, or sent express paid by manufacturers. Our above how to position blisters. Our free booklet tells everything. Local agents wanted. Largest selling horse remedy in existence—twelve years.

SPOHN MEDICAL CO., Chemists and Bacteriologists, Goshen, Ind., U. S. A.

HAMLIN'S WIZARD OIL GREAT FOR PAIN

THE OIL THAT PENETRATES

PUTNAM FADELESS DYES

Color more goods brighter and faster colors than any other dye. One 10c package colors all fibers. They dye in cold water better than any other dye. Tell your druggist you cannot be induced without causing upset. Write for free booklet—How to Dye, Bleach and Mix Colors.

MONROE DRUG CO., Quincy, Mich.

MARCH

0522

L 903

CORRESPONDENCE

ITEMS FROM DIFFERENT LOCALITIES WRITTEN FOR THE NEWS

CONCORD

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills relieve pain.

Mrs. James Wyatt is quite sick at this writing.

Trustee John Fetters made a trip to Auburn, Monday.

Jacob Baker and wife were guests of James Johnsons', Sunday.

Dr. Neighswander and wife ate Sunday dinner with Geo. Johnsons'.

Delila Draggoo and daughter Orpha called on Ernest Johnsons' of St. Joe, Friday afternoon.

Mrs. George Andrews of Auburn is spending a few days with her mother, Mrs. James Wyatt.

Mrs. Emmitt Shilling and Mrs. Neighswander called on Hattie Draggoo, Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Blair and Miss Esther Knight spent Friday and Saturday with their sister, Mrs. Mert Johnson.

Quite a number from here attended the funeral of Mrs. Daniel Wyatt at Auburn, Tuesday of last week.

Merritt Baker moved Monday into Chas. Jackson's house. Will Keeler expects to move where he vacated.

Mrs. Mary Sebert will entertain to dinner the Ladies Aid of this place, Thursday. The officers for the coming year will be elected.

Dell Draggoo, wife and daughter Helen, Albert Shearer and wife, Sherman Rickett and wife, May Daily and Willie Rickett spent Sunday with James Ricketts'.

The Lurid Glow of Doom

was seen in the red face, hands and body of the little son of H. M. Adams, of Henrietta, Pa. His awful plight from eczema had, for five years, defied all remedies and baffled the best doctors, who said the poisoned blood had affected his lungs and nothing could save him. "But," writes his mother, "seven bottles of Electric Bitters completely cured him." For Eruptions, Eczema, Salt Rheum, Sores and all Blood Disorders and Rheumatism Electric Bitters is supreme. Only 50c. Guaranteed by H. Milliman.

FAIRVIEW

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills relieve pain.

Ruth Draggoo spent Sunday with Vera Coyle.

A number around here have opened their sugar camps.

Mrs. Edna Moudy visited with her parents over Sunday.

Paul Brown spent Saturday night and Sunday with Harold Coyle.

Will Keeler moved to Concord, Tuesday, and Mr. Sherer moved on his own place.

Horse-shoeing and all kinds of work in this line done at Craig Sheffer's Shop.

Milton Krise moved to St. Joe, Wednesday, Frank May will soon occupy the old Krise place.

Mr. Snyder, who lived on the Smith farm, moved in with his father, and Ollie Carper moved in where he lived.

WABASH CORNERS.

Lela Shilling has the mumps.

Aubrey Wilson has the chicken-pox.

George Pervines and family spent Sunday at John Smith's.

Lizzie Pervines came home Tuesday for a visit with her parents.

Mrs. D. D. Burley spent Friday with her daughter, Millie Wilson.

Rodgie Tryon, spent part of last week with his mother at Newville.

Sam Nelson and wife are reported better from their tussle with diptheria.

J. B White and wife and Charley Woodcox and family ate dinner Sunday at Sherman Wolff's.

Mrs. Wm. Pervines and daughter Pearl, were Sunday afternoon guests with Wm. Lucas and wife.

Mrs. Mary Scott and daughter Inez Patterson, were the guests of Mrs. Malala Wade one day last week.

Nels Thomas and wife of St. Joe, Mell Herrick and wife and Hazel Perry, were Sunday guests at Orange Herrick's.

Sherman Rickett, and wife, Bessie and May Dailey, Orange Herrick, wife and Rodgie Tryon spent Sunday evening with Sherman Wolff and wife, the evening was spent in visiting and music on the organ, violin and rattle bones.

Mt. Hope Items.

Frank Sebert is butchering some fine hogs, this week.

The revival meeting at Fairview is becoming interesting.

Mrs. James Coleman has been quite sick, but is much better at this writing.

John Brehart and wife of Colton, Ohio, are visiting with James Colemans'.

While coming home from church last Sunday night
Moon and stars were shining bright.
While passing by a big brick house
When all around was still as a mouse,
There sat in the window plain in sight
A couple kissing themselves good night.

He threw his arms around her tight
They thought there was no one in sight,
But all the time there stood in case
A couple looking through the trees,
The evergreens were just alright
They keep us all right out of sight.

While we stood speechless in the mud
Watching that couple kiss and hug,
They acted like two silly clowns
And never pulled the curtains down.

PATENTS

and TRADE-MARKS promptly obtained in all countries, or no fee. We obtain PATENTS THAT PAY, advertise them thoroughly, at our expense, and help you to success.

Send model, photo or sketch for FREE report on patentability. 39 years' practice. SURPASSING REFERENCES. For free Guide Book on Profitable Patents write to

503-505 Seventh Street, WASHINGTON, D. C.

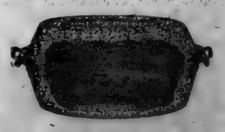
D. SWIFT & CO.

Granite Ware

SALE.

You are invited to call and see the most complete line of Granite Ware at lowest prices ever shown in St. Joe.

Every Day Roaster



This is Made of the Guaranteed Oyrx Enamel

Size 6x12

ONLY 49C WORTH 75C

Don't forget when in St. Joe to call and see the greatest bargains in Granite Ware.

H. V. Kinsey & Son.

Pale, Thin, Nervous?

Then your blood must be in a very bad condition. You certainly know what to take, then take it—Ayer's Sarsaparilla. If you doubt, then consult your doctor. We know what he will say about this grand old family medicine.

This is the first question your doctor would ask: "Are your bowels regular?" He knows that daily action of the bowels is absolutely essential to recovery. Keep your liver active and your bowels regular by taking laxative doses of Ayer's Pills.

Made by J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass. Also manufacturers of

Ayer's HAIR VIGOR. AGUE CURE. CHERRY PECTORAL.

We have no secrets! We publish the formulas of all our medicines.

Moves Back to St. Joe

By the middle of the month, C. A. Woodcox, who moved his family to Garrett last fall, will again be a citizen of our little town. Mr. Woodcox says:—"Work is on the bum in Garrett, nothing doin". The shop forces have been cut on each day and one day of each week off entirely. It is not what was expectid to be after election." Mr. Woodcox will continue here with his trade as painter and paper hanger. He has already some work contracted and with the reputation he now has among our people he will be kept busy. It may be said of C. A. as of the stork "He delivers the goods."

Horse Sprains Foot

Monday while the Robison livery was making a drive from Newville to St. Joe, one of their horses sprained its front foot some way between the Wm. Stanam and Chas. Reasoner farms, north-east of town. It was thought that the leg was broken but upon examination it was only thought to have sprained it. The horse is at Reasoners and is unable to step on its foot and it will be taken care of until able to move it.

SPENCERVILLE
R. F. D. No. 1.

Venus Horn spent Sunday with Fern Wearley.

Myrtle Platter spent Sunday with her uncle, Abe Mason.

Dr. Shook was called to Hursh, to see Pearl Moudy, who is sick.

Mr. Dwyers and family spent Sunday with Mr. Vol Hays'.

Mrs. Samuel Betz and two sons were the guests of Mr. George Horns' Sunday.

Greeley Wearleys', Frank Horns' and John Masons' called on Mrs. Ezra Horn Sunday afternoon, who is on the sick list, but is some better at this writing.

Marion Kohler, who has been spending the winter in Ohio with relatives, stopped a few days in this vicinity to visit relatives before returning to his home in Oregon.

Given a Reception

Monday evening at the home of Earl Coburn, the friends and neighbors together with the Coburntown band gathered together to give Floyd Coburn and Wm. Freeburn a reception before going to the Navy. About 75 guests were present and a fine time was had. An excellent lunch was served after which the band furnished music for the evening. The boys were members of the band and will be greatly missed.

A Birthday Dinner

A birthday dinner was given by Mrs. G. M. Barney, Sunday in honor of Mrs. C. S. Johnson and Mrs. Polk of Tiffin, Ohio, and Mrs. S. W. Tustison of this place. Sunday being the birthday of the three named ladies. An excellent dinner was served and a pleasant time was had. S. W. Tustison and daughter were also present.

DENTIST.

C. R. PRICE,

ST. JOE, IND.

Office in Case building.

Bell Phone No. 44.

Back to Old Indiana

Frank Henderson and family have moved from their Michigan farm and are now settled down on the old Henderson farm west of Spencerville. Their goods were shipped and Mr. Henderson and family drove through Saturday.

Will Erect Ice Plant

Kendallville is not the only city in northern Indiana that's going to have a new artificial ice plant. Ice men in other cities where the natural ice crop fell short this winter, have awakened to the necessity of doing something and as a result plants will be established in Goshen, Warsaw, Lagrange and several other places, for the manufacture of artificial ice.

In the Sick Chamber

The cold and sore throat complaints are numerous. Had it yet?

The Nelson family is better according to the latest reports and it is believed that they will be brought thru safely.

Mrs. Frank Meese has been seriously ill for the past week but at this writing she is better, however her condition is a serious one.

Local News Items.

Send in your news.

Curie's up-to-date restaurant.

Note books at THE NEWS office.

Nervous or Sick Headache will yield quickly to the influence of Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. 25 doses 25 cents.

As a rule women are more liberal than men. The wife who has a mind of her own is continually giving her husband pieces of it.

We failed to receive the report of the Lutheran Sunday School last week and consequently the statement made was incorrect. The report should have read 89 scholars present and $3.57 collection. To insure correct statements please phone us early.

Silas Reasoner and his men broke the record in hay bailing last week one day. They worked for eight hours and thirty minutes and at the expiration of this time twenty-eight tons had been bailed. This is the biggest days work we have ever heard recorded.

March has started in with some extra fine weather and it makes one think of spring and the time to make garden. The robbin red breast has made its appearance and everything points toward an early sowing if every thing is favorable. The soft weather now will bring the frost entirely out of the ground, and business on the farm will commence proper in a few weeks.

LATER: A cold wave has struck us and any further predictions are unnecessary.

A Greater Scoundrel.

A famous master of Trinity college, Cambridge, had been a friend in earlier days of one Jemmy Gordon, a solicitor. But Jemmy went to the bad, was struck off the rolls and lived from what he could get from old acquaintances. One day he met the master and asked for a shilling.

"Gordon," thundered the master, "if you could show me a greater scoundrel than yourself I would give you half a crown." And he stalked stiffly away to his rooms. In half an hour's time the butler announced that Mr. Pompous, the esquire beadle, wished to see the master. Now, the master had a special detestation of the beadle, who, when admitted and curtly asked what he wanted, replied:

"Mr. Gordon informed me that you desired to see me."

Said the master, "Gordon has made an ass of you!"

In ten minutes more the butler came again, grinning, and said:

"Mr. Jemmy Gordon has called and says you owe him half a crown, sir."—Newcastle Chronicle.

A Lost Custom.

Among the lost customs of merry England is that of the milkmaids' procession. It was a May day observance. The manner of their going was as follows: They borrowed a great quantity of silver plate—not sham plate, real gold plate—dishes, butter boats, cream jugs, tankards, etc. They built up the plate round an obelisk, crowning the whole with a tea urn. They arranged the most showy flowers of the season between and about the silver.

This obelisk was carried by two chairmen in gold laced hats and followed by a troop of handsome milkmaids dressed in pink and blue gowns, "drawn through the pocket holes," whatever that means, with high heeled shoes, mob caps, lappets of lace on their shoulders, nosegays in their bosoms and flat "Woffington hats" covered with ribbons. A fiddler went first in a sky blue coat and hat adorned with ribbons. The procession stopped before the doors of the customers and the milkmaids danced.—London Queen.

CURIE'S RESTAURANT.

We desire at this time to inform the public that we are ready to supply all wants in our line. We ask that you continue patronizing our store and we will make it as pleasant as we can for you.

CANDY, CIGARS, SANDWICHES, SOFT DRINK, TOBACCO, ETC.

We aim to keep our stock fresh, and when in need of any of our goods come in.

Local Briefs

Rink Saturday night.

Old papers at NEWS office.

Frank Scholes was at Harlan Monday.

Mrs. G. M. Barney was at Hicksville, Tuesday.

Cadmir Woodcox and wife visited relatives in town, Saturday.

Evan Lick was called to Republic, Ohio, on account of the death of his uncle, John Nelkirk.

File a Mortgage Exemption and pay less tax. Now is the time. See S. S. WIDNEY.

Mrs. Rose Johnson spent a few days this week with her daughter Grace and family at Auburn.

LOST:—A child's umbrella, with the head of a teddy bear on the handle. Finder return same to News Office.

Young ladies class of the M. P. Church will give a Musicale Friday evening March 19. Come.

Mrs. E. H. Horn correspondent of Spencerville R. F. D. No. 1 is confined to the house on account of sickness.

Miss Alice Rhynard of St. Marys, Ohio, came Friday and visited until Tuesday with Mrs. John May and family.

It is still claimed that Marion society women play cards extensively for money and that the town is a modern Sodom.

The transfers of real estate in Concord township for the past week are:—C. Franks to L. M. Points, N½ S½ SE¼ sec. 36. 40 acres, $1865.00; H. Beams to R. Bowser and G. Gloyd, lot 27, Spencerville, $275.

One evening last week, friends to the number of seventy-four surprised Mr. and Mrs. Sam Armstrong just as they were leaving home for an evening visit. Oysters were served as refreshments and a good time was enjoyed by all.

Sunday, Feb. 28, the new hotel at Ft. Wayne, called the Anthony was opened. The interior of the great building with its magnificent appointments is a revelation to every one who sees it for the first time. The furnishings alone have cost $100,000. Not a dollar has been spared in erecting and furnishing this structure in truly twentieth century style.

Curie's Restaurant.

Onions at Kagey's.

Rink Saturday night.

Morris Curie was at Ft. Wayne Friday.

Mrs. John Keyser was the guest of her parents the past week.

Blanche, Lois and Ruby Woodcox spent Sunday with relatives at Auburn.

Albert Newenschwander of Grabill was a St. Joe caller on the dentist, Friday.

Harry Milliman, Sol Barney, and Mrs. R. H. Kees were at Ft. Wayne Thursday.

Miss Ida Widney of Adrian, Mich., spent several days the past week with her parents.

The floor in the old skating rink is being taken up and will be relaid in the bakery and grocery.

Mr. George Wade accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. Chas. Benjamin, were at Auburn, Saturday.

Ten Eyck Green House, cut flowers and floral emblems. Both phones. Auburn.

Joseph Pisch has been hauling goods to St Joe this week loading them into cars for shipping to Reading, Michigan.

The Edgerton ice men are complaining of the weather. The ice proposition is a serious question with them. St. Joe is resting easy as they succeeded in getting 8 inches of good ice.

Chastine Johnson received word last week that the firm of Theodore Presser in Philadelphia had decided to grant him a gold medal in recognition of his work in musical education. No such reward had been expected. He does not know when it will be sent no date being given.

KILL THE COUGH AND CURE THE LUNGS

WITH Dr. King's New Discovery

FOR CONSUMPTION COUGHS and COLDS

Price 50c & $1.00 Free Trial.

Surest and Quickest Cure for all THROAT and LUNG TROUBLES, or MONEY BACK.

New Spring Goods

Are arriving daily and we are prepared to show many new lines of Merchandise for early Spring.

New Ginghams New Neckwear
New Percales New Belts
New Embroideries New Silkolines
New Laces New Curtain Swisses
New Waistings, Buttons, Trimming

WE ALWAYS TRY TO PLEASE OUR CUSTOMERS.

The Big Four Store.
St. Joe, Indiana.

MARCH

0523

L 903

ST. JOE NEWS.

VOL. XXIII ST. JOE, DEKALB COUNTY, INDIANA. THURSDAY, MARCH 11 1909. NO. 10

Will Drink Cold Water.

Whitley, our near neighbor on the southwest, voted "dry" by 1,150 majority under the county local option law Friday. Each of the ten townships gave its majorities for the "drys" ranging in majorities from 23 to 230. Columbia township in which Columbia City is located cast the "23," only three out of twenty-four precincts in the county voting "wet" and these were in Columbia City.

About 85 per cent of the total vote was cast, the total on Friday being 4,050 as against 4,888 in the November election. The election means the closing of thirteen saloons, eleven in Columbia City and two at Peabody station on the Nickle Plate. Seven saloons will close their doors within ninety days as their licenses were granted after the passage of the option law. The others will close from time to time as their licenses expire, the last one being in July.

A Faithful Huckster

Probably no other huckster in all Indiana has been more faithful than David L. Smith, who has a grocery store at Hurshtown. Last week was the first week his team and wagon has failed to travel his route for 21 year. He being sick also his son therefore his customers were not supplied, no matter how bad the roads or weather were he was sure to go and his customers were surprised this week when he failed to reach them. In winter when the roads are bad and the farmers cannot get to town or in harvest when everybody is too busy to go or the horses are in use, we were sure of our groceries anyhow. His customers fully appreciate his faithfulness.

By a customer.

Notice.

On and after March 20, my accounts and notes over one year old will be placed with collector for collection. SOL BARNEY.

Culture Club

On Wednesday evening of last week the Culture Club met at the home of Mrs. Dr. Sheffer. The meeting was called to order by the president and the lesson given in charge of Mrs. Ed Leighty, the lesson was on Civil Government and was very interesting and instructive. After the lesson Mrs. Perry conducted a question box, which was beneficial to all. Twenty members responded to roll call with miscellaneous quotations. The hostess then treated to fine candy.

Nicholas Rep.

Mrs. W. E. Smith was called to the bedside of her father, Nicholas Repp, at Edon, Ohio, last week. Word came later that he had passed to his reward on Sunday morning about 8:45 and that the funeral was to be held Wednesday at 2 o'clock, at Edon. He was a man of 88 years and had been a sufferer of Pneumonia which was the cause of his death.

An Aged Citizen Dead

Matilda Widney, an aged resident of St. Joe, known as "Aunt Tillie", passed away Wednesday morning at 2:10 o'clock, after a few days illness. She was first taken sick last Saturday morning and on Monday she attempted to walk out of the room without any assistance and fell, dislocating her hip and the physician was unable to do anything for her and she was very low from that time on until her spirit took its flight. The funeral services will be held Friday of this week in the M. P. Church at 10:30 o'clock. The funeral will be preached by Rev. McCain and Elza Kinsey funeral director. An extended account of her life will be given next week.

L. L. C.

The L. L. C. met with Mrs. John May, Wednesday evening, March 3. The lesson "The Knights of the New Chivalry" was conducted by Mrs. Ella Patterson and was thoroughly discussed from different points of view. The papers, Harriet Beecher Stowe by Mrs. Filley, John B. Gough by Mrs. Koch and Wendell Phillips by Mrs. Ella Patterson were all able productions and were portrayed in such a manner as to inspire their hearers to nobler impulses. Piano solo "Love's Lament" by Mrs. Bessie Tustison. The responses at roll call were quotations from Edward Everett Hale. After adjournment the hostess took charge of a short program which she had planned as a surprise and consisted of games, contests, etc. They were entered into with much zest and proved interesting, instructive and amusing. Mrs. Benninghoff and Mrs. Rhodenbaugh being the prize winners in the contests. A delicious two course luncheon was then served to which all did ample justice. Accompaning each plate was a tiny souvenir decorated with the club colors and bearing the following motto "Cassis tutissima Virtus" virtue the safest defense. The ladies were unanimous in their praise of Mrs. May as an excellent entertainer.

Mrs. S S Stanton Dead

Word has been received here of the death of Mrs. S. S. Stanton, a former resident of St. Joe, who died at her home in Fowlerton, Ind., aged forty-five years. The remains were brought to Kendallville, Monday at 12:35 and were immediately taken to the Methodist Protestant church, where the services were conducted by Rev. F. M. Hussey. Some years ago her husband was pastor of the M. P. charge at this place and has perhaps did more hard work than any man on this charge. She had many friends here who will be grieved upon learning of this sad news.

Country Fair.

Lutheran Basement, Friday evening. 5 cents for admission and lunch. Six penny attractions. Everybody invited.

CHARLES WARREN FAIRBANKS.

Honored son of Indiana, who retired from the Vice Presidency of the United States, March 4th. Mr. Fairbanks and wife will soon leave for a tour through Europe, after which they will reside at Indianapolis.

News Items

Cigars and Candy at Curle's.

Aaron Thomas celebrated Arbor Day, Tuesday, by planting a tree.

Fred Reader and wife were guests of Geo. Bleeks and family, Sunday.

Call in at Warner's and see that Kitchen Set. Do you want it?

A fine line of commencement programs at our office for your inspection. Don't forget us.

Money to loan on farms at five per cent interest on ten years time, if desired, easy payments.

DeKalb Mortgage Loan Co.,
Auburn, Ind.

Musicale M. P. Church March 19.

The Ladies Aid of the Lutheran Church, will meet Thursday afternoon with Mrs. C. F. Kaney, for work.

Mrs. Hart of Spencerville has returned from Ft. Wayne with a fine line of millinery goods. Watch for further announcements.

Mr. Jacob Johnson, a brother of Mrs. Simeon Wineland, died Friday at his home in Hudson. He was a man of 75 years and was quite well known here by the older people. The funeral was held at Hudson, Sunday and burial at Waterloo. Those present from here were:- Mrs. Wineland and son John and wife and Mrs. E. D. Hendricks.

Figures issued by the Irish Emigrant society show that during 1909 36,341 persons landed at the port of New York from Ireland. Of this number more than half remained in the city, while the others were scattered throughout the United States, the greatest number going to Illinois New Jersey came next and then Pennsylvania. The immigrants brought with them in cash nearly $500,000. During the year ninety were debarred from landing.

WABASH Wabash Time Table.

Trains leave the St. Joe Station as follows:

GOING WEST.
No. 11, Ft. Wayne Acc & Mail 11:34a. m
No. 3, Western Express 7:58 p. m

GOING EAST.
No. 2, Eastern Express 6:34a. m
No 16, Toledo Acc & Mail 4:39 p. m.

Curle's Restaurant.

Rink Saturday night.

Frank Bishop was in town Monday.

Dr. Sheffer made a professional call at LaOtto, Tuesday.

Mrs. Sam Nelson's father came last week to stay with them.

Sam Malone will move today on the Case farm south of town.

Press Wilcox and Rich Culbertson of Auburn were in town Monday.

Simeon H. Maurer of Spencerville, was in town on business, Tuesday.

Mrs. VanFleet of Garrett was the guest of her mother the first of the week.

Twenty-six bibles were present at the Christian Sunday School on last Sunday.

Marion Smith, wife and son Harry spent a few days the past week with relatives here.

Chas. Bills moved his family to Auburn yesterday, where he has work in the body factory.

C. O. Benjamin and wife spent Tuesday evening with Glen Abel and wife at New Haven.

Martin Tustison was in town the first of the week. He has been making his home at Garrett.

Frank Sechler and wife were guests of Mort Foote and family near Harlan Tuesday and Wednesday.

Joseph Koch and wife were guests of their daughter, Mrs. Dr. Morr and family over Sunday, at Albion.

An Alumni meeting will be held at the home of the Misses Ethel and Hazel Berry one week from tonight. All members are urged to be present as this is the time for electing officers. If you don't want an office, "come". Meeting will be called at 8 o'clock.

Walter D. Corrigan and mother Mrs. Helen Corrigan and Miss Francis Dickson of Bancroft, Portage County, Wisconsin, were guests of Moses Perry and wife from Sunday until Thursday of this week, when the ladies went to Wauseon to visit relatives, while Mr. Corrigan returned to his work Sunday evening.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Christian Church, St. Joe, will serve a supper from 5 to 8 o'clock, on Friday evening March 19, in Forest Brown's shoe shop.

Menu

Biscuit Butter Pickles
Chicken Gravy Mashed Potatoes
Fruit Cake Coffee.

Mite 10 cents. Everybody invited.

The DeKalb County W. C. T. U. Institute will convene at Waterloo, Ind March 18 and 19. Many interesting things are being prepared for program. On Thursday evening an address will be given by Mrs. Josephine Walmer. On Friday evening a Silver Medal Contest. The Misses Helen Patterson and Flossie Sechler will represent St. Joe in this contest. Be sure and attend.

NOTICE.

I have secured a horse clipper and solicit the patronage of those wishing their horses clipped. Harry Smith, St. Joe-Spencerville phone; F L 4 and Auburn 903 40.

4 Score Years and 10

The 90th. birthday of Moses Perry was fittingly celebrated at his rural home, one and a half miles east of St. Joe. The friends and neighbors to the number of twenty-five gathered here for a good sociable time. Each one taking well filled baskets, making the day a most pleasant one. Among the older ones present were, his wife 84 years, Wm. Coburn, 83 years, David Andress, 80 years, Mrs. Anna Abel, 76 years and J. M. Milliman, 74 years.

Uncle Moses Perry was born in Trumbal Co., Ohio, and when he started west he was accompanied by his brother-in-law. Upon his journey he came to Fort Wayne, then a very small place, and putting up at a hotel he began to inquire as to where the Coburn settlement was and one man was able to tell him, stating that it was above Spencerville. He set out on foot to find it and upon coming in this neighborhood he decided to stay while the other fellow took California. For the past 67 years Mr. Perry has lived within 2 miles of his present home. He is a man that has stood the hardships and exposures of pioneer life and today he is more spry than many men at half his age. For instance he cuts all his stove wood and must have something to do to keep him busy. He is an excellent neighbor and is always trying to do what is right by his fellowmen. May Mr. Perry live to see many more such Happy birthdays as the one just passed.

Caught in the Act

Mrs. E. K. McKennon, the wife of Representative McKennon, from Garrett, DeKalb county, bravely chased a burglar from her room early this morning. She was awakened by the noise of the burglar, and without calling her husband, who was asleep, she arose and took after him. She chased him from the room and through the hallway into the dining room, where he raised a window and leaped out. The burglar was reaching for McKennon's trousers containing his pocketbook, when Mrs. McKennon discovered him. Nothing was stolen, not even a mileage book.

Sunday School Report.

Below is the report of the various Sunday Schools of the town and community for last Sunday. We desire that the secretaries may hand us this bit of information on Monday of each week, or phone to No. 10 and report.

	Attendance	Collection
Christian	90	$2.17
Lutheran	70	$2.51
M. P.	60	$1.04
Coburntown	80	$ .90
Spen. Luth.	83	$1.93
Spen. M. E.	57	$1.31
Concord	66	$1.13
Rehobeth	41	$1.15
Newville C.	58	$1.37

Any other school desiring to be represented in this list may do so by just simply telling us.

Wabash Wreck

A head-end collision on the Wabash, between east bound passenger train No. 6 and an extra freight, west bound occured about 3:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon two miles east of Huntington, Ind., but fortunately no fatal injuries resulted although several of the trainmen and passengers received bad cuts, bruises and broken bones

Passenger train No. 6 left Huntington on time at 3:20 and was running on a caution card, that it, had orders to keep a lookout for extra 93 west bound. The freight was running without orders and was supposed to get in the clear at meeting points of east bound train. When a point about two miles east of Huntington was reached the trains met head-on, although it is probable that the speed of both had been slackened as soon as it was seen that a collision was inevitable. Why the freight had not got in the clear or if not able to get in the clear, why the crew had not sent out a flagman, could not be learned for sure. One explanation offered is that the freight had broke in two and was delayed and that the crew miscalculated the time they had.

Among the passengers who live within a short distance of St. Joe are:

Mrs. R. R. Fisk, of Butler, a passenger, was hurt in the hip and back, but not seriously.

M. T. Long, of Butler, passenger, back and side bruised and sprained.

A. Trapp, of Garrett, arm badly cut.

It seems that the extra freight crew had orders to meet passenger train No. 6 at Mardenis and had gone by the switch, intending to back in on the switch, thinking they had time to get in before the passenger train should arrive, and the frieght was struck while on the main track.

Engine 658 was pulling the passenger train and was so badly damaged that engine 118 had to be called from Peru to bring the train into Fort Wayne. No cars nor neither engine was derailed but engine 658 will have to go into the shops for a general overhauling.

The engineer and fireman on the passenger engine jumped when they came around the curve and saw the freight train standing on the main track, as there was no chance to come to a full stop after the train was sighted. The collision occurred just west of Mardenis, and about five miles east of Huntington.

You

have a good fire insurance policy to guard against fire loss, why wouldn't it be to your interest to guard against Tornado damage.

We sell Tornado Insurance for town or farm property.
The cost is very small.
The protection is very great

J. C. HULL
AGENT
Fire, Tornado, Life, & Accident
Call on or Phone No. 46.

Announcement.

The liberal patronage which we have received from our many friends and customers has enabled us to make the past year one of our most successful since the inception of this store, and we wish to take this opportunity to thank those who have contributed to our success. The encouragement we have received, has led us to make more extensive preparations for the coming season, which we anticipate will eclipse all our former efforts.

MARCH 12-13 We will show a complete line of Tailored Hats, Street Hats and School Hats. A stronger collection of smart, toppy conceptions at popular prices does not exist. We solicit your patronage. With every $1 purchase you are given a ticket which may help you to be the recipient of a $10 Set of Granite Kitchen Dishes or a $6.75 Set of Dinner Dishes to be given away, May the first.

Mrs. Warner.

Housecleaning

time will soon be here and while you have the house torn up you had better make a change in your walls. We have just received our new and its a dandy bunch. All new up-to-date patterns and at moderate prices.

Spring Stock -of- WALL PAPER

Garden and Field Seeds in Bulk.

HARRY MILLIMAN
DRUGGIST

MARCH

0524

L 903

The St. Joe News

ST. JOE, INDIANA.

FRED B. LEIGHTY, - - Publisher.

1909 MARCH 1909

Su	Mo	Tu	We	Th	Fr	Sa
●	1	2	3	4	5	6
7	8	9	10	11	12	13
14	15	16	17	18	19	20
21	22	23	24	25	26	27
28	29	30	31	●	●	●

F. M. 6th. L. Q. 14th. N. M. 21st. F. Q. 28th.

FEATURES OF INTEREST

ABOUT THAT WHICH HAS BEEN AND IS TO BE.

All Sides and Conditions of Things are Shown. Nothing Overlooked to make it Complete.

Ten Die in Tenement Fire.

Cut off from escape by a burning stairway, ten persons perished in a five-story tenement house at 372-374 Seventh avenue, New York City. The victims were all Italians, with the exception of an unidentified Frenchman. Five persons, including a policeman, who was cut by flying glass, and a male child about a year old, were injured and taken to hospitals. It is believed the blaze was incendiary, following a "Black Hand" blackmailing letter, which an occupant of the building received several months ago. There were about thirty families, mostly Italians, in the tenement house, and policemen and firemen rescued many of them by ladders and by swinging them across from windows to neighboring buildings. Several babies were thrown from the windows and caught by firemen who were standing on the extension ladders.

Wright Airship Has an Accident.

A dispatch from Pau, France, says: Wilbur Wright and Colonel Vives, chief of the aerostatic corps of the Spanish army, narrowly escaped injury when the rudder of the Wright aeroplane struck the ground and disabled the machine. The accident occurred just as the machine was being launched for a flight. The rudder struck the ground and snapped and the cable used to guide the rudder wound around the propellers, which in turn were disabled. The machine, however, flew on for forty metres and then stopped and neither of its occupants was hurt. Previously Mr. Wright had made two successful flights in the aeroplane with M. Lambert and Tissandier as passengers.

Klondike King Dies Poor.

The king of the Klondike is dead. Big, generous hearted Alexander McDonald, whose riches in 1898 were hard to compute, was stricken with heart disease some days ago while cutting a little wood for his cabin fire on Stewart river, about eighty miles from Dawson. There was a time, it was in 1897, when the name of "Aleck" McDonald was known far and wide. An English syndicate offered him $11,000,000 for his holdings, but he believed them to be worth $30,000,000. He refused the offer; he extended his operations, he became involved and has died a comparatively poor man.

Tragic Death of Invalid.

The tragic death of Alice Ryan, a 16-year-old invalid, has been reported to the Chicago police. Ill of hip and spine disease from infancy, unable to move, she sat in an invalid chair in front of the fireplace, while her mother was at work in the kitchen. A spark ignited her clothing but she was unable to move or cry out. When Mrs. Ryan entered the room she found her daughter's body burned to a crisp.

Ohio Man Wins Bryan Mule.

Congressman James M. Cox, of Dayton, Ohio, is in receipt of a letter from William J. Bryan asking for the certified presidential vote of Montgomery County in order to establish its right to the Bryan mule, which was to be given to the county in any State making the largest Democratic gain. Mr. Bryan states that the figures seem to show that Montgomery County has won.

Two More Indiana Counties Dry.

Two more Indiana counties—Sullivan and Jay—voted "dry" by large majorities in local option elections. Jay County closed twenty-one saloons by its action. Sullivan County already had put its saloons out of business through remonstrances against licenses. The dry majority in Sullivan County was 1,821 and in Jay 2,065.

Fire and Explosion in Mine.

Fire and explosion in the Baltimore slope of the Delaware & Hudson Company mines in the eastern part of Wilkesbarre, Pa., killed one man and temporarily imprisoned fifteen others. It was several hours before the flames were extinguished and the men rescued.

Canning Factory Burns.

The Simmons canning factory at Ashtabula, Ohio, was destroyed by fire. Loss $100,000. Crossing of electric wires was the cause.

Indiana Option Law Will Stand.

The county local option law will stand in Indiana. By striking out the enacting clause of the Proctor-Tomlinson repeal bill the Senate killed the bill upon which the Democratic repealers have made their stand.

Swift's Butterine Plant Burned.

The butterine plant and storage house of Swift & Co., in the stockyards at Chicago, were destroyed by fire. The loss is estimated at $150,000.

TAFT INAUGURATION MAGNIFICENT EVENT

CROWDS BREAK ALL RECORDS

Over Thirty Thousand March Up Pennsylvania Avenue in Grand Military and Civic Pageant.

DECORATIONS ARE GORGEOUS.

Induction Into Office of 27th President Most Brilliant Affair of Its Kind in Nation's History.

Washington correspondence:

The magnificent ceremony attending the inauguration of William H. Taft and James S. Sherman into their respective offices was a more imposing and costly function than any of its predecessors. The city was gayly decorated for the occasion and numerous stands, decorated with flags and bunting, looked down upon the route which the great inaugural parade was to take. More attention was given this year to the decorative scheme both by day and night, and visitors who have attended previous inaugurals witnessed something entirely new in this line.

Important features of the inaugural program were the morning escort of the President from the White House to the Capitol at 10 a. m. by the veteran grand division; the exercises at the Capitol on a stand accommodating 7,000 persons concluding with the administration of the oath of office to the President and his address; the assembly of the military grand division in the streets south and southeast; of the civic grand division in the streets west and northwest of the Capitol; the afternoon escort of the President by the military and civic grand divisions from the Capitol to the White House at the conclusion of his inaugural address; review of the military and civic grand divisions by the President from his stand in the court of honor in front of the White House from 3 to 6 in the afternoon and the dismissal of the parade; the great display of fireworks in front of the White House, in combination with the illumination of the streets of Washington through the downtown section, the dome of the Capitol and the Washington monument, and a drill and display of pyrotechnics by the Republican Flambeau Club of Minneapolis; the inaugural ball in the pension building, the biggest brick structure in the world.

JAMES S. SHERMAN.

Inaugural Ceremonies.

The inaugural ceremonies began at 10 a. m. when President Roosevelt and President-elect Taft left the White House in a carriage drawn by four horses and proceeded with their escort to the Senate wing of the Capitol. An hour later the diplomatic corps, followed by the members of the cabinet, officers of the army and navy, the Governors of States and members of the House of Representatives entered the Senate chamber. The Senate, with its newly elected members, already had been convened. The President and Mr. Taft took seats in front of the presiding officer and then Mr. Sherman entered and took the oath of office administered by the President pro tempore of the Senate, Mr. Frye. Afterward the new Senators were sworn in and then the whole assemblage fell into line in the same order in which they entered the Senate, and the entire company marched to the inaugural stand erected at the east portico of the Capitol. The troops gathered in front of the stand presented arms as the President and President-elect appeared at the main door of the Capitol, and when they arrived at the front of the stand Chief Justice Fuller stepped forward and administered to Mr. Taft the oath of office, following which the new President delivered his inaugural address.

The Great Parade.

After Mr. Taft had taken the oath office and delivered the inaugural address he was escorted to the White House by the Black Horse troop of Cleveland. After luncheon, President and Mrs. Taft, with their guests, entered the stand in front of the White House and reviewed the parade. Over 31,000 men marched in review before the new executive. There were veterans of the civil war and of the Spanish-American war in the ranks, and mingled with the blue and khaki were a few companies of gray and grizzled men who once wore the butternut, bearing aloft the shot-riddled emblems of "the lost cause." In the ranks also were the cream of each State's citizen soldiery.

The parade at the inauguration was designed to be "splendid" in the presence of military and naval forces and dignified in the representation of civic bodies. Seats on stands and in windows accommodated 35,000 spectators. The rest of the 400,000 visitors—one-fourth more than ever attended an inauguration—had to stand.

First behind the mounted police guard and a full military band was Major General J. Franklin Bell, grand marshal, and his staff, made up of many officers of the regular army, the national guard of the States and independent military organizations. At the end of the military division marched the West Point cadets, followed by the midshipmen from Annapolis. At the head of the United States regulars came the Cuban army of pacification, 2,500 strong, followed by infantry, cavalry and artillery from the various army posts in the United States. The jack tars from the battleship fleet, fresh from its world-encircling voyage of peace, headed the naval division. They numbered about 3,000 and were greeted with wild enthusiasm. Just behind them marched a full regiment of Uncle Sam's sea soldiers, the marines, who have taken the initiative in almost every warlike affair in which this country has been engaged since the revolution. Then came the national guard of the several States, arranged in the order in which the States were admitted into the Union.

Following the military division came the civic organizations, including more than 100 clubs and political associations, many of them in unique uniforms. There was a "possum club" from Georgia, an alligator association from Louisiana and other distinctive and interesting spectacles.

The new President reviewed the parade from a stand in front of the White House, in accordance with custom. From 15th street to 17th street on Pennsylvania avenue a court of honor had been designed which surpassed all previous efforts in street decorative work at the capital. In the vicinity of the President's stand were grouped other stands in which the favored sat and watch the magnificent spectacle arranged in honor of the new President.

Not the least picturesque feature of this gathering was the assemblage of the entire complement of the foreign diplomatic representatives to the United States in all the pomp and panoply of their rank. On the same platform with the new President was his predecessor, the incoming and retiring Vice President and other representatives of the different branches of government of the United States.

After witnessing the inauguration of his successor in office, Mr. Roosevelt took a train for Oyster Bay, a citizen in private life. This marked the parting of the ways of Theodore Roosevelt and William Howard Taft, as far as public life is concerned. Mr. Roosevelt left for Oyster Bay to prepare for his African hunting trip, while Mr. Taft went to the White House to continue the chief figure in the long round of ceremonies marking his induction into office and to begin four years of service as the guiding spirit of the Union.

Display of Fireworks.

At 7:30 the greatest display of fireworks ever seen in the country was given at the White House grounds. The program embraced 1,000 rocket bombs, 500 batteries, 600 colored lights, two tons of colored fire, 50 balloons, 10,000 candles and 150 bombs, ranging from 12 to 60 inches. Among the novelties were patent rocket bombs, which have all the beauty of rockets without the danger of the falling sticks, and the marvelous "sun cluster" effects, the unique fireworks invention of 1909. One of the pieces was an attack by a fleet of airships upon a fire city, while another unique feature was a pillar of light, 100 feet high, which gave a daylight effect to the heavens for a distance of several miles. The pyrotechnic display at night was one well calculated to please the many thousands unbidden to the inaugural ball.

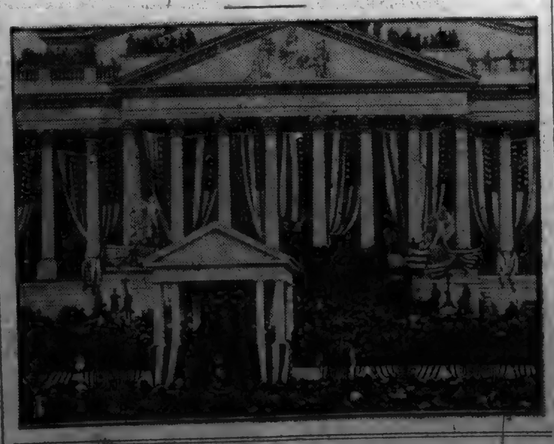
The Inaugural Ball.

Later in the evening there was the inaugural ball at the Pension Building, the most brilliant function in each administration at the national capital, and historic Pennsylvania avenue was ablaze with light in a manner befitting and significant of the advance since the first inauguration of a President at Washington when Thomas Jefferson was inducted into office with simple ceremony. The ball took the form of a reception by President Taft and Vice President Sherman to the country at large. Each State in the Union was officially represented on the floor by one of its distinguished sons, whose mission it was to co-operate officially in the presentation of visitors from here, there and everywhere. These gentlemen knew many of the people who came from their respective States, and saw that they were properly introduced to the statesmen and their wives and other distinguished visitors. Thus it was hoped to bring the forty-six States into close touch with the national capital on this memorable occasion.

PRESIDENT TAFT. THE RETIRING CHIEF EXECUTIVE AND CAPITAL SCENES.

OATH TAKEN BY THE PRESIDENT.

INAUGURATION OF PRESIDENT M'KINLEY.



Work of Congress

In the Senate Saturday the river and harbor bill was considered and there was long discussion over the St. Mary's River provisions. Eulogies were delivered in honor of Senator Latimer of South Carolina and Representatives Brick of Indiana and Granger of Rhode Island. The military academy bill was reported from the Military Affairs Committee. The Committee on Appropriations reports in favor of continuing the secret service investigation. Another partial report of the conference on the naval bill was made. The Senate passed the river and harbor bill, carrying a total of about $10,000,000. The Committee on Territories, by adjourning without fixing a date for another meeting, practically kills statehood bill this session. In the House the general deficiency bill was reported from the Appropriations Committee. The House considered the bill to restore men involved in the Brownsville shooting affray to the army. The bill was passed by a vote of 210 to 101. The House appropriated $10,000 for the tercentenary celebration of the discovery of Lake Champlain.

-:—:-

The Appalachian and White Mountain forest reserve bill passed the House Monday, carrying with it the provision that the Federal Government is committed to similar methods of forest protection in every State. The Army, Navy and fortification bills' final conference reports were agreed to and the measures went to the President. The "insurgents" secured the adoption of a rule requiring one day each week for calling on comittees for bills. The House refused to recede from its position against raising salaries of President, Vice President, Speaker and Federal judges, and the bill went back to conference. A large number of minor bills were passed. The sundry civil bill appropriating $130,000,000 and the military academy bill carrying an appropriation of $2,341,000 were passed by the Senate. Senator Bailey, calling attention to communications from heads of departments in response to Senate resolutions calling for papers and information, stated that such replies received from the Secretary of the Treasury, Commerce and Labor and War and Navy had been sent "by direction of the President," which he declared was inferentially a denial of the right of Congress to demand such information without the intervention of the President. Presenting a resolution by directing that all such communications be returned to the heads of departments from whom they had been received, Mr. Bailey attempted to secure its passage, which was opposed by Mr. Aldrich and other Senators on the ground that the orderly way to dispose of a matter of such importance was by sending it to a committee. After debate it was allowed to lie on the table until Tuesday.

-:—:-

The penal code bill on a conference report was before the Senate Tuesday and was subjected to filibustering tactics on the part of the minority that resulted almost in no progress. Mr. Heyburn, in charge of the measure, declared that the opposition to the measure was the result of antagonism to the legislative provision contained in the measure for the enforcement of the fourteenth and fifteenth amendments to the Constitution on the part of the Southern Senators. The general deficiency bill was passed, carrying appropriations amounting to more than $19,000,000. The bill was the last of the general supply bills passed by the Senate. Various conference reports were agreed to, so that substantial progress was made in clearing away much of the urgent business before the Senate. The ship subsidy bill, previously passed by the Senate, was defeated in the House of Representatives by the narrow margin of three, the vote resulting 172 to 175. The opponents of the measure wildly cheered. A dramatic feature of the roll call was the appearance in the hall of Representative Goldfogle of New York in an invalid chair, he having been brought from a hospital, where he had undergone an operation on his knee cap, in order that he might record his name against the bill. Conference reports on the agricultural, rivers and harbors and public buildings bills were agreed to, and the sundry civil bill sent to conference.

SHORT NEWS NOTES.

The business section of Sumner, Miss., was practically destroyed by fire. It is estimated that the loss will exceed $200,000.

The screams of Mrs. V. Alves routed a burglar from her home in Elmhurst, Cal. The woman's husband was not awakened by the cries.

The White Star liner Cevic was in collision with a buoy in the Crosby channel and fouled her propeller. She was examined by divers at Liverpool.

Governor Haskell of Oklahoma was met by a thousand cheering people and a brass band when he arrived at Muskogee to sign a bond.

The Red Star liner Finland will be withdrawn from that fleet and placed in the Mediterranean service as a substitute for the White Star liner Republic, which sank near Nantucket.

Students of Mercerbury academy at Mercerbury, Pa., broke the scarlet-fever quarantine and fled panic stricken through the deep snow to a neighboring city. After a time they were prevailed upon to return.

MARCH

0525

L 903

A Race for a Wife

BY

HAWLEY SMART

CHAPTER IX.—(Continued.)

"But, Maude, my darling—!"

"Yes, and intend to remain so," laughed the girl merrily. "And the sooner the fact is broken to Mr. Pearman that he is not 'my destiny's lord,' the better."

"Stop, child—listen to me," and the nervous tremor in her mother's voice arrested Maude's madcap humor instantly. She knew every inflexion of that dearly loved voice, and her quick ear detected coming trouble, much as the sailor foresees the storm in that peculiar sobbing sound the wind sometimes gives forth shortly before the tempest bursts.

In a second she dropped quietly on her knees by Mrs. Denison's side, and leaning on the arm of her chair, said, "There's more to come, mother; you haven't told me all yet."

"No, my dearest; I had hoped so differently. I mean—I told your father, in short——;" and here Mrs. Denison fairly broke down, and wept copiously.

Maude petted, soothed and coaxed, as she had done on many a previous occasion, and between the showers of tears learned how much they were in the hands of the Pearmans; how that their remaining at Glinn was an impossibility unless the Pearmans came to their assistance; and how her hand was the price they placed on standing in the breach between Harold Denison and his creditors. About the foregoing of their own claims the poor lady wisely said nothing. Better Maude should think her future husband stood chivalrously forward in her father's support, with the prospect of her fair self as his guerdon, than she should know that her hand was the sole bribe which induced him to forbear seizing upon Glinn.

The saucy smile had left the girl's lips by the time she comprehended the sad story. It was replaced by a pale, anxious look, such as had never been seen before on Maude Denison's face.

"You can't mean this, mother," she said, at length. "You surely don't wish that I should marry this man, whom I can't say I dislike, for I don't even know him enough to tell whether I do or no; but that I am to take this man for a husband without any reference to my own feelings—you don't intend that, do you?"

"I don't know what will become of us if you don't, Maude," gasped Mrs. Denison.

"And is it not possible that we could live without Glinn?" inquired her daughter.

"What would your father do?" moaned the mother once more, truer to him even still than to the child she adored so.

"It is hard!" said Maude, and her young face grew stern in expression as she spoke. "Do you think it quite fair that I am to throw my life's happiness away at eighteen to save Glinn? Mother, I know nothing of the world, but a man surely brings a bad introduction to a girl's heart who seeks her as Mr. Pearman would apparently seek me. I don't think I'm a romantic fool, but I never thought to leave your side in this wise. Of course I know girls do marry for money; but—but—I had—had hoped I should be different," and here Maude was seized with an hysterical choking in the throat, which though it only drew a few tears from her own eyes, brought forth another shower from Mrs. Denison's.

I really am shocked, for the sake of my readers, at the amount of tears introduced into this part of my story. "Umbrellas up!" would have made an appropriate heading to this chapter; but what am I to do? You see, Mrs. Denison is one of those women who naturally dissolve into—may I say, mist?—on the most trifling occasions, and come down in torrents when things go hard with them. And, bear in mind, she was performing the hardest task that had ever fallen to her lot as yet.

"No use crying about it, mother," said Maude, gulping down her agitation bravely. "I am going up to my own room to think it all over; but come what may, I feel at present you will have to let Mr. Pearman know that I'm grateful for the honor he has done me, but respectfully decline anything further."

When Maude reached her own room, she sat down and began to muse over all her mother had told her. Had it come to this really, that it rested with her to save her parents? What was she to do? I have said before that she was not like the young ladies of this world. She was rather behind the age in many of her ideas. She was very young, and had, moreover, a tinge of that dear old-fashioned romance about her which is at such a terrible discount in these utilitarian days. "What can there be to think about?" cries Belgravia. "Preserve me from such an imbecile daughter!" shrieks Tyburnia. But Maude, after thinking for half an hour, with set face and knit brows, suddenly rose with a smile rippling over her pretty face, and while the midday sun still glinted through her bonnie brown hair, sat down to write to Grenville Rose.

"He always gets me out of scrapes," she murmured, softly; "he must out of this, though"—and here she even laughed—"I'm afraid Gren will think this what he calls a 'big un.'"

CHAPTER X.

Grenville Rose dwelt in the Temple. There, in a couple of pleasant rooms, he read musty law books, the latest periodicals, and waited for business. Though there was very far from being any asceticism about Grenville Rose, yet he stuck soberly and honestly to his trade. If the work didn't come, he couldn't help it. He was always in the way, and an assiduous attender at the Westminster Courts. But if you are "Coke on Lyttleton," strongly impregnated with the departed affiatus of Erskine and Ellenborough, you cannot show it until you get an opening. The beginning of the legal profession is doomed to be principally observation. Attorneys are far from being speculative on the subject of undeveloped talent. It is not given to everyone to have Sir Jonah Barrington's chance of a friendly judge, who insisted on his continuing the case he had begun, in consequence of his leader being temporarily out of court. So that whether Grenville Rose was a coming lawyer, or a pretentious impostor, was still concealed in the womb of time. In the meanwhile, the nothing he had to do he, at all events, did conscientiously—more, a good deal, than can be predicated of many of us. He strolls leisurely out of his bedroom, in dressing gown and slippers, the day after Maude's resolution, and glancing round his breakfast table, takes little notice of the heap of letters that lie thereon. His attention, on the contrary, is arrested by the absence of some condiment he peculiarly affects. After indulging in a solo on the bell, which produces no apparent result, he opens the window and runs up the vocal scale on "William," terminating, crescendo, in "Wil-li-am!" which seems to produce some slight commotion, at length, in a boy with a pewter, and a companion furnished with shoe brushes, who are lightening the hours by pitch and toss. Satisfied with this result, he first opens the morning paper.

Grenville Rose is not in the least addicted to the pursuit or study of racing; still, like most men of his age about town, he very frequently hears it talked of. He knows the names of the prominent favorites for the coming great three-year-old events of the season. Has he not more than one friend who has asked him to book himself for a Grenwich dinner in the event of some Derby contingency coming off satisfactorily? He throws his eye lazily over the sporting intelligence, and under the head of "Betting on the Two Thousand," he perceives "Five to two against Coriander—taken freely."

"S'pose he'll about win. Suit Silky Dallison down to the ground, I presume; not that I know much about it. But as he hath bidden me to the consumption of elicquot and bait, if Coriander wins at Epsom, it is fair to presume he'd like to see him well through 'his smalls,' to begin with."

Ah! we go blundering on in our blindness and ignorance. Can even the most far-sighted of us ever predicate twenty-four hours ahead? What a mess Providence makes of our intricate calculations! What shallow fools we seem, after all our study! I wonder what Grenville Rose would have said, if anybody had hinted to him that within ten days his destiny would be bound up with Coriander's? Can you not fancy his laughing retort: "I never race! 'What's Hecuba to me, or I to Hecuba?'" Yet it will be so.

Grenville tosses the paper on one side, and in a careless way takes up his letters. Two or three are thrown aside; but his pulse quickens, and his handsome features flush a little, as he catches sight of that firm, delicate hand he knows so well. Maude's letter had been near the bottom of the pile, or he had not glanced over the paper before reading it. That cousin of his had wound her way into his heart strangely of late. He hardly knew himself how it had all come to pass. He had bullied her as a boy; he even, till quite lately, had snubbed her as a man. He had liked her, ay, loved her, in cousinly fashion, all his life. How was he to have dreamt that the gawky school girl who accompanied him in his fishing expeditions at Glinn was to grow into the lovely girl Maude had of late blossomed into? He was no fool, and had as much command over his passions as five-and-twenty, that sets up for no superlative virtue and lives in the world, can usually lay claim to. That anything could be more injudicious than a love affair between himself, with mere undefined prospects, and the daughter of his ruined, spendthrift uncle, no one could be more clearly aware. That if Maude Denison married, it must be somebody with means and position, he thoroughly understood. That he should at present marry anybody, he quite recognised as an impossibility. And yet, with all these theoretical axioms distinctly present to his mind, he was forced to admit to himself that he was over head and ears in love with his cousin. That he had never even hinted it to her was a fact upon which he gave himself most extraordinary credit. That she had as yet given him no earthly reason to suppose he was anything to her but Cousin Gren was a circumstance that he brooded over sulkily and despondingly. With these correct and high-principled views, it should have been made matter of great gratulation; but you see it was not, I am afraid it will ever be so. The right people never do fall in love with each other; while, from the days Helen left Menelaus to the present time, the converse of the proposition seems inexhaustible and unchangeable.

But all this while Grenville Rose had been reading Maude's epistle. His face darkens as he does so, the brows contract, and a curse breaks at last from his lips in a low, guttural tone that bodes bad times for somebody, supposing that Grenville possesses power equal to his inclination.

"That brute Pearman!" he muttered. "My instinct didn't fail me. Better I'd have dislocated his cursed neck by throwing him down stairs that night than this. And the poor child appeals to me to help her! What can I do?"

Once more he glances at the letter—again he reads the paragraph: "Gren, dear, you have been my resource in all my scrapes since I can remember. Do come to my rescue now; what am I to do? My childish troubles of bygone days were not of much account, whatever they might look at the time. This seems extinguishing the sunshine of my life on the threshold—as if I was doomed, as I heard you say not long ago. I have said I cannot, I dare not. Both papa and mother say I am to decide for myself. But it isn't so—you know, Gren, it isn't. There's papa, more sneering and gloomy than ever, suggesting that we had better make the most of Glinn during the remaining few weeks that it remains to us—as I have decided to give away the property. Mother, of course, all tears; and papa bullies her worse than ever. Oh, tell me what to do, Gren, for I am very miserable. I can't stand it much longer—I know I can't. I shall have to give in; I cannot bear to see mother always in tears. I almost wish I was dead, I do indeed; and yet I don't want to die."

"Yes," he mutters, after reading it through for about the twentieth time; "it's easy to see the whole thing. My precious uncle intends you shall marry Pearman, so that he may finish his days in Glinn. My aunt, poor soul, is weeping a Dead Sea over the arrangement, and having her soul harried out besides. Maude—Maude, my darling, how can I help you? Pretty chance of a pauper like myself being much use on the occasion," he mused, with a bitter sneer. "She never says, poor child, by the way, what sum, if any, would stop the gap—though, of course, there must be a price. However, that is a question there is no use in raising. Of course it's thousands; and to raise a few hundreds would require all my ingenuity, to say nothing of terminating in my eventual destruction; not but what it's little I'd think of that just now, to save Maude. My love, I am powerless!" And Grenville Rose leaned his head upon his hands and tasted the bitterest sorrow this world can afford—that of an appeal for succor from the woman whom he loved, and the knowledge that he was powerless to help her even a hair's breadth in her bitter anguish. Better to stand by her deathbed than this!

Our nineteenth century training makes us bear such trials well. But do not believe, my brethren, that when the mask is dropped, feelings are not much the same as of yore. Bitter tears are shed over worthless women, and deep lamentations made over rotten investments in the privacy of the bed chamber. The matutinal razor sweeps the chin at times with a strange fascination for one strong free stroke at the jugular vein; a morbid feeling to end all this weary struggle, and cut the knot of existence. A well-known writer, the other day, laid down: "It was better to be bored than to be miserable." I can't say I agree with him. I would rather be miserable.

For more than an hour does Grenville pace his apartment, musing over Maude's letter. But no! he can neither see help to be rendered, nor even anything to justify the slightest interference on his part. Then he thought savagely of the old dueling days; how easy it would have been to have picked a quarrel in those good old times, and run his chance of disqualifying Pearman through the medium of a pistol bullet. But we have changed all that; and when we quarrel nowadays, we employ counsel instead of firearms. I suppose it is all for the best, though I take it there was more politeness in general society when the being rude had to be so speedily justified.

(To be continued.)

CHANCE FOR A BIBLIOPHILE.

Unique Copy of Ancient Records, Full of Historical Material.

Here is an opportunity for some rich collector of books, or for some library that likes to place upon its shelves tomes which are valuable as records of bygone days, says the New York World. The opportunity in question is a book believed by its present owner to be the only copy in existence, which was printed in Osnaburg, Germany, in 1628. It is valuable not so much for its age as for the wealth of historic material it contains.

This book is a history of the see of Osnaburg, the first Saxon-Germanic church, from its foundation by Charlemagne, in 772 A. D. It relates his nomination of its first bishop, St. Who of Frisia, and contains, first, the order and series of the bishops of Osnaburg, with an epitome of their origin and characteristics, from 772 to 1623 and 1628, when Itel Frederick, Count of Hohenzollern, cardinal of the Holy Roman church, and Francis William, Count of Wartenberg, successively occupied the see.

Second, the acts, canons, statutes and decrees of the synods and councils of the church held at Alemania, Cologne and Osnaburg in 1223, 1260, 1310, 1322, 1360, 1423, 1452, 1536, 1625, 1628, authenticated by notarial certificates.

Third, the apostolic mandate of Innocent VI., dated from Avignon, 1360, to Wilhelm, archbishop of Cologne, "De vita, habitu et honestate clericorum et monachorum."

Fourth, the confirmation of the Caroline constitutions of Carolus IV., Roman emperor, ratified by the council of Constance, 1423.

Fifth, the ceremonial of the assembly of the major synod of Osnaburg, 1628, and the historic sermon of Patet Guilelmus Aschendorf, S. J. "De vitus præcedentibus temporibus enatis et adhue durantibus."

The book belonged in 1648 to the great library of the Bollandists at Antwerp. On the title page, in the handwriting of Father Jean de Bolland, the illustrious "ancient," are the words: "Domus prof. Soc. Jesu, Antwerp, 1648." (House of the professed of the Society of Jesus, Antwerp, 1648.)

When the Bollandists were expelled by Joseph II. of Austria, their library was seized and sold at auction. It was purchased for the monastery of St. Norbert at Tongerloo. When these monastics were afterward driven out by the French revolutionists, their library was pillaged and the book came into the possession of Father Jean Francois Van de Velde, S. J., president of the University of Louvain. His autograph is on the opening page.

The book, which is in Latin, is bound in vellum and in perfect preservation, belongs now to Joseph A. Donovan, Rochester, N. Y., who is willing to sell it for $10,000.

An Ounce of Prevention.

Jimmie—How did you know I was going to call?

Her Little Sister—I saw Nell taking the pins out of her belt.—Puck.

President Taft's Inaugural Address

President Taft, after taking the oath of office, immediately began the delivery of his inaugural address, which in part is as follows:

Any one who takes the oath I have just taken must feel a heavy weight of responsibility. If not, he has no conception of the powers and duties of the office upon which he is about to enter, or he is lacking in a proper sense of the obligation which the oath imposes.

The office of an inaugural address is to give a summary outline of the main policies of the new administration, so far as they can be anticipated. I have had the honor to be one of the advisers of my distinguished predecessor, and as such, to hold up his hands in the reforms he has initiated. I should be untrue to myself, to my promises and to the declarations of the party platform upon which I was elected to office, if I did not make the maintenance and enforcement of those reforms a most important feature of my administration. To render the reforms lasting, however, and to secure at the same time freedom from alarm on the part of those pursuing proper and progressive business methods, further legislative and executive action are needed. Relief of the railroads from certain restrictions of the anti-trust law have been urged by my predecessor and will be urged by me. On the other hand, the administration is pledged to legislation looking to a proper federal supervision and restriction to prevent excessive issues of bonds and stocks by companies owning and operating interstate commerce railroads.

Will Suggest Changes.

I hope to be able to submit, at the first regular session of the incoming Congress, in December next, definite suggestions in respect to the needed amendments to the anti-trust and the interstate commerce law, and the changes required in the executive departments concerned in their enforcement.

A matter of most pressing importance is the revision of the tariff. In accordance with the promises of the platform upon which I was elected, I shall call Congress into extra session, to meet on the 15th day of March, in order that consideration may be at once given to a bill revising the Dingley act. This should secure an adequate revenue and adjust the duties in such a manner as to afford to labor and to all industries in this country, whether of the farm, mine or factory, protection by tariff equal to the difference between the cost of production abroad and the cost of production here and have a provision which shall put into force, upon executive determination of certain facts, a higher or maximum tariff against those countries whose trade policy toward us equitably requires such discrimination.

Business Now Affected.

The proposal to revise the tariff made in such an authoritative way as to lead the business community to count upon it, halts all those branches of business directly affected, and as these are most important, it disturbs the whole business of the country. It is imperatively necessary, therefore, that a tariff bill be drawn in good faith in accordance with promises made before the election by the party in power, and as promptly passed as due consideration will permit. It is not that the tariff is more important in the long run than the perfecting of the reforms in respect to anti-trust legislation and interstate commerce regulation, but the need for action when the revision of the tariff has been determined upon, is more immediate to avoid embarrassment of business.

Should Practice Economy.

The obligation on the part of those responsible for the expenditures made to carry on the government, to be as economical as possible and to make the burden of taxation as light as possible, is plain and should be affirmed in every declaration of government policy. This is especially true when we are face to face with a heavy deficit. But when the desire to win the popular approval leads to the cutting off of expenditures really needed to make the government effective, and to enable it to accomplish its proper objects, the result is as much to be condemned as the waste of government funds in unnecessary expenditure.

In the department of agriculture, the use of scientific experiments on a large scale, and the spread of information derived from them for the improvement of general agriculture, must go on.

The importance of supervising business of great railways and industrial combinations, and the necessary investigation and prosecution of unlawful business methods, are another necessary tax upon government which did not exist half a century ago.

The putting into force of laws which shall secure the conservation of our resources, so far as they may be within the jurisdiction of the Federal Government, including the most important work of saving and restoring our forests, and the great improvement of waterways, are all proper Government functions which must involve large expenditure if properly performed.

The Army and Navy.

These are expenditures of government absolutely necessary if our country is to maintain its proper place among the nations of the world, and is to exercise its proper influence in defense of its own trade interests, in the maintenance of traditional American policy against the colonization of European monarchies in this hemisphere, and in the promotion of peace and international morality. I refer to the cost of maintaining a proper army, a proper navy and suitable fortifications upon the mainland of the United States and its dependencies. We should have an army so organized and so officered, as to be capable in time of emergency, in co-operation with the national militia, and under the provisions of a proper national volunteer law, rapidly to expand into a force sufficient to resist all probable invasion from abroad and to furnish a respectable expeditionary force, if necessary, in the maintenance of our traditional American policy which bears the name of President Monroe. What has been said of the army may be affirmed in even a more emphatic way of the navy. A modern navy cannot be improvised. It must be built and in existence when the emergency arises which calls for its use and operation.

Our international policy is always to promote peace. We shall enter into any war with a full consciousness of the awful consequences that it always entails, whether successful or not, and we, of course, shall make every effort, consistent with national honor and the highest national interest, to avoid a resort to arms. We favor every instrumentality, like that of The Hague Tribunal and arbitration treaties made with it, in our use in all international controversies, in order to maintain peace and to avoid war. But we should be blind to existing conditions, and should allow ourselves to become foolish idealists, if we did not realise that with all the nations of the world armed and prepared for war, we must be ourselves in a similar condition, in order to prevent other nations from taking advantage of us and of our inability to defend our interests and assert our rights with a strong hand.

Dignity Must Be Upheld.

The policy of the United States in the Spanish war, and since, has given it a position of influence among the nations that it never had before, and should be constantly exerted to securing to its bona fide citizens, whether native or naturalised, respect for them as such in foreign countries. We should make every effort to prevent humiliating and degrading prohibition against any of our citizens wishing temporarily to sojourn in foreign countries because of race or religion.

The admission of Asiatic immigrants who cannot be amalgamated with our population has been made the subject either of prohibitory clauses in our treaties and statutes, or of strict administrative regulation secured by diplomatic negotiation. I sincerely hope that we may continue to minimise the evils likely to arise from such immigration without unnecessary friction and by mutual concessons between self-respecting governments. Meantime, we must take every precaution to prevent, or, failing that, to punish outbursts of race feeling among our people against foreigners of whatever nationality who have by our grant a treaty right to pursue lawful business here and to be protected against lawless assault or injury.

Need Monetary Reform.

One of the reforms to be carried out during the incoming administration is a change of our monetary and banking laws, so as to secure greater elasticity in the forms of currency available for trade, and to prevent the limitations of law from operating to increase the embarrassments of a financial panic. The monetary commission lately appointed is giving full consideration to existing conditions and to all proposed remedies, and will doubtless suggest one that will meet the requirements of business and of public interest. We may hope that the report will embody neither the narrow view of those who believe that the sole purpose of the new system should be to secure a large return on banking capital nor of those who would have greater expansion of currency with little regard to provisions for its immediate redemption or ultimate security.

The Panama Canal.

The Panama Canal will have a most important bearing upon the trade between the eastern and the far western sections of our country, and will greatly increase the facilities for transportation between the eastern and the western seaboard, and may possibly revolutionize the transcontinental rates with respect to bulky merchandise. It will also have a most beneficial effect to increase the trade between the eastern seaboard of the United States and the western coast of South Africa, and, indeed, with some of the important ports on the east coast of South America reached by rail from the west coast. The work on the canal is making most satisfactory progress. The construction will go on under a most effective organization controlled by Col. Goethals and his fellow army engineers associated with him, and will certainly be completed early in the next administration, if not before.

Dependencies Make Progress.

The governments of our dependencies in Porto Rico and the Philippines are progressing as favorably as could be desired. The prosperity of Porto Rico continues unabated. The business conditions in the Philippines are not all that we could wish them to be, but with the passage of the new tariff bill permitting free trade between the United States and the Archipelago, with such limitations in sugar and tobacco as shall prevent injury to the domestic interests on those products, we can count on an improvement in business conditions in the Philippines and the development of a mutually profitable trade between this country and the islands. Meantime our government in each dependency is upholding the traditions of civil liberty and increasing popular control which might be expected under American auspices. The work which we are doing there redounds to our credit as a nation.

I look forward with hope to increasing the already good feeling between the South and the other sections of the country. My chief purpose is not to effect a change in the electoral vote of the Southern States. That is a secondary consideration. What I look forward to is an increase in the tolerance of political views of all kinds and their advocacy throughout the South, and the existence of a respectable political opposition in every State; even more than this, to an increased feeling on the part of all the people in the South that this government is their government, and that its officers in their States are their officers.

The consideration of this question cannot, however, be complete and full without reference to the negro race, its progress and its present condition. The thirteenth amendment secured them freedom; the fourteenth amendment due process of law, protection of property and the pursuit of happiness; and the fifteenth amendment attempted to secure the negro against any derivation of the privilege to vote, because he was a negro. Of course, the mere adoption of a constitutional law is only one step in the right direction. It must be fairly and justly enforced as well. In time both will come.

Would Educate Negroes.

There is in the South a stronger feeling than ever among the intelligent, well-to-do and influential element in favor of the industrial education of the negro and the encouragement of the race to make themselves useful members of the community. The progress which the negro has made in the last fifty years from slavery, when its statistics are reviewed, is marvelous, and it furnishes every reason to hope that in the next twenty-five years a still greater improvement in his condition as a productive member of society, on the farm, and in the shop and in other occupations, may come.

The Labor Controversy.

My distinguished predecessor has given much attention to the cause of labor, with whose struggle for better things he has shown the sincerest sympathy. At his instance, Congress has passed the bill fixing the liability of interstate carriers to their employes for injury sustained in the course of employment, abolishing the rule of fellow-servant and the common law rule as to contributory negligence, and substituting therefor the so-called rule of comparative negligence. It has also passed a law fixing the compensation of government employes for injuries sustained in the employ of the government through the negligence of the superior. It also passed a model child labor law for the District of Columbia. In previous administrations an arbitration law for interstate commerce railroads and their employes, and laws for the application of safety devices to save the lives and limbs of employes of interstate railroads had been passed. Additional legislation of this kind was passed by the outgoing Congress. I wish to say that in so far as I can, I hope to promote the enactment of further legislation of this character.

Another labor question has arisen which has awakened the most excited discussion. That is in respect to the power of the Federal courts to issue injunctions in industrial disputes. As to that, my convictions are fixed. Take away from courts, if it could be taken away, the power to issue injunctions in labor disputes, and it would create a privileged class among the laborers and save the lawless among their number from a most needful remedy available to all men for the protection of their business against lawless invasion. The proposition that business is not a property or peculiary right which can be protected by equitable injunction is utterly without foundation in precedent or reason. The proposition is usually linked with one to make the secondary boycott lawful. Such a proposition is at variance with the American instinct and will find no support in my judgment when submitted to the American people. The secondary boycott is an instrument of tyranny, and ought not to be made legitimate.

New Statute Needed.

The issuing of a temporary restraining order without notice has in several instances been abused by its inconsiderate exercise, and to remedy this, the platform upon which I was elected recommends the formulation in a statute of the conditions under which such a temporary restraining order ought to issue. A statute can and ought to be framed to embody the best modern practice, and can bring the subject so closely to the attention of the court as to make abuses of the process unlikely in the future.

Having thus reviewed the questions likely to recur during my administration, and having expressed in a summary way the position which I expect to take in recommendations to Congress and in my conduct as an executive, I invoke the considerate sympathy and support of my fellow citizens, and the aid of Almighty God in the discharge of my responsible duties.

COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL

CHICAGO.

Money conditions reflect an easier tone and discount operations extend slowly, but the improving trade activity is seen in a larger volume of payments through the banks and less difficulty in handling credits. Price readjustments take the course expected in iron and steel, but other raw materials undergo no special change. Freight movements recover from effect of recent storms, larger forwarding being noted in heavy materials, foodstuffs and general merchandise. Crop marketings gain in wheat and corn, but stocks here steadily decrease and give firmness to quotations for spot demands. Very profitable returns to growers induce liberal shipments, despite bad state of country roads.

Failures reported in the Chicago district number 24, against 25 last week, 25 in 1908 and 13 in 1907. Those with liabilities of more than $5,000 number 5, against 6 last week, 14 in 1908 and 2 in 1907.—Dun's Weekly Review of Trade.

NEW YORK.

While there has been some expansion in house jobbing trade in dry goods, millinery and kindred lines and business in agricultural implements, seeds and fertilizers has been large, the unsettlement caused by price reductions in the iron, steel and other metal markets, the weakness in securities and the near approach of tariff revision have all made for a degree of uncertainty not so plainly visible for a long time past.

Weather conditions, too, have played a part in arresting retail trade, country roads are in bad shape, farmers' deliveries are affected despite attractive prices for grain, and there has been, in fact, an apparent slowing down in the current of trade, which, however temporary it may be, has tended to make comparisons with a year ago at this time, largely favorable as they still are, less satisfactory than was expected some time ago.

As yet the reductions announced or believed to be impending in the metal markets have not made for a large business being booked.

Business failures in the United States for the week ending with Feb. 25 were 244, against 282 last week, 311 in the like week of 1908, 194 in 1907, 180 in 1906 and 206 in 1905.—Bradstreet's.

MARKETS OF THE WEEK

Chicago—Cattle, common to prime, $4.00 to $7.10; hogs, prime heavy, $4.50 to $6.55; sheep, fair to choice, $3.00 to $5.75; wheat, No. 2, $1.23 to $1.24; corn No. 2, 63c to 64c; oats, standard, 54c to 55c; rye, No. 2, 76c to 78c; hay, timothy, $8.00 to $13.50; prairie, $8.00 to $11.50; butter, choice creamery, 27c to 31c; eggs, fresh, 20c to 24c; potatoes, per bushel, 85c to 87c.

Indianapolis—Cattle, shipping, $3.00 to $6.50; hogs, good to choice heavy, $3.50 to $6.60; sheep, good to choice, $2.50 to $4.00; wheat, No. 2, $1.20 to $1.22; corn, No. 2, white, 61c to 63c; oats, No. 2 white, 49c to 51c.

St. Louis—Cattle, $4.50 to $7.00; hogs, $4.00 to $6.50; sheep, $3.00 to $5.50; wheat, No. 2, $1.28 to $1.30; corn, No. 2, 63c to 64c; oats, No. 2, 53c to 54c; rye, No. 2, 76c to 77c.

Cincinnati—Cattle, $4.00 to $6.10; hogs, $4.00 to $6.75; sheep, $3.00 to $5.25; wheat, No. 2, $1.27 to $1.28; corn, No. 2 mixed, 67c to 68c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 54c to 55c; rye, No. 2, 81c to 82c.

Detroit—Cattle, $4.00 to $6.00; hogs, $4.00 to $6.60; sheep, $2.50 to $4.75; wheat, No. 2, $1.23 to $1.25; corn, No. 3 yellow, 67c to 68c; oats, No. 3 white, 54c to 55c; rye, No. 2, 80c to 82c.

Milwaukee—Wheat, No. 2 northern, $1.13 to $1.15; corn, No. 3, 65c to 66c; oats, standard, 53c to 55c; rye, No. 1, 77c to 79c; barley, No. 1, 65c to 66c; pork, mess, $15.60.

Buffalo—Cattle, choice shipping steers, $4.00 to $6.90; hogs, fair to choice, $4.00 to $6.80; sheep, common to good mixed, $4.00 to $4.75; lambs, fair to choice, $5.00 to $7.90.

New York—Cattle, $4.00 to $5.90; hogs, $3.50 to $6.60; sheep, $3.00 to $4.50; wheat, No. 2 red, $1.23 to $1.24; corn, No. 2, 71c to 72c; oats, natural white, 57c to 60c; butter, creamery, 27c to 31c; eggs, western, 20c to 22c.

Toledo—Wheat, No. 2 mixed, $1.23 to $1.25; corn, No. 2 mixed, 65c to 67c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 55c to 56c; rye, No. 2, 81c to 82c; clover seed, $5.52.

TRADE AND INDUSTRY.

The Minnesota Senate has passed a resolution forbidding the State live stock sanitary board to incur further obligations without the consent of the Legislature, and the board has ceased to condemn live stock on account of tuberculosis or glanders or to furnish tuberculin or mallein.

At Superior, Wis., the contract is to be soon let for the preliminary construction work on the big steel plant to be built at the head of the lake by the steel trust, and the appropriation for that purpose will be raised to $27,000,000.

Governor Davidson, of Wisconsin, recommends that the State reserve to itself all rights in its undeveloped resources and that legislation be enacted forbidding the granting to private corporations of dam franchises except under special specifications approved by State experts. He estimates that the State has 1,000,000 horse power in its streams.

MARCH

0526

L 903

The St. Joe News.

One Year - - - $1.00
Six Month - - 50c
Three Months - - 25c

FRED B LEIGHTY
PU LISHER.

Entered at the Post Office in St. Joe as second-class mail matter.

Editorially.

Hours are years to the unhappy.

The man who talks so much cannot always talk well.

Folly is but for a night. Repentance is for a lifetime.

The purer a man is, the smaller is his need for a conscience.

The man who becomes great himself has no need of ancestors.

Congress is reconstructing the navy according to its own notions.

The man who wins, mind you, has often felt the sting of losing.

Prosperity is fickle. Depend upon yourself, not upon your prosperity.

Never ask a woman who supports her family by washing, as to the virtues of matrimony.

Cuba has had a little mutiny already, the people just beginning to realize how free they are.

While Castro is doing nothing, the Sultan of Turkey might call him in to give advice on how to run a really autocratic government.

Mrs. Charlotte Perkins Gilman says man is a noun and woman a preposition. A good many of the men whom we know are pronouns.

The news from Central America indicates that these restless little republics also have a tip that there will be an exodus of the big stick on March 4.

The happiest man is the one who can easiest disregard the errors of others. The most miserable people are those whose hearts are always bleeding for the faults of their fellows.

"The great distinguished will soon be the great extinguished", says the Baltimore Sun. Provided, if however, but, and on the contrary, of course.

Careful, Senator Kittredge.—Right on the corner of Skiddo avenue and Twenty-third street is the headquarters of the A. club—and the A does not stand for "Athletic" either.

King Edward has a severe sore throat. Evidently the exertion of talking through his hat to Emperor William was a severe strain on his English majesty's vocal instrument.

Senator Dixon wants to know the necessity of two great navy yards within 65 miles of each other on the New England coast. He has forgotten New England's blue funk during the Spanish war?

These Bad Pains

which give you such exquisite suffering, every month, are caused, as you know, by female trouble.

Relief seldom or never comes of itself. It is necessary to cure the cause, in order to stop the pains, and this can only be done if you will take a specific, female remedy, that acts directly on the womanly organs.

WINE OF CARDUI

WOMAN'S RELIEF

"Cardui did wonders for me," writes Mrs. H. C. Larson, of Olds, Ia. "I had female trouble for 8 years. I had displacement, which increased my suffering, the doctors could not relieve me at times. Now, I am so much better, I hardly know when my time begins or when it ends."

At All Druggists

WRITE FOR FREE ADVICE, stating age and describing symptoms, to Ladies Advisory Dept., The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn. B 38

20 Years With Heart Trouble

"Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy has cured me of heart disease of over 20 years' standing. I was so bad that I could not do my work, and could scarcely draw a full breath without fainting or smothering. The doctor told me he could do no more for me; then I commenced taking the Heart Remedy. I shall never forget that night. I slept better than I had before in months. I kept right on getting better, until I was perfectly well."

MRS. LAURA RUSSELL,
Logan, Iowa.

When the heart action is weak, it fails to pump the blood through the lungs with sufficient rapidity. Then the lungs do not absorb the proper amount of oxygen, although they may be taking in a normal amount of air. The result is shortness of breath, smothering spells, difficult breathing, oppressed feeling in chest. Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy strengthens the heart nerves and muscles, and in this way increases the circulation.

Get a bottle from your druggist. Take it according to directions, and if it does not benefit he will return your money.

Womanly Wisdom.

"You always have such a good time wherever you go." "That's because I take it with me."

Waterproof cloaks are apt to dry hard and rattling, but may be softened by heating gently before a fire.

Don't be too independent. Remember the man who sat up so straight that he fell off the seat backward and broke his neck.

Sometimes the feet of woolen stockings wear out first. Cut off the legs and knit new feet on them. They will last about as long as new ones.

A wash-day hint: Before putting your sheets and pillow-cases into the wash-boiler, toss into it four tablespoonfuls of boiled starch; and after the ironing the articles will resemble new ones.

Water Crackers: Mix just enough water with good white or Graham flour to make it hold together; add a little salt, then beat the dough with an ax or hammer, turning or folding often. The longer you pound the more tender they will be. Roll thin, prick well, and bake without browning in an oven that is not very hot.

Most good housekeepers think they have not done their duty till they have ironed the stockings and all the underwear; but really this is not necessary. All these things are just as comfortable without the ironing; and where there is a large family it saves a good deal of work not to iron them. Just smooth them out nicely and lay them away.

Keep the drawers of your sewing-machine from getting cluttered up with things that have no right there. Some machines have everything under the sun in them, from the oil-can to the boys' marbles. All these must be hauled over every few days, and maybe many times a day. Make it a rule to have just the things which belong to your machine in the drawers.

Keep the sprouts off the potatoes or they will not be fit to eat. As they will wrinkle some towards spring, cook them thus and they will be good. Pare and let them soak in cold water several hours to get out some of the starch, then boil in slightly salted water till done. Shake them up in a colander over a hot fire, and pour over them, when dished, a cream dressing, such as you use for new potatoes.

It Saved His Leg.

"All thought I'd lose my leg," writes J. A. Swenson, Watertown, Wis., "Ten years of eczema, that 15 doctors could not cure, had at last laid me up. Then Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured it sound and well." Infallible for Skin Eruptions, Eczema, Salt Rheum, Boils, Fever Sores, Burns, Scalds, Cuts and Piles. 25c at H. Milliman's.

Chilblain Cure.

Water as hot as can be endured will take the itch and swelling out of toes and fingers, and a quick change to cold water will help to fortify them against the weather. Rubbing them in both hot and cold water "will help some."

Sunday Base Ball.

The second Sunday baseball bill, passed in the senate Thursday by a vote of 26 to 19, will become a law without the signature of Gov. Marshall.

The governor regards the passage of a second bill of this kind as a passage of baseball legislation over his veto. He has refused once to give his approval to the proposition. The legislature has twice expressed its will in favor of the Sunday game. The governor feels that there is no more for him to say on the subject. It is his idea that the question is now one for the courts to decide. He believes the bill is unconstitutional.

Senator Pearson offered an amendment to the bill, providing that banking and horse racing be excepted, along with baseball, from the workings of the Sabbath desecration act. Senator Kistler called this a "foolish, little" motion. His words were stricken from the record. The previous question shut off all further amendment and debate, and under suspension of the rules the second baseball bill was passed. When 26 votes were obtained the absentees were excused. Several senators dodged the issue.

Kills Would-be Slayer.

A merciless murderer is Appendicitis with many victims. But Dr. King's New Life Pills kill it by prevention. They gently stimulate stomach, liver and bowels, preventing that clogging that invites appendicitis, curing Constipation, Biliousness, Chills, Malaria, Headache and Indigestion. 25c at H. Milliman's.

Two Needle Stories.

A. F. Fredrickson, formerly of Auburn, now of Jackson township, had been ill for a year, suffering intensely at intervals. Recently the point of a needle was discovered protruding from his abdomen and removing it his wife discovered it was part of a needle. Last week another part of the needle was removed from his tongue. How the needle got into his body is not known.

Another needle story is in the case of Mrs. Frank Olinger. A few weeks ago, while washing, she ran a needle into her hand and afterward suffered greatly from it. The physician was unable to locate it and the hand was poulticed. Sunday the needle was discovered and removed.

Ball Lightning.

"Ball lightning," says a professor of meteorology, "is the most mysterious form of lightning. It sometimes behaves like a small animal with the most evil nature. Its shape is not always spherical, though generally so. Sometimes it is oval, sometimes it has a flame like a shell. It often looks like an orange and moves so slowly that one can follow it for several minutes.

"Once at Marseilles it entered a house like a ball of fire the size of a plate, struck the feet of a girl who was kneeling, terrified, rebounded to the ceiling, struck her feet again, then the ceiling. After bounding thus three or four times with perfect regularity it finally went through the keyhole.

"One day at Secondigny two boys, one aged twelve and the other fifteen, were playing in the street when they saw a ball like an orange rolling toward them. One touched it with his foot. It exploded, killing him instantly. His comrade was thrown down, but was not hurt."—Chicago Tribune.

The Brotherhood of Mercy.

The "Compagnia della Misericordia" (Brotherhood of Mercy) of Florence includes men of all ranks, who attend by day or night in cases of accident, to carry the wounded to the hospital, or the dead to their burial, to nurse the sick in their homes or to assist at fires, receiving no money or food in any house they visit. The great bell of the tower tolls to call the brothers on duty at the time, and even the grand duke has been seen to withdraw from table and silently respond to the summons. They repair quickly to their chapel by Santa Maria Novella, where their black glazed cotton robes are kept in locked and numbered drawers. "Black stoled, black hooded, like a dream," you may meet the procession at night, masked and of unknown identities, passing along by torchlight with a strange, wild chant, bearing the bier.

Great Things Yet to Be.

The world is only beginning. We have done nothing, said nothing, sung nothing. The history of the past is the history of one empire at a time. Now several empires must compete together—among them, that miracle of conquest and greater miracle of slow becoming, set dispersedly about the world, but linked together, grasped and held by the embracing sea, our own ocean state, "Imperial Britain, mighty and aware." The world will yet know greater men than Cæsar and Napoleon, deeper passion and wider humanity than Shakespeare's, a music still more elemental than Wagner's, a sadder soul than Schopenhauer's, a more triumphant intellect than Nietzsche's, beauty more enthralling than Helen's.—John Davidson in London Outlook.

Changed Hands.

The elevator and grist mill which has been operated by Mrs. Rena Van Houten since the death of her husband, J. S. Van Houten, has been sold. The new proprietors are John M. Zmyslony and Theodore Lemmish, both well known resident of Garrett. They continue to operate the mill on the same plans followed by the former owners.

False Report.

Notwithstanding the report that Craig Sheffer has sold out, he is still doing business at the old stand. Bring him your work.

Wood For Sale.

65 Cords of good wood. Inquire of Frank Silberg, Spencerville, Indiana.

Stones and Glass Houses.

The origin of the saying, "Those who live in glass houses should not throw stones," is as follows: At the time of the union of England and Scotland London was inundated with Scotchmen, and the London roughs used to go about at night breaking their windows. Buckingham being considered the chief instigator of the mischief, a party of Scotchmen smashed the windows of the duke's mansion, known as the Glass House. The court favorite appealed to the king, who replied, "Steenie, Steenie, those who live in glass houses should be careful how they fling stones!"—New York American.

Mathematics at Oxford.

There is an interesting story which shows the disposition of Oxford toward mathematics. A venerable don who had bought half a dozen books at 2s. 6d. each requested the bookseller to give him a piece of paper for the purpose of arriving at the amount. He then wrote down 3s. 6d. six times, one under the other, and was slowly adding them up when the shopman ventured to point out the shorter method of multiplying one 3s. 6d. by 6. "Dear me!" exclaimed the don. "Really, that is most ingenious, most ingenious."—London Globe.

Anticipating Him.

Night after night the exceedingly quiet and backward youth had called on a neighboring farmer's daughter, sitting perfectly mute beside her while she did all the entertaining. This night, however, the youth, wishing for a glass of water, suddenly surprised her by blurting out, "Say, Sal, will you"—

"Don't exert yourself, Reuben," she interrupted. "I understand. Yes. Have you brought the ring?"—Bohemian Magazine.

The Toast of an Irishman.

Michael Meyers Shoemaker wrote "Wanderings in Ireland." An old Irishman read a fragment of it that related to the reader's neighborhood. He asked the name of the author. "Mr. Shoemaker, is it?" he commented. "A nice gentleman, I'll go bail. 'Tis a fine country he chose to travel in too. May the heavens be his bed for choosing it, and may every hair in his honor's head be a mold candle to light his soul to glory!"

Logical Conclusion.

First Burglar—Hark! I hear some one talking. Second Burglar—What's he saying? First Burglar—That he never will bet on another horse as long as he lives. Second Burglar—Let's get out of this. No money here. He's lost every cent.—London Tit-Bits.

At Last.

"Ah, ha," exclaimed the great explorer joyfully, "at last I have found the missing link!"

And, crawling from under his bed, he proceeded to put the small gold affair in his clean cuff.—New York Journal.

Send in your news.

Curie's up-to-date restaurant.

Mrs. Emma Abel and daughter, Mrs. Gertrude Woodcox and children spent Friday with Mrs. Anna Abel.

If you have the "grip" you will know it after the Irishman's definition, "I was sick six weeks after I got well."

Spring is approaching and with it the joy of house cleaning. Just remember that you can get your supply of old papers at The News office.

Quite a number of our subscribers have favored us by paying their subscriptions the past week. The law requires publishers to keep their lists paid up and in a very short time there will be a number who will not receive The News because we must obey the law, and no fine will be to blame but the subscriber who allows his subscription to get in arrears. Better pay up.

Abraham Lincoln: "I like to see a man proud of the place in which he lives. I like to see a man who lives in it so that his place will be proud of him. Be honest, but hate no one; overturn a man's wrong-doing, but do not overturn him unless it must be done in overturning the wrong. Stand with anybody that stands right. Stand with him while he is right, and part with him when he goes wrong."

I Have AddeD

to my stock of Hardware a small stock of Furniture. Iron Beds, Husk and Cotton Felt Mattresses, Bed springs, Chairs Tables, Etc.

HARDWARE

My stock of Hardware is complete. I have the largest assortment of Reeds Flintstone ware ever seen in

ST. JOE

Look at the label, it it is Reeds Flintstone ware, it is warranted. Everybody is learning the quality of Keen Kutter tools. Pocket Knives, Razors, Chisels, Hatchets, Hammers Cross cut and Hand Saws, all kept in stock.

Goods are right, Prices are right.

D. J. Baker.

News Items

Cigars and Candy at Curie's.

Mr. H. M. Widney was at Albion on business, last week.

You will get relief from Pain when Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills are taken.

Mrs. Emma Abel was a guest of Auburn relatives a few days last week

Miss Winnie Bills of South Bend, came home Thursday to visit her parents.

Opal and Stanley Koch visited at Grabill, Saturday and Sunday with Jerry Klopfenstein and family.

The Butler school board last week, voted to reelect Prof. Beam, superintendent of their school for another year.

Once in a while a business man hints to us that he don't thing advertising pays, and immediately berates the people for patronizing the mail order houses. The mail order business is the greatest object lesson in the country. Every dollar's worth of business they ever did was secured by advertising. This is their only means of getting business. The country merchant would do well to follow their methods. Advertise, print your prices, and convince your customers that you can do better by them than the big city fellows. Hundreds of dollars have gone into their wallets from this section because some of the home merchants never let the people know that the goods were for sale here.

J. H. Lake M. D.

has permanently located in the O. H. Widney property on 4th street, opposite opera house and invites you to call on him.

Calls answered day or night.

BELL PHONE NO. 12.

St. Joe, - Indiana.

If you would be most popular with your friends, speak to them of themselves and never of yourself.

Nervous or Sick Headache will yield quickly to the influence of Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. 25 doses 25 cents.

The lips seldom speak what the heart feels. When they are eloquent, they do not truly interpret the heart, for the heart that feels the most is like a man trying to testify over the grave of his dearest friend. His utterance is chocked and his reason halt.

The petition for the improvement of the St. Joe river, by widening and straightening the stream a distance of about fourteen miles from a point a mile south of the Michigan state line to Montpelier, was dismissed by the board of county commissioners at the final hearing last week Thursday. It would have cost about $80,000 and affected 1,400 property owners. The costs in the matter have already reached $1,000, a part of which will likely have to be paid by the petitioners.—Edgerton Earth.

PHOTOGRAPHS.

We make them

AT THE

Tustison Studio.

Fine Portraits on Postals - - $1.00 per doz.

Call and get prices on

FAMILY GROUPES.

WHEN DEATH COMES

Friends and loved ones desire that the last services be conducted in the best way possible. The embalming and funeral need careful attention. Miss Kinsey, a licensed embalmer, takes charge of all funerals. Satisfaction guaranteed. Calls answered day or night

H. V. Kinsey & Son,

Phone No. Office 37-2. Residence 37-

MARCH

0527

L 903

SPENCERVILLE NEWS.

A Department of the ST. JOE NEWS for the Spencerville People.

Undertaking and Embalming.

Two Funeral Cars. One in White and the other in Black. We also furnish one elegant cab for Pall Bearers or friends. Prices reasonable

Beams & Baker.

Local Briefs

D. D. Metcalf is visiting his daughter Mrs. Jennie Barton, at Ridgeville, Indiana.

A Miss Lake of Michigan is staying at the home of Mrs. George Lake for some time.

Miss Clara Sweeney of near Fort Wayne, is the guest of Rev. Sweeney and family.

Mrs. Libbie Herlman was the guest of relatives and friends here Saturday and Sunday

Mrs. E. W. Erick has been on the sick list.

The interior of Allen's barber shop is being repaired this week.

Mrs. Charles Freece has been sick with Lagrippe the past week.

Rink Saturday night. At St. Joe. Come,

Francis Butler, George and Forest Reams were at Ft. Wayne Saturday.

Dr. Rowand will give the third number of the lecture course, to-night

The influence the nearby saloon has on some of our citizens is easily to be seen in our little city.

Mable Rectenwal of Maumee, Ohio, came to spend a few weeks with her brother, Clyde and wife.

Miss Ardia Wilson and cousin of Norris Chapel were the guest of friends Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Sarah Walter, Vina Quance and Mrs. Emily Spitler spent Tuesday of last week with Mrs. Mariah Oberholtzer.

Mrs. Mary Snyder of Ft Wayne, and her sister Mrs. Sarah Butler of Benton, Ind., were visiting Mrs. Jane Butler a relative, last week.

The E. W. Erick corner seems to be in demand. Two parties are trying hard to secure it for to build upon but as yet no deal has been made.

The C. E. Topic Sunday evening will be a temperance subject, "What are our Liquor Laws and How are they Enforced". Good speaking and special work will be the attracting features of the program.

Mrs. Cora Hart was at Wayne, last week, attending the millinery opening. She was accompanied home Friday by Mrs. Allen and Fern Wearley, who attended the opening all week.

The social given Saturday evening at the home of W. W. Fisher was fairly well attended. The evenings program consisted of contest of which Harry Hursh won first prize and John Shutt, second prize in the noted character contest. Lela Fales, first and Connie Davis, second prize winners in the baby contest. The Silhouette contest was one of constant laughter.

Our light is the Bystrom

I am exclusive agent for Dekalb and Allen County. We have them for the country home and business rooms. You can teli them any where by the soft white light they give.

GEORGE MILLIMAN.
AGENT.

Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Announcement.

Low Rates to Pittsburgh Pa., account Ninth Annual Bowling Tournament. March 8th. and 15th.

Homeseekers' Excursion Fare to points in the West, Northwest and Southwest. March 16 and 1st and 3rd Tuesday in each month April to November inclusive.

Very Low Colonist Fare to points in the west, northwest and southwest, Canada and Mexico March 1 to April 30.

Consult nearest B. & O. agent for particulars.

Ask Robert Beams about that Rat

Benjamin Hursh was on the sick list last week.

Miss Louie Rummel was at Fort Wayne Friday.

Mrs. Flossie Wilson and son returned to Hicksville Saturday.

Mrs. Value's brother Vern and wife visited with her Sunday.

Fred Thomas and family were guests of relatives near Harlan Sunday.

Chas. Rhoads has moved his barn and this week his house will be moved north of town.

S. H. Maurer and Susie Seehler were guests of Frank Seehlers' at St. Joe Sunday.

Platt Squires moved last week from the Maurer farm to the Babrook farm south-east of town.

Lorenzo Means and family were entertained at the home of Dr. Shook and family Sunday.

File a Mortgage Exemption and pay less tax. Now is the time. See S. S. Widney.

Mr. Wm. Baltz and daughter Frankie north of St. Joe, visited the formers mother, Mrs. John Baltz, last Tuesday.

Wm. Sommers has purchased the old Sommers farm near Leo, and is preparing to build a fine, modern country home.

W. W. Fisher will go on the road for the Chattanooga Medicine Co., as soon as his school is out and Frank Baltz will try farming for a change.

Ten Eyck Green House, cut flowers and floral emblems, Both phones. Auburn.

Aunt Rachel Watson is at the point of death being unconscious for several days. She has been ailing all winter and old age seems to be the only cause of her illness.

Miss Mary Comesky, Mrs. Samuel Steward, Miss Ethel Metcalf and Rev. Sweeney were at Auburn Tuesday of last week attending the M. E. District Conference.

The Crescent Concert Co., is going to give a concert in the M. E. church, Tuesday, March 23. This company has a reputation of being up-to-date and by recommendations other towns have given them they are first-class.

J. A. G. Club.

On last Saturday evening February 27, the members of the J. A. G. Club entertained their friends, as it was guest night, at the home of Miss Francis Butler. Each member being permitted to invite one guest. Six of the young ladies gave a parlor play, which created much amusement and took up about thirty minutes of the time. Then they were all asked to go to the dining room where a splendid three course supper was served, after which the time was spent in playing games, such as peanut races, guessing contests, etc. The members of the club present were the Misses Josephine Carnes, Ethel Metcalf, Arminta and Jennie Steward, Francis Butler and the Mesdames Audrey Wade and Princess Rectenwal. The guests were Messrs John Coburn, Harry Hursh, Charles Chapman, Wm. P. Steward, Connie Davis, Leyde Wade and Clyde Rectenwal. At 11:30 they took their departure thanking Mrs. Butler for helping them to entertain and for the splendid time they had.

Then on the following Friday night March 5th., the girls delightfully surprised Mrs Samuel Steward, at her home. After the surprise was over and all were comfortably seated the girls passed pop corn, home made candies, nuts and apples. Some of the girls took their sewing as is their custom and the evening was pleasantly spent in partaking of the refreshments, chatting, laughing, sewing, etc. The members were all present except Miss Golden Murray who is out of town. As they departed for their homes, Mrs. Steward thanked the girls for remembering her and very cordially invited them back.

When in Doubt Keep on the Safe Side.

BUY

Drugs --Sundries

—AT—

BOWMAN'S

DRUG STORE.

Local Items.

James Munn sold one of his 3 year old colts last week, to Hicksville buyers.

Quite a good many of the K. of Ps. attended church, Sunday morning, in a body. A fine sermon was preached by Rev. Sweeney.

Bowser & Gloyd were at Huntertown nearly all last week, unloading wire fencing. During this time 4,500 rods were disposed of and new orders were taken for 1,000 rods. Among the other articles disposed of were 5 incubators and 2 Meluk's deposit safes. The boys are genuine hustlers and are making a good business.

J D Fetters

TRUSTEE

of Concord Township.

OFFICE DAY:
THURSDAY OF EACH WEEK at his farm residence One mile

EAST OF CONCORD.

For Ladies.

We call your attention to our extra fine line of the famous

J. C. C. Corsets

A good line to select from and prices ranging from

50 Cents to $1.00

Beams & Co.

Spring Work

will soon be upon you and to go into your seasons work well shod will add to the pleasure of it. When in need of Heavy Work Shoes come in and let us fix you out.

Prices Right

U. S. S. Idaho, Hampton Roads, Va.
Feb. 27, 1909.

Dear Grandma:-

Well I will endeavor to answer your letter, which I received on the 22nd. I will also tell you about what I saw of the fleet. We left Philadelphia Feb. 9 and went to sea. We ran at eight knot per hour. When four days out we met the Maine. New Hampshire and Mississippi under Admiral Arnold. Later the North Carolina, Montana, Chester, Salem and Birmingham joined us. On the 17th we joined the fleet and proceeded to Hampton Roads. On the morning of the 22nd. we passed Cape Henry and Cape Charles; having anchored in Lynhaven Bay the night before. At the tail of the Horseshoe Shoals we passed the President, in the Mayflower, and each ship fired a salute of twenty-one guns. We then anchored in Hampton Roads in double column. That evening Admiral Sperry gave a dinner to his officers. Since then the ships have been coaling up and leaving for their respective stations. Richmond is just ninty miles away, but I have not been able to obtain liberty to go home. Well I will close.

Your affectionate grandson,
Carlisle.

Near Death in ig Pond

It was a thrilling experience to Mrs. Ida Soper to face death. "For years a severe lung trouble gavt me intense suffering," she writes, "and several times nearly caused my death. All remedies failed and doctors said I was incurable. Then Dr. King's New Discovery brought quick relief and a cure so permanent that I have not been troubled in twelve years." Mrs Soper lives in Big Pend, Pa. It works wonders in Coughs and Colds, Sore Lungs, Hemorrhages, La-Grippe, Asthma, Croup, Whooping Cough and all Bronchial affections- 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by H. Milliman.

Local News Items.

Is Horn spent several days the past week in scraping the roads and they were in fine shape.

WANT-ED!

50 Subscribers.

Mr. Betts has moved back to town.

Mrs. Wise has returned from a visit with her daughters at Holgate, Ohio.

Mrs. Mary Repp of New Haven visited her brother Louis Beery, Saturday.

Mrs. I. S. Horn was the guest of Hicksville friends a few days last week.

Mrs. Lillie Strong and children spent Saturday with Sam Steward and family.

Mr. Charlie Freece accompanied his daughter Mrs. Flora Stafford, to her home at Goshen, Tuesday.

PATENTS

PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo. for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc. IN ALL COUNTRIES.
Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent.
Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively.
Write or come to us at 625 Ninth Street, opp. United States Patent Office.
WASHINGTON, D. C.

C.A.SNOW & Co.

A LETTER

Kind Friend and Patron:—

The mission of this letter is to announce that I have purchased the A. F. Heyman lumber yard of this place. Please accept this with my compliments and best wishes and in the hope that you will find it useful and of service to you financially as well as to myself. If I have been getting your business I thank you and trust you will keep it coming it is appreciated and I will endeavor to be deserving of it. It has always been one of my cardinal principles, that success, in business can only be obtained by giving good goods, prompt service and courteous treatment. I place myself in the position of the other fellow and try to look at matters from his point of view, therefore I give all that and devote all my efforts and energies to serve my customers so they will feel like coming again. I am in a position to furnish anything in the line of building material such as hard and soft pine, poplar, domestic timber, doors, windows, sash, glass, locks and hinges, also, all kinds of moulding used in building; shingles, roofing slate, roofing felt, and composition roofing, galvanized ridge irons and valleys, cement plasters, Royal & American wire fence, barb wire, smooth wire, wire nails of all kinds, hard and soft coal, and if I have not in stock in building material that which you want I can get it for you, and my prices will be right according to grades. Thanking you for past favors and soliciting your future patronage I remain,

Yours Truly,
L. W. Steward.

W. M. ALLEN

Barber.

The barber trade is like all public business, satisfaction must be given and that is what we are doing. We are now in a position to furnish you with the best brands of cigars and solicit your patronage. In addition to this we are handling the World's Famous

Edison Phonograph.

JUSTICE

of the Peace work given special attention. Try us once.

S. S. Kimes

—M. D.—

Having located in the Markle building, is now ready to answer all calls, day or night. He invites you to call at the office and is ready to extend you every courtesy in keeping with the profession.

Phone No. 10.
Spencerville, Ind.

Electric Bitters

Succeed when everything else fails. In nervous prostration and female weaknesses they are the supreme remedy, as thousands have testified.
FOR KIDNEY, LIVER AND STOMACH TROUBLE
It is the best medicine ever sold over a druggist's counter.

THE NEWS
6 Months for only 50 cents

MARCH

0528

L 903

RHEUMATISM

I want every chronic rheumatic to throw away all medicines, all liniments, all plasters, and give MUNYON'S RHEUMATISM REMEDY a trial. No matter what your doctor may say, no matter what your friends may say, no matter how prejudiced you may be against all advertised remedies, go at once to your druggist and get a bottle of the RHEUMATISM REMEDY. If it fails to give satisfaction, I will refund your money.—Munyon

Remember this remedy contains no salicylic acid, no opium cocaine, morphine or other harmful drugs. It is put up under the guarantee of the Pure Food and Drug Act.

For sale by all druggists. Price, 25c.

The Rented Children.

Charles M. Schwab, at a dinner in Pittsburg, discussed his New Year economics. He said:

"It is necessary to economize, to shut up some of one's houses and so on, because of the innumerable claims on one. And all these claims are always just, you know. Why, I never saw a claimant yet who wasn't quite as sure of his rights as the Altoona beggar woman.

"A beggar woman, with three tiny children shivering beside her, stood on a windy corner in Altoona on a bitter winter day. A charity officer paused beside her with a sneer.

"'You,' he said, 'you begging! And those children aren't yours at all!'

"'Well, sir,' the beggar woman indignantly retorted, 'I'd have less need to beg if they were mine, for then I wouldn't have to pay ten cents a day to hire them.'"

$960 Per Acre.

S. H. Rodger, Orofino, New Pierce Co., Idaho, has this to say regarding onion seed obtained from the John A. Salzer Seed Co., Box C, of La Crosse, Wis.:

"I bought garden seeds of you last year and was more than pleased with same, especially the onion seed. I raised some of the finest Silver King Onions that I ever saw, being over 5½ inches in diameter, and Salzer's Prizetaker were, if anything, even finer. They paid me over $6.00 per square rod, or figuring it by the acre, it would be $960.00 per acre."

Ribald Jester.

"Hear about the terrific magazine explosion?"

"No. How about it? When did it happen?"

"Next March. Happened to the Outlook."—Chicago Tribune.

Every Woman Will Be Interested.

There has recently been discovered an aromatic, pleasant herb cure for woman's ills, called Mother Gray's AUSTRALIAN-LEAF. It is the only certain regulator. Cures female weaknesses and Backache, Kidney, Bladder and Urinary troubles. At all Druggists or by mail 50 cts. Sample FREE. Address, The Mother Gray Co., LeRoy, N. Y.

A Dear Friend.

"I hear your fren' Tamson's married again."

"Aye, so he is. He's been a dear fren' tae me. He's cost me three wadding presents an' two wreaths."—Dundee Advertiser.

Pneumonia and Consumption are always preceded by an ordinary cold. Hamlins Wizard Oil rubbed into the chest draws out the inflammation, breaks up the cold and prevents all serious trouble.

Kindly Bear with Him.

There was a young man in Ishpeming
Whose conduct we're far from condemning,
For he helped us one time
In our search for a rhyme,
By wedding a maiden named Fleming
—Chicago Tribune.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS

PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refunded. 50c.

Impossible.

"I don't care about a church wedding, Myrtle. Do you? Wouldn't you rather be married right here at your own home?"

"Yes, but I am afraid we can't do that, Algy. I'm quite sure it's forbidden in the lease."—Chicago Tribune.

If you use ball blue, get Red Cross Ball Blue, the best ball blue. Large 2oz. package, 5 cents.

Unsolicited Testimonial.

Rivers had taken Brooks out to lunch-eon.

"Ever eaten at this place before?" asked Brooks, sawing away on his steak

"O, yes; a few times," answered Rivers, trying to find a piece of chicken that was tender.

"Serves you right, then!"

Try Murine Eye Remedy

For Red, Weak, Weary, Watery Eyes. Compounded by Experienced Physicians. Conforms to the Pure Food and Drugs Law. Murine Doesn't Smart. Soothes Eye Pain. Try Murine for Your Eyes. You Will Like It.

Pardonable Curiosity.

"Rivers, what brand is that cigar you're smoking?"

"It's a Flor de Ranke. Making a memorandum of it, Brooks? I'll tell you where you can——"

"I'm writing the name of it, old man, in my list of 'Things to be Avoided.'"—Chicago Tribune.

How the Trouble Started.

Publisher—Surely it ought to be possible to make good print paper out of cornstalks.

Mill Owner—Your wish, sir, is fodder to the thought.

A California company has secured 100 pounds of aus paddy rice from Bengal and will try to raise the grain.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

THE PULPIT

RELIGION AND THEOLOGY.

By Henry F. Cope.

"Who shall abide in Thy tabernacle. He that walketh upright."—Ps. xv:1, 2.

It is easy to exalt opinions to undue importance, especially if the opinions are our own, and invariably if they are formed with a splendid disregard of all other opinions. There is a fatal facility about thinking the same things until opinion runs automatically and begins to rule us. Then we set up such automatic judgments as standards for others and as objects of worship for all.

This is not the kind of thinking that makes the world. This is not the kind of thinking that determines character. The deep thoughts of the heart shape the action of the individual and dictate the actions of mankind. But this prejudice and blind automatic utterance of opinion is often the type of thinking that dominates theology.

It is a disappointing experiment to ask, What ought I to do in order to find the way of the religious life and service? and to receive the answer that you must believe this statement or that definition or opinion. Almost any worth while man would rather be damned for intellectual honesty than saved by theological hypocrisy.

If you examine the formulas and philosophies upon the acceptance of which your character and destiny are both supposed to rest you will be surprised to find how little they have to do with the deep and eternal realities of life. Theology concerns itself principally with matters about which we never can have precise information, where uncertainty is most certain to be discovered, and often with those matters which, if they were settled absolutely, would lose all interest to us.

People were happy in their enjoyment of this fair world long before the invention of the nebular hypothesis. They managed to stay on the ground long before the discovery of the law of gravitation. No man would be condemned to be chained to the earth for fear of falling off, because he refused to believe that law.

The great thing to do is to accept the facts as they are for working purposes. That is the only pathway into larger understanding of the laws of our universe. The mechanic who obeys the elementary laws of physics is a better scientist than he who blindly subscribes to all the theories of our universe.

Theology properly is just our attempt to read something of the laws that reign in the higher reaches of our life. Its value depends on our use of the laws. It will not keep you from internal disturbances and regrets to indorse the theories of modern dietetics; neither will your wholesale reception of the elaborations of modern and ancient theology save you from conflict with the laws of the life of the spirit.

All thinking is for the purposes of living. It must come to the test of its product in character and conduct. It is worth while to remember this when narrow views are insisted on by small men, and others seek to emphasize their outlandish opinions by their eccentric and often unsavory living.

The poorest kind of a religion in this world is the one that can be embalmed in a theological mummy case, dried up dust, labeled, and laid away, awesome with antiquity but utterly helpless. The life has died out of any faith when it can be thus cased up and catalogued. A vital belief always defies precise analysis and the processes of pigeon-holing.

As soon as the heretics all die in a church the church dies. The heretics are those who leave yesterday's forms for to-day's facts. The only dangerous heresies are these: When we love any lie and refuse the truth, or when pride persuades us to be singular in error rather than to be lost in the larger company who see the truth.

If you are perplexed over opinions in matters of religion turn from the uncertainties to the certainties. We can all agree that love is better than hate, that right is better than wrong; that it is better to live up than to die down, that it is better to lift up than to tear down. If we will gradually build such a firm and certain platform for our practice we will cease to look for stability in clouds of theory, and will find truth through life, right doctrines through duty.

THE GREATEST MAN.

By Rev. Thomas Reed Bridges.

Who is the greatest?—Matthew xviii, 1.

Our Lord does not condemn ambition, but He defines its true object. True ambition, according to Christ, is distinguished by humility and service. The first quality demands that we be unconscious of self. The second demands that we be conscious of others.

Early in His ministry Jesus uttered the beatitude, "Blessed are the meek." Now to these ambitious disciples He said: "You must humble yourselves and become as little children." Meekness is thought by many to be the same as weakness. It is, on the contrary, the noblest kind of strength.

Men cling to the idea of personal importance. Flattery is the surest road to favor. We are never so happy as when people praise us and bow down before us. We have not learned the greatness of humility. Nor have we learned the further greatness of service. Our Lord and Master was servant of all. The poorest and the humblest could command Him. He went about looking for the people that needed Him. Worldly ambition makes us look at men in other lights. They are beggars to be ignored, they are tools to be used, they are rivals to be crushed. But the spirit of service puts them all in one class. They are brothers to be loved and helped.

Who, then, is greatest? The man who does the greatest amount of good. Helpfulness is the highest quality of human life. Service is the crowning glory of man. All honor to him who floods the world with a great affection, who stirs the world with great thoughts, who moves the world to deeds of heroism.

Service is the thing that lasts longest. It has an earthly immortality. When our names have perished and our memory is forgotten, the good deeds we have done will live on. "Charity never faileth." The beauty of the beneficial deed, the widow's two mites, the alabaster box of ointment, Sir Philip Sidney's cup of cold water, the passing shadow of Florence Nightingale, which the dying soldier strove to kiss; these are pictures which this world, bad as it is, will not let fade. The suns of centuries rise and set upon them.

The beauty of this ideal of service is that it is within the reach of all. Every c.. is full of poverty, suffering ignorance, degradation. Everywhere our brothers lie before us as of old they lay before the eternal Christ, most miserable, but most noble. They need our help and they are worthy of it. Their hearts will thrill with new life at the touch of kindness and they will rise and stand upon their feet.

Jesus Christ offers the world a new road to greatness. He traveled it Himself and thousands praise Him in every land. His name is above every name. There is no other way. You cannot rise by cunning and deceit. You cannot gain a success worth having by selfishness. But if you follow Him you will reach the snowclad summit, you will win the favor of man and God and leave the world at last a little better than you found it.

SERMONETTES.

Petrified virtue is but vice.

Nothing is saved by selfishness.

Start in with a splurge, end with a dirge.

The sources of beauty are all in the soul.

A deadhead is almost sure to be a blockhead.

The way to kill love is to count on its profits.

No man gets to be a star by rehearsing as a cloud.

He who lives in a cave is always sure as to the sun.

Many a tailored suit covers a lot of hand-me-down sins.

No man ever spoke truth without hearing its echo in heaven.

Repentance is always lame without restitution and reformation.

The church does not lead folks to heaven by looking like a funeral.

A man's religion goes no deeper than the big potatoes in his bushel.

Religion is always a bad bargain to the man who tries to get it cheap.

The man who brags of his humility is equally proud of his consistency.

It's hard to go on singing, "Take my silver and my gold" after you get some.

Citizenship in heaven will not exempt you from either taxes or service here.

The cleaning up of society usually has to start where charity is said to begin.

He that dirties his hands plunges with delight into that which blackens his heart.

The steps downward are so many and so small that men seldom recognize the grade.

When you get after the profits of oppression you will hear a lot about the principles of liberty.

The bigot is the man who thinks that all souls go to heaven only through his private knothole.

A plate of soup may weigh as much in the universe as many a song or sermon on brotherhood.

The fool has two extremely difficult tasks, to know himself and to keep others from doing the same.

You cannot do much good for men if you seek to do good only to the good. Idle moments are opportunities for investment or avenues for infection.

DON'TS FOR CHURCHMEN.

Don't mistake self-pity for saintliness.

Don't forget that emptiness is not innocence.

Don't forget that hypocrisy embraces forced piety.

Don't forget that difficulty often is a divine challenge.

Don't forget that practice is the one preservative of religion.

Don't expect to attain the highest greatness through self-consciousness of it.

Don't expect to succeed in hurling Satan from his throne by throwing adjectives at him.

Don't hesitate to go into the saddest places of earth if you would hear the joy of heaven.

Smiles of The Day

Inside Facts.

"George," said the maiden aunt reprovingly, shaking her finger very solemnly at her small nephew, "there were two mince pies on the larder shelf this morning, and now they have disappeared. I didn't think it was in you."

"'Tisn't all in me," blubbered the wee boy; "one of 'em is in Gwennie."—Tit Bits.

Dressed for the Concert.

Heinrich Conried was telling how bad the old-fashioned concerts were sometimes.

"An old Chicago millionaire," he said, "called upstairs to his daughter:

"'What a time you girls take getting ready for the concert! Look at me—a bit of wadding in each ear, and I'm all ready.'"—Success Magazine.

A Definition.

"Father, what are wrinkles?"

"Fretwork, my boy, fretwork."—Independent.

Means of Identification.

Teller—How am I to tell that you are Sam Watkins?

Sam—You kin tell by dis wart on de back ob mah neck.

If It Rises at All.

She—How could you tell papa that you were up every morning in time to see the sun rise, when you don't get up till nine?

He—That's all right. The sun rises until noon, doesn't it?—Boston Transcript.

Pleasanter Task.

Old Gentleman—I started at the bottom and climbed up.

Spendthrift Son—But it's much pleasanter tobogganing.

It Depends.

"How old would you say Mabel is?"

"Well, you see, that depends. If I was talking to Mabel I should say that she is not over 18; but between you and me, confidentially, of course, to any one else I should say 28."—Detroit Free Press.

Circumstantial Evidence.

Mistress—What was the young man like who called yesterday to see the cook?

Maid—He wore a cutaway coat, ma'am, and a stovepipe hat ——

Mistress—Then I guess it was the plumber.—Baltimore American.

Illuminating.

"How's your new kid?"

"Fine."

"Don't you find that a baby brightens up a household wonderfully?"

"Yes, indeed. We have to have the gas going most of the nights now."—Cleveland Leader.

Of Course.

Jicks—The patrons of street cars are a mighty narrow lot.

Wicks—They have to be. They're jammed in so tight.

Glad to Do It.

"Here, waiter, take this fish away and tell the manager about it."

"I certainly will, sir, because I bet him five francs you wouldn't be able to finish it, and I've won."—Pele Mele.

Would Be to Him.

Mrs. Peckem—This paper says that "joy rides" are all the rage in the East. What in the world is a joy ride?

Peckem—It must the kind a married man takes when he travels alone and rides in the smoking car.

Mistaken Idea.

"Isn't your husband a little bald?" asked one woman of another.

"I should say not," answered the other indignantly. "He hasn't a bald hair on his head."

Unnecessary Noises.

The celebrated soprano was in the middle of her solo when little Johnny said to his mother, referring to the conductor of the orchestra, "Why does that man hit at the woman with his stick?"

"He is not hitting at her," replied his mother. "Keep quiet."

"Well, then, what is she hollerin' so for?"—Success.

About Due.

Mrs. McGillicuddy, thinking her husband was rather late in coming home on Saturday with his pay, went to the police station to inquire if he was there.

"Is my Pat 'ere?" she asked.

"No," replied the inspector on duty, "but sit down; we're expecting him every minute."—Philadelphia Inquirer.

A Friend in Need.

Dolan—So Casey was running me down an' ye stood up for me?

Callahan—Oi did, Oi siz to him, "Casey," siz Oi, "ye're honest and truthful and ye're no coward—and ye work hard and pay yer dibts—and ye don't get drunk and lick yer wolfe—but in other respects yo're no better than Dolan!"—Puck.

Very Likely.

She—They say there will be no blondes in 600 years.

He—Why not?

She because the blonde type is reverting to the brunette.

He—Well, don't you suppose some of the brunettes will get tired and revert back?

A Kind Heart.

"Could you give me," inquired the poor woman, "a cast-off dress of your little girl's for my little girl, or a pair of your little boy's shoes for my little boy?"

"I have no little girl," replied the rich woman, kindly, "nor any little boy. But I can give you an old sheath skirt and some puffs."—Puck.

Interested.

"Wot ye readin' about, Chimmy?"

"About a guy named Hannibal. He was de greatest general of his times."

"Football or ring?"—Kansas City Journal.

No Chance.

"You must come into court with clean hands," said the judge gravely.

"That let's me out, judge," was the reply. "I'm a street car conductor."—Detroit Free Press.

Retribution.

She—If I had known before we married that you swore I never would have married you.

He—That's what I get for being a hypocrite!

LL. D. vs. M. D.

Doctor—You must admit that your profession doesn't make angels of men.

Lawyer—No, Doc; you fellows got it on us for that.

The Prophet at Home.

"Do you mean to say," began the tourist to the villager, "that the old man in front of that house is really 100 years old?"

"One hundred and four," corrected the native.

"No wonder you're proud of him!" congratulated the tourist.

"I don't know about being proud o' him," replied the villager, calmly. Far's I know, he ain't done anything in this place except grow old, an' it's took him a sight o' time to do that."—London News.

Explained at Last.

Gunner—They say now that Cleopatra was a fat suffragette.

Guyer—Great Scott! No wonder poor Mark Antony had to do everything she told him.

Sour Grapes.

Clara—When I refused Tom three weeks ago he declared that it would be the death of him.

Maude—Well, it wasn't. He proposed to me last week and I accepted him.

Clara—Oh, then he must have meant a living death.

Different Terms.

Wilkins—Does your wife play the piano?

Bilkins—Well, she says she does, but ——

Wilkins—But what?

Bilkins—It sounds to me as if she worked it.

Of Course.

Clerk (to the head of the steel safe company)—Here's a letter from a man who says he prefers our safes to all others.

Manager of Company—Fine, what's his name?

Clerk—No name. He merely signs the letter "Crackerman!"

The Difference.

Josiah (to newly wedded neighbor)—I wish you long, happy lives, and I see no reason since you have had experience why you and Mariah cannot pull together as steady and happy and successful as a team of horses.

Obediah—No doubt we could if there was only one tongue between us.—Judge.

Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna

Cleanses the System Effectually;
Dispels colds and Headaches due to Constipation;
Acts naturally, acts truly as a Laxative.
Best for Men, Women and Children—Young and Old.
To get its beneficial effects, always buy the Genuine,

manufactured by the

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.

SOLD BY ALL LEADING DRUGGISTS

one size only, regular price 50¢ per bottle.

Grounds for Complaint.

"Any complaints, corporal?" said the colonel, making one morning a personal inspection.

"Yes, sir. Taste that, sir," said the corporal, promptly.

The colonel put the liquid to his lips.

"Why," he said, "that's the best soup I ever tasted!"

"Yes, sir," said the corporal, "and the cook wants to call it coffee."—San Francisco Argonaut.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Shining Target.

Stranger—You little boys seem to like that old gentleman?

Little Boy—Yes, he furnishes us with so much amusement.

Stranger—But he seems in such a cross humor.

Little Boy—Yes, but he is the only old gentleman in this part of town that wears a tall silk hat during the snowball season.

Breaking Up Colds.

A cold may be stopped at the start by a couple of Lane's Pleasant Tablets. Even in cases where a cold has seemed to gain so strong a hold that nothing could break it, these tablets have done it in an hour or two. All druggists and dealers sell them at 25 cents a box. If you cannot get them send to the proprietor, Orator F. Woodward, Le Roy, N. Y. Sample free.

Free Entertainment.

Mrs. Mooner—I always make it a point to go shopping early in the morning.

Mrs. Spooner—To avoid the rush?

Mrs. Mooner—No; I like to listen to the shop girls telling each other their dreams.

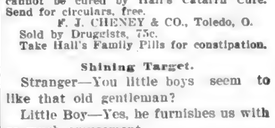
Side Lights on History.

Amelia Bloomer had invented the costume that bears her name.

"I wanted to make something as unlike the sheath gown as possible," she explained.

This also explains why it never became popular among our society leaders.

FREE!



Two Sacred Resurrection Plants

(THE ROSE OF JERICHO.)

These rare and curious plants grow and stay green by plunging them in water. When taken out of water they dry and curl up and go to sleep. They will keep in this state for years. Simply place the whole plant into water; it will open up and start to grow in about twenty minutes. We will send Farm News, the biggest little paper in the world for the Farm home, on trial 3 months for 6 cents. Send 4 cents to prepay postage and expense on the plants, and 6 cents for trial subscription to Farm News, only 10 cents in all. Either offer separately if desired.

FARM NEWS, 406 Washington St., Springfield, Ohio

Let us do your Printing using

Eagle Linen

for your office stationery. You can get the paper and envelopes to match.

It is the real thing. Take no other.

MARCH

0529

L 903

HER PHYSICIAN ADVISED

Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Columbus, Ohio.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound during change of life. My doctor told me it was good, and since taking it I feel so much better that I can do all my work again. I think Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fine remedy for all woman's troubles, and I never forget to tell my friends what it has done for me."—Mrs. E. Hanson, 304 East Long St., Columbus, Ohio.

Another Woman Helped.

Graniteville, Vt.—"I was passing through the Change of Life and suffered from nervousness and other annoying symptoms. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored my health and strength, and proved worth mountains of gold to me. For the sake of other suffering women I am willing you should publish my letter."—Mrs. Charles Barclay, R.F.D., Graniteville, Vt.

Women who are passing through this critical period or who are suffering from any of those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of the fact that for thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills. In almost every community you will find women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

GROOMING COUNTS

But it cannot make a Fair Skin or a Glossy Coat.

Women with good complexions cannot be homely. Creams, lotions, washes and powders cannot make a fair skin. Every horseman knows that the satin coat of his thoroughbred comes from the animal's "all-right" condition.

Let the horse get "off his feed" and his coat turns dull. Currying, brushing and rubbing will give him a clean coat, but cannot produce the coveted smoothness and gloss of the horse's skin, which is his complexion. The ladies will see the point.

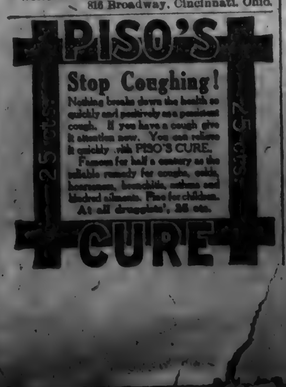
Lane's Family Medicine

Is the best preparation for ladies who desire a gentle laxative medicine that will give the body perfect cleanliness internally and the wholesomeness that produces such skins as painters love to copy. At druggists', 25c.

MOTHER GRAY'S SWEET POWDERS FOR CHILDREN,

A Certain Cure for Feverishness, Constipation, Headache, Stomach Troubles, Teething Disorders, and Destroys Worms. They Break up Colds in 24 hours. At all Druggists, 25 cts. Sample mailed FREE. Address, A. S. OLMSTED, Le Roy, N. Y.

Wanted—Canvassers to sell Naptha Borax Washing Powder to consumers. Big pay. Write for terms. King Process Co., 816 Broadway, Cincinnati, Ohio.



BABY HORRIBLY BURNED

By Boiling Grease—Skin All Came Off One Side of Face and Head—Thought Her Disfigured for Life—Used Cuticura—No Scar Left.

"My baby was sitting beside the fender and we were preparing the breakfast when the frying-pan full of boiling grease was upset and it went all over one side of her face and head. Some one wiped the scald with a towel, pulling the entire skin off. We took her to a doctor. He tended her a week and gave me some stuff to put on. But it all festered and I thought the baby was disfigured for life. I used about three boxes of Cuticura Ointment and it was wonderful how it healed. In about five weeks it was better, and there wasn't a mark to tell where the scald had been. Her skin is just like velvet. Mrs. Hare, 1, Henry St., South Shields, Durham, Eng., March 22, 1908."

Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props. of Cuticura Remedies, Boston.

Of the Same Kind.

"Old man," said the chronic calamity howler, buttonholing him, "I don't want to be an alarmist, but——"

"And I don't want to be alarmed. Good morning," interrupted the other man, breaking away from him.—Chicago Tribune.

Singers and Speakers use Brown's Bronchial Troches for Hoarseness and Throat Troubles. They give instant relief. In boxes 25 cents. Samples mailed free. John I. Brown & Son, Boston, Mass.

The recipe for Worcestershire sauce, which has made an English firm wealthy and famous, was the secret in an old English family for generations. A butler sold it for a small amount.

Only One "BROMO QUININE"

That is LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE. Look for the signature of E. W. GROVE. Used the World over to Cure a Cold in One Day. 25c.

Norway, Sweden, Denmark and Iceland have given the municipal franchise to women.

Yellow Clothes Are Unsightly.

Keep them white with Red Cross Ball Blue. All grocers sell large 2oz. package, 5 cents.

The removal of factories has cut the population of Brockton, Mass., nearly 20,000 in ten years.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children teething; softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25 cents a bottle.

The Wrong Horse.

Gretchen had been in America only a few months, but she believed in the principle of pretending to know what she ought to know. She had been engaged as laundry girl in a small family of well-to-do people. When asked if she understood all the details of her work she unhesitatingly replied: "Sure I do, mam."

Her mistress was not quite satisfied, however, and while she was busy with her first washing, looked in upon her. Gretchen seemed to be doing all right and she left without offering suggestions. Next morning the ironing was in order and Gretchen was hard at it when her mistress looked in to say: "As you get the clothes ironed, just throw them over the horse."

"All right, mam," the busy laundry girl replied without stopping to raise her eyes from her work in hand.

The laundry-room was located in an out-house adjoining the barn, and occasionally the neighing of the family horse and the merry voice of Gretchen resounded throughout the house. Returning to the laundry-house a couple of hours later the lady could scarcely believe her eyes nor restrain her mirth when she beheld the family horse, standing patiently beside the girl, loaded down with newly ironed sheets, pillow cases, tablecloths and lace-trimmed waists and skirts. With an anxious look on her honest face Gretchen observed: "I'm glad you've come, mam, for I'll have to have another horse."

CONGENIAL WORK

And Strength to Perform It.

A person in good health is likely to have a genial disposition, ambition, and enjoy work.

On the other hand, if the digestive organs have been upset by wrong food, work becomes drudgery.

"Until recently," writes a Washington girl, "I was a railroad stenographer, which means full work every day.

"Like many other girls alone in a large city, I lived at a boarding house. For breakfast it was mush, greasy meat, soggy cakes, black coffee, etc.

"After a few months of this diet I used to feel sleepy and heavy in the mornings. My work seemed a terrible effort, and I thought the work was to blame—too arduous.

"At home I had heard my father speak of a young fellow who went long distances in the cold on Grape-Nuts and cream and nothing more for breakfast.

"I concluded if it would tide him over a morning's heavy work, it might help me, so on my way home one night I bought a package and next morning I had Grape-Nuts and milk for breakfast.

"I stuck to Grape-Nuts, and in less than two weeks I noticed improvement. I can't just tell how well I felt, but I remember I used to walk the 12 blocks to business and knew how good it was simply to live.

"As to my work—well, did you ever feel the delight of having congenial work and the strength to perform it? That's how I felt. I truly believe there's life and vigor in every grain of Grape-Nuts."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true and full of human interest.

Indiana State News

FARMERS LOSE CHICKENS.

Four Men Are Arrested Charged with Taking Them.

Four men have been arrested in Shelbyville charged with raiding poultry roosts. A few evenings ago, Walter Drake and William Lockridge were placed under arrest charged with stealing turkeys at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Jones. They implicated Joseph Walker, who, after receiving a preliminary hearing, was placed under a $500 bond. Later Harry Coleman was implicated in the theft and he was brought into court and placed under $500 bond, which he failed to give. The bonds of Drake and Lockridge were placed at $200 each and they also failed to get surety. The farmers in all parts of Shelby County have been missing chickens for the last few weeks, and it has been estimated that 700 fowls have been stolen.

SEEK MRS GUNNESS' MONEY.

Relatives of Victim of La Porte Woman Make a Test Case.

The first of several cases to recover blood money obtained by Mrs. Belle Gunness from the men she lured into her murder-house on the promise of marriage has been brought in the La Porte Circuit Court. Asel Helgelein bringing action for $2,893.20, the amount Belle Gunness obtained from Andrew Helgelein before she killed him. It is understood that in the event judgment is awarded Helgelein, relatives of other victims will bring suit for the amounts alleged to have been contributed to the amassing of Mrs. Gunness' estate by the men she duped into visiting her under promise of marriage.

WOMAN COMPROMISES SUIT.

Wife of Man in Prison Accepts $750 on $10,000 Demand.

Mrs. Zannie Traylor of Washington, wife of Ab Taylor, who is serving a sentence in the State prison for the murder of his stepmother in Pike County, last summer, has compromised her suit against the United States Fidelity and Guaranty Company, of Baltimore. Mrs. Traylor sued for $10,000 damages, saying the deed was committed while her husband was under the influence of drink and that she had been deprived of her only means of support. The suit was filed in Dubois County and came to Daviess County on a change of venue. Mrs. Traylor received $750 from the company.

ARRESTED AT VEEDERSBURG.

Young Man Who Tried to Hold Up Stone Bluff's Postmaster.

Carl Pennick, 25 years of age, who has confessed that he attempted a hold-up in the village of Stone Bluff, was arrested in Veedersburg and taken to Covington. Pennick lives in Veedersburg, having recently moved there from Stone Bluff, where he worked as a coal miner. Last Saturday night Homer Kemper, the postmaster and a merchant of Stone Bluff, on coming home from his place of business, was confronted by a masked man with a revolver. In the struggle the weapon was knocked from the holdup's hand. The man turned and ran. The revolver was afterward found and identified as Carl Pennick's.

DYING MAN ASKS PARDON.

Seeks Forgiveness for Not Paying Note Made 25 Years Ago.

Twenty-five years ago, in the settlement of an account, A. J. Banks, in the hardware business in Greenfield, took a note of $50 from a man who soon moved to the West. The note was never paid, and the other day Mr. Banks received a letter from the man, saying he was on his deathbed, but could not die in peace until he obtained Mr. Banks' forgiveness for the debt he had never paid. In the letter he said he could not now pay, but was praying that the wrong would be forgiven. Mr. Banks found the note among his old papers and mailed it with his forgiveness.

Old Newspapers Found.

In the house formerly occupied by Solomon Claypool, grandfather of Edward Claypool, of Indianapolis, two old newspapers have been found that are of interest to Connersville citizens. One of them, the Fayette Observer, published in Connersville in 1828, has two and a half of its four pages devoted to a speech made by Henry Clay. The other, published July 28, 1849, is the Spirit of the Times.

Oil for Fire; Three Are Dead.

Charles Yeagley, his wife, and 4-year-old son died in Frankfort as a result of a coal oil explosion at their home. Yeagley had filled a heating stove with cobs and poured oil over the cobs. It is thought another child may die.

AMONG OUR NEIGHBORS.

The flouring mill at Ireland burned. Loss, $20,000; insurance, $5,000, in Millers' Mutual of Chicago.

The Kankakee River is overflowing its banks and water for the first time since last spring covers much of the adjoining lowland. Hunters who have visited the Kankakee region within the last few days say that wild ducks are coming in by the hundreds and that hunting this spring promises to be the best in years.

Lightning shattered a wireless telegraph experiment station and came near burning the home of Roy Pinkaloff in Vincennes. Pinkaloff had set a tall pole against a chimney from the top of which a wire ran over the roof and connected with the instruments in the house.

A new figure on the value of a human being has been set in the Lake Superior Court. Frank Grechulski, a Mesco switchman, was killed in the Hammond yards recently. His family brought suit for $5,000 damages. Monday they settled for $150 before the case came to trial.

INDIANA LAWMAKERS.

Governor Fears Bankruptcy.

Governor Marshall sent a special message to the Senate the other day announcing that the state treasury is almost bankrupt, and unless something is done at once to relieve the situation it will be entirely empty before the end of March. Accompanying the Governor's message was a copy of a letter which he had received from John C. Billheimer, state auditor, setting forth the condition of the treasury. In his message the Governor says: "Unless you enact legislation which will compel the county treasurers to make advance payments upon the revenue which will not be due as now provided by law until the semi annual settlement in June, the treasury of the State will be bankrupt before the end of March. This would necessitate either the closing of all State institutions, both penal and eleemosynary, or some scheme to be devised by the state board of finance to borrow money. I understand there is a bill before you to require country treasurers to make advancements prior to the semi-annual settlement. I am reluctantly compelled to say to you that I see no other way to prevent a bankrupt treasury than for you to pass this bill." The bill referred to by the Governor was never introduced, but is still in the hands of Representative Garrard, house floor leader of the Democrats. Garrard was in a defiant mood. He said he did not intend to introduce the bill. He said the Republicans had got the State into this difficulty and that they should get it out.

Stotsenburg Bill Bill Attacked.

Despite its being called a bill in the interest of rich criminals, Senator Stotsenburg's bill, providing that persons convicted of any offense not punishable by death may be released on bail, pending an appeal, was passed by the Senate by a vote of 37 to 4. An objection that has been made to this bill is that wealthy criminals or criminals backed by men of means could stay out of prison for years while fighting cases along on technicalities and delaying final action. Senator Horace L. Hanna declared that while awaiting an appeal to the higher courts the rich man could obtain his liberty and escape further prosecutions under the law by forfeiting his bail and leaving the bounds of the court's jurisdiction, while the poor man, without friends or money, would be forced to remain in prison during the time he was awaiting an appeal. Senator Kistler came to the defense of the bill, declaring that in many instances innocent men are convicted by prejudice and the poisoned atmosphere in the courts working against them, and are forced to stay in prison pending appeal. If his case was reversed by the higher courts he would be compelled to remain in prison until that time and be punished unjustly.

Yields to Governor's Advice.

The House the other afternoon showed its eagerness to follow the advice of a message from the Governor by at once reconsidering and killing the King bill passed the day before to increase the tax levy in support of the State's colleges. The bill had already gone to the Senate, and a parliamentary tangle has been caused by the refusal of the Senate to send back the King bill on the ground that the House no longer had control over it. The House influenced by the Governor, also passed under suspension of the rules, a bill introduced by Representative Garrard providing for advance settlements with the State by county treasurers. A duplicate of this bill was also passed under suspension of the rules in the Senate.

Opposed to Text-Book Repeal.

Sixty-five of the 100 members of the House of Representatives say they are opposed to the Garrard bill to destroy the present uniform system of school text-books in Indiana, and throw the schools into the sea of corrupt politics by having the school text-books selected by county boards, the members of which would be the creatures of political pulls and book company influences. Four members say they favor the bill, and twenty-nine are noncommittal. These figures show the result of a poll of the House. There were two members absent.

Standup Half-Fare Bill Killed.

Representative Clore's bill to compel interurban companies to refund half the fare when seats are not supplied, was killed on the strength of a speech by Stephens, chairman of the railroads committee, who pronounced the measure impractical, unfair and useless.

Agricultural Societies.

Senator Crumpacker's bill to provide that there shall be one vote for each share of stock when agriculture societies vote to buy or sell real estate passed by a vote of 36 to 0.

Doubts Validity of Tax Ferret Bill.

Governor Marshall recently sent to the Senate a message regarding Senate Bill No. 60, introduced by Senator Wood. The bill legalizes the contracts made in the past with tax ferrets without appropriations by the county council. By reason of a decision of the Supreme Court on Wednesday the Governor expresses doubt as to the constitutionality of the bill. Nevertheless, he signed it.

For Lameness in Horses

Much of the chronic lameness in horses is due to neglect.

See that your horse is not allowed to go lame. Keep Sloan's Liniment on hand and apply at the first signs of stiffness. It's wonderfully penetrating—goes right to the spot—relieves the soreness—limbers up the joints and makes the muscles elastic and pliant.

Sloan's Liniment

will kill a spavin, curb or splint, reduce wind puffs and swollen joints, and is a sure and speedy remedy for fistula, sweeney, founder and thrush. Price, 50c. and $1.00.

Dr. Earl S. Sloan, - - Boston, Mass.

Sloan's book on horses, cattle, sheep and poultry sent free.

Of One Mind.

"The soil," remarked the political economist, "is what supports us all."

"Yes," rejoined the lawyer, "I must admit that real estate is at the bottom of three-fourths of all litigation."

"And," added the doctor, "a great deal of sickness is due to the effluvia from the ground."

Sad Case.

"I never was so shocked in my life," said Mrs. Lapsling. "Pearley Wintergreen is trying to get a divorce from her husband. She says she has found out that they made a mistake when they were married; he isn't her real infinitive."

A NURSE'S EXPERIENCE.

Is a Good Guide for Any Person Who Does Not Understand Kidney Troubles.

A nurse has to know just what to do for common ailments, and those who suffer backache, languor, and other common signs of kidney trouble, should heed the example of Mrs. Judson Ellis, 414 Francis St., Jackson, Mich., known for many years prior to her marriage as "Nurse Baker."

"My back ached a good deal, and was lame and weak, so that I had difficulty in straightening up, or turning in bed," said she. "Doan's Kidney Pills benefited me wonderfully, and since using them I have been able to do my own work again."

Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Useful Home Remedy.

"A Turkish bath is such an excellent thing," remarked Miss Tartun, "that I have often wished these Turks who sell candies at expositions would take one occasionally."

Brooklyn, N. Y.

Address the Garfield Tea Co. as above when writing for free samples of Garfield Tea, the true remedy for constipation.

FASHION HINTS

A fairly heavy Irish linen or madras would be satisfactory material in which to work out the tailored waist. Striped collar and cuffs give an air of newness.

The soft blouse of batiste shows the round collar that has gained so much in favor lately.

FREE DOLLAR BOX WOMAN'S RELIEF ON TRIAL.

Kokomo, Ind.—I cannot speak too highly in favor of Woman's Relief, for it cured me of Female Weakness after suffering eight years. I feel so thankful for what Woman's Relief has done for me that I am doing all in my power to get my sufferings friends to use the remedy. I had become almost an invalid, but after using your valuable remedies I can do all my housework and I feel like a new woman, and I know your remedies cannot be praised too highly.—Mrs. D. F. Smith.

Mrs. Dessie C. Ebersole, Dep't. G., Ft. Wayne, Ind., I enclose four cents postage for $1.00 box Woman's Relief on trial, and if it proves satisfactory I will send you $1.00, otherwise I will pay you nothing.

Name .....

Address .....

Paxtine TOILET ANTISEPTIC

—NOTHING LIKE IT FOR—

THE TEETH Paxtine excels any dentifrice in cleansing, whitening and removing tartar from the teeth, besides destroying all germs of decay and disease which ordinary tooth preparations cannot do.

THE MOUTH Paxtine used as a mouth-wash disinfects the mouth and throat, purifies the breath, and kills the germs which collect in the mouth, causing sore throat, bad teeth, bad breath, grippe, and much sickness.

THE EYES when inflamed, tired, ache and burn, may be instantly relieved and strengthened by Paxtine.

CATARRH Paxtine will destroy the germs that cause catarrh, heal the inflammation and stop the discharge. It is a sure remedy for uterine catarrh.

Paxtine is a harmless yet powerful germicide, disinfectant and deodorizer. Used in bathing it destroys odors and leaves the body antiseptically clean.

FOR SALE AT DRUG STORES, 50c. OR POSTPAID BY MAIL.

LARGE SAMPLE FREE!

THE PAXTON TOILET CO., BOSTON, MASS.

WESTERN CANADA

More Big Crops In 1908

Another 60,000 Settlers from the United States

NEW DISTRICTS OPENED FOR SETTLEMENT

320 Acres of Land to EACH SETTLER—160 Free Homestead and 160 at $3.00 Per Acre.

"A vast, rich country and a contented, prosperous people." Extract from correspondence of a National Editor, whose visit to Western Canada in August, 1908, was an inspiration.

Many have paid the entire cost of their farms and had a balance of from $10.00 to $20.00 per acre as a result of the crop.

Spring Wheat, Winter Wheat, Oats, Barley, Flax and Peas are the principal crops, while the wild grasses bring to perfection the best Cattle that have ever been sold on the Chicago market.

Splendid Climate, Schools and Churches in all localities, railways touch most of the settled districts, and prices for produce are always good. Lands, may also be purchased from Railway and Land Companies. For pamphlets, maps and information regarding low railroad rates apply to W. D. Scott, Superintendent of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or W. H. Rogers, 3d Floor Traction-Terminal Building, Indianapolis, Ind., and H. M. Williams, Room 20, Law Building, Toledo, Ohio, Authorized Government Agents.

Please say where you saw this advertisement.

HEADACHE

"My father had been a sufferer from sick headache for the last twenty-five years and never found any relief until he began taking your Cascarets. Since he has begun taking Cascarets he has never had the headache. They have entirely cured him. Cascarets do what you recommend them to do. I will give you the privilege of using his name." E. M. Dickson, 1130 Rosiner St., W. Indianapolis, Ind.

Best For The Bowels

Cascarets

CANDY CATHARTIC

THEY WORK WHILE YOU SLEEP

Pleasant, Palatable, Potent, Taste Good, Do Good, Never Sicken, Weaken or Gripe, 10c, 25c, 50c. Never sold in bulk. The genuine tablet stamped CCC. Guaranteed to cure or your money back.

Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or N.Y. 598

ANNUAL SALE, TEN MILLION BOXES

BILLION $ GRASS

Costs 60c—80c per acre for seed.

Most wonderful grass of the century, yielding from 5 to 10 tons of hay per acre and lots of pasture besides. It simply grows, grows, grows! Cut it today and in 4 weeks it looks for the mower again, and so on. Grows and flourishes everywhere, on every farm in America. Cheap as dirt; luxuriant as the bottom lands of Egypt. Big seed catalog free or send 10c in stamps and receive sample of this wonderful grass, also of Spelta, the cereal wonder. Barley, Oats, Clovers, Grasses, etc., etc., and catalog free. Or send 14c and we will add a sample farm seed novelty never seen by you before.

SALZER SEED CO., Box CN La Crosse, Wis.

A HOME FOR YOU

"In the Land of the BIG RED CLOVER"

VILAS COUNTY, WISCONSIN. Excellent markets. No crop failures. Good roads, schools, towns. $12.50 per acre. Easy terms. Suspended payments to actual settlers. For maps, views, particulars, a card to

YALE LAND CO., Minneapolis, Minn.

F. W. N. U. - - - No. 11—1909

When writing to Advertisers please say you saw the Adv. in this paper.

FOR SALE—Michigan Farms: All sizes, Southern and Central Michigan. Write for list and terms. Eldo Murray & Co., Charlotte, Mich.

For PINK EYE DISTEMPER, CATARRHAL FEVER, AND ALL NOSE AND THROAT DISEASES

Cures the sick and acts as a preventive for others. Liquid given on the tongue. Safe for breed mares and all others. Best kidney remedy. 50 cents a bottle, $5.00 the dozen. $1.00 and $10.00 the dozen. Sold by all druggists and turf goods houses, or sent, express paid, by the manufacturers.

SPOHN MEDICAL COMPANY, Chemists, Goshen, Ind.

MARCH

0530

L 903

CORRESPONDENCE

ITEMS FROM DIFFERENT LOCALITIES WRITTEN FOR THE NEWS

NEWVILLE

The saw mill is now running again.

Mary Strong was home from Butler over Sunday.

Little Queen Blair is quite sick this week, with the mumps.

Eugene Webster started Monday for Seattle, Washington.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Ross Brunson, Sunday, March 7th., a girl.

The Ladies Aid cleared $4.80 at F. A. Thomas' sale, last Wednesday.

Mrs. Wm. Richard was at Defiance, last week, visiting at the home of her sister.

Mrs. Katharine Nichols came home Sunday from Butler, where she has been visiting her daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Wilhams spent last week at Groverhill, Ohio, visiting with the latters parents.

Good meetings are being had at the U. B. church and everybody is cordially invited to attend these services.

Charles Countryman and Bird Enzor took goods to Hamilton, Friday, for F. A. Thomas, who is moving to that place.

Elmer McDonald of Kendallville, was here one day last week, making arrangements to move on the Thatcher place.

The Lurid Glow of Doom

was seen in the red face, hands and body of the little son of H M. Adams, of Henrietta, Pa. His awful plight from eczema had, for five years, defied all remedies and baffled the best doctors, who said the poisoned blood had affected his lungs and nothing could save him "But," writes his mother, "seven bottles of Electric Bitters completely cured him." For Eruptions, Eczema, Salt Rheum, Sores and all Blood Disorders and Rheumatism Electric Bitters is supreme. Only 50c. Guaranteed by H. Milliman.

CONCORD

For headache Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills

Note books at THE NEWS office.

Mr. and Mrs. James Goings are the proud parents of a new baby girl.

Roy Gilford moved last Wednesday on the F. Dragoo farm.

Mrs. Mattie James of Auburn, visited her sister, Mrs. Mollie Wyatt, last week.

Harriett Johnson and daughter Thelma, visited last Thursday and Friday at this place.

Rev. J. C. McCain and wife, Mrs. Mary Sebert and son Harry, were Sunday guests at John Fetters'.

Rev. Shilling of near Mt Pleasant, spent last Tuesday with his son, Mr. Emitt Shilling, of this place.

Misses Bessie Beaber and Mable Mounts of Garrett, are visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Funk.

Mrs. Geo. Johnson and children visited with Wm. Johnsons', last Wednesday.

John Brown, wife and two sons spent Sunday with Mrs. Brown's mother, Mrs. Draggoo.

On account of the bad roads the Ladies Aid was not very well represented at Mrs. Sebert's, Thursday. Those that were present reported a nice time and a very good dinner.

WABASH CORNERS.

May Daily spent Sunday with Maud Baker of Concord.

Dr. Miles Anti-Pain Pills—Not only stop the pain, but do it quickly.

Orange Herrick and wife spent Sunday at Abe Culbertsons', west of Concord.

Mrs. Ella Gill of St. Joe, and Mrs. Angelia Wolff spent Friday with Gene Whites'.

Lela Shilling returned to Ft. Wayne Sunday, after a two weeks tussle with the mumps.

George Arnold of Auburn Junction, spent part of last week, with Sherman Rickett and family.

Frank Walters, wife and daughter Edna, of St. Joe, spent Sunday at Sherman Ricketts'.

Mrs. D. D Burley and the correspondent were guests of Ella Gill and daughter, one day last week.

Charles Benjamin and wife and Fred Leighty and wife of St. Joe, called on Sherman Wolff and wife, Sunday evening.

The two nurses from Ft. Wayne, who have been caring for the Nelson family returned to their homes, last week. Mr. and Mrs. Nelson are able to be up.

SOLO ITEMS

Mrs. John Meek is some better at this writing.

Everett Kain buzzed wood for Ivan Farner last week.

Dan Kline has been having quite a time with the quinsy but is better again.

Wm. Leighty, wife and grandaughter Marie, visited in our neighborhood Sunday.

N. Mullenix of Fremont, Michigan, is visiting his parents of this place for a few days.

Neff Culler and family were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Thomas in St. Joe.

E. F. Hurni is having the mumps. Olan Loomis and Hurshel Michals are superintending the sugar camp until Mr. Hurni is able to care for it.

KILL THE COUGH AND CURE THE LUNGS WITH DR. KING'S NEW DISCOVERY FOR COUGHS COLDS SIZES 50¢ & $1.00 TRIAL BOTTLE FREE AND ALL THROAT AND LUNG TROUBLES GUARANTEED SATISFACTORY OR MONEY REFUNDED.

Ask Your Own Doctor

If he tells you to take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for your severe cough or bronchial trouble, then take it. If he has anything better, then take that. We have great confidence in this medicine. So will you, when you once know it.

The best kind of a testimonial—"Sold for over sixty years."

Made by J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass. Also manufacturers of Ayer's SARSAPARILLA. PILLS. HAIR VIGOR.

We have no secrets! We publish the formulas of all our medicines.

Keep the bowels open with one of Ayer's Pills at bedtime, just one.

N. Culler purchased a fine cow one day last week.

Terry Diehl will farm the Isiah Davis farm this summer.

C. M. Thayer is about to build a new poultry house on his farm.

I. Farners called on Frank Akins and family Sunday afternoon.

Charles Rodarmer of Bitely, Mich., but formerly of Scio, has been granted a divorce from his wife.

Mrs. Wm. Countryman is improving nicely she says she hardly knew she had a broken arm only when she wanted to use it.

FAIRVIEW

Mrs. Anna Houser is quite sick at this writing.

Ernal Houser spent a few days at home this week.

Ray Hennesey moved on Frank May's farm Friday.

Norman Wyatt moved on William Brown's farm last week.

Guy Hays' called on Edward Bassetts' Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Hazel Wyatt spent Sunday with us at the church again.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Morr spent Sunday with their son Laney.

Alda Brown spent Sunday afternoon with Mrs. Elizabeth Johnston.

Ceal Metcalfs' visited with Mrs. Almira Krise and son Charles, Sunday.

Miss Joy Plattner called on Mr. Rolland Muhn's parents one day last week.

Lee Rolland, wife and daughter Audra spent Sunday with Norman Rolland.

Clarence Wyatt and wife took Sunday dinner with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Wyatt.

Sunday school at this place next Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock and preaching services at 3.

John Knight, wife and little daughter Evelyn, spent Sunday with Mrs. Knight's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Sheffer, at St. Joe.

Next Sunday the pastors of our city will preach special sermons on "Family Alters." They have agreed to make this the theme for the Sabbath and impress the real significance of having such in the homes of Auburn people.—Dispatch. Good idea.

On another page of The News will be found an item calling attention to the illness of Mrs. Rachel Watson, who lives west of St. Joe, but later reports came that she had died on Tuesday evening about four o'clock. She had been ill for three months or more and on last Saturday she became worse, caused by old age. She was a lady of about 86 years of age.

A Kansas City man has taken out a patent on an electric motor fastened on a cow's back, the electricty being generated by a dynamo attached to the cow's tail, says the American Inventor. It strains the milk and hangs up the pail and strainer. A small phonograph accompanies the outfit, which yells "So" when the cow moves. If she kicks, a hinged arm catches the milk stool and rams her over the head with it.

DENTIST.

C. R. PRICE,

ST. JOE, IND.

Office in Case building.

Bell Phone No. 44.

PATENTS

and TRADE-MARKS promptly obtained in all countries, or no fee. We obtain PATENTS THAT PAY, advertise them thoroughly, at our expense, and help you to success.

Send model, photo or sketch for FREE report on patentability. 36 years' practice. SURPASSING REFERENCES. For free Guide Book on Profitable Patents write to

503-505 Seventh Street, WASHINGTON, D. C.

D. SWIFT & CO.

Among the Sick.

Mrs. Callie Meese is not feeling quite so well.

The little son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Malone is very sick with the whooping cough.

James Steward is still confined to the house and at this writing he is feeling no better. It is hoped that he may speedily recover.

Mrs. Chas. Koch has been quite sick for the past few days, caused from an attack of sore throat and quinsy together with her nervousness. She is still very low.

The diptheria quaranteen has been lifted from the Nelson family, west of town, and the trained nurses have gone home the last one leaving on Saturday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Nelson are both getting along in good shape and it will probably not be but a few weeks when Sam can resume his work at the tower.

Are on Another Boom

PRINCETON, Ind., Mar. 9—Heavy rains of last night and this morning started the Wabash, White and Patoka rivers on another boom and it is expected the rise will exceed the high stage reached by these streams a few days ago when hundreds of acres of bottom lands were flooded. Residents who returned to their homes in the bottoms last week are again preparing to come to the hills with their livestock. The windstorm early this morning did considerable damage to outbuildings, fences and forest trees. At the Phillip Brockmeyer farm, three miles east of here, a large tree was blown across a barn, crushing the building but not injuring the livestock.

A Greater Scoundrel.

A famous master of Trinity college, Cambridge, had been a friend in earlier days of one Jemmy Gordon, a solicitor. But Jemmy went to the bad, was struck off the rolls and lived from what he could get from old acquaintances. One day he met the master and asked for a shilling.

"Gordon," thundered the master, "if you could show me a greater scoundrel than yourself I would give you half a crown." And he stalked stiffly away to his rooms. In half an hour's time the butler announced that Mr. Pompous, the esquire beadle, wished to see the master. Now, the master had a special detestation of the beadle, who, when admitted and curtly asked what he wanted, replied:

"Mr. Gordon informed me that you desired to see me."

Said the master, "Gordon has made an ass of you!"

In ten minutes more the butler came again, grinning, and said:

"Mr. Jemmy Gordon has called and says you owe him half a crown, sir."—Newcastle Chronicle.

A Lost Custom.

Among the lost customs of merry England is that of the milkmaids' procession. It was a May day observance. The manner of their going was as follows: They borrowed a great quantity of silver plate—not sham plate, real gold plate—dishes, butter boats, cream jugs, tankards, etc. They built up the plate round an obelisk, crowning the whole with a tea urn. They arranged the most showy flowers of the season between and about the silver.

This obelisk was carried by two chairmen in gold laced hats and followed by a troop of handsome milkmaids dressed in pink and blue gowns, "drawn through the pocket holes," whatever that means, with high heeled shoes, mob caps, lappets of lace on their shoulders, nosegays in their bosoms and flat "Woffington hats" covered with ribbons. A fiddler went first in a sky blue coat and hat adorned with ribbons. The procession stopped before the doors of the customers and the milkmaids danced.—London Queen.

Local Items.

March weather.

The M. P. Aid Society meets with Mrs. Maude Monroe, Saturday afternoon.

Wm. Curic came home from Indianapolis, Monday, where he has been acting as Sergant at Arms in the legislature.

Prof. Howard Ely was at Fort Wayne Wednesday and Thuraday of this week. School was dismissed for these two days in the High room.

The I. O. O. F. boys enjoyed a good lunch Tuesday evening, after making Asa Shuff a full fledged lodge man. After this several guests were present and an old time smoker was had.

Clyde Woodcox left last Saturday noon for Richmond, Ky., where he will work as head foreman for the Hanger Colemam & Co., on a large cement reservoir. Dale, his son will commence work there also by the first of April.

In speaking of the badger caught a couple of weeks ago by Gene White, the Auburn Dispatch says: "He might take to the fairs and advertise it as the "Man Eating Hog" like the one exhibit here during the festival." The animal is now dead.

Our Deposits March 1st.

- - WERE - -

$67,127.93

Our Cash Resources Were

$22,487.49

or more than ⅓ of our deposits on hand for instant use. If Safe, Sound and Conservative Banking appeals to you we will get your business. 4% Interest paid on Time Deposits.

Joseph Wittmer, Joseph A. Grabill, David Klopfenstein, Marcus Yager, John B. Haifley, John S. Klopfenstein, Julius Gehrig, Albert Egly.

OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS OF

Grabill State Bank,

Grabill Indiana.

CURIE'S RESTAURANT.

We desire at this time to inform the public that we are ready to supply all wants in our line. We ask that you continue patronizing our store and we will make it as pleasant as we can for you.

CANDY, CIGARS, SANDWICHES, SOFT DRINK, TOBACCO, ETC.

We aim to keep our stock fresh, and when in need of any of our goods come in.

The assessor is coming.

Agnes Sechler is out of school this week, on accout of sickness.

A new iron roof was placed on the Sarah Maxwell residence, Friday.

Frank Kinsey and family spent a few days with James Sechler and family.

Milton Krise, Frank Leighty and Chastine Johnson were at Butler Wednesday.

J. C. McCain has been in Columbus, Ohio all week attending a meeting of the Home Mission board of which he is a member.

The cement tile factory is running a full force of hands now and are unable to supply the demands. They're the coming tile.

Roy Reasoner of Detroit has been the guest of his father and relatives for the past week. He was also taking treatment with Dr. Lake.

LOST:—Between home on 4th. street and News Office, Friday, a $5 bill. Finder return same to Office and receive reward.

Grace Leighty.

In last weeks issue an item was printed on the Spencerville page to the effect that the stork had visited at the home of Clinton Webb and wife of Messex, Colo., but later we have been informed that such is not the case.

Old papers at NEWS office.

Mrs. H. W. Krabill was at Fort Wayne, Monday.

Mrs. Florence Buchanah spent Sunday with her daughter, Mrs. Sturgis, at Butler.

Young ladies class of the M. P. Church will give a Musicale Friday evening March 19. Come.

Churubusco was visited Thursday night by a $10,000 fire, the postoffice and several business concerns being greatly damaged. The Welch jewelry store, the Yohn barber shop, suffered considerable. The origin is supposed to have been a defective flue.

There are more McCall Patterns sold in the United States than of any other make of patterns. This is on account of their style, accuracy and simplicity.

McCall's Magazine (The Queen of Fashion) has more subscribers than any other Ladies' Magazine. One year's subscription (12 numbers) costs 50 cents. Latest number, 5 cents. Every subscriber gets a McCall Pattern Free. Subscribe today.

Lady Agents Wanted. Handsome premiums or liberal cash commission. Pattern Catalogue of 600 designs and Premium Catalogue (showing 400 premiums) sent free. Address 72nd McCALL CO., New York.

Granite Ware SALE.

You are invited to call and see the most complete line of Granite Ware at lowest prices ever shown in St. Joe.

Every Day Roaster

This is Made of the Guaranteed Oyrx Enamel

Size 6x12

ONLY 49C WORTH 75C

Don't forget when in St. Joe to call and see the greatest bargains in Granite Ware.

H. V. Kinsey & Son.

OUR BEST

Week End Sale

By a lucky purchase we are enabled to offer you, as a week end sale, about 100 Ladies Fine White Lawn Waists, all made up in the Latest Styles some with Lace and Insertion, others with Embroidery Insertion, Tucks & Plaits, Long Sleeves, also some full Tailored waists of fine Lawn All Sizes for Thursday, Friday and Saturday we offer these at

98 CENTS

This is Your Opportunity. Don't Miss It.

The Big Four Store.

MARCH

0531

L 903

EXTRA to the

ST. JOE NEWS.

Thursday March 18, 1909

Calley Meese

Died Shortly after the noon hour yesterday. No arrangements made

Local News Items.

The Messrs. J. C. Hull, Ira Bone and Abner Copp, accompanied by their wives, were entertained to dinner Sunday at Florence Buchanans'.

Mrs. Is Horn entertained her sisters to dinner last Friday, they being the Mrs. Cale of Auburn, Mrs. Hull of Hicksville and Mrs. Galloway of LaGrange.

The M. P. C. E. society met at the home of Eliza Kinsey, Monday evening and elected committees for carrying on the work. Forty members were present and an enthusiastic meeting was held. After the business session was over a social hour was enjoyed. A taffy pulling was also had.

The Journal says:—Dale Walter, formerly an employe of the Knott-VanArnam works, left here Saturday evening for Redlands, Cal., and may conclude to remain on the coast if conditions are favorable". Dale was at home over Sunday the guest of his parents. On Monday noon he left for Gary, Ind., where he was to join his friend and then leave for California. A good position is awaiting their arrival. We understand that the work is clerking in a large hardware store.

Making A Good Record

The Christian Church at this place has been making a special feature in their Sunday School in that of seeing how many bibles are present each day. Last Sunday 40 were present this is remarkable and deserves special mention. The Christian Church at Newville reports 20 bibles present.

Local Items.

Old papers at News office.

Frank Baltz was in town Saturday.

Carloads of ice is being shipped from Michigan to Warsaw.

Avis Sechler has gone to Auburn to learn the millinery trade.

Jake White returned to his home in Michigan last week. His daughter will remain for some time.

Willie Beams was the guest of Dan Myers and family at Ohio City, Ohio, a few days last week. Returning Saturday,

Isaac Meese was at Hicksville Monday to see his brother Al, who is very low. He is well and favorably known in this community.

The High School Alumni will meet at the home of Ethel Berry, to-night. All members are requested to be present at this meeting. Arrangements for 1909 banquet will be made at this time.

0532
L 903

MARCH

ST. JOE NEWS.

VOL. XXIII — ST. JOE, DEKALB COUNTY, INDIANA, THURSDAY, MARCH 18 1909. — NO. 11

In Memorium.

Ratchel Watson, daughter of Nathan and Mary Wyatt, was born in Richland County, Ohio, July 31, 1820 and departed this life March 9, 1909, aged 88 years 7 months and 8 days She was married September 4, 1839 to Charles Watson, with whom she lived until seperated by death August 4, 1905. She was converted in her fifteenth year and united with the M. E Church and remained with the Perseverance Class un il the dissolution of the church, after which she with her husband united with the Lutheran Church at Spencerville of which she remained a member until death.

Her afflictions were born with Christian fortitude and the last audible words she was heard to say were, "Praise the Lord". She leaves to mourn her departure one daughter, three sons, five grandchildren, ten great grandchildren. Three sons and three daughters having preceded her to the spirit world.

The funeral services were held at the Lutheran church in Spencerville, last Friday at 11:30 o'clock. Rev. Erick preached the funeral sermon. Henry Beams funeral director.

NOTICE.

I have secured a horse clipper and solicit the patronage of those wishing their horses clipped. Harry Smith. St. Joe-Spencerville phone, F L 4 and Auburn 903-40.

Sunday School Report.

Below is the report of the various Sunday Schools of the town and community for last Sunday. We desire that the secretaries may hand us this bit of information on Monday of each week, or phone to No. 10 and report.

	Attendance	Collection
Christian	90	$1.75
Lutheran	63	$2.51
M. P.	65	$1.84
Coburntown	80	$ .90
Spen. Luth.	81	$1.77
Spen. M. E.	46	$1.28
Concord	59	$1.53
Rehobeth	35	$1.26
Newville C.	42	65

Any other school desiring to be represented in this list may do so by just simply telling us.

Curie's Restaurant.

Miss Grace Wiers of this place returned from Waterloo last Tuesday where she spent a week visiting her sister, Mrs. Bert Bachtel. Thursday she went to Ft. Wayne to stay with her sister, Mrs. Albert Schaaf who is in very poor health.

WABASH

Wabash Time Table.

Trains leave the St Joe Station as follows:

GOING WEST.

No. 11. Ft. Wayne Acc & Mail 11:34a. m
No. 3. Western Express 7:58 p. m

GOING EAST.

No. 2, Eastern Express 6:34a. m
No16, Toledo Acc & Mail 4:59 p. m.

Culture Club

The Culture Club met last Wednesday evening with Mrs. Maggie Thomas. The lesson was given in charge of Mrs. Eva Sheffer, the lesson being on behavior from Ralph Waldo Emerson. The discussions were interesting and benefical. We learned that manners were the happy ways of doing things; each, once a stroke of genius or of love—now repeated and hardened into usage. They form at last a rich varnish, with which the routine of life is washed, and it's details adorned. Manners have such power that their influence cannot be resisted, so that each one has an influence that lives. At the business session three new members were added to the Club, the Mesdames Bert Woodcox, Milton Krise and Grover Curie. Twenty members responded to roll call with quotations from Emerson. The meeting then adjourned to meet with Mrs. Bowman in one week, after which the hostess served popcorn and home made candies.

L. L. C.

The L. L. C met at the home of Mrs J. L. Rhodenbaugh last Wednesday evening, March 10. The lesson, "The life of Livingstone" was led by Mrs. Swineford. and was conducted in a manner which showed careful preparation. Many good thoughts being brought forth. The paper by Mrs. Rhodenbaugh, "Livingstone in Africa" was one of interest. By the study of such lives we learn of the sacrifice through which our present civilization has been attained. Paper "The Panama Canal" by Mrs. Benninghoff, was given with map illustrations, general discussion following. Roll call responses Missions and Missionaries. Light refreshments were served by the hostess.

Announcement of Service

SPECIAL NOTICE.

The pastor and people of the Methodist Church cordially invite you to our services Sunday evening, March 21st. at 7 o'clock. The sermon subject will be "Messages from the Washington Monument." The music will be furnished by young ladies and young gentlemen of the church. The musical program will be of special merit. Come.

J. C. McCain,
Pastor of Church.

Rink Saturday night.

Blanch Leighty and Mrs. Buchanan were Ft. Wayne guests Thursday.

A fine line of commencement programs at our office for your inspection. Don't forget us.

A supper Saturday evening, March 10, by S. S. class of M. P. Church. Come.

Mrs. S. J. Bowen of Wayne, was the guest of relatives here, last week. She was also in attendance to the funeral of Matilda Widney.

Mrs. Warner was at Ft. Wayne this week buying trimmed hats of Reed Brothers of Cleveland, who have a fine display at the new authority.

C. O. Benjamin and F. B. Leighty accompanied by their wives spent Thursday evening with Wm. Hamilton and wife, east of town, and enjoyed maple sugar making.

LATEST STYLES — LOWEST PRICES

We desire to announce an

Opening Display of Easter

MILLINERY

on Friday and Saturday, March 26th. and 27th.

Our display will include a large number of Latest Pattern Hats. Your presence will be welcomed.

Mrs. Warner.

LARGEST ASSORTMENT — SUPERIOR WORKMANSHIP

Matilda J. Widney

Died in St. Joe March 10, '09 A Widow for 44 years and lived a Christian life.

Matilda J. Widney was born in Monroe Co., Ind., September 10, 1826 and departed this life at her home in St. Joe, Ind., March 10 1909, aged 82 years and 6 months.

She was converted in childhood and joined the Methodist Protestant church, of which she remained a faithful, consistent and consecrated member for more than seventy years, unto death. In youth she met and loved Rev. Samuel W. Widney, a young, energetic, pioneer preacher, of the M. P. church. They were married Feb. 18 1844; they shared together the privations and hardships of a pioneer, itinerant preacher's life, and had much to do with the organization and establishment of many of the early churches of their beloved denominations.

To this happy union seven children were born, three of whom died in infancy, and all of the others have preceeded her to the haven of rest except Charles who with his faithful wife remained to minister to her in old age, and be with her in her last moments, which were happily marked with peace and but little suffering. With the son, Charles, nine grand children, with a host of other relatives and friends remain to mourn her departure, but at the same time to rejoice in her eternal triumph.

Sister Widney was "Aunt Tilley" to everybody and was universally loved by old and young alike. She with her husband moved to DeKalb Co., from Monroe Co., in 1850; traveling the whole distance of 150 miles on horseback. They settled on the old home farm, now occupied by Mr. Daniel Shilling and hewed out a farm in the wilderness, at the same time preaching the gospel and ministering unto the needs of the community.

Her faithful and consecrated husband died in the service of his country at Bull's Gap, Tenn., in the early part of 1865, since which time Sister Widney remained a widow, wedded only to his precious memory and the Chutch of Jesus her precious Lord and Master,

Rev. Samuel W. Widney.

Sister Widney showed her love for her church of her choice, by her consecrated life spent in the service at its altars and by his many generous contributions. Adrian College, Kansas City University, and other schools and Benevolent institutions received large gifts from the means which the Lord put into her hands. She was a first subscriber of the Methodist Recorder, taking it from its first issue till death, a period of more than seventy years. She was a member of the church at Concord for many years, but when the St. Joe church was organized in 1882, she having moved to St. Joe, became a charter member of it, and remained a faithful helper and adviser until age and disease compelled her active work to cease, and from then till death her chiefest joy was to know of its successes. A memorial window to her is in the church, but her true, pure, clean, honest, consecrated life is her greatest monument, and her memory will abide with us. Her pastor and church deeply feel the loss of her life with us, but her gain is great and she now 44 years, enjoys a reunion with her husband and children and the bless Jesus. Her last message to the pastor for the church was to be faithful and meet her in the skies. Hardships, toil and suffering are over, and joy, peace and eternal rest have begun.

The funeral services were held at the M. P. Church Friday forenoon at 10:30 o'clock, conducted by J. C. McCain. Eliza Kinsey funeral director. Burial in the Newville Cemetry.

CARD OF THANKS

We desire to thank the neighbors and friends for the assistance given us during the sickness and death of our mother.

Chas. Widney and family.

Resolutions of Respect

The committee appointed by the Ladies Aid Society of the M. P. church to draft resolutions, upon the death of one of the members of the society, submit the following:

WHEREAS: It has pleased God in his infinite wisdom, to remove from our midst our beloved sister, Matilda J. Widney, after a brief illness patiently borne, thus reminding us that in the midst of life we are in death. But it is good that we his children be called home one by one to enter into eternal rest prepared for us in that home above. For as the silver cord be loosed, or pitcher be broken at the fountain, then shall the dust return to the earth as it was and the spirit return to the God who gave it.

RESOLVED: That we as a society tender our heartfelt sympathies to the family in their deep affliction and commend them to the Almighty ruler for consolation.

RESOLVED: That these resolutions be published in the St. Joe News and a copy be sent to the family.

Mrs. Mary Buchanan
Mrs. Delora Curie } Com.
Mrs. Belle Barney

Card of Thanks.

We desire to thank all the people who so kindly assisted us in different ways during our trial of sickness and our bereavement. We believe it to be impossible for us to compensate you and if any time the kindness may be returned we will gladly lend a helping hand.

Samuel Nelson and wife.

Operated On Eye

Mrs. Galloway of Lagrange, Ind., went to Hicksville last Saturday after a visit with her sister, Mrs Is Horn at Spencerville, to have an operation performed on her eye for cataract. Dr. Hull performed the operation. The last reports from her say that she is getting along fine and hopes are brighter for her recovery.

Crescent Concert Co.

The above named company, which gave one of its entertainments in St. Joe sometime ago are billed for several days next week as follows:

Leo, March 22.
Spencerville, March 23.
Albion, March 25.
Churubusco, March 26.
Wolf Lake, March 27.
Kimmel, March 29.

News Items

Send in your news.

Curie's up-to-date restaurant.

The new floor was laid in the bakery in a hurry last week.

Supper, Friday evening at Brown's shoe shop. Come. 10c.

Jessie Benjamin spent Sunday with her sister and family, east of town.

The right Hats at just the right time and at the right prices—at Mrs. Warner's, March 26-27.

Philip Case, who resided near Orangeville, has gone to Ohio to live and will farm the same as here. What stock he did not sell he removed to Ohio.

You

have a good fire insurance policy to guard against fire loss, why wouldn't it be to your interest to guard against Tornado damage.

We sell Tornado Insurance for town or farm property.
The cost is very small.
The protection is very great

J. C. HULL

AGENT

Fire, Tornado, Life, & Accident

Call on or Phone No. 46.

Obituary.

Guy Waldo, the only son of Mr. and Mrs. James Malone, was born April 16, 1905 and died last Wednesday morning, March 10, aged 3 years 10 months and 24 days. The little one had been suffering from an attack of whooping cough and breaking a blood vessel it caused inter-cranial hemorrhage. The physician was unable to do anything for the child. The funeral was held at the Christian Church, Saturday forenoon, J. H. Brown officiating. Eliza Kinsey funeral director. Burial in Riverside Cemetry.

CARD OF THANKS.

The parents desire to thank all those who administered unto them during their sad bereavement.

Cigars and Candy at Curie's.

Mrs. Anna Rickett was at Wayne, Thursday.

Mrs. John Sechler visited for several days with her parents at Moores.

Do you eat? If so, come to Brown's shop, Friday evening for your supper. Mite 10 cents. Lots of good things.

Program

of Musical and Literary Entertainment given by Class No. 5 of M. P. S. S. on Friday evening March 19, at 8 o'clock.

Voluntary	Lora Leighty
Address	Rev. McCain
Vocal Solo	Pauline Andress
Piano Duett	Mae and Lola McCain
Piano Solo	Howard Shilling
Cornet Solo	Foraker Ferrell
Reading	Jennie Steward
Vocal Duett	Vera and Flossie Copp
Graphophone
Piano Trio	Opal Koch, Violet Monroe and Esther McCain
Reading	Agnes Krabill
Vocal Solo	Marie Leighty
Graphophone
Piano Duett	Lora Leighty and Flossie Copp
Reading	Jennie Steward
Song	Class
Benediction

SEEDS

Our full line of garden and field seeds have arrived and it's now time to get your seed ready for early planting. I can save you money if you intend ordering seeds. Come in and see our flower seeds. All fresh and clean.

ONION SETS IN ANY QUANTITY.

HARRY MILLIMAN

DRUGGIST

MARCH

0533

L 903

The St. Joe News

ST. JOE, INDIANA.

FRED B. LEIGHTY, - - Publisher.

1909 MARCH 1909

Su	Mo	Tu	We	Th	Fr	Sa
•	1	2	3	4	5	6
7	8	9	10	11	12	13
14	15	16	17	18	19	20
21	22	23	24	25	26	27
28	29	30	31	•	•	•

F. M. 6th. L. Q. 14th. N. M. 21st. F. Q. 28th.

FEATURES OF INTEREST

ABOUT THAT WHICH HAS BEEN AND IS TO BE.

All Sides and Conditions of Things are Shown. Nothing Overlooked to make it Complete.

Taft Fond of His Caddy.

Elmer W. Loving, the young caddy whom President Taft brought with him from Hot Springs, Va., to become his personal messenger because of the great impression made by the youngster while the President passed a part of his vacation on the Virginia golf links, has left for Charlottesville, where he will become a student at the University of Virginal . Loving's expenses are to be defrayed by the President. He will take a course calculated to fit him for some special work which Mr. Taft has in view for him. It is understood that President Taft will allow his former caddy $2 a day for expenses. The President decided to send Loving to the University of Virginia because of his high regard for that university and because it is in the home State of his protege.

Roosevelt Family Going to Italy.

According to ex-President Roosevelt his family, with the exception of Theodore, Jr., will spend most of the time in Italy while Mr. Roosevelt is away. They will be the guests of Mrs. Roosevelt's sister, Miss Carew, at her villa near Rome. It has been planned to have Mrs. Roosevelt leave Italy early in March, 1910, and journey across the Mediterranean to Alexandria and thence by boat and rail up the Nile to Khartoum. Here Mr. Roosevelt, with his expedition, will arrive about April 1 and will be met by Mrs. Roosevelt. They will make visits to points of interest in Egypt on the way down the Nile and will then proceed to Europe, where Mr. Roosevelt has made several engagements for the early summer.

Joe B. Kealing Weds Illinois Lady.

Joseph B. Kealing, of Indianapolis, Ind., who lately resigned as United States District Attorney because of his objection to the procedure in the Panama libel suit against the owners of the Indianapolis News, was married at Leaf River, Ill., to Mrs. Lenora E. Franken, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Meyers. They have gone south for several weeks and on their return will live in Indianapolis.

Chicago Apartment House Burns.

Daring rescues of women and children from upper floors were made by police and firemen when fire attacked the North Entrance apartment building, Fifty-sixth street and Jefferson avenue, Chicago, Ill. Fifteen families were driven from their homes. There were no fatalities and only minor injuries were sustained. Loss $50,000.

Twisted a Mule's Tail.

Because he twisted the tail of a mule, a negro youth named Blackman is in jail at Tallulah, La., with the charge of manslaughter hanging over him. An aged negro was riding the mule when its tail was twisted. He was thrown from the rearing animal, sustaining injuries from which he died.

"Night Rider" Breaks Jail.

Hirschel Hogg, a confessed member of the band of night riders who murdered Capt. Quenten Rankin at Walnut Log in December, escaped from jail at Dresden, Tenn., and has not been recaptured. The military at Fort Rogan are instituting a vigorous search for the fugitive.

Ill-Fated Ship Slocum Sinks.

The barge Maryland, formerly the steamboat "General Slocum," on which more than 1,000 persons lost their lives a few years ago, sank at South River. The barge was loaded with 500,000 brick consigned to a New York contractor. The weight of her load sank the boat.

Five People Drowned.

Five persons were drowned in the Alabama river at Montgomery, Ala., in the rising waters which followed the recent storm. Three whites and two negroes were drowned from a ferry. Five and a half inches of rain fell in a little more than five hours.

War Governor is Ill.

Frederick Holbrook, one of the three surviving "war Governors," and the oldest ex-Governor in the United States, is seriously ill with bronchitis at his home in Brattleboro, Vt.

Polish Priest Murdered in Quarrel.

The Rev. Father Erasin, of St. Stanislaus church, Newark, N. J., was killed and a domestic was wounded by three men as the result of a dispute over church matters.

Norman E. Mack's Home is Burned.

The home of Norman E. Mack, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, was destroyed by fire in Buffalo, N. Y. Mack and his family are in Atlantic City.

FOURTEEN DEAD, MANY INJURED IN TORNADO

Brinkley, Ark., Is Wrecked by Wind and Flames and Other Towns Are Damaged.

RURAL HOMES ARE DESTROYED

Gov. Donaghey, Appealed to by Victims, Will Go to Scene of Suffering—Snow in West.

Reports received in Memphis, Tenn., show that fourteen persons were killed and fifteen or twenty injured in the tornado and fire which swept Brinkley, Ark., Monday. Ten of the dead were white persons and four negroes. The business section of the town was demolished and probably 80 per cent of the dwellings were razed. Other towns in the eastern part of the State suffered from the wind and the southern and western sections of Arkansas also were swept by tornadoes.

A mass meeting of citizens was held at Brinkley Tuesday and a telegram was sent to Governor Donaghey at Little Rock, urging him to go to Brinkley and take charge of the situation. The Governor replied that he would depart for the scene at once.

Because of wide demoralization a Cotton Belt passenger train could not be found and a report was sent out that it had been blown from the tracks near Baucum. The officials of the railroad in Memphis said that the train was safe from mishap.

Wires are down throughout the State. Several physicians of Forest City as well as many nurses were sent to Brinkley at midnight and other towns rushed aid to the storm-swept town. Brinkley is in Monroe County in the eastern part of the State. It has a population of 3,000 and is at the junction of several important railroads.

A tornado hit Fourche dam, five miles from Little Rock, at 5 o'clock in the afternoon, killing a negro boy and injuring other negroes. Two houses were demolished and one was consumed by fire after it had been blown to bits.

The tornado crossed the Arkansas River at Fourche dam and raised a spout of water about 200 feet high. It traveled toward the northeast and swept a path about sixty yards wide. The wind was followed by a violent hail and rain storm.

The same tornado passed into Baucum and from there to Kerr, Lonoke County, where several homes were demolished and E. B. Adams, a farmer, was seriously injured. He, with his wife, son and three others, was in the house at the time. They were buried in the debris. The home of Dan Wagner, a sawmill operator, also was destroyed, but he and his wife escaped with a few bruises. A gin and several negro cabins were demolished.

All the windows in a train running between Gurdon and Rester were blown out. At Malvern the Methodist Church was destroyed at a loss of $6,000. The Baptist Church was damaged and a portion of the Court House was unroofed.

MANCHURIA TROUBLE GROWING.

Protests of United States and China Threaten World Complications.

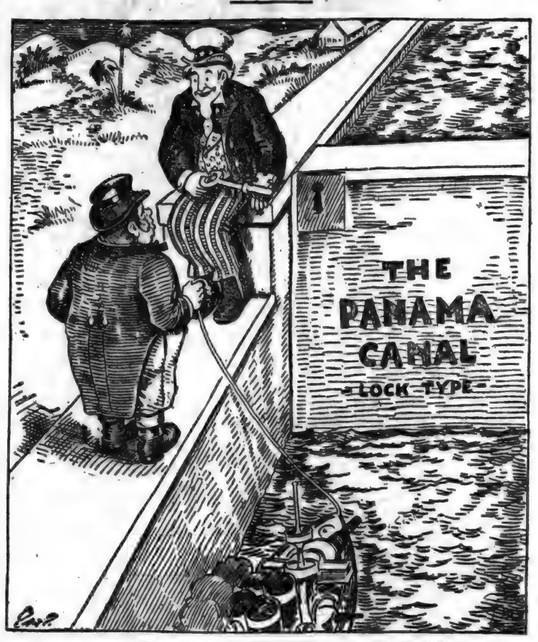
The situation at Harbin, Manchuria, arising from the apparent determination of the railroad authorities to control the local administration has become a live issue in Russian politics. The protests of China and the United States are claiming public attention and it is believed that the aggressive stand of the railroad authorities in Manchuria will bring about foreign complications. The negotiations with China are at a standstill until such time as the policy of the government shall be determined. The foreign office outwardly supports General Horvath in closing the stores of the Chinese merchants who refused to pay taxes to Russia, but privately it is most dissatisfied with the situation. The Novoe Vremya the other day sharply criticises the foreign office for its stand in this matter, and says it believes Germany is stirring up the question for the purpose of diverting attention from the near East. The paper intimates that Fred D. Fisher, until recently American consul at Harbin, has been acting in the interests of Germany.

NOTORIOUS MURDERESS IS DEAD

"Mrs. Staffleback" Breathes Her Last in Kansas Penitentiary.

Mrs. Nancy Wilson, generally known as Mrs. Staffleback, the most notorious woman prisoner in the Kansas penitentiary, died of pneumonia in a cell in the women's ward Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Staffleback was 70 years old. When she realized her serious condition she asked that her son, George Staffleback, a lifetime convict, and Charles Wilson, her second husband, another convict, be brought to her bedside. They were taken over by the prison officials. Mrs. Staffleback was brought to the Kansas penitentiary in May, 1897, to serve a twenty-one-year sentence for murder in the second degree. At the same time two of her sons were brought in under life sentences, a third son to serve seven years, and Charles Wilson, her husband, to serve twenty-five years. One of the sons serving a life sentence died four years ago. The Stafflebacks lived near Galena, Kan., and were accused of numerous and atrocious murders. They ran a hotel, and it was alleged that they murdered guests who had money and threw the bodies into a deserted mine. The family is generally ranked next to the Bendens among notorious Kansas murderers.

HAVE THE LOCK TYPE OF CANAL, TO BE SURE.



Uncle Sam—This is where I play even on that $180,000 it cost me to take my fleet through the Suez.
—Minneapolis Journal.

MISSOURI OUSTS STANDARD OIL

Waters-Pierce Company Continues to Do Business in State.

The motions by the Standard Oil Company of Indiana and the Republic Oil Company of Ohio for a rehearing of the ouster suit recently decided against them, and for a modification of the judgment, were overuled by the Missouri Supreme Court Tuesday.

Upon payment of the assessed fine the motion of the Attorney General for an absolute ouster of the Missouri company was denied, the compliance with the court order recently filed by the company was approved and the judgment of ouster against it was suspended.

The effect of these decisions is to expel the Indiana and Ohio companies from Missouri and to restore to the Waters-Pierce Company, 60 per cent of whose stock is held by the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, the right to do business within the State.

The decision is considered a great victory for the Waters-Pierce Company and incidentally for the minority interests of that concern who claim to have been making unavailing efforts to free the company from control by the New Jersey corporation. With this object in view they declined to approve the proposition made by the Standard Oil Company of Indiana that that company be allowed to continue business in the State under a trusteeship composed of representatives of the court and the company.

This proposition excited the liveliest interest in that it would have given to the State a measure of direct control of a corporation's affairs, had it been adopted by the court. But it was ignored in the announcement by the chief justice.

With the judgment of ouster made absolute against the Standard Oil Company of Indiana and the Republic Oil Company, these concerns must now pay their fines of $50,000 each and cease business in the State. The $50,000 assessed against the Waters-Pierce Company has been paid.

LIBERTY BELL CRACK GROWS.

Sudden Jolt May Rend Relic of the Revolution in Two.

The discovery that the crack in the Liberty Bell has extended seventeen inches beyond its original length caused the starting of another movement to prevent the proposed trip of the old relic to the Pacific coast.

The second crack, which is scarcely perceptible, extends almost to the top of the bell, and any sudden jolt may cause the bell to split in halves. According to those who have charge of the bell, every trip taken by the relic has caused a slight increase in the original crack.

GIRL VICTIM OF POISONER.

Says Unknown Assailant Entered Room and Gave Fatal Dose.

One of the most mysterious tragedies ever enacted in Arkansas came to light the other day when Dr. William Krause, a Memphis expert, received for examination the viscera of Miss Sffie Kitchens, daughter of James Kitchens, a wealthy farmer living at Lewisville, Ark. Miss Kitchens died shortly after she had been discovered by her mother in a dying condition. Before death the girl told an incoherent story about an assailant entering her room during the night, administering poison to her and then escaping through the window of her room. Two persons are under suspicion and they are being kept under close surveillance.

KANSAS CIGARETTE LID IS ON.

Carrie Nation's Dream of Smokeless, Drinkless State Coming True.

The Kansas anti-cigarette law went into effect recently on its publication and not a cigarette paper can be found on sale in Topeka. Local dealers were unprepared, for they had understood that the law would not go into effect until May. One dealer had just unpacked a $500 order. Stocks are being repacked for shipment to the factory.

TEXAS NEGRO BURNED AT STAKE

Admits Attacking Woman and Keeps Nerve Despite the Flames.

After having been identified by Mrs. Arthur McKinney as the negro who tried to attack her Friday morning, Andrew Ellis was taken from the Rockwell county jail in Rockwall, Texas, tied to an iron stake driven into the earth and burned to death in the presence of about 1,000 persons. Earlier in the evening Will Clark, a negro, was shot and killed when his father, Andrew Clark, refused permission to a posse to search his premises on the assumption that Ellis was concealed there. People were present from other towns to see the execution of Ellis. Ellis admitted his guilt, but refused to make a statement or to leave farewell messages for his relatives. He did not utter a cry as the pile of cordwood, which had been saturated with kerosene, was set afire, nor did he show loss of nerve as the flames cooked his flesh. He was dead nine minutes after the torch had been applied.

CLAIM CHICAGO LAND.

Layton Family to Contest for Large Tract in Heart of Windy City.

A claim will soon be made to eighty acres of land in the heart of Chicago by L. L. Layton and Mrs. Mary C. Diveaux of Beloit, Wis. William D. Layton of Plattsworth, Neb., G. W. Layton, Lake Geneva, Wis., and Mrs. Earl S. Ames of Monroe. These five brothers and sisters claim that a large tract of land just south of the Cook County courthouse belonged to their father and was never deeded away by him. They profess to think the claim will hold good and all of them met in an attorney's office in Beloit recently to make arrangements to begin legal action at once to recover possession of the property. The claimants range in age from 50 to 70 years.

30 HURT IN CAR EXPLOSION.

Controller Box Blows Out on Pay-as-You-Enter Vehicle.

The explosion of a controller box, on a pay-as-you-enter car in St. Louis caused a panic in which thirty passengers were injured. The conductor deserted his post. The doors at both ends of the car failed to work and passengers were compelled to break glass from the windoms to escape from gas fumes, flames and smoke. Flames singed passengers' hair and clothing and badly burned the car.

Cresceus, 2:02¼, started in a race at Moscow, Russia, a few weeks ago and finished fourth, trotting a mile in 2:16.

Columbus has sold Shortstop J. E. Raidy to the Grand Rapids club. He will become manager of that team for the 1909 season.

Capt. Hamilton Fish, of Harvard, has announced that Brown University will take Carlisle's place on the Crimson foot ball schedule this year.

Exports of American horses during the six years ending June 30, 1908, were valued at $21,000,000, while imports for the same period were valued at $10,000,000.

Stoney McGlynn will be with the Milwaukee American Association base ball club this season, Manager McCloskey having closed a deal with the St. Louis Nationals.

Iowa University overwhelmed Minnesota in basket ball by score of 37 to 16. The Hawkeye five played fast ball. Capt. Perrine, of Iowa, was star, making 20 points for his team.

William Baird, formerly of the University of Pennsylvania, holder of the world's record for vaulting for distance, and intercollegiate champion in the pole vault in 1903, has been chosen to coach the Hamline University track team this season.

Although racing has been killed in Washington State, the Legislature intends to give a brief respite to the turf element. Following the attempt to have an emergency clause added to the anti-betting bill, both House and Senate voted against the amendment and it will be lawful to bet on races until June 11.

MISSOURI'S TWO-CENT FARE IS HELD ILLEGAL

Judge McPherson Rules in Favor of Roads in Passenger and Freight Cases.

RATE IS NOT RENUMERATIVE.

Kansas City Court Says Lines Should Get Return of 6 Per Cent— 18 Systems Affected.

A notable decision in favor of the railroads was handed down Monday by Judge McPherson of the United States District Court in Kansas City, in the 2-cent fare and maximum-freight-rate cases, involving eighteen Missouri lines. The railroads contended that the rates fixed by the State were confiscatory, and asked that the enforcement of the statutes be enjoined.

"The question," said Judge McPherson in his decision, "is whether the traffic wholly within the State of Missouri, generally referred to in the evidence as local traffic, can be carried under the freight rate statute of 1907 at such profit as to give a reasonable return after paying expenses upon the investment, or whether such traffic is carried at a loss or at less than such reasonable profit. The court has reached the conclusion that the rates fixed by both statutes are not remunerative."

After the decision had been handed down several railway attorneys intimated that the railroads soon would go back to the 3-cent passenger rate, but none was able to state specifically that this would be done. Frank Hagerman made the following statement:

"The 2-cent rate is the subject of pending litigation in Minnesota, South Dakota, Nebraska and Kansas. It is not conceivable that if the rate is confiscatory in Missouri it can be compensatory in any of those States. What, if anything, will be done in other States has not been decided. In view of the thorough investigation and the decisions in the Pennsylvania and the Missouri cases it is doubtful whether any State will attempt any longer to enforce a 2-cent rate act."

J. W. BLYTHE DIES AT WAPELLO

General Counsel of Burlington Railroad Seized with Heart Disease.

J. W. Blythe, general counsel of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad, dropped dead at 5 o'clock Saturday morning two miles out from Wapello, Iowa, where he had a hunting lodge. He went to the lodge Friday with a party of friends for a shooting trip, and just after he left the clubhouse the next morning he was seized with an attack of heart disease and fell dead while his friends were rushing to his side. He was administrator for the estate of C. E. Perkins, former president of the Burlington system, and a son-in-law of the late ex-Senator John Gear. He was a leader of the stand-patters in Iowa.

TO PRISON FOR KIDNAPING.

Westerner Is Found Guilty of Holding a Millionaire in Forest.

After being out twenty hours a jury at Mount Vernon, Wash., declared Lee Bezemer guilty of kidnaping for the purpose of holding for ransom. Under the statute the court has no discretion, and Bezemer will be sentenced to an indeterminate term of five to twenty-one years' imprisonment. Oct. 26 last Bezemer held up Edward English, a millionaire logger, on the highway near Mount Vernon. The logger was forced to drive into the woods, and was then ordered from his carriage at the point of a pistol and bound to a tree, after having been coerced into writing an order to his wife to pay bearer $5,000. Before Mrs. English could secure the money her husband escaped. Bezemer was captured two weeks later within a few miles of Seattle.

"RICHEST" BABY IS LOSER.

Aunt Gets Largest Part of Fortune John Nicholas Brown Expected.

John Nicholas Brown, dubbed by the Newport, R. I., populace the "millionaire kid," has been somewhat demillionised by a new will. The $30,000,000 which it was expected would come to the 10-year-old lad when Mrs. John Carter Brown died on Sunday, it now turns out will go in large part to Mrs. William Watts Sherman, one of the most beautiful women in Newport. Mrs. Sherman is the only living child of Mrs. Brown and is the aunt of the "richest baby." The Shermans have a beautiful cottage in Newport and a town house at 838 Fifth avenue, New York, in "millionaire row."

NO COAL MINE STRIKE SOON.

Workers Will Not Quit Until Fall, Even if Refused Demands.

It is said that even should the coal operators refuse to grant any of the anthracite mine workers' demands there will be no strike until next fall. Men close to the union leaders say the miners would not risk a strike at the threshold of summer, especially in view of the fact that the operators have 10,000,000 or 12,000,000 tons of coal on hand. At the national convention in January it was generally understood to be the sense of the scale committee, composed of the twenty-five district presidents, that there should be no suspension of mining, such as there was three years ago, whether a new agreement was reached or not.

Work of Congress

Never has a Congress expired more peacefully than the Sixtieth Congress. The Democratic filibuster against the penal code bill in the Senate was drawn to a close Wednesday by an agreement eliminating from the measure the objectionable features authorizing the use of troops at election places, and the measure was passed without actually changing the law now on the statute books. The Bailey resolution declaring the right of the Senate to demand papers and information from heads of departments was referred to the Committee on the Judiciary after an animated debate, during which Senators Dolliver and Beveridge made vigorous defense of the President. The conference report on the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill was agreed to. The conferees eliminated all salary increases in dispute except that of the salary of the President, which was fixed at $75,000. A night session was held. On the eve of final adjournment the House transacted its business with a facility unusual for a dying Congress, although at times there was much confusion, which the Speaker had difficulty in controlling. With scarcely any debate the conference reports on the military academy, legislative, executive and judicial and penal code bill were agreed to. The bill amending the copyright laws of the United States in regard to "canned music" was passed, as were also a large number of private bills. Having practically wound up the pressing business, the House took a recess.

-:—:-

The Sixtieth Congress came to an end Thursday with the Representatives and Senators sitting in the Senate chamber, and Vice President Sherman immediately had read to the assembled legislators the proclamation of President Taft calling an extra session of Congress to meet March 15. The Senate was to meet at noon Friday to consider the appointments of the new President, but the House will not meet again until March 15. The Senate met at 9:40 a. m., but the proceedings were confined to the most formal work, mainly adoption of the complete report of the conferees on the pension appropriation bill, the last of the great supply measures, which the House also passed within one hour of adjournment, and the appointment of two or three commissions in accordance with recent congressional enactments. The House receded from the amendment to the appropriation bill consolidating in Washington the eighteen agencies throughout the country and the agencies will be continued as in the past. Vice President Fairbanks delivered an address in the Senate in response to resolutions thanking him for his conduct of the office. Utterly lacking in all stirring incidents usually marking the closing hour of a Congress, the House at 11:59½ o'clock was declared by Speaker Cannon to be adjourned without day. Speaker Cannon received a unanimous vote of thanks, which he acknowledged amid loud applause.

-:—:-

In its first regular sitting of the session the Senate Friday received and confirmed the nominations of President Taft for the various cabinet positions and also that of Huntington Wilson as Assistant Secretary of State. In addition, Senators Chamberlain of Oregon and Smith of Maryland were sworn in. The session, both executive and legislative, consumed two and one-half hours of time. The House was not in session.

-:—:-

The Senate, after confirming all the nominations sent to it by President Taft, adjourned its extraordinary session Saturday sine die. The credentails of Senator Stephenson of Wisconsin failed to arrive in time to permit him to be sworn in. The last Wednesday of April was suggested as the proper date on which to inaugurate a President, in a joint resolution introduced by Senator Depew. The resolution was in the form of an amendment to the Constitution and provided that the Sixty-second Congress and the term of the office of President and Vice President shall continue until the last Wednesday of April, 1913, at noon. The resolution was referred to the Committee on Privileges and Elections. Before taking up the nomination Senator Bailey made a protest against stories which were printed concerning the executive session of Friday, when he suggested that Charles Nagel of Missouri might be ineligible for the office of Secretary of Commerce and Labor if he had been interested as counsel in a suit against the Waters-Pierce Oil Company, which litigation is still pending before a Federal court. Mr. Bailey made an extended speech, criticising sharply the publication of alleged inaccurate stories of executive sessions and lecturing persons who may have given out information concerning the sessions. The matter was referred to a committee of five.

INTERESTING NEWS ITEMS.

The Gast Thread Company's plant in Seneca Falls, N. Y., was destroyed by fire. Loss, $90,000.

Committees of the chamber of commerce and of the Legal Aid Society of Cleveland are at work on a system of courts for Ohio cities and have taken the Chicago Municipal Courts as a model.

Thirteen persons were killed, several seriously injured and much valuable property destroyed by a tornado which swept across Lonoke, Prairie, Woodruff and Poinsett Counties, Arkansas.

MARCH

0534

L 903

A Race for a Wife

BY

HAWLEY SMART

CHAPTER X.—(Continued.)

Grenville had made up his mind that he was powerless; but still, all the same, Maude's letter must be answered. This, again, was not so easy to do. When the girl you are in love with appeals to you tearfully to save her from being married to somebody else, the obvious course would seem to be to run away with her yourself. But, as George Eliot says, "Running away, especially when spoken of as 'absconding,' seems, at a distance, to offer a good modern substitute for the right of sanctuary; but seen closely, it is often found inconvenient and scarcely possible." So, though to emulate young Lochinvar and bear off your fair Ellen of Netherby may seem the proper thing to do on the first blush of such occasion, yet, on mature reflection, it may prove hardly feasible. Mrs. Lochinvar must be clothed and fed, while the reiving and raiding by which that adventurous gallant doubtless supported the lady of his love would, in these days, be known by the prosaic term of "robbery with violence." The attention of Colonel Henderson and his myrmidons, the grave consideration of his countrymen, and an eloquent oration, rather to his disadvantage, by a criminal court judge, would probably be the termination of young Lochinvar's career in these days.

What is he to write? What is he to say? Can you not guess? Of course he will sit down and do the very thing he should not. He can't help, but he can complicate her troubles. Love is essentially a selfish passion. Having no consolation to offer her, no assistance to render her, he betakes himself to his desk and pours forth his story of love and lamentation. He exhorts her not to marry Pearman, but gives her no hint of how she is to combat the difficulties that surround her. He pours forth, in good, honest, genuine terms, the tale of his love; he dwells on the certainty of his having a home ere long to offer her through his own exertions, and winds up with a tremendous peroration about having loved her from her cradle. He has done nothing of the kind. His love is a child of something under a twelvemonth's growth; and though I fear all lovers romance fearfully, they thoroughly believe in their figments at the time. Then comes another sheet of postscript about "can she love him?" he shall know no rest till he gets her answer. And after it is all done and posted, Grenville Rose feels more uneasy than ever. He is not thinking so much of poor Maude's troubles as What will she say to his declaration of love? He racks his brain for every trace of favor she has shown him all the past year. Sweet and cousinly she has been ever, but no sign of love can he recall. Fool that I have been!" he mutters; "I have been so careful not to give her a hint of my feelings. I wish I had that letter back. No, I don't. I don't know, in short——" and the last fragment contained pretty well the gist of Grenville's thoughts at present.

CHAPTER XI.

Maude, as she has already explained, has been having a hard time of it at Glinn these last two or three days. Life has been all so easy to her so far, that she hardly realizes the facing of this, her first genuine trouble. She is awaiting the post anxiously this morning; Gren is certain to write to her by return, and her belief in Gren is unbounded.

Once more the icy breakfast table she so dreads. Her father looks at her as a culprit who would subvert the old Grecian story, and sacrifice her parent instead of presenting her throat to the knife. Mrs. Denison evidently looks upon her as a sainted martyr. She loves and sympathizes with her daughter; she approves of her spirited refusal, but she cannot desert her old idols. "The king can do no wrong." Harold Denison's opinion must be hers outwardly, though in her heart of hearts she may rebuke herself for not being on her daughter's side.

"A letter from Grenville for you, Maude," said her father, as he threw it across. She and her cousin were regular correspondents, so that it excited no remark; yet the mother noticed that the girl, instead of tearing it open as was her wont, slipped it quietly into the pocket of her dress. Maude felt as if she possessed a talisman against her troubles, and determined to read it in the solitude of her own chamber, and there she betook herself as soon as breakfast was over.

Her cheek flushed as she perused it, and the large grey eyes opened wide with astonishment. Grenville's tale of passionate love would have moved most girls, albeit he has not as yet in these pages figured to any great advantage—still Grenville Rose had a shewd enough head upon his shoulders, and was a comely man to look upon, to boot. He told his love well, and few maidens, even if they do not reciprocate it, can listen unmoved when that old-world story is passionately told them. There was plenty of warmth in Grenville's fervent pleading, and after reading the letter through twice, Maude dropped the paper on her lap, and, utterly oblivious to her troubles, fell into a reverie.

It seemed so strange. She had loved and admired Gren as long as she could remember, but she had never thought of him in this way—at least, she did not think so, and yet, almost unconsciously to herself, of late she had been more solicitous about gaining his good opinion and pleasing him than of yore. "To think Gren should care about me in this way!" she murmured; "and I—do I love him? I don't know. He's nicer, and better, and cleverer than anyone I ever met. Why didn't he tell me this when he was here last? I think I'd rather have heard it from himself. Ah! but doesn't he tell me why not?" and the girl once more took up the letter and read:

"All this, my darling, has been on my lips for months, but how could I tell you?—how could I seek your love who had not even a home to offer? What the struggle has been to see you so often, and yet keep down what surged within me, I only know. When I kissed your cheek at parting last time, I nearly clasped you in my arms and poured out the secret of my soul to you. I did not; it seemed madness—it is perhaps madness now; but, my darling, I could not lose you. When you tell me that another seeks the prize I covet, right or wrong, I must speak. Maude, you must decide between us. Can you trust me, and wait?"

Once more the letter fell in her lap, and the softened grey eyes and slightly flushed face augured well for Grenville Rose's wooing.

"Yes," she muttered, softly, "I think I love him now as he would have me; and if I don't quite yet—for it seems all so new to me—I know I could shortly. Gren, dear, what am I to write to you? I think it must be 'Yes.'"

It was wrong, she thought, to keep Gren in suspense when he was so dreadfully in love with her; so that night's mail bore a timid, fluttering little note, the receipt of which produced a tremendous state of exhilaration in that young Templar.

But poor Maude, after the first flush of exultation that enters the breast of every girl at a welcome declaration of love, quickly awoke to the fact that her position was not a whit improved by it. She confided her engagement to her mother, and for the first time in her life Maude beheld Mrs. Denison really angry. "I'm surprised and disgusted with Grenville," said that lady. "It's too bad of him, taking advantage of a child like you in this manner. I like him, always have liked him, and, under different circumstances, would have sooner seen you his wife than any man's I know. But he can barely keep himself as yet, and must know that his thinking of a wife at all is foolish in the extreme, and that thinking of you is simply absurd. He's behaved very badly, and if you don't promise to write and break it off, you can say, by my desire, I shall tell your father all about it."

"Oh, mother, you won't do that," said Maude.

"Not unless you oblige me," said Mrs. Denison, sternly.

Poor Maude was electrified. That the mother she had been always accustomed to pet, and do as she liked with, should suddenly rise against her like this, was past her comprehension. Yet to anyone who has made character his study, nothing can be more in accordance with the usual law in such cases. Weak, feeble characters, when, either from caprice or driven by necessity, they exert such power as may be in their hands, invariably do it tyrannically and despotically.

Mrs. Denison has suffered of late from the stern rule of her lord and master. In spite of all her love for her daughter, she has become dimly conscious that there will be no peace at Glinn unless Maude yields assent to the ukase Harold Denison has promulgated. Women of her class can suffer, but they cannot resist. Even now she would not urge Maude to marry Pearman. But that her impecunious nephew had dared to entangle her daughter in an engagement, especially at this time, roused as much wrath within her as her nature was capable of. Most mothers, I imagine, would deem she had grounds for indignation.

All this while Pearman has not been idle. Slowly, but surely, the legal notices and proceedings progress, and Harold Denison knows full well that within three weeks ten thousand pounds must be found, or Glinn must go to the hammer. The Pearmans conduct the campaign with scrupulous politeness. It is quite in accordance with the old traditions of the Battle of Fontenoy. They apologize for every fresh process, and allude to it as a mere matter of form. They affect to believe that there can be no doubt Mr. Denison will easily pay them off at the expiration of the notice of foreclosure. The old gentleman even indulges in pocularity on the subject.

"Mean to have the very last day out of us, I see, sir; and quite right, too," he chuckled, upon meeting the squire one day.

"Yes, Pearman," was the grim retort; "I learned the exacting of my pound of flesh, to the last pennyweight, in your hands. I have not forgot any lesson. You burn it into your pupils' minds pretty deeply."

The old lawyer has laid himself open to another rebuff, and Denison has not failed to take advantage thereof. Why? Sarcasm breaks no bones, few knew better than that astute "fisher of men." His sentiviness was tolerably blunt, and he recked little what men said to him, or of him, so long as the furtherance of the object he had in view was attained. That his son should marry Maude Denison was the goal he now aimed at, and that that was to be brought about, he still thought far from improbable. To that end he conceived, even while pressing him for money, it was quite necessary to keep on easy terms with the squire. None knew better than he how bitter it is for a proud man to take his words back, and if what he now played for was to be achieved, that was a necessity. The task must be made as easy as possible—the unpalatable draught sugared as far as might be.

"He—he!" he answered; "you will have your joke, Mr. Denison. It's a mighty pity you couldn't make up your mind to concentrate the property once more. Beg pardon, Squire," he continued, deprecating Denison's angry gesture; "don't fear my alluding to it again. It was presumption on my part, I know, and if I said anything to vex you, I'm sure I'm heartily sorry. You'll forgive an old man, who, not having been brought up with your views, saw nothing but the concentration of an estate. Yes, I know I was all in the wrong; it isn't likely Miss Maude could be brought to think of such a thing. I'm sure I hope the calling-in of the mortgage is no inconvenience; you can easily raise it elsewhere. But Sam's got so deep in the racing now, that we must get that sum together before the Two Thousand. I wish he wasn't; but he's clever, Sam is—clever in his way—too great a gentleman for me. No offense, sir, I hope; but I'm a plain man."

CHAPTER XII.

Harold Denison touched his hat haughtily, and rode home; but the old usurer's artful speech still simmered in his brain. Why should it not be? It would cut the tangled knot of his difficulties. He had made inquiries. Young Pearman had been brought up a gentleman, and visited in several good houses in the county. He naturally a little exaggerated this to himself, to justify the course he intended to pursue; nay, for the matter of that, had been pursuing for some days. His wife had told him that she had laid the Pearman proposition before Maude, and that the young lady had declined, with thanks since which intelligence he had bullied Mrs. Denison, and snubbed or treated his daughter with cold indifference. The head of the family can make contumacious children conscious of their high displeasure without any unseemly rating—indeed that may be looked upon as mere mild and salutary punishment compared to the other—that other which, to speak metaphorically, consists in being condemned to the domestic ice house. It is hard to describe still there will be few of my readers who, if they have had the good fortune not to experience it, but must have seen some culprit enduring that slow punishment—meted out more often, perhaps, to daughters than sons. But don't we all know it; the chilling rejoinder that meets any attempt at geniality—the austere look that seems to say it is heresy that we should presume to forget the measure of our offending—the moral thong always awaiting us should we show any signs of relapsing into cheerfulness? Bah! those physical torturers of the middle ages were mere bunglers at their craft.

From this time poor Maude's life was made heavy to bear. Harold Denison sent for her to his study, and himself put Pearman's proposal before her. He enlarged upon its advantages, and declared that it was her duty to save the property to her descendants; on her head it rested whether the Denisons of Glinn should cease to exist, as of course her future husband must take her name. For himself, he cared not—he was an old man, and it mattered little to him. Any foreign watering place was good enough for him to wear out his miserable life in. He deplored the follies of his youth. It was sad that a father should plead before a daughter in this wise. He could bear anything but the thought that the Denisons of Glinn should be expunged from the roll of the county in which they had dwelt and been known since the Wars of the Roses; all this it was in Maude's power to avert. Why could she not marry this man? He had been brought up a gentleman, and mixed in the best society in the county. If not quite her equal in blood, he would repair the shattered fortunes of the family. Such matches were made every day. The destiny of the plutocracy was to strengthen the aristocracy. Far be it from him to put any pressure upon her, but it was his duty as a parent to lay the whole case before her.

Gallantly did Maude fight her battle, and though at the end of this long interview she stood with flushed and tear-stained cheeks to listen to her father's final exordium, she was still resolute in her refusal.

But the struggle was too unequal. Under the pressure put upon her by her husband Mrs. Denison had not only made Maude write a letter of renunciation to Grenville Rose, but had penned him a very severe philippic herself, in which she insisted that all correspondence should cease between them. She had further, under the threat of revealing everything to Mr. Denison, extorted a promise from Maude that she would write no more to her cousin. She knew her daughter well, and felt implicit confidence that, her word once pledged, troth would be kept.

I have described the first stage of the attack. It is a common enough story, as many a woman could bear witness to, as far as the general details go. Can you not easily guess the result? She was a high-spirited girl, and bore herself bravely in the beginning; but cut off from all communication with her lover, she gave way at last to the moral pressure brought to bear upon her, and, with pale cheeks and heavy eyes, whispered her mother "that they might do with her as they liked; if she couldn't marry Gren, she didn't care who it was."

(To be continued.)

A Boy's Way.

Harold was going to a party that evening. As the weather was rather doubtful his father gave him a half dollar and told him to get a cab if it rained when he came home.

It did rain, and rained hard. When Harold came home he was drenched.

"I thought I told you to get a cab if it rained," said his father.

"And so I did," was the reply. "I had a dandy ride, and came home on top, beside the driver."—Philadelphia Ledger.

The Power of a Will.

Hojax—There goes Mrs. Jimjones. They say she married Jimjones to reform him and has succeeded by mere force of will.

Tomdix—But she is such a frail little thing! How did she manage it?

Hojax—By giving him to understand that if he didn't brace up and do better she would will all her money to charity.

His First Cigar.

"Ah, my lad," sighed the benevolent old gentleman, "it certainly makes me feel bad to see you smoking that vile cigar!"

"Dem we can shake, mister," responded Tommy, making a wry face. "It makes me feel bad, too."—Chicago News.

Very Slight, Indeed.

Binks (who has given Jinks a cigar)—You'll find, old chap, that is something like a cigar.

Jinks (after a few puffs)—By Jove! there is a slight resemblance. What is it?—Royal Magazine.

COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL

CHICAGO.

A new high record in the volume of payments through the banks this week testifies to increasing commerce and a more encouraging faith in the immediate outlook. Activity is seen to be making a seasonable advance. Readjustments in costs create a wider interest in the prominent industries. Distinct improvement is noted in contracts closed for steam and electric machinery, the aggregate being far ahead of that a year ago, substantial commitments are pending in rails, cars and structural forms. Inquiries have multiplied within the past ten days for various factory outputs.

Weather conditions were more favorable to a large measure of distributive trade. Retail dealing here and at interior points is of good volume, and stocks of winter merchandise have run quite low. Buyers in notably large numbers attended the wholesale markets and there has been further expansion in the demands for dry goods, footwear, millinery, clothing, furniture and food products.

Bank clearings, $311,527,277, exceed those of corresponding week in 1908 by 17.8 per cent and compare with $271,309,356 in 1907.

Failures reported in the Chicago district number 27, against 24 last week, 40 in 1908 and 19 in 1907. Those with liabilities over $5,000 number 10, against 5 last week, 13 in 1908 and 4 in 1907.—Dun's Review of Trade.

NEW YORK.

Weather irregularities and tariff and price revision uncertainties combine to make for a rather quiet tone in trade and industry, pending clearer views of these and winter wheat crop possibilities. The trade reports come from the Central West and Southwest, and in those sections jobbing trade shows moderate improvement, as do collections. The urgent need of rain in Texas is accentuated this week, while in the rest of the South business is still rather dull. At large Eastern markets trade with first hands is in a between-seasons condition and a slight decrease in retail demand has been interfered with by a severe storm along the Eastern seaboard.

Business failures in the United States for the week ending with March 4 were 219, against 244 last week, 287 in the like week of 1908, 172 in 1907, 177 in 1906 and 190 in 1905.

Canadian failures for the week number thirty-three, which compares with forty last week and forty-nine in the like week of 1908.—Bradstreet's.

MARKET OF THE WEEK

Chicago—Cattle, common to prime, $4.00 to $7.25; hogs, prime heavy, $4.50 to $6.75; sheep, fair to choice, $3.00 to $5.75; wheat, No. 2, $1.17 to $1.21; corn, No. 2, 64c to 65c; oats, standard 53c to 54c; rye, No. 2, 75c to 79c; hay, timothy, $8.00 to $13.00; prairie, $8.00 to $11.50; butter, choice creamery, 25c to 28c; eggs, fresh, 18c to 21c; potatoes, per bushel, 80c to 90c.

Indianapolis—Cattle, shipping, $3.00 to $6.50; hogs, good to choice heavy, $3.50 to $6.60; sheep, good to choice, $2.50 to $4.00; wheat, No. 2, $1.20 to $1.22; corn, No. 2, white, 61c to 63c; oats, No. 2 white, 49c to 51c.

St. Louis—Cattle, $4.50 to $7.25; hogs, $4.00 to $6.80; sheep, $3.00 to $5.50; wheat, No. 2, $1.30 to $1.32; corn, No. 2, 64c to 66c; oats, No. 2, 53c to 55c; rye, No. 2, 76c to 78c.

Cincinnati—Cattle, $4.00 to $6.25; hogs, $4.00 to $6.35; sheep, $3.00 to $5.25; wheat, No. 2, $1.27 to $1.28; corn, No. 2 mixed, 67c to 68c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 55c to 56c; rye, No. 2, 82c to 84c.

Detroit—Cattle, $4.00 to $6.00; hogs, $4.00 to $6.60; sheep, $2.50 to $4.75; wheat, No. 2, $1.21 to $1.22; corn, No. 33 yellow, 67c to 69c; oats, No. 3 white, 54c to 56c; rye, No. 2, 80c to 82c.

Milwaukee—Wheat, No. 2 northern, $1.17 to $1.18; corn, No. 3, 65c to 67c; oats, standard, 55c to 56c; rye, No. 1, 79c to 80c; barley, No. 1, 65c to 67c; pork, mess, $15.60.

Buffalo—Cattle, choice shipping steers, $4.00 to $7.05; hogs, fair to choice, $4.00 to $6.85; sheep, common to good mixed, $4.00 to $4.75; lambs, fair to choice, $5.00 to $7.90.

New York—Cattle, $4.00 to $5.90; hogs, $3.50 to $6.60; sheep, $3.00 to $4.50; wheat, No. 2 red, $1.23 to $1.24; corn, No. 2, 75c to 76c; oats, natural white, 59c to 62c; butter, creamery, 25c to 28c; eggs, western, 17c to 21c.

Toledo—Wheat, No. 2 mixed, $1.19 to $1.21; corn, No. 2 mixed, 67c to 68c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 56c to 57c; rye, No. 2, 81c to 83c; clover seed, $5.40.

TRADE AND INDUSTRY.

James J. Hill gave the principal address at the annual convention of the State Retail Grocers' and Retail Merchants' Association, held in St. Paul.

At the annual convention of North Dakota furniture dealers, held in Grand Forks, sentiment was strong that co-operative buying by retailers and systematic newspaper advertising would overcome the competition of mail-order houses.

As the opening move in a war for cheaper sugar through the reduction of tariff duties, a national committee of wholesale grocers, which has been formed to do the fighting, is sending out a letter showing the effects of the present high schedule. According to this letter, the duty now amounts to 80 per cent of the sugar's value in bond.

OIL TRUST WINS CASE; $29,000,000 FINE VOID

Judge Anderson Decides That Evidence Against Standard Company Is Insufficient.

ORDERS "NOT GUILTY" VERDICT.

Decides Nearly All Technical Points Against Prosecution—Government Gives Up Fight.

The famous $29,240,000 rebate case against the Standard Oil Company was ended Wednesday. Government attorneys abandoned the prosecution, declaring that under the court's rulings they could not continue the case against the corporation. By the direction of Judge Anderson the jury returned a verdict of "not guilty."

Judge Anderson ruled that the government had not produced sufficient evidence against the oil company to establish the points upon which they were basing the prosecution. In his instruction to the jury the judge dwelt on the theory that the government had established no case against the oil company.

This end of the famous case leaves Judge K. M. Landis, who imposed the enormous fine on the corporation, alone in his judicial attitude. His rulings are discredited and his opinion in the first trial was not taken into consideration.

Judge Anderson, who has thus set at naught the rulings of Judge Landis, is a boon companion of the latter jurist. Both men are "Hoosiers," coming from the same part of Indiana. They were boys together and throughout their lives their careers have run parallel. As boys they frequented the same "swimmin' hole," and when they grew to manhood both became lawyers and Republicans in politics and both were made federal judges by ex-President Roosevelt. Their philosophies have been much the same, and both have been noted for their incisive grasp of the cases on trial before them.

Judge Landis brought John D. Rockefeller to the bar of his court and the witness chair.

Judge Anderson directed the dismissal of the case because there is "no proof." He in instructing the jury to return a verdict of not guilty, said he dismissed the counts in the indictment covering the shipments from Chappelle because there was a fatal variance between the indictment and the evidence.

The Elkins law, he said, provided that offenses could be committed in only two ways, one way by violating the law on shipments carried by a common carrier over its own line, and the other by violating the law on shipments carried over its own and other lines.

The indictment charged, he said, that the Chappelle shipments were carried by the Alton road over its own line, whereas the evidence showed that they had been carried over its own and other lines.

Judge Anderson, in the first ruling of the retrial, ordered that a new venire be drawn when the Standard Oil counsel raised objection to the first panel because only three Chicagoans were among the 150 summoned. He then ruled that the government in presenting its case should confine itself to only thirty-six offenses, thus making the highest possible fine against the oil company, should it be found guilty on every count, but $720,000, while Judge Landis assessed the company a $29,240,000 fine.

SLAYER OF HIS SWEETHEART.

Guy Rasor Faces from One to Twenty Years in Prison for Killing Girl.

After deliberating all night and receiving additional instructions three times, the jury in the trial of Guy Rasor, charged with the murder of Miss Orie Lee, returned a verdict of manslaughter in Medina, Ohio. This carries a penalty of from one to twenty years' imprisonment.

Orie Lee was employed in a match factory in Wadsworth. Her home was at Custard Hook, near Wadsworth, where she was raised by her grandparents. The home of Rasor was nearby. They were friends from childhood. They became sweethearts and were engaged to be married. The wedding was postponed several times. Miss Lee's body was found along the country road leading from Wadsworth to her home. The girl apparently had been shot while riding in a buggy.

The State produced evidence tending to show that the wheel tracks of the buggy and the hoof prints of the horse tallied with peculiarities of the buggy and animal usually driven by Rasor. Rasor claimed an alibi. The trial lasted two weeks.

Mine Boss Shoots Union Official.

Patrick Smith, superintendent of the Belmont Coal Company at Glencoe, Ohio, shot and fatally wounded Noble Ault, an official of the United Mine Workers of America. The shooting occurred in Smith's home, but the cause has not been ascertained. Smith fled, and a posse headed by Sheriff Amrine of Belmont County is in pursuit.

INDIANA INCIDENTS

Record of Events of the Past Week

FOUR CITIES MAY JOIN.

Business Men of Calumet River Valley Launch Movement.

At a mass meeting held in Hammond preliminary steps were taken by manufacturers, business men and municipal officers to unite the cities of Hammond, Whiting, Indiana Harbor and East Chicago into one municipality under the suggested name of Calumet. The amalgamation would also include a dozen lesser places, embracing in all a total population of 75,000, making it the second city in the State of Indiana. Officers of the four cities point out the lessened cost of government in having but one Mayor and City Council as well as the economy in civic administration. The cities named touch each others' boundaries now. Gary would be welcomed into the municipality, but it prefers to be independent. The cities of Hammond, East Chicago, Indiana Harbor and Whiting border on Lake Michigan, and the desire for a government harbor for which each city has been fighting individually for years is the means of bringing them all together with the hope that a canal connecting them with the Chicago Sag can thus be obtained.

INDIANA LIGHT PLANTS UNITE.

Gas and Electric Companies Joined in $10,000,000 Corporation.

Through papers filed in the office of the Laporte County Recorder an amalgamation and consolidation of the various gas and electric plants in Northern Indiana owned or controlled by Clarece H. Geist of Chicago and Philadelphia was perfected under the name of the Northern Indiana Gas and Electric Company, with capital stock of $10,000,000. Frank J. Canail has been elected President and Rollo M. Cole, Secretary. The new corporation absorbs the gas and electric plants at Michigan City, Hammond, Valparaiso, Indiana Harbor and East Chicago.

SUES ROAD FOR $68 HENS.

Value of Egg-Laying Ability Is Issue in Action Against Railway.

The value of a hen's egg-laying ability is the novel feature introduced in a damage suit against the Chicago, Indianapolis and Louisville Railway Company in the Lake Superior Court in Hammond. Richard Fuller, a farmer, complains that owing to the high embankments on the railroad the Kankakee River was forced out of its banks and swept away his hen house, containing fourteen hens. Assuming that each hen would lay an egg a day for six months, Fuller figures the output for the life of the hen at $68 and brought suit for that amount.

DEATH NOOSE OF GRAPEVINE.

George Cooper's Body Found Hanging to Tree in Woods

With a noose made of grape vines, fastened around his neck, George Cooper, of Elizabeth, was found hanging in the woods near his home. He had been acting strangely for several months, giving evidence of mental unbalance, and steps had been taken for his confinement in the Hospital for the Insane at Evansville. Cooper was 39 years old and leaves a family.

SEARCH FOR MISSING PASTOR.

Friends of Preacher Fear Mishap Has Occurred.

The friends of Rev. A. C. Rand, who disappeared from his home in Warsaw several days ago, are advancing the theory that he has met with foul play. The minister was traced as far as Wabash. Nothing has been heard from him and all efforts to locate him are unavailing. His wife is much alarmed and has caused a search to be made in all surrounding cities.

BORE 2,000 FEET FOR OIL.

Sand Pierced in Knox County, but Flow Not Tapped.

Local oil men report that the drill in the well in Knox County has passed through forty feet of oil sand, but no oil has been found. The well will be continued to a depth of 2,000 feet, unless oil is found in paying quantities at a lesser depth. Several oil men are looking after leases on the Illinois side of the river.

Married Eight Times.

William Crane, of Greenfield, who was married recently at Muncie to Mrs. Elisabeth Fowler, is 83 years old, and has been married eight times. Six of his marriages were dissolved by divorce and all of his former wives are living except one.

Three More Counties Go "Dry."

In three more counties of Indiana the voters have expressed by large majorities their disapproval of licensed saloons, and as a result fifty-three of these places will be closed in Hendricks, Fountain and Fayette Counties.

AMONG OUR NEIGHBORS.

Joseph Raczynski died in South Bend at the age of 106 years. He was born June 14, 1806, at Plock, Poland, coming to the United States when 18 years of age.

On a charge of eloping and deserting their families, George A. Fetrow and Mrs. Orin Griffin were arrested at Logansport. The two families were neighbors and close friends. Fetrow is a farmer and Mrs. Griffin is a schoolteacher.

Edgar Klenk, the 21-year-old son of Charles Klenk, committed suicide at his home in Connersville, by taking two ounces of carbolic acid. No cause is known for the act. The young man was as cheerful as usual all the previous day, and went to his room early. A few minutes later the family heard him moaning and went to him, but it was too late.

MARCH

0535

L 903

The St. Joe News.

One Year - - $1.00
Six Month - - 50c
Three Months - - 25c

FRED B LEIGHTY
PU LISHER.

Entered at the Post Office in St. Joe as second-class mail matter.

Breeds and Types of Farm Animals

Holstein-Friesian cattle have become widely known among dairymen because of their extreme profit making capacity and are widely spread over Continental Europe. They are supposed to have originated in Holland, where they have been bred for at least 2,000 years as dairy cattle.

The most lowlands of Holland produce abundant feed, and the inherited skill of the Hollander coming through many generations of people who have devoted themselves entirely to the care of cows, with a process of selection of the superior cattle, aided by Government regulation as to breeding, have produced the most wonderful and useful breed of the world.

The cattle breeders of other countries have recognized this, and have used the Holland cows in building up such well-known races as the Ayrshire and Shorthorn, while Continental Europe, from the Arctic Circle down, possesses offshoots of the Holland breed, all of which, under various names, are uniformly animals of a strong and vigorous character, yielding largely of milk and fattening into profitable and excellent meat.

At several of the State experiment stations in this country much careful work has been done to ascertain the qualities of the Holstein cow, and the results have demonstrated beyond question the large and profitable yield of the Holstein as a dairy cow.

The size of the breed is large. The cows, properly reared, weigh at maturity well toward 1,400 pounds, and average from 8,000 to 12,500 pounds of milk, and 300 to 550 pounds of butter per year. Bulletin No. 75 of the Bureau of Animal Industry reports under title of Comparative Yields of Butter Fat, an average yield of 1.60 pounds of fat per day for Holstein cows, as against 1.36 pounds for Jerseys, and 1.42 pounds for Guernseys and Ayrshires. These figures are from American and European analyses. From a summary of American analyses the Holstein shows 1.61 pounds, against 1.26 pounds for the Jersey, 1.41 pounds for the Guernsey and 1.07 pounds for the Ayrshire. The daily milk yield is given as 48.9 pounds for the Holstein, 24.5 pounds for the Jersey, 28.9 pounds for the Guernsey and 27.7 pounds for the Ayrshire.

One cow of the breed, Pietertje 2d, yielded 30,318 pounds of milk in one year; Princess of Wayne yielded 29,508 pounds; Clothilde, 26,021 pounds; Echo, 23,775 pounds.

The quality of the milk, as related to butter fat, shows an average of about 3½ per cent fat. The other solids are about 9 per cent, and are uniformly present to this extent, making a milk exceedingly desirable for liquid consumption or for butter or cheese production. It is a milk which does not readily separate its fat as does that of breeds whose milk characteristically shows large fat globules, and it is, therefore, the best possible milk for shipping purposes.

The greatest yields of butter per cow have been made in this country and from Holstein cows. The recently completed semi-official test by representatives of the Wisconsin Experiment Station for one year of the Holstein cow, Colantha 4's Johanna, is the world's record for all breeds and shows a yield in twelve consecutive months of 998.26 pounds fat, from 29,432 pounds of milk; average per cent of fat in milk 3.42. This is equivalent to 1,247.82 pounds of butter on 80 per cent basis, or 1-14 less at 85.7 per cent.

The world's largest record previous to this was that of the Holstein cow, Pauline Paul, reaching 1,153 pounds 15 ounces, and this was a perfectly authenticated record.

Of the 1,994 Holstein cows tested by State experiment stations during the year ending May 15, 1908, the average seven day yield was 13 61 pounds of fat from 393 pounds of milk, showing a fat percentage of 3.46.

Holstein cattle are by no means dainty in their choice of food from calfhood up. They freely consume all sorts of roughage. They possess vigorous constitutions and are hardy under all conditions of climate; free from disease, and breed with great regularity, producing very large and strong calves, which are raised without difficulty.

Holsteins excel for all dairy purposes. No breed equals them in the production of veal. The calves are large at birth and fatten with great rapidity. They are valuable for beef production, and they fatten very rapidly when not in milk. The conditions under which the breed has been developed for thousands of years are conducive to this remarkable combination of utilities.

Large size is a predominant characteristic of the Holstein. The peculiar vitalizing properties existing in Holstein milk have become widely recognized by physicians and scientists, as well as breeders. Public institutions, hospitals for the insane, etc., using large quantities of Holstein milk among their patients, finds certain peculiar beneficial results not noticeable from other milks.

The nearness in composition to the human mother's milk has led generally to the use of Holstein milk for infants, and the supplying of pure Holstein milk for this purpose has become a distinct feature of the city milk trade.

Avoid Trouble

Women, when threatened with a mishap, should take Cardui and prevent the trouble from occurring.

In your delicate condition it will save you much pain and misery. Thousands have tried Cardui before confinement and have found it of wonderful benefit.

Take CARDUI

Mrs. Fannie Nichols, of Mexico, Mo., writes: "Last year I was threatened with a mishap and Wine of Cardui helped me more than any other medicine. Now I have a fine healthy boy. I think Cardui the finest medicine I know of for female troubles, and I wish all suffering women would try it."

Get Cardui.

Sold everywhere.

E 41

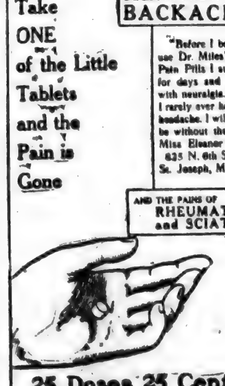
Neuralgia

HEADACHE
BACKACHE

Take ONE of the Little Tablets and the Pain is Gone

"Before I began to use Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills I suffered for days and weeks with neuralgia. Now I rarely ever have the headache. I will never be without them." Miss Eleanor Wade, 625 N. 6th Street, St. Joseph, Missouri

AND THE PAINS OF RHEUMATISM and SCIATICA



25 Doses 25 Cents

Your Druggist sells Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills and he is authorized to return the price of the first package (only) if it fails to benefit you.

Tares.

The Sunday school teacher had recited the Parable of the Sower, and then asked:

"Now can any member of the class make up a sentence containing the word 'tares'?"

After patient effort little Albert held up his hand and said:

"They was some children what slid down the plank with splinters in it and some of them brought forth ripe and some of them brought forth tares."

It Saved His Leg.

"All thought I'd lose my leg," writes J. A. Swenson, Watertown, Wis., "Ten years of eczema, that 15 doctors could not cure, had at last laid me up. Then Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured it sound and well." Infallible for Skin Eruptions, Eczema, Salt Rheum, Boils, Fever Sores, Burns, Scalds, Cuts and Piles. 25c at H. Milliman's.

Nothing for the Murphys.

The postmaster has troubles of his own. A freckled girl stopped at the postoffice and yelled out:

"Anything for the Murphys?"

"No, there is none."

"Anything for Jane Murphy?"

Nothing."

"Anything for Anna Murphy?"

"No."

"Anything for Bob Murphy?"

"No, not a bit."

"Anything for Terry Murphy?"

"No, nor for Pat Murphy, nor Pete Murphy, nor Paul Murphy, nor for any Murphy—dead, living, unborn, native or foreign, civilized or uncivilized, savage or barbarous, male or female, black or white, franchised or defranchised naturalized or otherwise. No, there is positively nothing for the Murphys, either individually, jointly, severally, now and forever, one and inseparable."

The girl looked at the postmaster in astonishment and said: "Please to look if there is anything for Clarence Murphy."

Reports to Council

At the meeting of the city council of Garrett on Tuesday night of last week Ed. Poulson, the expert who was employed by the city to audit the city books, made his report. While the report showed that in some instances the business accounts had been carelessly kept, it pointed to no acts of criminality or dishonesty on the part of the officials. The total indebtedness of the city he found to be $43,135.47. In speaking of the city water and light plant he said: "I believe it could be made to pay a good portion of this indebtedness if it was managed on strick business principles."

Napoleon Before the Convention.

When Barras introduced Napoleon to the convention as a fit man to be intrusted with the command the president asked:

"Are you willing to undertake the defense of the convention?"

"Yes," was the reply. After a time the president continued:

"Are you aware of the magnitude of the undertaking?"

"Perfectly," replied Napoleon, fixing his eyes upon his questioner, "and I am in the habit of accomplishing that which I undertake."

Engine Hit Street Car

The South Wayne street car was bumped from the track, Thursday morning at the Pennsylvania tracks at Fort Wayne, and three persons were seriously injured. It has been the talk for years for street elevation and it has been fought hard. Every accident that occurrs here makes the public more enthused over track elevation and no doubt it will come about. As soon as this is done the danger at such places will be eliminated. The cause of the wreck was that the engineer failed to see the street car and went ahead thinking that Watchman Henly intended to lower the gates. The watchman had given the street car the right of way.

There are more McCall Patterns sold in the United States than of any other make of patterns. This is on account of their style, accuracy and simplicity.

McCall's Magazine (The Queen of Fashion) has more subscribers than any other Ladies' Magazine. One year's subscription (to numbers) costs 50 cents. Latest number, 5 cents. Every subscriber gets a McCall Pattern Free. Subscribe today.

Lady Agents Wanted. Handsome premiums (liberal cash commission). Pattern Catalogue (of over 1000 cuts) and Premium Catalogue (showing 400 premiums) sent free. Address THE McCALL CO., New York.

The Poultry Yard.

Kerosene is our standard remedy for mites.

When lice come into the hen house profit goes out.

Have your incubator stand level. Then it will heat evenly.

Keep the temperature of the egg chamber at 103 degrees until the chicks begin to hatch, then run up to 105 degrees.

It costs more to keep a poor hen than it does a good one. More worry, more vexation, more dissatisfaction.

About the first thing you had better do when there is anything the matter with your hens is to look for lice.

Apply kerosene to the roosts with a cloth or swab every two weeks during warm weather to kill the red spider lice.

Respect the hen. She may cackle foolishly sometimes, but she adds much to the comfort and prosperity of the farm home.

Keep the poultry house clean and neat and your efforts will be amply rewarded by the egg basket and kind words from your friends.

Test the eggs on the seventh day, and remove the infertiles, also those containing dead germs. Test again on the fourteenth day and remove all but those holding live chicks.

After the chicks are three weeks old, there is very little danger of overfeeding. Then, if other conditions are right, the more they eat of a variety of feed, the faster they grow.

Next to pure air, water is the cheapest thing we can supply our poultry. Do not forget that it must be given in order to get eggs. Reduce the quantity and the egg yield will go with it.

Kills Would-e Slayer.

A merciless murderer is Appendicitis with many victims. But Dr. King's New Life Pills kill it by prevention. They gently stimulate stomach, liver and bowels, preventing that clogging that invites appendicitis, curing Constipation, Biliousness, Chills, Malaria, Headache and Indigestion. 25c at H. Milliman's.

United in Marriage

Thursday evening, March 4, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Headley occured the marriage of their daughter Grace, to Mr. Jesse Benner of Peru, Ind. Elder Fred Thomas performing the ceremony. Only a few relatives and friends were present to witness the happy occasion. After congratulations were extended they were seated to a bountiful supper, immediately after supper Mr. and Mrs. Henner lett for Peru where they will reside at present. The presents were numerous and such as the happy couple can find use for in starting on life's voyage together. May love's bright star never grow dim but shine brighter and brighter, as they travel on together toward their setting sun.

The Talking Postal Card

The talking postal card is the invention of a French engineer and has become so popular in that country that the American rights have been secured and the device will be placed in the cities of the United States. The person wishing to send a talking postal card to a friend enters a booth and talks into a machine that records the words on the specially prepared card. When the recipient receives the card 100 or 1,000 miles away, he, or perhaps she, takes it to the nearest postal booth and inserts it in a machine which talks the message it contains. The record on the card is indestructible and the exact voice of the sender is heard.

A WHOLE YEAR FOR $1.00

That's what you can do for some friend—send him THE ST. JOE NEWS fifty-two times for only a dollar.

Better than a letter, because it gives ALL the home news each week; there is positively no token you could offer which would make a home so happy in your remembrance as this newspaper mailed to some distant relative or friend.

We are making it just as good as it possibly can be done for $1.00. In fact, lots of publishers have raised to $1.50 on not so creditable a paper as this—and we tell you frankly that when you plank down your dollar on our table for a friend, you'll get your money's worth. This is a good copy to start with. We'll save an extra one until Monday. Yes?

FRED B. LEIGHTY
PUBLISHER.

I Have AddeD

to my stock of Hardware a small stock of Furniture Iron Beds, Husk and Cotton Felt Mattresses, Bed springs, Chairs Tables, Etc.

HARDWARE

My stock of Hardware is complete. I have the largest assortment of Reeds Flintstone ware ever seen in

ST. JOE

Look at the label, it it is Reeds Flintstone ware, it is warranted. Everybody is learning the quality of Keen Kutter tools, Pocket Knives, Razors, Chisels, Hatchets, Hammers Cross cut and Hand Saws, all kept in stock.

Goods are right, Prices are right.

D. J. Baker.

PHOTOGRAPHS.

We make them

AT THE

Tustison Studio.

Fine Portraits on Postals - - $1.00 per doz.

Call and get prices on
FAMILY GROUPES.

WHEN DEATH COMES

Friends and loved ones desire that the last services be conducted in the best way possible. The embalming and funeral need careful attention. Elza Kinsey, a licensed embalmer, takes charge of all funerals. Satisfaction guaranteed. Calls answered day or night

H. V. Kinsey & Son,

Phone No. Office 37-2. Residence 37-

Editorially.

The big smile looked a bit wilted at the end of nine second day after the Inauguration when its wearer had shaken hands with seven thousand people.

The oft mooted question, "Does a College Education pay", seems to have been answered at last. Every member of the Taft Cabinet is a College or University graduate and Mr. Taft himself, as everyone knows is a Yale Alumnus.

The New York police are in despair over the fact that the laws do not prevent the speeding violations. Perhaps if the automobiles were confiscated for varying lengths of time according to the rate of the speeding or the number of offenses there would be an improvement in the observance of the laws regarding their driving.

President Taft's cabinet is strong on law and it is suspected that he knows some law himself. It is said the new President will make his own policies and that his cabinet will act as general general counsel to the administration. It is believed that it will be in a way quite as much a one-man affair as was that of the last President, but on a different plan. The President knows what he wants to do. He has some very clear ideas as stated in his inaugural address and the eminent legal lights with which he has surrounded himself insures as good advice as the country can afford about the constitutional and legal quessions that are continually arising.

Professor Starr of Chicago says the President runs a great risk in going to Africa. Well, that's what he is going for.

It was freely said seven years ago that it would be a cold day when Roosevelt voluntarily gave up public office. And it was!

Mr. Roosevelt eulogises Mr. Taft as a man who "avoids giving needless offense." If this be true it is at once apparant that Mr. Taft has not adopted all of Mr. Roosevelt's policies.

If the National Congress is able to back its resolve by deed, the inauguration day will be changed from furious and fickle fourth of March to the more placid weather of the last week of April. It is calculated that there have been over a hundred and that there will be a thousand deaths from pneumonia caused by exposure to the blizzard on the day of President Taft's inauguration.

J. H. Lake M. D.

has permanently located, in the O. H. Widney property on 4th street, opposite opera house and invites you to call on him.

Calls answered day or night.

BELL PHONE NO. 42.

St. Joe, . Indiana.

MARCH

0536

L 903

SPENCERVILLE NEWS.

A Department of the ST. JOE NEWS for the Spencerville People.

Undertaking and Embalming.

Two Funeral Cars. One in White and the other in Black. We also furnish one elegant cab for Pall Bearers or friends. Prices reasonable

Beams & Baker.

Local Briefs

Mrs. James Oberholtzer and son of Harlan, visited Mrs. Maria Oberholtzer last Tuesday.

A party of ladies from this place, attended the Country Fair at St. Joe last Friday night and they report a fine time. The party was composed of the Mesdames, W. G. Erick, George Henderson, J. M. Beams, B. O. Shook, Ramond Rhoads, F. R. Bowman, C. F. Heyman, Edward Beams, Emma Allen and Cora B. Hart.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills relieve pain.

Harry Hursh was at Hicksville Saturday.

L. W. Steward was at Toledo Friday and Saturday on business.

The infant child of Mrs. Sam Smith was buried Saturday forenoon.

Mrs. Annis Butler intends to open a Summer Primary School the twelvth of April.

Mrs. Porter Baker returned Wednesday from a visit at Wabash, with her daughter.

Mrs. Magdalene Henderson of Robison Chapel, visited Thursday and Friday here.

Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Berry of Jackson township took dinner with Mrs. Sam Steward, Friday.

File a Mortgage Exemption and pay less tax. Now is the time. See S. S. WIDNEY.

Jennie, Arminta and Pete Steward and Jane Butler, took dinner with Loyde Wade and wife, Sunday.

J. M. Beams is at Wabash this week attending a horse sale. He took his black horse with him and will return home Thursday.

Golden Murray has returned to her home from Hicksville where she has been taking treatment for some time. She is somewhat improved in health.

Dr. Rowand delivered the last number on the lecture course, last Thursday evening. The crowd was not very large, but the lecture was well appreciated.

The Lutheran Sunday School will give an Easter entertainment.

Mr. Engle of Pleasant Lake made a business call on L. W. Steward.

Miss Ethel Metcalf went to Ridgeville the first of the week to visit her sister.

Rink Saturday night. At St. Joe. Come,

The funeral of Mrs. Charles Watson, Friday, was largely attended. Her obituary appears on the front page of The News.

Charlie Rhoads now has his house located on the St. Joe and Spencerville road just north of Spencerville. Frank Hart is doing the work.

Our light is the Bystrom

I am exclusive agent for Dekalb and Allen County. We have them for the country home and business rooms. You can teli them any where by the soft white light they give.

GEORGE MILLIMAN.
AGENT.

Spencerville R F D No 2

A. F. Heyman went to Marion, Sunday evening, on business.

Lorenzo Spitler made a business trip to Hicksville, one day last week.

Mrs. Alice Zimmerman and daughter Bina, spent Wednesday in Butler.

Clint Wearley and Bert Fisher made a business trip to Woodburn, Friday.

Fern, Zenith and Samuel Wearley spent Sunday at the home of Greely Wearleys'.

Miss Inez Rhoads spent last week with her brother Frank and wife, near Concord.

The Messers. Vernie and Corma Kelley and Melvin Miller went to Ft. Wayne. last Saturday.

Mrs. Blanch Collins and Mrs. Ida Bold from Mooresville, spent last week with Wm. Davis'.

The Messers. Dayton Webb, Charley Markle, John Dove and John and Melvin Miller spent Sunday with D. M. Kelley and family.

Mr. John Mills and Mrs. Ida Fitzcharles from Waterville, Kan., came last Tuesday to visit with Wm. Davis' and left Saturday for Huntington accompanied by Mrs. Davis.

D. M. Kelley, wife and daughter Nellie, went to Hicksville, Wednesday evening and stayed over night and helped Mrs. Kelley's sister, Mrs. John Stafford and family, move near Scio.

Are you coming in?

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills relieve Headaches, Neuralgia and all Pain.

The Mason's entertained their families at lodge last night and a royal good time was had.

Tan Eyck Green House, cut flowers and floral emblems. Both phones. Auburn.

A letter was received from Mr. Paffs' at California, last week, saying they had moved into their new home, also saying they were much improved in health, but they were getting a little homesick. The weather there is fine now and they are using their own garden products.

A special program was given at the Lutheran C. E. last Sunday evening. Three of the numbers given were, "The National Liquor Laws and Movement" by Mr. Wal Fisher, the State, by Harry Hursh and Miss Josephine Carnes, Community, all of which were very highly appreciated. Special music was rendered and the attendance was large.

WABASH CORNERS.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills relieve pain.

Winfield Pervines has a new horse.

Frank Pervines has a new team of horses.

Miss Inez Patterson is working for Mrs. Warner of St. Joe.

Mrs. Anna Rickett spent Thursday afternoon in Ft. Wayne.

Roy White and family were Sunday guests at J. B. Whites' in St. Joe.

Mrs. D. D Burley was the guest of Mrs. Orange Herrick, Wednesday afternoon.

Benj. Hamilton and daughter Mae, called on O. K. Shull and family, Sunday forenoon.

Mrs. Mary Oden of Butler, is spending a few days at this place, visiting old neighbors.

Some from this place attended the funeral of Mrs. Matilda Widney at St. Joe, Friday.

Mrs. Wm. Pervines spent part of last week in Garrett, the guest of Perry Stafford and children.

Mrs. Mary Oden of Butler, and Mrs. Ella Gill of St. Joe, spent Saturday afternoon with the correspondent.

Little Catherine Shull was the guest of her grandparents, Benj. Hamilton and wife of Coburntown, last week.

J. B. White and wife and Ella Gill of St. Joe, and Sherman Wolff and wife ate dinner with Roy White and family on Tuesday of last week.

Near Death in ig Pond.

It was a thrilling experience to Mrs. Ida Soper to face death. "For years a severe lung trouble gavt me intense suffering," she writes, "and several times nearly caused my death. All remedies failed and doctors said I was incurable. Then Dr King's New Discovery brought quick relief and a cure so permanent that I have not been troubled in twelve years." Mrs. Soper lives in Big Pend, Pa. It works wonders in Coughs and Colds, Sore Lungs, Hemorrhages, La-Grippe, Asthma, Croup, Whooping Cough and all Bronchial affections- 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by H. Milliman.

W. M. ALLEN

Barber.

The barber trade is like all public business, satisfaction must be given and that is what we are doing. We are now in a position to furnish you with the best brands of cigars and solicit your patronage. In addition to this we are handling the World's Famous

Edison Phonograph.

JUSTICE

of the Peace
work given special attention. Try us once.

Couldn't Help It.

Mr. Stutterer—I al-al-always s-s-stick to my word.
Miss Cutter—I see you do.

Looking Forward.

"My son," said the conservative citizen, "I trust you will lead a correct existence and make it a point to keep out of all trouble with the police."

"I don't know about that," replied the truthful young man. "I expect to own an automobile some day."—Washington Star.

Scalloped Potatoes.

Peel and slice a dozen potatoes. Mince two onions, mix well, place in baking dish, sprinkle crumbs on top and bits of butter, salt and a little pepper. Pour on enough water to show around the edge of the dish. Bake one hour.

J D Fetters

TRUSTEE
of Concord Township.

OFFICE DAY:
THURSDAY OF EACH WEEK
at his farm residence One mile
EAST OF CONCORD.

Electric Bitters

Succeed when everything else fails. In nervous prostration and female weaknesses they are the supreme remedy, as thousands have testified.

FOR KIDNEY, LIVER AND STOMACH TROUBLE

it is the best medicine ever sold over a druggist's counter.

INCUBATORS.

We have an incubator made of fiber.

No wood to crack or dry out.

The only perfect regulator made.

The regulator on this machine regulates the flame by simply turning the flame higher or lower just as it is needed. All done by an automatic self regulator.

No staying up at night or home on Sunday's to operate this machine.

ONE SIZE ONLY—140 EGG

All Copper Boilers
Hot Water Machines

PRICE $10.50

Delivered to Your Residence

BROODERS $5.50.

Call and see them at our store

BOWSER & GLOYD,

Phone No. 44. Spencerville.

S. S. Kimes

—M. D.—

Having located in the Markle building, is now ready to answer all calls, day or night. He invites you to call at the office and is ready to extend you every courtesy in keeping with the profession.

Phone No. 10.
Spencerville, Ind.

For Ladies.

We call your attention to our extra fine line of the famous

J. C. C. Corsets

A good line to select from and prices ranging from

50 Cents to $1.00

Beams & Co.

Spring Shoes

The latest styles will be found at our store in Patent and Tan Oxfords for Men or Women, and in fact for the children or anyone else. A full line of shoes.

We want your produce.

Local News Items.

Dr. Miles Anti-Pain Pills—Not only stop the pain, but do it quickly.

The last quarterly meeting of the M. E. church will be held on Saturday afternoon. Within two weeks Rev. Sweeney will leave for conference.

The J. A. G. club met at the home of Audrey Wade, last Saturday afternoon. The time was spent in sewing after which a fine lunch was served.

Keep on Thinking.

We don't want to hurry you. But you will save by trading at

BOWMAN'S

DRUG STORE.

Always has a full line of Drugs and Sundries.

Mrs. Chas. McCrory of Jasper, Mich. was the guest of relatives in town, Saturday. She is also a visitor in the home of Jack Moodys'.

WANTED—SUCCESS MAGAZINE requires the services of a man in St. Joe to look after expiring subscriptions and to secure new business by means of special methods unusually effective: position permanent; prefer one with experience, but would consider any applicant with good natural qualifications; salary $1.50 per day, with commission option. Address, with references, R. C. Peacock, Room 102, Success Magazine Bldg., New York.

WANTED!

50 Subscribers.

Vina Quance was at Auburn over Sunday the guest of her parents.

Money to loan on farms at five per cent interest on ten years time, if desired, easy payments.

DeKalb Mortgage Loan Co.,
Auburn, Ind.

We call the attention of our school teachers to the fact that it will soon be time to think of getting school souvenirs or cards for the last day of school. The News will be glad to give you any information desired on the subject. We have some fine ones too. Don't delay until too late.

PATENTS

PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo. for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc. IN ALL COUNTRIES. Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent. Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively. Write or come to us at 625 Ninth Street, opp. United States Patent Office, WASHINGTON, D. C.

CA·SNOW & Co.

THE NEWS
6 Months for only 50 cents

MARCH

0537

L 903

RHEUMATISM

I want every chronic rheumatic to throw away all medicines, all liniments, all plasters, and give MUNYON'S RHEUMATISM REMEDY a trial. No matter what your doctor may say, no matter what your friends may say, no matter how prejudiced you may be against all advertised remedies, go at once to your druggist and get a bottle of the RHEUMATISM REMEDY. If it fails to give satisfaction, I will refund your money.—Munyon

Remember this remedy contains no salicylic acid, no opium cocaine, morphine or other harmful drugs. It is put up under the guarantee of the Pure Food and Drug Act.

For sale by all druggists. Price, 25c.

FREE DOLLAR BOX WOMAN'S RELIEF ON TRIAL.

Kokomo, Ind.—I cannot speak too highly in favor of Woman's Relief, for it cured me of Female Weakness after suffering eight years. I feel so thankful for what Woman's Relief has done for me that I am doing all in my power to get my suffering friends to use the remedy. I had become almost an invalid, but after using your valuable remedies I can do all my housework and I feel like a new woman, and I know your remedies cannot be praised too highly.—Mrs. D. F. Smith.

Mrs. Dessie C. Ebersole, Dep't. G., Ft. Wayne, Ind., I enclose four cents postage for $1.00 box Woman's Relief on trial, and if it proves satisfactory I will send you $1.00, otherwise I will pay you nothing.

Name .....

Address .....

Charming Frankness.

"Myr[illegible]is your mother opposed to my coming [illegible]e you?"

No, [illegible]; since I told her there was no—er—likelihood of your ever proposing to me she has withdrawn her objections."—Chicago Tribune.

The Grip of Spring.

During the last twenty years many of our citizens have been attacked in the spring months by grip. Some have had serious or slight attacks every year or two. All know it to be a dangerous disease. If Lane's Pleasant Tablets (which are sold at 25 cents a box by druggists and dealers) are taken when the first symptoms are felt, there is hardly a chance of the malady getting a foothold. If you cannot get them near home, send 25 cents to Orator F. Woodward, Le Roy, N. Y. Sample free.

Hereafter all fish sold in Constantinople must be kept in shops paved with marble (which is cheap there), or with plaques of so-called Malta stone.

Only One "BROMO QUININE"

That is LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE. Look for the signature of E. W. GROVE. Used the World over to Cure a Cold in One Day. 25c.

DIGNITY OF OWNERSHIP.

The Feeling of Pride That Is Born of Paying Taxes.

"Many a time," said a policeman in the southern part of the city, "when arresting men, especially intoxicated men, I have been told by my prisoner that he was a taxpayer and that he helped pay my wages.

"I always regarded this sort of back talk as merely drunken insolence and never paid much attention to it until about a year ago, when I bought a house and lot and became myself a taxpayer. I had always rented before and never gave a thought to taxes, but as soon as I moved into my own house I began to appreciate the feelings of men who resented arrest because they paid taxes.

"There is certainly a considerable addition to the dignity of the man who helps support the government. He feels a degree of responsibility that a renter or roomer never understands, and my idea is that every man in the country ought to become a taxpayer as soon as he can. And the mere fact that he does help support the government and bears his share of the expense makes him a better citizen. Habitual criminals are rarely taxpayers. They know they may have to run any day and perhaps never come back, so they do not buy real estate, but are roomers and lodgers all their lives."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

DIDN'T REALIZE

How Injurious Coffee Really Was.

Many persons go on drinking coffee year after year without realizing that it is the cause of many obscure but persistent ailments.

The drug—caffeine—in coffee and tea is very like uric acid and is often the cause of rheumatic attacks which, when coffee is used habitually, become chronic.

A Washington lady said recently:

"I am sixty-five and have had a good deal of experience with coffee. I consider it very injurious and the cause of many diseases. I am sure it causes decay of teeth in children.

"When I drank coffee I had sick spells and still did not realize that coffee could be so harmful, till about a year ago I had rheumatism in my arms and fingers, got so nervous I could not sleep and was all run down.

"At last, after finding that medicines did me no good, I decided to quit coffee entirely and try Postum. After using it six months I fully recovered my health beyond all expectations, can sleep sound and my rheumatism is all gone." "There's a Reason."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read the famous little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true and full of human interest.

Smiles of The Day

Different Ivories.

"Let us go down and have a game of billiards," said the tall stranger in the hotel lobby.

"Excuse me, but I am a greenhorn at billiards," hastened the short one.

"Greenhorn? I am surprised, sir. Why you told me you were at home with the ivories."

"So I am, sir. I'm a dentist."

Nerve.

Heiress—The count states in his mad love letter that he will call and ends up by saying: "I beg to remain forever, Count Hickoff."

Irate Father—Remain forever? What does he think this is—a charity hotel?

How to Land Him in a Week.

Monday—Be pretty. Smile once.
Tuesday—Be prettier. Frown at him.
Wednesday—Be pensive. Sigh once.
Thursday—Confess your regard for him.
Friday—Laugh at him.
Saturday—Be "out."
Sunday—Name the day!—New York Herald.

Good Idea.

Hairless Henery—Can you suggest anything to nourish my hair?

Uncle—Develop your brains a bit and the roots will have something to feed on.—Judge.

His Point of View.

She—Are you lucky in love?

He—I should say I was! I have been refused five times in three years.

Every Time.

Gussie—To snuff a candle out is a sign of marriage.

Dora—Yes, and to turn down a lamp is a sign of courtship.

Unfair Treatment.

Visitor—My man, why are you here?

Number 13—I'm a shoemaker by trade. A guy brought me a pair of shoes to be heeled and I sold 'em.

Difference.

Jinks—He gave his first child a silver cup.

Blinks—He gave his last one a tin cup yesterday.

Wanted to Know.

The Professor—Yes, a caterpillar is the most voracious of living things. In a month it will eat about 600 times its own weight.

Absent-minded Parent—Whose boy did you say he was?

The Auto Elopement.

On sped the elopers in the big red machine. The farmhouses were few and far between.

"Ah," whispered the young man, joyously, "see those lights ahead? That is the 'Last Chance.'"

"The Last Chance," echoed the pretty girl. "What is it, George, a—a tavern?"

"No, a parsonage, the last on the road."

And ten minutes later a good man in embroidered slippers was reading the marriage service before a flickering lamp.

Live and Learn

Farmer Meddergrass—Waal, by clover! I knew them Chinese lived on t'other side o' th' airth, but hang me if I knew they hed a through route!

Couldn't Explain.

"What is a 'tempest in a teapot,' pa?"

"My child, you will have to ask your mother; I never attend afternoon teas."—New York Herald.

The Mean Thing.

"Clara told me that her new gown is going to be a dream."

"Very likely. That's all it will be—a dream. Her husband won't give her the money for it."

Down on the Whole Sex.

Wange—Do you think that light-haired women are apt to be bad tempered?

Bange—Yes, and black-haired, brown-haired and any other old color, natural or artificial.

Misfit Advice.

"Always climb up and never go down—that is the way to gain a crown and make your life work greater." Something like this the moralist said, the youth replied as he shook his head: "I run an elevator."—Emporia Gazette.

A Notable Exception.

Kwoter—It's a very true saying that "silence is golden" and——

Wise—Not always. In the case of a politician accused of crookedness it's usually merely guilt.—The Catholic Standard and Times.

All Gone.

"Since it went dry," announced the prominent citizen, with pride in his voice, "our town is unexcelled."

"How do you make that out?" asked the casual visitor, who had seen better towns.

"Because," replied the prominent citizen, "it is now a good town, bar none."—Baltimore American.

Diagnosis.

"Is that water you are using well water?"

"I s'pose not," answered Farmer Corntossel. "I don't see how it could be exactly well with all the germs the doctors say it has in it."—Washington Star.

Give Him the Boot.

Belle—He just won't propose.

Nelle—Give him the mitten.

Belle—What good is a mitten for cold feet?—Cleveland Leader.

Glasses and Glasses.

"I'm troubled a great deal with headaches in the morning," said Luschman. "Perhaps it's my eyes. Do you think I need stronger glasses?"

"No," replied Dr. Wise, meaningly, "what you need is not stronger glasses, but fewer."—Catholic Standard and Times.

He "Beat It."

"Where did you steal that mat from?" demanded the policeman as he seized the tramp.

"I didn't steal it," said the tramp "A lady up the street gave it to me and told me to beat it."—Judge.

Prevalent Type.

"What kind of people are they?"

"Well, when they are not playing bridge they are working a phonograph."—Life.

Back to the Farm.

"Well, Silas, what did you find new down to the city?"

"Why, somethin' wuth seein'. The hull place is full o' cabs with cash registers on 'em, an' red flags to show folks it's dangerous to dispute the fare. They call 'em taxidermy cabs, 'cause ef you don't mind, the drivers 'll jest take the skin off ye."—Life.

Possibly So.

Simpkins—That fellow Muggins beats the world on snoring—he runs the scale on every snore.

Tompkins—I suppose, then, on second thought, you might call his snoring sheet music.—Puck.

Not with the Power.

Johnnie (to new visitor)—So you are my grandma, are you?

Grandmother—Yes, Johnnie! I'm your grandma on your father's side.

Johnnie—Well, you're on the wrong side, you'll find that out!

His Kick.

"I do wish," said Mrs. Stiles, "that you'd try to keep yourself neater."

"But, my dear," protested her husband, "you're not so careful——"

"I'm not? I'm certainly more careful of my clothes than you——"

"That's just it. You should be more careful of me."—Catholic Standard and Times.

Over Their Heads.

Musician—At your afternoon concert would you like me to play some of Wagner's works?

Parvenu—Yes—but on the hurdy-gurdy, or my guests will not understand it.—Fliegende Blaetter.

A Sham.

"He puts his watch under his pillow every night."

"I notice he likes to sleep overtime."—Christian Advocate.

Prosperity.

"Old Cush landed in this country in his bare feet, ten years ago. Now he's got millions."

"You don't say! Why, he's got a centipede skinned to death, hasn't he?"—Cleveland Leader.

An Enemy of Hers.

Maud—Miss Passee looks quite well tonight, doesn't she?

Tom—Yes, like a Grecian goddess.

Maud—But not quite so old.

She Lost Out.

Mrs. B.—It doesn't always pay to husband one's resources.

Mrs. W.—Why not?

Mrs. B.—Well, I judge so from Mrs. Goodthing's experience. She let her husband have the $10,000 she inherited from her grandmother and he lost it all in speculation.

A Danger.

"Why don't you read up on scientific farming?"

"I started that once," answered Mr. Corntossel. "It didn't pay. I got so interested readin' that I forgot to go out and farm."—Washington Star.

They All Do.

"What kind of a lunch did she serve last night?"

"I thought it was all right, but she apologised for it just the same."—Detroit Free Press.

A Foregone Conclusion.

Elsie—And then, mind you, she asked me if I wouldn't marry the first man that came along.

Ethel—The idea! Don't these obviously unnecessary questions make you tired?

THE POPULAR PULPIT

DUTY AND DESIRE.

By Henry F. Cope.

"For we are his workmanship."—Eph. 2:10.

Almost all the lives that reach any measure of right self-consciousness regard themselves as in a constant struggle between the things they must do and the things they fain would do. Seldom indeed does it happen that one can find his living in the things he loves most of all; happy are those who may. The rest, however, are not necessarily justified in regarding their unwelcome work as the foe of their highest welfare.

It is true that many lives are illy adjusted. Poets are working in brickyards and plowmen are trying to make poems for a living. We owe it to life and to our world not less than to ourselves to discover our own aptitudes, to cultivate our best powers in the tasks for which we are best suited. We have no right to drift; we ought to summon every power we have in order to select a work that we can do and do well.

Even then, with each man at the task he could do best, we would still have the conflict between the things we must do and those we would do. Perhaps you have heard it said that in the good time coming every man will have to do only the things he would most like to do. None would for long be satisfied with that arrangement. Even the people who believe they were born to wear wings and play on harps would soon be sighing for less exalted duties.

It would be an easy matter to say to all who feel the rasp and grind of each day's dull tasks, who realize keenly the seeming conflict between the duties that necessity lays on us and the high bidding of our aspirations: Be content; life is short; heaven awaits you; time's disparities will be adjusted in eternity. That leads people to take time as a dose for the sake of eternal health hereafter.

None of the problems of living are solved by a mechanical content, by an assumed, apathetic indifference to the facts that fret us. An absolutely certain present will not be rightly lived until it is more than a probation for a problematic future. Folks will endure all kinds of discomfort and even wrong on the bleak threshold when they know the door to warmth and cheer will soon be opened.

The world needs those who are living a full life in the present, who are doing their share toward making conditions right here. Better the one who is wrong in his discontent than he who is content with wrong. If life seems wrong to you it is your duty to seek the way of righting it. It is better to make the mistake of thinking you must mold your times than to be but dull clay to be molded by your times.

How then can we learn to live our lives so that, with all this seeming conflict, they will be right? How can we reconcile all the opposing necessities and aspirations? May we find our way into the meaning of the necessity upon us to wear so much of ourselves away in the greedy wheels of the world's great machine?

After all, could we ever dream of the higher tasks but for the lower duties? Could we ever fit ourselves for any greater work but by the faithful doing of that which seems so little? Are we not learning the greater by means of the less? And, beside, can we be always quite sure which is the greater and which the less?

It may be that the plowman is really doing a finer work than the poet, for what is the real measure of all our work? Is the chief executive of a railroad system necessarily doing that which is more sublime than the work of some father who, for the love of little ones, bears the yoke of servitude? Neither the wage nor the work itself is the measure, but the worker.

Often the burdens that seem to threaten to break us are the ones that make us. The discipline of the dull task is the refining pot where the gold of life itself is produced. But for their grinding necessities lives would all be only dull pebbles; the jewels are discovered by the lapidary called sometimes duty and sometimes adversity.

Only as we see life in the light of these higher values does the necessity for the conflict between duty and desire appear and the meaning of the toil and hardship become evident. Because man belongs to a nobler order which is in the making he learns not simply to endure but to delight in the toils of the present, to fight circumstance, to show himself master of his fate, and to find the life that strikes its roots so deep into eternity that neither parching drought nor rising flood affect its prosperity.

QUIET RETREAT URGED.

By Rev. Ernst A. Tappert.

"Rest in the Lord and wait patiently for Him."—Psalms xxxvii: 7.

We are a hustling people. We are always in a hurry, for time is money and to make time is the earnest endeavor in all our activities. These conditions have brought our nation into a state of restlessness and inquietude which cannot be found so pronounced in any other nation.

Man was not built to endure such continuous strain, and the consequences of such unreasonable haste and excitement are manifest in breakdowns and nervous collapse. To counteract these evil effects of our business and social life, those who have the means will eventually go into a retreat, in the absolute quietude of which they will seek to regain their exhausted energies.

The annual exodus into the country is nothing else but such a going into a retreat. But what good is the most quiet spot to a man, who, like Thales of old, carries with him all his troubles, cares, anxieties, and whose restless spirit is to him a source of constant irritation and excitement?

King David in our Psalm tells us of a better retreat, saying: "Rest in the Lord and wait patiently for Him." Why was his soul so quiet and content? Because he had sought his soul's reconciliation with God and had found it. "The wicked," says Isaiah, "are like the troubled sea when it cannot rest." And St. Augustine, judging from his own painful experience, says: "The human soul is restless until it reposes in God."

If we faithfully seek and find this safe retreat in the grace of the reconciled God, then the cause of all our restlessness will be removed and it will be fulfilled what the Savior says: "Come unto me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest."

Has not God Himself recognized the necessity of such a retreat by setting aside one day out of seven to give time and occasion for seeking recreation for the body and rest for the soul? Has not the church recognized it by fixing the Lenten season, which is a retreat into the holiest of holies, full of rest and blessing to the soul? And does not the state recognize it by eagerly watching over a quiet Sunday as essential to the welfare of the people? Let us thank God that He has given us this retreat, in which even the poorest can partake. Let us rest in the Lord and wait patiently for Him.

SERMONETTES.

Many who think they mean right are right mean.

Petrified creeds always have the sharpest angles.

Calculated piety is the poorest kind of calculation.

Love's little deeds loom largest on the recording angel's books.

Hiding a tallow dip under a bushel does not make it an arc light.

The biggest deposits in heaven are made when nobody but God is looking.

Some climb into the church band wagon principally to escape the collection.

They who blind themselves to a wrong keep their eyes open to its revenues.

The ambition to cleanse the world seems to occur to a good many small scrubs.

It would be a good deal easier to love some saints if they would hurry to heaven.

It takes more than a mushy manner to make one a minister of the bread of life.

Many think they are fighting sin when they are having a good time stabbing sinners.

The life absolutely sincere to the best it knows is the best sermon any can preach.

He is a dangerous man who spends much time drawing fine lines between shrewdness and sin.

The man who is anxious to let you know that God is on his tongue usually has the devil in his heart.

The reason the bigot advertises his one idea so vigorously is that it is his whole stock in intellectual trade.

Your tracts to the Hottentots may count for little compared with your acts to your own washerwoman.

Elevation of the Race.

Fewer people can sit down comfortably to a sumptuous dinner knowing that just around the corner is want and hunger. Not only so, but it is beginning to be felt that it is ignoble to enjoy serenely the higher forms of pleasure, those of literature and music and art, while hundreds of one's fellow mortals suffer for the bare necessities of life.—Rev. Anna G. Spencer, Independent, Providence.

Ponce de Leons.

It is urged that the people crave religious teachings, and not sociology, as is evidnced by the inroads of Christian Science. The so-called inroads of Christian Science prove nothing more than that the race of Ponce de Leons has not perished from the earth. Man is mad in his pursuit of health and long life.—Rev. Stephen S. Wise, Hebrew, New York City.

Ensign of All Nations.

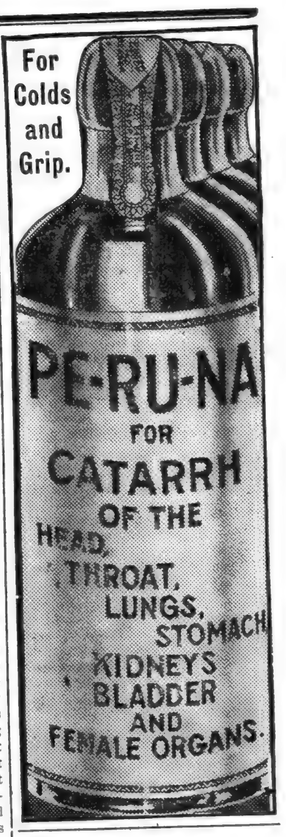
Christ cannot be thought of as belonging either to the Orient or the Occident—He is the ensign of all nations, and the African leaves his fetish, the Chinaman his idol, to turn to Him. All arts are inspired by the Christ thought and all minds attracted by it.—Rev. Bishop Galloway, Methodist, Savannah.

Get Right.

It is not that you must get right with God, but you must get right with yourself, and then of necessity you are right with God. If you are wrong with yourself you are wrong with all the world.—Rev. Algernon S. Crapsey, Rationalist, Rochester.

A Laggard.

The Explorer—Git on, you mutt! How'll I ever reach the pole at dis rate?



Paxtine

TOILET ANTISEPTIC

Keeps the breath, teeth, mouth and body antiseptically clean and free from unhealthy germ-life and disagreeable odors, which water, soap and tooth preparations alone cannot do. A germicidal, disinfecting and deodorizing toilet requisite of exceptional excellence and economy. Invaluable for inflamed eyes, throat and nasal and uterine catarrh. At drug and toilet stores, 50 cents, or by mail postpaid.

Large Trial Sample

WITH "HEALTH AND BEAUTY" BOOK SENT FREE

THE PAXTON TOILET CO., Boston, Mass.

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, TORPID LIVER. They regulate the Bowels. Purely Vegetable.

SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Genuine Must Bear Fac-Simile Signature

Brent Good

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.

TOWER'S FISH BRAND WATERPROOF OILED CLOTHING

will give you full value for every dollar spent and keep you dry in the wettest weather.

SUITS $3.00
SLICKERS $3.00
POMMEL SLICKERS $3.00

SOLD EVERYWHERE CATALOG FREE

A. J. TOWER CO. BOSTON, U.S.A.
TOWER CANADIAN CO. LIMITED TORONTO, CAN.

Stop

taking liquid physic or big or little pills, that which makes you worse instead of curing. Cathartics don't cure—they irritate and weaken the bowels. CASCARETS make the bowels strong, tone the muscles so they crawl and work—when they do this they are healthy, producing right results.

CASCARETS 10c a box for a week's treatment. All druggists. Biggest seller in the world. Million boxes a month.

SEED OATS 60 cts. a bu.

Per Sober's catalog page 120.

Largest growers of seed oats, wheat, barley, spelts, corn, potatoes, grasses and clovers and farm seeds in the world. Big catalog free; or, send 10c in stamps and receive sample of Billion Dollar Grass, yielding 10 tons of hay per acre, oats, spelts, barley, etc., easily worth $10.00 of any man's money to get a start with, and catalog free. Or, send 14c and we add a sample farm seed novelty never seen before by you. SALZER SEED CO., Box C La Crosse, Wis.

MICHIGAN FARM HOMES IMPROVED PLACES

Good Churches, Schools, Markets. Prices low. E. T. CURTIS, Reed City, Mich.

If afflicted with Sore Eyes, use THOMPSON'S EYE WATER

MARCH

0538

L 903

THE BEST REMEDY

For Women—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Noah, Ky. — "I was passing through the Change of Life and suffered from headaches, nervous prostration, and hemorrhages.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made me well and strong, so that I can do all my housework, and attend to the store and post-office, and I feel much younger than I really am.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the most successful remedy for all kinds of female troubles, and I feel that I can never praise it enough." — MRS. LIZZIE HOLLAND, Noah, Ky.

The Change of Life is the most critical period of a woman's existence, and neglect of health at this time invites disease and pain.

Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to medicine that will so successfully carry women through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs.

For 30 years it has been curing women from the worst forms of female ills — inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, and nervous prostration.

If you would like special advice about your case write a confidential letter to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

JUST DOUBLE

FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE — 320 ACRES Instead of 160 ACRES

As further inducement to settlement of the Wheat Raising lands of Western Canada, the Canadian Government has increased the area that may be taken by a homesteader to 320 acres —160 free and 160 to be purchased at $3.00 per acre.

These lands are in the grain-raising area, where mixed farming is also carried on with unqualified success.

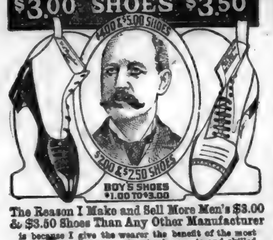
A railway will shortly be built to Hudson Bay, bringing the world's markets a thousand miles nearer these wheat fields, where schools and churches are convenient, climate excellent, railways close to all settlements and local markets good.

"It would take time to assimilate the revelations that a visit to the great empire lying to the North of us unfolded at every turn."—Correspondence of a National Editor, who visited Western Canada in August, 1908.

Lands may also be purchased from Railway and Land Companies at LOW PRICES AND ON EASY TERMS. For pamphlets, maps and information as to low Railway Rates apply to W. D. Scott, Superintendent of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or W. H. Rogers, 3d Floor Traction-Terminal Building, Indianapolis, Ind., and H. M. Williams, Room 20, Law Building, Toledo, Ohio, Authorized Government Agents.

Please say where you saw this advertisement.

W.L. DOUGLAS $3.00 SHOES $3.50



The Reason I Make and Sell More Men's $3.00 & $3.50 Shoes Than Any Other Manufacturer is because I give the wearer the benefit of the most complete organization of trained experts and skilled shoemakers in the country.

The selection of the leathers for each part of the shoe, and every detail of the making in every department, is looked after by the best shoemakers in the shoe industry.

If I could show you how carefully W. L. Douglas shoes are made, you would then understand why they hold their shape, fit better, and wear longer than any other make.

My Method of Tanning the Soles makes them More Flexible and Longer Wearing than any others.

Shoes for Every Member of the Family. Men, Boys, Women, Misses and Children.

For sale by shoe dealers everywhere.

CAUTION! None genuine without W. L. Douglas name and price stamped on bottom.

Fast Color Eyelets Used Exclusively. Catalog mailed free.

W. L. DOUGLAS, 147 Spark St., Brockton, Mass.

RATS AND MICE

EXTERMINATED BY

DANYSZ VIRUS

The wonderful, new bacteriological preparation, discovered and prepared by Dr. Jean Danysz, Director of the Laboratory of Agricultural Micro-Biology at the Pasteur Institute, Paris. NOT A POISON. HARMLESS TO HUMAN BEINGS, DOMESTIC AND OTHER ANIMALS, BIRDS, etc., yet fatal to rats and mice. The vermin always go outside to die. Easily prepared and applied. HOW MUCH TO USE. Small house one tube, ordinary dwelling three tubes (if rats are numerous not less than six tubes). One or two dozen tubes for stable with hay loft and yard attached. Similar quantity on each rat infested floor of warehouse or granary for each 5,000 square feet floor space. Towns or estates, 1 to 2 dozen per acre inhabited area; 3 to 6 tubes per acre for open field. Sold in glass tubes, full direction round each tube. 1 tube 15c; 3 tubes $1.75, or $5.00 per dozen, delivered.

Independent Chemical Company

95 OLD SLIP - - NEW YORK, N.Y.

PILES

PAY IF CURED

We pay postage and send FREE RED CROSS Pile and Fistula Cure.

REX CO., Dept. B5, Minneapolis, Minn.

FOR SALE—Michigan Farms; All sizes, Southern and Central Michigan. Write for list and terms. Eldo Murray & Co., Charlotte, Mich.

CUTICURA CURED HIM.

Eczema Came on Legs and Ankles —Canadian Chief of Police Could Not Wear Shoes Because of Bad Scaling and Itching.

"I have been successfully cured of dry eczema. I was inspecting the removal of noxious weeds from the edge of a river and was constantly in the dust from the weeds. At night I cleansed my limbs, but felt a prickly sensation. I paid no attention to it for two years, but I noticed a scum on my legs like fish scales. I did not attend to it until it came to be too itchy and sore and began getting two running sores. My ankles were all sore and scabby and I could not wear shoes. I had to use carpet and felt slippers for weeks. I got a cake of the Cuticura Soap and some Cuticura Ointment. In less than ten days I could put on my boots and in less than three weeks I was free from the confounded itching. Capt. George P. Bliss, Chief of Police, Morris, Manitoba, March 20, 1907, and Sept. 24, 1908."

Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props. of Cuticura Remedies, Boston.

WESTERN CANADA'S CROP YIELD FOR 1908 WAS SPLENDID.

Americans Profited Largely and Send Back Satisfactory Reports.

The census branch of the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, Canada, has completed its returns of the showing of Western Canada's grain yield for 1908, and the report makes very interesting reading. In the three provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, which comprise what may be known as Central Canada, there was a total wheat yield of about 107,000,000 bushels, worth to the farmers about $85,000,000; in addition to this the oat, barley and flax crops were worth another $35,000,000. Letters have recently been received from many of the settlers from the United States. From these, that of Rev. Oscar L. King has been selected. He lives in the vicinity of Edmonton, Alberta, and what he says will be of interest to those who contemplate moving to Central Canada. Every line of the letters is interesting. Those who wish for further particulars as to how to secure homesteads and pre-emptions, should write any Canadian Government agent. Mr. King says:

I am well satisfied with Alberta. This country offers excellent opportunities for anyone to make a good home for himself and family if he is willing to put up with a few hard knocks for the first two or three years. But it is worth a few hard knocks to get a 160-acre farm of rich productive land with no mortgage on it. This province is well fitted for grains, stock raising and dairying. We have found the climate generally healthful, more healthful than Michigan, and although the thermometer sometimes drops to 40 degrees below zero in winter, yet we do not seem to feel that temperature any more than we did 5 or 10 degrees below zero in Michigan. We like the winters.

The Government takes great interest in the education of the people and quickly aids the settlers in establishing schools where they are called for. The schools though graded differently than those in the States are efficient and advancing. Our great drawback has been the limited and inadequate railway facilities, but new roads are being rapidly built and many more are projected through various parts of the province. The new policy of the Alberta Government to construct a great many branch lines throughout the province will greatly help all parts of the country. If those new settlers who have to go back a considerable distance from existing railroads and towns to find free homesteads will but locate along the line of a projected railroad they will in two or three years be near both town and railroad. When I first came to this country three and a half years ago the homestead I took up was 75 miles from a railroad town, now there is a railroad 25 miles north, another 25 miles south and a third is being built through my neighborhood.

I think the prairie country or country that is partly prairie offers much better opportunities than the prairie portions.

A 250,000 Bushel Elevator.

The John A. Salzer Seed Co., Box C, La Crosse, Wis., by all odds the largest farm, grass, clover, potato and vegetable Seed Growers in America, if not the world, have just broken ground for a unique seed elevator with storage and cleaning capacity of more than a quarter of a million bushels.

This great firm is sending out Clover Seed testing 99.55 per cent pure, a record justly to be proud of.

If you haven't Salzer's Catalog, look up their advertisement and write for it to-day.

He Was.

"You're a traveling man, I presume, Mr. Wattles," ventured the new hotel clerk, with an affable smile.

"Yes, sir," said the big, bearded athlete who had just registered. "Do I look like a traveling woman?"

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children teething; softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25 cents a bottle.

PISO'S

A HEART-BREAKING COUGH

is dreadful to suffer and dangerous to bear. Why threaten the health of your lungs and the peace of your family when you can obtain immediate relief from Piso's Cure? Remarkable results follow the first dose. Taken regularly it soothes and heals the inflamed tissues, loosens the clogging phlegm and stops the cough. Pleasant to the taste and free from opiates. Children enjoy taking it. For throat and lung diseases, no matter how far advanced,

PISO'S CURE IS INCOMPARABLE

25 cts. 25 cts.

CURE

FACTS IN TABLOID FORM.

Sealing wax contains no wax.

A man can insure against loss in lotteries with a company at The Hague.

Senator Claude Hodspeth, of El Paso, Texas, will introduce a bill in the Texas Legislature imposing a fine upon bachelors.

Plates are to be substituted for collection bags at St. Mary's Church, Dover, mainly on the express ground that so many buttons have been found in the latter.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Miss Lyona Tollemache, who is to marry Capt. C. Stone at the Ham Parish Church, London, has the following sixteen Christian names: Lyona Decima Veronica Eayth Undine Cyssa Hylda Rowena Adela Thyra Ursula Ysabel Blanche Lilias Dysart Plantagenet.

Aboard the stage coach in the Virginia mountains the old man and the old woman were fellow-passengers. The old woman kept staring at him as if trying to remember. At last she said: "Stranger, 'pears to me I seen you somewhar." The old man eyed her reflectively and scratched his head. "Spec you have," said he, "Ah been thar."

England's House of Commons wants ventilation. Plenty of air is pumped into the chamber, and it comes through the gratings on the floor, but it comes from a spot just over the bank of the Thames River, with its ill-favored barges. And the other evening a member met a colleague with his handkerchief to his nose. "You never know what will pass inside," he spluttered, "but you always know what's passing outside."

When F. W. Albian, who owns a junkyard in Armourdale, leaves his place of business to go home at night he knows that everything will be as he left it when he returns in the morning. Albian has a large timber wolf for a watchdog. The wolf will allow no one to touch it except its master. "When I turn Jack loose in the junkyard at night I fear no intruders," Albian said. "I've had Jack ever since he was three weeks old. Yes, he could jump the fence, but he is perfectly tame and doesn't want to get away."—Kansas City Star.

"I have been ranching on an island for more than a quarter of a century," writes a correspondent of the Fur News. "There are no carnivorous wild animals on my island but the coyote wolf, and I could get rid of him in a very short time and at very little expense, but if I did the rabbit would soon put me out of business. I have experimented along these lines and know what I'm talking about, and I declare here and now that, in my opinion, the carnivorous wild animals of Texas save the farmers and stock raisers hundreds of millions of dollars by keeping the rabbits in check."

"Are women less honest than men?" This palpitating question has become one of the great subjects of discussion in Paris, thanks to a symposium in La Revue. There is not one dares openly to affirm that woman is dishonest. Anatole France, the master of contemporary French literature, questions whether man is so virtuous that he should desire to weigh himself in the balance against women. And he speaks of masculine arrogance and ferocity and brutality. And so woman—according to the judgment of Paris—is not more dishonest than man. Whence sprang that legend that she was?

The objection shown by the court at Pekin to accept the aid of European surgeons during the illness of China's late rulers does not seem to be shared by the people of Hanoi in Indo-China. Here it seems that the French have established with considerable success a school of medicine. There are ninety students enrolled, some studying the science from the human standpoint, some qualifying as veterinary surgeons, while a number of young women have entered as obstetric students. One lady who has qualified has been signally successful in charge of a hospital for the poor at Phuly. Eight out of ten of the students come from Cochin China.—London Globe.

According to the best general estimate there has been cut and utilized in a very wasteful manner about 35 per cent of our coniferous or pine forests. About 15 per cent more has been wasted, leaving about 50 per cent of the total original supply for future use and waste. Of our hardwood forests, it may be estimated that about 25 per cent has been utilized more or less wastefully, about 55 per cent wasted without being utilized, and in round numbers something like 20 per cent remains for future use. During the nineteenth century, mainly, we consumed or wasted about four-fifths of our hardwood timber and about one-half of our pine timber.—T. B. Walker, in the National Magazine.

Members of an English organization known as the Association for the Prevention of Premature Burial, are endeavoring to form similar societies in this country, and great numbers of circulars containing grewsome statistics are being sent to persons in all parts of the country. It is proposed to take from relatives and undertakers the right to make the death diagnosis and to allow only physicians to do this and to apply the tests for the establishment of the fact that the person is really dead. The society proposes also to establish "waiting mortuaries," "lighted, ventilated and pleasingly furnished," where bodies may be placed under observation until there is no longer any doubt as to death.

Italy's New Labor Law.

Under the law promulgated this year by Italy persons of either sex under 12 years of age cannot engage in building operations, outside work of any kind, in mines or tunnels nor in industrial establishments.

Persons from 12 to 15 cannot be employed in any labor more than 11 hours a day, while females of any age are limited to 12 hours.

In addition the labor of women and children must be interrupted daily by one or several hours of repose.

Appliances are also insisted upon in the way of proper safeguards in eating rooms, dormitories, lavatories, toilet rooms, etc., and night work is forbidden for all females and all males under 15 years.

IT BECAME SERIOUS.

A Case That Developed Alarming Features.

Mathias Campbell, 218 E. Nebraska St., Blair, Nebr., says: "For years I had been suffering spells of pain in the back and loins, disordered urine, pain in passing, bad odor, etc. The least move hurt me, and I could not turn in bed without help. I took a friend's advice and used Doan's Kidney Pills. The trouble disappeared entirely and has not returned."

Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Not

The poet raved and tore his hair,
And howled in accepts of despair:
"Is there no rhyme for 'grocery'?"
His mocking muse said: "No, siree!"

STATE OF OHIO, CITY OF TOLEDO, } ss
LUCAS COUNTY.

Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure. FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.

(SEAL.) A. W. GLEASON, NOTARY PUBLIC.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by all Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Still Struggling.

"Uncle Hiram, have you ever written any magazine stories?"

"N—no, not yet, dear; I have only written stories for magazines."

A Simple and Safe Remedy for a cough or Throat Trouble is Brown's Bronchial Troches. They possess real merit. In boxes 25 cents. Samples mailed free. John I. Brown & Son, Boston, Mass.

Twenty thousand muzzles have been ordered from England by the Rhodesian government for the purpose of stamping out rabies among native dogs.

Rheumatism, Neuralgia and Sore Throat will not live under the same roof with Hamlins Wizard Oil, the best of all remedies for the relief of all pain.

The inhabitants of China have awakened to a sense of the convenience of having telephones. Many lines are being projected.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS

PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refunded. 50c.

British capitalists have applied to the Turkish government for a concession covering the oil fields of Bagdad and Mosul.

Good Housekeepers Use the Best.

That's why they use Red Cross Ball Blue. At leading grocers. 5 cents.

Oh, To Lose.

He—I'll bet I steal a kiss from you.

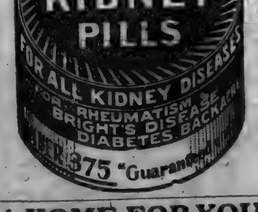
She—And I'll bet you two kisses you can't.

A Domestic Eye Remedy

Compounded by Experienced Physicians. Conforms to Pure Food and Drugs Laws. Wins Friends Wherever Used. Ask Druggists for Murine Eye Remedy. Try Murine in Your Eyes. You Will Like Murine.

Perfume Used by Royalty.

Queen Wilhelmina of Holland has daily a pint of eau de cologne in her morning bath; Queen Victoria of Spain affects a mixture of iris and lavender on her handkerchiefs; Queen Helena of Italy prefers iris and heliotrope; the Dowager Queen of Italy and Queen Amelia of Portugal are devotees of sweet violets, but the Empress of Russia leads the way, as she spends no less than $20,000 a year on perfumery in Paris alone. In respect of violets she requires that they shall be plucked just at sunset. And when the boxes reach St. Petersburg they are first sent to be examined lest they might conceal a bomb or some deadly poison.



A HOME FOR YOU

"In the Land of the BIG RED CLOVER"

VILAS COUNTY, WISCONSIN. Excellent markets. No crop failures. Good roads, schools, towns. $12.50 per acre. Easy terms. Suspended payments to actual settlers. For maps, views, particulars, a card to

YALE LAND CO., Minneapolis, Minn.

What a Woman Will Not Do.

There is nothing a woman would not do to regain her lost beauty. She ought to be fully as zealous in preserving her good looks. The herb drink called Lane's Family Medicine or Lane's Tea is the most efficient aid in preserving a beautiful skin, and will do more than anything else to restore the roses to faded cheeks. At all druggists' and dealers', 25c.

Decided Improvement.

Scribbles—I understand young Rhymer is doing much better than formerly in the poetry line.

Dribbles—Why, he told me he hadn't written a line for six months.

Scribbles—Yes, he told me the same thing.

Here is Relief for Women.

If you have pains in the back, Urinary, Bladder or Kidney trouble, and want a certain, pleasant herb cure for woman's ills, try Mother Gray's Australian-Leaf. It is a safe and never-failing regulator. At Druggists or by mail 50 cts. Sample package FREE. Address, The Mother Gray Co., LeRoy, N. Y.

Losing No Opportunity.

"Now that we're to be under civil service," said the crossroads postmaster, "and I may have to take an examination some day, I'd better be picking up all the information I can."

Thereupon he proceeded to read all the postal cards.—Chicago Tribune.

A gun for throwing a lifeline to a wrecked vessel by the use of air compressed by hand is a recent English invention.

Don't Spoil Your Clothes.

Use Red Cross Ball Blue and keep them white as snow. All grocers, 5 cents a package.

There Are Exceptions.

Some necessary things, you'll note,
Can never be done by rule.
You can't learn how to milk a goat
At a correspondence school.

You will respond very quickly to the Garfield Tea treatment, for this Natural laxative corrects constipation, purifies the blood, and benefits the entire system.

China and Japan produce 12,500 tons of silk annually, but about 60 per cent of this is retained for home use.

Low Fares To Montana

Low settlers' fares to Montana on March 23 and 30, and April 6, 13, 20 and 27.

Fertile land at reasonable prices. Homestead lands are still plentiful in Montana close to the new towns on the Chicago, Milwaukee & Puget Sound Railway

$20.50 from Chicago to Miles City, Forsyth, Musselshell and Roundup; $20.75 to Lavina; $21.30 to Harlowton; $21.65 to Moore; $21.85 to Lewistown. Low fares from and to other points on these dates.

Complete information, with new Montana folder, free.

F. A. MILLER
General Passenger Agent
Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Ry.
Chicago

Two Color Sale Bills

Get them Printed at This Office.

They are attractive in design and are printed in colors upon heavy paper.

They Are Something New

Prices reasonable. Call and see them.

F. W. N. U. - - - No. 12—1909

When writing to Advertisers please say you saw the Adv. in this paper.

BILLION DOLLAR GRASS

When ten years ago we first offered to the world Salzer's Billion Dollar Grass, men shook their heads, professors doubted, farmers wondered whether the promises we made, 6 to 12 tons hay per acre, could be realized. Now all doubts are removed, and today the first farmers of America everywhere are planting Salzer's Billion Dollar Grass to their fullest satisfaction. Seed costs but 60c to 90c per acre and the yield is seldom under 6 to 12 tons of magnificent hay per acre!

ALFALFA AND OTHER PURE CLOVER SEED

Ex. Gov. Hoard of Wisconsin from 30 acres sown to Salzer's 50th Century Alfalfa Clover harvested within 24 weeks after seeding $2500.00 worth of magnificent hay or at the rate of over $80.00 per acre. Our 50th Century strains of Alfalfa, Medium, Mammoth Red and Alsike clover and grasses are the purest we believe on earth.

WE ARE HEADQUARTERS FOR AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE SEEDS

Such as Barley, Corn, Flax, Oats and Wheat especially recommended and introduced by the Agricultural Colleges of Wisconsin, Iowa, North Dakota, Minnesota, South Dakota, etc.

VEGETABLE SEEDS

We are the largest growers of vegetable seeds we believe in America, operating over 5000 acres. We warrant our seeds to produce the earliest, finest, vegetables grown. Our seeds are money makers. Catalog tells why we have the largest Seed Potato trade in the world—one of our sellers alone holding over 60,000 bushels alone.

Try our 35 packages earliest vegetable seeds postpaid for $1.00.

WORTH $10.00 OF ANY MAN'S MONEY

For 10c in stamps we mail free of all cost samples of Silver King Barley, yielding 173 bu. per acre; Macaroni Wheat, yielding 64 bu. per acre; Billion Dollar Grass; Spelta, the cereal and hay food wonder, together with timothy, clover, grasses, etc., etc., any one of which, if it becomes acclimated on your farm, will be worth $10.00 of any man's money to get a start therewith.

Or, send 14c and we add a sample farm seed novelty never seen before by you. Box C. N.

JOHN A. SALZER SEED CO. LA CROSSE, WIS.

The Right Way

In all Cases of

DISTEMPER, PINKEYE, INFLUENZA COLDS, ETC.

Of all Horses, Brood Mares, Colts, Stallions, is to

"SPOHN THEM"

On their tongues or in the feed put Spohn's Liquid Compound. Give the remedy to all of them. It acts on the blood and glands. It routs the disease by expelling the disease germs. It wards off the trouble no matter how they are "exposed." Absolutely free from anything injurious. A child can safely take it. 50 cents and $1.00; $5.00 and $10.00 the dozen. Sold by druggists, harness dealers, or sent, express paid, by the manufacturers.

Special Agents Wanted

SPOHN MEDICAL CO.

Chemists and Bacteriologists

GOSHEN, IND., U. S. A.

Your Last Chance to Get Good Land Cheap

lies in Idaho. Good land at such prices will soon be gone forever. Fine farm tracts can be had now at low prices, on easy terms. By the time your last payment is made the land will have doubled in value, at least.

New towns—needing trades—are growing up fast in the wonderful Snake River country. Men who went there poor a few years ago are now well to do.

Own An Idaho Farm

Idaho's variety of resources is unsurpassed anywhere in the world—money is made easily and quickly in farming, in fruit, stock and dairying. Alfalfa alone is making hundreds rich.

Save money, that might otherwise be spent in tickets and hotel bills, by going direct to Idaho and buying a farm now. Write today for our free booklet.

E. L. LOMAX, G. P. A.
Union Pacific Railroad Co.
Omaha, Neb.

PUTNAM FADELESS DYES

Color more goods brighter and faster colors than any other dye. One 10c package colors all fibers. Any garment without ripping apart. Write for free booklet—How to Dye, Bleach and Mix Colors. They are in cold water better than any other dye. You can dye. MONROE DRUG CO., Valentine, Missouri.

MARCH

0539

L 903

Our Deposits March 1st.
- - WERE - -
$67,127.93
Our Cash Resources Were
$22,487.49

or more than ⅓ of our deposits on hand for instant use. If Safe, Sound and Conservative Banking appeals to you we will get your business. 4% Interest paid on Time Deposits.

Joseph Witmer — John B. Haifley
Joseph A. Grabill — John S. Klopfenstein
David Klopfenstein — Julius Gehrig
Marcus Yager — Albert Egly.

OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS OF

Grabill State Bank,

Grabill Indiana.

NEWVILLE ITEMS.

Cora Harter, who is working near Hicksville, was home over Sunday.... Charles Christophel and wife of Stafford township spent Sunday at the home of W. K. Miller.....Mrs. Mary Moody of Butler, came Sunday evening to care for her sister, Mrs. Briggs .....Leslie Strong and wife and Mrs. Ann Akins spent Sunday at the home of D. J Blair....Mrs. Effie Hutchins of Ft. Wayne, and Alfred Smith of Bryan, Ohio, are here taking care of their mother and sister.....John Whitehurst and family attended church at Coburn's Corners, Sunday and took dinner with Charles Tustison and family... Mrs. Mary Mitchel was called away the latter part of last week, to care for her daughter, Mrs. Jacob Krabill, who had a stroke of apoplexy.....Mrs. Caroline Smith is very sick at this writing, also her daughter Loretta, in whom they have little hopes of recovery.....Mrs. A. Briggs was taken with a stroke of apoplexy, Saturday evening, which rendered her unconscious during the night and Sunday, but is some better at this writing.....There will be preaching services at the Church of Christ, next Sunday morning and evening, conducted by Willis Magginis. Everyone is cordially invited to attend these services.

Mt. Hope Items.

Jay Walker spent last Sunday with his parents at Blaksley, Ohio.

Mrs. James Coleman is again able to attend her household duties.

Mrs. Harriet May spent a few days last week with her son, Frank May.

Ethel Houser will assist Mrs. Krise in her work a part of this week.

Does Your Heart Beat

Yes. 100,000 times each day. Does it send out good blood or bad blood? You know, for good blood is good health; bad blood, bad health. And you know precisely what to take for bad blood—Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Doctors have endorsed it for 60 years.

One frequent cause of bad blood is a sluggish liver. This produces constipation. Poisonous substances are then absorbed into the blood. Keep the bowels open with Ayer's Pills.

Made by J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.
Also manufacturers of
Ayer's HAIR VIGOR. AGUE CURE. CHERRY PECTORAL.

We have no secrets! We publish the formulas of all our medicines.

Granite Ware
SALE.

You are invited to call and see the most complete line of Granite Ware at lowest prices ever shown in St. Joe.

Every Day Roaster

This is Made of the Guaranteed Oyrx Enamel
Size 6x12
ONLY 49C WORTH 75C
Don't forget when in St. Joe to call and see the greatest bargains in Granite Ware.

H. V. Kinsey & Son.

Concord Items

Willie Rickett expects to work for Roy Gibford a couple of weeks.

Dell Draggoo, wife and daughter Helen, were Sunday guests of Sam Morrs'.

Edna Johnson helped her aunt Mrs. James Goings, with her work last week.

Isaac Nichols of Lansing, Mich., is here visiting friends and relatives for a few days.

Frank Baker and wife spent Sunday with the latters brother, John Diffey and wife.

Ernest Johnson and daughter Tholma spent Sunday afternoon with his parents Mr. and Mrs. James Johnson

Jessie and George Kellar of near Mt. Pleasant, spent Saturday and Sunday with their grandmother, Mrs. Draggoo.

Mrs. Jane Hull entertained the ladies of this place last Wednesday to a quilting. About twenty were present and enjoyed a nice dinner.

Mrs. Anna Baker returned Thursday from Beulah, Mich., where she spent a few weeks with her daughter, Mrs John Draggoo Mrs. Draggoo accompanied her home, and Mr. Draggoo expects to come in a few days.

Class number five of Concord Sunday School pleasantly surprised their teacher, Mrs. Frank Rhodes, Thursday evening. Pop corn, maple sugar and taffy were served. All report a fine time. Those present were the Misses Laura Baker, Ethel Snyder, Orpha and Sadie Draggoo, Cora Baker, Fred Elson and Inez Rhodes.

Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Announcement.

HOMESEEKERS' EXCURSION FARE to points in the West, Northwest and Southwest. Selling dates 1st and 3rd Tuesdays in each month April to October inclusive.

VERY LOW COLONIST FARE to points in the west, northwest and southwest, Canada and Mexico.

Consult nearest B. & O. agent for particulars.

Frank Sebert and Howard Crowl are cutting wood for Mrs. Goldsmith.

Mrs. Florence Sebert visited with her son, Ray Sebert, Sunday and Monday.

Mrs. C. C. Cook is getting along as well as can be expected after her operation.

Charley Krise and mother called on H. S. Platner and family, Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Celestine Rose, Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Koch and Frank Sebert and wife took dinner with Mr. and Mrs. James Coleman, last Sunday.

SCIO ITEMS

Agnes Brown spent Sunday with H. Bailey and family.

Mrs. Bessie Osmun is getting up an order for the Larkin Co.

Harry Bailey has been doing some hauling for C. M. Thayer.

Mrs. Effie Scott of near Hicksville, spent Monday afternoon with Mrs. Neff Culler.

Aaron Thomas and wife visited in the home of their daughter and family, last Sunday.

Joe Shull and Wm. Wineland are being kept quite busy in the sugar camp for a few days.

We are sorry to learn that we are to lose one of our good citizens, A. J. Countryman who will soon leave for the West.

The Misses Dottie and Dessie Hullinger of Butler, spent Saturday and Sunday with their grandparents, Henry Fales'.

Those among the sick at this place are Mr. and Mrs. Bert Stackhouse, Dwight Kain, Fordyce Engle and Leon Hurni.

Shoeing Done

We have without a doubt the best line of work shoes for men to be found any place.

Black, Tan and Olive Elkskin Shoes..... $3.00
Black and Tan Elkskin Shoes..... $2.50
Tan and Black Grain Leather $1.50 to..... $2.25
Brown and Olive Elk Outing Shoes with Grindstone Sole @ $2.25 and..... $2.50
Racine Waterproof Oil-tanned Elk skin Shoes
$4 $5 and $6 a pair.

Come in and look at these shoes now on display.

BIG 4 STORE

Spencerville R. F. D. No. 1.

Glenn Betz moved in Elias Spitler's property, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Boger sr., visited Ezra Horns', Sunday evening.

Mrs. John Mason visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emrich, Sunday.

The wood sawers sawed a nice pile of wood for Ezra Horn and Wm. Goldsmith, last week.

Mrs. Dwyer and three children visited her sister, Mrs. Swain near Fort Wayne, a few days last week.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Sam Smith on Tuesday evening, a little boy, which only lived a short life of two days.

R. S. Deitricks' have moved a few things in with their daughter of Harshtown, where they intend to stay for the summer.

Sunday School has been organized at Horn's school house. Everyone is cordially invited to attend. It is held every Sunday at 10:00 A. M.

County Line News.

Milton Myers is on the sick list.

Protracted meeting is in progress at Hopewell.

Rev. Cunningham took dinner with A. E. Sponhours', Sunday.

Auntie Mullen will spend the summer with Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Sponhour.

Mrs. Ben Springer of Auburn, spent Sunday with her daughter, Mrs. Sam Gratz.

Rachel Mason of Ft. Wayne, is spending a few days with Chas. and Lydia Watson.

John Gerig of Hursh, spent Saturday and Sunday with Solomon Goldsmith and wife.

Henry Mugginnis of Newville, spent Saturday and Sunday with A. E. Sponhour and family.

Mrs. Sam Gratz and Mrs. Gill McNabb called on Mrs. W. T. Wyatt, Thursday afternoon.

John Moor and wife of Mooresville, and Pearl Moody of Hursh, spent Sunday with Wm. Watson.

While Sol Bishop was trimming apple trees last week, in some manner the axe glanced and struck him on the head cutting an ugly gash. He then fell from the tree receiving several bruises.

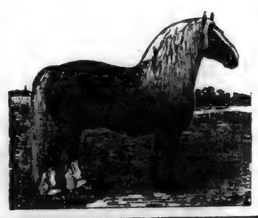
The Lurid Glow of Doom was seen in the red face, hands and body of the little son of H M. Adams, of Henrietta, Pa. His awful plight from eczema had, for five years, defied all remedies and baffled the best doctors, who said the poisoned blood had affected his lungs and nothing could save him "But," writes his mother, "seven bottles of Electric Bitters completely cured him." For Eruptions, Eczema, Salt Rheum, Sores and all Blood Disorders and Rheumatism Electric Bitters is supreme. Only 50c. Guaranteed by H. Milliman.

PUBLIC SALE.

The undersigned will offer for sale on Weidler's stock farm one mile south and one mile east of Garrett at stop 41 on the Toledo & Chicago Interurban Railway, on

Thurs Mar 25

at 10 o'clock a. m. the following property



13 HEAD OF HORSES 13

One Grade Coach Stallion 4 years old, weight about 1,400 lb four mares in foal, three work mares, one sorrel gelding, one mare colt one year old, three spring colts.

3 HEAD OF MULES 3

CONSISTING OF ONE MULE TWO YEARS OLD, ONE MULE ONE YEAR OLD AND ONE MULE COLT.

31 Head of Cattle.

Consisting of 14 head of Cows and 15 Heifers; all are bred to Sir Goldene Bakker DeKol No. 46818. Of these three were fresh in February, four will be fresh about date of sale and 15 more before May 15. Of the above cattle twenty were sired by Prince Henry Clyde No. 29942.

1 Holstein Bull Sir Goldene Bakker DeKol No. 46818, two years old, pedigree furnished. One Holstein Bull Calf.

23 Head of

Poland China HOGS

Consisting of One Male Hog No. 127731 pedigree furnished, one Brood Sow, No. 316324, with six pigs by her side, pedigree furnished for sow, one brood sow, one Gilt, Seven Shoats, Six Pigs, all but three of pigs and shoats eligible to register. One Red Jacket Wind Pump and other articles too numerous to mention.

TERMS OF SALE

Sums of $5 and under, cash. On sums over $5 a credit of 9 months will be given the purchaser giving note with approved security, without interest if paid when due; if not paid when due, interest at 6 per cent from date until paid. No property to be removed until settled for.

3 PER CENT DISCOUNT FOR CASH.

J. L. Rhodenbaugh, Auct.
A. D. Brunson, Clerk.

Smith & Weidler

Mrs. C. H. Conner spent Saturday with Mrs. Henry Rakestraw.

Mr. Clarp Reinhoel is on the sick list, mumps is the complaint.

Mr. and Mrs. Clay Rinehold spent Sunday with R. R. Wyatt and wife.

Milton Carnaham is spending several weeks at Youngstown and other points in Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Gill Wildemot and daughter of Ft. Wayne, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Milton Simanton.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Joe Stuckey of near Spencerville, a fine baby girl, Monday morning. All are doing fine.

While Henry Metcalf is unable to work he still wishes to keep busy and support himself. So he has started to selling fruit trees and nursery stock. Any order however small will be appreciated by him. Look up your wants and then see Henry.

The wind last week demolished Joe Goldsmith's wind pump. The wheel was riddled by the vane blowing against it. The wheel was left to run in the fierce gale. The derrick was badly wrecked and had to be cut down. A new mill will be erected in the place of the old, very soon.

While sawing wood Saturday, Henry Rakestraw had his left hand severely injured. He was in the act of rolling down a large beech limb from near the top of the pile when in some way his left hand caught in a fork at the top of the limb, and lacerated the third finger, the second finger also was torn. The injury will be very painful for some time.

Wm. McCann has sold his farm and will move to Michigan. Mr. McCann is in very poor health.

FAIRVIEW

Chastine Johnston visited friends at Bryon last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank May entertained the latters mother, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Rheuben Koch called on James Coleman and wife Sunday afternoon.

Walter and Pauline Morr, little son and daughter of Lankey Morr, are sick with a cold. Dr. Shook was called Saturday.

Mrs. Alda Brown is on the sick list.

Mrs. Daisy Schrader called on Mrs. Hattie Koch Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Mary Wyatt returned to her home a week ago today, after several weeks visit with relatives in Ohio.

DENTIST.
O. R. PRICE.
ST. JOE, IND.
Office in Case building.
Bell Phone No. 44.

CURIE'S RESTAURANT.

We desire at this time to inform the public that we are ready to supply all wants in our line. We ask that you continue patronizing our store and we will make it as pleasant as we can for you.

CANDY, CIGARS, SANDWICHES, SOFT DRINK, TOBACCO, ETC.

We aim to keep our stock fresh, and when in need of any of our goods come in.

MARCH

0540

L 903

ST. JOE NEWS.

VOL. XXIII ST. JOE, DEKALB COUNTY, INDIANA, THURSDAY, MARCH 25 1909. NO. 12

Sunday School Report.

Below is the report of the various Sunday Schools of the town and community for last Sunday. We desire that the secretaries may hand us this bit of information on Monday of each week, or phone to No. 10 and report.

	Attendance	Collection
Christian	95	$2.03
Lutheran	70	$1 80
M. P.	61	$1.67
Coburntown	80	$ 90
Spen. Luth.	70	$1.70
Spen. M. E.	40	$1.38
Concord	74	$1 92
Rehoboth	56	$1.06
Newville C.	50	92

Any other school desiring to be represented in this list may do so by just simply telling us.

L. L. C.

The L. L. C. met at the home of Mrs. Milliman, last Wednesday evening, March 17. Owing to the absence of Mrs. Rhodenbaugh the lesson "Nineteenth Century Heroism" was conducted by the hostess. The lesson was one of especial interest, and many comments were made on the adventures and heroism. Heroism that brought cheers, cheers from royal societies and savants, was also studied from a geographical standpoint. The critics review was divided in two parts; one calculated to prevent a repetition of past mistakes, the other calling to mind the events of past lessons. Much interest was taken in this exercise. Roll call responses, campaign incidents, some humorous some otherwise. Nut candy was served.

Local Briefs

Ice is being shipped to Antwerp from Michigan.

Attend Mrs. Hart's Millinery Opening April 26-27.

Miss Katie Fergurson of Auburn, spent Friday in St. Joe.

Charles Hoffman and wife spent a few days last week at Auburn.

John Milliman and wife are visiting the formers parents at Coburntown.

Harper Leighty, who is an employee on the B. & O. railroad, spent a few days vacation at this place and at Chicago with his cousin, Wm. Leighty and wife.

Carnes & Co., at Spencerville have purchased their ice for the season somewhere in Michigan and same will be shipped to them. It is lake ice and is said to be 20 inches thick.

If you want to buy a six room cottage house, with large wood and coal house, 2 blocks from public square in Auburn, $400 down and balance on time. See Casebeer, Real Estate Dealer. Auburn. Ind.

The ladies of the Christian Church gave a supper last Friday evening in the front room of the Barney brick building to which a large crowd attended. The supper began at five o'clock and the room was crowded to overflowing. They were unable to handle the crowd. An excellent supper was served.

Former St. Joe Lady Dead

Mrs. Margaret Andress, a well known and highly esteemed lady, died Thursday morning at 6:30 o'clock at the home of her son, S. J. Andress, 734 North Jackson street, Auburn, Ind., aged nearly 79 years, of the infirmities incident to old age and an effection of the lungs. While throughout the most of her life she had but very little illness, the last four months preceeding her death she was very feeble and continued for nearly all of the time to her bed. She is well known to our readers, having lived in St. Joe for years with Mrs. Mary Grill.

OBITUARY.

Margaret Andress was born in Ashland county, Ohio, June 15, 1830, and departed this life at the home of her son, S. J. Andress. She was united in marriage to William Andress, April 8, 1848. To this union seven children were born four of whom preceeded her to the spirit world. She with her husband settled on a farm in Ashland county where they resided until his death, which occurred March 30, 1895, after which she with her children removed to Haysville, Ohio, where she remained until 1890, when she came to Auburn, Ind., making her home with her son, S. J. Andress She united with the M. E. Church in 1859. On removing to Indiana she united with the Lutheran church at St. Joe, Ind., remaining a faithful and consistent member until death. Grandma Andress was a kind and loving mother ever willing to sacrifice her own comforts for her children and those about her. She leaves to mourn her loss the following children: Samuel J. of Auburn, Ind., Cornelius C. of Columbus, Ohio, and Randolph F. of Londonville, Ohio, twelve grandchildren, ten great grandchildren, one brother and a host of friends and neighbors. Funeral took place from Lutheran church at one o'clock.

Mrs. Hart's Easter Millinery Opening will be April 26-27. All hats are of a late pattern and are very stylish.

David Smith of Auburn, an old pioneer resident of the county, died Tuesday night after a short illness. He is the father of Marion Smith. Funeral will be held Friday afternoon.

You

have a good fire insurance policy to guard against fire loss, why wouldn't it be to your interest to guard against Tornado damage.

We sell Tornado Insurance for town or farm property.

The cost is very small.

The protection is very great

J. C. HULL

AGENT

Fire, Tornado, Life, & Accident

Call on or Phone No. 46.

LATEST STYLES LOWEST PRICES

We desire to announce an

Opening Display of Easter

MILLINERY

on Friday and Saturday, March 26th. and 27th.

Our display will include a large number of Latest Pattern Hats. Your presence will be welcomed.

Mrs. Warner.

LARGEST ASSORTMENT SUPERIOR WORKMANSHIP

Culture Club are Good Entertainers

On last Wednesday evening occurred one of the pleasant social features of our town, long to be remembered by those present. When the Culture Club entertained eighty-three guests at the beautiful and spacious home of Mr. and Mrs. Dr. Bowman, on the corner of East Washington and Second Streets. Their home put on the gaily appearance, being decorated in green and white draperies, shamrock leaves and beautiful harps. It being the seventeenth of March a complete St Patrick's programme was carried out and everything arranged to blend harmoniously with the occasion. The Club Program was written on neatly decorated shamrock leaves and presented to each guest. Promptly at eight o'clock Mrs. Lora Leighty took her place at the piano and rendered a fine solo. Welcome address, by Mrs. Dr. Bowman, responded to by Mrs. Laura Baker. Mrs. Blanch Leighty then sang a solo, "Wearin' of the Green", in a pleasing manner. This was followed by a sketch of St. Patrick by Mrs. Buchanan. Vocal solo entitled "Dear Little Shamrock" by Ruth DeLong. Mrs. DeLong gave a reading, "St. Patrick's Breastplate". Followed by a paper on "Irish Home Rule" by Miss Ethel Leighty. Piano solo, followed by roll call with Irish quotations. This concluded the Club programme, after which the committees very pleasantly entertained with contests.

The first one, a "Musical Contest" was in charge of Mrs. White and Miss Eva Ridgway. This proved to be very amusing. Miss Gladys Kain having answered the most questions correctly received the prize. The next one was an Irish contest, "Something Green" conducted by the Mesdames Lora Leighty and Pluma Hamilton, the prize winner in this contest was Rev. Brown. After a few minutes passed by in a social manner the guests were invited upstairs where they were entertained by an Anagran contest conducted by Mrs. Etta Hull and Mrs. Harriett Johdson, which required much thought as well as amusement.

While the guests were entertained in this way the rooms below were transformed into a banquet hall. The tables with their white linen, green shamrock leaf centerpieces and other decorations presented a very pleasing sight. The guests were now requested to find their partners for dinner by matching St. Patrick post cards which furnished not a little merriment. After the guests took their places at the tables, Mrs. Sheffer, the toast-mistress took charge of the table program which consisted of a four course dinner interspersed with toasts.

The first entitled "Emerald Isle" was given amiably through a megaphone by Miss Edna Provines. The first course consisted of bouilion and wafers. The next toast was given by Mrs. O. H. Widney entitled "The Irish Man", which portrayed the Irish character to perfection. This was followed by the second course consisting of Waldorf sandwiches, baked beans, potato chips on lettuce leaves and pickles. The toast, "The Irishman as Citizen and Patriot" was given by Mrs. May in a very pleasing manner. Third course, lady fingers, cheese and olives. The next toast. "The Irishmen as Protectors and Leaders" given by Rev. Brown proved to be both instructive and amusing. Fourth course, pine apple cream, light and dark cake and coffee. The last toast, given by Henry Krabill was on "Irish Smiles", and the way he toasted the ladies brought forth more than Irish smiles and was much enjoyed by all. The favors were Irish pipes for the gentlemen and St. Patrick flags for the ladies.

At a late hour the guests departed expressing their pleasure of the evening and wishing for many such happy anniversaries.

The out of town guests were:—Mrs. Wm. Hart, Mrs. B. L. Bailey, Mrs. Alice Lewis and Mrs. W. C. McNabb of Auburn, Mrs. Mutzfeld, and Mrs. Graun of Butler, Mrs. Northrup, Rev. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Mac Leighty, J. R. Shilling and wife Mr. and Mrs. Orange Herrick.

There were twenty-five bibles at the Christian S. S. Sunday.

A supper Saturday evening, April 10, by S. S. class of M. P. Church. Come.

Mary Diebert of Garrett, was the guest of her sister, Mrs. C. A. Woodcox, a few days this week.

Clean-up Time is Here.

There is enjoyment in doing something that will be a pleasure to others. The cleaning up of the grounds around the house will surely be doing that which will please the sight of others who are passing by. Springtime is here. Look about and see what kind of a front you present to the public.

Trees are like whiskers, they grow and require regular trimmings as much as a man needs shaving to appear respectable. Trim the trees. A man with much self respect would not go out in society after spilling the soup over his vest front without having the garment cleaned. But the same man never stops to consider that the passing public notices ash heaps, mud holes, hen coops, wheelbarrows, dog kennels, rags, etc., in his yard quite as readily as a greasy vest, and about as flattering a conclusion is drawn therefrom. Clean the yard.

How much better a neatly trimmed tree looks! How much more satisfactory to have well kept lawns and substantial walks.

Married.

Tuesday evening of last week, at the Methodist parsonage in Auburn, by Rev. W. B. Freeland, were joined in marriage Milton Carper and Orpha Draggoo. They are two excellent young people, living near Concord. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Draggoo, the groom a son of Eugene Carper. They were accompanied by the bride's brother. Congratulations.

Announcement of Service

SPECIAL SERVICES

A series of special Gospel services are being held at the Methodist Church, directed by the pastor, to which the public is cordially invited. Services each evening at 7:30, Sunday morning at 10 o'clock and Sunday evening at 7 o'clock.

J. C. McCain, Pastor.

Fire at Spencerville.

About 12:30 o'clock Monday, John Hobaugh discovered that the Allen house was on fire and the alarm was given for assistance. Volunteers were made and the fire was soon out. Only a small hole was burned in the roof.

Wedded

At the Methodist Episcopal parsonage at Spencerville, Ind., Saturday evening, March 20, occurred the marriage of Wm. P. Steward of Spencerville and Miss Florence Hazel Berry of this place, by the pastor, Rev. Sweeney.

The ceremony was performed in the presence of the Misses Arminta and Jennie Steward, the groom's sisters. Miss Ethel Berry, the bride's sister, and Mr. Carl Grill.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Berry of this place and is well and favorably known, having for the past three years been officially connected with the post-office at this place. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Steward of Spencerville and is also well known, having worked for his father in the lumber yard, for several years.

Mr. and Mrs. Steward will be at home after April 1st., at Spencerville where Mr. Steward will engage in farming.

The News joins their many friends in extending congratulations.

Local News Items.

Rink Saturday night.

Frank Sechler and wife spent Sunday at Mooresville

Merritt Hull of Ft. Wayne, spent Sunday with his parents.

Jack Copp of Garrett, came Friday to attend the funeral of his sister, Mrs. Callie Meese.

Mrs. Mort Foote and Mrs. Bertha Fostnight of near Harlan, spent Friday with relatives at this place.

The right Hats at just the right time and at the right prices—at Mrs. Warner's, March 26-27.

Base Ball Question

The following article is taken from Monday's Daily Press of Garrett, in which he says:—No arrangements have been made for the organization of a baseball team in St. Joe, although there may be some action taken in the matter later in the season. There are several star players in the city, and a team could be organized with little difficulty, but at the present there does not seem to be much talk of a team being organized. Since C. E. Hull has signed with the Kalamazoo (Mich.) team the baseball subject has died away. Hull figured as the star in the St. Joe team in former years and his scientific playing has won him a reputation. He leaves soon for his try out. For several years past St. Joe has been at the head of them all for Ameteur teams. It is not certain what will be done but we hardly look for anything in that line. The reputation that we now enjoy as ball players is wide spread. Garrett is fully acquainted with us, not winning a single game out of the whole number played here.

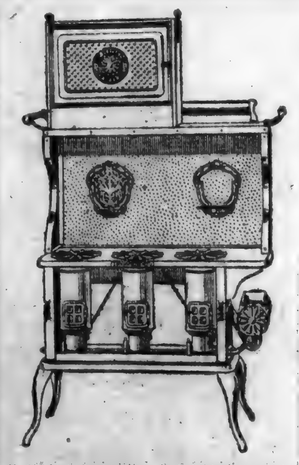
Public Sale

The undersigned will sell at public auction at his residence, 3 miles east and ½ mile south of Spencerville and 1 and ½ miles south of Coburntown Church on Saturday April 3, at 10 o'clock a. m. the following:—1 mare 4-yr. old weight 1300, 1 mare 14-yr. old with foal, 1 mare 16-yr. old, 2 cows, one fresh soon, 3 heifers 2-yr. old. Set of double harness, spring wagon, heavy wagon, manure wagon, binder, mower, harrow, incubator and brooder, ladders, iron kettle, 30-gallon copper kettle. George Wade, proprietor, J. L. Rhodenbaugh, auctioneer, A. D. Brunson, clerk.

Old papers at News office.

Miss Angie Wright, teacher of the eighth grade in the Auburn schools, visited at the home of Harry Milliman and family, Saturday afternoon.

L. W. Steward and family of Spencerville, and Carl Grill took dinner with E. Berry and family, Sunday. Also Mary Betz and Grandma Shearer.



Free Exhibition

Practical Demonstration

ON

APRIL 10, 1909.

An Expert Direct from the Factory will Demonstrate the Uses of the

New Perfection Wick Blue Flame Oil Cook Stove.

THE STOVE FOR YOUR KITCHEN.

The "New Perfection" cures common stove troubles. It is always ready for instant use; it cooks either fast or slow, and everything in a most satisfactory manner; it makes no dust or dirt and its principle of concentrated heat keeps the kitchen so uniformly cool that you might set beside the stove in perfect comfort while the kettle boils.

A TIME SAVING STOVE.

The New Perfection Wick Blue Flame Oil Cook Stove, thirty seconds after the touch of the match, will deliver at the stove top a strong, clean heat of great working power. More than that you may run it for hours continuously and for the whole time never be conscious of undue heat because of the stove. This stove is no experiment and has proven to be the most economical oil stove ever placed on the market, costing absolutely nothing for repairs and giving no trouble in any way.

COOKING UTENSILS FREE: We will also give absolutely free with each stove purchase on this date a valuable piece of Granite Ware The purchaser to have choice of several pieces.

During the Demonstration You will be Given a Hot Roll and Cup of Coffee Free.

Call in during this demonstration, get a useful souvenir and learn something about the most successful oil cook stove ever made, whether you buy now or not. Everybody welcome.

H. V. KINSEY & SON

MARCH

0541

L 903

The St. Joe News.

One Year - - $1.00
Six Month - - 50c
Three Months - - 25c

FRED B LEIGHTY
PU LISHER.

Entered at the Post Office in St. Joe as second-class mail matter.

Editorially.

Mr. Taft has failed to choose an Ohio man for his Cabinet. This relieves us of the apprenshion that we might once more have to regard Ohio as the Capital of the nation if not the center of the universe.

The indications are that Bluns who did the most natural and self evident thing to save his own life and incidentally the lives of the others on the ship is a sensible common place hero less foolish than the hysterical people who are trying to Hobsonize him.

From the Navy Department comes the report that designers are engaged on the plans and specifications for the five torpedo boat destroyers provided for in this year's naval appropriation act. They will be of a type similar in all respects to those authorized by Congress last year, and are to be built with a view to the use of oil as a fuel instead of coal.

The last Thursday in April has been suggested as the most agreeable time for the inauguration of the President and Vice President and this date has been selected in view of the fact that George Washington's first inauguration, the 30th of April, fell on the last Thursday in April. It is most earnestly hoped that the Sixty-first Congress will take up the matter in its special session and act upon this plan.

The "billion dollar Congress" which raised such a howl from the public an incredibly small number of years ago has been succeeded by a two billion dollar Congress and unless all signs fail, in less than twenty years we shall have Congress appropriating three billion dollars for administering the Government. Something besides butter and eggs has gone up in price.

In 1912 the centenary of Charles Dickens will be celebrated. As it will be a Presidential year also we may expect to repeat the experience of the past year when all our favorite magazines were given over the Presidential candidate, Poe and Lincoln. If there is any better way of making stale the taste for any man than a centenary celebration we have yet to hear about it.

Mrs. Taft, for many years, has taken an active interest in the improvement of the social side of the life of women laborers, and she has recently announced her intention to support the object of the bookbinders in their struggle for the betterment of the conditions under which they labor. The Washington section of the Women's National Civic Federation has taken up this work and Mrs. Taft is cooperating with them. Plans have been made to investigate every department of the government by personal tours of members of the Civic Federation, and not only has support come from the White House, but secretaries of all the departments have volunteered to render all possible assistance while the work of investigation is in progress. This is a movement in the right direction and no doubt great good will result therefrom.

In spite of the fact that Nicaragua, through her minister at Washington, protests that the military and naval activity now in progress in that country is destined only for defensive purposes and that she does not contemplate making any attacks on her sister republics and that conditions are quiet within her borders, it would be well for this government to dispatch a commissioner to Central America for the purpose of making a complete and personal investigation of the conditions. Judge Magoon, former governor of Cuba, has been mentioned as a likely man to undertake such a mission, and with his experience in Panama and Cuba, would be well fitted for such a mission. In this way we would be put in possession of the actual situation down there and perhaps an understanding might be brought about between the conflicting elements which would end all danger of future complications.

Tired Women

Women, worn and tired from over-work, need a tonic. That feeling of weakness or tiredness will not leave you of itself. Take Cardui, that effectual remedy for the ailments and weakness of women. Thousands of women have tried Cardui and write enthusiastically of its great benefit to them.

Take CARDUI

A recent letter from Mrs. Charles Bragg, of Sweetser, Ind., says: "Tongue cannot tell how much your medicine has done for me. Before I began taking Cardui I could not do a day's work. I would work awhile and lie down. I shall always give praise to your medicine."

Try Cardui. For sale everywhere.

E 49

Five Years

of Heart Trouble Cured by Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy

"Before I began taking Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy I had been suffering from heart trouble for over five years. I had pains in my left side, and under my shoulder blade, could not sleep on the left side, and was so short of breath the least exertion would bring on the most distressing palpitation. I had scarcely taken a half bottle of the Heart Remedy before I could see a marked change in my condition. When I had taken six bottles I was cured."

MRS. C. C. GORKEY,
Northfield, Va.

If there is fluttering or palpitation it is an indication of a weakness of the nerves and muscles of the heart. It is not necessarily diseased—just weak from over-work. The heart may be weak just the same as the eyes, stomach or other organs. You can make a weak heart strong by taking Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy. Get a bottle from your druggist, take it according to directions, and if it does not benefit he will return your money.

Conundrums.

For the Girls:—Could you love a man who wore false hair on his head when he had enough of his own; who paints his face and improves his form as you improve (?) yours; who pinches his feet with small shoes, his hands with small gloves, his waist with corsets and then if he had not been deformed enough, ties a huge bustle on his back?

For the Boys:—Could you love a girl who defiled her mouth with tobacco and loaded the air with fumes of cigarettes and cigars; who staggered home several times a week the worse for liquor; who bets high at cards and horse races and swaggers around the streets with questionable companions?—Ex.

It Saved His Leg.

"All thought I'd lose my leg," writes J. A. Swenson, Watertown, Wis., "Ten years of eczema, that 15 doctors could not cure, had at last laid me up. Then Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured it sound and well." Infallible for Skin Eruptions, Eczema, Salt Rheum, Boils, Fever Sores, Burns, Scalds, Cuts and Piles. 25c at H. Milliman's.

Bean Bag Game.

Construct with supports a board about twenty-five inches square, with a hole in the center about eight inches across. A half dozen bean bags are needed to play this game, and the feature is to see how many bags the player can pitch into the center hole.

PATENTS

and TRADE-MARKS promptly obtained in all countries, or no fee. We obtain PATENTS THAT PAY, advertise them thoroughly, at our expense, and help you to success.

Send model, photo or sketch for FREE report on patentability. 20 years' practice. SURPASSING REFERENCES. For free Guide Book on Profitable Patents write to

503-505 Seventh Street, WASHINGTON, D. C.

D. SWIFT & CO.

Orchard and Garden.

Get ready to plant trees this month as soon as soil conditions permit.

Don't try to combine arsenate of lead or Paris green with lime sulphur mixture.

It costs twice as much to spray large, high, unpruned trees, as it does to spray low-headed, thinned-out trees

High-priced novelties are often disappointing, but it is interesting to try a few each season. For main planting, however, stick to the time-tested standard kinds.

Why not give those trees a decent meal this year? Try 1,000 pounds per acre of any good, complete commercial fertilizer. Or apply stable manure, bone flour and muriate of potash (400 pounds bone, 200 pounds muriate, per acre.)

Pruning raspberries and blackberries: Cut out all canes that fruited last season (should have been done last fall); also all winter-killed canes. Shorten remaining canes to three or four feet, and cut off at least a third of the long side shoots. Rake up and burn all brush.

In March, before the buds swell, spray fruit trees for fungous troubles, such as peach leaf-curl, scab of pear and apple, fruit rot, leaf blight, etc. The Bordeaux mixture is the standard fungicide. (But remember the lime-sulphur mixture is also a fungicide; so if you use it for San Jose scale on your trees you will not need the early spray of Bordeaux.)

By a little care you can have tomatoes so early that they will be a luxury on the table, or will bring a big price in market. In February sow in a box some good seed and keep the box in a sunny window. When the plants are about three inches high transplant to small pots and set these in a shallow box. When the days are warm enough set them out-of-doors, bringing them in at night or if it turns cold. They can be easily handled in the box, and should make a good growth in time to be set out early.

Here are a few fruit tree pruning rules: Trim a little every year, rather than much in any one year. Peach trees require more pruning than most trees; at least one-half of the new growth should be removed each season. Cherry trees require the least pruning; merely cut out dead, broken or "crossed" limbs. Other trees need a judicious thinning out and, sometimes, cutting back. If two branches interlock, remove the small one. Avoid cutting so as to leave "stubs"; make neat cuts close to union; paint all large wounds. Be chary of cutting off large limbs; if it must be done, saw on under side first, partly through, and then saw from above. Prune now or in June. Spring trimming induces wood growth; June trimming induces fruit growth. Which do you want? (Note: On young trees you should want only wood growth until they are of good size and fully able to endure the strain of fruit bearing.)

Kills Would-e Slayer.

A merciless murderer is Appendicitis with many victims. But Dr. King's New Life Pills kill it by prevention. They gently stimulate stomach, liver and bowels, preventing that clogging that invites appendicitis, curing Constipation, Biliousness, Chills, Malaria, Headache and Indigestion. 25c at H. Milliman's.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills relieve Headaches, Neuralgia and all Pain.

File a Mortgage Exemption and pay less tax. Now is the time. See S. S. WIDNEY.

Rumored Change in Freight Division

A rumor is extant in Lake Shore circles that is causing much excitement in Butler as, if the reported changes are made, the business of that town will be materially increased. Some years ago the Lake Shore made Butler a local freight division, but later the division was changed and locals ran through from Air Line Jct to Elkhart. When the division was established in Butler a half round house for locomotive repair work and housing was built, and this is still standing.

The rumor now being circulated is to the effect that the Lake Shore officials are contemplating making Butler a freight division, not only for locals but general freight. The fact that a number of the officials have recently visited Butler, inspecting the situation, has leant color to the report. In fact, some who are supposed to be on the inside claim that the deal is a sure go and say that property in Air Line Jct., is depreciating in consequence of the contemplated change.

Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Announcement.

HOMESEEKERS' EXCURSION FARE to points in the West, Northwest and Southwest. Selling dates 1st and 3rd Tuesdays in each month April to October inclusive.

VERY LOW COLONIST FARE to points in the west, northwest and southwest, Canada and Mexico.

Consult nearest B. & O. agent for particulars.

News Items

Dr. Miles Anti-Pain Pills—Not only stop the pain, but do it quickly.

As a rule women are more liberal than men. The wife who has a mind of her own is continually giving her husband pieces of it.

C. A. Woodcox moved back to St. Joe from Garrett, and now occupies the F. A. Zeigler residence. He will work at his old trade as painter and paper hanger.

Blanche, Lois, Ruby and Ford Woodcox, accompanied by their uncle Ward Woodcox, left Wednesday of last week, to join their father at Richmond, Ky., where Mr. Woodcox is overseer of a large concrete construction gang.

The Alumni Society met at the home of the Misses Hazel and Ethel Berry on last Thursday evening. The following officers were elected to serve the ensuing year. Ray Herrick, president; Calvin Cain, vice president; Vera Copp, secretary; Lela Shilling, treasurer; Earl Sherer, critic and class poet. Several committees were appointed to make arrangements for the sixth banquet to be held the first week in May. The next meeting will be held April 15 at the home of Lora Leighty. All members are urged to be present, and all committees ready to report by this time.

A WHOLE YEAR FOR $1.00

That's what you can do for some friend—send him THE ST. JOE NEWS fifty-two times for only a dollar.

Better than a letter, because it gives ALL the home news each week; there is positively no token you could offer which would make a home so happy in your remembrance as this newspaper mailed to some distant relative or friend.

We are making it just as good as it possibly can be done for $1 00. In fact, lots of publishers have raised to $1.50 on not so creditable a paper as this—and we tell you frankly that when you plank down your dollar on our table for a friend, you'll get your money's worth. This is a good copy to start with. We'll save an extra one until Monday. Yes?

FRED B. LEIGHTY
PUBLISHER.

I Have AddeD

to my stock of Hardware a small stock of Furniture. Iron Beds, Husk and Cotton Felt Mattresses, Bed springs, Chairs Tables, Etc.

HARDWARE

My stock of Hardware is complete. I have the largest assortment of Reeds Flintstone ware ever seen in

ST. JOE

Look at the label, if it is Reeds Flintstone ware, it is warranted. Everybody is learning the quality of Keen Kutter tools. Pocket Knives, Razors, Chisels, Hatchets, Hammers Cross cut and Hand Saws, all kept in stock.

Goods are right, Prices are right.

D. J. Baker.

PHOTOGRAPHS.

We make them

AT THE

Tustison Studio.

Fine Portraits on Postals - - $1.00 per doz.

Call and get prices on
FAMILY GROUPES.

WHEN DEATH COMES

Friends and loved ones desire that the last services be conducted in the best way possible. The embalming and funeral need careful attention. Miss Kinsey, a licensed embalmer, takes charge of all funerals. Satisfaction guaranteed. Calls answered day or night

H. V. Kinsey & Son,

Phone No. Office 37-2. Residence 37-

Send in your news.

Miss Ethel Leighty left for Angola, Monday, to attend school for the spring term which began on Tuesday.

Emmons Barney left last week, for ElReno, Okla., where he expects to work during the spring and summer.

I have secured a horse clipper and solicit the patronage of those wishing their horses clipped. Harry Smith. St. Joe-Spencerville phone, F L 4 and Auburn 903-40.

H. M. Widney received the trophies of his last fall's hunt up in Maine and they are on exhibition in the drug store window. They are a fine black bear rug, two buck and two doe mounted heads. The collection is a dandy. H. M. also has a moose and an elk head which makes him quite a collection.

Clarence Walter, who for sometime attended the I. B. C. at Ft. Wayne, and worked as book-keeper and stenographer a few years for the Eckhart Packing Company and the Rolling Mills, came home Saturday, to spend a few days with his parents. He expects to leave sometime this week, for Redlands, Cal., where he will try and secure work. He will be gone for an indefinite period. His brother, Dale left last week for the same place.

The young ladies' Sunday School class of the Methodist Church gave a very interesting Musical and Literary entertainment at their church, Friday evening. The program was an excellent one. Everybody was well pleased. The proceeds amounted to $13.25. Every number upon the program is worthy of especial mention. The young ladies feel highly pleased at their success, and wish to thank each one who so kindly assisted them.

C. A. Patterson was at Chicago, a couple of days last week, buying a new stock of spring goods.

Last Wednesday afternoon, Frank Leighty and Don Hindman left for Iowa. Last Friday word was received that they had reached Des Moines, Iowa, all O. K.

Dale Widney, who has been attending school at the Tri-State Normal, came home Friday to spend a few days with his parents at this place. He returned Monday noon to resume his studies. The spring term began on Tuesday morning.

We were in receipt of a letter last week from J. E. Dermott of Coldwater, Mich., which contained one dollar for his subscription. He also says that The News is always a welcome visitor and that they look forward to the day when it shall come and that it receives their attention the first of all their papers. We like to hear people talk like this it makes us think they appreciate our efforts to make a good paper.

J. H. Lake M. D.

has permanently located in the O. H. Widney property on 4th street, opposite opera house and invites you to call on him.

Calls answered day or night.

BELL PHONE NO. 43.

St. Joe, Indiana.

MARCH

0542

L 903

SPENCERVILLE NEWS.

A Department of the ST. JOE NEWS for the Spencerville People.

INCUBATORS.

We have an incubator made of fiber.

No wood to crack or dry out.

The only perfect regulator made.

The regulator on this machine regulates the flame by simply turning the flame higher or lower just as it is needed. All done by an automatic self regulator.

No staying up at night or home on Sunday's to operate this machine.

ONE SIZE ONLY—140 EGG

All Copper Boilers
Hot Water Machines

PRICE $10.50

Delivered to Your Residence

BROODERS $5.50.

Call and see them at our store

BOWSER & GLOYD,

Phone No. 44. Spencerville.

Our light is the Bystrom

I am exclusive agent for Dekalb and Allen County. We have them for the country home and business rooms. You can teli them any where by the soft white light they give.

GEORGE MILLIMAN.
AGENT.

Local Briefs

Inez Rhoads is working for Mrs. Tyndall.

Clint Wearley and family will move to Woodburn soon.

The first common school graduating examination of Concord township was held in the H. S. room on last Saturday by Trustee Fetters, with the assistance of O. E. Shull. Twenty-five pupils in all were present, thirteen being from our grammer room.

William Benninghoff reports a fine time at Kansas City.

Rink Saturday night. At St. Joe. Come,

Mrs. George Gloyd has been the guest of relatives near Huntertown for the past two weeks.

Mr. Smith, the principle of the Harlan high school, visited the high room at this place Friday.

Ten Eyck Green House, cut flowers and floral emblems, Both phones. Auburn.

The Ancient and Independent Order of Heavers has their armory on Main street. Esq. Allen is Commander in Chief.

Miss Weitz, the primary teacher, visited her parents at Butler, Thursday. Mrs. Annis Butler taught during her absence.

Rev. Rilling of Millersburg, Ohio, will preach here next Sunday forenoon and at St. Joe in the evening. A good attendance is desired.

The E. L. congregation is in a state of anxiety and lonesomeness because of the vacancy of the pulpit. It is thought that the vacancy will be filled soon.

Money to loan on farms at five per cent interest on ten years time, if desired, easy payments.

DeKalb Mortgage Loan Co.,
Auburn, Ind.

Two more weeks and another very interesting term of school will be finished. The work by all this year has been very satisfactory to both teacher and pupil.

Wm. Sommers and wife, Loyde Wade and wife and Miss Weitz spent Friday evening at the home of Mr. John Bootz. A very enjoyable evening was spent in the sugar camp pulling taffy.

Quite a number from this way attended the entertainment at the M. P. Church at St. Joe last Friday evening, given by the young ladies of the Sunday School. All report a fine program. They were assisted by Miss Jennie Steward, who gave satisfaction to the entire house.

Undertaking and Embalming.

Two Funeral Cars. One in White and the other in Black. We also furnish one elegant cab for Pall Bearers or friends. Prices reasonable

Beams & Baker.

Spencerville R F D No 2

Clint and Greeley Wearley spent Sunday at Woodburn.

Mr. John Stafford's of near Newville Center spent Sunday with D. M. Kelley's.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Provines of Spencerville, spent Sunday with Will Tyndall's.

Mrs. Minnie Tyndall, who has been suffering with blood poison in her hnger, is somewhat better at this writing.

The Misses Fern and Zenith Wearley were entertained by the Misses Clara Keesler and Iva Zehner of Spencerville, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Copp of Spencerville, entertained the following Thursday evening, Clint Wearley and daughters Fern and Zenith, Miss Iva Zehner and the Messrs Harvie Beam and Harry Hursh. The evening was spent in music and eating pop corn balls, bananas and oranges.

WANTED—SUCCESS MAGAZINE requires the services of a man in St Joe to look after expiring subscriptions and to secure new business by means of special methods unusually effective; position permanent; prefer one with experience, but would consider any applicant with good natural qualifications; salary $1.50 per day with commission option. Address, with references, R. C. Peacock, Room 102, Success Magazine Bldg., New York.

Masonic Feast

On last Thursday evening the Masonic lodge gave a banquet to its members and friends. As the Masonic Hall was to small to accomodate and seat the crowd so the event was held in the K. of P's hall. At 7:30 the room was well filled and at 8:00 the guests were all seated for refreshments. W. W. Fisher, the Mason's famous toast-master, gave a toast appropriate to the occasion after which a three course supper was served. First course, oysters; second, chicken, mashed potatoes, pickles, cold ham, bread and butter, and coffee; third, ice cream, cake and fruit. During the refreshment hour short speeches were make by members on the advantages, sociabilities and misrepresentation of the order. Miss Jennie Steward entertained the guests with recitations, after which music was rendered by the Branton Bros. of Harlan. Several lady guests were called on for songs but some were excused on the grounds of very bad colds, others left their music at home. Prospects for the organization of an Eastern Star lodge was discussed by the ladies after which the guests retired to dream the dreams of the Rare Bit Fiend.

W. M. ALLEN

Barber.

The barber trade is like all public business, satisfaction must be given and that is what we are doing. We are now in a position to furnish you with the best brands of cigars and solicit your patronage. In addition to this we are handling the World's Famous

Edison Phonograph.

JUSTICE

of the Peace

work given special attention. Try us once.

S. S. Kimes

—M. D.—

Having located in the Markle building, is now ready to answer all calls, day or night. He invites you to call at the office and is ready to extend you every courtesy in keeping with the profession.

Phone No. 10.

Spencerville, Ind.

We All Honor Him.

St, Patrick's day is one of the eventful days of the year, the day when honor is paid to the loved Irish saint. St. Patrick, around whom, while there clusters much of myrth and legend, there is much of history, for he was a man who did great good for the people of Ireland.

He stood for righteousness. In him we can read the religiousness of the Irish people, the traits of their nature which are reflected in the warm-heartedness of every Irishman, generous and true almost universally. Pictured as poetry and legend, and in many particulars history, paints him, we all revere St. Patrick, and it is well that his birth anniversary is observed with its each recurrence.

St. Patrick's day always calls to mind the connection the Irish race has always had with this government of ours. They have been great factors in its history. They were among our earliest settlers. Nearly one-half of the Continental troops under Washington were of Irish descent. Nine of the signers of the Declaration of Independence were Irishmen. "Mad Anthony Wayne" was Irish to his finger tips. The Irish fought in every war we have ever had and in the war of the Rebellion they were prominent and among the bravest of the brave.

They have ever been leaders in the political affairs of the nation, many of the highest positions of trust having been held by them. They have had a large representation in the realms of finance, business, the professions, education, the church. It is said that two-thirds of the entire Irish race are with us. We will all wear the green with them on St. Patrick's day. As long as the shamrocks continues to spring from the soil of Erin the true Celt will observe the yearly recurring holiday that is supposed to mark the anniversary of the birth of Ireland's patron saint.

Lincoln Said:

"An Investment in Knowledge Always Pays the Best Interest."

Try Trading

—AT—

BOWMAN'S

DRUG STORE

for your

Drugs and Sundries.

An Account to Settle.

The Lawyer—Madam, I find that your husband's will leaves you nothing but what the law compelled him to leave you.

The Widow (angry and forgetful)—Just wait till I see him!—New York Press.

Good Suggestion.

"I proposed to Miss Tallun, and now Miss Pert, whose good opinion I covet, says I am a fool."

"Well, propose to Miss Pert, and she will think you have lucid moments."—Houston Post.

Clever.

Foreigner—Why do you call him your cleverest millionaire?

American—Oh, he has originated so many sensational ways of spending his money.—Brooklyn Life.

Professionally Expressed.

"How high can that soprano sing?"

"As high as $5,000 a night," answered the manager absentmindedly.—Washington Star.

J D Fetters

TRUSTEE

of Concord Township.

OFFICE DAY:

THURSDAY OF EACH WEEK

at his farm residence One mile

EAST OF CONCORD.

Electric Bitters

Succeed when everything else fails. In nervous prostration and female weaknesses they are the supreme remedy, as thousands have testified.

FOR KIDNEY, LIVER AND STOMACH TROUBLE

it is the best medicine ever sold over a druggist's counter.

For Ladies.

We call your attention to our extra fine line of the famous

J. C. C. Corsets

A good line to select from and prices ranging from

50 Cents to $1.00

Beams & Co.

Spring Shoes

The latest styles will be found at our store in Patent and Tan Oxfords for Men or Women, and in fact for the children or anyone else. A full line of shoes.

We want your produce.

SEEDS

Our full line of garden and field seeds have arrived and it's now time to get your seed ready for early planting. I can save you money if you intend ordering seeds. Come in and see our flower seeds. All fresh and clean.

ONION SETS IN ANY QUANTITY.

HARRY MILLIMAN
DRUGGIST

Has Been Paroled

News was received in Auburn is to the effect that Alonzo Zeigler, the son of Mrs. Eunice Zeigler, who some time ago was sentenced to the reformatory at Plainfield, has been paroled by the state board of pardons on condition that his mother will keep him in school and see that he leads a correct life. The career of the youth is so well known that it need not now be reviewed. His mother is wealthy and resides on a farm in Butler township.

Its time to be thinking about a base ball team.

Near Death in Big Pond

It was a thrilling experience to Mrs. Ida Soper to face death. "For years a severe lung trouble gave me intense suffering," she writes, "and several times nearly caused my death. All remedies failed and doctors said I was incurable. Then Dr King's New Discovery brought quick relief and a cure so permanent that I have not been troubled in twelve years." Mrs. Soper lives in Big Pond, Pa. It works wonders in Coughs and Colds, Sore Lungs, Hemorrhages, La-Grippe, Asthma, Croup, Whooping Cough and all Bronchial affections. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by H. Milliman.

OUR SPECIAL

THE NEWS

from now until Jan. 1 '10

for only

50 CENTS.

MARCH

0543

L 903

Our Flour is Always in the Lead.

As many practical housekeepers know full well they need not be told. This ad is simply to bring to the notice of all that "Our Daily Bread Flour" is it for purity, strength and color, and that the nourishing qualities of this flour is unexcelled. Ask for it and patronize home industry.

Keesler Milling Co.

SCIO ITEMS

Kenneth Countryman has bought two nice cows the past week.

Mrs. Sam Cutler ate Sunday dinner with her son, Neff and family.

Mr. Stafford is now settled on the H. J. Young farm at this place.

John Meek and wife are entertaining a new baby girl at their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Tomlinson of Newville, spent Sunday in the Akins family.

E. F. Hurni made about one hundred gallons of maple syrup this spring.

Mr. and Mrs Wm. Baron visited Tuesday with Wm. Countryman and family.

Grace Kain and lady friend of Angola, spent Sunday with her parents at this place.

A fine line of commencement programs at our office for your inspection. Don't forget us.

Hall Blaker and daughter, Mrs. Jennie Tomilson, of Butler, spent a couple of days with Frank Akins and wife.

A. J. Countryman has given up his trip out West, and has bought an interest in the DeWitt butcher shop in Butler.

Trustee Whitehurst was seen on our streets Saturday, enroute to Coletown school house to hold graduating examination.

Clarence Engle had the misfortune to get a horse down in the field while plowing one day last week, he soon got help and put her on her feet again and she is doing alright now.

There are more McCall Patterns sold in the United States than of any other make of patterns. This is on account of their style, accuracy and simplicity.

McCall's Magazine (The Queen of Fashion) has more subscribers than any other Ladies' Magazine. One year's subscription (12 numbers) costs 50 cents. Late number, 5 cents. Every subscriber gets a McCall Pattern Free. Subscribe today.

Lady Agents Wanted. Handsome premiums. Liberal cash commission. Pattern Catalogue (of 800 styles) and Premium Catalogue (showing 400 premiums) sent free. Address THE McCALL CO., New York

FAIRVIEW

Master Nathan Houser is on the sick list.

Albert Wyatt spent Supday with Webster VanZile.

Orlie Baker and family visited with his parents Sunday.

Frank May has sold his iron gray horse to Artus Coyle.

Mr. and Mrs. Moudy called on Rheuben Kochs' Saturday.

Alda Brown and sons went to Fairfield to visit a few days.

Ed Schrader hauled a fine load of hogs to Auburn, Saturday.

Ora Calendar and wife spent Sunday with Edward Bassetts'.

Henry Houser and son Russell, are cutting wood for Frank May.

Mr. Evans moved into Orlie Baker's house Wednesday of last week.

Little Miss Fay Hughes and Master Floyd Snyder are on the sick list.

James Coleman and wife called on Rheuben Kochs' Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Mary Siebert visited with Mrs. Jessie Siebert one week ago yesterday.

Mrs Eva Fellers and little son Austin, visited with her brother Frank May a few days last week.

Norman Rolland and family and Miss Audra Rolland of Garrett spent Sunday evening at Houses'.

Mrs. Frank May spent Wednesday night and Thursday with her sister, Mrs. Timmerman, near Spencerville.

Mrs. Norman Rolland and children spent Tuesday and Tuesday night with Lee Rollands' north-west of Garrett.

Calvin Hathaway and Henry Shultess of Garrett spent Saturday night and part of Sunday with Norman Rolland.

NEWVILLE ITEMS.

Howard Benninghoff is home from Angola, for a few days.

Mrs. Parks, who has been very sick, is somebetter at this writing.

John Smith and wife are visiting friends and relatives of this place.

There were 15 bibles present at the Newville Christian church, Sunday.

William Blair of Butler, took dinner Tuesday at the home of Caroline Blair.

Grace Magginis, the primary teacher, fell last Friday dislocating her shoulder.

The meeting at the U. B. church closed last Thursday evening, with an addition of two.

Inez Maggins and lady friend of Angola, are spending their vacation at the formers home.

Dr. Brunson went to Ft. Wayne, Sunday, to attend the funeral of his brother, Albert Brunson.

Mrs. Frank Fell and two children have returned from the West, where they have been the past year.

Homer Casebere and wife visited over Sunday at Hamilton with the latters parents, F. A. Thomas and wife.

Mrs Al Briggs, formerly known as Mrs. Henry Coburn, died at her home about eight o'clock, Monday evening. Funeral services will be held at the Church of Christ, Friday afternoon at 2:00.

Local Items.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills relieve pain.

Get your harness oiled at Segar's. We are equipped for oiling and guarantee good work.

In mentioning the supper, given by Roy's class Easter, we made an error which made it read March 10, but should have read April 10.

Saturday we received a letter from Mrs. Zelma Kimes, who now lives at Sherwood, Mich., requesting us to send her paper to Holton, Mich., Muskegon Co., as Mr. Kimes has purchased a farm at the latter place and they intend moving immediately.

Attend the supper Saturday evening, April 10th., given by the boys class of M. P. church.

Called to her Reward

Once again the death angel has visited our midst and as an angel of mercy has relieved the suffering and freed the tired spirit from its prison house, the frail tenement of clay in which it dwelt, and has borne it to the God who gave it. For 37 years, 6 months, and 17 days Clarissie Jane Meese has been with us and lived a most exemplary life. Although her suffering for several years has been intense yet like her Savior whom she loved, she murmured not but bore her trouble with always the same meek and quiet spirit always hopeful of better things, trusting it would be better farther on.

On March 6th, 1892, she was married to Frank Meese, to this union was born two sons together with the husband, father, step-mother, one brother, one half-brother and two half-sisters to mourn their loss.

At the tender age of nine years she was bereft of her mother, but amidst the battles and struggles of life came out victorious and at the age of seventeen obeyed her master's call and was obedient to him in baptism, uniting with the Methodist church. And in 1893 she with some others united with the Church of Christ and while some who at the same meeting united with the church have faltered and amidst the whirlpool of sin and temptation have gone down, yet she bore her afflictions bravely and was ever faithful to her duty and leaves us the noble lessons of christian endurance and from it we have learned that we can stand up for right if we only put forth the proper effort and should we falter and fail to try again with an eye ever single to the glory of God and blessings to humanity.

Her peaceful and quiet death leads us nearer to the throne of God and her hands are beckoning to all of us, father, husband, children and friends to come up higher and live in a nobler and purer realm. Turning from the things of the past and looking toward the future we should emulate her life and yield not to temptation.

Funeral services were held at the Church of Christ, Friday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock, conducted by Rev. J. A. Brown. Funeral director, Elza Kinsey. Interment in the Riverside cemetery.

CARD OF THANKS.

We thank the people who so kindly assisted us during the sickness of our dear wife and mother, also for the floral offerings.

Frank Meese and Children.

Resolutions of Respect

The committee representing the Ladies Auxiliary of the Christian Church submit the following:—

WHEREAS our beloved sister, Callie Meese has been removed from our midst. Sister Meese was a great sufferer but bore it quietly, patiently without murmur. Her sweet and trusting spirit has taken its flight to the God who gave it and the loss of her unestimable worth is deeply mourned by her family and community. But our loss is her eternal gain.

RESOLVED: That we as a society express our heartfelt sympathy to the family in their great sorrow and commend them to our loving Father, who doeth all things well.

RESOLVED: That these resolutions be published in the St. Joe News and a copy sent to the family.

Mrs. Laura Baker
Mrs. Nellie Perry } Committee.
Mrs. Emma Abel

The Lurid Glow of Doom

was seen in the red face, hands and body of the little son of H M. Adams of Henrietta, Pa. His awful plight from eczema had, for five years, defied all remedies and baffled the best doctors, who said the poisoned blood had affected his lungs and nothing could save him. "But," writes his mother, "seven bottles of Electric Bitters completely cured him." For Eruptions, Eczema, Salt Rheum, Sores and all Blood Disorders and Rheumatism Electric Bitters is supreme. Only 50c. Guaranteed by H. Milliman.

Are you coming in?

Wm. Saylor of Hicksville, was in town Monday.

Chas. Bleeks came home Sunday evening and on Monday he left for California.

Mrs. Hart's Millinery Opening will be April 26-27. Attend it and see something nice.

Jerry Carmer and family of Auburn, and Mr. and Mrs. Potter of Fort Wayne were guests of H. Reasoner and wife Sunday.

The W. C. T. U. will meet Friday afternoon with Mrs. Etta Hull at two o'clock. Two subjects for the afternoon are "Samples of Good Things from the Union Stand", "Why Headache Remedies are Dangerous." Come.

Must Have the "Mon".

The supreme court has decided that a township trustee could not be mandated to provide for the conveyance to a distant school of children living near a school that had been discontinued, unless he had on hand an appropriation by the township advisory board for that purpose. A judgment commanding the trustee of Perry township, In Allen county, to purchase a wagon and employ a driver, at an expense of $300, to haul children to school, when he had only $58.21 in the special school fund, and none of it had been appropriated to pay for their transportation, was reversed.

Judge Jordan said that in order for the parents of the children to succeed in a mandamus proceeding it was essential to show not only that it was the duty of appellant as township trustee, to perform the act sought to be enforced, but also that as such officer he had the lawful power and authority to perform the act or discharge the duty in controversy.—Ex.

WABASH CORNERS.

Little Catherine Shull is numbered with the sick.

Aunt Em Simanton is suffering with rheumatism.

George Pervines and wife spent Saturday in Auburn.

O. K. Shulls' entertained company Sunday, but we did not learn their names.

Mrs. Inez Maurer spent Tuesday of last week, with her sister, Mrs. Birdie Fetters.

Orange Herrick and wife were Sunday afternoon guest of Aunt Em Simanton.

Roy White and wife attended the Schlatter sale, south of Hurshtown, Wednesday.

Orange Herrick and wife attended the funeral of Mrs. Maggie Andress at Auburn, Saturday.

Sam Nelson, wife and son George, went to Clear Lake, Ind., Saturday to spend several weeks.

Some from this place attended the funeral of Mrs. Callie Meese in St. Joe, Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Benj. Hamilton of Coburntown, was the guest of her daughter, Millie Shull, Wednesday.

Mrs. Mary Oden of Butler, Mrs. Will Lucas and the correspondent assisted Mrs. G. C. Lucas in knotting a comfort, Tuesday of last week.

Mrs. Mary Oden returned to her home in Butler, Saturday evening, after a three weeks visit with relatives and old neighbors at this place and St. Joe.

Deem Hull, Letitia White and daughter Mary, Mandia Rhoads, Mrs. Frank Loux and daughter Martha, Mrs. Wm. Pervines and daughter Lizzie, Mrs. Mary Ann Ulms and Mrs. Angelia Wolff assisted Mrs. George Pervines in quilting, Wednesday.

DENTIST.

C. R. PRICE,

ST. JOE, IND.

Office in Case building.

Bell Phone No. 44.

Coburn's Corners

Moses Perry and wife are in very poor health at this writing.

W. F. Coburn and family took dinner with Cal Coburn, Sunday.

Elder J. A. Brown's baby has been suffering from an attack of lung fever.

Bert Millman of Fremont, Mich., is visiting his father and other relatives.

Guy Platter was compelled to miss school a few days last week, on account of sickness.

W. H. Northrup, who has business in Ft. Wayne most of his time, was home over Sunday

Daniel Shull of Rosedale, Ohio, spent Monday night, with his parents, Joseph Shull and wife.

Jacob Shaffer and wife spent Sunday afternoon with their daughter, Mrs. Newton Perry of St. Joe.

Ed Loomis and family of Hicksville, spent Sunday with Mrs. Loomis's brother, Earl Coburn and wife.

A family reunion was held at J. M. Millman's, Sunday. All of his children being present with their families.

John D. Millman and wife of Blakesley, came Saturday and stayed over Sunday with his father, J. M. Millman.

Bessie Beaber and Miss Mountz of Garrett, visited from Saturday until Tuesday with their cousin, Miss Ila Beaber.

Cal Coburn is moving his household goods to the F. A. Thomas farm where he expects to live the next five years.

PATENTS

PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo, for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc. IN ALL COUNTRIES. Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent. Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively. Write or come to us at 624 Ninth Street, opp. United States Patent Office, WASHINGTON, D. C.

CA·SNOW & Co.

HART'S

Easter Millinery Display

March 26 and 27

Ladies, we wish to call your attention to our Spring Opening, and wish you to call and see our hats. Having spent two weeks in the wholesale houses trimming and buying Pattern Hats, we believe we can show you as fine a line as you will find in the city. We wish to thank our patrons for the very successful past season and have decided to sell our hats at the very lowest possible prices. Our hats will bear inspection as we buy the best. Call and let us convince you that you will save one half on your summer hat. Fine line of Children Hoods and Hats.

CORA B. HART

SPENCERVILLE, IND.

CONCORD

Vera Coyle spent Sunday with Ruth Draggoo.

Maud Baker is working for Frank Provines'.

There was a large crowd at Christian Endeavor, Sunday evening.

Dell Draggoo and Dennis Poorman were at Butler, Saturday.

Miss Ethel Snyder visited with her sister in New Haven, last week.

The Sunday School is preparing for an Easter entertainment at this place.

Dr. Neighswander and wife were Sunday guests of Mr. Shurtz and family.

Mrs. Rebecca Baker spent Friday with her daughter, Mrs. Walter Wilson.

Albert Shearer and wife and Hattie Draggoo spent Tuesday with James Ricketts'.

Mary Krise and son Paul, spent Saturday afternoon with Mrs. Hazel Krise of St. Joe.

Mrs. Emmit Shilling, Mrs. D. E. Poorman and son Russel, spent Thursday and Friday in Waterloo.

Orla Baker and family of Auburn, were the guests of the formers parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Baker.

Mrs. James Gibford and Mrs. Chas. Gibford and daughter, visited relatives here, Friday and Saturday.

Bessie Baker and son Waldo, spent Wednesday and Thursday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Carper.

Wm. Baker started Sunday for Walker, Minn., to see his brother. John Baker, who is quite sick with typhoid fever.

Mrs. Wm. Grey and son-in-law Wm. Grush of Blencoe, Iowa, were the guests of D. J. Baker and family a couple of days last week.

The ladies that were in attendance at the Waterloo County W. C. T. U. Institute on last Thursday and Friday report a fine meeting. The Institute leader, Mrs. Josephine Walmer of Bluffton, was a woman of wonderful capibility, full of enthusiasm and endless faith. Some of the principle features of the programme were the following:—"Anti Narcotics" Rev. Sterling of Garrett. "The White Slave Trade of Today" Miss Jennie Shutt of Auburn. "The Latest Findings of Science as Regards the Effects of Alcohol on the Human System" Dr. Stewart of Auburn. "The Advantages of Municipal Suffrage for Women" Mrs. Dr. Leisure of Auburn. All were delivered in a manner which made deep and lasting impressions. The contest was composed of nine members, two from Waterloo, three from Auburn, two from Garrett and two from St. Joe. The medal being won by Thelma Grover of Auburn.

The Taking Cold Habit

The old cold goes; a new one quickly comes. It's the story of a weak throat, weak lungs, a tendency to consumption. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral breaks up the taking-cold habit. It strengthens, soothes, heals. Ask your doctor about it.

The best kind of a testimonial—"Used for over sixty years."

Made by J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass. Also manufacturers of Ayer's SARSAPARILLA. PILLS. HAIR VIGOR.

We have no secrets! We publish the formulas of all our medicines.

Keep the bowels regular with Ayer's Pills, just one pill each night.

WABASH

Wabash Time Table.

Trains leave the St. Joe Station as follows:

GOING WEST.

No 11. Ft. Wayne Acc & Mail 11:34a. m
No. 3. Western Express 7:58 p. m

GOING EAST.

No. 2. Eastern Express 6:34a. m
No10. Toledo Acc & Mail 4:59 p. m.

Our Deposits March 1st.

- - WERE - -

$67,127.93

Our Cash Resources Were

$22,487.49

or more than ⅓ of our deposits on hand for instant use. If Safe, Sound and Conservative Banking appeals to you we will get your business. 4% Interest paid on Time Deposits.

Joseph Witmer, Joseph A. Grabill, David Klopfenstein, Marcus Yager, John B. Hatfley, John S. Klopfenstein, Julius Gehrig, Albert Egly.

OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS OF

Grabill State Bank,

Grabill Indiana.

Dress Skirts and Jackets

New arrival of Ladies Skirts and Jackets just in. The Skirts come in Black, Blue, Brown and Gray in the new weaves and at popular prices. The Jackets are in tan grounds in plain and stripe effects both loose and semi-fitting backs at ..... $3.75 to $7.50.

New lot of those 98c waists just received. Don't miss getting one.

Our store is full of new goods and of the right sort to please our customers.

THE BIG FOUR STORE

0544

L 903

APRIL

0545
L 903

APRIL

ST. JOE NEWS.

VOL. XXIII ST. JOE, DEKALB COUNTY, INDIANA, THURSDAY, APRIL 1 1909. NO. 13

The Hambletonian Stallion

Silver Wing 2:24 ¼

By Corwin 22062, he by Corsair 7558, he by Hambletonian 10. Dam—Golden Girl (2:39½ as a 3-year old) by Golden Wing 5808 he by Satelite, he by Robert Bonner, he by Hambletonian 10. Golden Wing's first dam, Mable, by Mambrino Champion, by Mambrino Chief.

Second dam by Wagner. Third dam, Modoc, by Thoroughbred. Golden Girl's dam, Brown Nell, by Mambrino Chief.

PATRICK ELLIOTT, Owner and Keeper.

The Black Percheron Horse

Leopold III

No. 19212. Weight 1,850.

Both of these horses will stand on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at Ira Bone's barn at ST. JOE, and balance of the week at the Evans barn in Hicksville, Ohio.

Terms $10.00.

Elmer Goodson, Own. Patrick Elliott keep.

Mrs. Lizzie Horn Dies

THE NEWS was shocked to learn of the sudden death of Mrs. Lizzie Horn, who resides south of Spencerville. We shall feel the loss of this good woman as she has been connected with THE NEWS for several years, as correspondent from Spencerville R. F. D. No. 1. This she did simply to help us along and she worked for our interest. If it was impossible to be represented she would notify us in advance so that we would not be disappointed. 'Tis true that an individual life speaks louder than their words and is in the loud tone in which Mrs. Horn spoke in her daily life that has caused the people to reverence her departure and caused THE NEWS to take note of her devoted life.

She was a genuine wide awake christian, who was always doing good and was ever ready to help the needy. In her duties of life she placed the church at the head which was the secret of her successful life. The church has lost a "Shining Light" and her life would be an example for us to follow. If all church members made similar foot prints in the sands of time, the church would grow by leaps and bounds. Below we reproduce her likeness.

Lizzie A. Deitrick-Horn

Obituary

Lizzie A. Deitrick was born in Springfield township, Allen county Indiana, September 17, 1854. Departed this life March 20, 1909, aged 54 years 6 months and 3 days. She was united in marriage to Ezra H. Horn April 5, 1877. To this union was born one child, a son, whose life was of short duration.

Her father, mother, two brothers and one sister preceded her in death. Her husband, one brother, R. S. Deitrick of Spencerville, one sister, Mrs Frank Scholes of St. Joe, Ind., and a host of friends remain to mourn their loss. In her youth she was a regular attendant at the Church and Sabbath School of the Salem Congregation of the Evangelical Lutheran Church and early in life became a member of the same. After her marriage she had her membership transferred to unite with her husband at Spencerville where she remained a faithful member until called to unite with those gone on before. She was a member of the Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary Society which she dearly loved, but on account of ill health could not be present at their meetings as much as she desired.

The funeral was held in the Lutheran church, Tuesday March 23 at 10 o'clock. Rev. Dressel of Elkhart, officiating. Burial in Spencerville cemetry. Henry Beams funeral director.

Showered

The members of Mrs. W. C. Patterson's Sunday School class perpetrated a surprise on Mrs. Hazel Berry Steward, on Saturday evening at the teacher's home. A fine two coursed supper was served, after which Mrs. Steward was told that she might have whatever she found at the end of various strings strung through out the rooms. This afforded much amusement, and resulted in the searcher finding many pieces of useful granite ware. The members of the class present were Misses Winnie Bailey, Esther Hollabaugh, Gladys Barney, Carrie Bleeks, and Lela Shilling. Other guests were Misses Helen Patterson and Ethel Berry.

Local Items.

FOR SALE:—20 acres of good Onion and Potato land. Located 7 miles from St. Joe, with buildings, E. E. Berry, St. Joe Ind.

There were 32 bibles at the Christian Sunday School at this place Sunday and 31 at the Newville Christian Sunday School.

A large stock of the Bryan, Oliver and Burch sulky and walking plows on hand at Wm. Curie's. Also the Brown-Manley Harrows.

Mr. and Mrs U. R. Wiers of this place were called to Ft. Wayne last Sunday to see their daughter, Mrs. Albert Schaaf who underwent a very dangerous operation a week ago at the St. Joseph Hospital for adhesions of the bowels and other complications. She has gradually grown weaker until her nurse and physicians hold out very little hopes of her recovery.

K. of P. Banquet

On last Wednesday evening after the regular work at the K. P. Lodge, at which Rev. J. A. Brown took the third rank, the Pythian sisters stole a march on the boys, invading their hall in full force and invited them to partake of a banquet which they had prepared. The boys responded gallantly and enjoyed the feast which was interspersed with singing and music. Long live the Pythian sisters! Come again.

ONE OF THE BOYS.

L. L. C.

The L. L. C. met last Wednesday evening, March 24, at the home of Mrs. Lake. The lesson, "The Christian Scholar in Politics," was led by the president. In this lesson we learn that there is no sophistry more poisonous to the State, no folly more stupendous and demoralizing, than the notion that the purest character and the highest education are incompatible with the most commanding mastery of men, and the most efficient administration of affairs. An excellent review of "Great Books as Life Teachers" was given by Mrs. Baker. Responses. Queen Victoria. The hostess served maple taffy.

Breeders Attention!

I have a fine draft stallion, light bay with star in forehead, with which I will make the season of 1909 at the farm of Wm. Countryman, 4 miles east of St. Joe. Phone 431-O Hicksville. Terms $6.00.

K. W. Countryman,
Owner and Keeper.

He Likes the Auburn

In conversation with a man from Patterson, N. J., while being shaved at J. C. Hull's barber shop on Tuesday of last week he said:

"There are two automobiles of the Auburn make in our city and they are considered the best in the city and those who contemplate purchasing machines this year are considering the Auburn. There is also an autobuggy of the Auburn make there and it attracks more attention than any conveyance used at our place." The man is right and we feel as though it is no more than right that it should be mentioned. A boquet now and then will do us all good.

Grabill in the Lead

This week we received a card from the M. and M. Union Sunday School of Grabill which is worth your notice.

Teachers and Officers present	15
Substitute Teachers	2
Scholars present	155
Total present	172
Regular collection	$4.47

Grabill is a small town as everyone knows and has but the one church. By comparing St. Joe with them, we are behind as the attendance was only 231 while at Grabill it was 172, but there are more of us here. Some move ought to be taken to increase the attendance in our Sunday Schools. We would desire a report next week from them.

Sunday School Report.

Below is the report of the various Sunday Schools of the town and community for last Sunday. We desire that the secretaries may hand us this bit of information on Monday of each week, or phone to No. 10 and report.

	Attendance	Collection
Christian	90	$1.78
Lutheran	73	$2 72
M. P.	68	$2 24
Coburntown	75	$1 22
Spen. Luth.	87	$1.97
Spen. M. E.	59	$2 05
Concord	63	$ .83
Rehobeth
Newville C.	54	$1.06

Any other school desiring to be represented in this list may do so by just simply telling us.

A supper Saturday evening, April 10, by S. S. class of M. P. Church. Come.

Death of William Henderson

Pioneer of DeKalb County.

In the death of William Henderson, of Spencerville, DeKalb county has lost one of its oldest, most honored and best loved citizens.

The eldest of a family of thirteen children, three of whom died in infancy, Mr Henderson was born in Richland (now Ashland) county, Ohio, April twenty-sixth, 1824. In 1836 he came with his parents, Samuel and Letty (Moody) Henderson to DeKalb county, Indiana, and there for seventy-three years was lived one of the most rarely beautiful lives it has been the writer's privilege ever to have known.

At the age of eighteen Mr. Henderson united with the Methodist Episcopal church, of which organization he was a consistent member and most liberal supporter until his death. In 1845 he married Matilda Watson, a sweet and gentle soul who was a fitting mate for him, and with whom he built up a home which reflected in most unusual degree the complete harmony of these two lives. Seventeen years ago the wife died, and since that time Mr. Henderson has lived in the same home with a daughter whose labor of love has been to make sure that this beloved father should miss no smallest comfort. The companionship of this father and daughter has been a most beautiful and inspiring thing, the father constituting the daughter's chief and absorbing interest in life and under her loving devotion growing year by year into a benignant old age.

Great-hearted and generous by nature, broad-minded and charitable in judgment, William Henderson was one of those rare souls who seem born into and under peculiarly auspicious conditions. The Theosophist, knowing this man and his rare, beautiful character, would say that the life just ended had been the logical successor to many other lives in former incarnations, each lived more and more nearly approaching a high ideal until the present culmination had been reached. Such splendid mental balance, such fine spiritual poise, these blending into a personality radiating an atmosphere of geniality and kindliness, so marked as to be felt by every one coming within even its casual influence, surely call for some explanation other than that of mere chance-perhaps, even, other than that of heredity, although in the opinion of those who knew Samuel Henderson and beautiful Letty Moody, his wife, the fine and noble qualities of these two were sufficient to account for those of the son.

Petty trials seemed unable to touch the life of this great soul. On the high plane where he lived all was peace and harmony. A strain of Irish ancestry had given him a kindly wit, which served to clothe the foibles of all with whom he came in contact with a gentle humor. His family, his friends, his casual acquaintances had apparently no faults in his kindly eyes. Only the good in humanity seemed ever to reach his perception.

The writer, after searching her own memory in vain for the possible word of criticism or of reproof upon his lips, sought among those who had known him best and most intimately for any memory of such word. The grandaughter-in-law, who had lived under the same roof with her husband's grandfather for fifteen years gives testimony that never in all that time had she heard him speak an ungentle word. Said the only son, "In my memory of Father, extending over a period of fifty years, I never heard an unkind, impatient or reproachful word from him." Brothers and sisters, whose memories of this revered brother go back to his youthful years, are able to recall no slightest word or act upon his part other than the most kindly.

The funeral services, held at the Methodist church of Spencerville, were under the combined auspices of church and Masonic order, of which latter organization Mr. Henderson had been a member for over fifty years. Besides the funeral sermon proper, which was delivered by the Rev. Swenney, pastor of the Methodist church, the Rev. Mr. Erick, pastor of the Lutheran church, who had known Mr. Henderson for fifty years, paid his dead friend a feeling tribute in an eloquent eulogy. And when the impressive burial service of the Masonic order had been read over the body of this loved brother, and the coffin had been lowered into the grave the large concourse turned reverently away, feeling that the last tribute had been paid one who would be to all, while life should last, a vitally sweet and beautiful memory.

Mr. Henderson is survived by two sisters and three brothers, Mrs. S. M. Braden, of Ligonier; Mrs. Samuel Stafford, of Elkhart; Mr. Joseph Henderson, of Ludington, Michigan; Mr. David Henderson, of Hudson, Mich.; and Mr. John M. Henderson, of Spencerville; and by two children, Margaret Jane Henderson, of Spencerville, and former county Recorder, John W. Henderson, of Auburn.

CARD OF THANKS

We publicly thank the good people for their assistance during the lingering illness and death of our father.

The Children.

You

have a good fire insurance policy to guard against fire loss, why wouldn't it be to your interest to guard against Tornado damage.

We sell Tornado Insurance for town or farm property.
The cost is very small.
The protection is very great

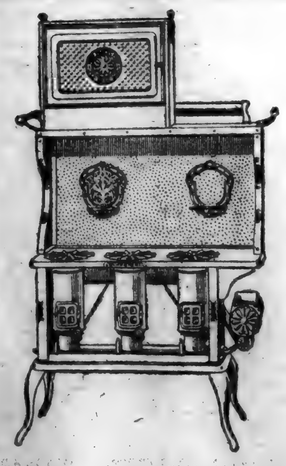
J. C. HULL
AGENT
Fire, Tornado, Life, & Accident
Call on or Phone No. 46.

Local News Items.

Rink Saturday night.

J. D. Leighty and wife returned home last week from the South, where they spent the winter.

Anything needed in farm implements, buggys, harness, horse collars, sweat pads, etc., you will find at Wm. Curie's.



Free Exhibition

Practical Demonstration
ON
APRIL 10, 1909.

An Expert Direct from the Factory will Demonstrate the Uses of the

New Perfection Wick Blue Flame Oil Cook Stove.

THE STOVE FOR YOUR KITCHEN.

The "New Perfection" cures common stove troubles. It is always ready for instant use; it cooks either fast or slow, and everything in a most satisfactory manner; it makes no dust or dirt and its principle of concentrated heat keeps the kitchen so uniformly cool that you might set beside the stove in perfect comfort while the kettle boils.

A TIME SAVING STOVE.

The New Perfection Wick Blue Flame Oil Cook Stove, thirty seconds after the touch of the match, will deliver at the stove top a strong, clean heat of great working power. More than that you may run it for hours continuously and for the whole time never be conscious of undue heat because of the stove. This stove is no experiment and has proven to be the most economical oil stove ever placed on the market, costing absolutely nothing for repairs and giving no trouble in any way.

COOKING UTENSILS FREE: We will also give absolutely free with each stove purchase on this date a valuable piece of Granite Ware. The purchaser to have choice of several pieces.

During the Demonstration You will be Given a Hot Roll and Cup of Coffee Free.

Call in during this demonstration, get a useful souvenir and learn something about the most successful oil cook stove ever made, whether you buy now or not. Everybody welcome.

H. V. KINSEY & SON

APRIL

0546

L 903

The St. Joe News

ST. JOE, INDIANA.

FRED B. LEIGHTY, - - Publisher.

1909 MARCH 1909

Su	Mo	Tu	We	Th	Fr	Sa
•	1	2	3	4	5	6
7	8	9	10	11	12	13
14	15	16	17	18	19	20
21	22	23	24	25	26	27
28	29	30	31	•	•	•

F. M. 6th. L. Q. 14th. N. M. 21st. F. Q. 28th.

PAST AND PRESENT

AS IT COMES TO US FROM ALL CORNERS OF THE EARTH.

Telegraphic Information Gathered by the Few for the Enlightenment of the Many.

Texas Tornado Kills Twelve.

Twelve known dead, property loss reaching into the thousands of dollars, and possibly a score injured is the result of a tornado which swept over the northeastern part of Wise county, Texas. Several small towns were visited by the storm, but none was entirely destroyed, although each suffered seriously. The greatest loss of life occurred in the country districts. The destruction of one farm house alone caused the death of eigth persons. This single tragedy of the storm occurred near Slidell. The farm house of Ira Rice was crushed in by the furious wind and the family of eight members pinned beneath the wreckage. A light in the house at the time of the disaster caused the ruins to become ignited and, fanned by the strong wind, the flames snuffed out the lives of the helpless victims. The towns of Sanger and Greenwood were moved from their foundations. In this vicinity Ben Wilson and Glasgow Clark, farmers, and two children of a negro tenant were killed. Mrs. C. M. Bedley is badly hurt with a broken leg, and several negroes are less seriously injured.

Three More Indiana Counties "Dry."

Three Indiana counties—Montgomery, Greene and Benton—voted "dry" in recent county option elections. This makes fifty-seven of the ninety-two counties of the state "dry," thirty-five by county elections and twenty-two by remonstrances. Montgomery county recorded the largest majority the temperance forces hove obtained since the option law went into effect last fall. It gave the "drys" the victory by 2,753 majority. Greene county, in which are many miners, estimated from incomplete returns, had given the temperance people a majority of about 2,000. Benton county voted "dry" by 886 majority.

"Anthony Comstock of Chicago" Dead.

Robert W. McAfee, sixty years of age, a veteran postoffice inspector and known as "the Anthony Comstock of Chicago," dropped dead of heart disease while walking in State street. Mr. McAfee entered the postal service twenty-five years ago as the representative of the Western Society for the Suppression of Vice, fixing his own salary at $1 a year, which sum, until two years ago, he regularly returned to the government. Two years ago he was placed on the regular pay roll. His home was at Crawfordsville, Ind.

Awful Deed of Insane Mother.

The bodies of Mrs. Amos Miller and her two children were found in the Farmington river near Simsbury, Conn. The children had been tied together before drowning ensued and through a note left by Mrs. Miller the probabilities are that while mentally depressed she took their lives and her own. Mrs. Miller was thirty years old and was a native of France. The boy was three and the girl five years of age.

Nest Builders Start Fire.

Birds building a nest in the trough on the house of John Tyler, South Thirteenth street, Terre Haute, Ind., had a match in the material. The match was lighted starting a blaze in the straw which also was a part of the nest material. A still alarm was turned in and one hose company put out the fire before much damage had been done.

Buzz Saw Maims Two.

Whirling at a great rate of speed a big buzz saw broke from its bearings in a mill at Hammond, Ind., and struck Herbert H. Holmes, fatally injuring him, and John Banks, who lost an arm. The saw cut off Holmes' nose and passed through his collar bone into his body.

Big Factory Burns at Richmond, Ind.

Fire destroyed the F. & N. Lawn Mower works at Richmond, Ind., causing a loss of $100,000. The factory has been employing 200 workmen. It has done a worldwide business. The loss is covered by insurance.

John N. Drummond Dead.

John N. Drummond, president of the Drummond Tobacco Company of St. Louis up to the time of its purchase by the American Tobacco Company, died at his home near Alton, Ill., of paralysis. He was wealthy.

Canadian Hotel Burns.

The Windsor hotel at Cornwall, Ont., was destroyed by fire. One man was burned to death, three are missing and twenty are badly injured.

KIDNAPERS IN TOILS; $9,790 CASH FOUND

Woman Arrested at Cleveland Confesses She and Man Were Plotters Against Boy.

WILLIE WHITLA AT HOME AGAIN

Confession of Prisoner Hints That Trouble May Be Expected in City of Sharon.

William Whitla is now safe with his father, and the hunt in which hundreds of detectives and police have searched scores of cities since the little boy was kidnaped from his school in Sharon, Pa., on Thursday, is ended.

The father turned over to a woman, the agent of the kidnapers, the $10,000 ransom they demanded. He then returned to the Hollenden Hotel, in Cleveland, and awaited the arrival of the boy, according to instructions delivered by the woman. Willie, several hours later, walked in. He had been sent in from the edge of town on a car.

Mr. Whitla not only had given the woman the ransom, but he had placed in her hands all the letters he had received from the gang and promised he would give no clew that could lead to her identification.

A woman and a man with $9,790 in currency in their possession were arrested in Cleveland Tuesday night, and the police declare beyond doubt they are the kidnapers of 8-year-old Willie Whitla of Sharon, Pa., who was returned to his father Monday evening.

What is believed a threat against the Whitla family was uttered as a boast by the woman as she was taken into the Central Police Station. Apparently befuddled by liquor, she said in answer to questions:

"I am the one who planned the whole thing. There will be trouble for me and h—— in Sharon to-morrow."

Beneath the woman's skirt was found the $9,790. All of it but $40 was bound in packages with the original slips placed on the money when Whitla took it from the bank still around it.

Captain Norman Shattuck and Detective Frank Wood made the arrests in the east end of the city. When near the police station the man broke away from Detective Wood and ran toward an alley. Shattuck fired two shots from his revolver into the air and the man stopped. The woman made no attempt to escape.

The woman appears to be well educated and is refined in manners. She says she spent fifteen years of her life in a convent in Pennsylvania, but denies that she has ever been in trouble before. Both the man and the woman deny that they know the name of each other. They admit that they are not man and wife.

According to the police, the two were intoxicated when placed in custody. Due to their condition they were not questioned closely by the police and were locked in separate cells. The man says that he has been a resident of Cleveland for seventeen years. He claims to have a mother and a sister there. Captain Shattuck is said to have secured his description of the kidnapers from Willie Whitla, and this description led to the arrest.

Willie Whitla told Captain Shattuck that the woman who kept him a prisoner had smallpox scars on her face. The woman in custody has red spots on her cheeks and appears to have had smallpox. She is a tall blonde, probably 25 years old. She was dressed in a black silk skirt, a gray coat and black hat. The man is dark and smooth faced.

Tuesday detectives heard that a man and a woman answering the description of the kidnapers had been seen on the outskirts of the city. They came downtown and bought numerous articles of clothing, tendering $5 and $10 bills in payment, it was learned. Later a report came that the two had left a package in a downtown store, which proved to consist of discarded clothing.

Captain Shattuck and Detective Wood trailed the man and woman around the business district of the city for several hours during the afternoon, but delayed taking them into custody.

REPAIRING MINE FENCES.

Companies in Anthracite Field Are Preparing for a Strike.

In order to be prepared for a strike if one is ordered by the United Mine Workers of America, the Lehigh Valley Coal Company, a subsidiary concern of the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company has begun repairing the high fences surrounding the collieries in Hazleton, Pa. New barbed wire is being strung along the tops of the fences. The fence around the colliery of A. Pardee & Co. at Cranberry, near by, also is being put in condition. Nearly all the collieries in the anthracite region, during the big strike of 1902, were surrounded by high board fences to keep the strikers off the property and to protect the coal and iron police. The miners called them stockades and several of the fences were set on fire and destroyed. Circulars were received from President Lewis of the miners' union, asking the anthracite men to observe as usual April 1 as a holiday in commemoration of the granting of the eight-hour day in the soft coal fields. The miners also are advised to banish strife from the union.

KIDNAPED BOY, MOTHER, AND HOME OF FAMILY.

LUMAN MANN IS FREED.

"God Is Just," Cries Alleged Strangler, and Then He Weeps.

Luman C. Mann was acquitted Thursday afternoon after the jury in a Chicago court had considered his case a little more than two hours. The verdict clears him forever of the charge that he beat, bound and strangled to death Mrs. Fannie Gilmore Thompson at a lodging-house at 1242 Michigan avenue. The scene in Judge McSurely's courtroom after the verdict was given might have been staged for a melodrama. As the clerk read the words "not guilty" Mann sprang to his feet, flung his hands over his head and cried out: "God is just!"

In spite of the solemn abjuration of the court delivered a few minutes before that no demonstration would be tolerated women screamed, men clapped their hands and several of the witnesses for the prosecution hissed.

ENGLAND TO BUY WAR SHIPS?

Will Get Three Dreadnoughts from Brazil, Says Revived Rumor.

The naval scare in England has been revived by rumors that the British government is considering the purchase of three war ships of the Dreadnought type, now being built in England for Brazil. In the House of Commons the opposition speakers made a strong effort to force the hands of the government into giving a guarantee that four "conditional" Dreadnoughts would be laid down. Premier Asquith declined to promise anything except that the vessels would be built if Germany continued her active construction of war ships. He argued that this question of Dreadnoughts had nothing to do with the maintenance of a two-power standard. It is believed that the premier's noncommittal attitude will occasion renewed agitation on the part of the press and the public.

AGRICULTURAL NOTE.

A bumper baseball crop is expected.

ADMITS THEFT; RESTORES $1,500

Iowa Safeblower, Found in Straw Stack, Refuses to Give Name.

The safeblower found in a straw stack two miles from Shenandoah, Iowa, has confessed having assisted in robbing the First National Bank at Imogene Saturday and with the officers went to the straw stack and dug up $1,500 of the $5,000 taken. Two other suspects have been found at White Cloud, twenty miles north. The robber in jail refuses to give his name.

GOV. CURRY QUITS POST.

Executive Who Thrashed an Editor Resigns Office.

Governor George Curry has telegraphed to President Taft his resignation as Governor of New Mexico. The Governor stated that although he had contemplated taking this action for several months, the immediate cause of his resignation was that he had requested a leave of absence to go to Washington to talk with President Taft and the Secretary of the Interior on matters of great importance to New Mexico, not appertaining to statehood, but that Secretary of the Interior Ballinger had answered that he should take up the business by letter.

Governor Curry on Saturday beat A. J. Loomis, editor of the Eagle, a Democratic weekly, in his private office at the territorial capitol building for printing in last week's issue of that paper a long article on statehood and the statehood lobby, which the chief executive construed as a reflection upon his integrity.

Loomis and his friends immediately started a movement to have Governor Curry removed from office, and were preparing charges to be filed against him with both President Taft and Secretary Ballinger.

ODDS & ENDS OF SPORT

Dorando, the Italian runner, easily defeated five opponents running in relays in the fifteen-mile race at St. Paul.

The Columbus American Association club has purchased Third Baseman La Rue from the Marion (Ohio) team.

Jockey Eddie Dugan got a penalty of two weeks for trying to block Fanatic in the final furlong of the race at Oakland.

The Minnesota-Wisconsin base ball league has decided to stay with the organization and keep out of the Twin Cities this year.

High Private, owned by the Forsythe stable, won the California Derby at Emeryville, covering the mile and a quarter in 2:13. It was worth $5,390.

A bill introduced in the Arkansas Legislature allows racing in that State forty days in the year, under a State commission.

August Belmont has established the famous race horse Henry of Navarre as a public stallion in England, and the horse, now 18 years old, by Knight of Ellerslie—Moss Rose, has been announced to stand at Lordship Farm, Newmarket.

So far only two trotting associations—Lexington and Columbus—have announced three handicap races, and they are worth $53,000. Kalamazoo and Detroit are almost certain, each with a $25,000 event, with many others to be announced soon.

Consul John H. Snodgrass reports from Kobe that it is given out that the Japanese government will ask the diet next session to appropriate a sum amounting to $175,000 annually for improving the breed of horses, and that this amount will be divided among thirteen race clubs.

ROOSEVELT SAILS AS GREAT CROWD CHEERS

Ex-President Starts to Africa After Fighting His Way Through Thousands.

CROWD BESIEGES THE STEAMER

Journey to Pier an Ovation—Delegations with Bands, Besides Distinguished Diplomats, Present.

Theodore Roosevelt sailed Tuesday from his native land for the wilds of East Africa in search of big game. From his country home at Oyster Bay to the steamship dock in Hoboken the ex-President's trip resembled a triumphal march, the feeling of the crowds which had gathered to wish him good luck being expressed all along the way in enthusiastic cheers. When he arrived at the Hamburg-American Line pier, where he boarded the steamship Hamburg, the former President found a throng of his fellow countrymen gathered. He smiled and bowed right and left in acknowledgment of the salutations of the assemblage and evidently was pleased over the warmth and sincerity of the demonstration.

One of the last things Mr. Roosevelt did before the steamer left the dock was to send a telegram to President Taft acknowledging the receipt of several pictures and a message of good cheer. The telegram read: "Parting thanks, love and sincerity."

With the departure of Mr. Roosevelt begins perhaps the most interesting journey ever undertaken by an ex-President of the United States. General Grant circled the globe, but it was for the most part in the beaten path of travel, while Mr. Roosevelt is going into a wild and almost unexplored country.

On his arrival at the Hamburg-American Line pier at Hoboken Mr. Roosevelt was greeted with bands playing, flags flying and several thousand people assembled to wish the distinguished traveler Godspeed. He was beaming with good nature and enthusiasm about the trip. Everything was "fine" and "bully" to Mr. Roosevelt and he acknowledged the cheering by repeatedly raising his hat.

FATHER AND SON HELD.

Arrest of Counterfeiters Is Caused by Young Woman Cashier.

Six miles across the sand dunes from Gary, Ind., a counterfeiters' den has been uncovered by Federal secret service operatives. The raid resulted in the seizure of a complete counterfeiters' outfit at the home of Ford Predom and his son, James Predom, who are under arrest. The Predom home is a short distance from the home of Adam Racke, who is known in secret service circles as the "wizard of the counterfeiters."

Although two molds were found in the cellar of Racke's home, and it was reported that he had taught the trade to the Predoms, he was not arrested. He is 68 years old, and has served five prison terms for counterfeiting. His home is in Horsford's Park, and he is the nearest neighbor of the Predoms.

In spite of Racke's past record and his many terms behind prison bars, Captain Thomas I. Porter, head of the Federal secret service at Chicago, expressed implicit faith in the professed reform of the "wizard."

The arrest of Ford and James Predom was due to Miss Mary O'Brien, cashier at the Thirty-fifth street station of the South Side Elevated Railroad, Chicago. It is asserted that they tried to pass a counterfeit half-dollar at her station. She refused it and telephoned the Stanton avenue police. Detective Thomas Mulcahy was sent out to find the two men and arrested them.

The secret service operatives were detailed to make a raid on the home of the Predoms in Hosford Park. The raid, resulted in the discovery and seizure of molds and a lathe, which is believed to have been used in milling the spurious coins.

SAVES GIRL FROM DROWNING.

Thirteen-Year-Old Lad Plunges Into Icy Lake at Washington.

The latest candidate for a hero's medal is Mylon Roche, a 13-year-old lad, who heroically saved the life of 6-year-old Clara Buscher by plunging into the cold waters of a lake near the soldiers' home in Washington, D. C., after she had gone down for the second time beneath the water. The child had ventured out by the lake with several playmates and was feeding bread crumbs to the swans. She slipped off the banks and was beyond the aid of her frantic companions. The Roche boy was near the lake at the time, jumped into the water and swam out to the child, reaching her just as she was struggling and seemed near sinking for the third time.

Tornado Causes Death by Fire.

A tornado did considerable damage to Fort Deposit, Ala. The negro quarter on the Norwood Johnson place was destroyed and a number of persons injured. On the Buchanan place the cottage of Miles Henderson was blown into splinters. Just east of Henderson's house another cottage was wrecked and a small child blown into the fireplace and burned to death.

Work of Congress

The Senate was not in session Wednesday. The tariff bill was presented in the House by Chairman Payne of the committe on ways and means and referred. Until it is reported out of committee, which Mr. Payne said he hoped would be at an early day, the measure will not become official. According to a statement made by him upon the flor, he did not anticipate any committee changes. Messrs. Bartlett (Ga.) and James (Ky.) made good their caucus pledge not to accept a committee appointment unlessfirst approved bytheir minority leader, Mr. Clark (Mo.), and flatly refused to serve on the committee on mileage, the membership of which was announced by the Speaker. No objection was made because of Mr. Bartlett's attitude, but it required a vote of the House before Mr. James was excused by the Speaker.

-:—:-

The Senate was not in session Thursday. The first piece of legislation to be acted on by the House during the special session was the bill providing for the taking of the thirteenth census, which was passed. In its present form the measure gives to the Civil Service Commission jurisdiction over appointments and provides for the printing of the reports by the government printing office. As enacted at the last session, the bill stripped the Civil Service Commission of such authority, and there was a provision allowing some of the printing to be done by private firms, because of which President Roosevelt vetoed it. A further amendment was made whereby appointments are to be apportioned pro rata among the States. The tariff bill was officially reported to the House from the Committee on Ways and Means and is now ready for consideration.

-:—:-

The Senate was in session just eight minutes Friday, adjourning at 12:08 p. m. until Monday. The census bill was received from the House and referred to committee, and George T. Oliver of Pennsylvania was sworn in as Senator. For four and a half hours the House of Representatives listened to the reading of the tariff bill, which was concluded. It was the only business transacted. It was perhaps the dreariest legislative session of any held by that body in recent years. Some of the members early in the reading took to the cloakrooms and lobby back of the Speaker's desk, while others left the building for the day. Mr. Sims of Tennessee injected a breath of life into the proceedings. He wanted the reading of the bill dispensed with as a farce, but objection was made. Then he asked unanimous consent that the bill be put on its passage, saying it was evident no opportunity would be afforded to amend the measure in the House. To this suggestion, however, Mr. Mann of Illinois objected. The House at 4:55 p. m. adjourned until Monday noon.

-:—:-

The organization of the Senate committees was the chief business before that body Monday, and, owing to the fact that the detail work had been done by the Republican and Democratic caucuses, it was soon disposed of. Many bills were introduced and referred to committees, notwithstanding it is understood that in the present extra session no general legislation beyond the passage of the tariff and the census bills will be undertaken. The tariff bill held full sway in the House. The measure was promptly put before the body immediately after convening, and in anticipation of the opening of the debate there was practically a full attendance of members and crowded galleries. Mr. Payne of New York, chairman of the committee on ways and means, made an exhaustive speech in explanation of the bill, the time he was actually on his feet being four hours and ten minutes. Then, somewhat fatigued, he suspended until Tuesday. He was subjected to a cross fire of questions, all of which he endeavored to answer.

-:—:-

The Senate was not in session Tuesday. Occupying the entire session of the House, Mr. Payne of New York, chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means, concluded his speech in explanation of the tariff bill. He was on his feet almost all of the five hours and ten minutes that he had the floor. His arguments covered a wide field. He took the position that the bill would not injure the tin plate or steel file industries of the United States and that free hides would not be a menace to the farmers. He discussed the inheritance tax at great length, and said it was preferable to an income tax, because it would not give rise to perjury or fraud. He held to the view also that an income tax was wholly unconstitutional. The minority leader, Mr. Clark of Missouri, followed, and had proceeded but a minute or two when, at the suggestion of Mr. Payne, he suspended and the House adjourned.

INTERESTING NEWS ITEMS.

George and Jerry Peterson, brothers, who were imprisoned in a mine near Salt Lake, Utah, for almost fifty hours, were rescued unhurt.

Diamonds and jewelry valued at $10,000 have been stolen from Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Chapman of Greenwich, Conn., at the Hotel Gotham in New York.

By Lord Guthrie's decision in the Stirling divorce case in Edinburgh Mrs. Stirling is allowed the expenses of the suit and Lord Northland is ordered to pay the cost of her husband's action.

APRIL

0547

L 903

Race for a Wife

BY

HAWLEY SMART

CHAPTER XIV.—(Continued.)

That afternoon Maude strolled out into the grounds. She wandered up one of the grassy vistas through the sea of laurels, until she arrived at a pond—a pond all covered with great large-leaved water lilies; and by the edge of that pond Maude sat down, and, resting her head on her hand, began to think. It was one of those warm sunshiny days we are occasionally blessed with in April. She thought very sadly of the life before her. Of course it was her duty to save Glinn to her parents. Why was duty always made so hard in this world? Ah! it was cruel of Gren to tell her he loved her just when they were to separate forever.

Maude slept—she dreamt; and she pictured to herself that she was drowning in some big lake; she was going down—down ever so far, and suddenly she clasped a spar of some kind, and felt that she was saved. Then a big brown man with fierce red eyes threatened her and struck at her, and just as she was about to let go, the big brown man suddenly vanished, and Grenville Rose stood in his place, caught her by the hand, and drew her to him. She fell into his arms; and as he bent over he kissed her. Maude sat up, and turned over her dream in her mind. It cheered her. She thought it foretold the triumph of Gren over Pearman, and everything all light and sunshine for the future.

But Sam Pearman, in the meanwhile, loses no time in prosecuting his suit. Diffidence is not one of his failings, and in such mock courtship as this there is little fear of the result. Before a week had gone by he was formally engaged to Maude Denison, and the discussion of when the wedding shall take place is preeminent between the high contracting parties. Maude listens, and assents to everything in a quiet, listless way. She treats her betrothed with calm courtesy, but avoids all occasion of being left alone with him. So far, Sam Pearman can boast of receiving but scant favors from the hands of his bride-elect. Her cheek is as yet innocent of his caresses, and a warm pressure of the hand the extent of his achievements.

No news—not a sign of Grenville Rose; and wearily Maude commenced going through all the ordeal of preparing the trousseau. They were to be married the first week in May.

But one morning a groom came over in hot haste from Mannersley with a few lines for the squire from Sam Pearman, to say that his father was dead. The son had told them a day or two before that the old man was ailing, but had had no idea that there was much the matter. Three or four days' illness, then inflammation set in, and old lawyer Pearman was gone to his rest. That ancient fisher would never angle more, and Samuel, his son, reigned in his stead.

"Put off the wedding, Nell, for a month or two, of course," said the squire, as he broke the news to his wife. "Otherwise it's perhaps for the best. I can't pretend to feel any intense grief about old Pearman, and his departure leaves Sam and Maude all free to enter upon Mannersley at once."

Mrs. Denison showed a wisdom on the occasion seldom evinced. She said nothing, for the simple reason she had nothing to say.

As for Sam Pearman, he bore his bereavement with tolerable composure.

"Sorry for the old father," he muttered. "He was a clever man, every bit of him. He could play with these swells, and manage 'em in a way nobody else I ever saw could. He was very good to me, too, always. I shall never have the head he had if I live a hundred years. Lucky I don't want it." Then he fell into a brown study. "Yes, put my marriage off a bit—hum! How lucky Coriander is entered in my name for the Two Thousand, and not his. Fancy his being disqualified, after the trial of last week!"

CHAPTER XV.

Grenville Rose, to speak metaphorically, has been paddling his skiff through troubled waters of late. Maude's short wobegone little note of dismissal, and his aunt's indignant letter, were far from pleasant reading to a man as much entangled as he was in the love-god's meshes. He sat and sulked—he sat and thought. They all ended in the same conclusion, that Pearman would marry his darling Maude, and that he was, and ever should be, utterly miserable.

Anathematizing, with an impartiality quite beautiful to witness, everything and everybody, Mr. Rose once more enters his sitting room in pursuit of breakfast. He unfolds the Times. Again, as a preliminary, does he ascertain the extreme firmness of Coriander in the betting quotations for the Two Thousand. Not that Silky Dallison's feed at Greenwich is any object to him now—he is too miserable to enter into such things; but he might as well read about that as anything else. Why does the supplement, which he never dreams of looking at, tumble so persistently across his plate?

"Let's have a look at the second column," he mutters, "and see whether 'X Y Z's' family are still in tribulation about his absence; or whether 'Pollaky' is offering his usual hundred for an absconded young lady, aged nineteen, good-looking, and with a rose in her bonnet—last seen etc. 'Births'—hum! don't see much good in them. There once myself, I suppose; nice unlucky beggar's advent to put in the papers. 'Marriages!' Suppose I shall see hers before many weeks are ovr. 'Deaths!'—I feel that's more in my line just now. I hope there's a good lot of 'em. How I should like to add one or two to the column—more particularly one. Hallos! what's this? 'At Mannersley, after a very few days' illness, in the seventy-second year of his age, Samuel Pearman, Esq.' Wish it had been his son!" muttered Grenville; and then he sat down to think whether this could by any possibility influence his prospects in any way.

It is hard to believe that there is no such thing as destinq. It is almost ludicrous at times to think what a trivial incident has turned the whole current of our lives. There is a large and well-known speculator on the turf at this time—a man, doubtless, worth many ingots and much stock and security—whose money-making career dates from the presentation of a case of razors, according to popular report. Who can say? Many such an instance might be quoted. Grenville Rose's life turned on reading the supplement of the Times, it may be said by accident, that particular morning.

I fancy no human being ever saw that generally light-hearted barrister thinking so hard as he was upon this occasion. He has won many a good cause since, but often laughs and says, "that was the biggest he was ever engaged in; and no solicitor to draw up the brief, mind."

"Ah!" he said at last, "I can almost swear I saw it. I recollect laughing over it at the time, and thinking what a quaint, queer old deed it was. Suppose I'm right—I wonder how it would affect things? I must go over and talk to Dallison a bit."

And while Grenville Rose crosses the Temple Gardens, let me say a few words about George Dallison. He comes athwart the loves of Grenville and Maude but for a few days. Yet he is destined to be the master of the situation of that eventful period. George Dallison is a barrister some two or three years senior to Rose. He has a fair income of his own, and has betaken himself to the elucidation of the mysteries of the turf. Rather below the middle height, with large liquid hazel eyes, a slight almost effeminate figure, feet and hands that would be no disgrace to a woman, and a soft voice, nothing could be more deceptive in appearance than Silky Dallison. His low, languid tones and caressing manner had earned him that sobriquet at college. It had stuck to him ever since. Destitute of whisker, a slight soft brown moustache just shading his upper lip; lithe, supple, almost girlish in appearance—such was George Dallison. Few men of his age rode straighter and steadier over a country than he; while Tattersall's had arrived at the conclusion that, though he might look young, nobody threw his money away much less than Silky Dallison. When, in his languid manner, he was willing to take a thousand to thirty about any horse's chance, it had a chance—a good deal more than, as a rule, can be predicated of the animals about which such very long odds are to be obtained.

"Come in," was the response to Rose's sharp knock, and Dallison was discovered placidly consuming a French novel in the easiest of armchairs. No greater sybarite perhaps ever existed; yet on Newmarket Heath, he would wait the day through wind and sleet, to back the "good thing," he had journeyed from London expressly for, and return to town without a murmur, if such had turned out the delusive phantom too usual on such occasions.

"Oh, Grenville, charmed to see you! Take a chair and talk. It's not a bad novel," he observed, as he threw the yellow colored volume on the table; "but I've had more than enough of it, and myself for the present. News! Ah, Gren, if you have any, unfold thy short, and, I trust, moving tale."

"Thanks! I want to talk to you a bit on business—reason I'm here," said Rose. "Shouldn't come to you on a point of law, 'Silky,' but this happens to be a bit of racing."

"You racing! What do you mean?"

"Have you seen old Pearman's death in the paper?"

"Yes," rejoined Dallison. "You're thinking of Coriander—makes no difference, you know—horse entered in the son's name."

"Suppose, Silky, I could show you that that horse couldn't start without my consent, or something like it?"

"Come, old fellow, no gammon. I'm on him for the Derby, and am only waiting to hedge my money till he's won the Two Thousand."

"Look here, Dallison; I know nothing about the turf, and have come to you to manage a great game between young Pearman and myself. Will you do so? Of course you can take care of yourself in the transaction. I can tell you nothing for certain as yet. Will you manage the turf part of the business while I work the legal machinery? As my idea of the case stands at present, I tell you fairly, I think Coriander's starting for the Guineas will be at the option of myself and clients; but I may be mistaken."

"Do you advise me to hedge now, then?" said Silky Dallison.

"Certainly not. I know nothing about the turf, but if I am right in my conjecture, the management of Coriander in the market will be, for the benefit of my clients, in your hands before a few days are over. Will you say nothing till I see you again, and give you, as I hope, the reasons why?"

"You say I'm to be your agent if it is as you think it. I'll ask no questions; but as you know nothing about that great elaborate system of gambling, yclept racing—if, as you think, you've any control over Coriander, don't whisper it to your carpet-bag till you've seen me again. I say this honestly, with a view to doing my best for you. Bring me your case when you've worked it out, and I'll tell you what to do."

"Many thanks, old fellow! I'm off to Hampshire to-night. I shall be back the day after to-morrow, though perhaps late. It will be all decided then. I'm playing for a good deal bigger stake than you, Silky—the girl I love and something to start housekeeping on."

"Ah," returned Dallison, "I like that: if you've got the first stake on, you're playing in earnest. I am still all in the dark; but if you see your way to winning the first, I'll bet you two to one, knowing nothing about it, I win enough for you to start housekeeping on."

That very night, just as they were meditating bed, a loud ring startled the denizens of Glinn. The advent of Grenville Rose seemed to the servants a matter of course thing. They immediately commenced preparation of his usual room. His uncle also was glad to see him, but to Mrs. Denison and Maude the thing was past comprehension. As for Grenville, he seemed perfectly callous—shook hands with his aunt, audaciously kissed his cousin, accompanying it by a pressure of the hand and a whisper, the combination of which sent the blood to the very roots of Maude's hair. Then he devoted himself in a most prosaic manner to some cold boiled beef and pickles, pertinaciously sat the ladies out, and as he handed them their candles, whispered to Maude:

"Hope for us yet, darling!"

"Now, uncle," he said, "I want you to come with me to your study. You recollect that old box of deeds and papers you let me rummage through two years back, when I went so deep into heraldry, and spent a good bit of time tracing the family genealogy?"

"Yes, my boy; but you don't mean to say you've come down upon us like a whirlwind in this way to continue that somewhat vexatious pursuit?"

Grenville said no more till he was duly ensconced in the squire's sanctum, with the box containing those musty papers open by his side.

"Now, uncle," he resumed, "I shall probably have to work for two or three hours through these old parchments before I arrive at the one I want. Of course I don't expect you to remain while I do so, but before you go to bed would you mind answering me two or three questions? You've always been very kind to me; Glinn, indeed, has been my home almost as long as I can recollect. My father and mother died when I was so young, that you and my aunt have almost stood in their place to me."

"Well, Gren, we've always been fond of you, nad glad to have you here. But what are you driving at?"

"Will you bear with me patiently tonight, even if I offend you? Will you wait till to-morrow, and hear then what I have to say before you decide about what I shall, perhaps, ask you to do for me?"

"What on earth are you making mysteries about? Not much use asking help from me, Gren; I'm about broke myself. You're in some money scrape, I suppose?"

Most of the squire's own scrapes having arisen from that prolific source, he naturally guessed his nephew must have involved himself similarly.

"No, uncle, it's not that. I love Maude, and want to marry her."

No words can paint Harold Denison's face at this last announcement. That there should be love-passages between Grenville and his daughter had never entered his head; and what could the young idiot mean by coming and telling him so now? He must know she was engaged to Pearman.

"Do you?" he said at length, in his most cynical manner. "That's a little unlucky, because she's about to marry somebody else. I fancied that you must have heard so.'

"You mean Pearman? Yes, I have heard that."

"Oh, you have? May I ask what particular inducements you have to offer, that you think it probable Maude will break off the prospect of a good match in your behalf? You may have achieved some unexampled success in your profession; I can only regret that I am as yet in ignorance of it."

"You only sneer at me, and I am talking in earnest," said Grenville, biting his lips.

(To be continued.)

DREW SHIP TO ITS DOOM.

Steel Steamship Wrecked on Magnetic Shore of Lapland.

That the seacoast's magnetic influence drew his stout ship to its rugged iron-ribbed shore is the explanation of Capt. Keldie of the wrecking of the British steamer Sandal, which was lost on the coast in question, and has made an affidavit embodying the foregoing statement. The affidavit is on file with the Board of Trade in England, says the New York Evening Mail.

Not only does the commander of the Sandal attribute the loss of his vessel wholly to the magnetic influence of Lapland, but Joseph Newmarch, first mate of the wrecked vessel, swears to a personal knowledge, gained by many years' experience in that region, of the magnet-like qualities of the coast which holds the bones of the Sandal.

Loaded with timber, which she took aboard at Archangel, in the White Sea, Russia, the Sandal was bound to the Tyne River, England. Capt. Keldie said:

"I am convinced that nothing could have saved the Sandal. The particular part of Lapland where she struck I have since found composed of iron and other powerful magnetic ores, and I am equally positive that the magnetic attraction disturbed our compasses and drew us steadily landward. The weather was hazy at the time."

Mate Newmarch said that for an hour before the ship struck it was impossible to keep her on her course; that her head kept yawning in the direction of the land, and that, in his opinion, the stranding was caused by the attraction of the land.

Controlled by Combine.

There is a trust in fuller's earth, with the final process known only to one or two persons, whose lips are rigidly sealed. The deposits of fuller's earth exist chiefly at Bath and Nottinghamshire, England, and at Maxton, in Scotland, in addition to deposits in the London district. The industry is practically controlled by a combine which strictly preserves the methods of preparation of the earth.

An evil custom and neglect of our own good doth give too much liberty to inconsiderate speech.—Thomas a Kempis.

When a man has not good reason for doing a thing he has a very good reason for letting it alone.—Scott.

FIND COOPERS GUILTY; 20 YEARS IN PRISON

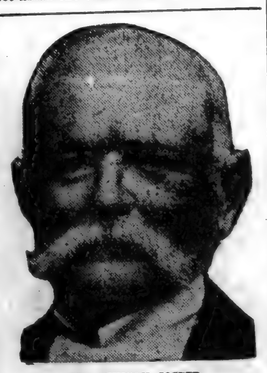
Jurors Bring In Verdict of Second Degree Murder for Killing of Carmack.

BAIL IS IMMEDIATELY GIVEN.

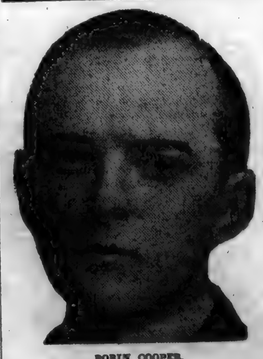
Friends of Convicted Men Rush to Sign Bonds Pending Argument for New Trial.

Guilty of murder in the second degree, with twenty years' imprisonment as the penalty, was the verdict brought in by the jury in Nashville Saturday morning in the case against Colonel Duncan B. Cooper and his son, Robin Cooper, charged with the murder of former United States Senator E. W. Carmack. The jury the previous day acquitted John B. Sharp, a co-defendant.

Immediately the defense moved to set aside the verdict because of the verdict of disagreement Friday and asked the court to declare it a mistrial. Judge Hart said he would listen to arguments on this motion later. He then fixed the defendants' bond at $25,000 each, which was acceptable to both sides.



COL. DUNCAN COOPER.



ROBIN COOPER.

The verdict, coming as it did upon the heels of Foreman Burke's declaration, "that we are hopelessly tied up as to the Coopers," was a decided surprise. The defendants took it coolly, almost without emotion. Mrs. Burch and Mrs. Wilson, the daughters of Colonel Cooper, restrained their emotion gamely. Mrs. Burch sat with her arm around her brother Robin's shoulder and Mrs. Wilson was at her father's right.

After filing a bond totaling nearly a million and a half, Colonel Cooper and his son retired to the home of Judge J. C. Bradford to discuss the next move in the case. Although Judge Hart fixed the bond at $25,000 for each defendant, there was a rush to sign it on the part of wealthy citizens of Nashville, which fairly swamped the clerk in the Criminal Court. It seemed as if every friend of the Coopers considered it incumbent upon him to sign the bond. When there was no more room for names at the foot of the document the new bondsmen indorsed it across the face until it was difficult to decipher the signatures.

$300,000 FIRE IN DEPOT.

Louisville Union Station Blaze Perils Passengers—Chief Clerk Injured.

Fire caused by crossed wires in the attic resulted in a loss of $300,000 to the union depot, in Louisville, Ky., and for a time threatened to destroy the structure. The flames spread with remarkable rapidity and employes had great difficulty in making their escape. Women waiting for the arrival of the New Orleans special fainted and were carried from the building, while G. T. Roach, chief clerk to Superintendent A. J. Egan, jumped from a window and sustained dangerous injuries. The depot was destroyed on a former occasion by the famous cyclone in March, 1890.

G. A. R. FOUNDER IS DEAD.

Captain Kanan, Charter Member of First Post Organized, Expires.

Captain M. F. Kanan, charter member and first commander of the first post of the Grand Army of the Republic ever organized, died in Decatur, Ill., Friday. But one survivor of the charter membership now lives. He is Captain Chris Biebeame of Bloomington. Captain Kanan served six years as Mayor of Decatur and also a term in the State Senate.

RIVAL TO STEEL TRUST.

Combine with $500,000,000 Capital Will Be Formed by Independents.

The great steel trust is to have a rival, also a trust, a giant with assets of approximately $800,000,000. The new combination, of which John W. Gates is reputed to be the leader, will include twelve or more independent steel concerns that are now, considered separately, thorns in the flesh of the so-called billion-dollar steel trust, known corporately as the United States Steel Corporation. Other plants will come into the opposition, but the dominant concerns, under the plan as it stands at present, will be these and one other still more important: Jones and Laughlin Steel Company, Ltd., Lackawanna Steel Company, Cambridge Steel Company, Pennsylvania Steel Company, Pittsburg Steel Company, Midland Steel Company, Midvale Steel Company, Inland Steel Company, Maryland Steel Company, Republic Iron and Steel Company, Bethlehem Steel Company, Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company.

The fulfillment of the arrangement for the new combine appears to depend upon whether W. P. Snyder, head of the big Shenango Furnace Company, the man who controls the independent pig iron interests of the country, joins the movement. Mr. Snyder is said to be more than agreable to the creation of a combination to battle for supremacy in the steel world, but as his holdings are so great in the iron ore territory his demands in the partnership agreement in Pittsburg caused the others to hesitate. It is not felt that they can be granted at this time.

The independents are on the eve of acquiring extensive holdings in the iron ore territory, but the trust is working to prevent the acquisition of the new sources of supply. If the independents obtain the proposed areas Mr. Snyder may not enter the combine, remaining, nevertheless, a most important seller of ore to it.

The present plan is that Mr. Snyder shall be the president of the independent combine. He has steadfastly declined all overtures to go into the United States Steel Corporation.

FLOOD SWEEPS TOWN.

Two Killed and Several Hurt by Bursting of Reservoirs.

Three persons were killed, three others probably fatally injured and many more slightly hurt, while ten or more houses were completely wrecked and forty more badly damaged when the two large water tanks supplying the city of Parkersburg, W. Va., with water burst early Friday. As two explosions were heard just before the collapse of the huge water towers, it is believed they were blown up with dynamite by some miscreant.

The dead are: Mr. and Mrs. Walter Waggle and small child. The bodies were found in the ruins of their home. The seriously injured are: Mrs. John Maloney, both legs broken, hurt internally; probably will die. Mrs. Kate Karnees, invalid, badly bruised and shocked; may die. Clara Jones, colored, hurt internally; probably will die.

The towers burst at 5:30 a. m. and the immense stream of water rushed down Prospect hill, sweeping everything before it. Houses were swept into the street and the residents were knocked from their beds. All the members of one family, while sleeping in an upstairs room, were carried down a street seventy-five yards, their house being split almost into splinters, yet all escaped injury except one girl, whose collar bone was broken. The two huge tanks contained the entire city supply of water and a water famine is now imminent.

The damage will amount to between $200,000 and $250,000. The St. John's Lutheran Church was almost completely demolished, but through its sacrifice many lives were spared and much more damage prevented, as it was directly in the path of the water.

ATTEMPTS TO TAKE GIRL.

Father and Three Other Men Seek to Whisk Child from Guardian.

Two attempts were made the other day by the girl's father and three other men to gain possession of 10-year-old Adelia Fromme, the adopted daughter of the Rev. J. Meier, pastor of St. Peter's Lutheran Church in Toledo, Ohio. The first effort to get the child was made when she was on her way to the Nebraska school, but when the men tried to seize her she ran and reached the school building ahead of them. On her way home she found them still waiting, but again she ran and was pursued to the door of the minister's home, where they demanded admittance. This was denied, however, and the Rev. Mr. Meier then reported the matter to the police.

LEAVES MILLIONS TO FAMILY.

No Public Bequests in Will of General William J. Palmer.

The late General William J. Palmer made no public bequests. His will filed for probate in Colorado Springs, leaves practically all of his $5,000,000 estate to his three daughters to be shared alike. Only relatives, intimate friends and associates are remembered. Edward M. Shepard of New York, who filed the document, explained that General Palmer held to the view that public gifts should be made before death. It is estimated that he gave away during his life more than he kept for the family.

Canada's Immigration Half Less.

The total immigration into Canada for the eleven months of the present fiscal year up to the end of February was 130,444, as compared with 247,056 for the same period in 1907-08, a decrease of 47 per cent.

COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL

CHICAGO.

Trade returns reflect the impetus of wider preparations for the spring activity. Bank clearings continue to show encouraging gains, and the commercial mortality includes a decreased number of large failures. Tariff revision may cause some temporary hesitation among manufacturers, but proposed changes are not regarded as severely drastic, and an early disposal of the bill is desirable. Larger forces now find employment in iron production, and the starting up of outdoor work has greatly reduced ranks of the idle. Notable improvement in current demands appear in steel, raw materials and general merchandise.

Building operations make seasonable expansion, and there is stronger demand for lumber, planing mill outputs and quarry products. Contracts for structural shapes add to the accumulation of work at the mills and forges, but pig iron for future delivery yet sells slowly at weak prices.

The money market continues favorable to borrowers, and this stimulates new enterprise and investment. Distributive operations have been advanced in the leading wholesale branches. Fashionable retail lines are unusually attractive, and near-by buyers appear in satisfactory numbers in the markets for prompt forwarding of dry goods, footwear, clothing and foodstuffs. Mail orders for fall and winter staples show increase, and advices are good as to the growth of winter wheat and agricultural prospects generally.

Failures reported in the Chicago district number twenty-eight, against eighteen last week, thirty-two in 1908 and twenty in 1907. Those with liabilities over $5,000 number six, against six last week, ten in 1908 and six in 1907.—Dun's Review of Trade.

NEW YORK.

The introduction of the new tariff in Congress and the advance of the spring jobbing season toward its close have made for a rather quieter tone in trade this week. A fair business is doing in nearly all lines, and the turnover is in excess of a year ago at this date, but conservatism rules.

Spring jobbing activity has passed its zenith, buying is only to cover immediate necessities, the results of Easter trade at retail are awaited with interest, collections are only fair, and the volume of business done this spring so far is, in some respects, disappointing.

Jobbing trade seems to have quieted down at a number of markets East and West; Chicago, St. Louis and Kansas City in the West, and New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Boston, in the East, reporting some reduction in demand, partly explainable by the advance of the season and the return of buyers to their homes.

Price reductions in iron and steel have brought out some new business, but unsettlement still rules. Pig iron stocks are accumulating and prices are weak. The same is largely true of other metals. Additional reports of wage reductions come from iron and steel interests. In the cotton goods line the spring rush is over.

Business failures in the United States for the week ending with March 18 were 224, against 254 last week, 308 in the like week of 1908, 187 in 1907, 170 in 1906 and 204 in 1905.

Business failures in Canada for the week number thirty-two, which compares with forty last week and thirty-nine in the same week last year.—Bradstreet's.

MARKETS OF THE WEEK

Chicago—Cattle, common to prime, $4.00 to $7.25; hogs, prime heavy, $4.50 to $6.80; sheep, fair to choice, $3.00 to $6.00; wheat, No. 2, $1.19 to $1.21; corn, No. 2, 64c to 65c; oats, standard, 52c to 53c; rye, No. 2, 79c to 81c; hay, timothy, $8.00 to $13.50; prairie, $8.00 to $11.50; butter, choice creamery, 25c to 29c; eggs, fresh, 17c to 21c; potatoes, per bushel, 80c to 90c.

St. Louis—Cattle, $4.50 to $7.10; hogs, $4.00 to $6.95; sheep, $3.00 to $5.75; wheat, No. 2, $1.29 to $1.31; corn, No. 2, 64c to 65c; oats, No. 2, 52c to 53c; rye, No. 2, 79c to 80c.

Cincinnati—Cattle, $4.00 to $6.00; hogs, $4.00 to $7.05; sheep, $3.00 to $5.50; wheat, No. 2, $1.25 to $1.28; corn, No. 2 mixed, 66c to 67c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 53c to 54c; rye, No. 2, 82c to 84c.

Detroit—Cattle, $4.00 to $5.65; hogs, $4.00 to $6.80; sheep, $2.50 to $5.00; wheat, No. 2, $1.19 to $1.21; corn, No. 3 yellow, 67c to 68c; oats, No. 3 white, 54c to 55c; rye, No. 2, 80c to 82c.

Milwaukee—Wheat, No. 2 northern, $1.14 to $1.16; corn, No. 3, 65c to 66c; oats, standard, 54c to 55c; rye, No. 1, 79c to 80c; barley, No. 1, 65c to 67c; pork, mess, $16.40.

Buffalo—Cattle, choice shipping steers, $4.00 to $7.05; hogs, fair to choice, $4.00 to $7.15; sheep, common to good mixed, $4.00 to $4.75; lambs, fair to choice, $5.00 to $8.15.

New York—Cattle, $4.00 to $6.65; hogs, $3.50 to $7.00; sheep, $3.00 to $5.00; wheat, No. 2 red, $1.22 to $1.23; corn, No. 2, 74c to 75c; oats, natural white, 57c to 59c, butter, creamery, 25c to 30c; eggs, western, 16c to 19c.

Toledo—Wheat, No. 2 mixed, $1.20 to $1.22; corn, No. 2 mixed, 66c to 67c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 54c to 55c; rye, No. 2, 81c to 82c; clover seed, $6.20.

APRIL

0548

L 903

The St. Joe News.

One Year - - $1.00
Six Month - - 50c
Three Months - - 25c

FRED B LEIGHTY
PU LISHER.

Entered at the Post Office in St. Joe as second-class mail matter.

Editorially.

Mrs. Taft, wife of the new President, goes about accompanied by an officer in uniform. Perhaps we ought to be thankful that she does not insist on being accompanied by a brass band.

President Taft has sent for the Chief Engineer of the Panama Canal and told him he wants the big ditch finished by January 1, 1913. We trust the Chief Engineer will prove equal to his commission.

We are heartily in favor of having the date of the President's inauguration changed from March 4 to the last of April. We may never get to Washington to an inauguration but we are not mean enough to want to see the day spoiled by bad weather for those that are. Moreover, some of these days, the United States will lose a President from pneumonia if the date is not altered.

Most parents will rejoice with Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Whitla over the recovery of their little son who for four days was in the hands of kidnappers. And yet all thinking persons must regret that it was necessary to pay the outlaws the $10,000 they demanded as the price of the child's safe return. Such a payment constitutes an increased inducement to lawless men to steal the children of other parents and subject them to equal anxiety and suffering.

The declaration of the new Attorney General, George W. Wickersham, that there will be no diminution of the energy and fidelity with which this administration will investigate and prosecute violations of the anti-trust law will prove a welcome to many people who have been perturbed over the widely circulated but ill-founded reports that President Taft and his associates would deviate widely fron the policy of his predecessor and wink at the infractions of the law by corporations of great wealth.

It is doubtful if any man ever set out upon a journey with the good wishes of more of his fellow countrymen than Theodore Roosevelt took with him when he sailed for Africa. His is a decided personality and his methods have been, to use his own overworked phrase, strenuous, but few men have inspired so many people with a belief in their sincerity of purpose and while he has made many bitter enemies, the great majority of his fellow-countrymen wish his a pleasant journey and a safe return.

Chairman Payne, author of the new tariff bill, made a masterly address in explanation of the measure and vigorously defended it against the attacks of the Democrats. Nevertheless, we venture to believe that the Republican party will find it difficult to satisfy the majority of the voters that it is a good bill which imposes a tax of 8-cents a pound on tea and fails to increase the tax on beer, which continues heavy duties on woolen goods and imposes higher taxation on gloves and stockings, while it refrains from lowering those duties which profit the trusts and the lowering of which would yield abundant revenue.

According to entirely reliable sources as information President Taft has determined to take no part in the framing of the tariff bill, to give no advice regarding individual schedules or specific duties and to become involved in no controversies with special interests. The President calmly asserts that he has troubles of his own and that he sees no reason why he should shoulder the burdens of Congress as well. He has, however, assured the leaders of his party that he expects them to enact a measure which will embody genuine tariff revision and at the same time produce sufficient revenue to carry on the business of the country, and that any other he will veto. Moreover, he has made it plain that if when the Payne bill is nearly completed it does not promise to conform to these conditions. Congress is likely to hear from him with a strong recommendation of some form of income tax, most probably a tax of 2 per cent on the dividends of corporations. There is something refreshing about a President who assumes this calm, judicial attitude, who leaves Congress to work out its own salvation as best it may and quietly awaits the result, only uttering a gentle warning that failure to do its duty will occasion the condemnation of the country and the veto of the President.

Women

Women who suffer from female ailments, frequently neglect their trouble, till a general break-down follows. Don't wait till your case is as bad as that—take Cardui in time. It is a safe, reliable medicine, for all women.

Take CARDUI

Mrs. Rena Bare, of Pierce, Fla., tried Cardui and afterward wrote: "I was a sufferer from all sorts of female trouble, had pain in my side, drawing pains in my legs, could not sleep, had shortness of breath.

"I suffered for years, until my husband insisted on my trying Cardui. The first bottle gave me relief and now I am almost well."

Try Cardui.
It will help you."

B 49

PATENTS

and TRADE-MARKS promptly obtained in all countries, or no fee. We obtain PATENTS THAT PAY, advertise them thoroughly, at our expense, and help you to success.

Send model, photo or sketch for FREE report on patentability. 30 years' practice. SUN-PASSING REFERENCES. For free Guide Book on Profitable Patents write to 503-505 Seventh Street, WASHINGTON, D. C.

D. SWIFT & Co.

Headache For Years

"I keep Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills on hand all the time, and would not think of taking a journey without them, no matter how short a distance I am going. I have a sister that has had terrible headaches for years, and I coaxed her to try them and they helped her so much, she now keeps them by her all the time. From my own experience I cannot praise them enough."
MRS. LOU M. CHURCHILL,
63 High st., Penacook, N. H.

Many persons have headache after any little excitement or exertion. They cannot attend church, lectures, entertainments, or ride on trains without suffering. Those who suffer in this way should try Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. They give almost instant relief without leaving any disagreeable after-effects, as they do not derange the stomach or bowels; just a pleasurable sense of relief follows their use. Get a package from your druggist. Take it according to directions, and if it does not benefit he will return your money.

Swept Over Niagara.

This terrible calamity often happens because a careless boatman ignores the river's warnings-growing ripples and faster currents-Nature's warnings are kind. That dull pain or ache in the back warns you the Kidneys need attention if you would escape fatal maladies—Dropsy, Diabetes or Bright's disease. Take Electric Bitters at once and see Backache fly and all your best feelings return, "After long suffering from weak kidneys and lame back, one $1.00 bottle wholly cured me," writes J. R. Blankenship, of Belk, Tenn. Only 50c at H. Milliman's.

Public Sale

The undersigned will sell at public auction at his residence three miles south of Rehobath Church and 1 and 2 miles north of Leo on Wednesday April 7 at 10 o'clock a. m. the following:—4 work horses, one 2-yr. old colt, one 3-yr. old driver. 10 head Shropshire sheep, 2 brood sows, 1 with pigs; 4 head of good shoats, 5 head of cows, will be fresh soon, some good stove wood, single top buggy, 2-seated canopy top rig, 3 seated spring wagon, 4 wagons, champion binder, mower, bob sleds, riding corn plow, 2 walking Sulky plows, spring tooth drag, hay rake, tedder and loader, plows and drags, riding breaking plow,. Also 3 heating stoves and cook stove besides many other articles not herein mentioned. Geo. Zehendner, proprietor, J. L. Rhodenbaugh, auctioneer, A. D. Brunson, clerk.

Culture Club

The Culture Club met last Wednesday evening, Mar. 24th., with Mrs. Florence Buchanan. The lesson on Hiawatha was conducted by Miss Edna Provines, and was enjoyed by all present. After the lesson and usual business, the constitution and by-laws were read by the secretary for the benefit of the new members. Twelve members then responded to roll call with miscellaneous quotation. The hostess then served sand-cakes and maple sugar. In mentioning the names of our out of town guests last week, these were left out:- Mr. and Mrs. Del Coburn, Mr. and Mrs. John Knight and Mr. and Mrs. Rolland Bearss.

PATRONIZES THE ROAD BECAUSE HE LIKES THE SOUND OF THE ENGINE WHISTLES.

The Passenger Department of the Wabash Railroad is in receipt of a letter from one of its patrons stating that he uses the Wabash whenever possible, because their engines are equipped with chime whistles. He says the shrill whistles generally used on locomotives keep him awake at night. All Wabash Engines are equipped with a standard six Chambered Chime Whistle.

Words to Freeze the Soul.

"Your son has Consumption. His case is hopeless." These appalling words were spoken to Geo. E. Blevens, a leading merchant of Springfield, N. C., by two expert doctors—one a lung specialist. Then was shown the wonderful power of Dr. King's New Discovery. "After three weeks use," writes Mr. Blevens, "he was as well as ever. I would not take all the money in the world for what it did for my boy." Infallible for Coughs and Colds, its the safest, surest cure for desperate Lung diseases on earth. 50c. and $1.00 at H. Milliman's. Guarantee satisfaction. Trial bottle free.

News Items

Charlie Koch and daughter Opal, were at Ft. Wayne, Friday.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills relieve Headaches, Neuralgia and all Pain.

Mrs. Mary E. Todd of Albion, was the guest of Mrs. Harlow Ulms, Thurs day.

Avis Sechler, who is staying at Auburn, spent Sunday with her parents at this place.

File a Mortgage Exemption and pay less tax. Now is the time. See S. S. WIDNEY.

WABASH

Wabash Time Table.

Trains leave the St. Joe Station as follows:

GOING WEST.
No. 11, Ft. Wayne Acc &.Mail 11:34a. m
No. 3, Western Express 7:58 p. m

GOING EAST.
No. 2, Eastern Express 6:34a. m
No10, Toledo Acc & Mail 4:59 p. m.

A WHOLE YEAR FOR $1.00

That's what you can do for some friend—send him THE ST. JOE NEWS fifty-two times for only a dollar.

Better than a letter, because it gives ALL the home news each week; there is positively no token you could offer which would make a home so happy in your remembrance as this newspaper mailed to some distant relative or friend.

We are making it just as good as it possibly can be done for $1.00. In fact, lots of publishers have raised to $1.50 on not so creditable a paper as this—and we tell you frankly that when you plank down your dollar on our table for a friend, you'll get your money's worth. This is a good copy to start with. We'll have an extra one until Monday. Yes?

FRED B. LEIGHTY
PUBLISHER.

Death to Dandelions

The following directions for killing dandelions have been sent out by R. W. Fisher, horticulturist at the Agricultural college at Bozeman Mont.

Iron sulphate or copperas as a spray solution for the eradication for dandelions has been tested by several experiment stations in the United States with more or less success. When the spray solution is properly made and applied the dandelions can be killed without injury to blue grass or white clover, except that the leaves of the white clover may be spotted a little by the iron sulphate solution, rarely enough, however, to disfigure a lawn. By keeping the lawn closely cut and well watered the clover and blue grass will rapidly recover from any injury which might result from the spraying.

How to Spray

An automatic spray pump of which there are several makes will give the best results. The nozzle should be such that a fine mist can be made, because if large drops of the spray solution fall on the leaves they will run off and no injury to the dandelion leaf will result. When spraying with an automatic spray or hand pump, high pressure should be kept at all times as only then will a fine mist be thrown.

One good spray pump will be sufficient for several lawns as it takes only a short time to spray a lawn. The spray solution cannot be successfully applied with a sprinkling can as the large drops will not stay on the leaves. Spraying should be done on a day when the wind is not blowing when the grass is dry and can be kept dry for 12 or 24 hours after spraying. The lawn should be well watered before the solution is applied, long enough in advance to permit the grass leaves to dry and still have the roots in soil moist enough so the lawn can go a day or two without water in order to give the spray solution a chance to do its work. If water is applied too soon after spraying, the iron sulphate will be washed off and no results will follow.

Spraying should be done about every six weeks or whenever the dandelion leaves show a green color, and by keeping the leaves killed by spraying with iron sulphate whenever they start to grow, the roots can be entirely killed, as it is impossible for the roots to live more than one season without green leaves. Spraying made at the experiment station with the iron sulphate solution resulted in killing all the leaves on dandelions, without injury to blue grass and with only a few spots on white clover which in no way disfigures the lawn. Where the dandelions are thick the lawn will look bad for a few days after spraying because of dead leaves on dandelion plants. The spaces where the dandelions are killed out should be seeded at once with blue grass in order to fill up the vacant ground and prevent weeds from germinating. The iron sulphate or copperas as it is commonly known can be purchased for a few cents a pound in the quantity and is used at the rate of 1 1-2 to 2 pounds per one gallon of water. The solution should be applied soon after the iron sulphate is disolved as there is a chemical reaction which takes place soon after it is disolved and if left standing too long it lessens its power to kill the dandelions. The iron sulphate solution is not poisonous to handle, but will discolor iron, stone and clothing and reasonable care should therefore be taken in applying it about houses where there are iron fences and stone foundations and walks.

If each city in the state would starte a force of men spraying vacant lots and roadsides and each person owning a lawn would properly spray his own lawn, the dandelion pest which has given so much trouble in the past could within one or two seasons be almost stamped out in our cities.

If the following instructions are followed out, good results will follow.

Procure a good spray pump, one that holds about three gallons and can be carried while spraying.

Spray when the leaves are dry and can be kept dry for several hours after spraying.

Spray with a fine mist which can be done only with a good nozzle under high pressure.

Use iron sulphate at the rate of 1 1-2 to 2 pounds per gallon.

Do not let the solution stand more than 3 or 4 hours after mixing.

Strain the sblution through a fine sieve or cloth into the spray can so that no material will get into the pump to clog it up.

Spray about every six weeks or whenever the dandelions start into growth.

Keep the lawn grass well watered so that the grass can overcome by vigorous growth any damage resulting from the spray solution.

Do not spray more than is necessary to kill the dandelions.

Further information in regard to lawn spraying can be secured by writing the horticultural department of the experiment station at Bozeman.

Curious Chinese Proverbs

The ripest fruit grows on the rough est wall.

It is the small wheels of the carriage that come in first.

The man who holds the ladder at the bottom is frequently of more service than he who is stationed at the top.

The turtle, though brought in at the back gate, takes the head of the table.

Better be the cat in a philanthropist's family than a mutton pie at a king's banquet.

The learned pig don't learn its letters in a day.

True merit, like the pearls inside an oyster, is contented to remain quiet till it finds an opening.

The top strawberries are eaten first.

Pride sleeps in a gilded crown; contentment in a cotton night cap.

Rossini's Criticism.

Very cruel, says an author, was Rossini's silent criticism of a score sent to him by a young musician. Rossini was fond of macaroni. The musician, knowing this, sent him along with his score a packet of macaroni of unusual excellence. In a humble little note he asked the composer to point out the merits of his work if he found any there. Rossini's reply ran like this: "Thanks for your score and the macaroni. The latter was excellent."

The habit of a whole life is a stronger thing than all the reason in the world.—Pope.

I Have Added

to my stock of Hardware a small stock of Furniture Iron Beds, Husk and Cotton Felt Mattresses, Bed springs, Chairs Tables, Etc.

HARDWARE

My stock of Hardware is complete. I have the largest assortment of Reeds Flintstone ware ever seen in

ST. JOE .

Look at the label, it it is Reeds Flintstone ware, it is warranted. Everybody is learning the quality of Keen Kutter tools. Pocket Knives, Razors, Chisels, Hatchets, Hammers Cross cut and Hand Saws, all kept in stock.

Goods are right, Prices are right.

D. J. Baker.

WHEN DEATH COMES

Friends and loved ones desire that the last services be conducted in the best way possible. The embalming and funeral need careful attention. Elza Kinsey, a licensed embalmer, takes charge of all funerals. Satisfaction guaranteed. Calls answered day or night

H. V. Kinsey & Son,

Phone No. Office 37-2. Residence 37-

PATENTS

PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo. for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc. IN ALL COUNTRIES. Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent. Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively. Write or come to us at 625 Ninth Street, opp. United States Patent Office, WASHINGTON, D. C.

C.A. SNOW & Co.

Mrs. Mouse and Mrs. Puesy.

A mouse went into the barn one day,
Where Pussy Cat slept on a load of hay,
But puss waked up and yawned, "Oh, dear!"
So Mousie remarked, "'Tis very clear
I'd better away to avoid a row
Betwixt myself and Mrs. Meow.
For neither here nor across the sea,
Is a big enough barn for pussy and me."
So while pussy blinked on the load of hay
The mousie winked and ran away.

Pretty Lucky.

Friend of the Family—You are very lucky, my boy, to be the seventh son. It will bring you everlasting fortune.

Son No. 7—It hasn't so far. All it's brought yet is the old clothes of my six brothers. — Detroit Free Press.

Accuracy is the twin brother of honesty, inaccuracy of dishonesty.—Simmons.

J. H. Lake M. D.

has permanently located in the O. H. Widney property on 4th street, opposite opera house and invites you to call on him.

Calls answered day or night.

BELL PHONE NO. 22.

St. Joe, - Indiana.

APRIL

0549

L 903

SPENCERVILLE NEWS.

A Department of the ST. JOE NEWS for the Spencerville People.

Old papers at NEWS office.

Wm. Wyatt and wife took dinner with Sam Stewards', Sunday.

Get your garden and flower seeds at Beams Store.

Dr. Bowmans' and D. J. Bakers' were entertained to dinner Sunday at F. R. Bowman's.

Get your harness oiled at Segar's. We are equipped for oiling and guarantee good work.

The W. H. and F. M. Society of the E L. church will meet at the home of Mrs. Wrenn on Thursday at 2:30 p. m.

Harvey Beam was at Ft. Wayne, Thursday and Friday, buying a line of bicycles and repairs for the coming season.

FOR SALE:—Bay Horse 6-yr., old, weighing 1,200lb. Sound and free from blemishes, city broke, safe for anyone to handle. Inquire of R. U. Bowser, Spencerville, Indiana.

Last resort on account of the failure of the weather to produce ice last winter, Addison Kline and Carnes & Co., were obliged to import ice from Michigan. Carnes & Co. received two cars and Kline one. The ice which was from 18 to 22 inches in thickness was housed Saturday afternoon and evening by a large force of men and teams.

A Crowded House

The Crescent Concert Co., gave their entertainment last Tuesday evening to a large and appreciative audience. The receipts amounting to $40 Each number on the program was given hearty applause. This was the last number on the lecture course and was thought to be the best of the season. Rev. Sweeney speaks of the Company as follows:—The Crescent Concert Company gave a recital at the Methodist Church at Spencerville, March 23. It proved a phenominal success. The house was filled to its capacity and after the program only words of satisfaction and commendation were heard. The department of these young ladies was complimentary. The program was of a high order and well rendered with just enough of fun thrown in to make it interesting and pleasing to all. These young ladies are artists in their lines, and the only mistake the public can make is not to hear them when an opportunity presents itself.

Spencerville R F D No 2

Onion Sets at Beams & Co's., Store.

Mrs. Tyndall is about the same at this writing.

Earl Stiman spent Sunday with W. Zimmermans'.

Mrs. Jane Davis returned home from Huntington, Thursday evening.

M. Oberholtzer and family of near Harlan, spent Sunday with Oscar Spitlers'.

Mr. and Mrs. William Sommers spent Thursday evening with C. M. Wearleys'.

Miss Clara Keesler of Spencerville, spent Sunday at the home of Clint Wearleys'.

Miss Flossie Dencer of Auburn, spent Sunday at the home of Wm. Davis and family.

Mrs. Ida Kelley and daughter Nellie, spent Friday afternoon with Gus Cupps' of Spencerville.

Mrs. Clara Clark and daughter Avis, of Garrett, spent Sunday with her parents, Geo. Howey and family.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Heyman left Saturday evening for their new home in Marion. May success go with them.

Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Lake and little son Harold, of St. Joe, spent Sunday with the former's parents, Nelson Lake and family.

Word was received here from Willie Benninghoff, who is working at Hutchinson, Kan., he is well pleased with his work and also the country.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Emrick and little son, also Glenna and Clyde Emrick of Huntertown, spent Saturday night and Sunday with G. Wearley and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Rhoads entertained the following, Sunday:- Mr. and Mrs. Frank Emrick and son of Huntington, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rhoads and son Merwood, north of Spencerville, and Mrs. Wm. Lake and children, Margie, Ellen and William.

Lincoln Said:

"An Investment in Knowledge Always Pays the Best Interest."

Try Trading

—AT—

BOWMAN'S

DRUG STORE

for your

Drugs and Sundries.

WABASH CORNERS.

Mrs. Sarah Herrick is on the sick list.

Roy White, wife and son Ora, were Sunday guests of Sherman Weiffs'.

Mrs. Hattie Tryon of Newville, was the guest of her son Rodgie, Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Bertha Wall of Columbus, O., was the guest of Orange Herrick and family, Wednesday night.

Susie Sechler and Ethel Baker of Spencerville, were the guests of Orange Herrick and family, Friday night.

Albert Hoffman of Charleston, Ill., spent part of last week with his cousins, James and Sherman Rickett and families.

Frank Pervines of this place and Atta Goldsmith of Spencerville, were married Wednesday, March 24th at the home of Rev. J. C. McClain in St. Joe. Their many friends wish them a safe journey on the matrimonial sea and the correspondent throwing in her mite with the rest.

J D Fetters

TRUSTEE

of Concord Township.

OFFICE DAY:

THURSDAY OF EACH WEEK at his farm residence One mile

EAST OF CONCORD.

Hats

Our hat department has the men and boys talking this season. The reason lies in some new things in soft and stiff hats. Also a good line of caps.

Beams & Co.

Spring Shoes

The latest styles will be found at our store in Patent and Tan Oxfords for Men or Women, and in fact for the children or anyone else. A full line of shoes.

We want your produce.

Emanuel Ulms called on David Miller, Sunday.

Sherman Wolff spent Tuesday of last week in Auburn.

May Daily spent Sunday afternoon with Wm. Pervines and family.

You will get relief from Pain when Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills are taken.

Mell Herrick and wife spent Sunday in Jackson Tp. the guests of Mr. Hilkey and wife.

Mrs. Pearl Simanton and two sons, Coral and Ferm, of St. Joe, were Sunday afternoon guests of Aunt Em Simanton.

As a rule women are more liberal than men. The wife who has a mind of her own is continually giving her husband pieces of it.

I have secured a horse clipper and solicit the patronage of those wishing their horses clipped. Harry Smith. St. Joe-Spencerville phone, F L 4 and Auburn 903-40.

PHOTOGRAPHS

We make them at the Tustison Studio. Fine Portraits on Postals $1.00 per dozen. Call and get prices on family groupes.

There are more McCall Patterns sold in the United States than of any other make of patterns. This is on account of their style, accuracy and simplicity.

McCall's Magazine (The Queen of Fashion) has more subscribers than any other Ladies' Magazine. One year's subscription (12 numbers) costs 50 cents. Latest number, 5 cents. Every subscriber gets a McCall Pattern Free. Subscribe today.

Lady Agents Wanted. Handsome premiums or liberal cash commission. Pattern Catalogue (of 6,000 items) and Premium Catalogue (showing 400 premiums) sent free. Address THE McCALL CO., New York

Our light is the Bystrom

I am exclusive agent for Dekalb and Allen County. We have them for the country home and business rooms. You can tell them any where by the soft white light they give.

GEORGE MILLIMAN.

AGENT.

Miss Weltz spent Sunday at Artic with her parents.

Mrs. Ratchel Mason of Ft. Wayne is a guest at S. H. Maurer's.

Miss Ethel Baker joined the Rebecca lodge at St. Joe Friday evening.

Rink Saturday night. At St. Joe. Come,

Jerry Klopfenstein and wife were Sunday guests of Frank Beams and family.

Mrs. Audrey Wade and Mrs. Princess Rectenwal were at Ft. Wayne, Friday.

Connie Davis went to Constantine, Michigan last Tuesday to stay with his sister.

Mrs. Rebecca Wise was called to Corunna, Monday, on account of the serious illness of her brother.

Ten Eyck Green House, cut flowers and floral emblems. Both phones. Auburn.

Wes Wise will move on the Henry Markle farm, east of town, recently vacated by Orson Quance.

Mr and Mrs. Ringwalt, Mrs. Ellen Berk and Dr. Carey of Ft. Wayne, attended the funeral of Mrs. Ezra Horn, Tuesday.

FOR SALE:—Grey Horse, 6-yr. old, weight 1,500lb. City broke and quiet. W. G. Erick, Spencerville, Indiana.

Money to loan on farms at five per cent interest on ten years time, if desired, easy payments.

DeKalb Mortgage Loan Co.,
Auburn, Ind.

Mrs. Magdalene Henderson of Robison Chapel and Mrs Matilda Whelock of Huntington, came Friday to attend the funeral of Wm. Henderson Sunday, returning to their homes Monday.

Rev. Rilling of Springfield, Ohio, preached to a large audience in the E. L. church at 2:30 p. m. A number of the St. Joe members were present. Rev. Rilling, judging from his sermon and past references is a fine minister and it is thought a call will be extended to him.

Local Briefs

Mrs. Herbert Webb is on the sick list.

Peter Kensinger visited relatives at Hurshtown Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. G. Murray, Mr. Charles Lake and Mr. G. Hollabaugh are new subscribers to the News.

Bernice Boger and Esther Rhoades went to Ft. Wayne Friday and returned saturday, Miss Boger took the teachers examination Saturday.

Undertaking and Embalming.

Two Funeral Cars. One in White and the other in Black. We also furnish one elegant cab for Pall Bearers or friends. Prices reasonable

Beams & Baker.

W. M. ALLEN

Barber.

We have taken the agency for the best wall paper company in Chicago and can show you the best line of paper and mouldings. We can supply you with the

Edison Phonograph,

2 and 4 minute records, supplies and attachments for machine to play 4 minute records.

JUSTICE

of the Peace

work given special attention. Try us once.

S. S. Kimes

—M. D.—

Having located in the Markle building, is now ready to answer all calls, day or night. He invites you to call at the office and is ready to extend you every courtesy in keeping with the profession.

Phone No. 10.

Spencerville, Ind.

Electric Bitters

Succeed when everything else fails. In nervous prostration and female weaknesses they are the supreme remedy, as thousands have testified.

FOR KIDNEY, LIVER AND STOMACH TROUBLE

It is the best medicine ever sold over a druggist's counter.

Our Deposits March 1st.

- - WERE - -

$67,127.93

Our Cash Resources Were

$22,487.49

or more than ⅓ of our deposits on hand for instant use. If Safe, Sound and Conservative Banking appeals to you we will get your business. 4% Interest paid on Time Deposits.

Joseph Witmer, Joseph A. Grabill, David Klopfenstein, Marcus Yager, John B. Haifley, John S. Klopfenstein, Julius Gehrig, Albert Egly.

OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS OF

Grabill State Bank,

Grabill Indiana.

OUR SPECIAL

THE NEWS

from now until Jan. 1 '10

for only

50 CENTS.

APRIL

0550

L 903

THE POPULAR PULPIT

THE RELIGIOUS LIFE.

By Henry F. Cope.

The path of the just is as a shining light shining more and more with the perfect day.—Prov., iv., 18.

"Either religion is everything to one or it is nothing," so a good many say, but the saying means more than they mean. It would be a pity if the religion of forms or of narrowing philosophy became the whole of a man's world. It would be a fine thing if the high motives of religion permeated all things in all worlds.

We have become so accustomed to calling certain things and acts sacred while others we call secular, to drawing clean lines of separation between religion and life that it is exceedingly difficult for any of us to constantly make all life mean religion and to make religion mean the whole of life.

Here are our creeds and our churches, with their customs and activities; these, we say, are religion. Here are our homes and our occupations; they make life. Thus do we separate the essentially inseparable and confound the tools and products of things with the things themselves.

The churches are the agencies of religion, the communal expressions of the spiritual life of peoples; the creeds are their attempts to state their understanding of religious experience and to formulate theories of the mysteries of the higher life. Church and creed are but tools and expressions of religion; they neither constitute it nor do they make it.

Religion is not a department or section of the life. It is a motive and method of living. It is our life in the consciousness of its highest values. You can be just as truly religious in making money as in saying a mass; you can be just as truly pious in making a pudding as in going to a prayer meeting.

It often happens that one's piety is better expressed in daily commonplace living and duties than in special ecclesiastical exercises. A church service or a prayer meeting may be the opposite of a holy place, while some home, where a mother is too absorbed in the care of the children to think of church, may glow with a divine glory.

Either God is everywhere or there is no God anywhere for us; either our religion operates through, molds, and determines every act and all of life or is an empty, formal, and useless burden to us. The religion you can confine to a corner of your life finds its grave there.

You may measure any faith and you may test your own by its power to vitalize all your life, to permeate and direct every motive, to make itself felt as the constant determinative force of your life. Whatever does this for you, that is your creed and your religion.

No matter what dreams of living bliss, what mystic pleasures or exaltation may become yours through your religious devotion, it is all a mockery and delusion unless its power is such that it goes with you on the street, guides your actions and your bearing toward your fellows, and translates its dreams into deeds.

When the religion, or creed, or organization, sect, or opinion fills all a man's mental horizon his heart is chilled, an eclipse of the soul takes place. But the religion that is like a well of water within refreshes and cheers him continually.

He only is religious who is always religious, always facing toward things true, seeking the higher and full life for himself and for all, making all his life tell for the best in all life, and somehow with his wholesome cheer and high faith and idealism, making us believe in goodness, and truth, and love after all.

BE HUMBLE BEFORE GOD.

By R. W. Snyder.

Humble yourselves therefore under the mighty hand of God, that He may exalt you in due time; casting all your care upon Him; for He careth for you.—I. Peter v. 6, 7.

St. Peter knew the value of his own prescription. It had helped him and so he commended it to those around him. It is a good prescription—as good for us now as for those of St. Peter's day. True, we do not live in such evil times as did those to whom the apostle wrote, and yet, let times be what they may or circumstances ever so favorable, our life must needs be one of more or less continual struggle, and so sometimes one of "hope deferred that maketh the heart sick."

Knowing that this is so, we should bear with a calm and sober heart alike the seeming good and the seeming ill that life may bring, knowing that there are not horns in each life's path: real hardships to be endured; real temptations to be overcome; hopes that will be illusive, and sometimes crosses that are heavy and hard to bear. Most of us know it, and those that do not will some day. Those are to be congratulated who have come to know that happiness merely is not blessedness and that "a man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he foreseeth," for not till then can we know what the apostle meant in saying, "Humble yourselves therefore under the mighty hand of God, that He may exalt you in due time; casting all your care upon Him; for He careth for you."

When once we have come to do that we will know that this is not a world of doom or of blind chance, but that in God we live and move and have our being; that "He ordereth a good man's going and maketh his way acceptable to Himself;" that events do not happen at random; that there is a reason for everything, even though we may not be able to know what it is, and that that reason is without fault or flaw because the all-wise God ruleth over all.

Believing this, we can believe that all things are within His knowledge and His disposal, because He is Lord of all, and though they might perhaps have been ordered otherwise, we believe they were thus ordered by the merciful God and Father of all, and so are meant for our greatest good now and here and forever. We may not always be able to see why things are as they are, but if we will stand steadfastly with God we can confidently commit the keeping of our souls unto Him as unto a faithful creator in the certain assurance that He careth for us, and that some day, if not now, we will see that all that He does or suffers to be done is for our final good.

WORK OF THE HOME-MAKER.

By Rev. W. A. Bartlett.

There is a tendency to-day to belittle the work of the home-maker. Our talk is about schools and universities. We exalt the club and the literary circle. The patient mother who is at home making some needed garment for her family is called the drudge and the slave, living in the dark age. Yet as a matter of fact all these literary people and those who are exploiting the so-called high ideals are dependent upon the work of the hands and must wear the garment which Dorcas has made.

All this talk about its being beneath a woman to cook and sew is absolute rubbish. The very manual training that is now being put into our primary schools is a reaction against such unworthy ideas. The woman who can prepare a good meal and who can fashion a comfortable garment, has accomplished a greater work than can be estimated. We do not need many more books. We are overwhelmed with reading matter of every kind. There are enough theories of life to make you dizzy, but the world needs mightily to be comforted, to be well and economically fed. It does not need showy clothes, but it needs enough to feel warm in winter and to add to the creature comforts at all times.

Peter raised Dorcas to life because she had been full of good works. She made coats and garments well and they were needed. But I doubt very much if Peter would find it convenient to raise to life dead people of this age who do nothing but talk and theorize; who write books that were better if they had never been born and who add one more burden to a heavily loaded world. Let us exalt the beauty and blessedness of the home and the home-worker.

SERMONETTES.

Character is the sum of all life's choices.

It is good to be wise, but it is wiser to be good.

Heaven's manna sits ill on the stomach of sloth.

Heaven is deaf to us when we are blind to others.

Star preaching is apt to mean night in the church.

A serene life always has storms in its past curriculum.

It is well to watch the virtues that employ press agents.

The man with a putty backbone usually borrows a pious front.

Men are never greatly moved by those truths they fully comprehend.

It may be the ill we are dodging is the cure for the greater ills we desire.

Little deeds are often like little windows into a large room.

A man never has any more religion than his children can find out.

You never make a mistake in giving where you give part of yourself.

The man who follows his appetites expects his wife to follow his ideals.

It takes more than singing "Home, Sweet, Home," to make homes sweet.

When the preacher goes hunting for fame the wolf needs no invitation to the fold.

It's no use talking about having divine grace if you cannot be gracious to men.

The holiest work in this world is buying happiness for others with our own toil and pain.

DON'TS FOR CHURCHMEN.

Don't sit still if you would avoid life's most trying situation.

Don't lose your faith in good things by feeding on garbage.

Don't make the mistake of trying to clean up the world by scalding your neighbors.

Don't mistake for the water of life that which gets into the milk of human kindness.

Don't fail to remember that capacity for heaven depends on the creation of happiness here.

Don't expect to find the finest prospects in life except at the summit of disagreeable duties.

Don't forget that while you may have a right to your own sorrows, you have no right to throw their shadows in another's way.

Smiles of The Day

What Made Him Funny.

"I thought he had been entirely cured of stuttering?"

"He was, but he started it again on purpose."

"For goodness' sake, why?"

"He found that his whole reputation for saying witty things was found on his affliction. Nobody laughed at his epigrams when he didn't stutter, so he relapsed."—Cleveland Leader.

Ubiquitous.

Dr. Griffin—I must say that the world is very ungrateful towards our profession. How seldom one sees a public memorial erected to a doctor!

Mrs. Golightly—How seldom? Oh, doctor, think of our cemeteries!—Royal Magazine.

He Knew.

Wife (laying down the daily paper)—Hubby, what's Wall street?

Hubby—The street in New York where almost all the residents go to the wall.—Judge.

He Feared the Cost.

His Wife—The dressmaker said I had a sylph-like form.

Her Husband—Great Caesar! I hope she doesn't add that to the bill.

Caught on the Rebound.

The old man was lecturing his more or less wayward son on the evils of getting up late in the morning.

"Remember," he said, "that it was the early bird that caught the worm."

"But how about the worm, dad?" queried the youth, who thought he had his sire up in the air. "Where did his reward for getting up early come in?"

"I am informed," replied the old man, gravely, "that the worm was on his way home—hadn't been in bed at all."

And there being nothing more to say, the young man said nothing.

Leisure with Dignity.

Knicker—Wouldn't you like to wake up and find yourself famous?

Bocker—I'd rather be so famous I wouldn't have to wake up.—New York Sun.

Saw Through Him.

Reggy Bluff—I was going to ask you to go sleighing to-day, but last night's rain has thawed the roads.

Peggy Quick—Oh! I don't doubt I shall enjoy the auto ride quite as well.

Mean.

Dick—When Harry eloped with May Scads he rubbed it into her father.

Tom—How?

Dick—He telegraphed her old man that they had been married—and sent the message collect.

Boy—Sixpenth o' cod liver oil, please, sir. An', I say, don't give me too much, 'cos it's me what's got to drink it.

Ambiguous.

Hostess—It's beginning to rain. You'll get wet. I think you'd better stay to dinner.

Departing Guest—Oh, dear, no! It's not raining so badly as all that!—Sydney Bulletin.

Quite Contrary.

"I started out to get a business opening."

"Did you find it?"

"I did. I'm in a hole."—Baltimore American.

Quite a Deal.

"There's a lot in that girl if it can only be brought out."

"Yes; she has a quarter of a million in her name."

Can't Borrow Everything.

Biggs—Shortleigh is a cheerful chap—never borrows trouble.

Diggs—Oh, well, I suppose he has to draw the line somewhere.

They Did.

Kicker—I got mixed up in a real estate deal last week.

Snicker—Did you?

Kicker—Yes, they did me.—Puck.

The Code.

Emily—Why are you waving your handkerchief?

Angelina—Since papa has forbidden Tom the house we have arranged a code of signals.

Emily—What is it?

Angelina—When he waves his handkerchief five times, that means "Do you love me?" And when I wave frantically in reply it means "Yes, darling."

Emily—And how do you ask other questions?

Angelina—We don't. That's the whole code.—Harper's Weekly.

Unavoidable Delay.

The Lawyer—You can prove an alibi on this charge, can't you?

The Crook—Yes'r; but we'll have to wait a week or two. The fellers I'm goin' to prove it by ain't out o' jail yit.

He Knows.

"Young man, do you know where little boys go that smoke?"

"Sure, I do; but I'm not allowed to say it."

Real Mean.

Pearl—And he stole a kiss?

Ruby (pouting)—He did and I shall never forgive him.

Pearl—Do you really feel so bad about it as all that?

Ruby—I should say so. He said it was petty larceny, while any other young man would have said it was grand.

Slyker's Way.

Muggs—Slyker has an underhanded way of doing business.

Buggs—I suppose that's why he usually gets the upper hand of his business associates.

No Room for Argument.

"My lines," remarked the poet, "haven't always fallen in pleasant places."

"I suppose not," rejoined the horse reporter. "The average waste basket is anything but a pleasure resort."

Proof.

Biggs—Attorney Coke is one of the very best men at the bar. He's thoroughly honest and conscientious. Take your damage suit to him.

Wiggs — I did, and he said he wouldn't touch it. — Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Reason.

Binks—I wonder why those two women so strenuously insisted on Miss Jones playing the piano?

Jinks—They had something to talk about that they didn't want anybody else to hear.

Wouldn't Have It Long.

Harker—They say that Rounder's wife has money.

Parker—Well, that isn't Rounder's fault. They have been married only a week.

A Pardonable Error.

Mrs. Henpex—Job, you've been riding in an automobile.

Henpexx—No, Maria, I haven't. I've just been cleaning my pants with gasoline.

Stingy.

She—He's very close.

He—Yes; he reminds me of an expensive umbrella.

She—How so?

He—He's a tight role.

Experience.

She—And are you sure you really and truly love me?

He—Am I sure? Darling, I've loved dozens of girls and I guess I ought to know.

The Limit.

De Quiz—Who was the meanest man you ever knew?

De Whiz—One who paid with a bad check the doctor who attended his mother-in-law during her last illness.

Great Magnifiers.

He—These glasses give me a very intellectual appearance, don't you think?

She—Yes. Aren't they powerful?—Boston Transcript.

Hard Luck.

"Why was your wedding postponed?"

"My fiance and his best man overate themselves—or something like that—at his bachelor dinner."—Cleveland Leader.

Couldn't Be Fooled.

It was in the midst of a violent scene. The indignant wife had spared neither tears nor reproaches, when her husband interrupted her brutally:

"My dear, tears are useless," he said. "I have discovered on analysis that tears contain a little phosphate of lime, some chlorate of sodium, and that's all."—New York Herald.

Heard in the Barber Shop.

"Our charges are the lowest in town," observed the barber.

"Cut rates, eh?" said the customer, as he looked at his lacerated chin in the glass.—Judge.

Paternalism.

"Do you believe in a government bureau for children?"

"Well," replied the thoughtful mother, "it might do for boys, but I think my daughter would prefer a dressing table."—Philadelphia Ledger.

BITS FOR BOOKWORMS

A new and complete edition of Geo. Eliot in twenty-five volumes will be brought out in the spring. One entire volume of this edition will be devoted to writing of George Eliot "never before published in a collected edition."

[illegible] the rights [illegible] publication will probably be handled by the Spanish publishers. "Where's the manuscript?" was of course the first question asked by the foreign publishers. "You can't see the manuscript," was the reply. "If you can't trust Rockefeller to write his own story in his own way, why, the deal's off."

In the list of New Year's sentiments on the suffrage question published in an English magazine, Miss Ellen Thorneycroft Fowler writes: "For my part I would advise the woman of to-day to confine herself to the four spheres of usefulness which are open to her and which she is so well fitted to adorn—the sphere of domestic life, of religious activity, of social influence and of intellectual culture—and to keep clear of the one sphere which is at present closed to her—the sphere of public and political strife—as every intrusion that she forces into this region merely serves as a fresh proof of her intrinsic unfitness for it." Ellen Thorneycroft Fowler is Mrs. A. L. Felkin and is well known in this country as the author of "Concerning Isabel Carnaby."

Defoe's Denunciation.

It is evident from the comment below, found in "Gleanings After Time," that there is nothing new to be said on the great "servant girl question." Defoe, castigating the extravagance of his time, fell foul of the downward spread of fashion. His theme was a familiar one—the heinousness of a servant girl's attempt to imitate her mistress's costume.

Her neat leathern shoes, Defoe's amusing indictment runs, are now transformed into laced ones with high heels; her yarn stockings are turned into fine woolen ones, with silk clocks and her high wooden patterns are kicked away for leathern clogs.

She must keep a hoop, too, as well as her mistress, and her poor linsey woolsey petticoat is changed into a good silk one, for four or five yards wide at the least.

Not to carry the description further, in short, plain country Joan is now turned into a fine city madam—can drink tea, take snuff and carry herself as high as the best.

A Persistent Hen.

Ever hear about our little red hen?
Well, sir, she was on the set for keeps
Couldn't keep her off. Old doorknobs, soda bottles, lamp chimneys, match safes—anything was good enough for her. Finally I put her on three mud turtles, and I hope to die if she didn't hatch out alligators—yes, sir, three of 'em! One of them ate her up and when we opened him there was the hen settin' on his back teeth, and they'd swelled up so they choked him to death.

Fame.

A chap once took his pen in his hand
And wrote what no one could understand.
His fame spread quickly throughout the land,
"It's great!" said every one; "simply grand."

—New York Herald.

PE-RU-NA

For Cramps in the Stomach of Six Years' Standing.

"I was troubled with cramps in the stomach for six years. I tried many kinds of medicine, also was treated by three doctors.

"They said that I had nervous dyspepsia. I took the medicine for two years, then I got sick again and gave up all hopes of getting cured.

"I saw a testimonial of a man whose case was similar to mine, being cured by Peruna, so thought I would give it a trial. I procured a bottle at once.

One of Them. (gnawing an ancient doughnut)—Working like beavers, ma'am.

Only One "BROMO QUININE"

That is LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE. Look for the signature of E. W. GROVE. Used the World over to Cure a Cold in One Day. 25c.

His Monumental Blunder.

"Deah boy, what is the trouble between you and the beautiful Miss Plumley?"

"Jealousy. I happened one day to speak of the marvelous beauty of Psyche and it made her furious."

Do Your Clothes Look Yellow?

If so, use Red Cross Ball Blue. It will make them white as snow. Large 2oz. package, 5 cents.

Anything to Oblige Him.

"Herbert," said the stern father, "I suppose you are going to marry that doll-faced, wasp-waisted, pink-cheeked, simpering, giggling, gum-chewing, poverty-stricken little Miss Wredlip."

"No, father," answered the dutiful son; "if you prefer it I will marry that long, lean, freckle-faced, sharp-chinned, goggle-eyed, solemn, austere, raucous-voiced, vinegary, suspicious, blue-nosed, lantern-jawed, prim, rich old Miss Allkoyne."

"You shan't!" roared the indignant old gentleman. "You're not half good enough for her!"

Thus a soft answer may turn away a hard fate.—Chicago Tribune.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS
FOR ALL KIDNEY DISEASES
FOR RHEUMATISM BRIGHT'S DISEASE BACKACHE DIABETES
75 "Guaranteed"

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, TORPID LIVER. They regulate the Bowels. Purely Vegetable.

SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Genuine Must Bear Fac-Simile Signature

Brent Good

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.

BILLION $ GRASS

Costs 60c—80c per acre for seed.

Most wonderful grass of the century, yielding from 5 to 10 tons of hay per acre and lots of pasture besides. It simply grows, grows, grows! Cut it today and in 4 weeks it looks for the mower again, and so on. Grows and flourishes every where, on every farm in America. Cheap as dirt; luxuriant as the bottom lands of Egypt. Big seed catalog free or send 10c in stamps and receive sample of this wonderful grass, also of Spelta, the cereal wonder, Barley, Oats, Clovers, Grasses, etc., etc., and catalog free. Or send 14c and we will add a sample farm seed novelty never seen by you before.

SALZER SEED CO., Box CN La Crosse, Wis.

PILES PAY IF CURED

We pay postage and send FREE RED CROSS Pile and Fistula Cure.

REX CO., Dept. B5, Minneapolis, Minn.

APRIL

0551

L 903

RHEUMATISM

I want every chronic rheumatic to throw away all medicines, all liniments, all plasters, and give MUNYON'S RHEUMATISM REMEDY a trial. No matter what your doctor may say, no matter what your friends may say, no matter how prejudiced you may be against all advertised remedies, go at once to your druggist and get a bottle of the RHEUMATISM REMEDY. If it fails to give satisfaction, I will refund your money.—Munyon

Remember this remedy contains no salicylic acid, no opium cocaine, morphine or other harmful drugs. It is put up under the guarantee of the Pure Food and Drug Act.

For sale by all druggists. Price, 25c.

Paxtine
TOILET ANTISEPTIC
—NOTHING LIKE IT FOR—

THE TEETH Paxtine excels any dentifrice in cleansing, whitening and removing tartar from the teeth, besides destroying all germs of decay and disease which ordinary tooth preparations cannot do.

THE MOUTH Paxtine used as a mouth wash disinfects the mouth and throat, purifies the breath, and kills the germs which collect in the mouth, causing sore throat, bad teeth, bad breath, grippe, and much sickness.

THE EYES when inflamed, tired, ache and burn, may be instantly relieved and strengthened by Paxtine.

CATARRH Paxtine will destroy the germs that cause catarrh, heal the inflammation and stop the discharge. It is a sure remedy for uterine catarrh.

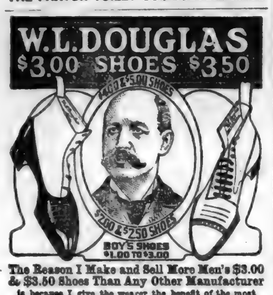
Paxtine is a harmless yet powerful germicide, disinfectant and deodorizer. Used in bathing it destroys odors and leaves the body antiseptically clean.

FOR SALE AT DRUG STORES, 50c. OR POSTPAID BY MAIL.

LARGE SAMPLE FREE!

THE PAXTON TOILET CO., BOSTON, MASS.

W. L. DOUGLAS
$3.00 SHOES $3.50



The Reason I Make and Sell More Men's $3.00 & $3.50 Shoes Than Any Other Manufacturer is because I give the wearer the benefit of the most complete organization of trained experts and skilled shoemakers in the country.

The selection of the leathers for each part of the shoe, and every detail of the making in every department, is looked after by the best shoemakers in the shoe industry.

If I could show you how carefully W. L. Douglas shoes are made, you would then understand why they hold their shape, fit better, and wear longer than any other make.

My Method of Tanning the Soles makes them More Flexible and Longer Wearing than any others.

Shoes for Every Member of the Family, Men, Boys, Women, Misses and Children.

For sale by shoe dealers everywhere.

CAUTION! None genuine without W. L. Douglas name and price stamped on bottom.

Fast Color Eyelets Used Exclusively. Catalog mailed free.

W. L. DOUGLAS, 167 Spark St., Brockton, Mass.

On Rainy Days
A Fish Brand Slicker will keep you dry

And give you full value in comfort and long wear

$3.00

GUARANTEED WATERPROOF

Sold by first-class Retailers the country over. Send for our Free Catalogue

A. J. TOWER CO.
BOSTON, U. S. A.

TOWER CANADIAN CO., Ltd.
TORONTO, CANADA

TOWER'S FISH BRAND

Constipation

"For over nine years I suffered with chronic constipation and during this time I had to take an injection of warm water once every 24 hours before I could have an action on my bowels. Happily I tried Cascarets, and today I am a well man. During the nine years before I used Cascarets I suffered untold misery with internal piles. Thanks to you, I am free from all that this morning. You can use this in behalf of suffering humanity. B. F. Fisher, Roanoke, Ill.

Pleasant, Palatable, Potent, Taste Good. Do Good. Never Sicken, Weaken or Gripe. 10c, 25c, 50c. Never sold in bulk. The genuine tablet stamped C C C. Guaranteed to cure or your money back. 909

Let us do your Printing using

Eagle Linen

for your office stationery. You can get the paper and envelopes to match.

It is the real thing. Take no other.

A HOME FOR YOU
"In the Land of the BIG RED CLOVER"

VILAS COUNTY, WISCONSIN. Excellent markets. No crop failures. Good roads, schools, towns. $12.50 per acre. Easy terms. Suspended payments to actual settlers. For maps, views, particulars, a card to

YALE LAND CO., Minneapolis, Minn.

FOR SALE—Michigan Farms; All sizes, Southern and Central Michigan. Write for list and terms. Eldo Murray & Co., Charlotte, Mich.

If afflicted with sore eyes, use THOMPSON'S EYE WATER

REVIEW OF INDIANA

The Lake Shore railroad will contribute $5,000 toward the enlarging of the Y. M. C. A. building at Elkhart, and the establihsing of a gymnasium there if citizens of the town will raise $7,600 for the same purpose.

Matthew W. Avery, of St. Paul, believes he is the first man in Indiana to plant corn this season. He planted five grains on February 19, his seventy-eighth birthday, in a large flower urn in Dr. Howard's office. The stalks are now about seven inches high.

Richard Sharks, aged 68, a photographer, formerly of Washington, committed suicide, despondent because he was out of employment. He left a note saying: "No home; no hope for the better; no use expense of inquest; clear case cyanide poisoning, premeditated; mind unimpaired, with no delusions; from choice deliberately done." He was divorced from his wife.

John Oldfield, of Shelbyville, had a narrow escape from being blown to pieces a few days ago. He went out to his coal bin to get some coal. He struck a large lump with an ax and as part of the edge was broken off he saw a stick protruding from it. Pulling this out he discovered it to be a stick of dynamite, which had failed to explode when the coal was being mined.

"It's certainly beastly weather for this time of year," remarked a stranger, affably, to William Smith, manager of one of the Gallther-Whitehill-Hickson stores in Muncie, as the unknown engaged Smith in conversation. A companion of the stranger, in the meantime, walked into the store, took $30 from the cash register and disappeared, leaving no clew except a few tracks in the snow.

Frank Hogue was killed and Isaac Morris was seriously burned by an explosion of a keg of powder at Wabash mine, west of Terre Haute. Hogue was sitting on the keg containing twenty-five pounds of blasting powder when it exploded. It was caused by the explosion of a small quantity of powder in an open keg over which Morris had leaned. A spark from the lamp on his cap fell into the loose powder.

During the absence of Mrs. Ted Riley at the home of a neighbor in Elwood, leaving her doors unlocked, a tramp who had called for a "hand-out" entered the building and in ransacking the drawers of a dresser in a bedroom, ran across a pocketbook containing $200 in bills, which the wife had placed there until the bank opened, intending to deposit it. Two revolvers that were in the drawer were also taken and the "hobo" made his escape, leaving no clew.

The town of Henryville, eighteen miles north of Jeffersonville, boasts two hale and vigorous nonagenarians. Thomas Montgomery was in town one day last week, driving in himself from his home nearby, although he is ninety-three. Thomas Freeman, who makes his home with his son, Ramy Freeman, is also in his ninety-fourth year, but is able to get around lively and spends much of his time reading, even the small print of the newspapers being easily within his power to decipher.

Mrs. Harry Thomas, northeast of Sullivan, had both legs broken and was otherwise severely injured, by a folding bed. She had slept late in the morning, and when she started to arise from the bed the catch that held the body of the bed in a horizontal position was released. The bed flew upward, catching Mrs. Thomas between the side and back. The bones of both legs were crushed and one rib was cracked. She was also injured internally, but none of the hurts is expected to result fatally.

Several young men who live in the neighborhood of Ogilville, Bartholomew county, saw a strange light one night last week, while they were returning to their homes from a social gathering. The young men say they saw a bright and intense light in the sky which continued to approach them until it struck the ground a few rods away. The night was made so light that the young men say they could see as plainly as in daylight. They hastened to the spot where the light seemed to disappear in the ground, but could find no trace of anything.

Mrs. John Kuchowis, of South Bend, accidentally killed her five-weeks-old baby by giving it a dose of soothing syrup with the intention of curing a cold from which the infant was sufferiag. The baby took ill suddenly, and Mrs. Kuckowis, not being familiar with the use of medicines, gave the child a large dose of a soothing syrup which contains one-tenth of a grain of sulphate of morphine to the ounce. The condition of the baby remained the same for a day, when, after another dose, convulsions set in. A doctor was immediately summoned, and on his arrival found the baby in a dying condition.

Two aged women near Charlestown are Mrs. Isabella Naudaine, ninety-two, her father having played a horn at Washington's first inauguration; and Mrs. Anna Shelby, who is two years older.

Mrs. Dr. L. J. Baldwin, fifty years old, a well-known physician, is dead of dropsy at her home in Hortonville. She was a sister of the Rev. Mr. White, who died suddenly at Indianapolis two years ago. She leaves a husband, one daughter and two sisters.

The stork has just brought the biggest boy ever born in Indiana to Mr. and Mrs. Reinhold Berg, of Hammond. The baby weighs eighteen pounds. The father is a milkman.

The large flouring mill of Kannapel Bros., at New Middletown, five miles southeast of Corydon was destroyed by fire recently. About 1,000 bushels of wheat were burned. The building was insured for $3,300. The loss was about $7,000.

Lorenz Hauer, of Brownstown, a few days ago, purchased several poplar trees from William Hackman, one of which was probably the largest tree in Jackson county. It was five feet in diameter and made six fine twelve-foot logs containing nearly 4,000 feet of lumber.

The explosion of a glass test tube with which C. A. Wildman was working in the chemical laboratory at Earlham college at Richmond last week, badly injured the young man, who is a student. Particles of glass were imbedded in his hands and face, and he also was slightly burned with acid.

Gilbert Woods, of Waveland, wounded himself in an unusual way recently. He was carrying a shotgun and a seed-sower on his shoulder. A companion, in taking the seed-sower from him, pulled the gun off, causing it to be discharged. The charge struck his ankle just above the heel, tearing away the flesh and a part of the bone.

A dog left tied in a room at the home of Sanford Snodgrass, in Greenfield, while the family was away, knocked chairs containing clothes against a stove. The house was filled with smoke before neighbors discovered the fire. The dog was almost suffocated and had pushed his head under bedclothes to escape the smoke.

Fort Wayne club women, comprising the Women's Club league, held a special meeting recently to devise plans to bring before congress a petition to lower the duties on articles of absolute necessity to the poor of the country. No mention was made of the duties on perfumes and other luxuries which club women themselves are enjoying.

Vandals at Elkhart scratched with diamonds nineteen plate glass windows, all on the ground floor of C. L. Monger's big office building. Each pane was worth $6. They also cut notches in oak doors, and in fifteen places in the window sashes of Trinity M. E. church. It is believed that the work was the result of the local option campaign now on in the county.

Hunters in the Petoka river bottoms near Petersburg, have captured a half dozen wild ducks alive. The ducks had taken refuge in an old slough where waste oil from the oil field had accumulated so that a coating of thin oil covered the water. The ducks' wings became saturated with oil and they could not fly. The hunters were in a boat, and soon tired the ducks out, and caught them all alive.

The bridge over Brandywine creek, near Greenfield, collapsed and went into the stream, carrying with it three teams and wagons loaded with logs, belonging to the Greenfield Lumber company. The teams were in charge of Bert Smith, Albert Reece and W. H. Tony, all of whom remained on their wagons and escaped serious injury. The bridge was one hundred feet long, without any middle pier.

John Ware of Jeffersonville, who recently resigned as justice of the peace after serving twenty-eight years, last week celebrated his 86th birthday anniversary. He is still able to walk downtown in god weather. Mr. Ware once refused to run for office when nominated by the Know-Nothings. He is the oldest ex-mayor of Jeffersonville, having served from 1865 to 1867 and is one of the lodest Odd Fellows in the city.

George E. Lyon, a well-known live stock buyer of Lafayette was instantly killed on the farm of William Washburn, a few miles northeast of Lafayette. Mr. Lyon was instructing Frank Weaver, a young Buckcreek butcher, in the art of killing cattle by shooting them with a rifle. Washburn shot once at a calf, when the wounded animal turned on him and he fled. As he climbed over a fence the trigger of the gun caught on an obstacle and the weapon was discharged. The bullet passed through Lyon's heart.

Mrs. Elmer Young, wife of a patrolman; Mrs. John Gunn, whose husband is a drug clerk, and John Van Rennsalear, a clerk in a 5 and 10-cent store, all of Fort Wayne are the direct beneficiaries in the estae of their grandmother, Mrs. Elisabeth Van Rennsalear, who died at Toledo last week and whose property is estimated to be worth $125,000. Mrs. Young receives 100 acres of land near Toledo, Mrs Gunn 100 acres in Ireland and Mr. Van Rennsalear 160 acres in Paulding county, Ohio. Considerable money and personal property is also to be distributed.

When busy behind the bar of his saloon in Indianapolis, Frederick P. Elstrod suddenly stopped work and killed himself with a butcher knife used on the lunch counter. It is supposed he was demented.

Margaret Goote, twenty years old, was fatally burned at her home near Washington. The lower door of a heating teove was open and when she passed it her dress vaught fire. All her clothing was burned off and she will die.

Would Take Chances.

Mr. Philanthropist was passing a bakery when he observed a little girl gazing with longing eyes at some cakes displayed in the window. The youngster's wistful gaze was too much for Mr. Philanthropist, so he took immediate measures to satisfy her longing.

When she had in short order disposed of a rich bit of pastry she calmly asked for another.

"I should like very much to give you another," said the kindly man, "but I'm afraid it would make you sick."

"Get it for me anyhow," quickly responded the little girl. "I can git all the med'cine I need at the dispensary fer nuthin'."—New York Herald.

STABS OF PAIN.

Like Thrusts of a Knife in the Back.

William H. Walter, Chatsworth, Ill., says: "Pains in my back that felt like knife thrusts made me quit work and take to my bed. The urine was cloudy and contained much sediment. The doctor was not helping me and I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. They stopped that attack and as I kept on using, the treatment cleared my system of uric acid, regulated the urine and cured the bachache."

Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

A Dangerous Place.

The two tramps had been particularly lucky, and, having funds in hand, they discussed plans for the night's shelter. "We can sleep under a roof if we like," said Wiggins.

"Sure we can," responded Higgins, "but some way those lodging houses make me nervous. Suppose a fire was to break out in the night?"

"You've got it right," agreed Wiggins dolefully. "It's no place for us. They'd turn the hose on us in a minute!"—Youth's Companion.

How's This?

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligations made by his firm.

WALDING, KINNAN & MARVIN, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Testimonials sent free. Price 75 cents per bottle. Sold by all Druggists.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Possibly.

"Uncle Bruno, why is it that your people increase so much faster than the white people do?"

"'Deed I dunno, boss, onless it's 'cause dah's mo' of us bawn."—Chicago Tribune.

No Wonder She's Cross.

The woman who has a thousand petty cares and annoyances while she suffers with headache or sideache must not be blamed if she cannot always be angelically amiable. What she needs is thoughtfulness from her family and such a simple and natural remedy as Lane's Family Medicine, the herb tea that makes weak women strong and well. Sold by druggists and dealers. 25c.

Sheer-Luck Blake.

The modern Sexton Blake climbed through the kitchen window, followed by his faithful ally, Bunny—or was it Watson?

"Ah!" exclaimed Blake, surveying the surroundings, "I find that his wife is away!"

"And how long has she been away?" asked his ally.

"Exactly thirty days."

"And how on earth are you able to tell that?"

"My dear fellow, by the unwashed dishes and cups and saucers. There are ninety of each, in all, which shows that he has used three a day for thirty days and left them for her to wash when she comes home—same as we all do. Simplest thing in the world, my dear fellow; simplest thing in the world!"

Brown's Bronchial Troches relieve Throat Irritations caused by cold or use of the voice. In boxes 25 cents. Samples mailed free. John I. Brown & Son, Boston, Mass.

Scholarly Ignorance.

Prof. McGoozle (stopping in front of a shop window)—My dear, this is the most remarkable collection of unique waste baskets I ever saw.

Mrs. McGoozle—Waste baskets! You helpless ninny! Those are the new styles of spring hats!

Wise people use Hamlins Wizard Oil to stop pain because they know it always makes good. Foolish people try experiments. Ask your druggists about it.

The Affectionate Kinsman.

His Legal Adviser—That distant relative of yours is an old nuisance, you say and yet you think you ought to do something for him, do you? Well, why not settle an annuity on him?

Millionaire—Great Caesar, no! People who draw annuities never die!

Your working power depends upon your health! Garfield Tea corrects disorders of liver, kidneys, stomach and bowels; overcomes constipation, purifies the blood—brings good health.

Cynical.

A Chicago professor says: "The man who never parleys over cab fare, who never scans the prices on a menu, and who hibernates when he's broke, carries an infallible amulet against feminine criticism."—Kansas City Star.

Red, Weak, Weary, Watery Eyes Relieved by Murine Eye Remedy. Compounded by Experienced Physicians. Murine Doesn't Smart; Soothes Eye Pain. Write Murine Eye Remedy Co., Chicago, for illustrated Eye Book Free.

BURNED AND ITCHED.

Eczema on Hand, Arms, Legs and Face—It Was Something Terrible—Complete Cure by Cuticura.

"About fifteen or eighteen years ago eczema developed on top of my hand. It burned and itched so much that I was compelled to show it to a doctor. He pronounced it ringworm. After trying his different remedies the disease increased and went up my arms and to my legs and finally on my face. The burning was something terrible. I went to another doctor who had the reputation of being the best in town. He told me it was eczema. His medicine checked the advance of the disease, but no further. I finally concluded to try the Cuticura Remedies and found relief in the first trial. I continued until I was free from the disease and I have not been troubled since. C. Burkhart, 236 W. Market St., Chambersburg, Pa., Sept. 19, 1908."

Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props. of Cuticura Remedies, Boston.

What a Former Oregon Farmer Thinks of Western Canada.

Albert Nelson left Benton County, Oregon, in September, 1904, for the great Canadian prairies. To quote from his letter: I was greatly surprised to find such an immense stretch of rich virgin prairie still almost unoccupied in the very heart of North America. The splendid crops of oats, wheat, barley, potatoes and hay I beheld in the settlements made me very eager for a piece of this rich soil, and I soon located in the Goose Lake country. We have here a great stretch of the rich deep clay loam of the Saskatchewan—a soil heavy and hard to break, but particularly well adapted for the retention of moisture and production of the bright No. 1 hard wheat, and great crops of oats, barley, flax and potatoes. I had 60 bushels of oats weighing 44 pounds to the bushel per acre. Some of my neighbors had still greater yield. Wheat yielded from 20 to 30 bushels per acre. We have all done well here, and I could name many Americans who came here with means to go ahead, who have done big already. For homesteads one has to go further west, but the best prairie can be bought here for from $12 to $16 per acre. The climate is dry and healthy. This is the regular Saskatchewan fall weather—frosty nights and bright sunny days—ideal for threshing and hauling out of wheat. The trails are dusty, as thousands of wheat teams are moving towards the elevators.

The sight of it makes one stop and wonder what it will be in a few years when the immense prairies get under cultivation. Heavy snowfall is the exception here. Snow generally falls in December and goes off in March. It sometimes gets very cold, but the Saskatchewan farmer does not fear the cold. Winter is his season of rest. The first or second crop he builds a comfortable house for himself, and warm stables for his horses. He need not, like some, be poking about in the mud all winter attending a few beasts for a livelihood.

Germany used two and one-quarter million tons of potatoes yearly in the manufacture of alcohol, and only 350,000 tons of grain for the same purpose.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refunded. 50c.

The electric motors on the New York Edison system aggregate 205,373 horsepower.

Clear, white clothes are a sign that the housekeeper uses Red Cross Ball Blue. Large 2oz. package, 5 cents.

Wireless telephony installed on battleships works successfully in some cases, but is unsatisfactory in others.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children teething; softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25 cents a bottle.

AFTER DOCTORS FAILED
Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Cured Her.

Willimantic, Conn.—"For five years I suffered untold agony from female troubles, causing backache, irregularities, dizziness and nervous prostration. It was impossible for me to walk upstairs without stopping on the way. I tried three different doctors and each told me something different. I received no benefit from any of them, but seemed to suffer more. The last doctor said nothing would restore my health. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to see what it would do, and I am restored to my natural health."—Mrs. ETTA DONOVAN, Box 299, Willimantic, Conn.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled. It may be used with perfect confidence by women who suffer from displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills, and suffering women owe it to themselves to at least give this medicine a trial. Proof is abundant that it has cured thousands of others, and why should it not cure you?

160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

45 to 50 Bushels of Wheat per Acre
have been grown on Farm Lands in
WESTERN CANADA

Much less would be satisfactory. The general average is above 20 bushels

"All are loud in their praises of the great crops and that wonderful country."—Extract from correspondence National Editorial Association of August, 1908.

It is now possible to secure a Homestead of 160 acres free and another 160 acres at $3.00 per acre.

Hundreds have paid the cost of their farms (if purchased) and then had a balance of from $10.00 to $12.00 per acre from one crop.

Wheat, Barley, Oats, Flax—all do well. Mixed Farming is a great success and Dairying is highly profitable.

Excellent Climate, splendid Schools and Churches, Railways bring most every district within easy reach of market.

Railway and Land Companies have lands for sale at low prices and on easy terms.

"Last Best West" Pamphlets and maps sent free. For these and information as to how to secure lowest Railway Rates apply to W. D. Scott, Superintendent of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or W. H. Rogers, 3d Floor Traction Terminal Building, Indianapolis, Ind., and H. M. Williams, Room 20, Law Building, Toledo, Ohio, Authorized Government Agents.

Please say where you saw this advertisement.

Non-Skid, Pencil Proof, Self-healing Bicycle Tires, $1.50 to 2.50. Something Entirely New. Get Our Catalog.

BROSIUS & BROSIUS, 126 East Columbia St., Fort Wayne, Ind.

TEXAS LANDS—Best and cheapest on earth. Write us today for prices and description. Don't wait. Humphris Realty Co., Marfa, Texas.

F. W. N. U. - - - No. 14—1909

When writing to Advertisers please say you saw the Adv. in this paper.

5 Acres in Oregon Will Do

A fruit farm of 5 acres in any of the great Oregon apple, peach and pear districts, puts money in the bank for you, and gives you your living besides.

You can care for five acres of trees yourself, without help.

Orchards each year yield $500 an acre and upwards. Prove this by sending for our free book on the Pacific Northwest, or, better still,

Come West and See

All the land there ever was—or will be—was created ages ago. But population keeps increasing—a baby is born every minute.

All the free land worth having has been taken up. All the good land, at low prices, that's left, is going fast. Soon land chances, like those in the West today, will be gone forever.

If you want a fine farm or fruit ranch anywhere in the Northwest, get one now before the price gets too high—write to us for our free book. It is costing you money to wait—write today.

E. L. LOMAX, G. P. A., Omaha, Neb.

PUTNAM FADELESS DYES

Color more goods brighter and faster colors than any other dyes. One 10c package colors all fibers. They dye in cold water better than any other dye. You can dye any garment without ripping apart. Write for free booklet—How to Dye, Bleach and Mix Colors. MONROE DRUG CO., Quincy, Illinois

APRIL

0552

L 903

Our Flour is Always in the Lead.

As many practical housekeepers know full well they need not be told. This ad is simply to bring to the notice of all that "Our Daily Bread Flour" is it for purity, strength and color, and that the nourishing qualities of this flour is unexcelled. Ask for it and patronize home industry.

Keesler Milling Co.

SPENCERVILLE
R. F. D. No. 1.

Roscoe Walter is on the sick list.

Abe Mason was in Ft. Wayne Friday.

Arlie Grill visited a few days at Joe Boger's.

Ezra Horn was in Ft. Wayne Saturday on business.

Clem Treeces' spent Sunday evening with Frank Horns'.

Abe and John Mason were at Auburn Friday on business.

Miss Zona Horn called upon Horns school Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Samantha Horn called on Mrs. Pearl Grill Thursday afternoon.

School will close at Horn's school house Friday. They are preparing for a nice entertainment which will be held Friday night. Admission is free.

Up Before the Bar.

N. H. Brown, an attorney, of Pittsfield, Vt., writes: 'We have used Dr. King's New Life Pills for years and find them such a good family medicine we wouldn't be without them.' For Chills, Constipation, Biliousness or Sick Headache they work wonders, 25c at H. Milliman's.

Concord Items

For headache Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills

Chas. Morr made a business trip to Auburn, Tuesday.

Mrs. Libbie Kline visited Mrs. Delia Draggoo, Thursday afternoon.

Geraldine Rickett was a guest of her aunt, Mrs. Nancy Kennedy, Tuesday.

Mrs. Walter Wilson and son, and Mrs. Geo. Wade spent Friday with Jane Hull.

There were four scholars of the Carr school passed in the township examination.

Quite a number from here attended the funeral of Wm. Henderson at Spencerville, Sunday forenoon.

Mrs. Elias Getts and son of Winnamac, Indiana, are visiting her mother, Mrs. Josie Morr, and other relatives at this place.

Sunday being a temperance lesson a special program was prepared for Sunday school, which was very interesting to all present.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Carper, and Mrs. Harriett Johnson and daughter Thelma, of St. Joe, visited with Mrs. Draggoo and family, Friday.

Mesdames. Ann Rickett, Clara Neuhswander, Hattie Draggoo, Delila Draggoo, Effie Wilson, Jane Hull, and Martha Scott spent Tuesday with Malulia Wade in honor of her birthday.

KILL THE COUGH AND CURE THE LUNGS WITH DR. KING'S NEW DISCOVERY FOR COUGHS COLDS PRICE 50¢ & $1.00 TRIAL BOTTLE FREE AND ALL THROAT AND LUNG TROUBLES GUARANTEED SATISFACTORY OR MONEY REFUNDED.

Mrs. Laura Draggoo and son Fred, of Auburn, spent Monday with Roy Gilsford and family.

Mrs. Jackson and daughter Mable, and Mrs. Dorcas Johnson called on Mrs. Goings, Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Hull of Cedarville, spent a few days with their daughter, Mrs. George Johnson and family.

County Line News.

Henry Rakestraw entertained the hay bailers, last week.

Mrs. Knepper of Auburn, is spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. Milton Simanton.

W. T. Wyatt and wife attended the funeral of Uncle William Henderson of Spencerville, Sunday forenoon.

C. H. Bartels will build a large barn on his farm near Hopewell. The sawmill has been at work there for the past few days.

Mrs. Wm. Watson and son Fred, and daughter Inez, spent a few days with the formers parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Grim.

C. A. Conner and Clarence Sponhour opened a sugar camp, Thursday afternoon. They have been doing a rushing business since.

Clare Rinehold and family moved to the Magginis farm recently purchased by T. A. Carter, east of Auburn. Solomon Kohle and wife will occupy the house vacated by Mr. Rinehold.

Clarence Conner has been having all kinds of luck with his cows. He has had two sick ones to care for in the past few weeks. Dr. Winn of Auburn, was called for the last one, Thursday evening.

Andy Miller has purchased the Geo. Zehendner farm, north of Leo. Christ Stuckey has purchased 40 acres of the same farm, and sold 40 acres of his farm to Frank Stuckey. Mr. Zehendner will leave in a few days for Texas where he will make his future home.

Master Joe Rinehold, the 8 month old son of Mr. and Mrs. Clay Rinehold was severely scalded Friday morning, March 19th. It seem that Mr. Rinehold was making some hot bran mash for some small pigs and came to the house for boiling water. The pail with the bran in was set on the floor near the little fellow, the boiling water was put in, and as Mr. Rinehold set the tea kettle back on the stove in some manner the little fellow managed to reach the pail pulling it over on himself, scalding one arm to the elbow, the other to the shoulder and a large spot on the right side. The suffering child was immediately rushed to the home of Geo. Rinehold a short distance away, where Dr. Shook of Spencerville was called. The suffering was intense for sometime, but at present he is recovering very rapidly.

Local Briefs

Send in your news.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills relieve pain.

Georgia Milliman and daughter were Hicksville guests, Saturday.

M. T. Bishop, wife and mother were Sunday guests in the home of Jacob Sechler and family.

Mrs. Dr. Sheffer and Mariah Shull went to Ft. Wayne last Friday to visit there and at Peru over Sunday.

Carrie and Walter Bleaks of this place visited their brother, Ora and family at Defiance, the first of the week.

Clarence Hart has been moving this week onto the J. D. Beighty farm, north of town. Milton Dirrum moved near Hamilton, Monday.

Lost—Between home on Spencerville street and Lutheran church a gold stick pin. Finder please bring to News Office and receive reward.

Mr. Sam Andrews of Auburn and his neice Mrs. Bertha Walt of Columbus, Ohio and Mr. and Mrs. Orange Herrick of this place, visited at the home of M. H. Andress and wife Monday.

George Milliman was at Blakesley, Ohio, visiting his brother John and family, Monday. He reports them all well. He has sold two lighting plants at that place, also sold mantles at Butler, Waterloo and Blakesley.

Wm. Curie has done a large business in Harness the last week. He has the largest line and best assortment of light and heavy harness, horse collars, sweat pads, etc., ever shown in St. Joe.

Frank E. Davenport, one of the best known men in Auburn, residing at 1007 South Main street, passed away at his home at an early hour on last Thursday morning from heart disease. Mr. Davenport was feeling well when he retired for the night, but when his son went to his room to call him in the morning he found him dead. He was aged sixty-four years. For a number of years he was engaged in the drug business in Auburn and at one time traveled for a drug house.

Alive AND WELL

AND READY TO SHOW YOU A GOOD TIME —at our—

Box Social

Next Saturday Night

APRIL 3.

—AT—

Coburn's Corner's.

A good Program interesperced with some Band Music.

Free to all.

Lots of Fun. By

Farmer's Band.

A fine line of commencement programs at our office for your inspection. Don't forget us.

Attend the supper Saturday evening, April 10th., given by the boys class of M. P. church.

The Mesdames Ed Leighty, J. C. Hull, and A. Copp accompanied by her daughters Vera and Flossie, were at Ft. Wayne, Tuesday.

Walter Bleeks came home Saturday from the Navy for a ten days furlough. He is looking well and feels good and expects to return about April 7.

Wm. Curie will receive two car loads of buggys from the Kiblinger and Defiance Buggy Companys, for the spring trade, in a few days.

The No. 30 Pony contest decided in favor of Brown L. Crook of Chicago. Merritt Milliman being 19 from first. His prize was $5. He won first in his class 8 but had to compete with the United States since he started in the race. He has won $5 beginners prize, $3 salary prize, $6 state champion prize and is ahead in March, in all making a total amount since December 5, 1908 of $19. He is still in three other prizes that close on June 30.

Mrs. A. S. Briggs Dies

Sophia Mathews, daughter of John and Priscilla Mathews, was born near Spencerville, Ind., August 7, 1838 and died at her home in Newville, Ind., March 22, 1909. Aged 70 years, 7 months, 15 days.

In January 1857 she was united in marriage to Henry W. Coburn, who departed this life March 23, 1903.

March 9, 1905 she was married to Allison S. Briggs, who with one brother and four sisters besides other near and dear relatives are left to mourn her departure. Two brothers and four sisters having preceded her to the Great Beyond.

In 1857 she united with the Christian church of Newville, under the pastorate of Rev. Faurot and has lived a consistent Christian life attending divine services whenever her health permitted, being an invalid the greater part of her life and although physically unable to work in the Master's vineyard she assisted financially in all worthy enterprises contributing freely to the cause of Christ and may it be said of her as of one of old, "She hath done what she could."

Very Serious

It is a very serious matter to ask for one medicine and have the wrong one given you. For this reason we urge you in buying to be careful to get the genuine—

THEDFORDS BLACK-DRAUGHT Liver Medicine

The reputation of this old, reliable medicine, for constipation, indigestion and liver trouble, is firmly established. It does not imitate other medicines. It is better than others, or it would not be the favorite liver powder, with a larger sale than all others combined.

SOLD IN TOWN

Observes Temperance Day Last Sunday.

Last Sunday the Concord Sunday School observed Temperance day and on program of the day were two essays written by two small boys touching upon temperance. The superintendent desired us to reproduce them.

Temperance.

One of the greatest dangers that a young person has to meet is that of acquiring the alcohol habit.

It is not so common as the tobacco habit, never the less it has destroyed the lives of hundreds of thousands of young people, and is a stumbling block to as many.

It has led to countless crimes, and has caused an inestimable amount of poverty and suffering.

The use of alcohol is particularly dangerous, because it frequently obtains a mastery over young people without their realizing the fact.

Drunkards are made of boys and girls who never intended to use enough alcohol to hurt them.

If a boy never begins to use alcoholic drinks he will never be a drunkard, but if he uses alcohol even in a mild form he places himself in a class from which drunkards are made.

The only sure way to avoid this danger is to avoid its beginning, and by avoiding that, the boy insures for himself a healthier body, a clearer brain and a better chance for success in life. LLOYD DRAGGOO.

Why I do Not touch Intoxicants?

I do not touch intoxicants, because it is not the act of a lady or gentleman to do this for when a young man or young woman touches liquor, he or she looses the rank of society and starts downward to the dreadful end. A drunkards home, to my estimation would be a very unhappy place. In most cases a drunkard's wife and children are poorly fed and poorly clothed. But this is not all, he is likely to be cruel and when he comes home, beat and pound them around, then of course, there would be a divorce case which would be an expense to the state.

Many drunkards steal, because when the appetite calls for more liquor and he has no money he will go and steal to get enough money to buy it. This violates one of the ten commandments, "Thou shalt not steal." Nine-tenths of the murders are committed by a man who drinks and this violates another commandment, "Thou shalt not kill." Nearly all drunkards swear and this violates another, "Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain." And in a simular way nearly all if not all the commandments are violated. If you would go around to all the prisons you would find that nine prisoners out of every ten was put there on account of liquor Had it not been for liquor they probably would have been holding a good position and held in high esteem, but a drunkard cannot hold any occupation because he does not work steady and usually does not have the education and therefore no one will hire them except to do some hard work which a man that does not drink will not do.

Any one who touches intoxicants not only makes himself miserable but everyone around him, and in the end inherits punishment instead of a world of joy and happiness. Therefore, I touch not, taste not, handle not the unclean thing.

WILLIE GOINGS.

News Items

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills relieve Headaches, Neuralgia and all Pain.

Aaron Thomas and wife returned yesterday from Edgerton, where they have been the guest of James Barnes and family. Mrs. Barnes has been very sick for some time but is better now. Mr. Thomas visited with relatives at South Milford a few days.

Last Wednesday evening at the M. P. parsonage occurred the marriage of Frank Pervines of west of town and Alda Goldsmith of near Spencerville, Rev. J. C. McCain performing the ceremony. The newly married couple are well known to our people. They will go to house keeping soon and Mr. Pervines will follow farming. Congratulations.

DENTIST.

C. R. PRICE.

ST. JOE, IND.

Office in Case building.

Bell Phone No. 44.

10c 49c

For Friday - Saturday Only

10 yards of our Best Prints only 49c

All our best dress Ginghams 10c per yard.

We pay the Highest market prices for Produce.

THE BIG FOUR STORE

CORRESPONDENCE

ITEMS FROM DIFFERENT LOCALITIES WRITTEN FOR THE NEWS

Coburn's Corners

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills relieve pain.

Mrs. Lothammer was at Ft. Wayne Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hamilton were at Ft. Wayne, Friday.

Mrs. Wilmot Coburn has been on the sick list but is better at this writing.

Mrs. Whitehurst of Newville, called on Charley Tustisons' Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Edith Abel and Mrs. Ona High, visited with Pluma Hamilton, yesterday.

Mrs. Wall of Columbus, Ohio, and Mr. Sam Andress of Auburn, visited with Mrs. Howard Northrup Saturday.

The Coletown Aid Society met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Andress on last Friday night. A large crowd was present to enjoy the fine supper.

FAIRVIEW

Miss Erma Houser is home for a few days visit.

Bassetts' children are worse with the whooping cough.

Mrs. Stella Platter called on Mrs. Anna Houser, Sunday.

Dr. Miles Anti-Pain Pills—Not only stop the pain, but do it quickly.

Ed Schrader, wife and baby called on Lankey Morrs' Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Mary Johnston has been quite sick but is some better at this writing.

Orlie Baker and family visited with Norman Rolands' Saturday night and Sunday.

Miss Jessie Headly of Newville was at the home of Mrs. Mary Johnston, Tuesday.

Mrs. Stella Platter attended the funeral of Mrs. Ezra Horn of near Spencerville, Mondap.

Mrs. Almira Krise was in St. Joe Sunday to see her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Hazel Krise who is sick.

Mr. Stuckey, the saw-mill man of Hicksville moved his mill on Fell Elsob's farm last week and he moved into Housers' house.

It was voted last Sunday that we have our Easter entertainment on Saturday night, April 10, so that our pastor may be with us.

Men's Meeting

A men's meeting will be held at the Christian church, Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock to which all men are cordially invited.

NEWVILLE ITEMS.

Herbert Webster went to Auburn Saturday to take the teachers examination.

Cal Coburn of Coburn's Corners moved Wednesday on the F. A. Thomas place.

Gladys Smith was at Waterloo Saturday spending the day with her cousin, Ethel Miller.

Preparations are being made for a good program at the school Friday afternoon, it being the last day.

Elmer McDonald and family of Kendallville are moving their goods in the Almond Thatcher house this week.

Mary Strong and Letha Enzor are home for a week's vacation, as the teachers of Butler are attending a Teacher,s Association.

Mrs. Jenette Ide of Chicago, a niece of Sophiah Briggs, came last Thursday to attend the funeral of her aunt, returning home Saturday.

Alfred Smith returned to his home in Bryan, Saturday, after having been at this place a couple of weeks caring for her mother, who is now better.

Mt. Hope Items.

James Coleman is on the sick list at this writing.

Meeting at the St. Joe M. P. church is still in progress.

Frank Sebert is putting up quite a bit of wire fence.

Vacation is coming in the public schools for the summer.

Jay Walker is going to begin working for Homer McCollough, next Monday.

H. S. Platner and Jay Walker spent Thursday evening with Frank Sebert and family.

Mrs. Charles Cook is improving fast after the operation she had several weeks ago.

The Misses Jessie Platner and Mildred Sebert was in St. Joe on business Saturday.

"I'd Rather Die, Doctor, than have my feet cut off," said M. L. Bingham of Princeville, Ill., "but you'll die from gangrene (which had eaten away eight toes) if you don't", said all doctors. Instead - he used Bucklen's Arnica Salve till wholly cured. Its cures of Eczema, Fever Sores, Boils, Burns and Piles astound the world. 25c at H. Milliman's.

Are you coming in?

The W. H. and F. M. Society will meet with Mrs. Jennie White Saturday afternoon, April 3, at 2 o'clock. Subject of lesson "Siam." Come.

Five new members were taken into the Rebekah lodge on last Friday evening. After the regular business of the lodge an excellent lunch was served.

Does not Color the Hair

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

Stops Falling Hair — Destroys Dandruff

An Elegant Dressing — Makes Hair Grow

Composed of Sulphur, Glycerin, Quinin, Sodium Chlorid, Capsicum, Sage, Alcohol, Water, Perfume. Ask your Doctor his opinion of such a hair preparation.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

Does not Color the Hair

J. C. AYER COMPANY, Lowell, Mass.

APRIL

0553

L 903

ST. JOE NEWS.

VOL. XXIII ST. JOE, DEKALB COUNTY, INDIANA. THURSDAY, APRIL 8 1909. NO. 14

Increase Dividends

The year 1908 proved a prosperous one to the policyholders of the Mutual life. Notwithstandiug notable increases in dividends paid during 1908, still further increases have been made in dividends apportioned for 1909. The aggregate sum is $11,092,282, which sum exceeds the largest amount ever paid in a single year by any life company. In still another respect The Mutual Life has an almost unparalleled record—in economy of management. The statement of The Mutual Life certainly indicates that the company is in exceptionally fine condition to show the very best results to policyholders. We might add to the above statement that it is the oldest Life Insurance Company in America, being organized in 1843. The official representative in this territory is J. C. Hull and he would be glad to have you make inquiries about it The test of the many years show that it is strong as founded on a rock.

Not So Prominent

The Indianapolis News says that 8,000 school teachers of the state are in the city but you wouldn't know it by their looks and in explaining the papers position says:

"Things have come to such a pass in Indiana that you can't tell a school master from onyone else. The time was when the vanguard arriving for state teachers' meetings could be spotted a block away. The arms that held the tiller of the intellectual bark were clothed with the same cut of black that the minister wore, and a white necktie and a grave face completed the outfit. Ye Hoosier schoolmarm also has lost all her "spots." Tailor-made dresses, big washtub hats and real leather grips and bags are the scenery in which the distinctive marks of the past have been lost. When a crowd of these came tripping into the Claypool Hotel, a drummer asked; 'What show's in town tonight?'

Local News Items.

Rink Saturday night.

Here the Concert at Coburntown Church, Saturday evening.

Have you seen those new $15 spring suits for Young Men at the Big Four Store.

A grape vine rumor has it that one man in Garrett has seventeen indictments against him for selling liquor.

The boys class of the M. P. Sunday School will serve supper Saturday evening in the Aunt Matilda Widney house. The following is the menu:

Chicken Dressing
Gravy Mashed-potatoes
Potato Salad Pickled Eggs
Bread and Butter
Fruit Cake Coffee
Mite 15c.

M. E. Conference

With the announcement by Bishop Anderson of a large number of changes in appointments, the sixty-sixth annual session of the North Indiana Methodist Episcopal conference came to a close Monday afternoon. The next session of the conference will be held at Bluffton. The Rev. Somerville Light, of Marion, was appointed superintendent, or presiding elder, of the Goshen district to succeed the Rev. H. W. Bennet, whose term had expired. The appointment of C. B. Sweeney was Portland Circuit; Spencerville will be sent Rev. D. J. Brown; Garrett, D. V. Williams; Hamilton, R. A. Morrison; Hudson and Ashley, G. W. Keisling; Huntertown, E. A. Bunner; Leo, Edwin Dickson; New Haven, C. J. Graves.

Sunday School Report.

Below is the report of the various Sunday Schools of the town and community for last Sunday. We desire that the secretaries may hand us this bit of information on Monday of each week, or phone to No. 10 and report.

	Attendance	Collection
Christian	107	$4.72
Lutheran	83	$2.52
M. P.	55	$1.51
Coburntown	75	$1.22
Spen. Luth.	63	$1.25
Spen. M. E.	98	$1.99
Concord	78	$1.36
Rehobeth	50	$1.12
Newville C.	79	$1.00

M. and M. UNION SUNDAY SCHOOL OF GRABILL, IND.

Officers and Teachers	17
Scholars	169
Total attendance	186
General collection	$4.28

Public Sale.

The undersigned will sell at Public Auction at her residence, on West Main street, in St. Joe, on Saturday, April 10 at 2 o'clock p. m. the following:-range stove, hard coal burner, gasoline stove 2 burner, dining table, side board, dining chairs, bed room suit, iron bed, sofa, library table, 4 rockers, cooking utensils, canned fruit, New Home sewing machine, portiers, 1 pr. tapestry curtains, ingrain carpet, rag carpet, 9x12 Axminister rug, 6ix10½ Axminster rug, rug filling, washing machine, tub, copper boiler, wringer, and other articles not mentioned. Terms made known on day of sale. MRS. LEATHA SECHLER.
J. L. Rhodenbaugh, Auct.

PHOTOGRAPHS

We make them at the Tustison Studio. Fine Portraits on Postals $1.00 per dozen. Call and get prices on family groupes.

Last Day of School

The last day of school at Wilmington Center was fully celebrated, Saturday, April 3, under the efficient manner of C. O. Krise, the teacher. The day outside put one in mind of Longfellow's poem, "The Rainy Day", but this was soon forgotten when baskets well filled with eatables began to arrive shortly after school was called. The forenoon was devoted to the regular school work. The board for dinner was bountifully spread and all were repaid for their patience. Each one did justice to the good things set before him in a very remarkable manner and many complaints could be heard from those who were feeling miserably good. Following the dinner was a program which consisted of songs and recitations by the school and others. Presents were given to the scholars by their teacher and the pupils of faithful attendance were rewarded by an additional gift. The scholars in turn presented Mr. Krise with a present. School was then dismissed, each one hoping that the term next year might be ended as happily.

Culture Club

On last Wednesday evening March 31, the Culture Club met with Mrs. Emily Widney. The lesson on Hiawatha was ably conducted by the hostess and many new thoughts were presented. After the usual business twenty-two members responded to roll call with miscellaneous quotations. Club adjourned to meet in one week with Mrs. Kate Leighty. The hostess treated to popcorn and fudge.

Post Card Shower

At their home on the corner of Fourth and Washington streets, Mrs, Magaret Swineford and sister, Mrs. Sarah McCrory, were given a post card shower, a week ago in honor of their 77th., birthday. Cards began to pour in, in the morning and when they had all arrived it was found they had received 229 cards and were from seven different states. This is a record hard to beat. Several guests were present and a happy time was had. Such days add sunshine to one's life. Mrs. Frank Sechler was also given a card shower on the same day resulting in receiving 12 cards. Mrs. Vincent Dilley received 63 on last Thursday, reminding her of her birthday.

Local Items.

Ray Davis and wife returned to their home from a visit at Auburn, last Friday.

A supper Saturday evening, April 10, by S. S. class of M. P. Church. Come.

Mrs. Dibert of Garrett, spent a few days last week, with her daughter, Mrs. C. A. Woodcox.

FOR RENT:—Pasturage for cattle and horses. Good water and shade. J. W. SHERER, St. Joe, Ind.

Mr. High Bleeks and Mrs. Charlotte Steel of Butler, spent Sunday with their brother, Mr. Wm. Bleeks and family.

There are two ways of getting up in this world, you can build your own ladder and climb it or you can watch some fellow who has left his ladder to chase a butterfly and climb his.

Mrs. Gertie Scott of Hicksville, spent Friday at this place with her sister, Mrs. Chas. Benjamin, and Saturday with her parents, south of the Coburntown church, Mr. and Mrs. George Wade.

At her home on South Main street at Auburn, Sunday, Mrs. Mary E. Lockwood was given a card shower in honor of her birthday. Guests were present from Auburn, Waterloo and St. Joe. The day was a very happy one. Maple taffy was served.

If you are looking for the most stylish and medium priced Easter Hat, you do not need to look any further than Mrs. Warner's.

Philip Carper has been having a time with his eyes. Two weeks ago he caught cold, it setting in his eyes. So bad were they at first that he called a doctor three times in twenty-four hours, the first time in thirty-one years. He has just recovered enough to allow him to read a little. He wears dark glasses all the time.—Dispatch.

The Hambletonian Stallion

Silver Wing 2:24¼

By Corwin 2062, he by Corsair 7558, he by Hambletonian 10. Dam—Golden Girl (2:30¼ as a 3-year old) by Golden Wing 5808 he by Satelite, he by Robert Bonner, he by Hambletonian 10. Golden Wing's first dam, Mable, by Mambrino Champion, by Mambrino Chief.

Second dam by Wagner. Third dam, Modoc, by Thoroughbred. Golden Girl's dam, Brown Nell, by Mambrino Chief.

PATRICK ELLIOTT, Owner and Keeper.

The Black Percheron Horse

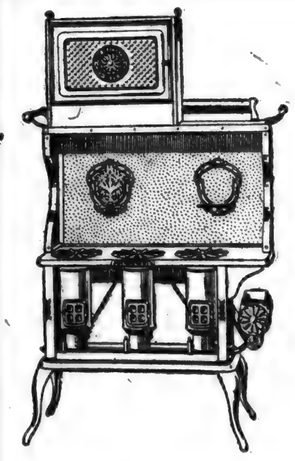
Leopold III

No. 19212. Weight 1,850.

Both of these horses will stand on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at Ira Bone's barn at ST. JOE, and balance of the week at the Evans barn in Hicksville, Ohio.

Terms $10.00.

Elmer Goodson, Own. Patrick Elliott keep.



Free Exhibition

Practical Demonstration

ON

APRIL 10, 1909.

An Expert Direct from the Factory will Demonstrate the Uses of the

New Perfection Wick Blue Flame Oil Cook Stove.

THE STOVE FOR YOUR KITCHEN.

The "New Perfection" cures common stove troubles. It is always ready for instant use; it cooks either fast or slow, and everything in a most satisfactory manner; it makes no dust or dirt and its principle of concentrated heat keeps the kitchen so uniformly cool that you might set beside the stove in perfect comfort while the kettle boils.

A TIME SAVING STOVE.

The New Perfection Wick Blue Flame Oil Cook Stove, thirty seconds after the touch of the match, will deliver at the stove top a strong, clean heat of great working power. More than that you may run it for hours continuously and for the whole time never be conscious of undue heat because of the stove. This stove is no experiment and has proven to be the most economical oil stove ever placed on the market, costing absolutely nothing for repairs and giving no trouble in any way.

COOKING UTENILS FREE: We will also give absolutely free with each stove purchase on this date a valuable piece of Granite Ware The purchaser to have choice of several pieces.

During the Demonstration You will be Given a Hot Roll and Cup of Coffee Free.

Call in during this demonstration, get a useful souvenir and learn something about the most successful oil cook stove ever made, whether you buy now or not. Everybody welcome.

H. V. KINSEY & SON

F. B. Leighty was at Hicksville, Sunday.

The Avilla News made its appearance in its new Easter dress of type.

Whitley county has 68 graduates from the eighth grade so far this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Felix Blaising of New Haven, visited with Rev. McCain and family over Sunday.

Geo. Wade moved Tuesday from his farm, south of Coburntown, into the Clarence Hart house on the Avenue.

Do you want 27 pieces of Granite ware? Buy your Easter Hat at Mrs. Warner's and receive a ticket with every $1 purchase.

The St. Joe High School will have five graduates this year, there being three girls and two boys. Preparations are being made for the commencement exercises and a latter announcement will be made.

A large stock of the Bryan, Oliver and Burch sulky and walking plows on hand at Wm. Curie's. Also the Brown-Manley Harrows.

Rev. C. C. Hubbell D. D. of Adrain, Mich., will visit the churches of the St. Joe Circuit M. P. Church, on Sunday April 18. Dr. Hubbell will preach at Concord at 10:30 A. M., Fairview, 3:00 P. M. and St. Joe at 7:00 P. M. He is the traveling Secretary of the Board of Young Peoples Work of the M. P. Church, and is a man of National reputation and is worthy of a large hearing.

FOR SALE:—20 acres of good Onion and Potato land. Located 7 miles from St. Joe, with buildings. Price $1,100 on terms to suit purchaser. E. E. Berry, St. Joe, Indiana.

Joe Arnold, chief clerk to storekeeper Ratrie, has gone to Chicago Junction, Ohio, where it is understood that he is transferred to assume the position of assistant storekeeper at that point. This is a deserved promotion for this young man, who entered upon his railroad work at Garrett shortly over a year since as stenographer in the store department and was quickly promoted to chief accountant in the same office and from that to chief clerk. Guess that's going some.

Are you coming in?

Fresh strawberries and oranges at the Bakery.

Swell line of Gents Easter Neckwear just received. The Big Four Store.

Mrs. Calvin Hutton of Auburn, visited over Sunday with her mother, Mrs. Rose Johnson.

On April 17 the Pythian Sisters will give a ten cent supper to the Public in the K. of P. Hall.

The Ladies Aid Society of the M. P. Church will meet with Mrs. Wm. Curie Saturday, April 17, instead of April 10.

The M. P. Sunday School will give an Easter entertainment next Sunday morning, to which all are invited. Fairview exercises will be given on Saturday evening.

Get some of that celery, lettuce and cabbage at Hathaway's for your Easter dinner.

We made mention of the fact last week, that Clarence Walters had left for California but afterwards he decided to wait until his half-brother's school was out and he would accompany him. The two boys left Monday for Redlands, California.

The Concert at Coburntown Saturday evening will be a treat to those who love music. Come and hear it.

The revival meetings at the M. P. church closed last Sunday evening after continuing for two week. The pastor, J. C. McCain gave excellent talks each evening, and was deserving of a good house each evening. Some additions were made to the church.

Pineapples and bananas at the Bakery. Get some for your Easter dinner.

Now some one has discovered that Mr. Roosevelt has bought himself a razor and a chunk of soap and that it is his intention to shave himself while he is on his Africa trip. This is news as is news. The people from Greenland's icy mountain to India's coral strand will be simply delighted to know that Roosevelt is going to get after his whiskers himself and on his own account

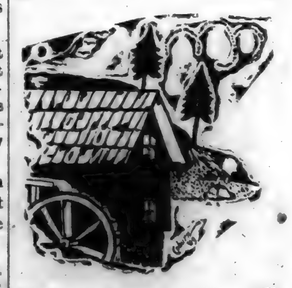
Send in your news.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills relieve pain.

When you think of an item, think of No. 10. We want to know it. See.

Considerable interest was aroused at Auburn Monday when it was learned that Mrs. Charles Emanuel had announced herself as a candidate for the Auburn postoffice to succeed Major A. L. Kuhlman, whose term expires soon. Mrs. Emanuel is the wife of the late Charles Emanuel. The lady stands very prominent in society circles and will make the race unassisted. It could not be learned whether or no Mr. Kuhlman was a candidate for the office.

The Old Water Mill



Vine covered, and with its ponderous over-shot wheel was a fitting theme for the poet and artist but in this materialistic age we are more concerned in the practical side of the question "Does it make good flour? Buy a sack of "Our Daily Bread Flour" and you will be a steady customer of

THE

Keesler Milling Co.

APRIL

U554
L 903

The St. Joe News

ST. JOE, INDIANA.

FRED B. LEIGHTY, - - Publisher.

1909	APRIL					1909
Su	Mo	Tu	We	Th	Fr	Sa
•	•	•	•	1	2	3
4	5	6	7	8	9	10
11	12	13	14	15	16	17
18	19	20	21	22	23	24
25	26	27	28	29	30	•

F. M. 5th. L. Q. 13th. N. M. 19th F. Q. 27th.

PAST AND PRESENT

AS IT COMES TO US FROM ALL CORNERS OF THE EARTH.

Telegraphic Information Gathered by the Few for the Enlightenment of the Many.

Train Is Wrecked by Landslide.

Westbound Union Pacific passenger train No. 3, was wrecked near Castle Rock in Weber Canon, fifty-six miles east of Ogden, Utah. S. J. Lewhan, fireman, and C. J. Gordon, baggageman, were killed. None of the passengers was injured. The wreck was caused by a landslide which carried a large boulder on the track. The baggage car, mail car and three passenger coaches at once took fire and were burned. The rear coaches were uncoupled and saved. Wrecking trains were sent from Ogden, Utah, and Evanston, Wyo., and the passengers returned to Evanston, nineteen miles east.

Killed Family With Club.

George Hoopfer, of Mancelona, Mich., has confessed that he killed his wife and child. He said that he and his wife talked all night about how nice it would be for the three of them to die together. Finally, according to Hoopfer's story, it was agreed between them that he would kill them all. With a stick of wood he thereupon beat his wife and baby over the heads until they were dead. He then chopped their heads off with an axe. When he saw them dead he says he lost his courage and instead of killing himself fled into the woods. The Mancelona authorities think Hoopfer is insane.

Lost Race With Death.

Frank L. Vanderlip, president of the National City bank, of New York, broke all American railroad records, according to a statement made by the New York Central officials, in an effort to reach the bedside of his dying mother in Chicago, but lost the race with death by exactly twenty-eight minutes. Mr. Vanderlip, in a special train, covered the ditsance from New York to Englewood, a suburb of Chicago, in fifteen hours and five minutes and when he leaped madly from the train he was met with the announcement that his mother, Mrs. Charlotte L. Vanderlip, had died.

Whitlas Go to the Seashore.

On their way to Atlantic City to rest from the strain under which they have been for so many days, Mr. and Mrs. James P. Whitla, of Sharon, Pa., with Willie, who was kidnapped, and their daughter, Selina, stopped off in Philadelphia before boarding a train for the seashore. The family will remain in Atlantic City for about a week and will return to Sharon to aid in the prosecution of the alleged kidnapers. "I'm going to see the Atlantic ocean. It's fine to be back with papa again," exclaimed Willie.

Packer Swift's Son Is Insane.

Herbert L. Swift, thirty-three years old, son of the late Gustavus Swift, founder of the packing firm of Swift & Co., has been adjudged insane by a commission of physicians at Chicago, and has been an inmate of the Kenilworth sanitarium since March 8, by order of the county court. Louis F. Swift, a brother, testified at the hearing that Mr. Swift had threatened to kill himself and members of the family. Excessive use of alcohol was given as the cause.

No Attempt to Kill Roosevelt.

While the Hamburg was at Horta a senastional rumor to the effect that a steerage passenger had attempted to assault Mr. Roosevelt was circulated. The Associated Press correspondent is able to state positively that no such incident occurred.

Havana Has a Million Dollar Fire.

The two piers of the Havana Central railroad, in the upper part of the harbor, were totally destroyed by fire. It is reported that the fire was of incendiary origin. The total damage done is estimated at $1,000,000, which is covered by insurance.

Explosion in Coal Mine.

Five men are entombed in the Echo mine of the Beury Coal and Coke company at Beury, Fayette county, W. Va., as the result of an explosion. Two others were taken out shortly after the explosion, slightly injured.

Workman Caught on Shaft Dies.

Boone Sparkman, who was caught on a shaft at the Beckett papermill in Hamilton, Ohio, and whirled about until his clothing was torn off, died of injuries at Mercy hospital. He lived in Berea, Ky.

Senator Beveridge Leaves the Hospital

Senator Albert J. Beveridge has left the Johns Hopkins hospital in Baltimore, Md., after having been a patient for several weeks.

SERVIA GIVES UP ALL; PEACE IS NOW SECURE

Accepts Terms Arranged by Powers and Bows the Knee to Austria.

NOTE OF APOLOGY PREPARED

King Peter Has Sons Exchange Names to Keep a George at Head of House.

The formula agreed upon by the powers of Europe and Austria-Hungary for the settlement of the dispute between the dual monarchy and Servia was accepted by the Servian government Tuesday. The formula was presented at the foreign office by the British, French, German, Russian and Italian ministers, and Servia on Wednesday, through her ambassador at Vienna, delivered to the Austrian government a note to the following effect:

"1. Servia declares that her rights have not been violated by the annexation by Austria-Hungary of Bosnia and Herzegovina and accepts the powers' decision to annul paragraph 25 of the treaty of Berlin.

"2. Servia will not protest against the annexation of Bosnia and Herzegovina.

"3. Servia will maintain peaceful relations with Austria-Hungary.

"4. Servia will return her military forces to normal conditions by discharging the reservists and volunteers, and she will not permit the formation of irregular troops or bands."

This note has been prepared at the suugestion of the powers and will be sent with the object of terminating all misunderstandings between Austria-Hungary and Servia. First, however, it, together with the former note to Austria, will be submitted to the national assembly for approval.

King Peter has issued a ukase changing the names of his sons. The step is taken to provide the name of George as the head of the house of Karageorgovitch. The former crown prince, George, who has renounced his rights to the throne, will henceforth be known as Alexander, while Alexander, George's younger brother, who has been recognised as crown prince, will be known as George. George, the new crown prince, has been made a lieutenant in the army. The local press is voicing the demand that he be sent to European colleges to complete his education.

CHIEF CRAZY SNAKE YIELDS.

Creek Chieftain, Badly Wounded, in Hands of Militia.

A dispatch from Henryetta, Okla., reported that Crazy Snake, the outlaw Creek chieftain, had been captured, badly wounded, in the Concharta mountains, southwest of Henryetta, by the militia under Col. Hoffman. A later bulletin from Muskogee states that Crazy Snake, the leader of the band of Indian and negro outlaws, has been taken into custody, and is being held at Thompson, a few miles from Checotah.

The old Indian is said to have surrendered without a fight and is badly wounded, suffering from a gunshot wound in the hip sustained in an encounter with an officers' posse. It is said official statements as to Crazy Snake's capture are being withheld because of the intense feeling prevalent. The Indian will be taken to the Federal prison at Muskogee.

Great excitement prevails among the Seminole freedmen in the vicinity of Holdenville because of the arrest of one of their number, Frank Coker, charged with killing Marshal Baum and Deputy Odom during the fight at Crazy Snake's house Saturday. Reports reached Oklahoma City that the Seminoles are arming to join Crazy Snake's band. Negro agitators worked among the Indians throughout the evening in an effort to incite them to an uprising.

It is charged that efforts are being made to belittle the Indian trouble on account of the supposed unpleasant notoriety to the State. For this reason it is hard to get at the real facts regarding the number of dead and injured since fighting began Thursday. A dispatch from Henryetta said military officers had reported unofficially that three negroes and Indians had been killed since Thursday. A prominent citizen of Sapulpa declares emphatically that the bodies of nearly thirty negroes had been found near the scene of the original disturbance near Crazy Snake's home.

PRINCE RENOUNCES THE THRONE

George of Servia Forced to Step by a Bitter Press Campaign.

George, Crown Prince of Servia, has renounced his right of succession to the Servian throne. This action is the result of a bitter press campaign in which the crown prince was accused of being the cause of the recent death of one of his servants, a man named Kolakovitz. In a letter to Premier Novakovitch the crown prince announces that he has taken this step rather than rest under the suspicion of having murdered his servant and that by the renunciation he foregoes all special privileges and immunities that attach to the person of the heir to the throne. Continuing he expresses his willingness to go abroad for a lengthy sojourn.

IMPATIENT.

T. R.—See land yet, son?

T. Bear—Nope! Let's get off and walk—this is too slow.

SOCIAL LEADER SLAYS HERSELF

Mrs. Pierre Lorillard, Jr., Commits Suicide in Her Home.

Mrs. Pierre Lorillard, Jr., wife of the tobacco magnate, weary of the social whirl, committed suicide at her home near the fashionable Dupont Circle, in Washington. She was found by a maid shortly after 8 o'clock Thursday morning lying on the floor of her bathroom. Above her was an open gas jet, from which the gas evidently had been escaping for several hours.

Mrs. Lorillard was a distinctive figure in Washington society, and the news of her death has given the capital a shock such as it has not received in years. The members of the famous family insist that the cause of Mrs. Lorillard's death was heart failure, though the Coroner's certificate tells a different story.

The circumstances of the suicide, as they became known, are peculiarly tragic. For years Mrs. Lorillard has been facing the prospect of a life of incurable physical suffering, specialist after specialist having failed to give her either relief or hope. In spite of this, she has maintained a constant round of social activities, giving her friends no intimation of the depression that has been growing on her.

Wednesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Lorillard attended a brilliant dinner given for Lady Paget. Mr. Lorillard was the last person to see his wife alive and the first to receive word of her death. On her return to the residence at 2030 Hillyer place she bade her husband good-night with unusual vivacity and retired to her own apartments. In the morning Mr. Lorillard helped the maid carry his wife's body from the bathroom to her boudoir.

CHARGED WITH BIG FORGERY.

Roy Horton Arrested in Kansas City, Accused of $75,000 Swindle.

Roy Horton was arrested in Kansas City on a charge of forgery for an amount placed at $75,000 and will be taken back to East St. Louis, Ill. He is charged with perpetrating a confidence game upon the Stock Yards Company of East St. Louis. Horton had been trading in horses for several weeks in Kansas City under the name of William Ryan. John L. Horton, Ray's brother, was arrested at the home of his wife's mother in Upper Alton, Ill., March 10, and is now out under $12,000 bail. In 1898 the Hortons established in East St. Louis the commission firm of Horton Brothers & Hess. A part of the firm's business consisted in financing feeders in Texas. In 1902 the brothers disappeared, and it was then discovered that they had questionable paper out to an amount approaching $100,000.

BABY'S BODY IN BASKET.

Cleveland Man Unknowingly Carries Girl's Corpse to His Home.

For several hours Walter Johnson, Jr., carried the body of a baby girl about Cleveland in a basket, thinking it contained groceries. Johnson bought groceries at several markets. He started home, but, meeting friends on the way, was delayed until morning. He then went to bed without opening the basket, leaving it in the center of a dining table. His father opened the basket to lift out the groceries. The police believe the body was left in a basket in one of the markets visited by Johnson. Death is said to have been due to exposure.

$1,000,000 DAM IS COMPLETED.

Structure Spanning Colorado River Ready for Opening.

The last carload of rock has been dumped into the apron of Laguna dam, and the great diversion weir is being cleared of all its construction equipment preparatory to the opening celebration. Laguna dam extends across the Colorado River and is located about fourteen miles above the city of Yuma, Ariz. It was built by the United States reclamation service at a cost of more than a million dollars. Work on the dam was commenced in July, 1905. The dam is 4,770 feet long.

100 NEGROES BATTLE DEPUTIES.

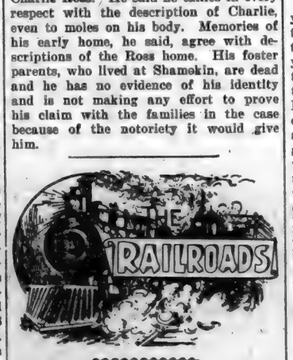
Three Killed and Five Wounded in All-Night Fight at Oklahoma.

On the scene of the famous Creek Indian uprising of last year at Hickory Settlement, Okla., three negroes were killed, five wounded and forty captured in a battle between twenty deputy sheriffs and 100 negroes. The fighting began late Wednesday afternoon and continued until 10 o'clock Thursday. Five deputies went from Henryetta to the negro settlement to arrest cattle thieves thought to be conceded in the house of one of the negroes. They were met by a party of armed negroes and fired upon. Outnumbered, the deputies fled. A few hours later a large posse reached the settlement. Some one fired a shot and the rioting was on. The fight continued as a series of duels throughout the night. The deputies renewed the attack on the negroes Thursday morning. About 300 shots were fired in the last encounter, when two negroes were killed and Deputy Sheriff Fowler injured. At the first onslaught the negroes were dislodged from their huts and fled. The deputies pursued and captured forty.

THINKS HE IS CHARLIE ROSS.

Brakeman Believes Self and Famous Kidnaped Boy Are Identical.

William Grant Eyester of McKee's Rocks, a Pittsburg suburb, formerly a coal miner at Shamokin, now a brakeman on the Pittsburg and Lake Erie Railroad, stated that he believes he is the Charlie Ross kidnaped from Germantown, Pa., thirty-five years ago and never recovered. He said he learned early in life that he was not the child of his supposed parents, and that many things they did led him to believe that he was Charlie Ross. He said he tallies in every respect with the description of Charlie, even to moles on his body. Memories of his early home, he said, agree with descriptions of the Ross home. His foster parents, who lived at Shamokin, are dead and he has no evidence of his identity and is not making any effort to prove his claim with the families in the case because of the notoriety it would give him.



During the last ten years the New York Central has expended $285,000,000 for betterments and increased facilities.

The New York Central is preparing an educational train to run in connection with the New York State Agricultural College.

The Wells-Fargo Express Company is planning to monopolise the express business of Mexico by absorbing the National Express Company.

It is stated that the Lake Shore will be given a good share of the $8,000,000 worth of equipement to be contracted for by the New York Central lines.

The report some time ago that the Pennsylvania had acquired a half interest in the Lake Erie and Pittsburg road, building from Youngstown to Lorain, has been confirmed.

E. T. Young, former attorney general, appeared before the railroad committee of the Minnesota House, and argued in favor of J. N. Johnson's bill, which authorizes the State to regulate the issuing of stocks and bonds by railroads.

The accounting department of the Central Electric Railway Association of Ohio, Indiana and Michigan held a two days' session in Lima, Ohio. The problem of a uniform system of interrailway accounting is being studied by thirty different traction lines.

Rush orders have been issued to the Chicago, Milwaukee and Puget Sound engineering department to complete the road's terminal in Seattle and Tacoma immediately, as within two months the roads will be running trains into Seattle. A large force has been put in service on the work.

REDSKINS ROUTED IN BATTLE.

Posse Surrounds Part of Crazy Snake's Outlaws and Kills One.

A detachment of Crazy Snake's band of belligerent Indians was surrounded by deputy sheriffs and troops Monday afternoon, near Crazy Snake's home, in Oklahoma, and a lively battle followed. More than 200 shots were fired, and one Indian was killed. Eight Indians were captured, and the remainder fled, with the deputies and militiamen in pursuit.

There were about fifteen Indians in the band which had taken refuge in a house. Advancing from all sides the posse fired a volley. The Indians rushed out, scattered among the trees and made a valiant defense. The posse, firing all the while, steadily advanced, and soon routed the band. The house of Crazy Snake was burned during the fight.

Crazy Snake was said to be surrounded in the north Canadian river bottoms near Pierce. Three hundred soldiers, cowboys and deputy sheriffs were closing in upon him. Crazy Snake's band apparently has broken up into numerous small groups, each trying to escape without regard for the grand dreams of the chieftain, to realize which they were called together by Sunday's signal fires. All efforts at organized resistance to the deputies and militia seem to have vanished.

ADMIRAL CONVERSE DEAD AT 75

Chief Who Assembled Globe-Girdling Ships Succumbs at Home.

Rear Admiral George A. Converse, 75 years old, died at his home in Washington, D. C., of uraemic poisoning. Although placed on the retired list several years ago, he was in active service at the time of his death, being president of the board of construction of the navy. It was under him, as chief of the bureau of navigation, that the battleship fleet of sixteen vessels which recently circled the globe was assembled. His widow, who was a Miss Blood of New York, and his two unmarried daughters, Maud and Olga, were with him when he died. Two other daughters survive—Mrs. Colt of Bristol, R. I., and Mrs. Jackson of Baltimore, Md. Admiral Converse was born in Norwich, Vt.

"AFFINITY" WEDDING A MISFIT.

Earle's Wife Asks Separation on Ground of Lunacy.

Ferdinand Pinney Earle, artist, author, and playwright, was confronted the other day on his return to Middletown, N. Y., from the West, where it was reported he had been an inmate of a sanitarium, by Sheriff A. L. Decker of Orange County, who served on him papers in an action begun by his wife, Julia Kuttner Earle, for the annulment of their marriage. Mrs. Earle alleges that her husband was a lunatic previous to their marriage and at the time he married her. She ask the custody of her child, that she be allowed to resume her maiden name, and that the child also be known by its mother's family name.

BOY MISSING; $15,000 DEMANDED

Pittsburg Police Think Bricklayer's Son Is Playing Joke.

Lawrence Gibson, 14 years old, of Pittsburg, disappeared the other night and about midnight his father received a special delivery letter demanding a ransom of $15,000 for his son's return. The police were notified and after investigating the case are inclined to believe the lad, with the aid of boy friends, is trying to play a joke on his father. Mr. Gibson is a bricklayer. Mrs. Gibson, the boy's mother, was worried, but admitted that the handwriting in the letter resembles her son's. The police are trying to find the boy.

Finds Wife Dead in Wagon.

Theodore Maynard, wealthy farmer, drove into Bellingham, Wash., with his wife, and as he attempted to help her out of the carriage found she had died. The husband explained that shortly after leaving home she had swayed in the seat and he put his arm around her, keeping it there until he reached the city.

Work of Congress

The Senate was not in session Friday. The monotony of the tariff debate in the House was relieved for a time by a clash between Messrs. Fordney of Michigan and Byrd of Mississippi, which came near ending in blows. Mr. Fordney had been making an exhaustive discussion of the lumber schedule, when he was interrupted by the Mississippian, who insisted that the lumber manufacturers, of which Mr. Fordney was one, were in a trust. Mr. Fordney peremptorily denied the statement and said that Mr. Byrd "didn't know a d——n thing about it." The Mississippi member made a move toward Mr. Fordney and was in the act of removing his coat when some of his Democratic colleagues took hold of him. Later it developed that the fucident grew out of a misunderstanding and both men made mutual explanations and apologies. Mr. Fordney made a notable speech on the subject of lumber and pleaded for better protection on that product in the rough. Diametrically opposed to him was Mr. Howland of Ohio, who wanted the product placed on the fre list. Others who spoke were Messrs. Pou of North Carolina and Macon of Arkansas, both of whom arraigned the Payne bill for not accomplishing what it was claimed it would do, while Mr. Humphrey of Washington pleaded for a tariff on shingles and lumber sufficiently high to enable the lumber and shingle manufacturers of his State to compete with those of British Columbia, employing cheap oriental labor.

-:—:-

The Senate was not in session Saturday. Debate on the tariff bill in the House was largely devoted to an academic discussion of the issue and the political questions involved, although Mr. Gardner (Mass.) thoroughly reviewed the question of free hides and a tariff on leather goods. Mr. Longworth (Ohio) and Mr. Harrison of New York, the new Democratic member of the ways and means committee, were the only Representatives of the tariff-framing committee who made speeches. Representative Ansberry (Ohio) advocated free lumber and Mr. Keifer (Ohio) and Mr. Slemp (Va.) concluded the speechmaking for the day, the House adjourning at 6:16 p. m., to meet again at 10 o'clock Monday. This was in accordance with the motion of Mr. Payne (N. Y.) that until the conclusion of general debate on the tariff bill the House meet for ten and one-half hours each day.

-:—:-

Senator Hale, chairman of the Republican caucus, introduced a resolution in the Senate Monday to confine the business of the extra session to the consideration of the tariff bill and the bill providing for the thirteenth census, but he afterward amended it so as to permit the introduction of bills and the transaction of executive business. Contrary to expectation, the resolution aroused a spirited discussion, but the debate dealt with other subjects than the limitation of business. Apparently there was no objection to such a limitation, but the measure went over until Thursday. Senator Elkins of West Virginia took occasion to criticise the distribution of the Republican membership of the finance committee, declaring that while New England has three members on the committee, the South has been entirely denied representation. The tariff question was again discussed in the House in a ten-and-half-hour session. Not one of the many speakers favored the Payne bill in its entirety, while the Democrats found much in it to criticise and condemn.

-:—:-

The Senate was not in session Tuesday. When the session of the House got well under way the tariff debate waxed warm. The indications were when the body met at 10 o'clock in the morning that the proceedings would be dry and uninteresting, but a revival of the discussion of the oil and lumber schedules was like setting a match to both products, for the subjects proved of absorbing interest to the members, who entered generally into the debate. To Mr. Vreeland of New York was accorded the privilege of explaining the position of the independent refiners, who want the countervailing duty on crude petroleum retained, while Mr. Kitchen of North Carolina, in an exhaustive treatment of the question, pleaded for the placing of lumber on the free list. He got into frequent colloquies during his three and a half hours' talk with both Republicans and Democrats. Others who spoke were Messrs. Cox, Ohio; Sterling, Illinois; Hughes, Georgia; Bates, Pennsylvania; Parker, New Jersey, and Richardson, Alabama. The usual evening session was held.

TOLD IN A FEW LINES.

Fire at Big Springs, Texas, destroyed a number of business blocks and did damage amounting to $100,000.

Norman E. Mack's home in Buffalo was destroyed by fire while the family was out of the city. The loss was $50,000.

The Washington Legislature passed a bill permitting the serving of liquors with meals in hotels in first-class cities.

Fire at Johnston, S. C., caused a loss of $75,000. Only a rain prevented from destruction the entire town, which is without fire protection.

Mrs. Electa Hawkins, 21 years old, was married to Varnum Wescott, 83, at Santa Monica, Cal. Wescott is an inmate of the soldiers' home at Sawtelle, Cal.

APRIL

0555

L 903

Race for a Wife

—BY—

HAWLEY SMART

CHAPTER XV —(Continued.)

"I can't see that that the least improves your position. You don't mean to tell me that you've had the audacity to come down here to upset an existing arrangement? By the way, do you suppose Maude approves of this? Have you any reason to suppose that she would prefer half of your garret in the Temple to being mistress of Mannersley?"

Grenville Rose's face flushed, but he answered steadily:

"All that must be an after-consideration. Uncle, answer me two questions—fairly, honestly, and as shortly an you please—and then wait to hear what I may have to say to-morrow morning."

"If I am to listen, then, you'll be good enough to talk rather more rationally than you are doing to-night. What are your questions?"

"Believe me, uncle, I am speaking in your interests. Do you owe Pearman money?—Pshaw! I know you do. I want to know how much?"

"Really I had no idea you were keeping so watchful an eye over my interests. Prying into the affairs of one's relations was hardly deemed good taste in my day. I think I may safely leave that answer to your own natural acuteness. It seems to have stood you in good stead so far."

"Why!" cried Grenville, passionately, "you can't think so meanly of me? You won't let me help you? That you owe Pearman money requires no espionage to find out. I do know it—never mind how."

"Probably your philanthropy and increasing practice, then, led you to run down with a view to rescuing your uncle from his difficulties?" said Denison, bitterly.

"Yes, and no," said Rose, starting to his feet. "I have come for two reasons: Firstly, to win Maude for my wife, if I can; secondly, to release you from all obligation to Pearman, if possible. If I knew what the amount was, it would make it easier for me. You don't choose to tell me. I can only let you knew tomorrow, then, what sum you can raise to meet such claims. Will you answer my other question? Do you honestly wish to see your daughter, a Denison of Glinn, married to Pearman?"

It was a home-thrust, this. The blood rushed to Harold Denison's temples, and his eyes had an angry light in them as he rejoined:

"This, I presume, sir, is a specimen of the easy manner of the young men of the present day. A piece of such impertinence I don't remember ever encountering. May I trouble you to hand me that bedroom candle? I would suggest that the earlier you can make it convenient to depart to-morrow morning the less risk I run of being insulted, and for the present will wish you good-night."

"Stop; you must hear me," cried Grenville. "If to-morrow morning I can show you a way to clear all Pearman's claims against you, will you listen to me then, and acquit me of any intention of insulting you? Will you still persevere, uncle, in mating your daughter to the son of a bill-discounting solicitor? No, you won't. I know you better than you think. You are too far in Pearman's hands, or you think so, to give yourself fair play in the matter. There breathes no prouder man than you are. Trust me. Recollect the mouse once saved the lion. As you hope for peace in future, trust me now."

CHAPTER XVI.

Harold Denison paused. He had never seen his nephew break through his conventional, cool, easy manner in this wise before. He felt that he had been terribly in earnest all through their interview. Had he really some clue that might save him? Then, perhaps, as far as it was in his selfish nature to care for anyone, he loved that child of his dead sister, who had just poured forth this torrent of frantic entreaty. The cynic mask dropped from his face as he extended his hand.

"I've had a deal to try me lately, Gren; difficulties have thickened and complicated above my head. You mustn't think anything of what I say. Show me, boy, how to raise ten thousand to-morrow morning, and we'll talk over other things afterwards. At all events, Maude shan't marry Pearman."

"Good-night, uncle," said Grenville, as he clasped Denison's extended hand. "You can't think how happy you've made me. Leave me to work now, and if I'm not in a position to forbid the banns by breakfast to-merrow, may I never have another brief!"

Long and anxiously did Grenville wade through those villainous musty old parchments that night. It was a big box, and contained some two or three hundred such old leases, agreements, mortgage deeds since cancelled, deeds of trust, and marriage settlements of bygone Denisons now sleeping their long sleep in the quiet old churchyard. The clock had struck three ere, with a chill feeling of defeat, he took out the last musty paper. Could this be it? No! it was but some old parchment connected with a right of water power in the last century. Sadly Grenville tumbled the mass of papers back into the box, and gloomily sought his pillow. Had he dreamt of the deed he had looked for? "No," he muttered, as he undressed; "I saw it once in that room. What can have become of it? Maude, my dearest, have I told you to hope, and have I hoped only to drink the bitter cup of disappointment?"

Bed was not of much use to Grenville Rose that night. He tried it; but, despite his journey and late search through those bewildering papers, sleep refused to visit his eyelids. A little more than three hours, and he was splashing in his bath, and, with knit brows, still meditating on what could have become of that all-essential parchment. "It looks bad, but I won't give in. I must search further. I'll have my head in every box, escritoire, cabinet, or cupboard in all Glinn before to-morrow night." In the meantime he recollected that Maude was an early riser, so, finished his toilet and betook himself quietly to the garden.

It was not long before he caught sight of the flutter of a light dress; a few seconds, and he was by Maude's side. Her face flushed as she met him, and her greeting was evidently forced and constrained.

"I thought, Maude, dearest," he said, "that I might have the luck to meet you before breakfast. It is the only chance I have of seeing you alone. Can you tell me still that you don't repent what you wrote in answer to my letter of some fortnight or so back?"

"Oh, Gren, what am I to say to you? What must you think of me? I never thought you cared about me in that way, you know. And then to write to you as I did! But, Gren, dear, I did mean it. I fought hard to be true to you. What can I do? They say it rests with me to keep Glinn as a home to my father, and that, if I don't marry Mr. Pearman, we shall be wanderers about the world. That would kill them. I am very miserable. You don't know what I had to go through. I didn't give in till I could bear it no longer. Be kind to me, Gren, please." And the grey eyes, swimming with tears, looked up into Rose's face with a piteous pleading expression that half maddened him.

"Don't know what you had to go through, my pet? Hum! I think I can make a pretty fair guess." And even as he passed his arm round his cousin's waist and kissed her, Grenville Rose's teeth were set hard. "It makes me mad, Maude, to think that that beast Pearman should ever dare to dream of you. No, child, I know pretty well the bullying you have had to go through. You wouldn't have proved false to your word, except under unfair pressure.

"Then you don't think so very badly of me?" asked the girl, shyly.

"I don't know," smiled her cousin, as he bent his head down to her. "I'll hear what you've got to say. Do you love me?"

"Oh, Gren!" And Maude dropped her flushed, tear-stained face on his shoulder, and submitted to the abstraction of unlimited kisses with the greatest meekness.

The tears were kissed away, and a smile was on her lips as she said, "You whispered last night, 'There is hope for us yet;' what did you mean?"

"I didn't say that; when you quote what I say, be good enough to be correct."

"But you did say so," said Maude, opening the grey eyes wide as usual when a thing passed her compreension.

"No, Miss Denison; I said, 'Hope for us yet, darling.'"

"Oh, Gren, don't tease me; that's so like your old aggravating ways. Tell me."

"Well, dearest, I hoped last night to find a paper that would have, at all events, broken off your engagement with Pearman, and left you free to choose again."

A quiet pressure of his arm, and a soft "Well?"

"I didn't find it, Maude, and went to bed as miserable as a man can well do. Your father promised that Pearman should receive his dismissal if I could do what I dreamt I could. I made sure of finding that paper in the big oak chest in the study; but though I went steadily through them all, it wasn't there."

"When did you see it, Gren?"

"Don't you remember when I went mad upon heraldry, and was all for putting your genealogical tree to rights? I went through those papers then."

"Stop a moment," said the girl; "let me think. Yes," she continued, after a short pause; "and you used to bring them up to work at to the school room—don't you recollect? And I'm almost sure, but didn't you throw a few of them into a drawer up there, saying they were no use, but you might make up a magazine story or two out of them some day?"

"By Jove, Maude, you've hit it! I did, and that would be safe to be one of them. Come along, sweetheart mine, and see. No chance of their being disturbed, is there?"

"I should think not; but I haven't, I really believe, been in the room for the last two years. We'll soon see, though;" and the cousins tripped rapidly back to the house.

Poor old school room! it was not often now that its shutters were thrown open to the golden light of spring. Very different were the old times, when Maude flitted about it daily, making sunshine within, whatever it might be without; when the whistle of the blackbird and the song of the throstle, the twitter of the swallow, and the scent of the jasmine, with other creepers, came drifting through the open casement. Here she had made much of her doll, fought with her nurse, and risen in more matured rebellion against her governess. Here Grenville had teased, petted, laughed at her, and embarked in various studies, genealogical or otherwise. No wonder they paused on the threshold; it was classic ground to them, at all events.

Grenville Rose, however, though he may pause for a moment, is far too much in earnest and immersed in the present to give much thought to old memories. Maude smiles softly as he throws open the windows, and she recalls those long pleasant afternoons they two have passed there. She has been so miserable of late—she is so quietly happy now. It is true this paper must be found; but she believes in Gren, as only a young girl can in a lover. It is the first time he has been with her in that character. It is so sweet to be told you are loved at eighteen, when that confession is made by the right person. No wonder the girl's face looked bright. "Now, Maude, quick—which is the drawer? This, eh?" Hurriedly the drawer is dragged out; but alas! though all sorts of odds and ends, a book or two on heraldry, or a French dictionary, are discovered, no sign of law papers meets the eye.

"Mistaken the drawer, pet, I suppose?" exclaimed Grenville, with a look of disappointment he struggled hard to conceal; and then continued his search. But, no; every drawer and cupboard of the school room is ransacked in vain. Many a relic of their merry old days there comes to light, but nothing in the shape of a deed or parchment. Maude stood aloof towards the conclusion of the search, half leaning, half sitting on the table. Her face was serious enough now, and the well-marked eyebrows rather knit. She felt that the promised smooth water of the morning was as yet by no means realized. Since Grenville had kissed her, and personally told his love, she felt endued with infinite powers of opposition to the Pearman alliance.

"It's no use, Maude; the paper I want is not here," said Grenville at length. "I must search elsewhere."

"So you shall, Gren. Ring the bell. I have an idea."

Her cousin did as he was bid, and when a stray housemaid, in considerable bewilderment, eventually made her way to the disused room, Miss Denison said, sharply, "Tell Mrs. Upcroft she's wanted here directly—directly, mind—and don't let her be as long about getting here as you have been."

"Now, look here, Gren," continued Maude, "those papers were there. Nobody but Mrs. Upcroft would have dared move them. But, you see, she has known me as a child, and I am always hard put to it to hold my own with her. If she don't happen quite to recollect what she's done with them, she'll give me any answer, and won't even try to take the trouble to remember. If I can make nothing of her, then you must chime in and frighten her. Of course she don't want to conceal them; but she will know she ought not to have meddled with them, and don't like what she terms being put out."

There was a tap at the door as Maude finished her speech, and her cousin had but just time to give a nod of intelligence as the housekeeper entered.

"Sorry to disturb you, Mrs. Upcroft," said Miss Denison, blandly, "but I want to know what you have done with the papers that used to inhabit that drawer?"

"I'm sure I don't know nothing about no papers. You might have been sure of that, I think, Miss Maude, before you sent for me, and the butcher just here for orders an' all;" and the housekeeper looked as sulky as she rightly dared. She had for years done as she pleased with Mrs. Denison, and was bitterly jealous of any interference of Miss Maude.

"Excuse me, Mrs. Upcroft, if you don't know anything about the removal of such papers, you should do so. Things ought not to be moved from one room to another without the knowledge and license of yourself. Will you be kind enough to recollect what became of those papers? They happen just now to be of great importance."

"That's so like you, Miss Maude. You were just the same as a child. Whatever you wanted must be done right off at once. I forget about those old papers now, and must run away to the butcher; but I'll perhaps think what became of them in a little. I'm afraid, though, they went to light fires with;" and with a malicious smile the housekeeper turned to go.

(To be continued.)

THE ORIGIN OF FEAR.

Plastic Gray Cells of Our Brains Stamped with Ancient Errors.

The average man would sooner face a 200-pound human antagonist than a 50-pound dog, which he could choke to death in three minutes. I have seen a charging ram scatter half a dozen men, any one of whom could have mastered the brute in a moment, and not one of whom was, in ordinary matters, a coward. There are instances on record of men who, with their bare hands, have held and baffled an ugly bull; but it was only the pressure of grim necessity that taught them their powers. Put a man against an animal, and the man looks around for weapons or support, whether he needs them or not. There was a time when he did.

For man—to-day the most lordly of animals—was once well nigh the most humble of them all. He has come up out of a state in which fear was the normal condition of existence—fear of violence, of the dark that gave opportunity for violence; fear of falling, of animals, of being alone. And into the plastic gray cells of our brains are stamped these ancient terrors—a living record of the upward climb of man.

The baby shows this record most clearly. In him the prints of heredity are not yet overlaid by the tracks of use and custom; and, therefore, in him we may most easily read our past history. He is our ancestor as truly as he is our reincarnation; and his every shrinking gesture and frightened cry are chronicles of the younger world tales of the age of fear.

They tell of the days when man was not the master of the earth, nor even a highly considered citizen of the same; but a runaway subject of the meat-eating monarchs, whose scepter was tooth and claw; a humble plebeian in the presence of the horned and hoofed artistocrats of woods and fields. They speak of the nights when our hairy sires crouched in the forks of trees and whimpered softly at the dark; whimpered because the dark held so many enemies; whimpered softly lest those enemies should hear.—Lippincott's Magazine.

Claims Record Trip.

Clara A. Grace, an employe of a London business firm, claims to have made a record trip from London to New York and return. She was pledged to be back in the English city on a certain day to release her colleagues for vacation. She made the round trip in fifteen days. She transacted some important business in New York, remaining in the city only twenty-five minutes.

He that never changed any of his opinions never corrected any of his mistakes; and he who was never wise enough to find out any mistakes in himself, will not be charitable enough to excuse what he regards as mistakes in others.—Trine.

COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL

CHICAGO.

Commercial developments are in keeping with the seasonable advance in operations usually looked for at this time. The volume of payments through the banks sustains a gratifying recovery and the average of trading defaults shows an improving condition of credits generally.

Industrial activity exhibits steady, although moderate expansion, some of the larger plants having increased production, particularly in iron, wood and leather working.

Encouraging indications for the future are evidenced by increasing number of new demands for finished products and additions to the machinery and men employed.

Railroad reports offer testimony to the prevailing trend of business in the West. Earnings of the Chicago carriers show substantial gains over those reported a year ago, there being larger movements of mill and factory outputs, general merchandise and crude supplies. Distributive dealings reflect favorable influences in an improved purchasing power and wider efforts to advance manufactures and agricultural preparations.

Retail trade in the leading lines does well, larger absorption appearing in apparel, home needs and food products. Wholesale markets for general merchandise disclose a satisfactory presence of buyers, and aggregate shipments compare quite favorably with this time last year in dry goods, men's furnishings, millinery, clothing and furniture.

Failures reported in the Chicago district number 34, against 28 last week, 39 in 1908, and 22 in 1907. Those with liabilities over $5,000 number 9, against 6 last week, 12 in 1908, and 4 in 1907.—Dun's Review of Trade.

NEW YORK.

Weather, crop and industrial reports are still irregular, with more than ordinary quiet noted in most lines. Wholesale trade feels the effect of tariff discussion and uncertainties, and while a fair business is doing (in excess of last year in nearly all lines) disapointment is expressed at the total volume of trade in the first quarter. Buying from jobbers is conservative and orders are numerous rather than large and of a between-seasons character at best.

Retail trade has been hampered by stormy weather, but the approach of Easter is reflected in some improvement in demand, largely in women's wear fabrics and materials. Western trade is relatively better than that of the East in this line, but cool weather arrests expansion the country over. In industrial lines generally operations are quiet to dull, with the iron and steel trade, where prices are weaker, one of the apparently least favorably situated lines.

The coal trade is quiet East and West. One of the best situated industries in the country is building, which is reported active at nearly all points, with some improvement in demand for lumber and materials. Tariff uncertainty, however, affects lumber as well as other lines.

Business failures in the United States for the week ending with March 25 were 226, against 224 last week, 286 in the like week of 1908, 166 in 1907, 169 in 1906 and 227 in 1903.—Bradstreet's.

MARKETS OF THE WEEK

Chicago—Cattle, common to prime, $4.00 to $7.25; hogs, prime heavy, $4.30 to $7.15; sheep, fair to choice, $3.00 to $6.50; wheat, No. 2, $1.19 to $1.21; corn, No. 2, 64c to 65c; oats, standard, 51c to 52c; rye, No. 2, 79c to 80c; hay, timothy, $8.00 to $13.50; prairie, $8.00 to $11.50; butter, choice creamery, 25c to 29c; eggs, fresh, 15c to 19c; potatoes, per bushel, 82c to 92c.

Indianapolis—Cattle, shipping, $3.00 to $6.50; hogs, gobd to choice heavy, $3.50 to $7.50; sheep, good to choice, $2.50 to $4.00; wheat, No. 2, $1.22 to $1.24; corn, No. 2 white, 63c to 65c; oats, No. 2 white, 51c to 52c.

St. Louis—Cattle, $4.50 to $7.15; hogs, $4.00 to $7.05; sheep, $3.00 to $5.85; wheat, No. 2, $1.31 to $1.33; corn, No. 2, 65c to 66c; oats, No. 2, 51c to 53c; rye, No. 2, 80c to 81c.

Cincinnati—Cattle, $4.00 to $6.35; hogs, $4.00 to $7.20; sheep, $3.00 to $5.75; wheat, No. 2, $1.27 to $1.28; corn, No. 2 mixed, 66c to 67c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 53c to 54c; rye, No. 2, 82c to 84c.

Detroit—Cattle, $4.00 to $5.50; hogs, $4.00 to $6.85; sheep, $2.50 to $5.50; wheat, No. 2, $1.25 to $1.26; corn, No. 3 yellow, 67c to 68c; oats, No. 3 white, 54c to 55c; rye, No. 2, 81c to 83c.

Milwaukee—Wheat, No. 2 northern, $1.14 to $1.15; corn, No. 3, 65c to 66c; oats, standard, 53c to 54c; rye, No. 1, 79c to 80c; barley, No. 1, 65c to 66c; pork, mess, $16.40.

New York—Cattle, $4.00 to $6.65; hogs, $5.50 to $7.05; sheep, $3.00 to $5.00; wheat, No. 2 red, $1.21 to $1.22; corn, No. 2, 74c to 75c; oats, natural white, 57c to 59c; butter, creamery, 25c to 30c; eggs, western, 16c to 19c.

Toledo—Wheat, No. 2 mixed, $1.25 to $1.27; corn, No. 2 mixed, 66c to 68c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 54c to 55c; rye, No. 2, 81c to 83c; clover seed, $5.60.

WOMAN DIES FOR MURDER.

Mrs. Mary Farmer Goes to Electric Chair and Exonerates Husband.

Mrs. Mary Farmer was led to the electric chair in Auburn (N. Y.) prison shortly after 6 o'clock Monday morning and paid the penalty for the murder of Mrs. Sarah Brennan at Brownville last April. The execution of Mrs. Farmer—the second infliction of the sentence by electrocution on a woman in New York State—was effected without sensational incident. Five women, two of whom were prison attendants, were witnesses. Father Hickey, spiritual adviser of the condemned woman, afterward gave out a statement signed by Mrs. Farmer in which she declared that her husband, under conviction for the same crime, was innocent and knew nothing of murder until after it had been committed.

Mrs. Sarah Brennan, a neighbor of the Farmers in the village of Brownville, Jefferson County, was murdered April 23, 1908. The body of Mrs. Brennan was found in a trunk owned by Mrs. Farmer. Mrs. Farmer and her husband were given separate trials, and although the evidence was circumstantial, both were convicted and sentenced to death. Mrs. Brennan and her husband lived in a house which they had occupied for twenty years and which was owned by Mrs. Brennan. Months before the homicide, in October, 1907, Mrs. Farmer went to a lawyer's office at Watertown, produced a deed of the Brennan property, and, impersonating Mrs. Brennan, had the deed transferred to James D. Farmer, signing the name "Sarah Brennan." The deed was returned from the clerk's office to James D. Farmer Nov. 26, and Jan. 7, 1908, Mrs. Farmer and her husband went to another lawyer and had the deed drawn to Peter J. Farmer, a child born to them the preceding September.

MRS MARY O. FARMER.

LEADERS TO PLAN LABOR LAWS.

Big National Conference to Be Held in Chicago April 10.

Legislation in the interests of the workers of the country will be the subject of discussion at a conference of economists, educators, manufacturers and labor leaders from all parts of the United States, which is to be held in the rooms of the City Club in Chicago April 10, under the auspices of the American Association for Labor Legislation. The government will be represented by Charles P. Neill, Commissioner of Labor, and Daniel J. Keefe, Commissioner General of Immigration. Following the business session a public meeting will be held in the evening at Hull House for the discussion of measures for the protection of working men and women.

JUMPS FROM SPEEDING TRAIN.

Prisoner Eludes Illinois Sheriff and Leaps Through a Window.

Butte, Mont., officers were apprised the other night of the escape of H. C. Belmont, who has a string of aliases, from Sheriff C. B. Coulter of Crawford County, Ill., at Sand Peak, Col. Belmont jumped through the window of the toilet room of the car while the train was going forty miles an hour and has eluded capture. Belmont had been operating in Butte as a fortune teller under the name of Prof. Alvani, and was arrested on a charge of operating a confidence game in Robinson, Ill.

MAN BELIEVED DEAD IS ALIVE.

The Family of Henry Bethers Buried a Body in Council Bluffs.

Henry Bethers, who was supposed to have been burned to death in a car of slag shipped from Council Bluffs to Valley, Neb., last month, has returned home alive and well from St. Louis, where he has been working. A charred body was found in a car of slag and from fragments of clothing and a physical deformity it was identified as that of Bethers and buried by his family.

Indiana State News

INDICTED FOR MURDER OF WIFE

Grand Jury Action on Death of Lulu Maud Wilson.

John H. Wilson has been indicted by the grand jury for murder in the first degree. Wilson is accused of the murder of his wife, Mrs. Lulu Maud Wilson, on March 3 at her home in Connersville. He has been under arrest since March 9. At that time he was arrested on suspicion after a chain of evidence had been forged by the police and detectives. Mrs Wilson was found dead in her home. Wilson informed the neighbors shortly after noon that he had returned home from his work and found his wife murdered. The body was lying in bed, the head was badly crushed, and there were blood stains on the bed and on the carpet in the room. A heavy iron bar was found in the room, and it was supposed that the murder had been committed with this. The police followed many clews, but the first the public knew of any results was the arrest of Wilson, who was held pending grand jury action.

2 MORE TEMPERANCE COUNTIES.

Elkhart and Orange Take Places in "Dry" Column.

Elkhart and Orange Counties have been added to the dry column, the first by a majority of about 1,300 and the second by 677. Orange County contains the Taggert and Sinclair resorts at French Lick and West Baden, respectively, and it is said that the influence of the two hotels was thrown on the side of local option, the proprietors having found that saloons are a detriment rather than a help to their business. In Elkhart County the Amish and Dunkards sects, which eschew politics and never vote at elections, turned out to a man to vote against saloons, and the city of Goshen gave a majority for the "drys." There was little or no demonstration in either county by temperance people, and the vote was not as large as expected. Forty-three saloons are put out of business by the vote.

DOUBT SUICIDE OF CHICAGOAN.

Logansport Authorities Think Youth Fled to Avoid Marriage.

Dragging the bottom of the Wabash River at Logansport to find the body of Arthur L. Boyer, of the firm of Boyer Brothers, harness dealers, Chicago, who jumped into the water, has been of no effect. It is now thought that instead of drowning he may have waded to the opposite side of the river and disappeared. Boyer was engaged to be married to Agnes O'Connor. The police have the opinion that Boyer, having quarreled with Miss O'Conner, chose a novel mode of escaping marriage with her. Boyer's father and brother and the girl assert that he had no reason to commit suicide and say they believe he had become demented from the use of strong medicine to stop hemorrhages of the nose. They think that he is wandering about the country.

BANK ROLL BIG; GUEST OUSTED.

Indiana Hotel-Keeper Restores Peace by Ordering Stranger to Leave.

A mysterious stronger, who said his name was J. D. Cunningham and that he lived at Rossville, Ill., so excited the village of Wingate by displaying a bank roll of a size theretofore unimagined that the landlord of the Wingate Hotel, to restore peace in his house and the community, ordered him to leave. The disturbing wealthy guest told his new acquaintances that he had been looking for the kidnapers of Willie Whitla. He went from Crawfordsville to Wingate in an automobile which he bought in Crawfordsville for $1,500 cash. The dealer would not let him take the car out, however, until he had been assured that the bank that one of the purchaser's $500 bills was real.

HENRY E. AGAR ACQUITTED.

Indiana Man Charged with Forgery Still Faces Other Trials.

Henry E. Agar, who, after he was mourned as dead since January, 1907, was arrested last December in San Benito, Texas, was acquitted in Princeton of the charge of forgery for which he has been on trial since last Friday. Agar still faces seven other similar charges. Agar, it was charged, forged the names of Princeton business men to a note for $2,500 before he disappeared in 1907 when he was supposed to have fallen from a boat into the Wabash River and was drowned. Memorial services were held for him. When he was captured in San Benito by the Texas Rangers he had entered the banking business.

AMONG OUR NEIGHBORS.

The postoffice at Farmland was broken into and robbed of $300 in money and stamps by robbers, who stole a horse and buggy and escaped. Four hundred dollars' worth of stamps were overlooked.

Maldonio Florencie, a 19-year-old student at Valparaiso University, cut his throat and is not expected to recover. He is from Porto Rico and became despondent because his remittances had stopped.

While Frank Hogue and Isaac Morris were in the Wabash mine in Terre Haute, Hogue sitting on a keg of blasting powder, a spark from Morris' carbide lamp fell. Hogue was killed instantly. Morris was burned seriously.

Saloons ware closed in Terre Haute and other Indiana cities Sunday by order of the brewery interests, who hope to avert the various counties voting "dry" under the new law.

The stork brought the biggest boy ever born in Indiana to Mr. and Mrs. Reinhold Berg, of Hammond, the other day. The baby weighed eighteen pounds. The father is a milkman.

Miss Tillie Meyers, 24 years old, was found dead on her father's grave in the Catholic cemetery in Indianapolis. She had swallowed carbolic acid. Her father died about two weeks before.

APRIL

0556

L 903

The St. Joe News.

One Year - - $1.00
Six Month - - 50c
Three Months - - 25c

FRED B LEIGHTY
PU LISHER.

Entered at the Post Office in St. Joe as second-class mail matter.

Editorially.

A bill has been recently introduced in the Massachusetts legislature, which, if it becomes a law, will go a long way toward curbing the indiscriminate use and sale of firearms.

The report of the National Training School for Boys has just issued and the statistics and data given are of great value, covering the cases of about 4,000 boys, committed since 1870 for offenses covering everything from manslaughter down to stealing rides on cars. Practically all crimes among juveniles is accounted for by a lack of proper home training, but cheap melodrama, the dime novel and excessive cigarette smoking all come in for a fair share of the blame.

The chief opposition to the Payne bill seems to be against the lumber, coal, ore, barley, leather, oil, hoisery, gloves and wool schedules. The inheritance tax, as a source for increasing the national revenues, is also opposed vigorously, and many members of Congress from prohibition states insist that their political lives depend on their having an opportunity to vote for an increased tax on beer.

Dr. Wiley, of the Department of Agriculture has begun a crusade against "Hoky-poky" and other brands of cheap ice cream so beloved by the street urchin. Such delights of childhood are to be banished unless they come up to the standards prescribed in the health regulations. The dictum has gone forth that all ice cream must contain 14 per cent butter fat in the plain cream and 12 per cent in the fruit creams.

President Taft has taken occasion to reiterate, and with added emphasis, his determination to be drawn into no controversy over specific schedules of the tariff bill. It seems that his chance expressions, to give force to argument for or against particular duties, in conversion with members of Congress and others, have been made unwarranted use of and the President does not hesitate to reiterate that no weight should be attached to these assertions. Unquestionably Mr. Taft is in favor of a genuine revision and will veto any measure which, in his judgment, does not carry out the pledge of the Republican national platform. But beyond the broad proposition that revenue should be derived from the taxation or luxuries and not necessities he declines to go.

Evidently a wave of economy and general "house cleaning", is prevailing the National Capitol, and the appointment by President Taft of a cabinet budget committee marks a change of policy which ought to result in the saving annually of many millions of dollars. The Appropriations Committee of the house of Representatives is largely responsible for this innovation by its insertion in the sundry civil appropriation bill passed at the last session of Congress, of a provision intended to facilitate co-operation between Congress and the executive departments in the work of preparing the annual budget and to devide more fairly the responsibility for increased appropriations. With the executive and legislative branches of the government uniting in a movement of this kind, no doubt the annual expenditure will more clearly approximate the annual income.

Under the old system of budget making, the executive departments submitted estimates of expenditures to the House of Representatives, assuming no serious responsibility for them and taken together they always exceeded the estimated revenues. The condition of the Treasury concerned not at all the heads of the different departments of the government, and each department tried to get as much as it could and often spent more than the amount allotted to it, appealing afterward for relief through deficiency appropriations. These deficiencies used to run as high as $20,000,000 or $30,000,000 a year, but Congress put a stop to this practice a few years ago.

From Washington comes the report that Surgeon General Walter Wyman, of the Public Health and Marine Hospital Service, has been requested by President Taft to prepare a plan for the consolidation of all the agencies under the control of the federal government having for their purpose the preservation of the public health. Under existing conditions the bureau of Public health and marine-hospital service is under the Treasury Department; the Department of Commerce and Labor has to do with the isolation and treatment of immigrants found suffering from contagious or infectious diseases; the War Department supervises the work of sanitation in the Philippines and on the Isthmus of Panama; and the Agricultural Department controls the inspection of food products. Under the President's proposed plan, which it is understood is well under way, the work would be systematised and the possibility of one bureau's work overlapping the work of another would be obviated.

No Rest
Day or Night

"I would lay awake for hours without any apparent cause, or dream terrible dreams which would bring on extreme spells of nervousness. After taking Dr. Miles' Nervine and Tonic for awhile I could sleep well, and the nervous spells have left me." MISS ALMA HUG, R. R, No. 4, Canal Dover, Ohio.

Without sleep the nervous system soon becomes a wreck, and the healthful activity of all the organs obstructed. Restful, body-building sleep accompanies the use of Dr. Miles' Nervine because it soothes the irritable nerves, and restores nervous energy. When taken a few days according to directions, the most restless sufferer will find sleep natural and healthful. Get a bottle from your druggist. Take it all according to directions, and if it does not benefit he will return your money.

News Items

What have you got new for Easter?

Mr. Hubbard of Butler, was in town Friday.

Morris Curie was at Ft. Wayne, Friday.

This is the month of showers and flowers.

Albert Newenschwander of Grabill, was in town Monday.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills relieve Headaches, Neuralgia and all Pain.

Miss Edith James of Harlan, spent Sunday with her sister, Mrs. Morris Curie.

Be a booster and boost for St. Joe. Don't be a laggard, as it is not a paying policy.

Clarence Derck of Montpelier, Ohio, visited with C. A. Patterson and family, Friday.

There were 33 bibles at the Christian Sunday School and 35 at the Newville Christian Sunday School.

Attend the supper Saturday evening, April 10th., given by the boys class of M. P. church.

Mr. Dan Benninghoff of Ft. Wayne, visited last week with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Benninghoff.

Mrs. Vincent Dilley of this place, is spending a few days with her brother, Mr. S. H. Maurer, of Spencerville.

Joseph Shull, a former barber of Hicksville, did the shaving act at the J. C. Hull barber shop, Friday and Saturday, owing to the absence of Mr. Hull.

Wm. Curie will receive two car loads of buggys from the Iblinger and Defiance Buggy Companys, for the spring trade, in a few days.

THE NEWS circulates in nearly every home in St. Joe, which with the large rural circulation makes it an advertising medium that is hard to beat, and one that we know has never been equaled in this community.

Mrs. Kathryn Scarles, of Frankfort, Ind., well known to the newspaper fraternity of the state, has purchased an interest in the Angola Herald, and will hereafter be associated with H. W. Marley in the editorial work on that paper.

The frogs have begun to sing. What more welcome sound to the heart and soul than the tuneful melody of the little nocturnal, aquatic, web-footed troubadour? The meadow lark for the fields and the robin for the back yard, but the energetic, whole-souled crescendo, for care-dispelling, debt-forgetting invironment, give us the frog.

The state board of health has issued an order that hereafter ice must be kept separate from oysters in the future, and that the succulent bivalves must be placed in an outside receptacle, the same as ice cream. Any failure to do so will be a violation of the pure food laws and prosecutions will follow. It is claimed that the presence of the melting ice with oysters has a bad effect to such an extent that they are not fit for food after having been kept in this condition for any length of time.

WABASH

Wabash Time Table.

Trains leave-the St. Joe Station as follows:

GOING WEST.
No. 11, Ft. Wayne acc & Mail 11:34a. m
No. 3, Western Express 7:58 p. m

GOING EAST.
No. 2, Eastern Express 6:34a. m
No16, Toledo Acc & Mail 4:50 p. m.

J D Fetters

TRUSTEE
of Concord Township.

OFFICE DAY:
THURSDAY OF EACH WEEK
at his farm residence One mile
EAST OF CONCORD.

PATENTS

and TRADE-MARKS promptly obtained in all countries, or no fee. We obtain PATENTS THAT PAY, advertise them thoroughly, at our expense, and help you to success.

Send model, photo or sketch for FREE report on patentability. 20 years' practice. SURPASSING REFERENCES. For free Guide Book on Profitable Patents Write to

502-505 Seventh Street, WASHINGTON, D. C.

D. SWIFT & Co.

Pain

Nearly all woman suffer some pain at times, due to the ailments peculiar to their sex. If your trouble is yet in a mild form, take Cardui to prevent it becoming more serious. If you have suffered long years, get Cardui at once. Use persistently and it will help you.

Take CARDUI

Mrs. L. Eells, of New Hartford, Ia., was afflicted for 24 years. She writes: "For the past 24 years I have been afflicted with womb trouble, causing extreme nervousness, pain in right side and back — altogether making life a burden. I tried doctors and various other remedies without relief. Finally I began using Wine of Cardui. Now I am entirely cured. I cheerfully advise all women similarly afflicted to try Cardui." Sold everywhere.

E 44

For headache Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills

A fine line of commencement programs at our office for your inspection. Don't forget us.

File a Mortgage Exemption and pay less tax. Now is the time. See S. S. WIDNEY.

Walter Bowen of Ft. Wayne, spent several days last week with his grandmother, Mrs. Nancy Widney, at this place.

Anything needed in farm implements, buggys, harness, horse collars, sweat pads, etc., you will find at Wm. Curie's.

I have secured a horse clipper and solicit the patronage of those wishing their horses clipped. Harry Smith. St. Joe-Spencerville phone, F-L 4 and Auburn 903-40.

We wish the people would get the habit of reporting any items of news to this office or phoning them in. We want everything that's fit to print. It is impossible for us to get everything. Many good items are lost every week, due perhaps to your modesty. Don't forget to report when you have visitors or when you leave town.

Ten Eyck Green House, cut flowers and floral emblems, Both phones. Auburn.

Mrs. Frank P. Seiler has received a letter from her sister, Mrs. John C. Mahoney, of Schenectady, New York, who stated that on Tuesday she and her husband left for the Panama Canal where he has accepted a position as superintendent of the electrical department. They sailed Tuesday and expected to reach Colon by Friday. The position is a good one and is for three years if health will permit. Mrs. Mahoney will be remembered well by many of our readers as Miss Maud Andrews.

Frank Fryer, a Kendallville boy, was sentenced by Judge Anderson at Indianapolis Wednesday to two years imprisonment and hard labor in the federal prison at Fort Leavenworth, Kan. Fryer has been in jail several times and each time was released with a light sentence. Five years ago he pleaded guilty to stealing a package from the mail sack here and was allowed to go on suspended judgment, pending good behavior. A part of the defense at Indianapolis was that he had been taking cocaine and that some of the transactions alleged took place while he was under the influence of the drug. In the judgment of the court the fault could not be laid to the cocaine habit. He was taken to Fort Leavenworth at once.

Dogmatism Defined.

It was Douglas Jerrold who defined dogmatism as "puppyism come to maturity," a happy piece of wise wit.

Words to Freeze the Soul.

"Your son has Consumption. His case is hopeless." These appalling words were spoken to Geo. E. Blevens, a leading merchant of Spingfield, N. C., by two expert doctors—one a lung specialist. Then was shown the wonderful power of Dr. King's New Discovery. "After three weeks use," writes Mr. Blevens, "he was as well as ever. I would not take all the money in the world for what it did for my boy." Infallible for Coughs and Colds, its the safest, surest cure for desperate Lung diseases on earth. 50c. and $1.00 at H. Milliman's. Guarantee satisfaction. Trial bottle free.

Fly Time is Coming.

And Here is Something Interesting About the Pests.

As the season of the year is approaching when insects of all kinds abound and multiply, it is worth while to inquire what can be done to avert the dangers they involve. It used to be thought that most insects were merely a nuisance, and the question has often been asked: "What were they created for, anyway?" Now it is known that some of the most common insects are not merely nuisances, but active disseminators of disease. This makes it harder to answer the question why they are created, and also making war on them. Medical science has demonstrated beyond a doubt that malaria in its different forms is disseminated among human beings by the bite of mosquitoes of a certain species, and yellow fever by the bite of another species.

It has been demonstrated with equal certainty that the common house fly is an active purveyor of typhoid fever and other diseases the germs of which may be carried by the feet or proboscis of the fly into the kitchens and the food of well persons. Experts say the so-called spotted fever of the Northern Rocky Mountain region is carried by a species of tick, and every person who has been much in the forests of the central western states knows what a nerve-destroying pest the chigoe is. Even fleas and bed bugs are said to disseminate disease.

The average human being has an instinctive aversion to all these insects, but the knowledge that they are active disseminators of disease furnishes an additional reason for making war on them during the sickly season. Of all the insects named the common house fly is the most widely dispersed, the most harmless looking, and, to the extent of its ability, one of the busiest in propagating disease by scattering filth. Some officers have proposed the name "typhoid fly" as a substitute for house fly, now in general use. The latter, with its domestic sound, has contributed much by the general impression that the so-called house fly is a harmless creature, or, at the most, simply a nuisance.

To this proposition medical experts say most emphatically, no. They say that the harmless looking house fly is not only one of the most patience-trying of all insects, but also one of the most mischeivious. They say it breeds and revels in filth of all kinds, especially of a disease-producing kind, and scatters it in all directions. Well-to-do people can adopt fairly good means of defence against the pest by means of screens, but a great many houses are without such defenses. Now that fly time and the sickly season are approaching, the health authorities and property owners should co-operate in cleaning up courts and alleys, thereby removing at least some of the attractions and breeding places for the little winged disseminators of filth and disease.

A WHOLE YEAR FOR $1.00

That's what you can do for some friend—send him THE ST. JOE NEWS fifty-two times for only a dollar.

Better than a letter, because it gives ALL the home news each week; there is positively no token you could offer which would make a home so happy in your remembrance as this newspaper mailed to some distant relative or friend.

We are making it just as good as it possibly can be done for $1.00. In fact, lots of publishers have raised to $1.50 on not so creditable a paper as this—and we tell you frankly that when you plank down your dollar on our table for a friend, you'll get your money's worth. This is a good copy to start with. We'll save an extra one until Monday. Yes?

FRED B. LEIGHTY
PUBLISHER.

I Have Addde

to my stock of Hardware a small stock of Furniture. Iron Beds, Husk and Cotton Felt Mattresses, Bed springs, Chairs Tables, Etc.

HARDWARE

My stock of Hardware is complete. I have the largest assortment of Reeds Flintstone ware ever seen in

ST. JOE

Look at the label, if it is Reeds Flintstone ware, it is warranted. Everybody is learning the quality of Keen Kutter tools. Pocket Knives, Razors, Chisels, Hatchets, Hammers Cross cut and Hand Saws, all kept in stock.

Goods are right, Prices are right.

D. J. Baker.

WHEN DEATH COMES

Friends and loved ones desire that the last services be conducted in the best way possible. The embalming and funeral need careful attention. Elza Kinsey, a licensed embalmer, takes charge of all funerals. Satisfaction guaranteed. Calls answered day or night

H. V. Kinsey & Son,

Phone No. Office 37-2. Residence 37-

PATENTS

PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo. for expert search and free report. Free advice, how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc. IN ALL COUNTRIES. Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent. Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively. Write or come to us at 933 Ninth Street, opp. United States Patent Office, WASHINGTON, D. C.

CA-SNOW & Co.

Mrs. Mouse and Mrs. Pussy.

A mouse went into the barn one day,
Where Pussy Cat slept on a load of hay,
But puss waked up and yawned. "Oh, dear!"
So Mousie remarked. "'Tis very clear
I'd better away to avoid a row
Betwixt myself and Mrs. Meow.
For neither here nor across the sea
Is a big enough barn for pussy and me."
So while pussy blinked on the load of hay
The mousie winked and ran away.

Pretty Lucky.

Friend of the Family—You are very lucky, my boy, to be the seventh son. It will bring you everlasting fortune.

Son No. 7—It hasn't so far. All it's brought yet is the old clothes of my six brothers. — Detroit Free Press.

J. H. Lake M. D.

has permanently located in the O. H. Widney property on 4th street, opposite opera house and invites you to call on him.

ails an ered day or night.

St. Joe, . . CH

APRIL

0557

L 903

SPENCERVILLE NEWS.

A Department of the ST. JOE NEWS for the Spencerville People.

THE

Meilink's

The Only Safe Built

Guaranteed against Dampness, Swollen Walls and Rusted Bolt Work.

You are Mighty Poor

if you have nothing in your home or office that is worth protection from fire and thieves. An investment in a safe is pretty cheap insurance. Lasts a Life Time.

Over 30,000 now in use.
Prices from $10 to $100 according to size.

It's Not a Luxury to buy a small Safe, Just Good Common Sense.

Call and see them at our store

BOWSER & GLOYD,

Phone No. 44. Spencerville.

Brighten Up

"Brighten Up" time is here—the time to clean up about the house, renovate, and make the old things look neat and clean again. We can help you in the work with our line of SHERWIN-WILLIAMS PAINTS AND VARNISHES.

It is really surprising what a little paint or varnish will do toward brightening up dingy surroundings. Take The S-W. Family Paint, for instance. This is a linseed oil paint specially prepared for home decorating and painting. With it any one can renew the appearance of a hundred little things that now look worn and old. It dries with a good gloss and will stand scrubbing with soap and water. Comes in 26 attractive shades.

The S-W. Floorlac is another splendid household brightener. It is a stain and varnish combined and can be used on old or new woods equally well. Imitates the natural woods and gives a most pleasing effect.

These offer a few hints for you. Come in and have a "Brighten Up" talk with us and learn more about how we can help you in your Fall cleaning. Our line has a paint or varnish for every purpose.

Remember, we sell

THE SHERWIN-WILLIAMS PRODUCTS

F. R. BOWMAN,

DRUGGIST.

Spencerville R F D No 2

Tracy Grats moved on Chris Hursh's farm, one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Silas Grats from west of Spencerville, spent Sunday with Clint Wearleys'.

Mrs. Clara Clark and daughter Avis, returned to their home at Garrett, one day last week.

Harvie Kimes and family entertained his sister, Mrs. Jane Wehrs of Ft. Wayne, also Minta and Fred Steward of Spencerville, Sunday.

Old papers at News office.

Miss Floy Weitz stayed Wednesday night with Harvie Kimes and family.

Frank Kyle and son Clyde, of Hicksville, spent Thursday with Sarah and Issac Kyle.

Wes Zimmerman, wife and daughter Binna, were Sunday visitors with Carol Wilmots' at Harlan.

Harley Wearly accompanied by Postmaster Chapman from Woodburn, they came up in his automobile Sunday and took dinner with Clint Wearleys'.

Vernie Kelley spent Sunday with his friend at Waterloo.

Get your garden and flower seeds at Beams Store.

Ray McIntyre is spending a few weeks with Harvie Kimes'.

Mrs. Wm. Rhoads called on Mrs. John Benninghoff, Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Miller spent Sunday with Joe Zeis and family of near Harlan.

Mrs. John Benninghoff spent Wednesday evening at the home of Harvie Kimes'.

Perry Miller and wife called on the formers parents, Philip Miller and family, Sunday.

John Cook returned home Sunday from Melvin Howey's, where he has been working all winter.

Mrs. Ida Kelley and children spent Sunday with her sister, Mrs. John Stafford of Newville Center.

Get your harness oiled at Segar's. We are equipped for oiling and guarantee good work.

Elmer Smith, wife and two children spent Sunday with Mrs. Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Issac Squires of near Auburn, Miss Anna Squires returning with them.

FOR SALE:—Bay Horse 6-yr., old, weighing 1,200lb. Sound and free from blemishes, city broke, safe for anyone to handle. Inquire of R. U. Bowser, Spencerville, Indiana.

Miss Eva Miller gave a party Thursday evening at her home in honor of her friend, George Mills, about sixteen of their friends were present and refreshments were served to all. The evening was spent in music and playing games and at a late hour all returned home.

The orchestra met at the home of Clint Wearley, Thursday evening, the following were present:-Will Allen, wife and children, Ilene and Von, Gus Cupp, wife and son Edd. Mrs. Cora Hart and daughter Pauline, Mrs. Emma Allen, Clara Keesler, Iva Zehner, Frank Keesler, Harry Hursh and Harvie Beams. The evening was spent in music and at a late hour lunch was served to all, after which they all returned home.

Breeders Attention!

I have a fine draft stallion, light bay with star in forehead, with which I will make the season of 1909 at the farm of Wm. Countryman, 4 miles east of St. Joe. Phone 431-O Hicksville. Terms $6.00.

K. W. Countryman,
Owner and Keeper.

W. M. ALLEN

Barber.

We have taken the agency for the best wall paper company in Chicago and can show you the best line of paper and mouldings. We can supply you with the

Edison Phonograph,

2 and 4 minute records, supplies and attachments for machine to play 4 minute records.

JUSTICE

of the Peace

work given special attention. Try us once.

S. S. Kimes

—M. D.—

Having located in the Markle building, is now ready to answer all calls, day or night. He invites you to call at the office and is ready to extend you every courtesy in keeping with the profession.

Phone No. 10.

Spencerville, Ind.

Undertaking and Embalming.

Two Funeral Cars. One in White and the other in Black. We also furnish one elegant cab for Pall Bearers or friends. Prices reasonable

Beams & Baker.

Local Briefs

Jack Beams was at Grabill, Monday.

A couple of marriages are expected soon.

Onion Sets at Beams & Co's., Store.

D. D. Metcalf is a new subscriber to the News.

Mrs. Thomas Murray has been ill for the past week.

Golden Murray was at Ft. Wayne, one day last week.

George Henderson is moving in S. H. Maurer's house.

Guss Cupp and Harry Hursh were at Ft. Wayne, Saturday.

S. H. Maurer moved on his farm north of town, last week.

Mrs. Wehrs, of Ft. Wayne is visiting relatives at this place.

Rev. Sweeney is attending the M. E. Conference at Greenfield.

A bunch of fans attended the ball game at Ft. Wayne yesterday.

DeLoss Steward and Hubert Shook are attending school at St. Joe.

Dr. Miles Anti-Pain Pills—Not only stop the pain, but do it quickly.

Mrs. Ben Hursh and Minerva Keesler were at Hicksville, Monday.

Rink Saturday night. At St. Joe. Come.

The Lutheran Sunday School are preparing for an Easter entertainment.

Geo. Gelhausen of Garrett, visited relatives at this place, the first of the week.

Hiram Hutchinson of Ft. Wayne, moved Thursday into the Joel Betz house.

Edd Hull is to report at Kalamazoo by today and Glen Henderson at Bay City, Mich.

W. P. Steward moved Monday and Lloyd Wade moved into the Meyers house Tuesday.

Tom Farner moved on Benninghoff's farm last week, and Joe Knisely moved near Wabash.

Ex-recorder, J. W. Henderson of Auburn, is repairing his house and will move here this week.

George Kimes and wife were guests of the latters mother, near Hudson, the first of the week.

School closed last Friday with the exception of the high room, which will last for one month yet.

Mrs. Peter Bishop, of St. Joe and Mrs. Mariah Oberholtzer took dinner with Mrs. Henry Murray last Tuesday.

FOR SALE:—Grey Horse, 6-yr. old, weight 1,500lb. City broke and quiet. W. G. Erick, Spencerville, Indiana.

Miss Ethel Metcalf returned from Ridgville, Ind., where she has been visiting for several days with Rev. Barton and family, she was accompanied home by their adopted daughter.

Some Doings the Past Year.

The past year has marked a new era in the abolition of the saloon in the United States. Thirty a day for the year 1908 were suppressed by local option or prohibition. Five entire states went "dry," making eight in all now under state-wide prohibition.

A decade ago only 6,000,000 people lived in no license territory. Today 38,000,000 live where there is no legalized saloon. Two-thirds of the area of the United States is now "dry." A solid block of 320 miles north and south and 720 miles east and west all "dry," tells the story of a tidal wave that has swept over the southland. One can almost travel from the Ohio to the Gulf of Mexico, and from the Mississippi to the Atlantic without seeing a legalized saloon. Only five of the 96 counties in Tennessee are "wet," and 97 per cent of the territory of Kentucky is "dry."

Nor has sentiment in the north lagged. The temperance question has become the leading one in many states. The tidal wave shows no indications of receding.

There are more McCall Patterns sold in the United States than of any other make of patterns. This is on account of their style, economy and simplicity.

McCall's Magazine (The Queen of Fashion) has more subscribers than any other Ladies' Magazine. One year's subscription (to publish) costs 50 cents. Latest number, 5 cents. Every subscriber gets a McCall Pattern Free. Subscribe today.

Lady Agents Wanted. Handsome premiums and liberal cash commission. Pattern Catalogue (of 100 designs) and Premium Catalogue (showing 400 premiums) sent free. Address THE McCALL CO., New York.

Electric Bitters

Succeed when everything else fails. In nervous prostration and female weaknesses they are the supreme remedy, as thousands have testified.

FOR KIDNEY, LIVER AND STOMACH TROUBLE

it is the best medicine ever sold over a druggist's counter.

Hats

Our hat department has the men and boys talking this season. The reason lies in some new things in soft and stiff hats. Also a good line of caps.

Beams & Co.

Spring Shoes

The latest styles will be found at our store in Patent and Tan Oxfords for Men or Women, and in fact for the children or anyone else. A full line of shoes.

We want your produce.

You

have a good fire insurance policy to guard against fire loss, why wouldn't it be to your interest to guard against Tornado damage.

We sell Tornado Insurance for town or farm property.
The cost is very small.
The protection is very great

J. C. HULL

AGENT

Fire, Tornado, Life, & Accident

Call on or Phone No. 46.

Up Before the Bar.

N. H. Brown, an attorney, of Pittsfield, Vt., writes: 'We have used Dr. King's New Life Pills for years and find them such a good family medicine we wouldn't be without them.' For Chills, Constipation, Billousness or Sick Headache they work wonders, 25c at H. Milliman's.

Our Deposits March 1st.

- - WERE - -

$67,127.93

Our Cash Resources Were

$22,487.49

or more than ⅓ of our deposits on hand for instant use. If Safe, Sound and Conservative Banking appeals to you we will get your business. 4% Interest paid on Time Deposits.

Joseph Witmer
Joseph A. Grabill
David Klopfenstein
Marcus Yager
John B. Hafley
John S. Klopfenstein
Julius Gehrig
Albert Egly.

OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS OF

Grabill State Bank,

Grabill Indiana.

OUR SPECIAL

THE NEWS

from now until Jan. 1 '10

for only

50 CENTS.

APRIL

U558
L 903

COLDS

CURED IN ONE DAY

Munyon's Cold Remedy Relieves the head, throat and lungs almost immediately. Checks Fevers, stops Discharges of the nose, takes away all aches and pains caused by colds. It cures Grip and obstinate Coughs and prevents Pneumonia. Price 25c.

Have you stiff or swollen joints, no matter how chronic? Ask your druggist for Munyon's Rheumatism Remedy and see how quickly you will be cured.

If you have any kidney or bladder trouble get Munyon's Kidney Remedy.

Munyon's Vitaliser makes weak men strong and restores lost powers.

Nutshell Tactics.

The stock argument against votes for women that they could not bear arms in event of war—is not unanswerable.

History is explicit concerning women's efficiency as private soldiers, and at least one good regimental officer should be credited to the weaker sex. On the authority of Anatole France, Joan of Arc once declared her principles of leadership:

"I say, in among them, and I go in."

The soldiers of France followed, of course. Could male regular or volunteer better that?

NEW VIGOR FOR BAD BACKS.

How to Make a Weak Back Better.

Women who suffer with backache, bearing-down pain, dizziness, constant dull, tired feelings, will find hope in the advice of Mrs. M. Working, 315 Fulton Ave., Rochester, Ind., who says: "I suffered everything with pain in the back, too frequent passages of the kidney secretions, swelling of the ankles and joints and a general feeling of weakness. I used about everything said to be good for kidney trouble, but Doan's Kidney Pills brought me the first real help, and three boxes cured me."

Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Caught Three Tons of Moths.

An electric light trap to end the caterpillar plague by destroying the brown nun moths that lay the eggs from which the caterpillars are hatched has been devised and placed in successful operation at Littau, Germany. The trap consists of two large and powerful reflectors placed over a deep receptacle into which the moths are drawn by exhaust fans. The first night three tons of moths were caught.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Address F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.
Sold by all Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Telegraph Poles.

Harker—Fine automobile, Coggwood. What do you call it?

Coggwood—Peary.

Harker—After the arctic explorer, eh? And why?

Coggwood—Because it is always making a dash for the pole.

For Colds and Grip.

Laxe's Pleasant Tablets (laxative) cure colds in an hour and are the best treatment for grip. Do not wait a minute when you feel a cold coming on, but get a box of these tablets and save suffering and expense. They are sold by druggists and dealers at 25 cents a box. Orator F. Woodward, Le Roy, N. Y. Sample free.

Inside History.

Indignant Wife—What's the use of my saying anything to you, John? It goes in at one ear and out at the other!

Provoking Husband—Not always, Maria. When you say anything worth minding I stop it on the way through.

In a Pinch, Use Allen's Foot-Ease.

A powder to shake into your shoes. It rests the feet. Cures Corns, Bunions, Swollen, Sore, Hot, Callous, Aching, Sweating feet and Ingrowing Nails. Allen's Foot-Ease makes new or tight shoes easy. Sold by all Druggists and Shoe Stores, 25c. Sample mailed FREE. Address Allen S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y.

Of a Different Opinion Now.

"You are charged with larceny. Are you guilty or not guilty?"

"Not guilty, judge. I thought I was, but I've been talkin' to my lawyer, an' he's convinced me that I ain't."—Chicago Tribune.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS

PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refunded. 50c.

Any Change an Improvement.

Photographer—Is that the most pleasing expression you can assume?

Sitter—Yes, sir.

Photographer—Then, for heaven's sake, glare ferociously at me!

Pettit's Eye Salve First Sold in 1807

over 100 years ago, sales increase yearly, wonderful remedy; cured millions weak eyes. All druggists or Howard Bros., Buffalo, N. Y.

The Christmas candy bill of New York City is estimated at $3,000,000.

AN EASTER ANTHEM.

EASTER LILIES AT CHRIST'S TOMB.

Long ago, as Easter emblems,
Bloomed the lilies, tall and white,
Pure and stateliest of flowers,
Gleaming with celestial light.

Man, as if with prayer and fasting,
Pale with watching by the dead,
Near a garden they lingered,
Low before it bowed the head.

For the angels' silent fingers,
As they softly waited there,
Touched the sweet, the mystic lilies
Lovingly, with tender care,

While the world in solemn stillness
Watched the coming of the day
Of that first, that ancient Easter
When the stone was rolled away.

And when morning dawned resplendent,
And on earth its glory shed,
Pealed the lily bells in triumph,
"Christ is risen from the dead!"
—Christian Work.

EASTER'S DEEP MEANING.

How It May Be Incorporated Into the Life of Every Day.

It seems clear that a pure spirit will arise from the seed of a pure body, and a loving spirit from the seed of a loving body. If the body we sorrowfully put aside has been one full of charity, helpful, kindly and eager to speak tender, pitying words—one that has thought no evil and has believed all things—can anyone doubt what should come of such a seed planting? The natural comes first, and after that the spiritual. But "as is the natural, so is the spiritual." It is far more glorious, but, after all, the same!

So we may bring Easter, with its wonderful deep meaning, into the life of every day. How? By teaching ourselves to comprehend the truth that while we live this human life, and develop this natural body, it is not alone the natural body we are creating, but the seed of the spiritual body which is to come after.

This is not a mystical doctrine. All those who in this life have attained some knowledge of their spiritual natures will testify to its truth. The change from a natural to a spiritual living is like the growing of a plant whose seed we have sown. The right plant surely grows in a man who has sown the right seed.

As the spiritual nature of a man begins to develop, the purer, higher elements in him grow stronger, and one by one the baser sort die. Hate dies, and revenge and anger. Cruelty dies, and all unkindness. Narrowness of mind dies, and contempt for the frailties of others.

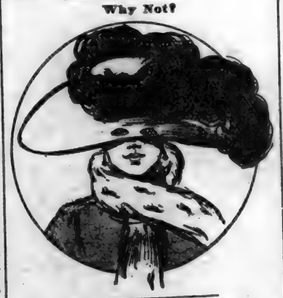
The part that lives and grows stronger is love. Purity and truth and courage are but parts of love, and, as it grows greater, by and by comes the sureness of knowledge, and faith itself is swallowed up in fruition.

This is the daily burial of the old man who was "earthy," and the daily rising of the new, who is the "Lord from Heaven." To such a heart Easter comes every day.—Harper's Bazar.

The Scala Santa.

"I found the Scala Santa (holy staircase) most interesting, for certainly it is the strangest sight in the world," writes a woman who spent last Easter in Rome. "An enormous crowd of both sexes, all ages and all ranks, was ascending the staircase on their knees, kissing each step. I saw elegantly dressed ladies, princesses, her majesty the queen, following immediately behind skin clad countrymen with their sandaled feet almost in contact with the faces of the ladies following. All Good Friday the procession is kept up. La Scala Santa is said to be the staircase down which our Lord was dragged when Pilate had sentenced him to be crucified by St. Helena, as in an adjoining church the true cross is shown, also brought by St. Helena from Jerusalem."

Why Not?



Legend of the Easter Eggs.

There are several legends that explain the custom of coloring eggs for Easter, but perhaps this is one of the prettiest:

After the crucifixion of Christ, Joseph of Arimathea took the body and laid it in a tomb hollowed out of a rock. The story goes that a beautiful tree, bearing blue blossoms, grew by this tomb. A bird had built its nest in this tree, and in the nest were four pretty white eggs. When the bird saw the hands and the feet of the Lord pierced with the nails, she began to sing a sorrowful song. All that night through she sang the same song, full of grief and pain.

Not long after, when the angel rolled away the stone from the tomb and the Lord arose, the bird sang again. But this time the song was very sweet and joyful; and then the angel blessed the bird, the nest and the beautiful white eggs. And the strange story says that ever since that night the eggs of that bird change their color, and instead of being white they are red, yellow and blue, so that people may be reminded of that first Easter day.

At Two Sepulchers.

"He is not here! behold! He is not here!
He broke the narrow bonds of His sealed prison;
Lo! He hath conquered death!"
For this the angel saith,
"He is not here! the Christ is surely risen!"

A soul once dead hath found to-day new life!
A buried heart hath broken Sin's dark prison;
And on this Easter day
I heard the angels say:
"He is not here! He lives! this soul is risen!"
—New York Independent.

A Lasting Easter Gift

An Easter present that will give real lasting pleasure is a window box filled with growing plants. Cut flowers are ephemeral, and often the potted plant bought and sent as an Easter gift lasts but a little while.

These window boxes are a new departure for this purpose. They are of rustic bark, oblong, square or round, as you choose. They should contain flowers of an enduring nature. A baby rambler rose, sweet alyssum, ferns, pansies, mignonettes and the bright yellow genests are all good. Sometimes the florist puts a bit of Scotch heather in the box.

Such a box set in a sunny window would give pleasure all through the spring and later could be put outside.—Boston Traveler.

Rolling Eggs at the White House.

The White House egg rolling is the big event of the year to Washington children. Babies, rich and poor, black and white, gather here for their annual picnic in the President's back yard. The youngsters "pick" eggs, roll them up and down the grassy slopes and sing and frolic to the music of a band. Presidents of the United States have not felt it beneath their dignity to join in the fun.

An Easter Lay.

My ma never spoils my fun,
Nor scolds me for the things I've done;
An' when I stay out half the night
My ma she thinks it's just right,
And if I pleased I'd stay out later,
'Cause ma—she's just an incubator.

"EXCUSE ME, I THOUGHT IT WAS YOU, EMILY DEAR."

FORESTRY IN FRANCE.

Nation Gradually Replanting Trees in Waste Places to Prevent Floods.

The great achievement of France in forestry has been the establishment of protective forests where much destruction had been caused by floods and winds. From various causes large areas were cleared of forests toward the close of the eighteenth century and only when it was too late was it realized that these lands were not fit for agriculture and should have been left in forest, says the Scientific American. To repair the mistake a movement to reforest began in the nineteenth century. It was an exceedingly expensive mistake. Down to the present time, encouraged by wise laws, the state, the communes and private land owners have restored to forest over 2,500,000 acres, and so saved them from ruin. In addition the resulting forests return an excellent revenue.

Two-thirds of the forests of Europe are in France. In the Alps, the Cevennes and the Pyrenees mountains there are 1,467 brooks and mountain streams which are considered dangerous. Nearly a million acres of mountain slopes are exposed to erosion by these streams, to say nothing of the flat land below. As far back as the sixteenth century there were local restrictions against clearing mountain sides, enforced by fines, confiscation and corporal punishment. In the main these prevented ruinous stripping of hillsides, but with the French revolution these restrictions were swept aside and the mountains were cleared at such a rate that disastrous effects were felt within ten years. By 1903 the people had become aroused to the folly of this cutting.

Where useful brooks had been there now rushed torrents which flooded the fertile fields and covered them with sterile soil washed down from the mountains. The clearing continued unchecked until some 800,000 acres of farm land had been ruined or seriously injured, and the population of eighteen departments had been reduced to poverty and forced to emigrate.

By 1806 the state took up the problem, but in such a way that the burden of expense for reforestation was thrown upon the mountaineers, who, moreover, were deprived of much pasturage. Complaints naturally arose. An attempt was made to check torrents by sodding instead of by forest planting. This, however, proved a failure, and recourse was again had to planting, by the law of 1882, which provides that the state shall bear the costs. Since then the excellent results of planting have completely changed public sentiment. The mountaineers are most eager to have the work go on and are ready to offer their land for nothing to the forest department. In addition to lands secured by gift, the state acquires 25,000 or 30,000 acres a year. Over 500,000 acres have been acquired and more than one-half of this area has been planted.

Already 163 of the torrents have been entirely controlled and 654 are beginning to show the controlling effects of the forest on their watersheds. Thirty-one of the torrents now entirely controlled were considered hopelessly bad half a century ago. It is expected that $50,000,000 will have been spent before the work of reforesting for protection is complete.

GOOD-BY TO THE BABY.

During the Chino-Japanese War the members of one of the missionary families were living in the part of Chemulpo near the barracks where the Japanese were quartered until they could be sent by sea to the front. "In Korea with Marquis Ito," by Dr. George Trumbull Ladd, contains a pathetic little story in connection with this family.

One day a petty officer came up on the porch of the house, uninvited; but after accepting gratefully the cup of tea offered him, being unable to speak any English, he went away, leaving the object of his apparent intrusion quite unexplained.

Soon afterward he returned with some twenty of his comrades, mostly petty officers, accompanying him. And when the hostess was becoming somewhat alarmed at the number for whom she might be expected to furnish tea and cakes, one of the company explained in broken English that they had come to see the baby, a girl about two years old.

The little one was brought out by the mother and placed in the arms of the speaker, who carried her along the line formed of his comrades and gave each one a chance to see her, to smile at her, and to say a few words to her in an unknown tongue.

On going away, after this somewhat formal paying of respects to "the baby," the Japanese officer still further explained.

"Madam," said he, "to-morrow morning we are going to the front, and we do not expect ever to return. But before we go to die, we wanted to bid good-by to the baby."

The number of the regiment to which these soldiers belonged was taken note of by the mother. Their expectation came true; they did not return.

Each Had His Work.

Gyer—There go Peckem and his wife. She is a lecturer and he is an entertainer.

Myer—Both in public life, eh?

Gyer—Oh, no. When he wants to go downtown in the evening she gives him a lecture, then he stays home and entertains the baby.

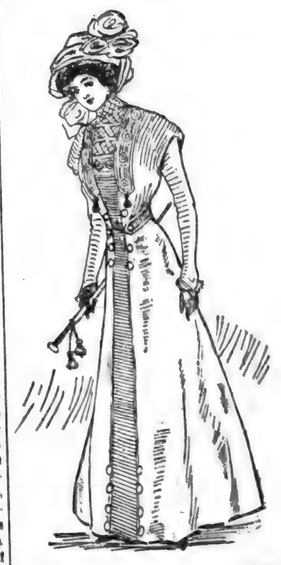
Habitual Constipation

May be permanently overcome by proper personal efforts with the assistance of the one truly beneficial laxative remedy, Syrup of Figs & Elixir of Senna, which enables one to form regular habits daily so that assistance to nature may be gradually dispensed with when no longer needed, as the best of remedies when required are to assist nature, and not to supplant the natural functions, which must depend ultimately upon proper nourishment, proper efforts, and right living generally.

To get its beneficial effects, always buy the genuine,

MANUFACTURED BY THE
CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.
SOLD BY ALL LEADING DRUGGISTS
ONE SIZE ONLY—REGULAR PRICE 50¢ PER BOTTLE

FASHION HINTS



This pretty silk model has a tucked front panel from yoke to hem. The tight sleeves have tiny tucks as trimming.

Large silk covered buttons help to give a tailored air.

It is a very practical frock for many occasions, and dressy as well.

The Experienced Swine.

The crowd around the postoffice stove, after exhausting the possibilities of politics, local and national, had been discussing the alleged lack of the truth-telling instinct in Old Man Simpkins. Uncle Ezra came in, and Jim Peters said:

"What do you think about it, Uncle Ezra—would you call Old Man Simpkins a liar?"

"Well," answered Uncle Ezra slowly as he thoughtfully studied the ceiling, "I wouldn't go so fur as to call the old man a liar, but I do know it to be a fact that when feedin' time comes to get any response he has to have somebody else call his hogs fur him."
—Woman's Home Companion.

Only One "BROMO QUININE"

That is LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE. Look for the signature of E. W. GROVE. Used the World over to Cure a Cold in One Day. 25c.

His Walking Papers.

"My sister'll be down in a minute," said little Clarence, who was entertaining the young man in the parlor. "I heard her tellin' maw a little while ago that she was goin' to give you your written permission to perambulate to-night. What do you reckon she meant by that?"

"I think I know, Clarence," said the young man, reaching for his hat. "You may tell her, if you please, that I have decided not to wait for it."

Red Cross Ball Blue

Should be in every home. Ask your grocer for it. Large 2oz. package, 5 cents.

Only Favoritism Wanted.

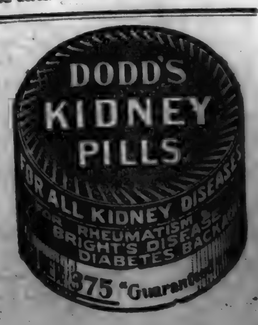
George Gould spoke of railway difficulties at a recent board meeting.

"A railway finds it impossible, by being just, to please all hands," Mr. Gould concluded. "There is truth in the story of the commuter who entered a railway superintendent's office with a black frown.

"'Well, what next?' the superintendent said to the man impatiently. 'By our new time table don't three additional trains stop at your station now?'

"'Yes, but,' growled the commuter, 'they stop at all the other little stations, too.'"

The Tokio exposition grounds will cover 292 acres.



APRIL

0559

L 903

WORTH MOUNTAINS OF GOLD

During Change of Life, says Mrs. Chas. Barclay

Graniteville, Vt. — "I was passing through the Change of Life and suffered from nervousness and other annoying symptoms, and I can truly say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has proved worth mountains of gold to me, as it restored my health and strength. I never forget to tell my friends what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me during this trying period. Complete restoration to health means so much to me that for the sake of other suffering women I am willing to make my trouble public so you may publish this letter." — MRS. CHAS. BARCLAY, R.F.D., Graniteville, Vt.

No other medicine for woman's ills has received such wide-spread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine we know of has such a record of cures of female ills as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For more than 30 years it has been curing female complaints such as inflammation, ulceration, local weaknesses, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion and nervous prostration, and it is unequalled for carrying women safely through the period of change of life. It costs but little to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and, as Mrs. Barclay says, it is "worth mountains of gold" to suffering women.

WESTERN CANADA
THE PENNANT WINNER

FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

"The Last Best West."

The Government of Canada now gives to every Actual Settler 160 acres of wheat-growing land free and an additional 160 acres at $3.00 an acre.

The 300,000 contented American Settlers making their homes in Western Canada is the best evidence of the superiority of that country. They are becoming rich, growing from 25 to 30 bushels wheat to the acre; 60 to 110 bushels oats and 45 to 60 bushels barley, besides having splendid herds of cattle raised on the prairie grass. Dairying is an important industry.

The crop of 1908 still keeps Western Canada in the lead. The world will soon look to it as its food-producer.

"The thing which most impressed us was the magnitude of the country that is available for agricultural purposes."—National Editorial Correspondence, 1908.

Low Railway Rates, good schools and churches, markets convenient, Prices the Highest, climate perfect.

Lands are for sale by Railway and Land Companies. Descriptive pamphlets and maps sent free. For Railway Rates and other information apply to W. D. Scott, Superintendent of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or W. H. Rogers, 3d Floor Traction-Terminal Building, Indianapolis, Ind., and H. M. Williams, Room 20, Law Building, Toledo, Ohio, Authorized Government Agents.

Please say where you saw this advertisement.

Paxtine
TOILET ANTISEPTIC

Keeps the breath, teeth, mouth and body antiseptically clean and free from unhealthy germ-life and disagreeable odors, which water, soap and tooth preparations alone cannot do. A germicidal, disinfecting and deodorizing toilet requisite of exceptional excellence and economy. Invaluable for inflamed eyes, throat and nasal and uterine catarrh. At drug and toilet stores, 50 cents, or by mail postpaid.

Large Trial Sample

WITH "HEALTH AND BEAUTY" BOOK SENT FREE

THE PAXTON TOILET CO., Boston, Mass.

Non-Skid, Puncl. Proof, Self-healing Bicycle Tires, $1.50 to 2.50. Something Entirely New. Get Our Catalog. MORGAN & WRIGHT, 126 East Columbia St., Fort Wayne, Ind.

Gre-Solvent instantly dissolves grease, grime, paint, etc., from hands. Benefits skin. Everyone buys. Liberal proposition to agents. Samples free. UTILITY CO., 636 W. 44th St., New York City, N. Y.

FOR SALE—Michigan Farms; All sizes, Southern and Central Michigan. Write for list and terms. Eldo Murray & Co., Charlotte, Mich.

SAVE Your hands—Men and women order our popular strong working gloves used by everybody, 15c pair. Agents wanted everywhere. Richmond Glove Co., Box 668, Richmond, Va.

THE POPULAR PULPIT

THE EASTER HOPE.

By Rev. H. W. Harrington.

"But now is Christ risen from the dead and become the first-fruits of them that slept."—I. Cor., xv., 20.

The days of spring come laden with promise. It is a strange nature that is not stirred into rejoicing at the victory of the new season over the old, at the return of life after death. Every swelling bud and opening flower is a pennant waving in triumph over the field where the long fight between life and death has been waged. The flowers speak of more than the passing of time; they speak of the passing of the tyrant who robbed us of them last year.

Easter is more than a church festival; it is the festival of all nature. As at the creation the morning stars sang together, so at this new creation of another year's beauty the birds, the trees, the flowers, the weeds of the wayside, join in their great oratorio of happiness. It is the birthday of hope. He who had never seen the changes of the season might well have wept bitterly when autumn's winds swept bare the trees and the flowers drooped in the gardens, thinking that he was bidding them farewell forever. How now would he rejoice at their return to learn, in spring, that death had been with them no more than a seeming, its victory a pretense. Gradually, as the spring came year after year, he would learn the great secret of nature, that all its endings are but beginnings, that life can never cease to be.

Easter is the birthday of hope in a greater realm. Our lives are but as single seasons; then comes the autumn, the falling leaf. We say this is the end; there will be no more the flower, the leaf, the life; the dread winds of winter sing their dirges of despair. But if the weed of the wayside is worth bringing back to its brief beauty, if the buds break forth again on the trees, is it possible that our lives have no returning springtide after their winter? Is there only one set of seasons for humanity? Are we separated from the law that no life can cease to be? Sown in sorrow, like seeds in the fall, shall we not come to fairer life? And every living thing in all our fair world answers clear that "life is ever lord of death."

This is the message of the Eastertide, a new life out of the old death. Death has lost its terrors. Instead of a prison it has become an avenue. Just as we now rejoice when a new life comes into our world, so shall we also rejoice when a life goes out, knowing that it goes into larger living, a fairer springtide awaits it. We see that God makes winter as well as summer, our exits as well as our entrances; that the winter is essential to the spring, the exit on one level to the entrance on another.

Why, then, did men, with this lesson of nature writ broad before them, sit so long in darkness? Why failed they to read the promise of nature's acted parable? Great souls did see its meaning; large hearts hoped for larger things. Many dimly felt that their longing would be satisfied, and they waited for a more sure word. Then came One who so lived as to become the authority on life. He so lived as to make all listen when he spoke on life. He so lived as to teach men how to die and so died as to teach them the secret of life forever. He faced death without fear, with the sublime confidence that in some measure has come to so many men in that hour when delusions fall away. He went down into the shadows with the light of the coming dawn on His face; He went down declaring he would return.

Then somehow, it is little matter how or even just why, men learned that He who had taught them how to live had not felt the lesson half completed; He had faced and solved the greatest mystery of life. He had shown that beyond the winter there was a springtide for their lives, too. They did not stop to discuss foolish questions; they knew that His life had not been overcome by death, that the great law of nature held true here, that no life could cease to be. It was a word for which the word had waited. They saluted one another, saying, "He is risen!" Henceforth men had their part in the springtide anthem of all nature.

HOW TO GROW.

By Henry F. Cope.

"Grow in grace."—II Peter, 12:18.

No one doubts to-day that it is possible to state definitely the laws under which all cabbages are grown. We know these fundamental laws are invariable, and if we folow them faithfully, whether in India or in Illinois, we can be quite as sure of the results. Is it possible to state as definitely the laws under which character grows?

It is surely vastly more important that we should know how to bring the ultimate product of life to perfection than we should be able to formulate precisely the invariable laws governing the development of weeds and flowers. Surely we recognise that we are in life for larger purposes than tilling the ground; we are here to make life.

If we have stopped to think of the matter at all, we are clear that the one great purpose for which men live is to bring character to its fullness and perfection, to learn the lesson of living the life of goodness, truth and loving service, to find the full life of each in the pomplete living of all.

When we bring this business of character development down to simple, practical terms, it becomes a real thing to each of us, a matter of daily living, of meeting life's difficulties, bearing its burdens, opposing its temptations, and somehow struggling out through all into the best we know.

Often in that struggle for the higher life, for the realization of our best hopes and dreams of character, it must be strange if, as seems to be the case, there should be no definite rules of procedure, if character grew by chance or at haphazard. The question recurs, as there any definite plan for growing character?

It is a question you do not often hear spoken; it is seldom committed to print, but it is everywhere. How can I be that which I know I ought to be? Many are the answers given; most of them wholly disappointing when tested by use, only leaving men wishing they might learn this business of living as easily as they master their business of a daily living.

Many are wasting time looking for imparted goodness, for character by cataclysmic changes in the life. Too many are hoping that, going to bed bad, that they will wake up wholly good; perhaps that is the reason so many sleep in church, hoping to become saints in their slumbers. But character grows naturally; the making of a life does not violate the unvarying laws of life.

The secret of being the best is being steadily with the best. If you would realize your ideals you must keep yourself in the presence of the ideals, as they are already relized in other persons or in other conditions. High thoughts only come from the practice of high thinking. In our friendships, habits, customs we must live in the presence of the best.

If a man would be a musician he cannot afford to deluge his ears with discords; if he would paint, he must avoid chromos and color conflicts. Both will gain more from the atmosphere of great oratorios, symphonies, and paintings than they can possibly get from courses of study; the study they will need, but it will be vain without this practice of the presence of the best.

Nowhere does this law of growth according to environment and atmosphere, hold more exactly than in the realm of personal character. And, most of all, it holds here in the potency of personality, in the power of other lives through friendships and daily communion to make our lives, to lead them out into fullness.

There are those in whose presence it is easy to think low thoughts, to cherish ignoble ambitions; there are those with whom this is altogether impossible, whose presence stirs the best in us, whose nobility suggest yet greater, fairer heights of life. We may not be able always to choose our companions, but we can select our friends, or at least open our lives only to those that lead us out and up.

SERMONETTES.

The great are those who can beat discipline.

Reverses are often the best chapters in our education.

The man who lacks friends usually lacks in friendliness.

Many are saving up all their piety for purpose of penitence.

If you fear to lose your dignity you have none worth losing.

The soft man has no success as smoothing down life's angles.

The lowliest walk sounds louder in heaven than the loudest talk.

If you cannot give your religion away you had better throw it away.

They who have fought temptation are always tender to the tempted.

Folk who are overanxious to live on velvet commonly wind up on the carpet.

More are lame from kicking than from corns acquired in walking the narrow way.

The best way to honor the dead prophets is to make straight paths for the living people.

The apparent power of death to separate is the strongest bond that binds the living together.

You can tell a man's courage, not by the measure of his fear, but by the fight he puts up.

Some men exercise so much imagination on their own excellences that they have nothing left but judgment for the good in others.

DON'TS FOR CHURCHMEN.

Don't fail to learn that power in life is simply putting our passions into harness.

Don't make the mistake of trying to get a light heart by throwing your burdens on others.

Don't forget that the best way to silence your conscience when it disturbs you is by obeying it.

Don't expect to overcome sin until you learn to hate its power more than you fear its punishment.

Don't fail to observe that silent endeavor for things honorable has greater eloquence than silver trumpets.

Don't fail to learn that it takes faith in the depraved as well as in the divine to fashion this old world to the heavenly ideal.

CHILD ATE CUTICURA.

Spread Whole Box of It on Crackers —Not the Least Injury Resulted— Thus Proven Pure and Sweet.

A New York friend of Cuticura writes:

"My three year old son and heir, after being put to bed on a trip across the Atlantic, investigated the stateroom and located a box of graham crackers and a box of Cuticura Ointment. When a search was made for the box, it was found empty and the kid admitted that he had eaten the contents of the entire box spread on the crackers. It cured him of a bad cold and I don't know what else."

No more conclusive evidence could be offered that every ingredient of Cuticura Ointment is absolutely pure, sweet and harmless. If it may be safely eaten by a young child, none but the most beneficial results can be expected to attend its application to even the tenderest skin or youngest infant.

Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props. of Cuticura Remedies, Boston.

Sees Only When Lying Down.

Physicians in the Manhattan Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital in New York are very much mystified by the case of a patient who can see only when in a recumbent position. He is a young man, in otherwise perfect health, and is an athlete. A few months ago he was struck in the face while playing football and since that time has been unable to see when standing or sitting, but when lying down his sight is normal. The doctors are unable to understand the case.

Don't Be Misled.

Many a life has been cut short by a cough that was not believed to be serious. Many a backache and sideache follows a coughing spell. Many a night is passed in restlessness caused by coughing. Many a cough "cure" that never cures is tried. Do not be misled. If you cough, take the old reliable Kemp's Balsam, the best cough cure. At druggists' and dealers', 25c.

Righteous Wrath.

"What were those two boys fighting about?"

"Johnny was trying to show Dicky how to make a noiseless popgun."

Dyspepsia and constipation are avoidable miseries—take Garfield Tea, Nature's Herb laxative.

Concisely Stated.

Mrs. Ferguson—George, what are the seven deadly sins?

Mr. Ferguson—Being a candidate for any office.

All Up-to-Date Housekeepers

Use Red Cross Ball Blue. It makes the clothes clean and sweet as when new. All Grocers.

The Nerve of a Yard Foreman.

William Scott was a yard foreman on the Canadian Pacific at Montreal. One of his crew in drilling a parlor car gave it too hard a run, so that it came tearing down the siding toward some standing cars at a rate that means damage. There was no question of saving life; only to show how far a railroad man will go to save the company's property.

Determined to prevent the smash if possible, he placed himself in the middle of the track in front of the oncoming car, intending to leap on the platform and turn the angle cock on the train pipe, which would set the air-brake from the pressure remaining in the auxiliary reservoir. He made the leap, but missed his hold and was thrown to the ground between the rails. Of course the car was upon him instantly. An officer of the road, standing on the steps of his private car, saw the whole incident. The horror of it made him sick, but he quickly recovered and ran with the yard crew to pick up the poor mangled body.

Before they could reach the spot they were dumfounded to see the supposed dead man spring up, give a signal to the engineer, and go about his business as if nothing had happened. It transpired that the car was an old-fashioned one with running gear much higher than is the modern practice, so that it could pass over the body of a man lying lengthwise of the track without touching him. It was the only car on the Canadian Pacific system that could run over a man without killing him.—Collier's.

SISTER'S TRICK.

But It All Came Out Right.

How a sister played a trick that brought rosy health to a coffee fiend is an interesting tale:

"I was a coffee fiend—a trembling, nervous, physical wreck, yet clinging to the poison that stole away my strength. I mocked at Postum and would have none of it.

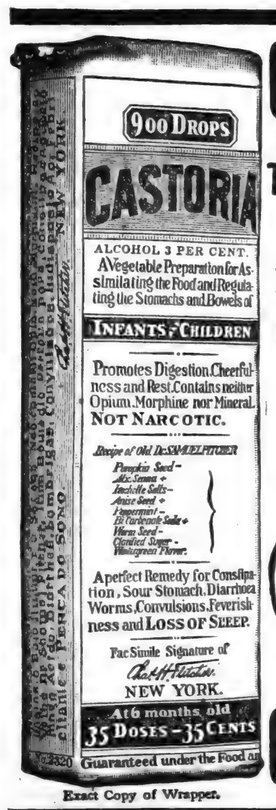
"One day my sister substituted a cup of piping hot Postum for my morning cup of coffee but did not tell me what it was. I noticed the richness of it and remarked that the coffee tasted fine, but my sister did not tell me I was drinking Postum for fear I might not take any more.

"She kept the secret and kept giving me Postum instead of coffee until I grew stronger, more tireless, got a better color in my sallow cheeks and a clearness to my eye, then she told me of the health-giving, nerve-strengthening life-saver she had given me in place of my morning coffee. From that time I became a disciple of Postum and no words can do justice in telling the good this cereal drink did me. I will not try to tell it, for only after having used it can one be convinced of its merits."

Ten days' trial shows Postum's power to rebuild what coffee has destroyed. "There's a reason."

Look in pkgs. for the famous little book, "The Road to Wellville."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.



Exact Copy of Wrapper.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over Thirty Years

CASTORIA

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

For Sprains

Sloan's Liniment is the best remedy for sprains and bruises.

It quiets the pain at once, and can be applied to the tenderest part without hurting because it doesn't need to be rubbed—all you have to do is to lay it on lightly. It is a powerful preparation and penetrates instantly—relieves any inflammation and congestion, and reduces the swelling.

Sloan's Liniment

is an excellent antiseptic and germ killer—heals cuts, burns, wounds and contusions, and will draw the poison from sting of poisonous insects.

Price, 25c., 50c., and $1.00.

Dr. Earl S. Sloan, Boston, Mass., U.S.A.

Sloan's book on horses, cattle, sheep and poultry sent free.

Uncle Allen.

"If I was a doctor," said Uncle Allen Sparks, "it would puzzle me to know whether I ought to thank the Lord or not when I prosper in my business."

In case of accident, cuts, wounds, burns, scalds, sprains, bruises, etc., nothing will so quickly take away all pain and soreness as Hamlins Wizard Oil.

Information.

Uncle Zeb (looking over bill of fare)—Henry, how do you order hog and hominy at a fust class rest'rant?

City Nephew—You don't, uncle.

Every Woman Will Be Interested.

There has recently been discovered an aromatic, pleasant herb cure for woman's ills, called Mother Gray's AUSTRALIAN-LEAF. It is the only certain regulator. Cures female weaknesses and Backache, Kidney, Bladder and Urinary troubles. At all Druggists or by mail 50 cts. Sample FREE. Address, The Mother Gray Co., LeRoy, N. Y.

Plaint of a Postmaster.

There's many a first-class office
That goes to a fourth class slob;
While all that a first class man can get
Is a measly fourth class job.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children teething; softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25 cents a bottle.

Although the Carlyle Memorial at Edinburgh was projected as long ago as 1895, only £100 has been received from ninety-two subscribers.

Try Murine Eye Remedy

For Red, Weak, Weary, Watery Eyes. Compounded by Experienced Physicians. Conforms to the Pure Food and Drugs Law. Murine Doesn't Smart. Soothes Eye Pain. Try Murine for Your Eyes. You Will Like It.

Let us do your Printing using

Eagle Linen

for your office stationery. You can get the paper and envelopes to match.

It is the real thing. Take no other.

Work While You Sleep

Millions of people have CASCARETS do Health work for them. If you have never tried this great health maker—Get a 10c box—and you will never use any other bowel medicine. 812

CASCARETS 10c a box for a week's treatment, all druggists. Biggest seller in the world. Million boxes a month.

When writing to Advertisers please say you saw the Adv. in this paper.

APRIL

0560

L 903

ANNOUNCEMENT

Will be found at the Old Stand. Having failed in disposing of My Stock of Goods, I will be pleased to meet all old and welcome any new Customers at my place of business. I am arranging to Replemish my Stock with new and up-to-date Merchandise. Special attention will be given to Ladies and Gents Furnishing Goods, Ladies, Mens' and Childrens fine Footwear.

My Grocery department will be one of the interesting and price saving departments in my Mammoth Stock.

PHONE FOR PRICES

CASH PAID FOR ALL KINDS OF PRODUCE.

SOL BARNEY

Bell Phone No. 100

Something Special every Sat

LOCAL NEWS

LOCAL HISTORY MADE DURING THE PAST WEEK, IN BRIEF PARAGRAPHS

Bert Patterson is repairing the interior of his house.

Fresh radishes would be good for Easter. Get them at the Bakery.

A new gravel pit has been opened on the Henry Maxwell farm north of town and they say that it is excellent.

Some of our sportsmen are giving the suckers a good share of their attention. Some fine ones are being caught.

J. C. Hull attended a meeting of the Mutual Insurance agents at Indianapolis Saturday and reports a fine time.

Al Jackson, a farmer who lives south of Hicksville, died suddenly Monday of paralysis. He is a man of about seventy years and is known to quite a few of our readers.

Don't forget to see Geo. Milliman for new tube or hollow wire light mantles. Glassware or fixtures of any kind for gasoline lights in hollow wire. I handle the Inverted and Upright, and are connecting common gasoline stove to the same wire, you can see the stove at my place. Why not put in our little dwelling light in your home and have your gasoline stove absolutely safe. We have them at rock bottom prices and warrant them to give good satisfaction.

GEORGE MILLIMAN.
AGENT.
Phone No. 25 St. Joe, Ind.

The repairs on the Mahlon Baker property are nearing completion.

FOR SALE:- Good 7 room house with cellar and two lots. J. C. HULL.

Walter Bleeks returned to New York yesterday where he is to report to Uncle Sam. A party was given him on last Thursday evening to which a number of young people were invited.

Wm. Curie has done a large business in Harness the last week. He has the largest line and best assortment of light and heavy harness, horse collars, sweat pads, etc., ever shown in St. Joe.

"I'd Rather Die, Doctor, than have my feet cut off," said M. L. Bingham of Princeville, Ill, "but you'll die from gangrene (which had eaten away eight toes) if you don't", said all doctors. Instead he used Bucklen's Arnica Salve till wholly cured. Its cures of Eczema, Fever Sores, Boils, Burns and Piles astoune the world. 25c. at H. Milliman's.

A Young Cyclone

The violent wind storm which swept over St. Joe and vicinity early Tuesday night had some resemblance of a typhoon although but little damage was done. The storm seemed to be more severe south and west of us by the reports early Wednesday morning. Telephone wires were torn from poles making it impossible to give any services in many places. One of the saddest accidents which occurred during the storm was at Albion. The Journal Gazette gives it as follows: "The residence of Peter Shellhouse was blown down and the ruins caught fire. Mr. Shellhouse, entrapped in the wreckage, was burned to death. His aged mother-in-law, Mrs. Flick, was rescued from the burning building by neighbors.

The storm came from the south west and seemed to embrace the entire county. Many barns and other outbuildings were unroofed and blown down. The Shellhouse home, a frame building, was the only dwelling destroyed. The house was blown over on its side, badly wrecked, and by the time the neighbors reached it the ruins were all in flames. Mrs. Flick was gotton out with difficulty, but Shellhouse was pinned in the wreckage and could not be reached. His body can be seen under a stove, but the ruins are so hot it cannot yet be reached. Shellhouse had been sick in bed, and from the position his remains occupy it is thought that when the house went over the stove was thrown on top of the man, pinning him to his bed and he was burned to death before he could extricate himself."

The Wets Victorious

The local option wave which has been sweeping Indiana dashed up against the Blackford and Cass county barriers Tuesday and received a setback which breaks the great string of victories for the anti-saloon cause. Both Blackford and Cass counties by their votes indicated a preference for the regularly licensed saloons and go on record with Wayne county for the "wets." The margin of victory is Blackford county was 181. Cass goes "wet" by 194. The campaigns in both counties were the hottest of any yet held on the saloon issue, and in both counties strife has been engendered which will take years to heal, it is declared. There are seventy-four saloons in the counties which are affected by the result of the elections.

David Miller Passes Away

Tuesday afternoon at 1:05 the news was sent abroad, that David Miller, who lives northwest of town, had passed away at his home, after a lingering illness of nearly one year, the cause of his death being Sugar Diabetes. Mr. Miller is an old soldier and was respected by all who knew him. The funeral will be held at Spencerville today at about 2:00 o'clock. Rev. Erick preaching the funeral. The funeral procession will leave the house at 1 o'clock.

WABASH CORNERS.

O. K. Shull bought two colts of Wm. Lucas Saturday.

Wm. Pervines purchased a cow of Ed Bills Saturday.

O. K. Shull closed his school at the Saylor school house, Friday.

George Wilson closed his school at the Gill school house Saturday.

Frank Pervines and wife were Sunday guests at George Pervines'.

J. B. White and wife of St. Joe, spent Sunday at Gene Whites'.

Vera Silberg of Spencerville was the guest of Mae Daily Friday night.

Mrs. Deem Hull was the guest of Mrs. Mary Scott on Tuesday of last week.

Mrs. Josie Shilling spent Saturday afternoon in Ft. Wayne with her daughter Lela.

J. B. White and wife of St. Joe spent Wednesday with Sherman Wolff and wife.

Potatoes for sale 60c a bushel. Inquire of Wm. Rhoads, 1 mile east of Spencerville.

Willie Ricket spent Saturday night in Butler with his mother, Mrs. Charley Moore and family.

Mrs. Younglove, Mrs. Hissong and two children of near Harlan were Sunday guests of Will Scotts'.

John Bowman, wife and daughters Rosa and Martha of Spencerville were Sunday guests at Mart Hulls'.

Mrs. Miranda Maurer spent part of last week with her daughter, Mrs. Maude Braithwaite, in Ft. Wayne.

Mrs. Flora Simanton and Mrs. D. D. Burley spent Sunday with their sister, Mrs. Lovina Johnson, of Concord.

Gene White, wife and daughter Mary, Manda Rhoads, Deem Hull, Mrs. Wm. Pervines, and Sherman Wolff and wife spent Thursday at Orange Herrick's. The day was spent in visiting, sewing and cutting carpet rags.

Spencerville R. F. D. No. 1.

Roscoe Walters is still unable to go to school.

Clem Treeces' spent Sudday with John Millers'.

Venus Horn is on the sick list with the sore throat.

Mr. Hay and Mr. Dwyer traded hogs one day last week.

George Mason and Mr. Miller were at John Mason's, Monday.

John McNabb had a potatoe roast in his woods, Saturday night.

You will get relief from Pain when Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills are taken.

Darius Horn and daughter spent Sunday evening with Ezra Horn.

Very Serious

It is a very serious matter to ask for one medicine and have the wrong one given you. For this reason we urge you in buying to be careful to get the genuine—

THEDFORD'S
BLACK-DRAUGHT
Liver Medicine

The reputation of this old, reliable medicine, for constipation, indigestion and liver trouble, is firmly established. It does not imitate other medicines. It is better than others, or it would not be the favorite liver powder, with a larger sale than all others combined.

SOLD IN TOWN 72

George Horn and family spent Sunday evening with Mr. Criswells'.

Adrian Millers' spent Sunday with Mrs. Miller's parents, John Bairs'.

Gladys Treece and Elias Newman were guests of Mr. Smiths', Sunday.

Mrs. Abe Mason went to Auburn, Saturday to visit over Sunday with Wm. Masons'.

Val Hays', Violet Hay and Jay Fales spent Sunday with Ray Bakers' near Waterloo.

John Horn spent Saturday night with Ezra Horn and took Sunday dinner with Frank Horns'.

Theresa Hay has returned home from Waterloo, where she has been working for sometime.

John Mason and wife and Myrtle Platter visited with Rhinold Klopfenstein and wife, Sunday.

The entertainment at Horn's school house was well attended, for the amount of bad weather that accompanied it.

The Ladies Guild of the M. E. Church of Spencerville will have an Easter social in the K. of P. hall, Saturday evening. Come.

Swept Over Niagara.

This terrible calamity often happens because a careless boatman ignores the river's warnings-growing ripples and faster currents-Nature's warnings are kind. That dull pain or ache in the back warns you the Kidneys need attention if you would escape fatal maladies—Dropsy, Diabetes or Bright's disease. Take Electric Bitters at once and see Backache fly and all your best feelings return, "After long suffering from weak kidneys and lame back, one $1.00 bottle wholly cured me." writes J. R. Blankenship, of Belk, Tenn. Only 50c at H. Milliman's.

Coburn's Corners

The Misses Delphia Coburn and Ada Bair were guests of Clara Shull, Saturday evening.

Frankie and Grant Baltz were the guests of their sister, Mrs. Gladys Hart and family.

A box social was held at the Corners, Saturday evening, by the Band. About $12 was cleared.

Crescent Concert Co., will be at Coburntown Saturday night, hear them. It's a treat.

Mr. and Mrs. Grover Poper, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hart and children and Mrs. Alice Hart were the guests of Ira Poper and family of Milford.

A number of friends and relatives gathered at the home of Cadmir Shull Sunday to visit with Carl and Maria Shull, who returned to their home in Michigan, Monday.

School closed at the Corners, Saturday. The patrons came at the noon hour and brought well filled baskets, and all enjoyed a good time. The scholars presented their teacher with a set of military brushes.

Ross Abel's school closed Friday at Bear Creek. The parents and scholars showed their appreciation by coming at noon and serving a fine dinner. A short program was rendered and at the conclusion Fred Smith, one of the scholars, presented the teacher with a fine toilet set and a hat brush which the scholars had gotten for him as a token of rememberance.

Mt. Hope Items.

John Love began his summer's work Monday for H. S. Platner.

Mrs. Charles Cook was able to be at the last day of school, Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherck spent Sunday with James Coleman and wife.

Reuben Koch and wife spent Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. James Coleman.

Mrs. C. C. Rose went Sunday to spend the week with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Barva.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Koch spent part of last week with their daughter Edna, of Churubusco.

Charles Krise and Ethel Houser spent Saturday evening with Howard Krise and family.

Ethel Houser and Mr. Herbert Sherer took supper with Chas. Krise and mother, Saturday morning.

Nervous or Sick Headache will yield quickly to the influence of Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. 25 doses 25 cents.

Charles Cook, teacher of Wilmington township, District No. 8, was presented a handsome rocking chair by his scholars.

John Weaver, the jolly mail carrier of Auburn R. F. D. No. 1, took dinner with the scholars at McCollough's school house.

DENTIST.
O. R. PRICE.
ST. JOE, IND.
Office in Case building.
Bell Phone No. 44.

Easter Sunday

is next Sunday, April 11th. Have you bought your Easter footwear?

A pair of those swell ankle strap pumps in Tan or Patent will help to complete your Easter outfit.

We have a very swell line of fancy hosiery to match up with the oxfords and pumps.

THE BIG FOUR STORE

Breeders Attention

Belgian Draft Horse

MOUTON De SOM, weight 1800 lbs.

Registered in Vol. 1, No. 1658, American Association of Belgian draft horses.

Season of 1909.

Will make the season of 1909 at the barn of the undersigned, 2 miles north and a mile west of St. Joe or 6½ miles east and 1 mile south of Auburn on the Joseph Koch farm.

Terms of Service.

$15 to insure colt to stand and suck.

ARTUS COYLE

St. Joe, Ind. Owner and Keeper.

Frank Sebert spent Saturday night and Sunday with his uncle, west of Sedan.

The Misses Jessa Platner and Mildred Sebert attended the last day of school at Wilmington Center, Saturday.

SCIO ITEMS

Dave Meek called on his brother one day this week.

Cleve Washler is farming the Flint farm this summer.

I. Farner and wife spent Sunday with L. Gibson at Newville.

Boyd Rhodes is staying with his parents near Auburn at present.

Dwight Kain is having quite a time with a ringworm near one of his ears.

Mrs. Daisy Akins visited with friends in Newville one day last week.

Mrs. Cora Farner has been assisting Mrs. William Countryman in cleaning house.

Orlie Joly of Hicksville is going to move on the farm lately purchased by Mr. Rank.

Mrs. Dora Burr of Cleveland, Ohio, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fales.

Chas. Thayer and wife and Miss Mary Flint visited in the home of Cad Shull last Sunday.

A large number from here attended the last day of school dinner and exercises at Newville last Friday.

We are glad to hear that Harold Chapman is improving since returning to his home in South Dakota.

It is rumored that George Serrll is going to erect a new bank barn on his farm in this vicinity the coming summer.

Grandma Meek suffered with another stroke of paralysis one day last week, and little Olive Meek has pneumonia.

Joe Shull has sold his farm near five corners to Mr. Rank of Hicksville, and has moved his family back to Hicksville.

FAIRVIEW

Gay Hay, wife and baby spent Sunday with Ora Calendars'.

Laura Baker spent Sunday with Vera Coyle.

Mrs. Dora Morr was on the sick list a few days last week.

Mrs. Tillie Blair visited Monday with Mrs. John Knight.

A number around here are sowing clover seed and oats, this week.

Lulu Rolland, son and daughter spent Sunday afternoon at Housers'.

Mrs. Samuel Morr of Auburn, spent a few days with her son, Lankey and family.

Howard Krise, wife and son Paul, spent Sunday with Mrs. Almira Krise and son Charles.

Mrs. Mary Wyatt and son Daniel, spent Monday and Monday night with Mrs. Ray Antwerp of Butler.

An Easter entertainment will be given at this place, Saturday evening. Preaching services Sunday afternoon.

The men folks around here have been taking advantage of the sawmill on Elson's. Quite a number of logs were hauled this week.

A number from this place attended the last day of school at Wilmington Center school house, where Charles Krise taught this winter, and report a jolly good time was had.

"Steal Not This Book."

Students of sociology who are fond of tracing back the customs of latter day man to the practices of his remote ancestry will note with interest the fact that there is authority at least 600 years old for the entry, "Steal not this book for fear of shame," by which schoolboys proclaim their ownership of a work.

In a curious volume in the Bodleian library, formerly belonging to the monastery of Robertsbridge in Sussex, is the following inscription: "This book belongs to St. Mary of Robertsbridge. Whoever shall steal it or sell it or in any way alienate it, let him be anathema maranatha."

In the course of the fourteenth century the book came into the possession of John, bishop of Exeter, who seems to have been somewhat troubled by the inscription as being likely to give rise to injurious suspicions with regard to himself. Accordingly he wrote underneath it under date 1327, "I, John, bishop of Exeter, know not where the aforesaid house is, nor did I steal this book, but acquired it in a lawful way."—London Advertiser.

Are Doctors Any Good?

Foolish question! Yet some people act as if a medicine could take the place of a doctor! The best medicine in the world cannot do this. Have a family doctor, consult him frequently, trust him fully. If we did not believe doctors endorsed Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for coughs and colds, we would not offer it to you. Ask your doctor. No alcohol in this cough medicine. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

If we did not believe doctors endorsed Ayer's Pills for constipation, biliousness, sick-headache, we would not offer them to you. Ask your own doctor about this.

0561
L 903

APRIL

ST. JOE NEWS.

VOL. XXIII ST. JOE, DEKALB COUNTY, INDIANA, THURSDAY, APRIL 15 1909. NO. 15

District Meeting of Clubs.

The first District meeting of the clubs of this, the 12th., Congressional District, will be held in the Assembly Room of the court House in Fort Wayne on Wednesday, April 21. Every club member in the District is specially invited to be present. The meeting will consist of two sessions, the morning session convening at 10:30 and the afternoon at 1:30. Dr. Lida Leasure of Auburn, will give the principle address of the convention. Mrs. W. S. Major of Shelbyville, president of the Indiana State Federation of Clubs, and Mrs. O. P. Kinsey of Valparaiso, past president, are expected to be present and give practical talks; also other officers of the state organization will be present. Mrs. J. E. Buchanan of Auburn is District Chairman.

Obituary

David A. Miller departed this life April 6, 1909 at his home which is known as the Old Miller Homestead, north-west of St. Joe. He was born in Knox County, Ohio, March 8, 1841. Aged 68 years 28 days. When about 6 years of age he came with his parents to Allen County, this state, and in the spring of 1846 removed with the family to the Johnson farm just north of town and in the fall of 1847 the family removed to the farm where he died. David A. Miller was a volunteer in Private Company C., 35th., Regiment, Indiana. The G. A. R. Post No. 144 paid their last token of respect with flowers of symhathy to their departed brother. After he returned from the war he was united in marriage January 19, 1868 to Arminda Hilderbrand. To this union were born two children, one daughter and one son, who are left to mourn the loss of father and mother who preceded him to the Spirit World about 38 years ago, June 19, 1871. He also leaves a brother and a host of relatives and friends. He bore his suffering with christian fortitude, was never known to complain and did not fear death. The funeral services were held in the Lutheran Church at Spencerville, conducted by Rev. Erick. Burial in Spencerville cemetery. Ray Dilgard of Auburn, undertaker.

CARD OF THANKS.

We desire to extend our sincere thanks to the neighbors and friends who so kindly assisted us during the sickness and death of our beloved father.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Lucas.
Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Miller.

Culture Club

Last Wednesday evening, April 7th, the Culture Club met at the home of Mrs. Kate A. Leighty. The meeting was called to order and the lesson on Hiawatha was given in charge of Mrs. Buchanan who ably conducted it. The theme of this lesson was the idea of True Friendship. After the usual business the roll was called and eighteen members responded with miscellaneous quotations. Club then adjourned to meet in one week with Mrs Maud Woodcox.

Local Briefs

Master Joseph Koch took supper with Elza Kinsey Sunday evening.

Early and late potatoes for sale by Henry Milliman, St. Joe, Ind. Phone 76-12.

Just received a car load of the famous Bradley Fertilizer. Get it at Curie's.

The offering Sunday at the different churches of the St. Joe Circuit for Home Missions was as follows:—St. Joe, $12.23; Fairview, $9.25; Concord, $9.13. Total $30.61. This is more than double the amount given for the same purpose last year.

Notice is hereby given that the Pythian Sisters have withdrawn the supper which was to have been given Saturday evening until later.

Rev. C. H. Hubbell D. D. of Adrain, Mich., will visit the churches of the St. Joe Circuit M. P. Church, on Sunday April 18. Dr. Hubbell will preach at Concord at 10:30 A. M., Fairview, 3:00 P. M. and St. Joe at 7:00 P. M. He is the traveling Secretary of the Board of Young Peoples Work of the M. P. Church, and is a man of National reputation and is worthy of a large hearing.

THE BIG FOUR'S

HOUSEKEEPING SALES

House cleaning time is here and the housewife finds that she must have new curtains for the parlor windows, or a new rug for the setting room, and then she must have a spread for her spare bed and perchance some new pillows and cushions. All these and many other useful and ornamental articles classed as housekeepings are specialized during this sale, which begins next Monday, April 19.

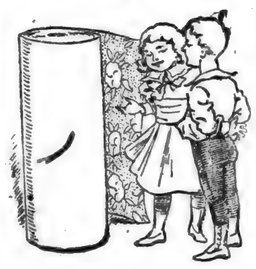
Window Shades
23c
Best water color window shades, six and seven feet long, full yard wide, complete with best improved spring rollers, only
23c

Door Pannels
In fine Lace Effects
The latest designs, Large size,
23c. 48c.

Curtain Rods
8c
Brass plated, Combination ball ends and can be extended 36in. complete with screw hooks.
8c

Lace Curtain Stretchers
Stretches any size curtains without injury to the curtains, indispensable at house cleaning time
Specially priced
98C

Carpets



A large line of coloring and designs, effective patterns, all wool, per yard.. 60c

All wool filled carpet heavy weight full 36in. wide @ per yard..... 48c

Full 36 inch cottage carpet @ only per yd.... 25c

READ THIS AD THOROUGHLY, IT'S MEANT FOR YOU.

Rugs, Lineoleums, Mattings.

Heavy Axminster Rugs, in a variety of Oriental, Floral and Medallion effects, Size 9x12, Specially priced..... $21.48

Lineoleum, Heavy quality, 2 and 4 yards wide, Large variety of Patterns, per square yard..... 50 and 55c.

Large 9x12 — 10 Wire Brussels Rugs—Heavy and durable Specially priced..... $14.98

BIG 4 STORE
ST. JOE INDIANA

Bed Spreads
$1 39
Two Kinds-Both full size and finished with fringe or Hemmed. Regular $1.75 grade $1 39

Best
Carpet Tacks
Full 500 Count
4c Box

Draperies
Full yd wide silkolines, the new colorings worth 15c now go @
11c per yd.

Stove polish
Sifter Stove polish makes a brilliant Polish put on without soiling the hands.
A 10c box for 6c.

Sofa Cushions
Just what you need now @
23c each

Curtain Poles
White, Oak or Brass for only
9c each

LACE CURTAINS

in all the New and Effective design—Nottingham curtains 3-yd long, over locked edges, Choice per pair
98c

Nottingham Curtains 3½ yds long, @ per pair
$1.29 .to $3.98

Enrich your ground by using Bradley's Fertilizer. Curie's is the place to get it. A new car load just received.

The Dispatch says:—If the DeKalb county court house were to be moved out west, say in Kansas or Oklahoma where they have wind for breakfast, dinner and supper and the abundance that characterizes that country, it would not be in existence long. This morning the strong wind which the weather man must have patterned after the Kansas dust raisers blew off a part of the cupalo of the old structure and let it drop near James Provines as he was walking through the court yard. Now Jim was not exactly paralyzed but he did wonder what grievance the county had at him that a part of the court house should be thrown at him. The facts are the dome of the old building is rotten and no one need be surprised if the entire top should bid a very informed adieu to the public at some moment when we think not.

Asa Shuff is acting as cutter in the Bailey market.

Mrs. W. R. Wiers of this place, who spent a week at Ft. Wayne on account of her daughter being very low at the hospital, returned home last Wednesday, and reports that she is improving slowly and that her nurse and physicians have hopes of her recovery.

Rink Saturday night.

Mrs. C. C. Woodcox visited relatives at Waterloo a few days last week.

Marvel Gee of Kendallville visited with John Engle and wife over Sunday.

Leatha Broady of Valparaiso, has been the guest of the Monroe family for the past week.

FOR RENT:—Pasturage for cattle and horses. Good water and shade. J. W. SHERER, St. Joe, Ind.

Mrs. Mattie Bowman and children of Chicago, returned home Monday, after spending the winter with her husband.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills relieve pain.

Lafayette Bailey and wife spent several days with relatives here last week.

There were 24 bibles at the Christian Sunday School and 35 at the Newville Christian Sunday School.

Miss Edith James and gentleman friend of Harlan, were guests of Morris Curie and family last Friday.

Merritt Sechler returned home Tuesday after spending several days with Ralph Patterson at Springfield.

Try Bradley's Fertilizer this year for your garden, truck and corn ground. It's the best on the market. Curie has it.

When you think of an item, think of No. 10. We want to know it. See.

Mrs. Cora Smith was a guest of relatives here over Sunday. She was accompanied home by Mrs. Frank Sechler for a few days.

The H. S. Alumni will meet at the home of Mrs. Lora Leighty tonight at 8:00. All members are urged to be present as special business must be attended to.

PHOTOGRAPHS

We make them at the Tustison Studio. Fine Portraits on Postals $1.00 per dozen. Call and get prices on family groupes.

APRIL

U562
L 903

The St. Joe News

ST. JOE, INDIANA.

FRED B. LEIGHTY, - - Publisher.

1909 APRIL 1909

Su	Mo	Tu	We	Th	Fr	Sa
•	•	•	•	1	2	3
4	5	6	7	8	9	10
11	12	13	14	15	16	17
18	19	20	21	22	23	24
25	26	27	28	29	30	•

F. M. 5th. L. Q. 13th. N. M. 19th. F. Q. 27th.

FEATURES OF INTEREST

ABOUT THAT WHICH HAS BEEN AND IS TO BE.

All Sides and Conditions of Things are Shown. Nothing Overlooked to make it Complete.

Wind Swept Across Indiana.

A terrific wind and rain storm which swept across Indiana from southwest to northeast took on the violence of a tornado at many places and great damage was done. Miami, Wabash, Huntington, Allen, Whitley, Noble and DeKalb counties were in the path of the storm and in those sections the damage is greatest. Barns were leveled, houses and factories unroofed, outhouses blown away and fences leveled. Much live stock was killed in the wreck of barns and farm buildings. Peru, Wabash, Huntington and Fort Wayne all report numerous instances of damage. At Albion, William Shellhouse was burned to death in the wreck of his home which the wind had blown down.

Twister Strikes Illinois Towns.

Two persons were killed, many were hurt, and considerable property was damaged by a tornado which struck Marion, Ill., and its vicinity. The deaths occurred in Pittsburg, a village six miles northeast of Marion, the victims being crushed by the collapse of their home. So far as can be learned these were the only fatalities. The storm came from the southwest and was accompanied by a heavy rain. In the business section, several store buildings were partly demolished, and in the residence section many of the small homes, occupied by miners and their families, were unroofed.

Too Much Sleep Causes Appendicitis.

In an address before the Calumet club at Boston, Mass., Dr. E. M. Banchert, of Montreal, declared that too much sleep is the cause of appendicitis. Dr. Banchert's contention was that, especially in the case of sound sleepers, there is danger of too long continued pressure of some of the delicate internal blood vessels. That there is danger of bringing on appendicitis by the practice of eating a heavy meal before retiring was also maintained.

Twenty-One Are Missing.

A dispatch from Punta Arenas, Chile, says that the British steamer Oak Branch struck what is supposed to have been a derelict in the Straits of Westminster, and was abandoned in a sinking condition. The first officer and eighteen of the crew and passengers were landed safely, but the captain and twenty persons are missing. The Oak Branch is a vessel of 2064 tons, and sailed from Liverpool for Valparaiso on Feb. 24.

Weighed More Than 400.

At the Eastern Indiana Insane hospital in Richmond, Mrs. Adelia Weaver probably the heaviest person in eastern Indiana, died after a short illness. Mrs. Weaver weighed more than 400 pounds. She was about fifty years old and had been insane only a short time. At the time of her commitment to the hospital she was brought from her country home in a farm wagon.

Car on Incline Runs Away.

Two boys were killed and six other persons injured, several seriously at Pittsburg, Pa., when a car on the St. Clair incline, running from Josephina street, south side, to Mount Oliver, broke away about the center of the incline and plunged to the bottom.

Fairbanks to Tour World.

Former Vice President Fairbanks has announced that he would sail from San Francisco on May 16 for a trip of one year's duration to include in his itinerary Hawaii, Japan, China, Philippines, Australia and Africa.

Two Children Killed on Trestle.

Two children wrere run down and killed on a trestle near Catoosa, Okla., by a St. Louis & San Francisco train. The children have not been identified. The train crew of Sapulpa were arrested charged with murder.

Troops Still After Crazy Snake.

Colonel Hoffman, in command of the Oklahoma state troops hunting Crazy Snake and his troublesome Snake Indians, has received orders from Governor Haskell to remain in the field until he captured the chief.

Southern Tornado Takes Six Lives

Six persons are known to have been killed by a storm which swept over northern Mississippi and probably fifteen were injured. The tornado which covered a wide area, wrought much damage to outhouses and crops.

Sulphur Springs Hotel Burned.

The White Sulphur Springs hotel, at Sulphur, ten miles south of English, Ind., was destroyed by fire. Loss about $25,000; no insurance.

ROOSEVELT THANKED BY ITALY'S MONARCH

King Expresses Gratitude to America for Aid to Earthquake Sufferers.

MESSINA RUINS ARE VISITED.

After Brief Stay in Wrecked City Former President Resumes Voyage to Africa.

Theodore Roosevelt and King Victor Emmanuel met Tuesday on the Italian battleship Re Umberto in Messina harbor. The meeting was characterized by the utmost cordiality, and the King took the occasion to express the gratitude of himself and the Italian people for the generous assistance of the American people to the earthquake sufferers.

Roosevelt Sees Ruins of Messina.

At the close of the interview Mr. Roosevelt went ashore and inspected the ruins of the city, the desolation of which moved him strongly. He then boarded the steamer Admiral, which just at sunset proceeded on its way to Mombasa.

The Admiral arrived at Messina about 2 o'clock in the afternoon and was saluted by the Re Umberto, with the King on board, which reached there in the morning. Almost immediately Capt. Pfeister, the forfer Italian military attache at Washington and now aid to Admiral Mirabello, was taken to the steamer Admiral in a launch and inquired for Mr. Roosevelt.

To him he said the King sent his compliments, and would have great pleasure in receiving the former President of the United States. Mr. Roosevelt's face lit up with a pleased smile, and, accompanied by his son, Kermit, and Ambassador Griscom, he proceeded at once to the battleship.

King Gives Warm Greeting.

The King met the party at the head of the gangway, and he greeted the ex-President effusively, shaking him warmly by the hand. He did not wish, he said, to allow the opportunity to pass of making the personal acquaintance of so distinguished a man. Above all, he wanted personally to thank the ex-President for the help extended by America at the time of the earthquake.

"You are now able," he added, "to understand better what a terrible disaster it was."

Mr. Roosevelt replied, thanking the sovereign for the compliment paid him in inviting him to come aboard the Re Umberto. He said that the American people did not wish thanks for what they had done, as they merely had tried to do their duty, and knew no better way to confront the immense need than by their work and contributions.

The conversation then turned to the hunting trip to Africa, the King saying that his tastes also ran in that direction. He mentioned the expedition of the Count of Turin in Africa, and similarly with the Duke of Aosta, expressed the hope that Mr. Roosevelt would meet the count there.

After more than half an hour's conversation the King accompanied his guest ashore, where a photograph was made of a group consisting of his majesty, the ex-President, Kermit and the American Ambassador. At the suggestion of the king, Mr. Roosevelt snapped a picture of his majesty, Admiral Mirabello, Kermit and Ambassador Griscom, amid much laughter.

Before leaving the King saluted Mr. Roosevelt, wishing him a happy and successful trip and much good luck in the way of hunting. He asked Mr. Roosevelt to promise that he would visit Rome on his return when the Queen would be pleased to make his acquaintance. The King then took his departure, not wishing to accompany the party over the ruins.

FIRE MENACES 600 LUNATICS.

Panic in Insane Asylum in Oklahoma Is Narrowly Averted.

Six hundred helpless insane persons were in danger of death when a blaze, starting from a prairie fire, destroyed several buildings of the State insane asylum at Fort Supply, near Woodward, Okla. The laundry building caught fire shortly after the noon meal and the inmates had been returned to their quarters. The asylum fire department was ordered out and every effort made to conceal from the patients the fact that the building was burning. One woman looking out of a window gave the alarm. The attendants rushed among their charges and tried frantically to pacify them, and a great panic was narrowly averted. No lives were lost. The loss is estimated at $75,000.

DIRECTOR DILLEY DEAD.

Handled Music in Chicago's Theater at Time of Holocaust.

Otho Lorbert Dilley, the musical composer and director, who gained fame by his popular songs, among which is "Absence," died of consumption at his home in Senecaville, Ohio, at the age of 35. Dilley had directed orchastras in some of the largest theaters of the country and had charge of the Iroquois Theater the night of the terrible fire in that Chicago playhouse six years ago. When he learned the theater was burning he at once started his musicians on a selection in the hope of allaying the fears of the crowd.

SOME SPRING OPENINGS.

TOWN OVERRUN BY BANDITS.

Braddock, Pa., Secures Permission to Combat Crime with Rifles.

Following the receipt of a letter from Secretary of State Philander C. Knox that the act would not be unconstitutional, the police force of Braddock, Pa., has been supplied with regulation army rifles to cope with the numerous hold-ups and burglaries which have infested the borough recently. The first installment of rifles, equipped with bayonets, numbering ten, was received the other day. A wave of crime recently swept over Braddock, Swissvale and other nearby boroughs, and the authorities of these places seemed to be unable to prevent the depredations owing to the fact that the participants in the crimes would take to the open country, and, although sighted, would be out of range of revolvers. Chief of Police Bennett of Braddock, a Civil War veteran, petitioned the Council of the town for permission to secure army rifles to hunt the criminals. The Council doubted their right. Mr. Bennett wrote to Secretary of State Knox on the subject. On the receipt of the letter saying the project was not unconstitutional, a contract was immediately let for the rifles.

CUMBERLAND CHURCH WINS.

Tennessee Supreme Court Calls Unionists Outlaw Sect.

The Cumberland Presbyterian Church in Tennessee won the noted church case with which the Tennessee Supreme Court has been wrestling for two years. The Supreme Court holds that the steps sought to be taken by a portion of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church in uniting with the Presbyterian Church, U. S. A., were not effective. It was held that Cumberland Church still exists, and that its members still retain its creed and doctrines. It was held that the Unionists had allied themselves with another and different church and doctrines. The Cumberlands are given the church property, and the Unionists are adjudged not to have a right or title to it. Their bill, in which they sued to recover church property in Fayetteville, Tenn., is dismissed with costs.

TO TURN IMMIGRANTS WEST.

Moving Pictures on Liners Contrast Tenement and Farm Life.

As a means of inducing immigrants to go West and engage in agricultural pursuits rather than settle in the congested cities of the East the Hebrew Sheltering and Immigrant Aid Society will provide lecturers with stereopticon views and moving pictures on the big liners plying between New York and European ports. Thus the foreigners on their way to America will be shown the advantages of the West over city life before they land and will have this in mind before being swallowed up in the tenement districts of New York. This plan is an addition to the work which has been carried on for some time, largely financed by Jacob H. Schiff, who has devoted a great deal of money to turning the tides of immigration westward.

KILLS POLICEMAN; GOES FREE.

Grand Jury Refuses to Indict New Yorker Who Defended Home.

The grand jury in New York refused to indict Edward J. Byrnes, who on Feb. 19 shot and killed Police Sergeant John B. Goldhammer as the latter was forcing an entrance into Byrnes apartments in search of evidence for use in certain policy prosecutions then under way. The case attracted wide attention because of Byrnes' plea that Goldhammer had no warrant and he believed the officer was a burglar. Byrnes appears to have convinced the grand jury of the truth of his contention.

Twelve Die in Boat Explosion.

The French tan bark Jules Henery, Capt. Escoffier, in the oil trade between Philadelphia and Cette, blew up near Marseilles, France, and was wrecked. Twelve members of her crew were killed and many others wounded. The bark arrived at Cette March 22 from Philadelphia.

ADMIRAL CERVERA IS DEAD.

Spanish Commander Passes Away After Long and Painful Illness.

Vice Admiral Pascual Cervera, who commanded the Spanish fleet in the battle of Santiago, Cuba, died at Puerto Real, Spain, Saturday afternoon.

Vice Admiral Cervera was retired from the active list of the Spanish navy on Dec. 14 last, at his own request, on account of failing health. Shortly afterward he proceeded to Puerto Real in the hope of improving his health, but during the last month he was in a critical condition, being kept alive only by the use of oxygen and hypodermic injections. He suffered from an affection of the heart.

Admiral Cervera was born on Feb. 18, 1839. He was graduated from the naval academy of San Fernandino, and was commissioned to foreign service in 1859. He served in Morocco, and in the Cuban rebellion, 1868-78, and was recalled from Cuba to hold the office of Minister of Marine.

On the outbreak of the war with the United States he sailed from the Cape Verde Islands with four cruisers and three torpedo boat destroyers on April 29, 1898, entered the harbor of Santiago de Cuba May 19, and lost his entire fleet off that port July 3 in an attempt to force his way through Admiral Sampson's blockading squadron.

The State Department has made public the agreement negotiated by the ten leading maritime powers of the world at the recent conference in London, and which will be known in history as the declaration of London. This declaration now makes clear for the first time what articles are free from seizure in times of war and what are absolutely and conditionally contraband. Chief among the free articles are the raw materials which enter into the necessities. Those absolutely contraband are firearms, powder and all kinds of military equipment. The list of conditional contraband articles is made up of food supplies. It is agreed that blockades should be confined to the ports and coasts, belonging to the enemy, and that to be binding a blockade must be effective, in fact as well as in law. A neutral vessel captured by belligerents may not be destroyed, but must be conducted to the proper port. Persons belonging to the armed forces of the enemy may be arrested on board a neutral vessel, as in the case of Mason and Slidell.

What is left of the fighting section of the Russian revolutionists has recently suffered a great shock from the unmasking of one of its members, namely, Eugene Azef, who has been denounced as a secret agent of the government, or "provocateur." It was found that he had given to the police information about the shipping of revolutionary literature into Russia in ice chests and the names of persons to whom the packages were addressed, as well as full details of the Paris conference of revolutionists.

Throughout Italy elections were held for a new Chamber of Deputies, after a campaign of small interest. Partial returns indicated that the existing ministry of Premier Giolitto had won a large majority of the seats. The feature of the election was the general participation of the clericals for the first time since 1870.

The Conservatives in the German Reichstag announced that they would go ahead with their scheme of financial reform, regardless of how they could get a majority.

DIES TO LET HIS WIFE LIVE.

Retired Army Captain Says Income Is Not Enough for Two.

Leaving a letter addressed to his wife, in which he explained his act by saying that reverses of fortune had cut down his competence until not enough of it was left for two, Chambers M. Craig, a retired captain of the United States army, committed suiicde in his apartments in New York by shooting. "The time has now arrived," said Captain Craig in his letter, "when there must come the inevitable smash which always follows living beyond one's means. If the hard times had put an end to my opportunities I would have gone on for a year or more. I have made a little money and left a little for you. I wish you the greatest happiness, and I wish I could remain with you. But there is not enough for two. You will realize $75 a month sometimes, and other times there is $125 a month." Mrs. Craig, who has been staying in Atlantic City for some weeks, started at once for New York when told of her husband's death.

HELD FOR BLACK HAND WORK.

Three Italians Arrested in Oklahoma Accused of Wrecking Store.

Three Italians, alleged members of the Black Hand, were arrested at McAlester, Okla., charged with blowing up with dynamite Joseph Nellis' store at Krebs, Okla., March 30. The prisoners are San Dibbilla, Dominic Massinna and Guppanes Basidie. Nellis received a letter March 12 demanding $1,000 and a trap was laid to catch the sender, but it failed. Six days later a similar letter was received and while detectives were working on the case the store was wrecked. Later Nellis received a similar letter. The money was placed as ordered and Dibbilla, the police say, appeared and took it. Detectives concealed near by leaped out and caught him. The others were arrested as suspected accomplices.

WIFE SLAYS TO SAVE BOY.

Husband Dead and Woman's Story Exonerates Her.

Frank Sorber of East Hamilton, Ohio, was shot to death by his wife, Mrs. Sorber told the police that her husband has been living with another woman and that at noon he came home and beat their eldest son. When the mother interfered Sorber attacked her with a chair, threatening to kill her. The police credit the story and have placed no charge against the woman.

NEW CUBAN ENVOY IN OFFICE.

Senor Veles Reaches Washington and Takes Charge of Legation.

Senor Carlos Garcia Veles, who succeeds Senor Quesada as Cuban minister to the United States, has reached Washington from Havana, and has assumed charge of the legation. His wife and children stopped off in Florida and will remain there for several weeks. Minister Veles asserted that it would be his purpose to foster the cordial and friendly relations between this country and Cuba.

Trading Stamps Near Death.

The trading stamp law requiring the face values of the stamps to be printed upon them was pronounced constitutional by Attorney General George T. Simpson of Minnesota and was immediately signed by Governor Johnson. This ends the fight which has been waged by the stamp company. It is believed by many that the law will put an end to their existence in Minnesota.

Cyclone Sweeps New Hebrides.

A terrific cyclone swept the New Hebrides, and the Island of Tooums was inundated by a tidal wave, which destroyed the crops and many of the buildings. A number of vessels were stranded on the shores of the various islands.

Hotel Destroyed by Fire.

The White Sulphur Springs Hotel, ten miles south of English, Ind., was destroyed by fire. Louisville and Jeffersonville, Ind., men own the place, which is valued at $40,000.

Work of Congress

The Senate was not in session Friday. That the Payne bill was filled with imperfections, was a false pretense, was designed to cover up the extravagances of the Republican administration, that it did not redeem party pledges, and that it sounded the death knell of the dominant party, were some of the criticisms passed upon the measure by the Democrats in the House. An interesting feature of the debate was the speech of Pablo Ocampo de Leon, the Philippine commissioner, who attacked the provision for free trade with the Philippine Islands. From the far South exactly opposite views were expressed regarding protection, Mr. Ransdell of Louisiana pleading for it on behalf of the industries of his State, while Mr. Spight of Mississippi and Mr. Clayton of Alabama wanted free lumber, hides, boots, shoes, bagging and cotton ties. From the Republicans came suggestions of a permanent tariff commission, and while all of them supported the bill in general, none appeared entirely satisfied with it.

-:—:-

The Senate was not in session Saturday. With no more than a corporal's guard on hand at any time during the day, the debate on the Payne tariff bill in the House proceeded drearily on. The discussion took in practically all of its provisions, free hides and wood pulp occupying a conspicuous place, although there were several general assaults on the measure from the Democratic side. Again two Democrats from the far South stood diametrically oposed to each other on the same schedule, Mr. Sparkman (Fla), urging the Dingley rates on lumber, while Mr. Humphreys (Miss.) advocated placing it on the free list. The Republicans who spoke were practically unanimous for free hides. The taxes on the necessaries of life came in for their usual share of criticism from both sides of the chamber.

-:—:-

Many bills and resolutions were introduced in the Senate Monday, but there was no debate. After a short executive session the Senate adjourned until Thursday. Three o'clock p. m. April 9 was the time set by the House for a vote on the Payne tariff bill. The resolution from the Committee on Rules closing general debate, providing for certain committee amendments and a full and free opportunity to alter the lumber and hides schedules, was reported late in the day and adopted with sixteen votes to spare, notwithstanding the desertion of twenty Republicans. Four of the sixteen votes came from the members of the Louisiana delegation, who likewise broke away from their party. Previous to the adoption of the resolution there was some severe criticism of it from the Democratic side. Aside from the interest which attached to this proceeding was the speech of Mr. Clark of Florida, who denounced Bryan and Bryanism, Populists and Populism, and who declared that he would support the Payne bill if it contained what his constituents wanted—a duty on Sea Island cotton and protection for citrus fruits, pineapples, etc. His remarks led him into a colloquy with Mr. Handell (Texas) and other Democrats, but he declared that, having been instructed by the Legislature of his State and his constituents as to the stand he should take on the articles mentioned, he would not violate his solemn obligation to them. Before the rule was reported there were numerous speeches on the bill, those occupying the floor being Messrs. Bartlett (Ga.), Calderhead (Kan.), Burgess (Texas), Stanley (Ky.), Hobson (Ala.), Gillespie (Texas), Thistlewood (Ill.), Saunders (Va.), Reeder (Kan.) and Madden (Ill.).

-:—:-

The Senate was not in session Tuesday. Wrangling, confusion, captious objections, personalities and language bordering on vituperation marked the first day's discussion of the Payne tariff bill in the House of Representatives. With practically a full attendance the members were wrought up to a high tension and were prepared to fight to the last ditch for those things which their constituents were demanding. The entire day practically was consumed in discussing the lumber and hides schedules. Led by Mr. Tawney (Minn.), the advocates of free lumber went down to defeat by the narrow margin of six votes, following the striking out of the countervailing duty on lumber. An overwhelming majority was mustered against an amendment by Mr. Scott (Kan.), taking hides from the free list and fixing a duty upon them of 10 per cent ad valorem. The barley schedule came in for a lively discussion, and when the bill was laid aside for the day there were pending two amendments, one raising the rate in the Payne bill from 15 cents to 25 cents a bushel, and the other fixing the rate at 10 per cent ad valorem.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES

Three men were killed in an explosion at the plant of the Coeur d'Alene powder works in Wallace, Idaho.

Count Leo Tolstoy again is suffering from inflammation of the veins in his leg, but his condition is not serious, according to St. Petersburg reports.

Dr. Elmer S. Lee, addressing the Medico-Legal Society in New York, declared that Americans take too many baths and said there was a respected man in the audience who had not bathed in twelve years.

APRIL

0563

L 903

Race for a Wife

BY

HAWLEY SMART

CHAPTER XVII.

Maude Denison's eyes flashed, and her lips quivered. She laced her hands closely together; but all she said was the monosyllable "Gren." Small mercy was Mrs. Upcroft likely to meet with at his hands; her insolence had already made Rose's teeth grate.

"Unfortunate, Mrs. Upcroft," he observed, with an evil smile; "but I am afraid the butcher will have to wait for some time before he next enjoys the pleasure of your society. You see, you have pluckily admitted, before myself and Miss Denison—two witnesses, bear in mind—that you were privy to the removal or abstraction of a deed of value, even if you did not actually remove such deed with your own hands. The law, of which you are aware I am an expounder, calls a casualty of this kind by the name of felony, and recompenses it with varied terms of transportation. It is unpleasant, Mrs. Upcroft; but I fear, unless you can recollect where those particular papers are, there is nothing for it but to wait here patiently until the police escort I am about to summon has arrived for you——"

The sulky insolence was taken well out of the unhappy housekeeper before Rose's speech was finished. Like most people of that class, she had but very vague ideas of the power of the law, and an almost morbid horror of encountering it in any shape. The barrister's accusation, too, sounded very plausible to unpracticed ears.

"Oh! Mr. Grenville, after knowing me all this time, whoever'd have thought you'd go against me in this way? Oh, dear! oh, dear! what shall I do?"

"Do what you ought to have done, at once. Tell Miss Maude this instant where those papers are. None of your nonsense about not remembering. You know perfectly well what you've done with them. I'll give you two minutes to collect your ideas, and if you can't do it by the end of that time, I'll lock you in there and send for the police."

"Oh, please don't! I don't know, rightly. I think, Miss, they were all put up in an old trunk in the garret overhead," sobbed the now thoroughly cowed housekeeper.

"Go and see, Maude," said Rose, quietly.

Miss Denison tripped out of the room, leaving Grenville to the quiet contemplation of his victim.

"Oh, my!—oh, my!" sobbed the housekeeper, "to think of those old rubbishing things being of any consequence! And what right have you, sir, to say I took them? To think of my being accused of taking things, after all these years! But I suppose a poor servant's character is not to be taken away for nothing? I'll have the law of you, I will."

"You're right, Mrs. Upcroft; you will, and very much to your detriment, too, if the paper I want is not forthcomnig. You're not talking to a woman now. You'll neither frighten me, nor get the slightest mercy at my hands. You're in as fair a way of spending the next six or seven years at Portland as anybody I know; and, by heavens, I'll take pretty good care you get there! They have stood your insolence long enough here. If you want to take a few things with you, I'll ring, and one of the maids can put up your box. I'll run through your accounts after you are gone, and fancy I can substantiate a tolerable charge of peculation to boot."

The housekeeper had rallied a litttle, but this last speech of Rose's completely crushed her. She knew that she had carried on a systematic scale of robbery for years. She flopped down on her knees, and implored that mercy might be shown her, backing her entreaties with many sobs and tears.

"Here they all are, Gren," said Maude, entering the room. "I tumbled them into this towel; I couldn't carry them in my hands. Good gracious, Mrs. Upcroft, do get up. What is the matter?"

"Stay where you are, and apologise to Miss Denison for your impertinence, before you rise," thundered Grenville. "Quick, woman, and I'll be lenient about the second charge I have against you."

"Oh, please forgive me, Miss Maude! I didn't mean it—indeed I didn't!" whimpered the crestfallen housekeeper.

"There, that'll do," said Rose, contemptuously, while Maude stood in open-eyed wonderment at the complete subjugation of her ancient foe. "Eureka!" he shouted, as, after running his eye over some half a dozen mouldy papers, a more musty parchment than usual came beneath his ken. "This will do. You can go, Mrs. Upcroft, without a police escort for the present; but you had better bear in mind, in future, that if you are insolent to Miss Denison you will settle with me, and that next time I promise you it shall be a settlement in full."

With a low curtsy the discomforted housekeeper left the room—anger raging in her breast, but mixed with a strong proportion of fear. Her malevolence would know no bounds if she should ever see her opportunity; but for the present Grenville Rose had established a wholesome terrorism.

"Let her go, my darling," said Grenville, as he stole his arm round Maude's waist. "This is the deed I wanted. I must leave for town directly after breakfast. Armed with this, I think I can safely say Pearman shall trouble you no more. What guerdon is your champion to have when he has rescued you from the dragon?"

"Nothing, I'm afraid."

"You ingrate! What do you mean?"

"What I said. I fear, Gren," replied the girl, as she lifted her smiling face to his, "that I have given my champion all I have to give already, and if that don't satisfy him, I can only——"

Miss Denison's further views on the subject were never promulgated, for reasons that are palpably obvious; nor will an ordinary observer be much astonished to hear that the cousins put in a disgracefully late appearance at the breakfast table—a fact that may be quoted in support of my great theory, that early rising is dependent on fictitious excitement, and not in accordance with natural laws.

Breakfast over, Grenville had a hurried interview with the squire, the result of which was great jubilation on Harold Denison's part, and a remark that he had always had an immense opinion of Grenville's talents, and that he thought present circumstances already justified his opinion.

"Good-by, uncle," said Rose, as he stood on the steps of the carriage that was to convey him to the station. "I think I'm right, but you mustn't blame me if I've made a mistake. I'll telegraph as soon as I have had counsel's opinion on my friend here;" and he tapped his traveling bag, in which reposed the anxiously sought for deed.

"Heaven bless you, boy! I feel you're right—you must be. Good-by. Drive on."

"Stop—stop! he can't go like that;" and Maude, like a flash of sunlight, dashed through the porch. The idea of anybody leaving Glinn without a flower in his buttonhole! "Gren, dear, one moment, while I put this in your coat. Keep it," she whispered, "to remind you of me."

"Not much necessity for that," he replied, as he bent over her. "But you shall see it, darling, next time I come. Good-by!"

"Not for long; mind and write; they won't care now, will they?"

"Can't help it if they do. I shall.

CHAPTER XVIII.

It is Monday afternoon. The usual crowd of refuse humanity clusters round the door of the great turf exchange. Expugilists, low publicans, noblemen's butlers that were traders on men's weaknesses or lust—greasy, brass-chained, shovel-hatted, brazen-throated, brazen-browed—with wolfish greed of gain stamped more or less on their features—the hungry, gold-seeking mob oscillate round that low doorway. The turfite's temple never shuts; the fell war between backers and layers never ceases. Eager murmurs are heard midst that vulture-faced crowd.

"He went very bad in the market this morning." "Tell me they offered threes, at the clubs." "What's wrong with him?" "What against The Saint?" and similar hurried interrogatories fall on the ear. Now a brougham, now a well-appointed cab, whose driver throws the reins from his lavender-kidded hands to the next tiger; now the hansoms of ordinary life drop their respective occupants at the small doorway.

The Subscription Room is full; round the big circular desks much paying and receiving is going on. The sofas round the room are crowded with loungers; the tessellated pavement is trod by a fluctuating mass, who ebb and flow to different points as some one or two large speculators vociferate the odds, or cease to do so. It is the settling day after the broken week at Newmarket, and sinister rumors are rife about the first favorite for the Two Thousand. He has stood at five to two for a long while, but report says that three to one has been laid and offered, to any amount of money, at the racing clubs this morning.

Half-past four—fatal hour for many a favorite at Tattersall's, the adjustment of last week's accounts—is over, and the ring has time to turn its attention to forthcoming events.

"Three to one against Coriander for the Guineas," is vociferated in more than one quarter. Nothing positive seems known about the horse; but a panic has set in, and backers stand aloof from a wager that yesterday they would have jumped at. Some few adventurous men take the increased odds to a little, but speedily repent as they find the disposition to lay that price rapidly increasing.

At this juncture Pearman, attired in deep mourning, entered the Subscription Room. It was but a few days since his father's funeral, and, to do him justice, he would not have been there had not a friend telegraphed to him early in the day the onslaught that was being made on Coriander. Business must be attended to, he argued, whether racing or otherwise, and knowing his horse to be perfectly well, he ran up at once to town to stop this demonstration against it.

Foremost among the opponents of the favorite was a big, corpulent north countryman, who enjoyed the reputation of by no means throwing his money away. In turf parlance, when he persistently bet against a horse, "he knew something."

"Here's 1,000 to 300 against Coriander!" vociferated Mr. Plyart, for the second or third time.

"Put it down to me," said Pearman, quietly.

"Yes, sir. Will you take it twice?"

Pearman nodded.

The bookmaker pencilled it into his note book. The crowd, attracted by the fact of Coriander's owner coming to the rescue, had surged round them; but no sooner had Mr. Plyart completed his memorandum, than he reiterated his hoarse war cry of "Here's 1,000 to 300 against Coriander!" a shout in which he was immediately joined by two or three other large speculators.

"Put it down again, Plyart," said Pearman, grimly; and now, inspired with confidence by the way in which his owner had supported him, several backers invested on the favorite.

For a little, it seemed as if Coriander would rally in the market; but the layers of odds far exceeded the backers; and finally came forth Mr. Plyart's ominous shout of "4,000 to 1,000 against the favorite for 'The Guineas!'"

"I'll take that!" cried Pearman, though his astonishment knew no bounds; and, as the bookmaker noted it, he remarked, with a sneer, "You'll find my horse bad to get out of on the Two Thousand day. I don't think you will hedge, except at a loss."

"Perhaps so, sir—perhaps so; but I'll bet you an even hundred he don't start."

"Done! and I'll make it 5,000, if you like."

"No; you might start him on three legs. I won't risk more than a hundred on his not starting; but here's 4,000 to 1,000 he don't win, once more."

Sam Pearman shook his head, and, at all events for once in his life, walked out of Tattersall's thoroughly puzzled. He knew his horse to be perfectly well, he had seen him that morning. As far as he had tried him, he had never tried a three-year-old better. What were these ring men going on?

They make great mistakes at times, these members of the magic circle. Their brethren of the Stock Exchange occasionally get the worst of it also; but, as a rule, either backers or shareholders are justified in feeling alarm at a persistent assault on what their money may be invested in. The decline of the favorite for a big race in the market is hardly so disastrous to the world in general as bank shares dropping twenty per cent below premium. Before Pearman left London the next day, he was aware, from various sources, that Coriander's status in the betting was still further shaken, and that as much as five to one had been offered against the crack of forty-eight hours ago. He thought of it all the way home, and felt more utterly bewildered than he had ever done before in the whole of his turf experience.

Could Sam Pearman have been present at a conference held in Silky. Dallison's rooms, between that astute gentleman and Grenville Rose, though he would have been still a long way from enlightened on the subject, yet he would have learned a good deal. It was the Friday night before that eventful Monday. Grenville had returned from Glinn the day previous. A mouldy old parchment lay on the table between them; it had apparently been consulted and thrown aside.

"Rumford says the deed is perfectly good, and Mr. Denison is quite certain there has been no enfranchisement. That's the case, Gren, isn't it?"

Rose nodded, and Mr. Dallison for a few minutes puffed meditatively at his cigar.

"Well," he continued, "the law part I leave to you. I presume that is all right. Rumford's opinion is quite good enough to go on, and old Denison, you say, was quite clear there has never been an enfranchisement. Odd there should not have been; but no doubt Pearman defunct was quite unaware of the existence of our friend here;" and Dallison jerked his head in the direction of the parchment. "He wasn't the man to leave such a blot in his game if he knew it. Though for the matter of that it was no blot so long as he lived. Now, look here, I must trust to you for the legal working of this affair; the racing part I can manage. We've got Sam Pearman in a regular hole, and, better still, he doesn't know it. I can make probably a good bit of money out of this, both for you and myself, without any risk whatever; but ulterior events must decide that. Mr. Denison, at all events, must make a good bit; but without hurting his interests, in fact rather furthering them, you and I might pick up some five thousand pounds apiece. Do you understand?"

"Not in the least," replied Grenville.

"Well, there's not much necessity you should. Leave that to me; but you must work the legal machinery as I direct. Can you put it in motion by Wednesday or Thursday?"

"Let's say Thursday, certain," rejoined Rose.

"Very good, that will do; but don't let's have any mistakes about it."

"All right," nodded the other. "I'll guarantee that, and go down myself."

"Good. You told me the stake you were playing for, to start with, and as you are in real earnest about winning a wife, I think one may trust you. I shall commence operations at once. I'll see Plyart the bookmaker to-morrow, and put the first part of the program in his hands. We're going, you and I, to lay about a couple of thousand each against Coriander; and I'm going to give him free license to do as much as he likes for himself."

(To be continued.)

HE DEFENDS DIVORCE.

Maine Judge Declares It Is a Remedy and Not an Evil.

In the course of an address before the Twentieth Century Club upon the subject of divorce, Lucillius A. Emery, chief judge of the Maine Supreme Judicial Court, gave utterance to some views that have created much comment and discussion among the clergy and others, a Banger (Me.) dispatch to the New York Herald says. Judge Emery said in part:

"I have read a great deal and heard a great deal about the divorce evil. Now, in my opinion, divorce is not an evil, but rather a remedy for evil. Like other remedies for evil, it may and does have attendant lesser evils, which we must seriously consider and eliminate if possible, but in itself divorce is not an evil—it is a remedy. The evil precedes the divorce, but comes after marriage. I shall not consider the moral side of the question. I am speaking from the legal standpoint alone in considering this remedy for many of the evils of society.

"Marriage is a civil institution, established by statute for the benefit of man. It is not a sacrament. There is nothing divine about it, but it is a purely human institution. Law has established it. Its rights and abuses are defined, not by the church, but by law.

"To be sure, divorce may, in a sense, have an ill effect upon society. It would be better, of course, if all marriages were ideal, but they are not. We find these terrible conditions. The remedy may be a choice of two evils, but I say that in choosing divorce society has chosen the lesser. I have heard it said that divorce should not be granted because of the children, but I maintain that it is better for them—not only better, but less hurtful. And I say these things in the light of honest experience."

About once a year the Queen of Siam wears a state robe which is considered the most magnificent garment in the world.

CHICAGO.

Aside from the few labor troubles, which are responding to mediatory efforts for settlement, the business conditions generally indicate seasonable advance. April payments through the banks reflect an enlarged use of money and the record breaking total of clearings for March testifies to substantial recovery in the leading activities, although some branches of production have not yet completely reduced their idle capacity. March permits for exclusively commercial structures and extensions were fifty-three in number and $2,316,500 in value, and compare with fifty in number and $517,450 in value for March, 1908. Other investment of capital is seen to be exceptionally large in real estate transactions, bonds and stocks, local securities showing increase in aggregate sales of 150 per cent over this time last year. Local deposits continue at the highest level, but country withdrawals are unusually small, considering the spreading of farm work and expenditures for spring planting and improvements throughout the interior.

Failures reported in the Chicago district number 21, against 34 last week, 16 in 1903 and 13 in 1907. Those with liabilities over $5,000 number 4, against 9 last week, 3 in 1908 and 3 in 1907.—Dun's Review of Trade.

NEW YORK.

Trade and crop reports are irregular, and business the country over is still quiet as a whole. There are, however, evidences of a growth in optimistic feeling, partly due, no doubt, to more spring-like weather conditions. Current demand at wholesale is of a between-seasons character and jobbing distribution is confined largely to filling-in orders, but there is reported in several markets a disposition to take hold more freely for next fall.

Exports from leading industries are not materially different from last week. Wage reductions are more numerous, but strikes are not frequent. In iron and steel there is more business reported, but evidently at the expense of prices. Pig iron is dull and lower.

A strike and lockout has been averted in the anthracite coal trade, and the usual spring reduction in prices is announced. Bituminous coal is still dull and weak. The shoe and leather trades are quiet, with little business yet booked for the fall season in shoes.

Business failures for the week ending with April 1 were, in the United States, 204, against 220 last week, 247 in the like week of 1908, 137 in 1907, 151 in 1906, and 170 in 1905. Canadian failures for the week number 23, which compares with 35 last week and 32 in 1908.—Bradstreet's.

Chicago—Cattle, common to prime, $4.00 to $7.25; hogs, prime heavy, $4.50 to $7.15; sheep, fair to choice, $3.00 to $6.75; wheat, No. 2, $1.25 to $1.27; corn, No. 2, 64c to 66c; oats, standard, 51c to 52c; rye, No. 2, 79c to 80c; hay, timothy, $8.00 to $13.50; prairie, $8.00 to $11.50; butter, choice creamery, 25c to 29c; eggs, fresh, 10c to 20c; potatoes, per bushel, 85c to 95c.

Indianapolis—Cattle, shipping, $3.00 to $7.50; hogs, good to choice heavy, $3.00 to $7.25; sheep, good to choice, $2.50 to $6.15; wheat, No. 2, $1.33 to $1.34; corn, No 2 white, 63c to 65c; oats, No. 2 white, 51c to 52c.

St. Louis—Cattle, $4.00 to $7.10; hogs, $4.00 to $7.10; sheep, $3.00 to $6.50; wheat, No. 2, $1.35 to $1.40; corn, No. 2, 65c to 67c; oats, No. 2, 53c to 54c; rye, No. 2, 79c to 80c.

Cincinnati—Cattle, 4.00 to $6.15; hogs, $4.00 to $7.40; sheep, $3.00 to $5.75; wheat, No. 2, $1.34 to $1.35; corn, No. 2 mixed, 67c to 68c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 54c to 55c; rye, No. 2, 82c to 84c.

Detroit—Cattle, $4.00 to $5.50; hogs, $4.00 to $7.00; sheep, $2.50 to $5.00; wheat, No. 2, $1.29 to $1.31; corn, No. 3 yellow, 67c to 69c; oats, No. 3 white, 56c to 57c; rye, No. 2, 83c to 85c.

Milwaukee—Wheat, No. 2 northern, $1.15 to $1.17; corn, No. 3, 65c to 67c; oats, standard, 53c to 54c; rye, No. 1, 79c to 80c; barley, No. 1, 64c to 65c; pork, mess, $16.50.

Buffalo—Cattle, choice shipping steers, $4.00 to $7.35; hogs, fair to choice, $4.00 to $7.20; sheep, common to good mixed, $4.00 to $4.75; lambs, fair to choice, $5.00 to $8.50.

New York—Cattle, $4.00 to $6.65; hogs, $3.50 to $7.20; sheep, $3.00 to $4.75; wheat, No. 2 red, $1.27 to $1.28; corn, No. 2, 74c to 75c; oats, natural white, 57c to 59c; butter, creamery, 25c to 29c; eggs, western, 17c to 21c.

Toledo—Wheat, No. 2 mixed, $1.30 to $1.32; corn, No. 2 mixed, 66c to 68c; oats, No. 2 mixed, 54c to 55c; rye, No. 2, 84c to 86c; clover seed, $5.65.

For the first time in fifteen years the Hamburg-American Steamship line has failed to declare an annual dividend. The depreciation in the company's earnings, it is stated, is due to the depression in the ocean-carrying trade felt in all parts of the world, but in addition the directors refer to the deadly competition forced on the German line by the two giant floating palaces of the English line, the Lusitania and Mauritania. They say that the construction of these boats has precipitated an era of the most overburdensome expense.

HAROLD MOON IS DEAD.

Body of Lad Searched for All Over the Country in Pond Near Home.

Instead of having been kidnaped when he disappeared from his home in Flint, Mich., on Feb. 27, 10-year-old Harold Moon fell through the ice of Thread pond and was drowned.

The hunt for he boy, which has been prosecuted in all parts of the country, ended Saturday when his body was found in the pond by Bert Robson, who had been searching for it there for days. A pair of skates fastened to the little feet bore mute testimony to the manner of the lad's death. The small hands were still covered with the mittens which the boy wore when he went through the ice.

It was Harold's 17-year-old sister Mariana who first learned that the missing boy had not been stolen but was dead. She had gone to the neighborhood store and heard the first report there of the finding of his body. The girl ran to her home and broke the news to her mother, who for five weeks has been enduring the strain of not knowing whether her son was dead or alive.

Harold Moon was last seen on Feb. 27 going in the general direction of the Flint River and the pond with his skates over his shoulders. When he did not return home for supper that night his parents began a search for him. There was no evidence along the river banks or about the pond that he had fallen through the ice. Then stories became current that a strange man had been seen leading the boy away. The police were notified and officers in adjoining cities were asked to seek him.

A few days ago the Sons of Daniel Boone, an organization of boys, with branches in all pars of the country, of which Harold was a member, sent out from its New York headquarters an appeal to all of its membership to join in the search for the missing boy.

LEASE SYSTEM WIPED OUT.

Hundreds of Prisoners in Georgia Are to Work on Roads.

Georgia's convict lease system ended at sunrise Thursday and hundreds of prisoners, taken from mines, brick kilns, and turpentine factories, returned to the service of the State. Georgia has no penitentiary. For years her convicts have been leased to the mines, the brick kilns, and the factories, where private greed sometimes demanded and collected the last ounce of human endeavor. The 1,600 prisoners now will work on the public roads. Most of them are blacks of a low order of intelligence, sentenced for every conceivable crime. Though shackled and ironed, the convicts greeted the change with shouts of joy and weird hymns of thanksgiving.

COUPLE SLAIN; HOME IS BURNED.

Bodies Found Buried in Cellar Near Toledo—One Man Is Held.

With only one man held for investigation and iwth no tangible clews on which to work, the Toledo, Ohio, police and Lucas County authorities are exerting every effort to discover the murderers of Ludwig Krueger and his wife, whose bodies were found buried in the cellar of their burned home, one mile west of Toledo. Michael Soboleski, a tailor, who had negotiated for the purchase of the Krueger farm, was lodged in the county jail after he had been quizzed for several hours. Soboleski said that he had paid Mr. Krueger $2,000. No trace of this money has been found. An Italian who until a week ago was employed by Soboleski is sought. Some of his clothing has been found in Soboleski's home

WOMAN DRAWS FIRST PRIZE.

May Melser Gets a Choice Quarter Section in Land Lottery.

Fillings on Tripp County lands began at Gregory, S. D., Thursday in the presence of a large crowd in the order in which the names were drawn last fall. Mya A. Melser of Kennebec, S. D., who drew No. 1 in the lottery, took a quarter section adjoining the government town site for which the names of Jordan and Witten have been suggested.

The scarcity of stock has been the means of introducing a new form of crossed saddle horses.

The management of the St. Paul base ball club has transferred all Sunday games for the coming season to other cities.

John E. Madden will race fifteen horses on the Canadian circuit this season. This will be his first invation of the Canadian turf.

W. W. Evans sold to John A. Thompson, of Chicago, treasurer of Cook County, a yearling colt for $3,000. The youngster is by Peter the Great.

Sam Langford, colored middleweight champion, defeated Jim Barry, of Chicago, in a six-round bout before the Washington Sporting Club of Philadelphia.

The Louisiana Supreme Court has upheld the Locke anti-gambling law, and the racing interests will accept this as ending the racing game in that State.

Joe Gans, former lightweight champion of the world, easily defeated Jabez White, the English lightweight champion, in a ten-round bout at the National Athletic Club in New York.

A new world's record in the running high kick was made at St. Mark's school at Southboro, Mass., by Harold Beebe, of Malden. Beebe did 9 feet 8½ inches. Beebe exceeded his mark of last year by two inches.

Joe Notter, who headed the list of winning jockeys on the metropolitan tracks last year, and is one of the best riders ever developed in this country, sailed a few days ago to fulfill a contract made to ride in Germany this year.

Indiana State News

COSTLY FIRE AT VELPEN.

Several Firms Damaged by Blaze That Sweeps Business Part.

Fire of an incendiary origin destroyed a business block in the town of Velpen, on the Southern Railroad. The town has a population of 300 and has no fire protection, and it was only by hard work that the fire was stopped with only the destruction of five buildings. The fire was first discovered in the Velpen Hotel, conducted by J. F. Geddas, and from there spread south and north, destroying John D. Bass' barber shop and photograph gallery, the millinery and furniture store of Mrs. Emma Henning, the confectionery store of Louis Arnold, and damaging other firms. The loss is estimated at $12,000, with less than $600 insurance. The losses are: John D. Bass, barber shop, $300; Louis Arnold, barber shop and restaurant, $800; Emma Henning, millinery and furniture store, $4,000; J. F. Geddas, hotel, $3,500; Cline Corn, restaurant, $3,000; Elmer Miller, confectionery store, $600. About two years ago Velpen was visited by a fire that practically destroyed the business section of the town on the opposite side of the street and the town was just recovering from this fire when that of this morning occurred.

TO BE HELD FOR OLD MURDER.

Slayer of Indiana Girl 32 Years Ago Believed Found.

Charged with the murder of Rose Tritt at Sandford, thirty-two years ago, Sylvester Burnham is to be arrested in Texas. Requisition papers have been obtained from Governor Marshall, but the police will not say in what part of Texas Burnham is living. He is said to be a wealthy ranch owner. The man that murdered Rose Tritt was a laborer on her father's farm and was madly in love with the girl. She and her family declined to receive him as a suitor. One night he slipped into the girl's room and cut her throat. He rolled the body in a carpet and then set fire to the house. Tritt and his wife escaped the flames and in the morning the body of their daughter was found in the charred carpet. The laborer disappeared. According to the police, he joined the navy and afterward established himself in Texas. Burnham, they all allege, is the man.

BOY CAPTURES BIG PICKEREL.

Head of Huge Fish Sent to Game Commissioner's Office.

The head of what is said to be the biggest pickerel ever caught in Indiana water was received the other day at the office of the deputy State fish and game commissioner in the State house. By actual measurement the head is 9 inches long, 7 inches wide, 5 inches deep and 5½ inches thick. The mouth is 6 inches wide and measures around the row of needle teeth just 11 inches. The big fish was caught in the Kankakee marshes near Schneider. It was brought in by John Gaspar, a huntsman of that district, who tells the story of a small boy who found the big fish in the marsh waters, where he had evidently raced in chase of smaller fry. The boy captured it in his arms, and in spite of flaps held on until he landed it. It weighed thirty-one pounds.

DECOY CATCHES WOMAN.

Cash Box Left at Designated Spot Leaves Plotter Exposed to Fire.

A woman was shot on a recent night as she picked up a decoy prepared after Banker N. G. Read of Washington had received a letter demanding that he deposit $30,000 at a designated spot. A man accompanying the woman escaped unhurt, and the police are looking for him. The woman, besmeared with blood, was taken to jail, where she was identified as Miss Zella Clark, comely, and about 28 years of age. She has been employed as a domestic. Some forty shot were embedded in her arms, breast, and neck, most of them so deep in the flesh that they could not be removed. Her injuries are not considered dangerous, unless blood poisoning should develop.

HYDROPHOBIA KILLS BOY.

Floyd County Lad Dies After Wound Had Apparently Healed.

John Hilliard, age 14 years, died at the home of Charles Keach, a fermer living near Galena, of hydrophobia. The boy was bitten by a dog several weeks ago, but the wound in his leg appeared to be of slight consequence and soon healed, apparently. Sunday he complained of feeling ill and on the following day he was seized by spasms. Physicians were called but were unable to save the boy. They declared the symptoms clearly indicated hydrophobia.

MINOR STATE ITEMS.

Gale Ginchur, 17 years old, was struck by a train at DeLong and killed.

Helen Hartley, 9 years old, was struck by a Nickel Plate freight train and fatally injured while on her way to school in Hammond.

Three Indiana counties—Bartholomew, Vermillion and Jennings—voted "dry" in county option elections Tuesday, making the total of counties from which the saloons have been ousted under the option law forty-one. The closest contest was that in Vermillion County, where there are many miners.

Sarah, the 8-year-old daughter of Frank Lowder, living near Greenfield, was burned to death. Her clothing caught fire from a fire under a kettle in the yard. The mother was severely burned in trying to save the child.

Charging that by the negligent handling of his weapon while on a shooting expedition near Tolleston, Louis Miller caused the death of her husband, Mrs. Joseph Walsh has retained counsel to represent her in a $10,000 suit for damages. Miller was exonerated before a coroner's jury and a verdict of accidental shooting returned.

APRIL

0564

L 903

The St. Joe News.

One Year - - $1.00
Six Month - - 50c
Three Months - - 25c

FRED B LEIGHTY
PUBLISHER.

Entered at the Post Office in St. Joe as second-class mail matter.

Editorially.

Michigan is getting into line for an officially unquenchable thirst.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills relieve Headaches, Neuralgia and all Pain.

The faithful American hen sees to it that the egg crop is never a failure.

Like every other reform, tariff reform is liable to experience its temporary discouragement.

The season approaches when the average small boy would rather be a pitcher than President.

Mr. Croker is another to discover that it is a long time between irrigations when passing through the two Carolinas.

"In other words, Servia has decided to let well enough alone," says the Chicago Record-Herald. Or rather, "bad enough."

Some day this country is going to elect a President who plays baseball instead of tennis or golf, and then there will be a hurrah.

The Standard Oil Trusts is so much in the habit of winning its suits that it is not strange that it should view an adverse decision as anarchy.

King Edward never before had so many ups and downs. He is up and about one day and down and out the next, according to alternate cables.

For the first time in ten years a circus is about to exhibit in Oyster Bay. It is but just to say, however, that it is an insignificant, unpretentious little circus, and is not seeking to enshroud in forgetfulness any of Oyster Bay's ancient glory.

President Taft has restored to the public domain a quarter of a million acres in the Salmon River country, Idaho, which were withdrawn in February to prevent the acquisition of certain power sites, and a thousand acres of land near Bear Lake, Utah. The Salmon River land becomes open to settlement immediately, and the other on June 29 next.

There is no doubt that, under the existing order of things, the national administration of the laws relating to public health is impaired and rendered more or less inefficient by reason of the widely scattered scurces of authority. A movement has been started to consolidate the various bureaus dealing with this subject, into one and place it under the Interior Department until time as Congress may deem it wise to create a department of public health with a secretary at its head.

When Sick

Women suffering from headache, backache, pain in side, or nervousness, or any other ailment resulting from female trouble, should get Cardui and use it regularly. Cardui has been found, by thousands of ladies, to relieve female weakness, by restoring to health the weak womanly organs.

Take CARDUI

Mrs. F. S. Mills, Murietta, Calif., tried Cardui and writes: "I don't think anyone can recommend a medicine more highly than I can Cardui. I had a mishap, followed by inflammation. I positively believe I would have died, had it not been for Cardui. When I began taking it, I could not stand on my feet. After taking two bottles, I was cured, and I now weigh 165 pounds." Try Cardui—it will help you. Sold everywhere. E 45

Stop Pain

HEADACHE
NEURALGIA

Take ONE of the Little Tablets and the Pain is Gone

"Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills have been used by me for rheumatic pains, headache and pain in back and sides, and in every case they gave perfect satisfaction."
Henry Cöerer,
Hoosick, N. Y.

AND THE PAINS OF RHEUMATISM and SCIATICA

25 Doses 25 Cents

Your Druggist sells Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills and he is authorized to return the price of the first package (only) if it fails to benefit you.

Ten Eyck Green House, cut flowers and floral emblems. Both phones. Auburn.

The Assistant Secretary of the Treasury has approved a plan for systematizing designs for United States notes and coin certificates, thus making effective a scheme of uniformity in portrait and general design for notes of the same denomination of each class, which embodies the ideas of officials of the Treasury Department, bankers, business men and currency experts. The new notes will be welcomed by the public on account of their simplicity and the readiness with which different denominations may be fixed in mind.

We hope that success will crown the offects of those Senators and Representatives from the Western part of the country who, in their anxiety to have President Taft visit the Pacific Coast States this summer, have started a movement to secure the passage of a bill providing a fund to defray the President's traveling expenses. The last Congress increased the President's salary to $75,000, but made no allowance for traveling expenses. Senator Bourne and others sought to have the President,s compensation increased to $100,000, and the $75,000 provision was a compromise.

We believe every American will learn with gratification of the thorough preparation being made by the military authorities in Washington for the adequate protection of the Panama Canal. The decision of the War Department to install 14 inch guns in the fortifications at either end of the canal will especially commend itself to popular approval. The investigations of naval authorities, not only in this country but in Europe as well, have satisfied them that it is impracticable for battleships to carry a larger type of weapon than the twelve inch rifle now being installed on the latest American battleships. The tremendous weight, not only of the gun itself, but of the turrets, projectiles, and ammunition hoists, required for 14 inch guns, presents an insuperable obstacle to their use on board ships, whereas the additional weight is not a deterrent factor on land. Of course the 14-inch gun has a materially increased range over the 12-inch gun, while the two inches additional calibre make possible the employment of a far more formidable projectile, and an enemy's ships, compelled to use 12-inch guns in offensive tactics against batteries provided with 14 inch rifles on disappearing carriages, could make little impression. In addition to these powerful guns, however, the War Department proposes to install a thorough system of submarine mines and a number of submarine torpedo boats will be commissioned and placed under the supervision of the Coast Defense officer commanding the canal defenses.

PATENTS

and TRADE-MARKS promptly obtained in all countries, or no fee. We obtain PATENTS THAT PAY, advertise them thoroughly, at our expense, and help you to success.
Send model, photo or sketch for FREE report on patentability. 20 years' practice. SURPASSING REFERENCES. For free Guide Book on Profitable Patents write to 503-505 Seventh Street, WASHINGTON, D. C.
D. SWIFT & Co.

Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition

Seattle—An even 10,000 former residents of the state of Indiana are concerned in making Indiana day at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition a success. August 7 has been set aside as Indiana day at the Pacific exhibition and the Indiana society has taken charge of all the arrangements for the program.

The Indiana society in Seattle is now in a flourishing condition and its thousands of members propose to make Indiana day one long to be remembered. The auditorium, one of the fine permanent buildings at the exposition to revert to the University of Washington, will be turned over to the Indiana society for use on Indiana day and several of the largest concert bands in the world will be at the disposal of the Indiana society

It is very likely that some man prominent in public life in the state of Indiana will be invited to be present at the exposition Indiana day to deliver the address. Prominent men in Seattle, former residents of Indiana, will also take part in the program and the management of the exposition has provided several feature attractions for Indiana day.

While Indiana will not be represented by a building and exhibits, the Indiana society will maintain headquarters at the fair and greet all Indianans visiting Seattle this summer. There will be a register giving the names of Indiana people now living in the state of Washington. This will enable visitors from Indiana to locate friends and acquaintances in this state. Indiana day is bound to be one of the big days in the life of the exposition and every former resident of Indiana now in Seattle is working for the success of the day set aside in honor of the old home state.

The exposition itself is now so near complete that the last of the finishing touches are being added and the exhibition will be ready by May 1, one month before the official date for the opening. All of the permanent buildings were long ago completed and the main entrance gates will be ready in the course of a couple of weeks.

At the head of the Cascades, the central ornamental features of the fair, stand the group of United States government buildings. Uncle Sam has more floor space at Seattle for exhibits than at any previous exposition held in this country. The government appropriation provides for separate structures for Alaska, Hawaii and the Philippines and the buildings will stand complete in two weeks. The central exhibit palace will be ready in thirty days and the government exhibit completely installed not later than May 15.

Hundreds of gardners are employed beautifying the grounds and the eleven miles of walks and streets at the fair have been paved with asphalt. Thousands of trees, shrubs and flowers are being set out all over the grounds and the exposition has taken on the air of completion.

The completed buildings at the exposition include the auditorium, fine arts, manufacturers, agriculture, women's, Arctic Brotherhood, forestry, machinery, Japan, China, Canada, New York, mines, fisheries, transportation, Oriental, foreign, good roads, dairy, Oregon, California, Washington State and a host of religious, patriotic and fraternal buildings. The Pay Streak, the amusement center of the Fair, is alive with building operations and by June 1, 1909 the fair will be complete to the smallest detail.

On the day the gates will be opened to the world the exposition is going to more than make good the claim to be the "Fair That Will Be Ready."

Victoria, that beautiful city of the Pacific, on Vancouver island just across the strait of Juan de Fuca from Seattle, proposes to establish its claim as "Victoria the Beautiful" while the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition is in progress this summer.

This same Victoria, with its thousands of old fashioned homes and beautiful gardens, is preparing to welcome the visitors to Seattle's great exposition. Victoria has many of the characteristics of an English city and the people, as a rule, are very conservative Vancouver, situated on the mainland is more American and easily the commercial metropolis of British Columbia.

So as a means of advertising Victoria as the city beautiful, 10,000 boquets will be given away daily from a large floral tent on the grounds of the exposition. The Victoria trip is one of the short popular Sound excursion trips and when the visitors to the fair journey to Victoria for the purpose of sightseeing they will find magnificent gardens, each one a floral show in itself, open for inspection for the people of Victoria propose to open the gates of their homes to the people who will journey from every part of the country to the Seattle exhibition.

Victoria, with its many handsome public buildings and the House of Parliament, regarded as one of the finest examples of architecture in America, is also noted for its flowers and the people of this beautiful city purpose that exposition visitors shall behold their city in the summer time when floral colors run riot and natural beauties are to be seen on every hand.

Victoria is truly a beautiful city and as much can be said for Vancouver, for Stanley Park, with its groves of firs and cedars and its many quiet and shaded drives, is visited annually by many tourists. The Canadian railway has just opened the Empress Hotel at Victoria, which cost the company more than $1,000,000 to build and furnish and these figures convey some idea of its magnificence. Taken all in all both Vancouver and Victoria have many attractions to offer.

A miniature farm has been established at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition where the products of the state will be cultivated as an object lesson to the visitors to the fair at Seattle this summer. It is hoped that such a farm will do much towards increasing interest in the clearing of logged off lands of the state.

On the exposition grounds is a producing farm in every stage of its evolution from the country as the timber cutter has left it, showing practical demonstrations of the several methods of clearing. This it is believed will lead to a brisk demand among the eastern visitors to the fair for the logged off lands of the state.

To create further interest excursions will be run to the various sections of the state where the logged off lands are fast being converted into great producing farms. The miniature farm at the exposition will suggest the possibility of development and the excursions to places where such work is being done on a large scale will no doubt meet with the approval of thousands of visitors to the 1909 exposition as well as their patronage after they see the land as it really is.

There will also be demonstrations of the wonderful productiveness of the virgin soil of the state which will stand greatly in contrast with the worked-out farms of the east. This condition will commend itself to the eastern farmer who visits the fair. The very fact alone that two crops of potatoes can be grown every year on the same ground in the Puget Sound country is a fact that will probably surprise many easterners.

The miniature farm has been platted into small rectangular blocks, which have afforded an excellent opportunity for the good road instructors and landscape artists to sow the germs of modern road construction and the art of beautifying the farms which will have the effect of making life on the farms and in the country more attractive. Practical demonstrations of berry raising will also be made on the model farm.

WABASH

Wabash Time Table.

Trains leave the St Joe Station as follows:

GOING WEST.
No. 11, Ft. Wayne Acc & Mail 11:34a.m
No. 3, Western Express 7:58 p. m

GOING EAST.
No. 2, Eastern Express 6:34a. m
No16, Toledo Acc & Mail 4:59 p. m.

A WHOLE YEAR FOR $1.00

That's what you can do for some friend—send him The St. Joe News fifty-two times for only a dollar.

Better than a letter, because it gives ALL the home news each week; there is positively no token you could offer which would make a home so happy in your remembrance as this newspaper mailed to some distant relative or friend.

We are making it just as good as it possibly can be done for $1 00. In fact, lots of publishers have raised to $1.50 on not so creditable a paper as this—and we tell you frankly that when you plank down your dollar on our table for a friend, you'll get your money's worth. This is a good copy to start with. We'll save an extra one until Monday. Yes?

FRED B. LEIGHTY
PUBLISHER.

That Old PIANO

will shine like new if you rub on a coat of

3 in One

And with what's left, oil the sewing machine. Protects the steel and nickel parts from tarnish and rust.

Won't cost much to make a trial. We sell it.

WE KEEP
In Stock
Vacuum "A" Mobile Oil, for Automobiles, Gasoline Engines or any machinery requiring a fine oil.

Warm Weather Season

is approaching and we keep in stock a full line of Gasoline Stoves, two and three burners, Generator Stoves, Vapor Ranges of the very best makes, also Perfection Oil Stoves. Brighten up with a coat of paint, we sell the Sherwin—Williams Paint, Oil and Varnishes, none better, American field fence, and Union Lock poultry fence. A complete line of Hardware. Roofing of all kinds. Goods are right and prices are right, Give me a chance to prove it.

D. J. Baker.

St. Joe, Indiana.

WHEN DEATH COMES

Friends and loved ones desire that the last services be conducted in the best way possible. The embalming and funeral need careful attention. Eliza Kinsey, a licensed embalmer, takes charge of all funerals. Satisfaction guaranteed. Calls answered day or night

H. V. Kinsey & Son,

Phone No. Office 37-2. Residence 37-

PATENTS

PROCURED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo, for report as to if free report. Free advice how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc. IN ALL COUNTRIES.
Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent.
Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively. Write or come to us at 625 Ninth Street, opp. United States Patent Office,
WASHINGTON, D. C.
C.A. SNOW & Co.

Words to Freeze the Soul.

"Your son has Consumption. His case is hopeless." These appalling words were spoken to Geo. E. Blevens, a leading merchant of Springfield, N. C., by two expert doctors—one a lung specialist. Then was shown the wonderful power of Dr. King's New Discovery. "After three weeks use," writes Mr. Blevens, "he was as well as ever. I would not take all the money in the world for what it did for my boy". Infallible for Coughs and Colds, its the safest, surest cure for desperate Lung diseases on earth. 50c. and $1.00 at H. Milliman's. Guarantee satisfaction. Trial bottle free.

Local News Items.

File a Mortgage Exemption and pay less tax. Now is the time. See S. S. Widney.

Mrs. H. V. Kinsey and children and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Reader took dinner with Mr. and Mrs. George Bleeks, Sunday.

Misses Edna Walter, Vada Kinsey and Messrs Cormie Kelley and John Dove attended the Easter exercises at Fairview Saturday evening.

J D Fetters

TRUSTEE
of Concord Township.

OFFICE DAY:
THURSDAY OF EACH WEEK
at his farm residence One mile
EAST OF CONCORD.

Keep Out the Flies.

That fly—the first one of spring—that buzzed around your head yesterday may have seemed an innocent little insect. But he wasn't. That poor little fly is more destructive than a band of Crazy Snakes on the warpath. An Indian lets out a war-whoop once in awhile for a warning, but all a fly does is buzz and every buzz counts.

The reason? Every buzz of the wings distributes a few thousand germs around the house for the physician and druggist to profit upon when the lights are turned low and everyone's standing in the hall and wondering if your temperature has gone down since morning.

In his report, published in pamphlet form, L. O. Howard, chief of the government entomological bureau, says that flies caused a loss of more than ten million dollars last year by spreading disease. And so, just as a precaution, get those screens up at once and spend a few hours in hunting fly eggs. It will be worth the time.

J. H. Lake M. D.

has permanently located in the O. H. Widney property on 4th street, opposite opera house and invites you to call on him.

Calls answered day or night.

Phone No. 82.

St. Joe, - Indiana.

APRIL

0565

L 903

SPENCERVILLE NEWS.

A Department of the ST. JOE NEWS for the Spencerville People.

THE

Meilink's

The Only Safe Built

Guaranteed against Dampness, Swollen Walls and Rusted Bolt Work.

You are Mighty Poor

if you have nothing in your home or office that is worth protection from fire and thieves. An investment in a safe is pretty cheap insurance. Lasts a Life Time.

Over 30,000 now in use.
Prices from $10 to $100 according to size.

It's Not a Luxury to buy a small Safe, Just Good Common Sense.

Call and see them at our store

BOWSER & GLOYD,

Phone No. 44. Spencerville.

Use high quality paint and get a job that will be lasting and satisfactory.

Good paint—quality paint—is well worth its cost. It looks better, wears longer, and affords greater protection to the surface of the wood than any other kind. Appearance, wear and protection are the prime objects of painting—the paint you use should guarantee these.

SHERWIN-WILLIAMS PAINT, PREPARED

is the standard of paint quality. There is nothing too good for it in its manufacture and there is nothing too good we can say for it. S.W.P. is made of the finest raw materials. The Sherwin-Williams Co. go back to the source—owning and operating linseed oil mills, zinc and lead mines and smelters, and the largest dry color factory in America. The result is that wear and service are in the goods.

We would like to have a paint talk with you when you are ready. We are confident that the many strong points in S.W.P. will appeal to your best judgment. And every package is U. S. Standard "full measure."

F. R. BOWMAN,

DRUGGIST.

News Items

Mr. John Dove took supper with Vada Kinsey at St. Joe Sunday evening.

Lloyd Wade now occupies the Meyers property. Mrs Meyers and Mrs. L. W. Steward were at Hicksville, Monday, looking up a place for Mrs. Meyers to move.

Rev. and Mrs. Barton came last Saturday night and visited the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Metcalf, until Tuesday when they left for their new charge at Economy, Ind.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills relieve pain.

Merritt Butler has purchased the Dr. Carey farm, south-east of town.

Wm. Sommers will move on his farm near Hurshtown in about two weeks.

W. W. Fisher has accepted a position with the Chattanooga Medicine Co.

Clyde Rectenwal commenced the construction of his new house last week.

Mr. Harvey Beam spent several days in Ft. Wayne last week making some purchases for his bicycle supplies.

There will be preaching services at the M. E. church next Sunday morning at 10:30, Rev. Brown, pastor. Rev. Sweeney leaves today for his new appointment at Portland Circuit. They will ship their goods but will drive thro' themselves.

Undertaking and Embalming.

Two Funeral Cars. One in White and the other in Black. We also furnish one elegant cab for Pall Bearers or friends. Prices reasonable

Beams & Baker.

Dr. Kimes was at Butler, Saturday.

Chas. Freece is numbered among the sick.

Grandma Getz is on the sick list this week.

Henry Murray has been sick for the past week.

Prof. Keating was at Ft. Wayne on business Saturday.

Frank Beams and family visited with Chris Curie and wife at St. Joe, Sunday.

Messrs Abe Furnish and John Henderson were at Ft. Wayne on business last Friday.

Frank and Merritt Butler accompanied by their wives were at Fort Wayne, Sunday.

Mrs. Wise and daughter, Mrs. Rose Beams, visited the former's brother at Corunna, last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Steward and son DeLoss, spent Easter Sunday with their daughter, Mrs. Guy Strong.

Mrs. Wrenn went to Ft. Wayne last Friday and spent several days visiting her brother who lives near the city.

Mr. Wm. C. Reed of Meese Chapel was in town on business last Friday. He took dinner with his mother-in-law, Mrs. Lydia J. Steward.

I have secured a horse clipper and solicit the patronage of those wishing their horses clipped. Harry Smith. St. Joe-Spencerville phone, F L 4 and Auburn 903-40.

Little Leverne Rhoades is very ill with inflamitory rheumatism. She has not been able to stand on her feet for some time. Her father, Mr. Raymond Rhoades is also on the sick list.

Rev. Sweeney and family returned from conference last Wednesday evening. They were sent to Portland Circuit and Rev. Brown was sent here. Both families are preparing to move as soon as possible.

FOR SALE:—Bay Horse 6-yr., old, weighing 1,200 lb. Sound and free from blemishes, city broke, safe for anyone to handle. Inquire of R. U. Bowser, Spencerville, Indiana.

Misses Ethel and Edith Berry spent Saturday night and Sunday with their sister Mrs. Wm. P. Steward. They also entertained the Misses Arminta and Jennie Steward, Fred Steward and Mr. Carl Grill at dinner Sunday.

The J. A. G Club were delightfully entertained at the home of Miss Ethel Metcalf last Thursday evening. The hostess served a splendid lunch in honor of Easter, and part of the time was spent in making new Easter bonnets out of crepe paper, which afforded much amusement.

W. M. ALLEN

Barber.

We have taken the agency for the best wall paper company in Chicago and can show you the best line of paper and mouldings. We can supply you with the

Edison Phonograph,

2 and 4 minute records, supplies and attachments for machine to play 4 minute records.

JUSTICE

of the Peace

work given special attention. Try us once.

S. S. Kimes

—M. D.—

Having located in the Markle building, is now ready to answer all calls, day or night. He invites you to call at the office and is ready to extend you every courtesy in keeping with the profession.

Phone No. 10.

Spencerville, Ind.

Mr. Gloyd and Erick were busy moving the first of the week.

The summer school is now in full blast with a good attendance.

Rink Saturday night. At St. Joe. Come.

The Beams hardware will be commenced as soon as the weather settles down.

The entertainment at Coburntown was quite an attraction for the young folks, Saturday night.

Word was received from Connie Davis, who is located in Michigan, and states that work is dull there and he is expected to return home before long.

Spencerville R F D No 2

Grandma Handy is quite sick at this writing.

Earl Stiman spent Sunday with D. M. Kelleys'.

Mrs. Gibbons is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Alice Zimmerman.

Greeley Wearley, wife and daughter LeAnna, spent Sunday with F. Horns'.

Mrs. Will Tyndall and children spent Sunday afternoon with G. M. Shutts'.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Farner spent Sunday with their daughter near Hopewell.

Anna and George Squires spent Sunday with their sister, Mrs. Elmer Smith and family.

Vernie and Connie Kelley also John Dove made a business trip to Hicksville Thursday evening.

Nelson Lake and family entertained the following Sunday:—Dr. J. H. Lake, wife and son Harold of St. Joe, Mr. Chas. Lake and family from Ft. Wayne, Wm. Lake, wife and three children, Mr. Laten Lake from Butler, Mr. John Benninghoff, wife and son, Mr. and Mrs. Tomelson of Newville. Mrs. Emma Allen and Miss Lenna Lake of Spencerville.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Rhoades entertained the following Sunday:—Mr. and Mrs. Koegler and daughter Minnie, Mr. and Mrs Fraud Emrick and son from Huntertown, Frank Rhoads, wife and son Merwood, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rhoads of near Concord and Chas. Rhoads, wife and two children from Spencerville.

Leo Items.

For headache Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills

Henry Hosler has been employed by Klopfenstein Bros. in the hardware store.

Mr. Joseph Stuckey and family have rented the George Zentiner farm and will move there soon.

Mr. Win Foust and wife left for Michigan last week, where they expect to reside in the future.

The Rev. Dickson will be the new minister on the Leo charge of the M. E. church for the ensuing year.

Many of the teachers of this township attended the State Teachers' association at Indianapolis last week.

Mr. Charles Long, formerly of Fort Wayne, is employed by Peter Garber as bartender. His family will also reside in Leo.

Mr. Roy Shuler, who recently lost a child by being scalded at the exhaust of the Whitmere Grain company, received $200 damages.

Word has been received from Louis Smead, who but recently went to Arkansas. Mr. Smeud says he likes the country very much.

The Home Telephone company, of this place, has moved into its new quarters. The building was formerly known as the Schorph building.

Mr. James Heron and daughter, of Kendallville, spent Sunday with the Heron family. Ina Olinger and two daughter, of Garrett, visited with the Heron family last week.

Mr. George Zentiner held a public sale Wednesday which was largely attended. Mr. Zentiner will ship his goods over the Wabash railroad to Texas on Friday and he and his family will follow on next Monday.

A terrible wind storm visited this section of the country Tuesday evening and did considerable damage to windmills, fences, etc. A great number of windows were blown in to the school building here. Until the window glass could be replaced Friday, the children suffered some with the cold. A steel tub belonging to Mr. A. Romery, used for watering stock, was blown clear across the St. Joe river. The Home Telephone company also suffering some inconvenience.

Electric Bitters

Succeed when everything else fails. In nervous prostration and female weaknesses they are the supreme remedy, as thousands have testified.

FOR KIDNEY, LIVER AND STOMACH TROUBLE

It is the best medicine ever sold over a druggist's counter.

Hats

Our hat department has the men and boys talking this season. The reason lies in some new things in soft and stiff hats. Also a good line of caps.

Beams & Co.

Spring Shoes

The latest styles will be found at our store in Patent and Tan Oxfords for Men or Women, and in fact for the children or anyone else. A full line of shoes.

We want your produce.

Chas. Rhoads and family took dinner with his parents Sunday.

Dr. Miles Anti-Pain Pills—Not only stop the pain, but do it quickly.

The Easter services of the C. L. church was largely attended on Sunday evening.

Mr. E. E. Mossman of Ft. Wayne was here last Friday and took up a large car load of lumber purchased of L. W. Steward.

The second common school graduation examination will be held at the school house Saturday. Concord Tp., already has ten graduates, more than any other township in the county.

Up Before the Bar.

N. H. Brown, an attorney, of Pittsfield, Vt., writes: "We have used Dr. King's New Life Pills for years and find them such a good family medicine we wouldn't be without them." For Chills, Constipation, Billiousness or Sick Headache they work wonders, 25c at H. Milliman's.

You

have a good fire insurance policy to guard against fire loss, why wouldn't it be to your interest to guard against Tornado damage.

We sell Tornado Insurance for town or farm property.

The cost is very small.

The protection is very great

J. C. HULL

AGENT

Fire, Tornado, Life, & Accident

Call on or Phone No. 46-2.

Our Deposits March 1st.

- - WERE - -

$67,127.93

Our Cash Resources Were

$22,487.49

or more than ⅓ of our deposits on hand for instant use. If Safe, Sound and Conservative Banking appeals to you we will get your business. 4% Interest paid on Time Deposits.

Joseph Witmer, Joseph A. Grabill, David Klopfenstein, Marcus Yager, John B. Haifley, John S. Klopfenstein, Juluis Gehrig, Albert Egly.

OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS OF

Grabill State Bank,

Grabill Indiana

JACK BEAMS

HARDWARE

We are always looking out for the best interests of our customers and as proof of this assertion call your attention to the

Oliver Full Chilled PLows

These new full chilled plows WILL DO ALL OF YOUR WORK, do it better than a steel plow can, with lighter draft, will handle easier and last much longer.

Guaranteed to Scour perfectly in any soil, no matter how difficult, in which any other kind or style of plow made will scour.

THE JAMES OLIVER No. 11 SULKY PLOW

By reason of its simple construction, light weight, easy draft, durability, and perfect work is

The Best Plow You Can buy

We also handle the Oliver Breaking Plows and Sulky Corn Plows.

APRIL

0566

L 903

THE POPULAR PULPIT

LIVES THAT LEAD.

By Henry F. Cope.

"The path of the just is as the shining light that shineth more and more unto the perfect day."—Prov. 4:18.

Pictures fade; books turn to dust; but lives live on forever. The soul of a single man has such possibilities that it can project itself through all time, touch practically all lives and fill all eternity with its force. Beside the potentialities of one life all other powers sink into insignificance. This is the fruitage of the travail of the ages and all the works of our hands are but the dust on its petals.

Few may write books or paint great pictures, but all must live their lives and with us all it lies to determine whether they shall be great or small, high as heaven in their towering inspiration or deep as the grave in their dark warning. This is the great work, just to live aright and to find the unending life by living the kind of life that cannot end.

The great books, pictures, sermons, oratorios of all the ages are just human lives; all our writings, compositions, and sayings are but reflections of the light of greatness in personalities; every enduring inspiration rises in some living soul. What you are is always more to the world than all that you can say or sing; the one is intelligible and possible only by the other.

We forget this so easily; we talk of living to do great things; we seem to think that greatness is wholly a matter of exalted circumstance or exceptional opportunities, possible only to the few and denied to the many because it is evident that not all can be kings or conquerors, heroes starring on the front pages or martyrs dying at the stake.

The truly great are large of heart, lofty of aspiration, generous of soul long before they meet the particular duty or crisis that reveals their existing greatness to the public gaze; they are great before they meet the great occasion; the greatest remain great of heart and soul after such an occasion. The position does not make the man; the man but magnifies the position.

Your place in life may seem to be a lowly one; but the size of your life does not depend on your situation; you would be just as small if the caprice of fortune cast you up on the steps of a throne; you would be just as great if it led you to the most obscure place on earth. The secret of greatness is the cultivation of great qualities of heart and mind in secret.

The essential things of life lie within the reach of all; the elements of greatness are never in things unattainable by the most lowly.

The man within you depends not on gee-gaws or feathers, not on baggage or furniture, not on rank or station, but on large heartedness, honesty, sincerity, and elevation of purpose, breadth of sympathy and simplicity.

The glory of the great life is that it speaks to us all; such a life is one of the prophets of high heaven. The most high is not silent so long as these lives speak. How they move us to shame with our pettiness, with our strivings after empty honors and fading wealth. What a call is here to lay aside pretense and mockeries, to cease to endeavor to disguise low aim with lofty phrases, and to be our best selves.

There were great lives in the long ago; and there are truly great lives close to our own day lives that lift themselves in sheer gentleness and nobility to leadership and bearing themselves with simplicity and humility, in elevation and through tremendous crises help us on. Can there be anything much better than to make them known to our children and to follow their laws ourselves?

Let not the lower self, slothful and dreading toil and trial, say to us: The way of greatness is only for the chosen few; be content with being just about what you are. Let not that same self, seeking to trick you, say: Seek the great place; lift your empty self to high place and men will call you great. The great stream is great, whether it flows in quietness or is sweeping obstacles before it or bearing ships on its bosom. The great life is not less in obscurity than when the times call its reserves to their aid.

MORE GOOD MEN AND WOMEN.

By Rev. Charles F. Aked, D. D.

For all creation, gazing eagerly as if with outstretched neck, is waiting and longing to see the manifestation of the sons of God.—Romans 8:19. (New Testament in modern speech.)

More good men and women—for this the creation, gazing eagerly as if with outstretched neck, waits and longs. This is the energy of all moral effort—a steady supply of good men and good women. This is the steam which makes the engine move.

In proportion to the extraordinary increase of our resources are we doing the good in the world that we ought to do? I doubt it. Stephen, John Ruskin once remarked, did not get bishop's pay for his long sermon to the Pharisees; he only got stones. Paul had no cathedral called by his name from which to preach his gospel to the Roman world. When Augustine and his noble monks landed at Ebbsfleet and met the English king between there and Canterbury there was no missionary society and missionary press behind him. It seems to me that we ought to do vastly more with our numbers and wealth than men did who were few and poor.

We leave the work to the machinery when we ought to do it ourselves. All your machinery needs intelligent people to work it. Yet we still go on discussing "methods" of church work or Sunday school work or something else; and the underlying assumption is that there is one particular specific, all but infallible, "method" which, if we could not only discover it, would do the work itself.

This is preposterous. There are just as many methods as there are men and women. There are as many good methods as there are good men and women, and as many bad methods as there are idle and worthless people. The great society meets, elects an influential committee, the influential committee meets, elects an able executive; the able executive meets, carries pious resolutions, plans great schemes, goes home comfortably to dinner, lives happily ever afterward and leaves two or three people to do the work. This world would be a better place to live in if the people who carry resolutions would go forth to carry them out, and when they have planned the work do it and say nothing about it.

They are not valuable; they are dangerous, harmful, destructive, if they change the emphasis from the inner to the outward life.

Improved methods are good, but improved men and women are better, and the soul of improvement is the improvement of the soul. Are you a better man to-day, kinder to those about you, fairer to opponents in controversy, more just to rivals in business, more anxious to render obedience to all the claims of good citizenship, more willing to go out of your way, take trouble, make sacrifices to help your church, to help good movements and to help your fellows? If not, something is lacking, some divine electric spark which might kindle in your heart the glory of the Lord. The creation itself, gazing eagerly as if with outstretched neck, is waiting and longing to see the manifestation of the sons of God.

The machinery cannot be worked without good men and women, so we have seen. But this also is true: The entire object of the machinery is to produce more good men and women. All preaching, all praying, all worship comes to this. Churches, organizations, theologies are everlastingly valuable if they help us to keep our hands clean and our hearts pure, if they assist us to do justly and love mercy and walk humbly before all that we can know or think of God.

SERMONETTES.

Holiness without honesty is hypocrisy.

Ability is the measure of answerability.

The time server never serves his times.

He who faces duty always finds divine aid.

The crowns are not for the camp followers.

He who knows how to live knows when to die.

To exalt one at the cost of many is to drag all down.

It is poor kind of sympathy that exhausts itself in a sigh.

When a man brags of his past you can discount his future.

The faith that does not revise you needs revising.

You cannot conquer any weakness by coddling it.

The only pleasures enjoyed are those that are earned.

Love is eternal because it never worries about dying.

They are most harmed by flattery who are most hungry for it.

Measure the appreciation you bestow by that which you desire.

Taking a by-path to avoid duty we are sure to meet our deserts.

It is better to be wrecked through overzeal than to rot from overcaution.

The power to comfort others does not come from consoling yourself.

The leaden heart easily learns how to praise the golden rule in silvery tones.

Citizenship in heaven will not exempt you from either taxes or service here.

Hypocrisy is simply failure to credit other people with ordinary discernment.

You never know how much good there is in men until some dark day falls on us all.

Some seem to think the best evidence of being the salt of the earth is ability to make folks smart.

The man who gets out his ear trumpet when his neighbors are being roasted puts it in his pocket when the collection for the needy is announced.

DON'TS FOR CHURCHMEN.

Don't be too busy to sympathize if you would be well occupied.

Don't talk about having divine grace if you are not gracious to men.

Don't forget that the golden rule is the best antidote for the rule of gold.

Don't acknowledge service of the real without recognition of the ideal.

Don't fail to note that little deeds are like little windows in a large room.

Don't expect to make home sweet by simply singing "Home, Sweet Home."

Don't imagine you are working hard when you are only wabbling between duty and desire.

WHEN THE TARIFF ON STOCKINGS IS DOUBLED.

AFFINITIES AND DIVORCE.

Discussed from the Point of View of an English Writer.

G. K. Chesterton is an English writer who weekly in the Illustrated London News has something good to say. In treating of affinities and the subject of divorce in America in general, this brilliant Britisher philosophizes as follows:

"I have always heard from my childhood that in America it is possible to get a divorce for incompatibility of temper. In my childhood I always thought it was a joke, but I thought it even more of a joke when I discovered that it was true. If married people are to be divorced for incompatibility of temper, I cannot imagine why all married people are not divorced. Any man and any woman must have incompatible tempers; it is the definition of sex. It is the whole point of being married. Nay, it is the whole fun even of being engaged. You do not fall in love with a compatible person. You do not love somebody exactly like yourself. I am prepared to bet that no two people were ever bethrothed for a week without discovering that they suffered from incompatibility of temper. As long as a marriage is founded on a good, solid incompatibility, that marriage has a fair chance of continuing to be a happy marriage, and even a romance. Some one said, 'As long as lovers can quarrel they are still lovers.' Whoever said it had, at least, more wisdom and knowledge of human nature than some of the legislators of America.

Discussing so-called "intellectuals," like Ferdinand Pinney Earle whose recent beating of his affinity caused a whole nation to grin even while it pitied the hapless woman who played the apparently difficult role of soulmate, Mr. Chesterton writes:

"One is almost tempted to think that an intellectual set means a set which has less intellect than anybody else. Artistic colonies, advanced clubs, emancipated groups are constantly separating themselves from the common life. I used to dislike them because they were too intellectual, setting intellect above happiness and manhood; but I am strongly tempted to believe that they are not only not cleverer, but are actually stupider than other people. They take refuge in these modernist cliques, just as a cripple in warlike ages might have taken refuge in a monastery. They are seeking not a world of freedom, but a world of fastidiousness; a world where in their own special manner they can be as silly as they please.

"Such free-thinkers turn their backs on Mrs. Grundy, not from a desire that criticism should be free, but from a desire that they themselves should be free from criticism. These self-emancipators say that ordinary talk and thought are too tame and timid for them. The truth is that ordinary talk—the talk of a club or a camp fire—is much too free and daring for them. It does not allow for their airy and delicate artistic convictions.

"No man in a smoking room, no man in a boat, would be allowed to talk such nonsense as Mr. Earle talked. A man with brains says that he and a woman are in love with each other; he does not say that they are predestined to be married. A wise man marries a woman because she is pretty, or perhaps only funny or perhaps good. Only a fool marries a woman because she is a socialist. The thoughts of ordinary men are too strong and too logical for these lovers of illusion and phraseology. They break the law, not because they are stronger than the law, but because the law is too strong for them."

WOMAN SENT BY MAIL.

Interesting Experiment with the British Postal Service.

"Postmasters may arrange for the conduct of a person to an address by an express messenger."—Postoffice Guide.

Scarcely one person in a hundred thousand is aware of the regulation under which "human parcels" can be dispatched to their destination, yet the process is both simple and economical.

"Yesterday," writes a lady, according to a London exchange, "I was dispatched as an 'article' under the exceptional express service from Baker street postoffice and delivered at Carmelite house, three miles away, all within three-quarters of an hour. It was 1:05 when we entered the postoffice on Baker street.

"'I believe it is possible to arrange for a person to be sent to an address under the care of an express messenger,' remarked my companion, tentatively, to the young lady behind the counter.

"'Yes; threepence a mile. What address please?' was the girl's reply, in business-like tones, as she opened her express letter book and prepared to write the address.

"'Carmelite house—that will be ninepence, please. The lady pays her own fare.'

"'No! No labeling is necessary. The messenger has the address,' said the girl in reply to further questions, and I and my voucher were placed under the care of one of the waiting messenger boys. From first to last there had not been a smile on the girl's face.

"'Turn to the right, please,' directed the messenger politely as we left the postoffice and began our journey toward Oxford street. At each crossing he waited for a lull in the traffic and then conducted his 'parcel' safely across.

"'Suppose I want to stop and look in the shop windows—what would you do then?' observed the 'parcel.'

"'First ten minutes free; 2 pence each succeeding ten minutes,' was the brisk reply.

"At just before 1:50 the destination was reached and the boy received a receipt in full for his charge."

There is practically no limit to the utility of the human parcel service. Messenger boys will convey country visitors from the railway stations to the houses of relatives in the suburbs. They will take parties of children to pantomime matinees and call at the theater for them.

Further Evidence.

"Can you furnish me with any direct evidence of the supernatural?" demanded a scoffer.

"I can that," replied his companion.

"Then do it."

"I will. Only the other day, with every door and window in the house locked, no broken panes, no holes in the floor, absolutely no visible means of ingress or egress, would you believe it, my furnace fire went out."—Detroit Free Press.

Natural Conformation.

"How angular that famous financier is."

"But you must consider how he has made himself by corners."—Baltimore American.

PUT NEW JERSEY'S TO SHAME.

Labrador's Mosquitoes a Plague, with Little Relief Save Flight.

No account of a travel in Labrador can be complete without some mention of the terrible pest of mosquitoes, says a writer in Forest and Stream. These were always present in immense swarms from the beginning of our trip to the end, and sometimes they made life almost unbearable.

Nothing could be heard but their buzzing. Whenever we attempted to eat they were down our throats and in our eyes and faces, and in spite of our head nets and fly dope we were always badly bitten. The natives seemed to mind them almost as much as we did, their remedy being rancid seal oil. I am satisfied that were one so unfortunate as to be caught out at night without protection he would be either crazy or dead by morning.

One tents were provided with a fine mesh bobbinet inner tent, but some would always find their way inside or come up from the ground. At times our light so attracted them we went outside to see if it were not raining, for the constant tapping of the mosquitoes against the canvas sounded exactly like rain that it was impossible to tell the difference.

On many nights I had to give up the observation of stars for latitude and longitude because a candle could not be kept lit long enough to adjust the artificial horizon. We unfortunately had no chimney and the mosquitoes swarmed so thickly that without this protection the flame was quickly smothered. There were but few nights cool enough to afford us any relief; we found that it required a temperature within a few degrees of actual freezing to subdue them.

If You Are Lost in the Woods.

Let the man who is lost in the woods be very careful not to over-exert himself. His chief dangers lie in panic and over-exertion, and, though he may be in a great hurry to find shelter, I must warn him to go slowly. Two miles an hour, on an average, through the snow in the woods, is all that a man in good condition will be able to stand without over-fatigue and its attendant dangers, over-heating and perspiration. By exercising caution, a man may live through a week of what he is undergoing. To make this article brief, however, we shall suppose that he regains the road by the afternoon of the first day. He doesn't yet know, of course, just where he is. He should examine the tracks of the person who last passed that way. It being afternoon, he must follow in the direction taken by the last-passing vehicle or team, as shelter will be nearest in that direction. Had it been morning he would have taken the opposite direction, as whoever made the tracks must have come from the place where he obtained shelter the previous night.—A. B. Carleton, in the Outing Magazine.

An Athletic Suggestion.

"So you don't approve of the Marathon races?"

"No," answered Farmer Corntossel; "long distance running don't help to fit folks for practical life. What we want is trainin' for a quick sprint from curbstone to curbstone in a crowded street."—Washington Star.

A man fusses a good deal, but his wife has her own way just the same.

What has become of the old-fashioned man who called a boy "bub?"

PERUNA

For Catarrh of the Throat of Two Years' Standing.

"I was afflicted for two years with catarrh of the throat. At first it was very slight, but every cold I took made it worse.

"I followed your directions and in a very short time I began to improve. I took one bottle and am now taking my second. I can safely say that my throat and head are cleared from catarrh at the present time, but I still continue to take my usual dose for a spring tonic, and I find there is nothing better."—Mrs. W. Pray, 260 Twelfth St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Pretty Tough for the General.

A French general's wife, whose tongue-lashing ability was far-famed, demanded that an old servant, who had served with her husband in the wars, be dismissed.

"Jacques," said the general, "go to your room and pack your trunk and leave—depart."

The old Frenchman clasped his hands to his heart with dramatic joy.

"Me—I can go!" he exclaimed in a very ecstacy of gratitude. Then suddenly his manner changed, as with utmost compassion he added:

"But you—my poor general, you must stay!"—Success Magazine.

FIVE MONTHS IN HOSPITAL.

Discharged Because Doctors Could Not Cure.

Levi P. Brockway, S. Second Ave., Anoka, Minn., says: "After lying for five months in a hospital I was discharged as incurable, and given only six months to live. My heart was affected. I had smothering spells and sometimes fell unconscious. I got so I couldn't use my arms, my eyesight was impaired and the kidney secretions were badly disordered. I was completely worn out and discouraged when I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, but they went right to the cause of the trouble and did their work well. I have been feeling well ever since."

Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Severe Operation.

"I never saw anybody that suffered rom throat trouble as much as my Uncle George used to," said Mrs. Lapsling. "He ad it so bad that finally the doctors had o make an incision in his sarcophagus nd remove a part of it."

STATE OF OHIO, CITY OF TOLEDO, } ss
LUCAS COUNTY.

Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure. FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.

(SEAL) A. W. GLEASON, NOTARY PUBLIC.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by all Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

The chimney swift is truly a bird of he air, for it never alights on a fence r building. It drops into the top o ome wide-mouthed chimney and clings o its rough sides with tiny feet.

Do You Feel Like This?

Does your head ache or simply feel heavy and uncomfortable? Does your back ache? Does your side ache? Do you feel fagged out? The tonic laxative herb tea known as Lane's Family Medicine will clear your head, remove the pain in side or back and restore your strength. Nothing else is so good for the stomach and bowels. At druggists' and dealers', 25c.

Declined the Part.

Percy—Esmeralda, will you marry me?

Esmeralda—No; Gwendolen refused on last night, and I'm not acting as first aid to the injured.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS

PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refunded. 50c.

For a Hard Man.

An American guest for the night at an inn in Stirling, Scotland, descended to the office at break of day and complained to the person in charge that the bed was hard.

"It was like sleeping on a board," he said.

The person in charge replied with cold austerity:

"The great Duke of Wellington once slept in that bed."

"No wonder they called him the 'Iron Duke,'" remarked the guest, ruefully rubbing his person as he turned away.

FOR SALE—Michigan Farms: All sizes, Southern and Central Michigan. Write for list and terms. Eldo Murray & Co., Charlotte, Mich.

If afflicted with Sore Eyes, use THOMPSON'S EYE WATER

APRIL

0567

L 903

AFTER SUFFERING TEN YEARS

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

MARLTON, N.J.—I feel that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has given me new life. I suffered for ten years with serious female troubles, inflammation, ulceration, indigestion, nervousness, and could not sleep. Doctors gave me up, as they said my troubles were chronic. I was in despair, and did not care whether I lived or died, when I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; so I began to take it, and am well again and relieved of all my suffering."—Mrs. GEORGE JORDY, Box 40, Marlton, N.J.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of female diseases we know of, and thousandsof voluntarytestimonialsare on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., from women who have been cured from almost every form of female complaints, inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodicpains, backache, indigestion and nervous prostration. Every suffering woman owes it to herself to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial.

If you would like special advice about your case write a confidential letter to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

Paxtine

TOILET ANTISEPTIC

Keeps the breath, teeth, mouth and body antiseptically clean and free from unhealthy germ-life and disagreeable odors, which water, soap and tooth preparations alone cannot do. A germicidal, disinfecting and deodorizing toilet requisite of exceptional excellence and economy. Invaluable for inflamed eyes, throat and nasal and uterine catarrh. At drug and toilet stores, 50 cents, or by mail postpaid.

Large Trial Sample

WITH "HEALTH AND BEAUTY" BOOK SENT FREE

THE PAXTON TOILET CO., Boston, Mass.

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, TORPID LIVER. They regulate the Bowels. Purely Vegetable.

SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Genuine Must Bear Fac-Simile Signature

Brent Good

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.

Biliousness

"I have used your valuable Cascarets and I find them perfect. Couldn't do without them. I have used them for some time for indigestion and biliousness and am now completely cured. Recommend them to everyone. Once tried, you will never be without them in the family."—Edward A. Marx, Albany, N.Y.

Pleasant. Palatable. Potent. Taste Good. Do Good. Never Sicken, Weaken or Gripe. 10c., 25c., 50c. Never sold in bulk. The genuine tablet stamped C C C. Guaranteed to cure or your money back.

Let us do your Printing using

Eagle Linen

for your office stationery. You can get the paper and envelopes to match.

It is the real thing. Take no substitutes.

TOTAL LOSS OF HAIR

Seemed Imminent—Scalp Was Very Scaly and Hair Came Out by Handfuls—Scalp Now Clear and New Hair Grown by Cuticura.

"About two years ago I was troubled with my head being scaly. Shortly after that I had an attack of typhoid fever and I was out of the hospital possibly two months when I first noticed the loss of hair, my scalp being still scaly. I started to use dandruff cures to no effect whatever. I had actually lost hope of saving any hair at all. I could brush it off my coat by the handful. I was afraid to comb it. But after using two cakes of Cuticura Soap and nearly a box of Cuticura Ointment, the change was surprising. My scalp is now clear and healthy as could be and my hair thicker than ever, whereas I had my mind made up to be bald. W. F. Steese, 5812 Broad St., Pittsburg, Pa., May 7 and 21, 1908."

Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props. of Cuticura Remedies, Boston.

Uncle Jerry.

"As a general thing," observed Uncle Jerry Peebles, "I believe in lettin' women have whatever they want; but when I see one of 'em goin' around with a spring hat on her head that looke like an old-fashioned beehive that's been tarred and feathered and then struck by lightning, I begin to wonder, by George, if it would be safe to trust her with the ballot!"—Chicago Tribune.

Here is Relief for Women.

If you have pains in the back, Urinary, Bladder or Kidney trouble, and want a certain, pleasant herb cure for woman's ills, try Mother Gray's Australian-Leaf. It is a safe and never-failing regulator. At Druggists or by mail 50 cts. Sample package FREE. Address, The Mother Gray Co., LeRoy, N. Y.

Difference of Opinion.

Vestryman (making another attempt to light his cigar)—I don't like these noiseless matches.

The Rev. Dr. Honeywell. I do. I received a fee of $50 once for marrying a deaf and dumb couple.

Pettit's Eye Salve for 25c

relieves tired or overworked eyes, stops eye aches, congested, inflamed or sore eyes. All druggists or Howard Bros., Buffalo, N. Y.

Another Horror.

"Speakin' about this 'ere tariff," said the man with the bulbous nose, "it make all the difference in the world whose socks is gored."

Only One "BROMO QUININE"

That is LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE. Look for the signature of E. W. GROVE. Used the World over to Cure a Cold in One Day. 25c.

Practically Noiseless.

Gladys—Does that noisy Archie Feath ertop still come to see you?

Maybelle—Yes, he still comes; but he hasn't made a noise like a proposal yet

Yellow Clothes Are Unsightly.

Keep them white with Red Cross Ball Blue. All grocers sell large 2oz. package, 5 cents.

Pure Milk and Our Babies.

If babies had a vote the milk supply would be reformed. But babies are inarticulate and the slaughter goes on.

Is there any reason why babies should die, asks Walter Weyl in Success Magazine—not occasionalll, not now and then and here and there, but wholesale, like flies? We are so cruelly accustomed to the little coffin and the white hearse that we never look at the facts or ask ourselves the question. But is there any reason why babies should die?

Suppose you enter the house of a poor family and see a new-born babe in a corner of the room, and there near the fire, doddering over his slumberous pipe, the babe's great-great-grandfather, a rheumatic, asthmatic old man of ninety. The babe was born to-day, this very day, endowed with all its heritage of thousands of generations; the great-great-grandfather was born in 1819, when Monroe was President and Napoleon was alive. Crabbed age is frail, and yet the statisticians will prove to you that slim as are the chances of the very old, the babe is more likely than his great-great-grandfather to die in a year, and very much more likely to die within three months.

If the mother knew how great was the danger to her baby, she would hover even more anxiously over the cradle. If she knew how often babies are slain by the milk of the city—if she knew, there wouldn't be so many slain.

SICK DOCTOR.

Proper Food Put Him Right.

The food experience of a physician in his own case when worn and weak from sickness and when needing nourishment the worst way is valuable:

"An attack of grip, so severe it came near making an end of me, left my stomach in such condition I could not retain any ordinary food. I knew of course that I must have food nourishment or I could never recover.

"I began to take four teaspoonfuls of Grape-Nuts and cream three times a day and for two weeks this was almost my only food; it tasted so delicious that I enjoyed it immensely and my stomach handled it perfectly from the first mouthful. It was so nourishing I was quickly built back to normal health and strength.

"Grape-Nuts is of great value as food to sustain life during serious attacks in which the stomach is so deranged it cannot digest and assimilate other foods.

"I am convinced that were Grape-Nuts more widely used by physicians, it would save many lives that are otherwise lost from lack of nourishment."

Absolutely the most perfect food in the world. Trial of Grape-Nuts 10 days proves. "There's a Reason."

Look in pkg. for the little book, "The Road to Wellville."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

OUR DECEPTIVE EYES.

How Man Has Called Mechanical Devices to Their Aid.

The eyes we brought with us at birth do not see a little of the beauties of nature. But with a microscope notmuch better than this. Leuwenhook, in 1675, frightened the world by saying that more animals lived in the human mouth than there were people in Holland! says Everybody's. With object glasses of higher power we are said to see things magnified 200, 500, 1,000 or 2,000 diameters, which only means that different objectives, as they are called, bring our eyes within one-fourth, or one-eighth, or one-twelfth, or one-fifteenth, or one twenty-fifth of an inch of the object.

And what have these mechanical devices of ours for helping our eyes to see, not done for the human world! So important to all life is that living world about which our native eyes would never have given us the least information, that it is evident no physical instrument can suffice for man, because he is so much greater than anything physical. All eyes made of protoplasm, including the eyes of the anthropoid apes, belong only to low origins and levels; but this human-fashioned mineral microscope belongs to the Andean heights of mind.

However, we have still other reasons for dissatisfaction with our eyes. They see the star Capella as no larger than a bright jewel in a lady's necklace, though we know that because that star has no proper motion, as astronomers say, and yet shines so splendidly, in reality it must be at least a hundred thousand times larger and a hundred thousand times brighter than our own sun. But our poor eye can now answer: You know that I do not report the whole truth to you about anything. You should not trust me so, because owing to radical defects in my make-up, I tell you that a man six feet high is only six inches high when he is a mile off. And as to the stars, you have had to make a telescope to help me out; but even with it the fixed stars remain beyond me, for I then see them merely as shining points. It is not by me, but by that greater power than mine in you, your reason, that you learn not only how large Capella is, but also, through another of your contrivances, that Capella abounds in earthly materials.

SUPERSTITIONS.

They Find a Place in the Minds of Even Great Men.

A man more absolutely governed by pure reason than Lord Macaulay could not well be found. But in his diary he refers to an after dinner talk about the feeling which Johnson had of thinking oneself bound to touch a particular post and to tread in the middle of a paving stone, and he adds, "I certainly hav this very strongly." In one of his Hibbert lectures Max Mueller said to the students: "Many of you, I suspect, carry a ha'penny with a hole in it for luck. I am not ashamed to own that I have done so myself for many years."

Chtarles Dickens refused to lie down unless his bed were placed due north and south. He gave notice of the rule before arriving at a friend's house or a hotel, but a compass was always handy in his baggage to make sure. Miss Justin McCarthy has told how Parnell gravely checked her stirring coffee the wrong way" and insisted that she should take another cup. A gentleman of Portrush sent Lord Roberts an old horseshoe when things looked ill in South Africa. Gratefully acknowledging it, the general added that he would keep this horseshoe in company "with one I picked up the day I entered the Orange Free State and another I found at Paardeburg the day before General Cronje surrendered."—Pall Mall Gazette.

The Modern Old Woman.

This is the age of the old woman who now no longer takes her memories and her lace cap and deposits herself out of sight in a corner, says a writer. Old in years only—that is all. In spirit young, warm in sympathies and in interest active and varied. Ho, for the young old woman! The average woman of 60 to 70, as New York society shows, is a bright, alert personality, taking intelligent interest in world-wide happening and delighting in the doings of the younger generation. In truth, these old women are young in heart, and in brain and body they do not show signs of age so quickly as those of a past generation, who, with advancing years, hastened the appearance of age by donning unbecoming caps, sat at home to knit stockings and gave up every healthy interest in their fellow creatures merely because their birth certificates told them they were "growing old." Mrs. Astor was no longer a young woman in the sense of cold figures when she rose to dominion over New York society; she was past fourscore when she laid her sceptre down. What is the reason for the change? Perhaps the growth of common sense and liberality has had much to do with it. But, whatever the reason, the fact is the old woman now refuses to take a back seat, and there can be no doubt society has benefited by her practical declaration of independence.

By the Bills.

"Are the De Robe sisters handsome women?"

"I don't know. I never saw them."

"But you told somebody they were women of very tall figures."

"So they are."

"How do you know?"

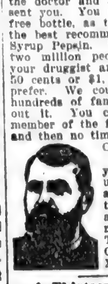
"They're my wife's dressmakers."—Baltimore American.

BEST STOMACH REMEDY FREE

It is an old saying that if the stomach is sound the whole body is safe, because so much depends upon the proper working of the stomach. Many persons find themselves with a disorder of the stomach which produces dyspepsia or a peculiar stateof biliousness.

If you suffer from both stomach trouble and constipation you are on the way to a very serious disease. From just such conditions come appendicitis, rheumatism, skin diseases and similar disorders, because the waste that should have been dispelled from the system through the bowels has found its way into the blood and vitiated it. What is needed at this point is not simply a violent cathartic tablet or salt, which usually does more harm than good, but a gentle laxative tonic like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which people have been using for these ailments for nearly a quarter of a century. It cured J. C. Lanham, of Warrensburg, Mo., of stomach trouble of long standing, also William Voll, of 903 Ellison street, Louisville, Ky., who had the trouble for fifteen years.

However, if you have stomach trouble you want to know from personal experience what Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will do for you. If so, send your name to the doctor and a free trial bottle will be sent you. You are urged to send for the free bottle, as the results from it will be the best recommendation of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Then you will do as over two million people did last year—go to your druggist and buy a regular bottle at 50 cents or $1, according to the size you prefer. We could mention hundreds and hundreds of families who are never without it. You can never tell when some member of the family will need a laxative, and then no time should be lost taking Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.



If there is anything about your ailment that you don't understand, or if you want any medical advice, write to the doctor, and he will answer you fully. There is no charge for this service. The address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 202 Caldwell bldg., Monticello, Ill.

A Thirteenth Century Drink.

Thirteenth Century tastes in food had few limitations. Besides the "fowl of Africa and the rare gadwit of Ionia" mentioned by Fitzstephen, gourmets in the time of King John used to regale themselves on herons, cranes, crows, storks, cormorants and bitterns. Some would wash their meals down with wine, but the majority drank mead or metheglin. Mead, according to Holinshed, was only the washing of the combs after the honey had been taken from them and so poor a beverage that it had to be spiced, peppered or made palatable with sweetbrier or thyme. But metheglin contained one hundredweight of honey to twenty-four gallons of water and must have been much more intoxicating than the strongest old ale of the present day.—London Chronicle.

To have more of Health and more of Life, take Garfield Tea! This Natural laxative regulates liver, kidneys, stomach and bowels, corrects constipation, purifies the blood and eradicates disease.

Dickens Characters.

All those elements that disgust Mr. Pugh in Dickens, the clowning and caricature, the preposterous figures and the practical jokes, Mr. Pickwick getting into the wheelbarrow and Tony Weller hardly getting into his waistcoat—all this is simply the life and laughter of the actual English people. One has only to go down the Battersea park road on a Saturday night to hear it.—G. K. Chesterton, in London News.

PILE CURE FREE: Wonderful Pile Remedy sent free to sufferers by addressing Ren Company, Dept. B5, Minneapolis, Minn.

Difficult to Draw.

A teacher asked her class to draw a picture of that which they wished to be when they grew up, and all went diligently to work except one little girl, who only chewed her pencil.

"Don't you know what you want to be when you grow up, Anna?" asked the teacher.

"Yes, I know," replied the little girl, "but I don't know how to draw it. I want to be married."—Success Magazine.

Time is the best test. For over fifty years Hamlins Wizard Oil has been the most popular remedy in the United States for the cure of Rheumatism, Neuralgia and all pain and inflammation.

His Usual Way.

The new waitress sidled up to a dapper young man at the breakfast table, who, after glancing at the bill, opened his mouth and a noise issued forth that sounded like the ripping off of all of the cogs on one of the wheels in the power house. The new waitress made her escape to the kitchen. "Fellow out there insulted me," she said. The head waiter looked at him. "I'll get it," he said. "That's just the train caller ordering his breakfast."—Argonaut.

If you use ball blue, get Red Cross Ball Blue, the best ball blue. Large 2oz. package, 5 cents.

Then He Spoke.

Bashful Youth—Miss Bella, does—does your mother object to my coming here so much?

Fair Charmer—O, I think not. I heard her telling papa the other evenin that you merely came to pass away th time—you didn't mean anything serious.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething; softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25 cents a bottle.

Seemed to Awaken Memories.

Tommy—Paw, what is three card monte?

Mr. Tucker—It's the most diabolical infernal swindle that ever anybody—er—er—O, it's some sort of gambling game with cards, I believe, Tommy.—Chicago Tribune.

A Domestic Eye Remedy

Compounded by Experienced Physicians. Conforms to Pure Food and Drugs Laws. Wins Friends Wherever Used. Ask Druggists for Murine Eye Remedy. Try Murine in Your Eyes. You Will Like Murine.

DEEP DIVES FOR TREASURE.

Extraordinary Performances by Men Who Go Down Into the Sea.

The feat performed by a Dutch diver the other day in going down 175 feet to the wreck of the treasure ship Dorothea, on the Tenedos reef, and remaining there for nearly two hours, is a sufficiently remarkable performance. Nevertheless, it is not true, as has been stated in some quarters, that it establishes a record in deep sea diving.

This is held by an English diver named Hooper, who descended 201 feet to the wreck of the Cape Horn, lost off the coast of South America, with a cargo of copper worth £50,000.

An almost equally wonderful piece of work was that performed by Diver A. Erostarbe, in 1896, in connection with the wreck of the Skyro, off Cape Finisterre in 180 feet of water. After many experienced men had tried and failed he salved, by his own exertions, bar silver to the value of £9,000, to get at which he had first to blow the iron deck to bits with heavy charges of dynamite.

Alexander Lambert, another famous diver, now dead, sent up £70,000 in coined gold from the wreck of the Spanish mail steamer Alphonso XII. The wreck also lay in 180 feet of water.

From the hull of the Hamilla Mitchell, lost on the Leuconna rock near Shanghai, Diver Ridyard salved £40,000 in four dives. The last of these was the most successful, he remaining below on that occasion four hours, during which time he sent to the surface no fewer than sixty-four boxes of treasure.

He could, he reported afterward, have salved much more, but considerable quantities of the coins were lying loose in heaps on the bed of the ocean, the worms having riddled the wooden boxes so that they had fallen completely to pieces.—Pearson's Weekly.

Getting It Right.

They asked him if his name was Taht,
And merrily the big man laughed.
"Why, no," he said; "my name is Taft,
Which, as you will find by consulting the various dictionaries and paying particular attention to the marks indicating the correct pronunciation of the words therein,
Almost, if not quite, rhymes with 'raft.'"
—Chicago Tribune.

FASHION HINTS

This fancy linen depends largely upon the button hole and eyelet finish for novelty. It's a trimming that will be used a great deal this season. A distinctive feature in the accompanying sketch is the plain over skirt lashed together with ribbon; showing flat pleats underneath.

RHEUMATISM

I want every chronic rheumatic to throw away all medicines, all liniments, all plasters, and give MUNYON'S RHEUMATISM REMEDY a trial. No matter what your doctor may say, no matter what your friends may say, no matter how prejudiced you may be against all advertised remedies, go at once to your druggist and get a bottle of the RHEUMATISM REMEDY. If it fails to give satisfaction, I will refund your money.—Munyon

Remember this remedy contains no salicylic acid, no opium cocaine, morphine or other harmful drugs. It is put up under the guarantee of the Pure Food and Drug Act.

For sale by all druggists. Price, 25c.

WESTERN CANADA

160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

More Big Crops In 1908

Another 60,000 Settlers from the United States

NEW DISTRICTS OPENED FOR SETTLEMENT

320 Acres of Land to EACH SETTLER—160 Free Homestead and 160 at $3.00 Per Acre.

"A vast, rich country and a contented, prosperous people." Extract from correspondence of a National Editor, whose visit to Western Canada in August, 1908, was an inspiration.

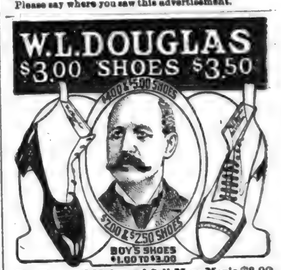
Many have paid the entire cost of their farms and had a balance of from $10 00 to $20.00 per acre as a result of one crop.

Spring Wheat, Winter Wheat, Oats, Barley, Flax and Peas are the principal crops, while the wild grasses bring to perfection the best Cattle that have ever been sold on the Chicago market.

Splendid Climate, Schools and Churches in all localities, railways touch most of the settled districts, and prices for produce are always good. Lands may also be purchased from Railway and Land Companies. For pamphlets, maps and information regarding low railroad rates apply to W. D. Scott, Superintendent of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or W. H. Rogers, M Floor Traction Terminal Building, Indianapolis, Ind., and H. M. Williams, Room 20, Law Building, Toledo, Ohio, Authorized Government Agents.

Please say where you saw this advertisement.

W.L. DOUGLAS $3.00 SHOES $3.50



The Reason I Make and Sell More Men's $3.00 & $3.50 Shoes Than Any Other Manufacturer is because I give the wearer the benefit of the most complete organization of trained experts and skilled shoemakers in the country.

The selection of the leathers for each part of the shoe, and every detail of the making in every department, is looked after by the best shoemakers in the shoe industry.

If I could show you how carefully W. L. Douglas shoes are made, you would then understand why they hold their shape, fit better, and wear longer than any other make.

My Method of Tanning the Soles makes them More Flexible and Longer Wearing than any others.

Shoes for Every Member of the Family, Men, Boys, Women, Misses and Children.

For sale by shoe dealers everywhere.

CAUTION! None genuine without W. L. Douglas name and price stamped on bottom.

Fast Color Eyelets Used Exclusively. Catalog mailed free.

W. L. DOUGLAS, 167 Spark St., Brockton, Mass.

Business Chance FOR SALE—Only Racket Store in town of 2,300. Stock will invoice about $3500.00. All saleable stuff. Gross sales in 1908 were $6840 and gross profits $1866, net profits over $1200. We will sell at $3300 or will invoice and sell at invoice price. Chas. W. Ely, Brooklyn, Indiana.

PILES PAY IF CURED. We pay postage and send FREE RED CROSS Piles and Fistula Cure. REX CO., Dept. B5, Minneapolis, Minn.

Money IN PATENTS "Hints to Inventors" mailed free. Send for it. Clark, Deemer & Co., Patent Attorneys 234 Broadway, New York.

F. W. N. U. - - - No. 16—1909

When writing to Advertisers please say you saw the Adv. in this paper.

These New Towns in the Northwest All Need Men

Hundreds of new towns are springing up all over the Pacific Northwest.

The big, easy fortunes being made from fruit, farming and stock-raising, are making these towns grow fast. They all need men who know trades—they need you, whether you have money to invest or not.

Never, in the history of America, has the man who works with his hands had such a chance to make money, as is offered in the west today.

You Are Losing Money Every Day You Stay in the East

You would not stay another day in the worn-out East, if you knew even half the truth about the great Pacific Northwest.

Families, who went there penniless 5 years ago, are spending this winter in California. They bought good land at low prices—paid for it gradually—today are independent.

Opportunities are greater now than ever, because the country is more developed.

Ask us on a postal to send you our free book, telling you all about Oregon, Idaho and Washington. We'll also tell you what it costs to go there.

E. L. LOMAX, G. P. A.,
Omaha, Neb.

PUTNAM FADELESS DYES

Color more goods brighter and faster colors than any other dye. One 10c package colors all fibers. They dye in cold water better than any other dye. Tweeds dye any garment without ripping apart. Write for free booklet—How to Dye, Bleach and Mix Colors.

MONROE DRUG CO., Quincy, Illinois

APRIL

0568

L 903

ANNOUNCEMENT

Will be found at the Old Stand. Having failed in disposing of My Stock of Goods, I will be pleased to meet all old and welcome any new Customers at my place of business. I am arranging to Replenish my Stock with new and up-to-date Merchandise. Special attention will be given to Ladies and Gents Furnishing Goods, Ladies, Mens' and Childrens fine Footwear.

My Grocery department will be one of the interesting and price saving departments in my Mammoth Stock.

PHONE FOR PRICES

CASH PAID FOR ALL KINDS OF PRODUCE.

SOL BARNEY

Bell Phone No. 100

Something Special every Sat

CORRESPONDENCE

ITEMS FROM DIFFERENT LOCALITIES WRITTEN FOR THE NEWS

WABASH CORNERS.

Send in your news.

Mrs. Ella Gill, Ida Woodcox and son Homer, of St. Joe, spent Wednesday with Ida Herrick and family.

Bessie Bartlett of Ft. Wayne, and Mrs. James Draggoo and son Lloyd, spent Friday forenoon at Mart Hulls'.

Hazel and Lois Stafford of Garrett, spent Saturday and Sunday with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Pervines.

Mrs. Mary Oden and Mrs. Ida Tracey of Butler, were the guests of Sherman Wolff and wife, Wednesday night.

J. B. White of St. Joe, Mart Hull, wife and two daughters, Marie and Goldie, and Sherman Wolff and wife ate Easter dinner with Gene White and family.

Miss Upp of Ft. Wayne, spent over Sunday with Lela Shilling.

Roy Maurer expects to move in part of Aunt Em Simanton's house.

George Wilson and family moved in Mrs. Abel's house, east of Coburntown, Saturday.

Benjamin Hamilton and wife and John Ulms, wife and son Fred, all of Coburntown, spent Sunday at O. K. Shulls'.

NEWVILLE ITEMS.

Lewis Harter took dinner with Cleve Washter, Sunday.....Grace Magginnis went to Angola, where she will attend school.....Ethel Miller of Waterloo, visited over Sunday at the home of W. K. Miller.....Alfred Smith and family have moved from Bryan to this place.....Elmer Oberlin and family of Hamilton spent Easter at the home of Horace Enzor.....Rev. Metzler of Wauseon, O., preached at the Christian church, Sunday morning and evening, and will preach again in two weeks.....Mrs. Effie Hutchins returned to her home at Ft. Wayne, Saturday, after being at this place several weeks caring for her mother and sister.....The Easter program given at the U. B. church, Sunday evening was well rendered and enjoyed by all present.....Clyde Dean and wife of Auburn, Will Bohls and family of Garrett, and John Whitehurst and family spent Easter with Mrs. Rebecca Dean.

"I'd Rather Die, Doctor, than have my feet cut off," said M. L. Bingham of Princeville, Ill, "but you'll die from gangrene (which had eaten away eight toes) if you don't", said all doctors. Instead - he used Bucklen's Arnica Salve till wholly cured. Its cures of Eczema, Fever Sores, Boils, Burns and Piles astouns the world. 25c. at H. Milliman's.

FAIRVIEW

Mrs. Dora Morr is on the sick list.

Mrs. Mary Johnson is on the sick list.

Little Miss Leotta Milliman has been sick the past week.

Edward Bassett and family spent Sunday with Gaylin Hays'.

Paul Brown took supper with Harold Coyle, Thursday evening.

Mrs. Edna Moudy spent a few days with her parents this week.

Lawrence Brown spent a few days last week with his uncle at Fairfield.

Norman Rolland, wife and children spent Sunday with his parents north and west of Garrett.

Mrs. Emma Daily and son Russell, of Stroh, Ind., spent last week with relatives at this place.

Rev. C. H Hubbell D. D. of Adrian Mich., will preach at our church Sunday at 3 P. M. Every body invited.

Misses Ethel and Erma Houser and Messrs Russell and Albert Houser spent Sunday with their grand-father north-west of Garrett.

Don't forget to see Geo. Milliman for new tube or hollow wire light mantles. Glassware or fixtures of any kind for gasoline lights in hollow wire. I handle the Inverted and Upright, and are connecting common gasoline stove to the same wire, you can see the stove at my place. Why not put in our little dwelling light in your home and have your gasoline stove absolutely safe. We have them at rock bottom prices and warrant them to give good satisfaction.

GEORGE MILLIMAN.

AGENT.

Phone No. 25 St. Joe, Ind.

Concord Items

John Hull purchased a new horse at Butler Monday.

Geraldine Rickett spent a couple of days last week with her sister, Mrs. Albert Sherer.

There was a large crowd at the Easter entertainment Sunday evening at this place.

Master Waldo Baker is spending a week with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Carper.

Mrs. Delila Draggoo and son Lloyd were guests of her daughter, Mrs. Grant Keller, Sunday.

Sam Morr, wife and sons, Dell Draggoo, wife and daughter, spent Sunday with Chas. Morrs'.

Quite a number from here attended the Easter entertainment at Fairview, Saturday evening.

Miss Bessie Bartlett of Ft. Wayne was the guest of her grandmother, Mrs. Draggoo, Friday and Saturday.

Rev. C. H. Hubbell D. D. of Adrain Mich., will preach Sunday morning at Concord. The pastor desires a large attendance.

John Baker, wife and daughter Barbara, of Walker, Minn., came Saturday for an extended visit with relatives at this place.

The Sunday School at this place gave the superintendent Charles Jackson an Easter shower Sunday, he received seventy-five Easter postals.

The Ladies Aid met at the home of Mrs. Adam Shilling to sew carpet rags, last Friday afternoon. Owing to the weather not many were present.

Mrs. Dell Draggoo was given quite a surprise last Wednesday, when her neighbors and friends to the number of about forty came to celebrate her birthday. A jolly time was reported by all present.

Mr. and Mrs. Tell Elson entertained to Easter dinner, the Misses Laura Baker, Ethel Snyder, Ruth and Sadie Draggoo, Vera, Letha and Oma Coyle, Mr. Artus Coyle and Mr. and Mrs. Milton Carper

Breeders Attention!

I have a fine dratt stallion, light bay with star in forehead, with which I will make the season of 1909 at the farm of Wm. Countryman, 4 miles east of St. Joe. Phone 431-O Hicksville. Terms $6.00.

K. W. Countryman,
Owner and Keeper.

Sunday School Report.

Below is the report of the various Sunday Schools of the town and community for last Sunday. We desire that the secretaries may hand us this bit of information on Monday of each week, or phone to No. 10 and report.

	Attendance	Collection
Christian	113	17.58
Lutheran	101	9 95
M. P.	65	12 23
Coburntown	67	8 2 05
Spen. Luth.	62	$1.25
Spen. M. E.	78	$1 42
Concord	78	10.91
Rehoboth	45	8 .74
Newville C.	71	$1.65

M. and M. UNION SUNDAY SCHOOL OF GRABILL, IND.

Officers and Teachers	10
Substitute Teachers	2
Scholars	160
Total attendance	191
General collection	$4.49

The Old Water Mill

Vine covered, and with its ponderous over-shot wheel was a fitting theme for the poet and artist but in this materialistic age we are more concerned in the practical side of the question "Does it make good flour? Buy a sack of "Our Daily Bread Flour" and you will be a steady customer of

THE

Keesler Milling Co.

County Line News.

Miss Clara Blough spent Sunday at home.

Miss Myrtle McNutt has returned to her home near Hopewell.

Quarterly meeting services were well attended at Hopewell, Sunday.

Pearl Barton and wife spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rakestraw.

Mr. and Mrs. Clay Rinehold spent Sunday with the latters parents, Oliver Warstler and family.

The sad accident and death of Master Joseph Willard Rinehold has cast a gloom over the community.

Misses Iva Roberts and Belle Wortman of Ashland, Ohio, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Milton Simanton.

Milton Simanton and wife, Iva Roberts and Belle Wortman spent Monday with John Simanton and family, north of St. Joe.

W. T. Wyatt and wife spent Sunday with H. A. Porter and wife of Cedarville. Mrs. Porter has been quite sick for the past week.

FOR SALE:—20 acres of good Onion and Potato land. Located 7 miles from St. Joe, with buildings. Price $1,100 on terms to suit purchaser. E. E. Berry, St. Joe, Indiana.

Master Joseph Willard Rinehold, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Clay Rinehold was born July 24th., 1906, and passed away to the spirit world April 4th., 1909; at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Rinehold. Aged 8 months and 11 days. Mention was made a few days ago in these columns of the sad accident of Little Joe pulling the pail of boiling water over and severely scalding both his little arms and a large spot on the right side. His suffering was intense and kind hands did all that could be done to relieve him. It was thought for a time that he was relieved and that there was a chance for his recovery, but the burns were too deep and severe and the deadly poisons were soon at work battling for the life of the helpless child. Little Joe was strong and healthy and resisted the death hand with manful force. The pitiful wail of pain and anguish, the pleading eyes seemingly asking for help and relief were seen, that were seemingly hard to bear at the time but were only introductory to the horrible suffering that was to follow. The rapid decline began Wednesday afternoon and reached its climax Saturday afternoon, when the death hand lay heavy on Little Joe. For twenty-four hours aching hearts watched and waited for the last struggle which would relieve the little one from the terrible pain which was sapping out the little life drop by drop. At the midnight hour came an awful struggle, gasping, struggling and fighting for breath lasting one hour and twenty minutes with each moment seeming that it must be the last. Death had lost its horror, no one could ask that Little Joe live on and suffer for naught but death could relieve him and now could only come as a welcome visitor that Little Joe might pass over and be at rest from suffering. Sunday morning found him very much weakened and he lay quietly breathing with only an occasional twitch of pain. At 2:30 Sunday afternoon it was noticed that his breathing was fast becoming shorter and weaker and at 2:43 the spirit left the little form without a struggle or a sound. Relief had come at last. Master Joe was loved by all who knew him. Altho his life here was of short duration he had gathered about him a host of friends. His winning smile and playfulness, his large bright eyes and chubby little hands captivated all who chanced to come within the radius of his happiness, for he was always happy. Truly his life may represent the widest extremes of infant life. A blissful happiness and a terrible agony. The funeral services were conducted from the Rehoboth church, Tuesday, by Rev. Harper and Beams as funeral director. Covered and decked with beautiful flowers Little Joe was laid to rest in the Cedar Chapel cemetery, not to be forgotten but to live on in the hearts of those who loved him for years to come. And may he with the same wonderful power of self manifestation altho unseen, continue to draw upon the hearts of those who mourn his untimely death and may he ever be a guiding light to the Shining Shore. The bereaved parents and grandparents have the sympathy of the community of their sad bereavement. They in return sincerely thank those who lent a helping hand in time of sorrow and need.

Local Items.

FOR SALE:- Good 7 room house with cellar and two lots. J. C. HULL.

Dr. Lucius M. Barney of Denver, Colo., died at Palisade on Wednesday, April 7, 1909, having been stricken with meningetis He was 39 years old. He will be remembered as a son of Lucius Barney, a brother of Frank and Sol Barney of this place.

Mrs. Hull of Hicksville, sister of Mrs. Ie Horn, spent several days of last week with Mrs. Horn, returning home last Friday. Also Mrs. Mason of Ft. Wayne, a cousin of Mrs. Horn and Mrs. Hull spent several days visiting with them returning home Saturday.

The 90th Anniversary of the I. O. O. F. will be observed by special memorial services on Sabbath, April 25 at 1:30 o'clock at the M. P. church, address to be given by Rev. J. C. McCain. All D of R and members will meet at I. O. O. F. Hall at 1 o'clock sharp. All are invited to attend the services.

Mrs. Galloway's eye is very much improved and she is doing fine.

The supper given Saturday night by the boys classes of the M. P. Sunday School was a great success, taking $23.30. All who assisted by either helping or giving have the thanks of the classes also the general public for their presence.

Farm for Sale.

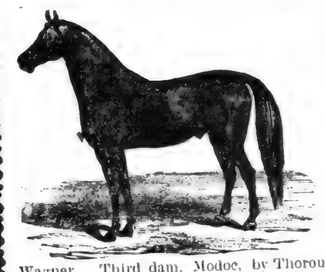
Three miles northwest of St. Joe consisting of 143 acres; 43 acres of black loam. Has good seven roomed house with cellar, drove well and cistern, barn 30x 42 with sheds, corn crib and out buildings. Inquire of John Knight, St. Joe, Ind.

Swept Over Niagara.

This terrible calamity often happens because a careless boatman ignores the river's warnings-growing ripples and faster currents-Nature's warnings are kind. That dull pain or ache in the back warns you the Kidneys need attention if you would escape fatal maladies—Dropsy, Diabetes or Bright's disease. Take Electric Bitters at once and see Backache fly and all your best feelings return. "After long suffering from weak kidneys and lame back, one $1.00 bottle wholly cured me," writes J R. Blankenship, of Helk, Tenn. Only 50c at H. Milliman's.

The Hambletonian Stallion

Silver Wing 2:24¼



By Corwin 22062, he by Corsair 7558, he by Hambletonian 10. Dam—Golden Girl (2:39¼ as a 3-year old) by Golden Wing 5808 he by Satelite, he by Robert Bonner, he by Hambletonian 10. Golden Wing's first dam, Mable, by Mambrino Champion, by Mambrino Chief.

Second dam by Wagner. Third dam, Modoc, by Thoroughbred. Golden Girl's dam, Brown Nell, by Mamorino Chief.

PATRICK ELLIOTT, Owner and Keeper.

The Black Percheron Horse

Leopold III

No. 19212. Weight 1,850.

Both of these horses will stand on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at Ira Bone's barn at ST. JOE, and balance of the week at the Evans barn in Hicksville, Ohio.

Terms $10.00.

Elmer Goodson, Own. Patrick Elliott keep.

Breeders Attention

Belgian Draft Horse

MOUTON De SOM, weight 1800 lbs.

Registered in Vol. 1, No. 1658, American Association of Belgian draft horses.

Season of 1909.

Will make the season of 1909 at the barn of the undersigned. 2 miles north and a mile west of St. Joe or 6½ miles east and 1 mile south of Auburn on the Joseph Koch farm.

Terms of Service.

$15 to insure colt to stand and suck.

ARTUS COYLE

St. Joe, Ind. Owner and Keeper.

DENTIST.

C. R. PRICE.

ST. JOE, IND.

Office in Case building.

Bell Phone No. 44.

COBURN'S CORNERS

Mrs. Alice Hart and Mrs. Fred Hart spent Sunday afternoon with W. M. Abel and family.....About $12 was taken in Saturday evening at the church by the Crescent Concert Company.....Misses Fuschia Hadsell and Nellie Blackburn were at Sunday School Sunday. Miss Hadsell gave a fine violin solo accompanied by Miss Blackburn..... Miss Ila Beaber and Mr. Grover Ward were married Saturday evening at the home of the bride's parents. They have gone to Ft. Wayne where they expect to make their home.....Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Hart and son and Mrs. Sam Davis were guests of Joseph Shull and wife Sunday.....Mrs. Ross Abel spent part of last week with her parents north of St. Joe..... George Wilson and family moved on Mrs. Anna Abel's farm one mile east of the church last Saturday .....Dell Coburn and family moved in with his father, Wm. Coburn, one mile north of the church, last week .....Little Ward Hart of Hicksville spent a few days last week with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Shull.....Thurman Shull and family spent Easter with friends at Milford .....The band have taken in some new members making a membership of about 21. They have ordered a new bass tuba and some other instruments.....David Andress is sick again .....Minerva Keesler visited with Mattie Gee Saturday night and Sunday.....Mr. Will Oberholtzer and family and Mr. and Mrs. Oberholtzer from near Spencerville, visited with Wm. Maxwell and family Sun.....Sarah Walter was called to Montgomery, Mich., Tuesday to care for her brother who is very ill.

70 Years with Coughs

We have had nearly seventy years of experience with Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. That makes us have great confidence in it for coughs, colds, bronchitis, weak throats, and weak lungs. Ask your own doctor what experience he has had with it. He knows. He can advise you wisely. Keep in close touch with your family physician. No alcohol in this cough medicine. J.C. Ayer Co. Lowell, Mass.

Be well; be strong. You cannot if your bowels are constipated. The best laxative is Ayer's Pills, all vegetable. Ask your doctor if he agrees with us. Do as he says.

APRIL

0569
L 903

ST. JOE NEWS.

VOL. XXIII ST. JOE, DEKALB COUNTY, INDIANA. THURSDAY, APRIL 22 1909. NO. 16

Price of Wool This Season.

In Indiana Wool Dealers met in session at Indianapolis, Friday, and among other matters discussed was the price that should be paid for wool this spring. The unsettled condition of the tariff question made it somewhat uncertain but as the Payne bill does not propose to change the existing duty on the kind of wool produced in Indiana there ought to be no more difficulty than usual. They reached no definite conclusion as to the prices which should be fixed for the coming season. Prices suggested ranged from 17 cents to 23 cents a pound. It was decided that another meeting should be held a little later and that prices should be considered then.

It was agreed at the meeting that the dealers should either refuse to buy wool which has been tied with binder twine or should at least pay 5 cents less a pound for wool tied in this way. The fibers of binder twine, it is said, catch in the wool and are never removed, finally being woven into the cloth. Dealers have trouble in disposing of wool which has been tied with binder twine and they propose to make the wool growers use hard twine.

Announcement of Service

QUARTERLY CONFERENCE.

The third Quarterly Conference of the St. Joe Circuit, M. P. church will convene in business session at 2 p m. Saturday, April 24, in the St. Joe church. Every official member is expected to be present. The regular Quarterly Love Feast and Communion will be observed on Sunday at 10:30 a. m. Come! Bring your friends.

J. C. McCAIN, Pastor.

Farm for Sale.

Three miles northwest of St. Joe consisting of 143 acres; 43 acres of black loam. Has good seven roomed house with cellar, drove well and cistern, barn 30x 42 with sheds, corn crib and out buildings. Inquire of John Knight, St. Joe, Ind.

Dancer-Davis

At the home of the bride's parents Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Dancer, in Auburn Sunday noon, occured the marriage of Miss Flossie Dancer to Clarence Davis. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. G. A. Jackson acting pastor of the Baptist church. Immediately after the wedding dinner was served. They were presented with many useful and handsome gifts. Both are well known and worthy young people of this county. They left for their future home on a farm near Spencerville.

Local Briefs

Rink Saturday night.

Curie is showing two car loads of buggies this week of the Kiblinger and Defiance makes. Call and see them.

A few of our people witnessed the Amelia Bingham performance at Hickaville last Friday night and on return they gave her words of praise.

Garden made yet?

Cap Andress was in town Tuesday.

Mrs. Daisy Woodcox is visiting her parents at Garrett, this week.

Frank Kinsey and wife are entertaining the mumps at their home.

Born to Solomon Shank and wife north-east of town Tuesday, a baby boy.

James Steward is able to be about town after several weeks illness. Tuesday he made his first appearance. He is still in a week condition and unable to walk but a short distance.

There are 749 Odd Fellows' lodges in Indiana with a membership of 76,320, 278 encampments with 17,878 members, 31 cantons with 1,139 members, 577 Rebekah lodges with 43,683 members.

Attend the Annual Commencement of the St. Joe High School Wednesday and Thursday evening, May 5th and 6th. Admission 25 cents or 15 cents per single evening.

Last Wednesday evening there passed away at Waterloo a lady who connected the early part of last century with the first part of this century and who had reached almost the century mark in age, that being Sepharna Guilford, who was born November 5, 1810.

An item of expense that had to be met by the board of county commissioners this month was that accrued during the siege of diphtheria through which the Samuel Nelson family, of St. Joe, has just passed. The total amounts to over $300 of which sum $75 was for nurse hire. This family lost two children by diphtheria.

Have you seen Curie's new stock of buggies yet? Make your selection early, they're going fast.

Advices from Butler at noon Monday state that the officials of the Vandalia railroad company have concluded to take off some of their trains notwithstanding the fact that the towns along the line have protested against it. From this time on only one train each way a day will be run, but the local freights will carry passengers. Nothing definite concerning the use of motors has been arrived at.

The arrangements for the High School commencement have been completed and it is on Wednesday evening, May 5 the orations will be delivered by the graduates in Widney's Opera House. Prof. J. W. Gray of Adrain, Mich., will deliver the address on Thursday evening, May 6. An admission of 25 cents will be charged for both nights or if single nights 15 cents will be charged. The tickets will be on sale after today, ready for you to purchase. The Alumni banquet will be held on Friday evening.

Get your new buggy at Curie's store. Two car loads on display this week.

Miss Maude Scoville has received a letter from her uncle, Charles R. Scoville, the evangelist, who is to hold a meeting in Angola in the near future, stating that he has closed his meeting in Elder Medbury's church in Des Moines, Iowa, and has gone to North Yakima, Washington, for a meeting before coming to Angola. During his meetings there Mr. Scoville has added 1,900 members to the churches of DesMoines, and dedicated the largest church building in the state of Iowa, the one where Elder Medbury, formerly of Angola, is the pastor.—Steuben Republican.

Child Burned to Death

Harold, the two year old son of Fred Hefty and wife, who live 1½ miles south-west of Sawdust, was burned to death Tuesday evening about 6 o'clock. The mother and son had gone to do the chores leaving the little one in the cradle asleep. In a short time she sent the child in the house to see how Harold was, and upon opening the door smoke came from the room and caused great excitement. Upon entering the house it was discovered that the little child was on fire. By the time the mother had reached the child all the clothes had been burned off its body except the collar and shoes. It is yet a mystery to the parents how the sad accident occured. The little body was burned to a crisp and life was extinct in a very few minutes. The funeral will be held this forenoon at 11 o'clock in the Fair view church. Burial at Spencerville. Elza Kinsey undertaker.

Wheat Crop Predictions.

The Indianapolis News has asked its correspondents in each county of the state to give it some idea of the prospects for the wheat crop, condition of meadows, acreage of oats, etc. From the judgment of the correspondents who were instructed to base their opinions on interviews with farmers, grain dealers and bankers, the News says that the winter wheat acreage is much smaller than for many years; that the condition of the wheat is not good, if anything is poor. Many farmers planted their wheat in dust last fall where it lay for weeks before rain fell enough to germinate it thus making it too late to get a sufficient start for the winter. It also says that a large amount of the sickly wheat ground over the state is being converted into oats ground. The estimate is made that the crop will not exceed two-thirds of a normal crop.

Speaking of oats the News says there will be an increase of 25 per cent in the acreage over last year. In the southern part of the state the young plants are green and in thriving condition while in the north but little seeding has been done. The same reasons that lead to an increased crop of oats will cause a large acreage of corn, too. Should warm weather permit early planting the corn crop will be enormous.

Reports in regard to meadows are pessimistic. The drought last summer and fall burned many pasturages into bare spots. Timothy suffered as well as bluegrass. In a few counties good crops of hay are promised, but the yield in the state as a whole will be smaller than the average. Clover will be scarce. Young plants were killed by successive freezes and thaws and many old fields do not look promising. Half a normal crop is a fair estimate of present conditions.

PHOTOGRAPHS

We make them at the Tustison Studio. Fine Portraits on Postals $1.00 per dozen. Call and get prices on family groupes. Open Thursday Friday and Saturday.

Local Items.

FOR SALE:- Good 7 room house with cellar and two lots. J. C. HULL.

Miss Marvel Gee of Kendallville visited with her cousin, Mrs. Frank Kinsey last week.

Fresh Vegetables and fruits at Kagey's Friday and Saturday.

The Alumni Society will meet at the home of Bert Woodcox, Saturday evening. The officers and members are urged to make their appearance at this meeting.

Hon. R. M. Lockhart, an old veteran well known to many of our readers, died at his home in Waterloo, April 8th. About two years ago, Mr. Lockhart began to fail in health and his decline was quite noticeable. Dropsical complications set in and finally caused his death. He was a man of wide acquaintance.

DENTIST.

C. R. PRICE,

ST. JOE, IND.

Office in Case building.

Bell Phone No. 44.

THE

Spencerville High School

WILL GIVE THEIR ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT

ON FRIDAY EVENING

April 30th, at 8 O'Clock

Admission 20 Cents.

Come Everybody

Tickets on Sale at BEAMS' Hardware Store

THE BIG FOUR'S

House Cleaning time is here and the housewife finds that she must have new Curtains for the parlor windows, or a new Rug for the setting room, and then she must have a Spread for her spare bed, and perchance some new Pillows and Cushions. All these and many other useful and ornamental articles classed as housekeepings are specialized during this sale.

WINDOW SHADES—Best water color Window Shades, six and seven feet long, full yard wide complete with best improved spring rollers, only 23c

DOOR PANELS—In fine Lace effects. The latest designs. Large size ..... 23 to 48c

CURTAIN RODS—Brass plated, combination ball ends, and can be extended 36 in., complete with screw hooks 8c

LACE CURTAIN STRETCHERS—Stretches any size curtains without injury to the curtains. Specially priced 98c

BED SPREADS—Two kinds, both full-size and finished with fringe or hemmed Regular $1.75 grade $1.39

BEST CARPET TACKS—Full 500 count. Per box 4c

DRAPERIES—Full yard wide Silkolines, the new colorings worth 15c, now go at per yard 11c

STOVE POLISH—Sifter Stove Polish makes a brilliant polish; put on without soiling the hands. A 10c box for 6c

CURTAIN POLES—White, oak or brass, for only, each 9c

LACE CURTAINS—Nottingham Curtains, 3 and 3½ yards long, at per pair ..... 98c to $3.98

CARPETS

A large line of new colorings and designs, effective patterns, all wool, per yard 65c

All wool filled carpet, heavy weight, full 36 in. wide, at per yard 48c

Full 36-inch Cottage Carpet, at per yard 25c

Rugs, Linoleums, Mattings

Heavy Axminster Rugs, in a variety of Oriental, Floral and Medallion effects, size 9x12; specially priced $21.48

Linoleums, heavy quality, 2 and 4 yards wide, large variety of patterns, per square yard ..... 50 and 55c

Large 9x12—10 Wire Brussels Rugs—heavy and durable Specially priced $14.98

Read This Ad Thoroughly. It is Meant for You.

BIG 4 STORE

ST. JOE, INDIANA

Seed Sweet Potatoes at Kagey's.

Mrs. J. E. Sturgis and children were Sunday guests in the home of Florence Buchanan.

Miss Beulah Koch was at Auburn a few days last week, the guest of her cousin, Ines Guisinger.

Samuel Sechler, of Reading, Pa., visited a few days with relatives the past week. He is on his way to Missouri.

Furnas Ice Cream at Kagey's. The best ever. Try it.

FOR SALE—20 acres of good Onion and Potato land. Located 7 miles from St. Joe, with buildings. Price $1,100 on terms to suit purchaser. E. E. Berry, St. Joe, Indiana.

The 90th Anniversary of the I. O. O. F. will be observed by special memorial services on Sabbath, April 25 at 1:30 o'clock at the M. P. church, address to be given by Rev. J. C. McCain. All D of R and members will meet at I. O. O. F. Hall at 1 o'clock sharp. All are invited to attend the services.

C. B. Leighty and wife were guests of C. A. Rhoads and wife.

Harry Rupert of Harlan, visited in the home of Sam Kees for several days this week.

Prof. J. W. Gray of Adrian, Mich., will address the graduating class, Thursday evening, May 6, in Widney's Opera House. Admission 15 cents or both evenings for 25 cents.

Revival meetings are in progress at the Butler Christian Church, commencing Sunday evening and will continue for two weeks. The services were to have commenced two weeks ago but did not on account of the small pox which was raging at that time.

J. C. Hull and wife and Fred B. Leighty and wife were at Auburn, Sunday, the guest of Wm. Hull and family. Mrs. Percy Hess and children of South Chicago, were there making their last visit before going to their new home at Helper, Utah. Mr. Hess is now master-mechanic on the C. B. & Q. R. R. They expect to leave on next Tuesday for their trip.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills relieve pain.

Mrs. Jessie Benjamin is confined to the house with measles.

A cement curbing is being built in front of Dr. Bowman's residence on East Main Street.

Rumor No. 3

$5.00 reward (dead or alive) for the brazen, malicious, contemptible, sneaking cur of a low down disciple of Ananias who had the nerve to tell the lie that I ever slapped students fingures etc., at lesson time. A teacher? who has no more sense than to do that is a disgrace to the profession and should be kicked out of the house without warning.

Go it you wooden block-headed, empty cranium, feeble minded, rattle brained, scandal mongers and see what you will make by it. Next.

Chastine Johnston.

APRIL

0570

L 903

The St. Joe News

ST. JOE, INDIANA.

FRED B. LEIGHTY, - - Publisher.

1909 APRIL 1909

Su	Mo	Tu	We	Th	Fr	Sa
•	•	•	•	1	2	3
4	5	6	7	8	9	10
11	12	13	14	15	16	17
18	19	20	21	22	23	24
25	26	27	28	29	30	•

F. M. 5th. L. Q. 13th. N. M. 19th F. Q. 27th.

FEATURES OF INTEREST

ABOUT THAT WHICH HAS BEEN AND IS TO BE.

All Sides and Conditions of Things are Shown. Nothing Overlooked to make it Complete.

ROCHESTER FIRE SWEPT.

Fire Loss Is Half Million and Hundreds of People Are Homeless.

Swept along in the face of a twenty-five-mile gale, fire destroyed several sections of the city of Rochester, N. Y., and did damage estimated at half a million dollars. For a time it was thought that a great portion of the city would be swept and aid was summoned from Buffalo and Syracuse. The out-of-town firemen with apparatus responded promptly but before they reached the scene the work of the local department and of volunteers had gotten the flames under check. One hundred families are homeless and militiamen are in the affected zones guarding what little the people saved of their household effects. The Palmer building, a four-story brick structure devoted to manufacturing interests at Main nad Gibbs streets, was the starting point of the conflagration, which spread over a wide area and then jumped nearly a mile and a quarter. Several firemen were injured by falling walls or were overcome by smoke, but none were seriously hurt.

Ohio River Steamer Goes Down.

Following a series of accidents and a tempestuous voyage, the steamer Virginia, from Cincinnati, Ohio, to Pittsburg, Pa., was wrecked in the Ohio river at Wellsville. The boat, the largest plying the upper Ohio, went down close to shore after striking a rock and tearing a hole three feet long in the hull. The passengers, numbering fifty, in a highly nervous condition as a result of an accident earlier in the evening, became panic-stricken when the vessel met with the last accident, and it was with difficulty a crew of seventy-five men restrained them. Although handicapped by darkness, a high wind and drenching rain, the crew managed to place the passengers safely in boats and put them ashore. From there they were taken, scantly clad, to a fire engine house in Wellsville and later reached the warmth of a hotel by means of a police patrol wagon. Later the passengers were sent to Pittsburg by railroad.

Mistake Proves Fatal to Woman.

Miss Anna Angst, about 24 years old and a daughter of Mrs. Theresa Angst, of 416 Madison street, Fort Wayne, Ind., was horribly burned by an explosion of gasoline at her home and died in great agony a few hours later. She was conscious to the last, although the clothing had been burned from her body and the flames had eaten into her flesh from the top of her head to the soles of her feet.

Gov. Haskell Goes Acquit.

Governor Charles N. Haskell, Oklahoma's first chief executive, and the six other promient Oklahomans indicted by the federal grand jury charged with fraud in Muskogee town lots will not have to stand trial. The motion of the defendants to quash the indictments was upheld at Tulsa, Okla., by Judge John A. Marshall, of Utah, in the United States circuit court.

Wounded Victim Gets New Threat.

Joseph Arro, who was shot at as he lay in his bed last week because he had failed to comply with demands made in two letters from the Black Hand, received another letter, signed by the blackmailing society, threatening him with death unless he deposited $1,000 in a certain spot. Arro's residence in Chicago is guarded by detectives.

Elyria, Ohio, Has $100,000 Fire.

The entire business section of Elyria, Ohio, was threatened with destruction by fire, and the lives of occupants of the Hotel Andwur menaced in a conflagration that destroyed $100,000 worth of property. No one was injured.

Night Riders Burn Church.

The Presbyterian church at Fredonia, Caldwell county, Ky., was burned and night riders are suspected. Bloodhounds have been put on the trail.

Old Brewery Goes into Bankruptcy.

Decreased sales of beer is given as the cause for the filing of a voluntary petition in bankruptcy by the Model Brewing company, of Tell City, Ind. The brewery is one of the oldest in the state.

Thirty Hurt in Trolley Collision.

Thirty people were hurt, some of them seriously, when two crowded trolley cars collided at Sixth street and Quindaro avenue, in Kansas City, Kas.

GREAT BUYING WAVE HITS WHEAT BEARS

Patten Scores Triumph as Shorts Force Wheat Values to New High Levels.

KING OF PIT TAKES BIG PROFITS

His Sales Are Reported 2,000,000 a Day—Furious Buying Result of Bad Crop Reports.

A tremendous wave of buying swept over the Chicago wheat pit Wednesday and Thursday, swamping the few remaining bears and, amid scenes of the wildest excitement, lifting prices for all deliveries to new high levels. May wheat sold at $1.28¾, the highest price since the Leiter deal, and the top figure during April in more than twenty years. Trading was of a spectacular character all through the session and millions of bushels were handled. Excited shorts paid any price demanded for the May in order to cover their sales, and but for the selling by the bull leaders much higher quotations would have been established. Bulls took profits on a colossal scale, a veritable panic in the bear camp enabling them to cash in at fabulous profits. Even at the high price of Thursday 1,000,000 bushels were dumped into the pit of the Board of Trade.

There was a riot on the floor of the trading room when the price was chalked on the board at $1.26⅜. Early the price had dropped from $1.25¾, the high mark of the day before, to $1.24. Shorts began to think the government crop report, which had sent the price up, had not greatly affected the situation and that prices were going to fall. Suddenly there was a cessation in the offering of wheat on the market. For a moment no wheat was sold. The shorts began to get anxious again. There was a clamor for wheat.

Then a uniformed messenger climbed to the bulletin board and he wrote on the board the highest price seen in the pit in nine years. There was a wild roar in the trading room. Brokers jumped and raced madly about. It was a question of winning or losing a fortune. With the one mark of chalk on the blackboard many lost their all, while others won heavily. Messenger boys rushed wildly through the room to find the floor representatives of big brokerage firms. For an hour wheat changed hands with the rapidity of lightning.

It was a day of triumph for James A. Patten. The price he predicted for May last summer was reached and exceeded, and bear traders who have been forecasting calamity for the bull wheat deal were thankfully buying the grain he poured into the pit to relieve the stringency. Conditions are now developing as Patten maintained they would—foreigners are coming for wheat, other sources of supply are failing, and even with prices for the May at the highest level in years, cash wheat is selling at enormous premiums. Patten added to his profits of $5,000,000 which he has made out of the deal. He still declares that he is not trying to corner the market, but is simply taking advantage of the shortage in the crop.

ACCEPTS THE INCOMPLETE DOG.

Young Woman Relents and Pays Express on Animal Maimed on Way.

About 100 persons went to the office of an express company in Wooster, Ohio, the other day, ready to purchase a three-legged dog advertised to be sold at public auction by the company to secure 25 cents charges. The buyers were disappointed, as the agent of the company announced that the animal would not be sold. The company had settled with the shipper and the young woman consignee had paid the charges. The dog when shipped was sound, but made its escape, and when recaptured had lost one of its hind legs. When the young woman to whom it was shipped saw that it was minus a leg she refused to accept the puppy. Then the company, to secure its charges, advertised the dog for sale at public auction.

ENJOINS 3 CENT FARE ORDER.

Missouri Court Grants Temporary Writ at Instance of Gov. Hadley.

Under a temporary injunction granted in St. Louis in the Circuit Court all railroads operating in Missouri are restrained from putting into effect the 3-cent fare which was to have obtained after midnight Friday. The injunction was granted at the instance of Seebert G. Jones, circuit attorney of St. Louis, acting for Gov. Hadley. The petition alleges that the railroads have entered into an unlawful agreement to fix the rates, and thus have failed to carry out their charter requirements in operating competing lines.

DIES FOR MURDER OF MOTHER.

Youth Who Avenged Life in Reformatories Electrocuted.

For the murder of his mother, Susan Carlin, in her home in Brooklyn one year ago, Bernard Carlin, aged 22, was put to death by electricity in the State prison at Ossining, N. Y. Carlin had been an inmate of charitable or reformatory institutions a greater part of his life, beginning in infancy, when his father died. He blamed his mother for permitting him to remain in these institutions, and when he was released from the reformatory a year ago he purchased a revolver, went to his mother's home and killed her.

OPENING OF THE NATIONAL GAME.

MME. MODJESKA IS DEAD.

Famous Actress Expires After Long Illness at Her California Home.

Mme. Modjeska, the famous actress, died Thursday at her extensive estate in California in a stupor, after a hard fight to conquer an illness with which she was stricken several weeks ago.

Mme. Modjeska was born Helena Marie Benda, at Cracow, Poland, Oct. 12, 1844. Her father was a musician of high standing, and two of her brothers have distinguished themselves on the stage. She was married at 16 and went on the stage a year later. Her success was marked. In 1862 she became manager of a theater at Czernowce. Her next removal was to Warsaw, where her husband died, and where, a year afterward, she married Count Charles Bozenta Chlapowski, a young Polish patriot of noble family. In 1875 they came to America, escaping the ignoble censorship of Russia. At San Francisco, in 1879, Modjeska made her debut on the American stage and gave her first performance in the English tongue. In 1879 Modjeska returned to Europe and played in the principal cities of Poland, going thence to play over a year's continuous engagement in London. A few years ago she again went to Europe, and would have played in St. Petersburg, but the Russian censor forbade the performance and gave her and her husband formal notice to leave the country. They had spoken too freely of Russia to be welcome there. After that time Modjeska kept to her adopted country. She delighted cosmopolitan audiences with her Marie Stuart, Rosalind, Helen, Thora, Magda, Camille and Adrienne.

HELENA MODJESKA.

DEATH OF A. C. SWINBURNE.

End Comes to Poet After Brief Attack of Pneumonia.

Algernon Charles Swinburne, the poet and essayist, died Saturday morning in London. He had been suffering with influenza, which developed into pneumonia.

Algernon Charles Swinburne was born in London April 5, 1837, his father being Admiral Swinburne and his mother Lady Henrietta, daughter of the third Earl of Ashburnham. He was educated in France and England, and as a poet he was especially well known for his facile metrical invention. He was a bachelor and lived at The Pines, Putney.

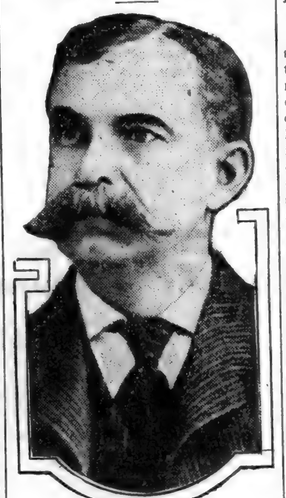
For fifty years Swinburne has written in the light of fame. Some of his poems have been called the most beautiful in the English language. He was regarded as a leader during the Victorian age of literature. But with the advance of years he did not yield his pen. Only last September there was published his last work, "The Age of Shakespeare." The works of Swinburne best known in the United States are "Laus Veneris," "Rosamund, Queen of the Lombards," "Atlanta in Calydon," "Tristram of Lyonesse" and "Mariano Faliero." A recent edition of his works filled eleven volumes.

$2,000,000 AS BIRTHDAY FAVORS.

Five Heirs Get Fortune When the Youngest Becomes of Age.

A birthday party, having as favors shares in a $2,000,000 bequest, was held the other evening at 537 South Orange Grove, Pasadena, Cal., the home of Miss Ellen Elliot, in honor of her 18th birthday anniversary. When Mrs. Edward Elliott died several years ago it was generally understood that she left a large fortune in trust, to be distributed among hes five children when the youngest became of age. The five children equally sharing the $2,000,000 estate are Miss Ellen Elliot, Mrs. Clover Noyes, Mrs. Nina Wotkyns, John Vischer Elliot and a second son, now residing in the East.

J. A. PATTEN, SAID TO HAVE MADE FORTUNE IN WHEAT.



JAMES A. PATTEN

James A. Patten, who is said to have gained a fortune out of the recent rise in May wheat, has been conspicuous for several years as a daring and successful Chicago board of trade operator in wheat and corn. He has been in the board of trade business since 1878 and previously served four years as an employe of the State grain inspection department in Chicago. Mr. Patten lives in Evanston, Ill., and was mayor of that city four years, besides serving two terms as alderman. He was born in Dekalb County, Illinois, in 1852, and as a boy worked in a country store and on a farm.

BLACK HAND SLAYS MERCHANT.

Italian of Tampa Shot Down by Two Hidden Assassins.

The assassination of Giuseppe Ficarotta, a wholesale grocery merchant, and one of the most prominent and wealthy members of the Italian colony in Tampa, Fla., added the third to a series of murders which have been charged to the Black Hand there during the present year. Ficarotta was going to his home from his place of business at a late hour and was shot by two men from ambush with shotguns loaded with heavy slugs. He was instantly killed and the assassins, dropping their weapons, fled. Ficarotta's two young children, a boy and a girl, were with him at the time but neither was hit. Ficarotta's relatives say they know no cause for the murder. He was a member of the city council of West Tampa and prominently connected with the leading social and fraternal organizations of his people.

ODDS & ENDS OF SPORT

Battling Nelson has been matched by Promoter McIntosh to meet Jimmy Britt in Australia some time next fall.

Directors of the California Jockey Club still seem to be hoping against hope that they can successfully combat the present law against betting on races.

The death is announced at Berlin of Gen. Count Egbert Hoyer von Asseburg, who was president of the German committee of the Olympic games. He was 63 years old.

David Bruce Brown, a New York boy, covered himself with glory by lowering the world's amateur record for the mile to 33 seconds flat in the automobile race on the Daytona Beach.

